D. W. Armstrong, an American living in London, where he is interested in several commercial enterprises, and at present in New York on a business trip, talks interestingly not alone of the situation in Great Britain, but of the changes in this country noticed by him after an absence of four years. He says:

"It is astonishing the effect of the South African war upon business in England. It is more than stagnation; it is a condition of paralysis, and there will be no improvement until a turn in the tide in favor of the British forces. Then I think the recovery will be rapid, though of course it will not be complete; for there has been a very large withdrawal of men from the industrial operations in order that they might serve their country.

"It is a fact perhaps not generally known in this country that business conditions, both manufacturing and mercantile, in Great Britain were for a full eighteen months before the outbreak of the war more prosperous and thriving than at any time in the history of the country. Prosperity, in fact, was at high tide. But now has come temporary paralysis; and with it, of course, a great opportunity for the United States to extend its trade.

"The change in sentiment in England in recent years toward this country has been marked, and the result is that more than ever Englishmen are inclined to look with favor upon American securities for investment purposes—for there is in England always an enormous accumulation of capital awaiting opportunity for investment.

"The present remarkable prosperity of the United States is all the more noticeable to me, who left here just as the country was recovering from the panic of 1893. Now, instead of lamentable business and financial collapses, I see a wonderful revival of industry, with manufacturers busy as they have not been for years, merchants prosperous, laboring men profitably employed and happy, and railroads rushing on to greater and greater prosperity. They are wonderful times, truly, and wonderful changes."

AMERICAN GOODS ABROAD.

James Swan of the James Swan Manufacturing Company of Seymour, Conn., adds his voice in further proof of the substantiability of the prosperity now upon the country. He says:

"There can be no gainsaying the fact that the present good times are as real as I believe, they will be lasting. In our business, for instance, that of manufacturing edged tools, chisels, and the like, we are unusually active, and where but a year ago we were running on two-thirds time, now we are running full time, and even then are pressed to fill our orders.

"What to me is as significant a fact as any is that the export business in all the iron and steel lines is constantly growing. That shows that American products are highly thought of abroad, finding a ready market even though higher prices are asked for them. When you realize that we are not only competing with England in the markets of the world, but are actually selling iron and steel wares in the heart of England itself, you can the better appreciate the significance of the wonderful advancement in these lines in the United States."

COMING TO THEIR SENSES.

Commissioner L. P. Farmer of the Trunk Line Association, whose close connection with different railroad men gives him an admirable opportunity to judge of general railroad conditions, says:

"The situation in the railroad world is, in my opinion, not only much improved, but steadily improving. The railroads have finally come to the conclusion that they want the tariff rates maintained, and that they ought to get their money into their treasuries without rebates going to the outside or middle men. In other words, they have come to see clearly the folly of continuing a throat-cutting policy.

"During the past year there has been little serious reason for complaint, and the outlook is that there will be even less reason from this time on. And in my opinion it is a good sign that railroad men are coming to their senses. It means a more healthful situation in all respects."

ORDERS THAT MEAN MILLIONS.

As further illustration of the wonderful prosperity of the iron and steel business, this statement, by an officer of the Pressed Steel Car Company, is interesting:

"We have orders on hand which represent not less than $20,000,000; and yet we expect to have them all cleared up by June. More, we are practically assured of a fresh order for 10,000 cars, which, at an average of $1,000 a car, means $10,000,000 more for us. Not unnaturally our earnings are eminently satisfactory.

"But as a matter of fact there is wonderful activity on the part of all the steel and iron companies."

NO DIVIDEND PROMISED.

Those recent buyers of Missouri Pacific who have been counting upon the declaration of a dividend by the company at the coming meeting in March were disagreeably surprised yesterday when an official statement was made to the effect that there would be no dividend. While this may have surprised some eager investors, it was, however, no news to well-informed people in the Street. Scarcely a month ago a Director of the company stated positively through these columns that no dividend need be expected for some time, inasmuch as the company was paying out a no inconsiderable sum for improvements and betterments and purposed to continue that policy.

It is desired, this Director then explained, to put the road in such excellent operating shape that, with greater train-carrying capacity and lower operating expenses, earnings may so increase that once dividends are declared it may reasonably be expected that they will be continued.

MONEY'S GROWING EASE.

The growing ease in the money market was plainly apparent yesterday when call money was freely offered on the Stock Exchange at as low as 2¼ per cent., while the highest asked at any time was but 3½. At the same time, time money has grown distinctively easier, and it is a fact that one well-known merchant gave it as his opinion that with the present week 4 per cent. for sixty and ninety days will be considered none too low. On Monday last the figure for sixty and ninety day money was from 5 to 5½ per cent.

EARNINGS OF TWO ROADS.

In view of the recent developments in the affairs of the Big Four and Chesapeake and Ohio the Street read with more than passing interest the published statements, put out yesterday, of the earnings of the roads. In the case of Big Four the earnings for the second week in January were $294,966, and the increase $63,400, while since July 1 the increase has been $910,100. The figures for Chesapeake and Ohio for the second week of January showed earnings of $261,300, an increase over the same period last year of $48,600, while since July 1 the increase has been $548,300.

***

FIGURES FOR A YEAR.

Following upon the annual report of the Baltimore and Ohio comes the report of the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern for the fiscal year ended June 30. The report shows that the net earnings decreased $129,780 as compared with 1898, but that, after payment of all charges, &c., there is a surplus of $80,950, as compared with a deficit of $89,570 in 1898.

***

The report shows that the percentage of cost of operation for the fiscal year was 72.97 per cent., as compared with 71.21 for the previous year. The tonnage transported shows an increase of 180,912. The rate per ton per mile for this traffic was 5.27 mills, compared with 5.35 mills for the previous year. The reduction in the ton mile rate was equal to $235,319 on the number of miles hauled one mile.

It is said that great progress has been made under the plan of betterment of the condition of the property.

NEWS OF THE EXCHANGES.

The Cotton Exchange was active in the two hours' trading of yesterday. The market opened about 3 points up, and steadily advanced, closing with a net gain of 6 or 7 points on the average. The undertone was firm, as it has been throughout the week, and the final quotations were the best of the week, although yesterday's receipts were slightly larger than those of Friday. The strength at the opening was more or less due to covering of shorts by room traders, but Liverpool buying served later to lift the market. The demand for spot cotton remains good. The apparent scarcity of cotton in the South is still an important feature to the bullishly inclined.

The coffee market opened at a decline of 5 or 10 points, and then advanced some 10 points from opening figures in the course of 14,000 bags' trading. It closed steady.

Wheat was strong on the Produce Exchange yesterday. It opened steady, advanced slightly on news of bad crop conditions in France and Southern Russia, and closed firm.

The corn market was a dull one, awaiting the official crop report.

Oats were steady and dull under a similar condition.

MONEY AND EXCHANGE.

Money on call was 2½@3½ per cent., closing at 3 per cent.

Time money, 5 per cent. for sixty days to four months, and 5@5½ per cent. for longer periods. Mercantile paper, 5 per cent. for sixty to ninety days' indorsements, 5½@6 per cent. for choice four to six months' single names, and 6½@7½ per cent. for others.

Clearing House statement: Exchanges, $170,868,361; balances, $7,317,979; Sub-Treasury debit balance, $1,289,965.

Money on call in London, 1½ per cent. Rate of discount in open market, 3⅝ per cent. for short, and 3⅝@3½ per cent. for three months' bills.

Foreign exchange dull. Nominal rates were $4.85 for sixty days and $4.88 for demand. Rates for actual business closed as follows: Sixty days, $4.83⅞; demand, $4.86⅞@$4.87; cables, $4.87⅝; commercial bills, $4.82⅝@$4.83⅛.

Continental exchange was quoted as follows: Francs, 5.19⅞, less 1-16@5.20 and 5.16¾; reichsmaks, 94⅝ and 95 1-16; guilders, 40 1-16 and 40⅝.

Exchange on New York at domestic centres: Boston—Par @5c premium. Chicago—30c premium. New Orleans—Commercial, par; bank, $1 premium. San Francisco—Sight, 15c premium; telegraphic, 17½c premium. Charleston—Buying, par; selling, ⅛c premium. Savannah—Buying, $1 premium per $1,000; selling, par. St. Louis—10c premium. Cincinnati—Between banks, 30c premium; over counter, 50c premium.

THE LONDON MARKET.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—American securities opened firmer, in response to better overnight prices from New York, and were well maintained throughout the session. The trading, however, was light. At the close the market was steady.

Consols, for money and the account, 101 13-16; Atchison, 20½; Canadian Pacific, 93¾; St. Paul, 121½; Illinois Central, 116½; Union Pacific preferred, 77½; New York Central, 137½; Erie, 12½; Erie first preferred, 34½; Pennsylvania, 66⅜; Reading, 9½; Northern Pacific preferred, 76; Grand Trunk, 7½; Anaconda, 8¼.

Bar silver firm at 27 7-16d per ounce.

Money, 1½ per cent. Rate of discount in the open market, for short bills, 3⅝ per cent., and for three months' bills, 3⅝@3½ per cent. Gold premiums are quoted as follows: Buenos Ayres, 128.80; Madrid, 28; Lisbon, 44; Rome, 7.13. The amount of bullion taken into the Bank of England on balance to-day was £22,000.

Spanish 4s, 66⅝.

In Continental Centres.

PARIS, Jan. 20.—Business was less cheerful on the Bourse to-day on the approaching settlement in London and the suspense regarding South Africa, which caused some realizations. International shares weakened on the reaction in rentes and prompted rumors of a new issue of 1,000,000 shares of new stock. Spanish 4s were easier. Rio Tintos received no attention. Kafir securities eased slightly.

Three per cent. rentes, 99f 90c for the account. Exchange on London, 25f 18½c for checks.

Spanish 4s, 67.40.

Rate of discount for short and three months' bills, 4 per cent.

BERLIN, Jan. 20.—Business was hesitating on the Boerse to-day. Internationals and Americans were fairly maintained. Local securities fluctuated, closing steadier.

Exchange on London, 20 marks 49 pfennigs for checks.

Rate of discount for short bills, 3½ per cent., and for three months' bills, 3⅝ per cent.

FRANKFORT, Jan. 20.—The Boerse was devoid of any special feature to-day.

BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Prices generally were firm, and in several directions good gains were recorded. Bell Telephone lost 3 to 326, but rallied up to 330, a net loss of 3 for the week. Erie Telephone rights were traded in quite actively at 75 cents and $1. Montana Mining was up 7 at 270, while Central Oil, after yielding ½ to 19, rallied to 19¾. Continental Zinc spurted from 3¼ to 4, American Zinc holding at 16; Baltic was ⅝ better, at 18; Old Dominion gained ⅝, to 18⅝, and Centennial Eureka ½, to 23½.

The local Clearing House rate to-day was still nominally 6 per cent., although no business was done at that figure. Money recently quietly offered at 5 per cent. was declined. New York funds sold at par and 5 cents premium.

Mining Stocks.

	Bid.	Asked.		Bid.	Asked.
Adventure	6	6½	Old Colony	4	5
Allouez	2¾	3	Old Dom.	18¼	18½
Arcadian	18¼	19	Osceola	67	68
Arnold	6	8½	Parrot	40	40½
Ash Bed	.30	.50	Pioneer	1½	2½
Atlantic	24	25	Quincy	140	145
Baltic	17	18	Rhode Island	4½	5
Bos. & C. C.	.20	.40	Santa Fé	5¼	5½
Bos. & Mont.	.269	.270	Santa Ysabel	7½	7¾
Butte & Bos.	45	50	Shoe	30	32
Cal. & Hecla.	725	740	Tamarack	178	180
Centennial	16	17	Utah Con.	27½	28
Franklin	14⅜	14½	Washington	1⅜	1¼
Humboldt	1	2	White Knob	.10	.15
Isle Royale	.23	..	Winona	4	5
Mohawk	14	16	Wolverine	39	41

Railroad Stocks.

Bost. & Alb.	.240	..	C. Mass. pf.	60	65
Bost. & Low.	242	..	Fitchburg pf.	..	119
Bost. & Me.	190	200	N. Y. & N.
Bost. & Prov.	..	300	E. 6s	118	..
Bost. Elev.	95½	..	N. Y. & N.
Bost. Gas 5s	..	..	E. 6s	114½	..
Cent. Mass.	11	..	West End	92	93

Miscellaneous Stocks.

Am. Bell Tel.	329	330	Mex. Tele. pf.	3	4
Chi. Stk. Y.	134	136	N. Eng. Tel.	135	140
Dom. Coal	.42½	43½	U. S. Oil	18½	19½
Dom. C. pf.	115	116	Whouse El.	40½	..
Erie Tel.	103	104	Wh'se El pf.	..	93

PHILADELPHIA PRICES.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 20.—Profit-taking was the feature in the local stocks, which were prominent in Friday's little boom. Marsden fell back to 12⅝ and Tidewater Steel to 15¼. Fractional declines were also sustained by several other leaders, while Horse Collar, General Electric, Automobile, and Western New York and Pennsylvania were up a trifle.

Dealings were on a limited scale, and wholly professional. The close was steady at the following prices:

	Bid.	Asked.		Bid.	Asked.
Cambria	21½	21⅝	Phila. Trac.	96¼	96⅜
Choctaw	.33	.34	Union Trac.	37⅛	.38
El. Co. of Am.	12⅝	12¾	Un. Gas Imp.	15¼	.15
Lehigh Val.	24⅜	.24	Welsbach Lt.	.40	.43
Marsden	12⅜	12⅝	W. N. Y. & P.	6⅞	.7

CHICAGO QUOTATIONS.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Match to-day opened at 123½ and sold to 124, but closed at 122¾; Biscuit was improved, the common opened at 37 and sold to 37¼, closing at the opening figure; the preferred closed at 93, a gain of a point during the day, and ½ point over the opening. Metropolitan preferred advanced from the opening at 76 to 77¼, closing at 76½. The bonds brought 95⅜.

Sales.		High.	Low.	Close.
595	Linseed	14⅝	14⅜	14⅝
110	Linseed pf.	54¼	54¼	54¾
10	Tin Plate	30	30	30
15	Chicago Con. Traction	40	40	40
50	Chicago Union Tr. pf.	74½	74½	74½
236	Diamond Match	124	122¾	122¾
150	Lake St. Elevated	12	12	12
50	Lake St. Elev. cert.	11	11	11
240	Met. Elevated pf.	77¼	76	76½
530	National Biscuit	37¼	37	37
212	National Biscuit pf.	93	92	93
256	West Chicago	110½	110	110
100	Western Stone	31	31	31

INDIAN DEMAND FOR SILVER.

Indications in London that the Stock Must Be Replenished.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The idea that the Indian Government will shortly have to buy silver has stimulated the demand. Indications that the silver reserve of the Indian Currency Department has been heavily depleted and will be further reduced are found in the large sales, telegraphic transfers upon India, further earmarking of gold for the account of the Indian Government, and the dispatch of gold direct to India. Out of sixteen and a half crores of cash reserve only about seven crores are silver. According to The Statist, should a further two millions of gold be sent to India during the next two months the silver holdings of the Indian Government will probably be reduced to about four crores. Before such a figure is reached purchases of silver for coinage ought to be made, unless the Indian Government is prepared to incur risks which might bring disaster.

The Statist insists the Government must buy silver without delay and have it coined as quickly as possible, and reasons that India ought not to be subjected to further trials on top of the famine, also pointing out that if troubles break out on the Afghan frontier silver alone will be usable.

FRACTIONAL SILVER IS NEEDED.

Secretary Gage Asks that More of It Be Coined.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Secretary Gage was before the House Committee on Coinage, Weights, and Measures to-day, and spoke in favor of the adoption of the metric system. Mr. Gage also referred to the need of fractional silver currency.

He pointed out that at present the demand for fractional coin was so urgent that the issue ran considerably beyond the $50,000,000 authorized by law, and he recommended that this legal restriction be repealed, leaving the Treasury to determine the proportion of fractional coin necessary.

Lafayette Dollars on Sale.

The Lafayette dollars—50,000 in all—authorized by Congress in aid of the Lafayette Monument to be erected in Paris in the name of American school children, are now in the hands of the commission in charge of the work. The coin, which is a legal tender dollar, bears upon its face in bas relief a medallion of the heads of Washington and Lafayette. On the reverse is a miniature reproduction of the equestrian statue of Lafayette, used for the monument. Bolognesi, Hartfield & Co. have secured 2,000 of the dollars for sale to bankers and brokers.

American Oak Leather Company.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 20.—The annual election of the American Oak Leather Company resulted as follows: President—James E. Mooney; Vice President and Treasurer—August Frobel; Vice President and Secretary—H. P. Bechtel; Assistant Secretary and Treasurer—J. F. Taylor; Manager of Production—Frank Monk; other Directors—L. B. Harrison, C. L. Harrison, Cincinnati; J. D. Neilson, Chicago; John Gardner, St. Louis, and E. Moll, Boston. The annual dividend of 6 per cent. on the common stock of $2,000,000 was declared.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES.

Conditions in the market for outside securities at the close of the week were practically the same as those that have prevailed since last Monday. Only a few issues were traded in at all, and those to the extent of only a few hundred shares. Prices were steady and in some cases closing quotations were substantially higher than those of the previous day, but actual strength was notable in only a few issues. Selling pressure did not show to any large extent, but, on the other hand, slight disposition was shown to buy stock, with the result that the market about held its own, with few incidents of any particular interest. Standard Oil was again the feature of the market, and to a small extent enlivened the day's trading, which, in other respects, was very quiet.

STANDARD OIL'S strength continued to attract attention, and recent intimations of much higher prices for the stock were repeated with much confidence. Transactions in the stock amounted to between 300 and 400 shares, by far the greater part of which appeared to be purchased for account of inside interests. Every disposition was shown to accumulate all the stock possible, and the indications were that persons close to the company are feeling the same confidence as to the future of the stock as is expressed by those trading in the stock on the curb. Transactions in the stock were in fairly large lots, and practically all the stock offered was easily taken. Opening around 496, it sold up to 498½ and closed at 498 bid, showing a net gain of 2½ points. A sale of the old Standard Oil Trust certificates in the amount of 20 shares was made at 500, which is record price for the stock.

DISTILLING OF AMERICA, in which transactions were limited to a few hundred shares, showed considerable improvement in the common as well as the preferred stock. The latter sold at 21 and closed at 20⅜ bid, against 20½ on the previous day. At the close the common stock was in demand at 6, which showed a net gain of five-eighths of a point. Official denial of the unfavorable rumors that have been used to affect the stock are had, and to all appearances these disquieting reports were spread without any foundation. The company's financial condition at present is said to be excellent, and its business is reported to be progressing satisfactorily. Interest in the stock waits on the substance of the report which will be made by the committee which recently undertook at the request of a certain number of stockholders to look into the company's affairs and report on its condition. Nothing has yet been learned as to the time when this report may be expected.

HAVANA COMMERCIAL was notably strong. Bidders for both the common and preferred stocks found practically none offered, and no sales were effected during the day, although the bid on the common stock was advanced 1 points, to 21, and that for the preferred 1 point, to 60. Odd lots of the latter were in demand at 61. As in the case of many stocks, the recent declines in these issues resulted from a small amount of selling at a time when very poor demand appeared, and when a little stock sufficed to bring about considerable declines. It is now found that at prevailing prices the amount of stock offered is very small.

GENERAL ELECTRIC AUTOMOBILE sold at 10 and was in demand at this figure at the close. Recent sales of this stock were made under 7.

Closing quotations were as follows:

ACTIVE SECURITIES.

Gas Companies.

	Bid.	Asked.
Bay State Gas	1⅝	1¾
New Amsterdam	22	23
New Amsterdam pf	47	50
New Amsterdam 5s, with interest	94½	95½

Industrials.

American Agricultural Chemical	30	32
American Agricultural Chemical pf	75	78
American Bicycle	15	17
American Bicycle pf	43	45
American Bicycle bonds	90	92½
American Woolen Goods	23½	24
American Woolen Goods pf., ex div.	78½	79
Cast-Iron Pipe	8	9
Cast-Iron Pipe pf	40	44
Distilling Company of America	6	6¼
Distilling Company of America pf	20¾	21½
Electric Axle Light & Power	4⅛	4⅜
Electric Boat	18	20
Electric Boat pf		30
Havana Commercial	21	..
Havana Commercial pf	60	..
International Pump	15½	18
International Pump pf. ex div.	62	64½
National Gramophone	56	60
National Salt	46¼	48
National Salt pf, ex div.	78	80
National Tube	43¾	45¾
National Tube pf	91½	93
Otis Elevator	20	25
Otis Elevator pf	86	88½
Royal Baking Powder pf	94	95½
Rubber Goods Mfg.	27	29
Rubber Goods Mfg. pf	79	90
Sloss-Sheffield	28	29
Sloss-Sheffield pf	67	69
Standard Oil of New Jersey	498	499
U. S. Pneumatic Horse Collar	½	⅝

Miscellaneous.

Amalgamated Copper	83	83¼
American Air Power	35	50
American Cotton	..	50
Arizona Lead	..	10½
Asphalt Company of America	12	13
British Columbia Copper	10½	11
California Copper	3½	3½
Central Fireworks	12	15
Central Fireworks pf	53	58
Chicago & Alton sub	105	106
Chicago & Alton 3s, (new)	93	96
Electric Vehicle	45	50
Electric Vehicle pf	..	81
*Electro-Pneumatic, assessment paid	1	1¼
*Fleming Coal & Coke	20	22
General Carriage	5½	6
Illinois Transportation	2½	3
*Markeen Copper	5	7
Mexican 5s	97	98
New York Transportation	10	11
New England Transportation	6½	7
Pittsburg, Bessemer & Lake Erie	19	21
St. Louis subs	128⅜	130
Retsof	25	30
Retsof bonds	80	84
Storage Power	13	14
Superior and Boston Copper	⅛	3-16
Tennessee Copper	13¾	15
Trust Company of America	197	199
Virginia Coal, Iron & Coke	24	25½
Virginia Coal, Iron & Coke bonds	61	62

*Selling dollars per share. Par value, $10.

LESS ACTIVE SECURITIES.

Street Railways.

	Bid.	Asked.
Broadway & Seventh Avenue	220	240
Broadway & Seventh Avenue 1st	104	105
Broadway & Seventh Avenue 2d	100½	111¼
Broadway Surface 1st 5s	117	118
Broadway Surface 2d	104	105
Brooklyn City Railroad	235	237
Brooklyn, Bath & West End 5s	100	102
Central Park, N. & E. River	198	..
Central Park, N. & E. River 7s	106	108
Columbus Railway	20	24
Columbus Railway pf	86	88
Con. Traction of N. J.	58	60
Con. Traction of N. J. 5s	106	108
Eighth Avenue Railroad	375	400
Kings County Elevated 4s, (new)	85	87
42d St., Man. & St. Nicholas Av.	68	75
42d St., Man. & St. Nicholas Av. 1st	115	117
42d St., Man. & St. Nicholas Av. 2d	88	90
Nassau Electric 4s	87	90
Nassau Electric 5s	108	112
New Orleans Traction	27	28
New Orleans Traction pf	100	102
Ninth Avenue Railroad	190	205
North Jersey Street Railway	27	29
North Jersey Street Railway 4s	86	89
Orange & Passaic Valley bonds	103	104
Steinway Railway Co. 6 p. c. 1st	117	118
Second Avenue Railroad consols	115½	117
Sixth Avenue Railroad	200	210
Syracuse Rapid Transit	13	16
Syracuse Rapid Transit pf	25	35
Union Railway 1st 5s	115	117
Union Railway stock	100	200
United Traction, Providence	108	111
Worcester (Mass.) Traction	30	32
Worcester (Mass.) Traction pf	105	106½

Gas Companies.

Buffalo (N. Y.) stock	4	7
Buffalo (N. Y.) 1st, with interest	72	75
Central Union 5s, guaranteed	100	103
Consolidated Gas of Newark	..	103
Consolidated Gas bonds of Newark	..	103
Consolidated Gas bonds of N. J.	87½	89½
Consolidated Gas of N. J.	21½	23½
Consumers' Gas (Jersey City) bonds	102	105
Denver Gas	38	40½
Denver Gas 5s	..	82
Essex & Hudson Gas	35	40
Fort Wayne Gas	38	45
Fort Wayne Gas 6s	60	64
Indianapolis Gas	100	105
Indianapolis Gas bonds	101	103
Lafayette Gas Co.	40	45
Lafayette Gas Co. 1st 6s	60	65
Logansport & Wabash Valley Gas	38	43
Logansport & Wabash Valley Gas 6s	60	65
Mutual Gas of New York	275	290
Madison (Wis.) stock	81	83
New England Gas & Coke	19½	20½
New England Gas & Coke bonds	72½	73
N. Y. & E. R. Gas Co. 1st	108	112
N. Y. & E. R. Gas Co. con	106	109
N. Y. Suburban Gas Co. con	102½	103½
North Hudson L., H. & P. Co.	55	56
North Hud. L., H. & P. Co. bonds	107	109
Ohio & Indiana	38	45
Ohio & Indiana 1st 6s	60	65
St. Joseph, (Mo.)	40	46
St. Joseph (Mo.) 5s	96	98
St. Paul Gas stock	54	58
St. Paul Gas bonds	86	89
Standard Gas, New York	100	..
Standard Gas, New York, pf	125	..
Standard Gas 1st	115	117
Syracuse Gas stock	14	15
Syracuse Gas 1st 5 per cent. bonds	88	90
Western Gas	99	101
Western Gas 1st 5s, with interest	102	103

Ferry Companies.

Brooklyn Ferry	24	26
Brooklyn Ferry 5s	88	90
Hoboken Ferry, (new)	66	68
Hoboken Ferry con. 5s	93	95
Metropolitan Ferry 6s	108	110
Union Ferry	39	40
Union Ferry bonds	100	100¾

Industrials.

American Typefounders'	51	53
Barney & Smith	10	13½
Barney & Smith pf	99	105
Barney & Smith bonds	102	106
Consolidated Rubber Tire	7½	..
Consolidated Rubber Tire pf	30	35
Cramps' Shipyard	79	81
General Chemical	99	..
General Chemical pf	97	100
Hudson River Telephone	116	119
Lorillard Company pf	107	109
Standard Coupler	40	43
Trenton Potteries	6	10
Trenton Potteries pf	45	55
Union Typewriter	22	24
Union Typewriter 1st pf	110	118
Union Typewriter 2d pf	120	122
Worthington Pump pf	98	100

Miscellaneous.

American Bank Note	47	50
Central & South American Tel.	105	105½
Iron Steamboat	..	3
Iron steamboat bonds	59	60

BULLION AND MINING.

Silver bullion certificates were quoted on the Stock Exchange at 50½@60¼. There were no sales.

Bar silver was quoted on Saturday at 27⅝d per ounce, and in New York at 50⅝c. Mexican silver dollars at 47¼c.

On the Consolidated Exchange, 2,000 shares of Alamo sold at .15, 1,000 Cosmos at .02, 1,000 Creede and Cripple Creek at .11, 200 Consolidated California and Virginia at 1.40, 1,000 Consolidated Imperial at .02, 100 Elkton at 1.15, 2,000 Golden Age at .05½, 500 Isabella at 1.30, 1,000 Ontario at 9.00, 2,000 Pharmacist at .15, 100 Small Hopes at 1.15, 300 Sierra Nevada at .55, 300 Savage at .15, and 1,000 Work at .31@.32.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

Complete Transactions in Stocks—Saturday, Jan. 20, 1900.

Closing Bid.	Closing Asked.	Sales.		First.	High.	Low.	Last.	Net Change.
13	13¾	120	Am. Car & Foundry	12⅞	12⅞	12⅞	12⅞	— ⅛
58½	60	57	Am. Car & Found. pf.	60¼	60¼	60¼	60¼	.....
36	36¼	1,100	American Ice	35⅞	36⅛	35⅞	36⅛	+ ⅛
33⅝	33¾	600	American Cotton Oil	33⅝	33⅝	33⅜	33⅜	— ⅜
31	32	1,200	American District Tel.	28	31	28	31	+5
5½	7	620	American Malting Co.	6½	6½	5½	5½	.....
27	29	10	Am. Malting Co. pf.	28	28	28	28	.....
38¾	39	200	Am. Smelt. & Ref.	39	39	38¾	38¾	— ⅛
89¼	83¾	1,125	Am. Smelt. & Ref. pf.	89	89¾	89	89⅞	+ ⅝
48	48¼	3,555	American Steel & Wire	48⅝	48⅝	48⅛	48⅛	— ⅛
90	91	380	Am. Ste

Clearing House banks at the end of each week in the present year and the corresponding week in 1899 and 1898:

	1900.	1899.	1898.
Jan. 6	$11,737,725	$25,530,375	$22,264,575
Jan. 13	16,727,350	28,263,075	25,968,775
Jan. 20	24,185,075	34,693,675	31,275,200

The following shows the surplus reserve at this time for a series of years:

1900	$24,185,675	1895	$45,465,075
1899	34,693,675	1894	102,754,450
1898	31,275,200	1893	22,529,600
1897	57,067,800	1892	33,902,000
1896	37,678,500	1891	24,080,775

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

Complete Bond Transactions.

Ann Arbor 1st 4s	93	Mex Cent 2d inc
7,000		10,000	11½
Atch, Top & Santa Fe gen 4s		5,000	11¾
5,000	100⅛	Mo, K & Tex ext 5s
75,000	100½	8,000	94⅜
Adjustment 4s		2,000	94½
15,000	80½	Mo Pac 1st con 6s
26,000	80⅞	17,000	116
10,000	80⅝	5,000	116⅛
Balt & Ohio 3½s		5,000	116⅜
20,000	94⅝	Nash, Chat & St L con 5s
500	95¼	2,000	105
40,000	94¾	Norf & W con 4s
Balt & Ohio 4s		1,000	94
1,000	100	1,000	94¼
4,000	99¾	North Pac gen 3s
1,000	99⅞	8,000	66
17,000	100	21,000	66¼
Balt & Ohio, S'w'n 1st 3½s		9,000	66½
5,000	90	5,000	66⅝
10,000	90	North Pacific 4s
10,000	90½	15,000	103¾
10,000	89⅝	Ore R & N con 4s
Cent Pac gtd 3½s		6,000	102
20,000	83⅞	5,000	101⅞
35,000	87⅝	Ore Line 1st con 5s
Cent Pac gtd 4s		2,000	106⅝
17,000	100⅜	Canada South 2d
40,000	100⅞	1,000	107⅛
5,000	100⅝	1,000	108
Ches & O con 5s		Cent of Ga con 5s
1,000	116	5,000	89¾
Chi, B & Q con 7s		10,000	90
4,000	111⅜	10,000	90½
Chi, Mil & St Paul Terminal 5s		10,000	89⅝
5,000	113	Cent Pac gtd 3½s
H & D Div 5s		10,000	84⅞
1,000	110½	South Pacific 4s
Chi & N'w'n gen 7s		15,000	83
5,000	138	16,000	82⅝
5,000	108	32,000	83
Chi, R I & P gen 4s		3,000	82⅞
20,000	105⅞	So Pac of Ariz 1st 6s
74,000	105⅞	10,000	110⅛
Chi, St L & N O gold 3½s		Southern Ry 1st 5s
2,000	100	10,000	107½
C, C, C & St L gen 4s		1,000	107¼
10,000	96⅜	24,000	107⅜
Col 3did 1st 2-4s	81½	Standard R & T 6s
10,000	66⅞	3,000	81
Col & South 1st 4s		1,000	81½
8,000	85	3,000	81⅞
Den & Rio G con 4s		2,000	82
2,000	98⅝	Standard R & T inc
15,000	99	4,000	21
East Tenn, Va & Ga con 1st 5s		2,000	21¼
5,000	115	19,000	21
1,000	20F 115	Tex & N O con 5s
Erie 1st con 7s	140	10,000	103
Erie 1st con 4s		Tex & Pac 1st 5s
4,000	90½	1,000	112½
Gal, Har & S A, Mex & P Div 5s		Ulster & Del 1st 5s
9,000	102	4,000	104
Hous & Tex Cent gen 4s		Union Pac 1st 4s
20,000	84⅞	56,000	104
Int & Gt Nor 1st 6s		28,000	104⅝
3,000	121	500	104⅝
Kanawha & M 1st 4s		3,000	104⅝
1,000	85	5,000	104½
Kan City, P & G 1st, tr co ctfs		1,000	104½
10,000	60	Wabash 2d 5s
10,000	60⅜	5,000	101
L Sh & M So 3½s		Wabash deb, Ser B
4,000	110	12,000	107½
Met W S E, Chi, 4s		Pitts, C, C & St L gtd 4½s, Ser B
2,000	97	3,000	115
Mex Cent 1st inc		Reading 4s
8,000	23½	5,000	84⅝
10,000	23	13,000	84½
25,000	24	3,000	84⅞
3,000	23⅞	10,000	84⅞
3,000	24	52,000	85
3,000	24½	5,000	85¼
3,000	24½	5,000	85⅜
Mo, K & Tex 1st 4s	90½	10,000	85⅝
5,000	89⅝	13,000	84½
12,000	89¾	10,000	84⅞
5,000	89⅞	15,000	85
5,000	90	10,000	85⅛
10,000	89⅝	10,000	85⅜
10,000	89⅞	15,000	85½
5,000	89¾	10,000	85⅝
5,000	89¾	10,000	85⅞
5,000	90	10,000	85⅝

Total sales.....$1,706,000

RAILROAD EARNINGS.

CHESAPEAKE & OHIO—	1900.	1899.	1898.
Mileage	1,445	1,445	1,360
24 week Jan.	$261,315	$212,633	$227,584
From July 1	7,258,818	6,653,025	.....
C., C., C. & ST. LOUIS—
Mileage	1,838	1,838	1,838
24 week Jan.	294,985	231,518	253,517
From July 1	9,222,656	8,246,285	7,927,872
FORT WORTH & RIO GRANDE—
Mileage	146	146	146
24 week Jan.	6,304	11,063	9,831
From Jan. 1	12,563	19,262	19,165
GEORGIA RAILROAD—
Mileage	307	307	307
24 week Jan.	30,948	28,902	33,191
From Jan. 1	57,113	58,529	62,411
OHIO RIVER—
Mileage	224	224	224
24 week Jan.	21,653	16,786	16,139
From Jan. 1	47,742	35,971	34,334
PITTSURG & WESTERN—
Mileage	333	333	365
24 week Jan.	59,739	48,854	42,186
From July 1	1,605,528	1,515,236	1,706,551
ALABAMA MIDLAND for November—
	1899.	1898.	1897.
Gross	86,389	61,067	57,837
Op. expenses	61,853	36,150	34,297
Net	24,736	4,917	3,540
Prop. op. ex. to gr.	71.749	92	93 13-16
Gross, 5 months	385,529	369,302	290,686
Net, 5 months	93,570	85,983	55,805
ATLANTA & WEST POINT for November—
Gross	68,862	56,125	54,064
Op. expenses	41,016	27,748	27,774
Net	25,846	28,377	26,290
Prop. op. ex. to gr.	61⅞	49½	51⅜
Gross, 5 months	294,900	257,956	243,358
Net, 5 months	134,553	114,561	106,617
BRUNSWICK & WESTERN for November—
Gross	56,728	51,992	56,188
Op. expenses	42,475	41,770	37,694
Net	14,253	10,222	13,694
Prop. op. ex. to gr.	74⅞	80 5-10	73
Gross, 5 months	296,961	268,780	255,430
Net, 5 months	97,990	75,437	96,723
CENTRAL PACIFIC for November—
	1899.	1898.	Increase.
Gross	1,610,289	1,436,043	174,246
Op. expenses	950,182	947,653	2,529
Net	660,107	488,390	171,717
Prop. op. expenses to gross	59	67⅜	.....
Gross, 5 months	8,867,921	7,292,721	1,575,200
Net, 5 months	4,020,071	3,002,487	1,017,584
CHARLESTON & SAVANNAH for November—
	1899.	1898.	1897.
Gross	47,228	44,347	40,960
Op. expenses	42,250	39,983	36,460
Net	4,969	4,484	4,502
Gross, 5 months	214,026	221,380	198,546
Net, 5 months	16,149	19,648	22,907
ELGIN, JOLIET & EASTERN for November—
Gross	145,531	141,048	101,138
Op. expenses	84,144	85,634	71,350
Net	64,387	55,414	29,588
Gross, 5 months	782,527	656,905	567,949
Net, 5 months	345,122	255,016	137,323
LONG ISLAND ELECTRIC for the quarter ending Sept. 30—
	1899.	1898.	Increase.
Gross	33,149	34,198	*1,049
Op. expenses	17,537	18,586	*1,029
Net	15,612	15,632	*20
Other income	.....	1,743	*1,743
Total income	15,612	17,375	*1,763
Charges	22,288	10,394	11,894
Deficit	6,675	76,981	13,656
SAVANNAH, FLORIDA & WESTERN for November—
	1899.	1898.	1897.
Gross	370,059	301,438	297,694
Op. expenses	256,696	261,254	119,510
Net	113,443	40,184	78,184
Prop. op. expenses to gross	69⅜	87⅝	40⅛
Gross, 5 months	1,663,421	1,727,824	1,377,767
Net, 5 months	409,389	447,800	357,289
SILVER SPRINGS OCALA & GULF for November—
Gross	19,269	21,431	13,668
Op. expenses	8,551	11,968	9,671
Net	10,718	10,363	3,997
Gross, 5 months	123,186	121,253	74,899
Net, 5 months	75,268	71,541	33,173
WESTERN RAILROAD OF ALABAMA for November—
Gross	66,113	65,637	50,234
Op. expenses	39,536	32,129	28,885
Net	26,577	33,508	21,349
Gross, 5 months	307,474	286,075	238,717
Net, 5 months	121,177	121,562	88,328

MISCELLANEOUS EARNINGS.

The Pressed Steel Car Company reports for the year ended Dec. 31, 1899: Gross earnings of $13,905,000; operating expenses, $11,728,000; net, $2,237,000; dividend on preferred stock, $875,000; balance, $1,362,000; dividend on common stock, $750,000; surplus, $612,000.

*Decrease. †Surplus.

Incorporated in Delaware.

DOVER, Del., Jan. 20.—Certificates of corporation were filed here to-day, as follows:

The Concert Phonograph Record Company of Hintsdale, N. J., for the manufacture and sale of phonograph records; capital, $100,000.

The Self-Locking Cantop Company of Baltimore, Md., to manufacture and sell a patent can top; capital, $50,000.

NEW YORK CLEARING HOUSE BANK STATEMENT.

The following is the New York ClearingHouse bank statement in detail, together with the percentage of reserve to depositsof the individual banks:

*Capital.	*Net Profits.	Banks.	Loans.	Specie.	Legals.	Deposits.	Per Cent.
$2,000,000	$1,999,200	Bk. N. Y., N. B. A.	$12,816,000	$2,830,000	$1,114,000	$13,033,000	30.3
2,050,000	2,114,100	Bk. of Manhattan Co	17,372,000	4,013,000	3,781,000	22,064,000	35.3
2,000,000	1,162,500	Merchants' National	12,513,400	2,367,500	1,491,200	14,461,000	26.7
2,000,000	2,197,100	Mechanics' Nat	9,813,000	1,439,000	1,084,000	9,512,000	26.6
1,500,000	2,814,200	Bk. of America	18,939,000	3,872,000	1,494,600	21,335,300	25.2
1,000,000	333,500	Phenix National	4,018,000	988,000	184,000	4,071,000	29.9
1,000,000	4,938,700	National City	31,342,800	29,065,100	4,738,400	109,277,100	30.9
300,000	6,560,100	Chemical National	24,162,800	5,101,000	2,800,500	25,570,100	30.1
600,000	207,000	Merchants' Ex. Nat.	4,816,500	719,800	539,100	4,792,700	26.3
1,000,000	1,718,600	Gallatin National	7,914,900	1,098,400	678,700	6,527,500	27.2
300,000	101,000	Nat. Butch. & Drov.	1,096,700	247,500	39,100	1,109,800	25.3
400,000	128,500	Mech. & Traders'	2,138,000	271,000	201,000	2,342,000	29.2
200,000	168,600	Greenwich	910,900	99,300	188,000	847,200	33.9
600,000	505,300	Leath. Mfg's. Nat.	3,671,000	580,800	423,200	3,542,500	28.3
300,000	200,300	Seventh National	3,041,600	442,000	554,500	4,065,200	24.5
1,200,000	526,000	Bk. State of N. Y.	5,762,900	348,200	721,500	5,416,000	31.3
5,000,000	2,651,800	Am. Ex. National	27,822,000	3,028,000	2,138,000	21,343,000	24.2
5,000,000	5,778,800	Nat. Bk. of Com	27,525,900	2,180,000	3,027,500	20,329,300	25.6
1,000,000	1,624,300	Nat. Broadway	5,984,900	1,042,300	217,000	5,207,900	24.1
1,000,000	1,084,800	Mercantile National	10,792,900	2,244,400	880,500	12,358,700	25.3
422,700	492,200	Pacific	2,588,800	552,700	449,900	3,194,900	31.4
1,500,000	974,100	Nat. Bk. of the Rep.	16,432,200	3,095,800	1,176,800	17,199,400	24.8
450,000	991,300	Chatham National	6,213,300	764,000	980,600	6,403,400	27.6
200,000	298,400	People's	2,260,600	340,100	468,700	2,728,700	21.2
1,000,000	633,300	Nat. Bk. of N. A.	11,940,700	2,233,900	901,200	15,320,500	23.5
1,000,000	2,711,900	Hanover National	31,570,500	11,473,700	2,185,700	41,931,700	32.6
500,000	412,200	Irving National	4,164,000	709,200	552,000	4,573,000	27.8
600,000	393,200	National Citizen's	2,773,400	536,200	162,000	2,880,000	24.2
500,000	294,800	Nassau	2,504,700	392,200	333,300	2,813,300	25.8
900,000	1,017,900	M'k't & Fulton Nat.	6,106,700	1,169,100	588,800	6,489,000	26.9
1,000,000	170,100	Nat. Shoe & Leather	3,510,800	846,700	270,900	4,070,500	27.2
1,400,000	1,731,500	Corn Exchange	16,195,500	2,183,600	2,849,000	18,969,800	26.5
1,000,000	531,600	Continental National	4,819,900	1,098,300	364,900	5,777,000	25.3
300,000	385,600	Oriental	2,140,200	298,100	259,500	2,116,500	27.7
1,500,000	5,828,900	Imp'rs & T'ders' Nat.	24,604,000	4,952,000	1,244,000	23,571,000	26.3
2,000,000	3,339,500	National Park	35,027,000	13,048,000	2,378,000	46,325,000	33.3
250,000	148,200	East River Nat.	1,281,000	272,600	163,000	1,519,700	28.7
3,000,000	2,171,800	Fourth National	21,026,600	4,172,600	1,380,100	22,436,600	24.7
1,000,000	554,500	Central National	9,684,000	2,653,000	1,077,000	12,013,000	29.3
300,000	576,300	Second National	8,060,000	1,157,000	465,000	8,658,000	23.0
750,000	172,100	Ninth National	2,666,000	506,800	296,400	2,876,200	24.9
500,000	7,767,800	First National	32,855,000	6,221,300	1,199,600	30,990,800	23.9
300,000	78,100	N. Y. Nat. Exch	2,255,400	330,900	334,700	2,472,600	27.8
250,000	682,500	Bowery Bank	3,373,000	596,800	246,200	3,601,000	23.4
200,000	413,600	N. Y. County Nat.	3,058,900	540,400	1,000,200	4,384,200	34.5
750,000	318,000	German-American	3,373,200	602,600	279,900	3,484,000	25.3
1,000,000	1,596,700	Chase National	20,244,300	5,760,600	5,027,200	36,678,500	29.4
100,000	1,211,500	Fifth Avenue	8,350,800	1,793,200	442,800	9,243,800	24.2
200,000	585,400	German Exchange	2,590,400	230,200	730,000	3,325,700	28.9
200,000	774,600	Germania	2,882,200	403,100	616,100	4,274,300	25.3
500,000	858,800	Lincoln National	11,112,600	2,257,300	1,339,100	14,748,400	24.2
200,000	979,100	Garfield National	6,182,900	1,612,800	425,800	7,591,700	26.9
200,000	331,800	Fifth National	2,083,300	449,300	175,500	2,274,700	27.5
200,000	911,600	Bank of Metropolis	5,376,700	1,302,300	534,600	6 617,900	27.8
200,000	393,300	West Side	2,586,000	410,000	289,000	2,717,000	25.0
500,000	629,500	Seaboard National	9,343,600	1,179,000	1,512,000	11,600,000	26.6
2,100,000	1,382,800	Western National	27,879,100	8,122,600	1,885,800	34,646,100	28.0
300,000	329,600	First Nat., Brklyn	4,040,000	490,000	754,000	4,413,000	28.2
1,200,000	1,301,700	National Union	13,023,400	2,922,500	432,500	13,318,600	23.7
500,000	445,900	Liberty National	4,788,900	972,600	222,500	4,566,500	26.2
1,000,000	328,000	N. Y. Produce Ex	3,505,200	519,800	345,800	3,004,900	28.8
250,000	797,100	New Amsterdam	3,655,100	688,600	376,500	4,128,500	25.7
350,000	191,400	Astor National	3,688,400	571,200	147,200	3,352,300	25.8
500,000	252,500	Hide and Leath. Nat.	2,108,300	129,800	360,200	1,572,000	30.6
$48,000,000	$86,338,300	Total, National Bks.
11,122,700	14,541,900	Total, State Banks.
$59,122,700	$80,880,200	Total	68 0,817,200	152,607,800	42,957,400	765,518 100	28.2

*As per official reports—57 National banks, Dec. 2, 1899; 19 State Banks, Dec. 4, 1899.

STATUS OF NEW YORK CITY NON-MEMBER BANKS.

[SPECIALLY COMPILED BY THE NEW YORK TIMES.]

The following is the statement in detail for the past week of a majority of the banks not members of the Clearing House Association, but which clear through some of its members, the figures having been obtained direct from the banks by THE NEW YORK TIMES:

	Capital.	Loans.	Specie.	Legals.	Deposits with Clearing House Agent.	Deposits with Other Banks and Trust Companies	Net Deposits.
N. Y. CITY. Borough of Manhattan.
Colonial	$100,000	$1,175,500.00	$24,588.00	$91,220	$138,382.00	.....	$1,334,080.00
Columbia	300,000	2,334,000.00	120,000.00	104,650	145,000.00	$5,000.00	2,323,000.00
Eleventh Ward	100,000	1,159,114.98	40,512.32	58,670	203,442.32	.....	1,381,968.00
Gansevoort	200,000	657,716.56	17,751.94	41,388	41,305.52	32,422.75	370,265.12
Hamilton	200,000	1,294,400.00	54,000.00	89,200	94,700.00	.....	1,387,900.00
Home	100,000	691,918.60	39,183.00	48,958	46,211.50	727.00	695,701.00
Mutual	200,000	1,346,300.00	36,615.33	121,879	177,632.74	2,543.81	1,365,435.00
19th Ward	100,000	972,657.00	28,528.40	155,371	224,523.00	4,841.00	1,372,724.00
Riverside	100,000	807,888.74	12,325.46	63,150	98,814.79	.....	850,672.87
State	100,000	2,735,000.00	224,000.00	112,000	81,000.00	185,000.00	3,191,000.00
Twelfth Ward	200,000	1,161,500.00	34,300.00	142,900	114,900.00	67,400.00	1,089,200.00
Union Square	200,000	2,074,889.76	57,365.48	288,899	387,026.38	.....	2,633,481.77
Yorkville	100,000	1,572,600.03	79,000.00	80,000	82,700.00	10,000.00	1,551,300.00
Borough of Brooklyn.
Bedford	150,000	1,071,200.00	16,897.00	100,611	116,387.00	100,000.00	1,216,040.00
Broadway	100,000	1,307,249.45	16,955.27	105,620	164,125.74	481.74	1,396,774.07
Eighth Ward	100,000	347,200.00	12,000.00	20,000	46,700.00	1,000.00	288,700.00
Fifth Avenue	100,000	555,400.00	22,800.00	24,800	50,500.00	7,700.00	502,100.00
Mfrs' Nat.	252,400	2,420,100.00	255,600.00	221,000	575,200.00	.....	2,302,200.00
Mech. & Trad's'	100,000	800,885.81	18,342.00	35,435	80,916.45	27,283.11	860,723.41
Merchants'	300,000	369,889.28	4,230.65	21,944	75,793.63	1,233.45	358,982.93
Nassau National	200,000	3,773,000.00	182,000.00	334,000	648,000.00	31,000.00	4,244,000.00
National City	300,000	2,318,000.00	154,000.00	239,000	471,000.00	59,000.00	2,757,000.00
North Side	100,000	292,821.15	12,637.45	33,057	32,925.84	6,748.00	317,983.57
Seventeenth	100,000	438,798.00	19,824.00	28,800	53,516.00	50,000.00	442,197.00
17th Ward	100,000	429,808.00	9,574.00	34,979	54,836.00	861.00	364,166.00
Sprague Nat.	200,000	1,087,700.00	89,500.00	10,000	153,400.00	8,500.00	944,000.00
26th Ward	100,000	435,612.00	9,816.00	26,352	70,765.00	1,722.00	440,840.00
Union	100,000	293,275.00	7,038.00	14,077	28,731.00	8,700.00	200,426.00
Wallabout	100,000	637,700.00	20,600.00	28,900	55,300.00	32,600.00	637,000.00
Borough of Richmond.
First National	100,000	653,485.00	27,835.00	22,500	81,738.00	.....	612,890.00
Bank of S. I.	25,000	443,950.00	14,650.00	15,513	64,669.00	7,200.00	488,500.00
JERSEY CITY.
First National	400,600	4,986,400.00	149,100.00	269,500	844,700.00	55,300.00	5,548,700.00
Hudson County	250,000	2,131,775.00	83,803.00	64,271	163,099.00	93,599.00	1,886,476.00
Second National	250,000	1,334,500.00	81,300.00	25,000	210,400.00	.....	1,167,300.00
Third National	250,000	896,873.87	26,726.12	77,318	184,603.47	84,899.85	1,012,909.14
HOBOKEN.
First National	110,000	1,014,500.00	99,200.00	22,800	87,300.00	8,100.00	1,482,200.00
Second National	125,000	703,154.00	38,500.00	39,000	104,700.00	169,600.00	1,000,800.00

MINING STOCK QUOTATIONS.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20.—The official closing quotations for mining stocks to-day and yesterday were as follows:

	Saturday.	Friday.
Alta	.03	.02
Alpha Con	.04	.04
Andes	.07	.07
Belcher	.11	.11
Best & Belcher	.26	.19
Bullion	.03	.04
Caledonia	.50	.50
Challenge Con	.19	.19
Chollar	.27	.27
Confidence	.60	.61
Con. Cal. & Va	1.60	1.60
Con. Imperial	.01	.01
Crown Point	.12	.12
Gould & Curry	.25	.24
Hale & Norcross	.41	.40
Julia	.02	.02
Justice	.03	.04
Kentucky Con	.03	.02
Lady Washington Con	.02	.02
Mexican	.35	.30
Occidental Con	.20	.18
Ophir	.71	.74
Overman	.06	.06
Potosi	.30	.30
Savage	.18	.16
Sag Belcher	.02	.03
Sierra Nevada	.51	.50
Standard	2.75	2.75
Syndicate	.03	.03
St. Louis	.07	.17
Union Con	.30	.32
Utah Con	.05	.04
Yellow Jacket	.22	.24
Silver bars	59½	59½
Mexican dollars	47½@48½	47½@48½
Drafts, sight	12½	12½
Telegraph	.15	.15

Special to The New York Times.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Jan. 20.—Gardner & Co. report closing quotations as follows:

	Saturday. Bid.	Asked.	Friday. Bid.	Asked.
Acacia	4½	4⅝	4½	4⅝
Alamo	15	15½	14⅜	15
Anaconda	42½	43	41½	41⅝
Anchoria	80	85	80	85
Argentum	19½	20	19½	20
Bankers'	13½	13⅝	13½	13⅝
Battle	33	34	34	34½
Blue Bell	12½	13½	12½	13½
Coin	250	258	245	260
Columbine	19	20½	19½	20½
Consolidated	16	16½	15½	16
Damon	29	29⅝	29½	29⅝
Elkton	119	120	119	120
El Paso	35	36	34½	35½
Findlay	14½	15	14½	15
Fleece	29	31	27½	31
Garfield	15½	16	15½	16
Gibson	25	27	24½	25
Gould	32½	33½	32½	34
Isabella	129	129½	131	131½
Independence	51½	52½	50	53
Jackpot	59½	59¾	58	59
King	98	101	98	101
Moon Anchor	69½	71	70	73
Matoa	26	30	26	30
National	11½	11⅞	11½	12
Ophir	58	62	58	62
Pharmacist Con	14⅜	14½	14⅜	14½
Pinnacle	26½	26¾	26⅜	27
Portland	235	240	236	240
Raven	83	84	83	84
Rawlings	29½	31	30	31
Rosa	62	65	60	65
Sovereign	13⅜	14	13½	14
Tornado	47	48	47	48½
Vindicator	44½	44½	44	44½
Work	30½	30⅝	30⅝	30⅞
Zenobia	21⅞	22½	21⅞	22⅜

THE CROPS OF 1899.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The statistician of the Department of Agriculture has made public his final estimates of the acreage, production, and value of the crops of 1899. The values are based on the average farm prices on Dec. 1, in accordance with the practice of the department.

The wheat acreage was 44,592,516, the production 547,303,846 bushels, and the value $319,545,259, the average yield per acre being 12.3 bushels, and the average farm price per bushel 58.4 cents.

The corn acreage was 82,108,287, the production 2,078,143,933 bushels, and the value $620,210,110, the average yield per acre being 25.3 bushels, and the average farm price per bushel 30.3 cents.

The acreage in oats was 26,341,380, the production 796,177,713 bushels, and the value $198,167,975, the average yield per acre being 30.2 bushels, and the average farm price per bushel 24.9 cents.

The barley crop is estimated at 73,381,563 bushels, the rye crop at 23,961,741 bushels, the buckwheat crop at 11,694,473 bushels, the potato crop at 228,783,282 bushels, and the hay crop at 56,653,756 tons.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

New York City.

M. E. STEVENS.—Deficiency judgment for $9,948 was docketed yesterday against Mark E. Stevens in favor of Alexander Walker growing out of the foreclosure sale of property on the north side of West Eighty-ninth Street 96 feet 8 inches west of Columbus Avenue.

ACME SOAP COMPANY.—Judge Andrews of the Supreme Court has appointed Mortimer Stiefel receiver for the Acme Soap Company of 23 Pearl Street, on the application of Magnus & Lauer. A creditor's petition in bankruptcy was filed against the company on Oct. 21 last.

W. DURBROW.—The Sheriff has received an execution from Kings County against William Durbrow, insurance agent of 49 Liberty Street, in favor of the Mechanics' Bank for $1,607. The Sheriff could not find the defendant at 49 Liberty Street, and it was said he had moved some time ago.

C. H. DIAMOND & CO.—Judge Andrews of the Supreme Court has appointed Clifford W. Hartridge receiver for C. H. Diamond & Co., corporation real estate agents, formerly at 003 Broadway, on the application of E. Adele Diamond, a judgment creditor, for $1,693. It was stated that the corporation is insolvent and has a large amount of indebtedness which it is unable to pay. It has been out of business for more than a year. It was incorporated on May 26, 1894, with a capital stock of $10,000.

PETITIONS IN BANKRUPTCY.

ALPHONS CAHN.—Alphons Cahn, residing at 145 Bleecker Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities $2,173 and assets $1,808 in debts due him.

J. GOLDFINE.—Joseph Goldfine, clerk at 41 Willett Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities $1,478 and assets $597 in old claims. He was formerly in the liquor business.

A. K. COLE.—Abram K. Cole of Peekskill, N. Y., has filed a petition in bankruptcy here with liabilities $17,726 and no assets. He was formerly of Cole & Bonner, brickmakers at Peekskill.

ABRAM WEISS.—Judge Brown of the United States District Court has appointed Theodore M. Taft receiver for the assets of Abram Weiss, merchant tailor at 507 Sixth Avenue, who filed a petition in bankruptcy on the 15th inst.

H. PARET.—Henry Paret, residing at 207 West One Hundred and Seventh Street, employed at 30 Broad Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities $8,835 and no assets except clothing and a Captain's uniform in the National Guard, which are exempt.

ELLA H. RUSSELL.—Ella H. Russell, hotel keeper and liquor dealer at South Fallsburg, Sullivan County, has filed a petition in bankruptcy here with liabilities $4,892 and assets $1,774, consisting of furniture, jewelry, and clothing, $1,775, and stock in trade, $250. The debts were contracted in Middletown, N. Y., from 1893 to 1898.

GEORGE PALEN.—George Palen, real estate broker of 55 Liberty Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities $45,452 and assets nominal, consisting of a debt due him of $250 and two bonds and mortgages which have been assigned. He was formerly a partner in the firm of W. S. Barret & Co., dealers in coal and wood at 1,274 Broadway, who made an assignment on Jan. 28, 1892.

###

CURRENT LITERATURE.

Selected Extracts in Prose and Verse from Periodicals.

The Drummer.

A blood red battle sunset stains
The lurid Winter sky:
What spirit stirs within our veins
And lifts our hearts so high?
Gives youth no peace, gives age no sleep,
For listening to the roll
Of the smitten parchment sounding deep
Its tocsin to the soul:
Rataplan!
Its rolling, rhythmic, rude alarum to the listening soul.

For yester-noon, the folk that rid
Their thresholds from the snow,
Saw through the still streets ermine-hid
The dwarfish Drummer go—
A war-worn ancient, travel-stained
Beating a weird tattoo,
Whose cunning lilt its hearers chained
And caught them, ere they knew:
Rataplan!
That straight they sprang from shop and stall, and followed ere they knew.

For here the blear-eyed smith forsook
His forge-fire just aflame;
And from his leathern apron shook
The cinders as he came.
He left his clinking anvil dumb
On noisier business bound,
Shrill treble to the booming drum
His mighty blows resound:
Rataplan!
The clashing, clanging music of his mighty blows resound.

And there unwonted ardor lit
The trader's wrinkled face,
Till wondering neighbors saw him quit
The crowded market-place;
The tinkle of the gathered pence
Forgotten, as he heard,
Athwart the rending veil of sense,
The tambour's master-word:
Rataplan!
In sudden stern staccato, the drum's imperious word.

Ere the slow priest his blessing said,
The bridegroom left the bride.
The mourner left the cherished dead
His love had watched beside.
Pressed close and fast through lane and street
The ever-thickening throng;
All stepping to the measured beat
That marshaled them along:
Rataplan!
The teasing, tripping measure that led their lines along.

Red sunset shot with sanguine stains:
A sword across the sky:
What sacred fever swells our veins,
And lifts our hearts so high?
Gives youth no peace, gives age no rest,
That hears the throbbing roll
That knocks so hard against the breast
And shakes the hidden soul:
Rataplan!
That strikes the heart within the breast, and wakes the sleeping soul.
—EDWARD SYDNEY TYLEE in the Spectator.

What the Boer Believes.

From The Cornhill Magazine.

Presently M. Du Plessis moved his chair up to mine, and, lowering his face with one side turned up, peered curiously into my spectacles.

"Why do you wear those things?" he interrogated.

"To see better," I said curtly.

"You are not old."

"No, I am not; but my sight isn't good."

"I don't think that ought to be. People ought not to wear out before their time," he said insolently.

I began to feel exceedingly uncomfortable.

"I wanted to ask you," I said, by way of changing the subject, "I wanted to ask you about this name, 'People of God.' Whom does it mean?"

"Not you," he said, with aggravating promptitude, "but me and my people."

"You will have to give me a better answer than that," I protested. "Whom do you consider to belong to your people?"

"My Church," he expostulated, with a vehemence that showed me he was being worked up.

"Your Church," I said, "to the exclusion of all others?"

"Precisely so. God in heaven is our Father and Divine Lawgiver, and Paul Kruger our leader on earth. He rules us in God's name. If you have lived in this country for some time, you cannot have failed to notice how manifest this is. God led our father out of Egypt, where we were in bondage to cruel men who sucked the very lifeblood out of us. We went forth—went forth into the wilds of Africa, established our freedom, and—but for a brief interval when iniquity obtained the upper hand over us—have maintained it to this day."

"That is not only your Church," I interposed, by way of guiding him in his statements.

"It's my Church people that form the nucleus of the nation," he said, almost solemnly. "It's on account of that people that the blessing of the Almighty is resting on all. Our enemies are many, but as their designs have been frustrated in the past, so they will be in the future. The watchful care of heaven is over us."

When President Loubet Drives.

From Good Words.

Royalist animosity has stopped an innocent daily pleasure of the President. He is fond of walking and riding in or on the top of omnibuses. But, with white carnation aristocrats about, it would not now be safe to go about on foot as he used when President of the Senate. He then often strolled down to the quays, glanced there at second-hand books, picked up, perhaps, a book that he wanted, crossed the Seine into the Tuileries Gardens, and went on to the Boulevard des Italiens, where he took the Batignolles-Odéon omnibuses that took him back home. He was also fond of walking to the Arc de Triomphe, looking there at the sunset, and sauntering down the Avenue du Bois de Boulogne, at the end of which he took a cab. He jobbed a carriage, but seldom used it unless he wanted to go somewhere with Mme. Loubet. He has taken on M. Faure's carriages and horses, but he is not fond of riding in the high-hung landau and four. If he took it when he paid, in the Easter holidays, a visit to Montélimar, it was because his old friends, neighbors, and clients there longed to see him in full Presidential state. The magnificent vehicle and team were sent a few days beforehand to see how they could work in the narrow crooked streets there. They had to be led, and cavalry could not surround them, only go before and behind.

A Change of Color.

From Sir Algernon West's "Recollections."

A man at election time tried to sell some kittens with blue Tory ribbons on, and failed. The next day he tried to sell them with yellow Liberal ribbons on. "Why," said some one, "they were Tories yesterday!" "Yes," he said, "but their eyes are opened since then, and they have become Liberals."

Vortex Motion in the Atmosphere.

From The National Review.

Vortex motion in the atmosphere, though seldom obtrusively patent in England, must certainly be reckoned with, and all ascending currents, from whatsoever cause, appear of this nature. Dust whirls in Spring, and twisting columns of dry leaves or hay in Summer and Autumn, are evidences of the existence of such upward currents. But the aeronaut can detect them on a larger scale, and penetrating sometimes far aloft. This is only what might be expected from statistics relating to such phenomena where they occur in greater earnest in other parts of the globe.

It is classical history how dust showers have arisen on the west coast of Africa and descended again on vessels far out on the Atlantic; how Scotland has been visited by a storm of pumice débris which was supposed to have had its origin in Vesuvius; how showers of fish or of frogs have descended from the sky, having been swept into lofty regions entangled in the bosom of a windwhirl sufficient to bear them whither it listed. The dust of Krakatao, committed to the lofty winds by the force of its own eruption in 1883, traveled over the globe in outward courses almost without limit before settling to earth weeks or months or, possibly, years afterward.

England and a Higher Morality.

Prof. Washburn Hopkins in The Forum.

We have not followed the recognized code of morality in our treatment of the Indians. We have robbed them on slight pretexts. Yet, on the whole, despite the sin and sorrow of it, our conquest represents moral advance, the Indian represents moral inertia. And, if advance can come in no other way, better advance than stagnation. For it is the law of progress for mankind in general that is illustrated in every racial subsidence before a higher plane of manhood. Therefore, Spain bends to America, for ours is the right of way by the higher law of racial superiority. So, whether just or unjust, by the foot-rule of man's code, England's battle in Africa is in effect a moral struggle in behalf of good to the human race. For there can be no question but that when English laws and English polity have taken the place of Boer laws and Boer polity, the condition of affairs in South Africa will be improved—not only from the English point of view, but from that of other nations, for whose advantage, consciously or unconsciously, Britain is now battling.

I hold no brief for England; but while she serves God and man I rejoice in her triumphs. For God is served when man is bettered, and wherever England has taken her stand man has been bettered. This is the case in India. This is true of Egypt. It is true of the many little lands she holds round the earth. It will be proved again in Africa when Boer authority yields to her higher civilization.

A Boer Interior.

From The Cornhill Magazine.

I spent a wretched night in a room infested with vermin, but a busy night, and felt the utmost relief when I heard the clock strike the hour of 5 A. M. * * * I betook myself to the dam, a large reservoir where the rainwater was stored for irrigation purposes. Here, despite the chilling cold, I partly undressed and cooled my itching skin. * * * Going back to the house, I finished my toilet, and then went for a stroll.

It was nearly 8 o'clock when I returned. The family were only just ready to begin the day. Mr. Du Plessis sat at the side table in the dining room. And there was Mrs. Du Plessis, whom I had not seen before, and the children were there, girls and boys, down to a baby under twelve months. These had all ranged themselves on the chairs along the walls, and sat mute.

Presently the old lady came in from the kitchen, carrying a basin of water, a towel, and a piece of soap. These she placed on the table at the top end by the front door, then, seating herself, laconically said, "Now, Meester, wash yourself."

I had but just recovered from the effects of that terrible night, the wearisome hours of which had failed to erase from my memory the painful moments of the evening before. Was I now to be subjected to further torture?

"Thank you," I said, "I have washed."

"You lie," she said, as if it were the most natural expression to use; "you had no water in your room."

"There was no water in my room," I replied, "but I went to the dam at 5 o'clock this morning and had a delightful wash."

"But how is it your eyes are so swollen if you have been up so long?" she asked.

"The room did that for me," I answered, calmly. "My lids are still swollen and very painful."

"Oh, ho!" laughed Mr. Du Plessis, "he got bitten! Fancy a man getting bitten! Those things don't trouble us in the least, you see."

"I am no accustomed to them," I retorted. "In my house we never see such a thing."

"Shall we read now?" asked the mother. "I think Meester ought to read this morning."

"And pray," added the eldest daughter.

A good-sized family Bible was handed me, and on placing it on the table and opening it at random, what should crawl out but a specimen of my nightly visitors! I recoiled from the holy book, but one of the boys, noticing my embarrassment, calmly removed the insect, and either gave it its liberty or kept it in his hand till after prayers.

Rosa Bonheur.

From "Anglo-French Reminiscences, 1875-09," By M. Bentham-Edwards.

Soon the door opened, and there entered the strangest, most striking figure I had ever seen. Voltaire himself at the same period of life could not have been stranger, more striking. It was of Voltaire's portraits and busts I thought as I gazed at that old-young, intensely intellectual, intensely vivacious physiognomy. It was a face that recalled also well-known likenesses of Michelet and Thiers. Thoroughly French were both features and play of expression, the brilliant eyes exuberant with life and feeling, immense power and determination evidenced by the mouth. Remarkable in no less degree were her hands; the delicate taper fingers and filbert nails characteristic of Frenchwomen here combined with great muscular strength.

She wore her usual working dress, the man's dress perhaps taking something from her stature; on the breast of her black alpaca blouse, or rather short coat, she wore the rosette of the Legion of Honor, the ribbon of Chevalier being replaced by the insignia of office during M. Carnot's Presidency. Absorbing as had been the studio a minute before, how did the artist's presence embody and vivify! It was as the first touch of some great musician on his own instrument. And simple with the inherent simplicity of sovereign natures, Rosa Bonheur could yet appreciate and enjoy a certain kind of praise, or, rather, understanding.

Baby Love.

Baby Love came prancing by,
Cap on head and sword on thigh,
Horse to ride and drum to beat—
All the world beneath his feet.

Mother Life was sitting there,
Hard at work and full of care,
Set of mouth and sad of eye.
Baby Love came prancing by.

Baby Love was very proud,
Very lively, very loud;
Mother Life arose in wrath,
Set an arm across his path.

Baby Love wept loud and long,
But his mother's arm was strong.
Mother had to work, she said.
Baby Love was put to bed.
—From "In This Our World," Charlotte P. Stetson.

Soldiers on Stilts.

From The Pall Mall Gazette.

At the present time, when the whole world is eagerly watching the progress of the war in South Africa, and the relative value of the various arms is being not only considered by experts but discussed daily among all classes of the public, a novel contrivance for getting over the ground quickly is being actually tested by the French infantry. Non-commissioned officers and men of the Thirty-fourth Infantry Regiment have been practicing in the "Landes" on stilts, with, it is said, excellent results. They were able to move at a great pace, and to lay a military telegraph line more rapidly than can be done by soldiers similarly employed on horseback. The ease with which they covered the ground with giant strides, planting the posts and fitting the wires, has excited considerable comment on this side of the channel, while the wish is expressed that this ingenious idea should be given a very full trial, as it might prove to be of use to an army in the field in various ways. The soldiers on stilts, selected from the regiment stationed at Mont de Marson, raced along the banks of the Adour as quickly as horses, placing posts and wire on their way. There was no difficulty when the men had acquired the art of walking six feet above the ground, and they were able to do the work in a very efficient manner, to the great satisfaction of those who had initiated this original idea.

The peasant shepherds of the "Landes" have made use of high stilts for ages past when following their flocks over the vast sandy wastes, covered with morass and marsh lands, which are characteristic of this region. In these dreary solitudes, often patched with short grass and heather, I have watched the weird figures skimming over the ground on their lanky wooden legs, and resembling at a distance huge cranes or pelicans. They stand frequently more than six feet from the ground, and from long habit can walk freely, while retaining the freedom of their hands for other purposes. Having practiced the use of these stilts myself for a short time, I can speak from some little experience. The foot rests on a projection of the staff, which is also firmly strapped to the wearer's leg, and with a little pains any one can master the initial difficulty of balance.

Doctoring Among the Khirghiz.

From "A New Ride to Khiva." By R. L. Jefferson.

Outside the doorway of the kibitka (or black tent) lay a man writhing in agony. Behind him and sitting on his haunches was one of the ugliest and most repulsive individuals I have ever seen. Osman (the dragoman) described him as the doctor. This fellow had a huge instrument with two strings upon which he continually strummed, chanting all the time in a doleful manner, and winding up the end of each verse of his song with a piercing shriek. The man on the ground was attacked by dysentery, and this, I was informed, was the method by which the Kirghiz were cured. When the doctor had got half-way through his song, a couple of Khirghiz approached, carrying two sheep. One was placed at the head and the other at the feet of the patient, and at a given signal each Khirghiz whipped out his knife and cut the throat of the animal, so that the blood should fall on the head and feet of the man to be cured.

When James Monroe Was President.

Though fashion-plates were quite unknown,
Was ever beauty like arrayed?
Enchantment's spell has never flown
From dainty lace and rich brocade.
The dames, the maids, the gowns they wore
Were taste and grace and beauty blent,
And hearts were warm unto the core
When James Monroe was President.

The beaux, rare gentlemen, forsooth,
Wore wigs combed up in powdered puff,
And no one blushed to take, in truth,
From silver box a pinch of snuff.
Sweet Courtesy held high command,
And men were peers to all intent,
The mark of rank an honest hand,
When James Monroe was President.

And tallow molded round a wick
When burning seemed as diamonds bright,
They'd scarce have traded candle stick
For twinkling incandescent light.
The dames, the maids, and gallants all,
Who long have slept 'neath earthy tent,
The same whose presence graced the ball
When James Monroe was President.

Ah, long the years that intervene,
Yet, laugh, ye scoffers, as ye may,
Still Purity's acknowledged queen,
And Courtesy is king to-day.
Hearts beat as warm to-day as then,
And charity's as kindly meant
As 'twas 'mong those, God's noblemen,
When James Monroe was President.
—ROY FARRELL GREENE in The Youth's Companion.

Lyddite Shells.

From Chambers's Journal.

Although all good people have a horror of war and the terrible tale of misery which it drags in its train, there is a certain amount of fascination about it because of its picturesque and intensely dramatic accompaniments. One cannot, for instance, read without absorbing interest of the work of our Naval Brigade and their awfully destructive lyddite shells, which, by the way, take their name frfom Lydd, on the Kentish coast, where the explosive is made and tested. Although the 4.7-inch gun used by the Naval Brigade has a projectile weighing forty-five pounds, this includes the five and a half pounds' charge of cordite which expels it; the weight of the lyddite in its head, which breaks the shell into death-dealing fragments, being only ten pounds. The entire projectile is in form like a sportsman's cartridge, containing its own propelling charge, with the addition of the bursting charge of lyddite; deducting these, the weight of metal is only twenty-nine and a half pounds.

Patience and the General.

From "A History of the British Army," by John W. Fortescue.

Napoleon, for all his theatrical tricks, had no heart or tenderness in him, and could not bear the intoxication of success. Marlborough never suffered triumph to turn his head, to diminish his generosity toward enemies, to tempt him from the path of sound military practice, or to obscure his unerring insight into the heart of things. * * * Marlborough," says Wellington, "was remarkable for his cool, clear, steady understanding," and this quality was one which never deserted him. Nevertheless, if there be one attribute which should be chosen as supremely characteristic of the man, it is that which William Pitt selected as the first requisite of a statesman—patience; "patience," as the Duke himself once wrote to Godolphin, "which can overcome all things"; a virtue which, as may be seen in a hundred passages during the war, was possessed by him in such measure that it appears almost godlike.

These are the qualities which mark the sanity of perfect genius, that distinguish a Milton from a Shelley, a Nelson from a Dundonald, and a Marlborough from a Peterborough; and it is in virtue of these, indicating, as they do, the perfect balance of transcendent ability, that Marlborough takes rank with the mightiest of England's sons, with Shakespeare, with Bacon, and with Newton, as "the greatest statesman and the greatest General that this country or any other country has produced."

Various Grades of Sable.

From The National Magazine.

There is the real Russian sable, which runs into hundreds of pounds; there is the real musquash sable, which comes to something like twenty pounds for a coat lining; there is the real rabbit-skin sable, a trimming of which comes to twenty-five shillings; and there is the real ox-hide sable, which costs about half a sovereign. A lower grade still is real charwoman's sable, a cape of which involves an immediate expenditure of from three to five shillings, according to quality.

No Two Thumbs Alike.

From Chambers's Journal.

It is not alone on questions of handwriting that handwriting experts are called upon to testify. Thumb impressions, around which Mark Twain in "Puddin'head Wilson" built his ingenious story, have sometimes formed the basis of very convincing testimony. Conan Doyle said that Carvalho's deductions in the case of the robbery of $25,000 from a package of the American Express Company, for nicety of reasoning and extraordinary coincidence, eclipsed anything any one ever dared put into fiction.

In 1894, Ass Guy Gurney was tried on the charge of stealing a large sum of money from the express company. It was proved that Gurney had opened the safe where the package had been placed, taken it out and deposited it in another safe. It was found that a large sum was missing. The evidence was purely circumstantial. The envelope containing the money bore upon it, however, a thumb impression. Mr. Carvalho testified that the impression on the envelope and several impressions of Gurney's thumb corresponded exactly, and contended that there were no two thumbs in the world alike. But such evidence was too subtle for the rural jury which tried the case, and the prisoner was acquitted. It is to be recorded as a tribute to the accuracy of Carvalho's testimony that Gurney soon after confessed.

Dublin Car Drivers.

From The Cornhill Magazine.

Not one at all acquainted with our shores can be unacquainted with our cars or their drivers, whose ready wit is proverbial. A man driven home by one of these on a very wet night wished to give him something to keep the cold out. Finding nothing at hand but a liqueur stand with its tiny glasses, he poured out one, saying, "You'll think none the worse of this because it was made by the holy monks." The carman drained the glass. "God bless the holy monks," he said; "it's thimselves that can make good liquor, but the man that blew that glass was very short of breath."

On a Day of Humiliation.

From The Spectator.

Let us take in England the crisis, not with pagan stoicism, but with Christian fortitude and resignation. But do not let us in our desire to show that we are still a God-fearing people—which undoubtedly we are, and of which we need no ostentatious and public proof—rush into an act that can only bring misunderstanding and misconstruction. It is reported that before several of the battles the Boers have been engaged in singing hymns and in public prayer. We do not doubt it, nor do we fail to be touched by the news. But are we to suppose that, because in our camp there were no such public signs of devotion, God went unregarded, unpraised, and unimplored? Assuredly it was not so. Just as among the Boers many soldiers joined in the prayers and hymns purely conventionally and without any touch of spiritual feeling, and, in fact, heeded not; so there were doubtless plenty among our men who were entirely untouched by solemn thought. But also among our men there were—we are as well assured of it as if we had been there—plenty of soldiers who sought God in their hearts. Were these men less true to Him than if they had bared their souls before the whole army?

Each army and race obeyed its own spiritual instincts. If, then, we do not try to imitate the customs of another epoch and engage in a great pageant of public prayer and fasting, we are not therefore to be counted as indifferent or careless. Let the nation seek the aid and mercy of God quietly and unostentatiously, and let it not attempt to revert to the fashion of a former age—good for that age, but not good for us.

Gilbert White's Selborne.

From The Saturday Review.

There are several ways of approaching Selborne, and it is not easy to decide which is the most pleasant. Most people go to Selborne from Alton, a neat and prosperous little town on the London and Southwestern Railway. It is a walk or drive of five miles through a country open and breezy, but not especially interesting till the great Hanger, which is the glory of Selborne, comes within sight. Spring or Summer, when the birds that White loved and watched are busy with their nests and songs, are the best seasons to visit Selborne, but this Hanger is a splendid sight, as is the Nore hill hard by, when touched by the fiery Autumn, and they who were so fortunate as to see the place late last October will never forget the fineness of the coloring.

It is not to be wondered at that White, with this Hanger close to his garden, within full view of his windows, should have come to think beeches the best of all trees; and the beeches of the Hanger, if not so stately as those of Savernake Forest, are still fine specimens. Then Selborne can be reached by a quiet back road from the pretty and well-kept village of East Tisted, and that is a very nice way, for the hedges are high and thick, and there are glimpses of the smooth park lands of Rotherfield and by-and-by of Selborne Common and the Nore hill. A third route is from Liss, near the Sussex border, through delightful Empshott, and a fourth—our own first pilgrims' way to Selborne—along the Oakhanger Road and into the village by one of those deeply sunk roads White tells us of, the origin of which so mystified Charles Kingsley. The best plan is to follow at one time or another all these ways to Selborne and judge for one's self which is the most charming, but it is not an easy decision to come to. The physical features of Selborne have not of course undergone any great change since White's time.

Fishing in Polynesia.

From Chambers's Journal.

A party of palu-fishers are ready to set out from the little Island of Nanomaga, the smallest but most thickly populated of the Ellice group. The night must be windless and moonless, the latter condition being absolutely indispensable, although, curiously enough, the fish will take the hook on an ordinary starlight night. Time after time have I tried my luck with either a growing or a waning moon, much to the amusement of the natives, and never once did I get a palu, although other nocturnal-feeding fish bit freely enough, notably a monstrous species of seaperch called la-heu.

The tackle used by the natives is made of cocoanut sinnet, four or eight-stranded, of great strength, and capable of holding a fifteen-foot shark should one of these prowlers seize the bait. The hook is made of wood—in fact, the same as is used for shark-fishing—about one inch and a half in diameter, fourteen inches in the shank, with a natural curve, the barb, or rather that which answers the purpose of a barb, being supplied by a small piece lashed horizontally across the top of the end of the curve. These peculiar wooden hooks are grown; the roots of a tree called ngūa, whose wood is of great toughness, are watched when they protrude from a bank and trained into the desired shape; specimens of these may be seen in almost any ethnographical museum. To sink the line, coral stones of three or four pounds weight are used, attached by a very thick piece of sinnet or bark, which, when the fish is struck, is always broken by its struggles, and falls off, thus releasing the line from an unnecessary weight. It is no light task hauling in a thick, heavy line, hanging straight up and down for a length of from seventy-five to a hundred fathoms or more.

Lumber Camp Life.

From The Atlantic.

Breakfast over, the day's work is on, with the singing of the crosscut saw, the crash of the falling pine, the ring of the axe. With the horn again for dinner and the toil again till dark, so runs the day.

Then follows an evening of jovial hilarity, and many a log shanty reels and shakes while the men play "scuddy" and "shovel-the-brogue." Squatting in a wide circle, they beat the person of their chosen victim with an old potato hid in a sock. The victim, struck from behind, must detect his assailant, which is by no means easy, as the elusive old potato keeps making the round of the ring. After the game, why not a fight, "just to see who's the best man?" And then why not a song to soothe those savage breasts? "The Lumberman's Alphabet!" cries a leading spirit, and starts the tune, which is sung with great vigor:

A is the Axe, as you very well know,
B is us Boys who can swing it al-so,
C is for chopping, which now does begin,
D is the Danger that we are all in,
E is the Echo that through the woods rang,
F is the Foreman who headed our gang.

and so on and on.

But whatever the evening's sport—scuddy, fight, song, or poker—the horn blows curfew at 9 and the lights go out, unless, of course, it be Saturday night or the night of a stag dance. And of all odd spectacles—pike poles and pevie hooks!—that is the oddest. Ferocious, unshaven woodsmen, hats on and coats off, prancing through a quadrille, in yellow shoe-pacs or Dutch socks and trousers "cut pompadour," while a fiddle wails forth a highly Gregorian melody!

For the XV. Nocturne, by F. Chopin.

A month of green and tender May,
All woods and walks awake with flowers,
Wide, sun-lit meadows for the day,
And moon-bathed paths for evening hours.
A bright brief dream that had no past
And of the future knew no fear;
A kiss at first, a sigh at last—
Only last year.

Another Spring, dim loveless woods;
No farewell kiss, no parting tear;
No stone to mark where silence broods
O'er the dead love we found so dear.
But oh, to me the green seems gray,
The budding branches all are sere;
For sweet love's sake, that died one day,
Only last year.
—E. NESBIT in Chambers's Journal.

Chaffinch and Cobwebs.

Phil Robinson in The Contemporary Review.

When the chaffinch asks for cobweb she sees that she gets it. She is not to be put off with trash. And while her ladyship turns over its samples, the spinner of the stuff crouches itself out of sight, pretending it belongs to the corner, is, in fact, part of the corner, its extreme angle, and not a pottle-bodied, edible spider.

Nor is the custom "soon suited to her mind." Some threads are too dusty, some have been in stock too long. What she wants, and means to have, too, "even if she turns the whole shop over for it," (and eats the spinner into the bargain,) are fresh, sticky strands that will make an invisible cement and ligament for her lichens and moss. So she picks and choses with most amusing fastidiousness—"pernickity" is, I think, the epithet applied to human beings who are so fid-faddy"—or is it the other way about? Anyhow, that is what the spider, hiding for dear life behind a tattered bit of its own arras, thinks she is. "A plague on the hussy; will she never make up her mind and go?" At last she does. Satisfied that she has picked out all the very best of the cobwebs that are to be got, she flits away to her nest.

By and by she is back again, and just as "finicky" as ever—the despair of shopmen and the horror of the shopwalker. Apparently she has forgotten she had been there before. At any rate, she begins making her selections with all the nice deliberation of the previous visit—itself, perhaps, the twentieth or the hundredth—and it is only after she has fastidiously ransacked the veranda that she is content. And with what a little. Packed up in her beak, her laborious collection really amounts to nothing: a ridiculously small parcel at best, for cobwebs crowd up very small. But, after all it is not altogether becoming in us human beings to make objections to the shoppings of a chaffinch. If the chaffinch considers a bundle of cobwebs that would just nicely cork up a weevil hole in a nut to be a fit and proper load for her, and as much as she can handle properly at a time, we may depend upon it that it is. She would be a sorry housekeeper, indeed, who took home more than she could do with.

The Recourses of the Prince of Monaco.

From The Gentleman's Magazine.

Ten years have elapsed since Prince Albert ascended the throne of the Grimaldi amid a pageant which recalled the Middle Ages. The reigning sovereign, who is fifty-one years old, was educated as a naval officer, and has served in both the Spanish and French Navies, taking part in the Franco-German war of 1870. In England he is known for his papers on oceanography; in France he has lately made himself conspicuous for his letter to Mme. Dreyfus; at home he is regarded as a very shrewd man of business, who has made excellent terms for himself with the Casino Company. So far the most important event of his reign has been the renewal of M. Blanc's original concession, which would have expired in 1913, for a further period of fifty years from that date.

This new privilege will have cost from first to last a million sterling in hard cash, paid to the Prince; an annuity rising every ten years, till it will reach £100,000 in the last decade; a new opera house, to cost £80,000, and, as a recognition of the artistic tastes of the Prince, a sum of £1,000 for each of ten special representations at the theatre. He also receives, as may be seen from the balance sheet of the company for last year, an additional grant of £20,000 for his law courts, police, and army of seventy-five men, and is also a large shareholder in the concern. Besides all this, the Casino pays for public works and roads, lighting, the water supply, the official wash house, the State baths, and the loss on the Post Office, while, true to the religious character of Monaco, it gives grants to the Bishop, the clergy, and the convents. In short, the contemporary history of Monaco is simply that of the Casino, and the descendant of the Grimaldi is that very modern product—the aristocratic financier.

A Prisoner of Hope.

To sit and watch in the lonely house
Whence others have risen and gone their way—
So hushed and still that the wainscot mouse
Creeps out on my hearth to play;
To hear the hurrying folk go by,
Their echoing feet the silence fill—
The world is busy enough, but I
In the midst of it all sit still!

To wait, tho' the tide runs far and fast,
To share the story yet turn no page,
To dwell in the heart of a vanished Past
With friends of a bygone age;
The living about me come and go,
But these have done with earth's toils and tears,
And I follow with faltering step and slow,
In the wake of the tedious years.

A broken weapon that's flung aside,
A wornout tool for which none need care—
Sometimes I fancy I must have died
And that only a ghost sits there!
Yet the dead no longer can feel the strain
Of the nerveless hand and the powerless limb,
And the weariness even worse than pain
That comes when Life's lamp burns dim!

Often I think the hour of dawn,
When the faint light glimmers on wall and floor,
And the curtains of night are half withdrawn,
Is the worst in the twenty-four!
How long will it be ere the tardy gleam
Of sunset fires the golden west?
It is less hard then just to watch and dream
When even the toilers rest.

And when stars come out o'er the twilight sea
There falls on my soul a peace profound,
As I think of a Hand that once set free
The Spirits in Prison bound;
One day He will burst these bonds of mine—
And perchance there is good work yet undone
He is keeping for me in His Love divine
In the Land beyond the Sun!
—CHRISTIAN BURKE in Good Words.

Omdurman and the Death of the Khalifa.

From The National Review.

Our infantry fixed bayonets and opened with volleys at 400 yards. The twelve-pounders and Maxims were hard at it; but in spite of this continuous fire, on came the Khalifa at the head of his men. Though firing incessantly, their aim was fortunately high, and the bullets whistled for the most part harmlessly over our heads. Nothing could live within the zone of our concentrated fire, yet some among them actually charged to within 250 yards of us, and died facing their enemy.

In this charge the Khalifa and most of the Emirs met their death, while at the same time the Ninth Soudanese, together with two Maxims and a dismounted party of the Camel Corps, were repelling an attack on our left flank, which had developed some strength. Discipline and steady volleys had decided the fate of the day, and fighting came to an end at 6 A. M. It had been hot while it lasted, but our casualty list was a trifling one, owing chiefly to our good position well in rear of the crest of open rising ground.

About a couple of hundred dervishes lay dead around us, and their wounded must have numbered over 500. Meanwhile, the remainder, having heard of the Khalifa's death, gave up the fight, and retired to their women in the camp.

Seeing that no further resistance was being offered, but not yet aware of the fall of the Khalifa, we advanced with every precaution. We were met by a deputation of the enemy, who, throwing down their rifles, asked for quarter for the whole force, and this was, of course, readily granted. From them we heard of the Khalifa's death, and his body was soon identified and placed under a guard. One of the wounded Emirs lying by his side told me that early in the engagement the Khalifa was grazed by a bullet in the hand, but so determined was he to carry out the attack that he concealed his wound by drawing his sleeve over it to prevent his followers being discouraged. He went forward into the thick of the fight, where he fell, struck by the splinter of a shrapnel in the mouth and by a rifle bullet in the head.

A Boer's Convictions.

From The Cornhill Magazine.

"Our ministers," said M. Du Plessis, "have a very simple and yet forcible way of explaining the nature of the difference between us and those who are not of us. There is, they say, a kingdom of light and a kingdom of darkness. In the one God rules, in the other Satan. God's people have light and walk in the light; those that are not of them have their minds darkened by sin."

"Do you," I said, "mean to infer that your Church is the only source of light in this country?"

"Keep cool," he exclaimed, waving his large hand before my face; "this is a painful subject we are handling. Truth stings, I know. There is no doubt in my mind that my Church is the only light-bearer between the Vaal and the Crocodile."

"Suppose the strangers whom this country harbors should join your Church, would they be incorporated into the People of God?" I ventured to ask.

"That is an unheard-of thing," he replied. "The gulf is so wide. I have never known such a thing to occur."

"But why should the gulf exist at all?" said I, pursuing the inquiry. "Men are all alike before God, are they not? Is there no possibility of the different elements fusing into one great nation?"

"There may be politically," he replied with great readiness. "Men may live side by side and behave as members of one community; but what can you expect of a union which must forever remain a superficial one?"

"But why so, Mr. Du Plessis?" I said pressingly. "That is exactly the point I do not understand."

"The understanding is not mine to give," said he with positive solemnity. "The secret of God's choice none shall reveal."

My astonishment, which had been steadily increasing, had now reached its climax. I thought it absurd to continue the conversation. Here was an individual, coarse, uncouth, repulsive, a type one would never associate with anything lofty or idealistic, living in surroundings which, barring the abundance of free air and heaven's sunshine, were little short of degrading, and yet imbued with the idea, as firmly rooted as revoltingly arrogant, that he and his kind were the 'elect of God' and the objects of Heaven's tenderest care. And from all I could learn, the ministers were responsible for this mad delusion. How could this fellow himself be made answerable for his notions of things and conditions? There was no reason why he should.

The "Cherokee Strip."

From The Youth's Companion.

The main aisle of the National House of Representatives, as might be supposed, divides that chamber into halves. One side, on the Speaker's right, is occupied by the Democrats, the other side by the Republicans.

If the two parties had an equal number of members this arrangement would be complete, but as one party is usually larger than the other a few of its men have to sit on the minority side. One would at first suppose that each party would begin at the extreme of its side of the house and fill in toward the middle, the party that had a majority running over the main aisle as much as was necessary. But this is not the way it is done.

Each party desires to hold its position of parliamentary vantage on the main aisle, and so the "overflow" of the majority have to go over to the extreme seats on the minority side. If the Democrats, for example, should have 225 members of a House of 300, about 45 of their number would take seats on the extreme left of the Speaker.

In the present Congress a few Republicans are seated at the Speaker's extreme right. Whether it is on the left or the right, the row of seats is called the "Cherokee Strip"; and members who are so unfortunate as to get into it speak of being "over in the strip." And yet any party likes to own this strip. The Speakership of the House always goes with it.

Gladstone's Self-Possession.

From Chambers's Journal.

This faculty was strikingly manifested when, in the position of leader of the House, Mr. Gladstone had to write frequent letters to the Queen giving his impressions as to public business. These letters he often wrote while sitting on the Treasury bench after the dinner hour, and they sometimes appeared to tax even his mental resources. He wrote them in a small and not very legible hand, and their composition occupied a considerable time. Sometimes he would pause for a few minutes before finishing a half-written letter, and would occasionally delete a word or two after reading what he had already written. In no duty did he seem to take such care, and keen observers often remarked that he could more easily deliver a long speech than write a letter to her Majesty. While his mind was apparently absorbed in this work, he was at the same time listening to the speeches which were being delivered, as was evidenced by the fact that he often jumped up to correct an oral statement or to explain some point in regard to the subject under discussion.

The Age of Iron.

W. R. Merriam in The North American Review.

The census, taken at the dawn of the twentieth century, marks the greatest epoch in our National life. The age of iron has come to a climax with a force almost dynamic. The world has witnessed the golden age of Augustus, the silver age of Elizabeth, the era of great wafs and of wonderful progress in the arts and sciences; but as the nineteenth century culminates, behold! the age of iron and steam and electricity, telegraphs, sewing machines, telephones, automobiles; an age which is devoted to material development, to the accumulation of wealth, and to the upbuilding of vast enterprises and which hails the advent of the uncrowned king of commerce, the consolidation of great corporate interests. High-water mark in our commercial and industrial life has been attained, and to that fact the vast enumeration to be taken next year will add its testimony. The work of the Twelfth Census will mark the industrial growth of the Nation and be another mile post in its marvelous history.

Following Out Orders.

From The Spectator.

There is an old Indian story of the subaltern who was ordered to take a gun up to the top of an apparently inaccessible hill. After several ineffectual attempts, he returned to his superior officer and reported the feat to be impossible. "Impossible, Sir," was the reply, "impossible?—why, I've got the order for it in my pocket." The subaltern went back and succeeded.

Labor in the South African Mines.

Interviewing John Hays Hammond in the Engineering Magazine.

Black labor is to be had in any quantity, under proper conditions, and the best of it is excellent in quality. The trouble is that conditions have been so bad that none but the lowest element of the blacks would submit to working in the Transvaal, and even these hardly at all except under pressure of absolute necessity. Abuse, extortion, enforced labor on the farms without pay, trickery, robbery of their accumulated earnings by Boers—these have not attracted the negro to the South African Republic. No doubt the regulation of political conditions as between the two races is a difficult one, but the Boer of the Transvaal has not even approached it. Oppression of the blacks has ruined the labor supply of the Witwatersrand, and not the least benefit of a good, honest, and just Government will be the amelioration of conditions in this respect. A "hut tax," by which the negro is made to supply some share in the support of the Government, and in return for which he receives protection of law, seems to be one of the most successful methods of raising the standing and increasing the responsibility of the native.

Wanted—A Corkscrew.

From "Memories," by C. Kegan Paul.

The wine at the communion was put on the table in a black bottle, and on one occasion the cork had not been drawn. Mr. Bell, the vicar, turned to the intending communicants as they knelt at the rails, and asked: "Has any lady or gentleman a corkscrew?" The implement having been obtained. (I fancy from the public house opposite, where stimulants were occasionally procured for the aged curate during the sermon.) the service proceeded.

God's Aid in War.

From The Spectator.

To many men of thoughtful and religious disposition, and especially to those who are naturally apt to trouble themselves with the misgivings of an anxious conscience, this war has been a source of peculiar perplexity. They believe that our cause is a just one, and they sincerely hold that they have a right to ask God's aid for our soldiers, and yet they cannot exclude the thought that the Boers are as sincere as they are in their appeals for divine help and in their belief that God will defend the right. But they argue: "How can this be? God cannot be on both sides, and God cannot be on any but the right side. Are we to think, then, that the war is an ordeal by battle, and that the question of right will be decided by the victory or defeat of our armies? Surely that is impossible, for history during whole centuries is a record of might triumphing over right."

The Divine Sarah Bernhardt.

Vance Thompson in The Criterion.

It was 3 o'clock. Sarah had said, "Venez me voir." Eh, bien, I come to see, with no thought of completing Caesar's alliteration. A gross, red butler showed me to the library. A sumptuous study, far too scholarly for any woman, even though she be a legend. A thousand books ranged in erudite order. Old editions of Racine, rare bindings of the poets, and everywhere engravings—Dürer and Rops, side by side!—and bibelots. Near the fireplace a table cumbered with letters and telegrams, for Sarah has just returned from her famous "tournée" over Europe.

Suddenly—in an adjoining room—laughter, a child's

AFFAIRS IN AUSTRALASIA

Colonial Cabinet Crises Occur in Rapid Succession.

SUBSIDY FOR MAIL SHIPS

New South Wales May Aid the San Francisco Line—Labor Troubles Get Into Court.

Foreign Correspondence New York Times.

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Dec. 23.—Quite a cyclonic wave in the form of Government reverses has swept over the Australian colonies within a few weeks past, carrying before it the defeat of no less than five Governments under our system of Parliamentary representation. This extraordinary political phenomenon originated in Tasmania, where the Ministry was defeated on a no-confidence motion and was replaced by another set of men. The turn of Mr. Reid's Cabinet in New South Wales came next, and here also it had to succumb through the desertion of the Labor Party, through whose instrumentality, voting as they did with the Opposition, Mr. Lyne has been installed as Premier. This was a severe and unexpected blow to Mr. Reid, who, had he remained in office, would have had a paramount claim to the first Premiership in the new Federal Government shortly to be established.

From New South Wales the cycle of Ministerial disaster extended to Queensland, where the Dickson Government came also to grief through the combined effort of the Opposition and Labor Party to bring about a change of Ministers. A new Government was at once formed by the leader of the Labor Party, but it only survived for twenty-four hours, and had to give way to another combination in which the short-lived Labor Premier took office in a subordinate position. The next crisis happened in the South Australian Legislature, where the Ministry succumbed through its refusal to concede universal suffrage for the election of members to both houses of Parliament.

Then came Victoria's turn, where the Liberal Party was numerically too strong to insure cohesion, and where one section of the family, aided by the Conservative Opposition, moved an adverse vote against Sir George Turner and succeeded in ousting him by a majority of eleven. Thus one set of Liberals has taken the place of another set on the Treasury benches, but the new men cannot possibly "hold the fort," as the Opposition are deeply incensed at their exclusion from the new Cabinet, and Sir George Turner is now the leader of the real Opposition, with a following of no less than forty stanch Liberals at his back.

A SALT LAKE CITY MAN KILLED.

Oscar Eliason, a native of Salt Lake City, was out shooting with a friend two or three weeks ago when the latter accidentally shot him in the groin. The accident happened in the vicinity of Dubbo, a New South Wales township about 300 miles inland from Sydney, and although every effort was made by the doctors to preserve his life, Eliason succumbed a day or two after the event. In New York last year the deceased met Mr. Curtis and entered into a contract with him for a round-the-world tour. Eliason's nom de théâtre was Dante the Great, and he was universally admitted to be the greatest illusionist and conjurer who had ever visited the colonies. He was literally coining money out here, and if he had lived would have returned to America a wealthy man. The body was brought down to Sydney for interment in Waverley Cemetery. As the deceased was a Mormon there was no set burial service.

Eliason's grave at Waverley is adjacent to that of the late Sadie McDonald, another young American entertainer, whose death occurred three years ago on the same day of the year as that of Eliason.

SAN FRANCISCO MAIL SERVICE.

Col. G. W. Bell, the United States Consul, who has recently returned to Australia from a visit to America, has been describing the new steamers which are to bring Australia, America, and New Zealand closer together. He tells us that these steamers will be finer than anything on the Pacific Ocean. There are three 6,000-ton boats being built at the Cramps' shipyards by the same firm that built the Mariposa, and Alameda. He saw one of the new vessels on the stocks and the material for the two others. "And mind you," remarked the Colonel, "they are being built regardless of cost. The Spreckles Company has given the builders a free hand. In fact, the company, possessing so much confidence in the builders, simply said, 'Build them.'"

Concerning the question of subsidy, the Colonial Treasurer of New South Wales has written to the New Zealand Premier stating that he will continue £4,000 for the San Francisco service for another year. Regarding the proposed improved service in view and the large subsidies now paid to the P. and O., Orient, and Vancouver Companies, the New South Wales Treasurer is not disposed at present to commit that colony to a larger subsidy for San Francisco than is now paid, but he adds that if it is a fact that sixteen-knot steamers between Sydney, New Zealand, and San Francisco could be given at a cost of £30,000 a year to the two colonies, he thinks New South Wales will be prepared to consider the matter favorably before the termination of the Vancouver contract in May, 1903.

In view of the new steamer service, it is contemplated by the New Zealand Government either to dredge Manukau Harbor or to carry a branch railway to deep water so as to expedite the distribution of the San Francisco mails throughout the colony and further popularize a service which it is admitted comes best up to our requirements for the dispatch and receipt of mails to and from Great Britain.

LABOR TROUBLES.

Doubts having arisen in New Zealand as to whether the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration act of that colony makes it compulsory that members of trades unions are to have the preference of employment over non-unionists, that question is about to be carried to the Supreme Court. The employers' unions and associations feel aggrieved that an affirmative interpretation should be given to the statute, as they consider it hampers them in the conduct of their business, and if they are unsuccessful in the Supreme Court they intend to carry the question to the Court of Appeal.

The former President of the Arbitration Court, Mr. Justice Williams, has laid it down that where equally competent unionist tradesmen are available for employment preference must be given to them over workmen who are not members of trades unions. His successor, however, Mr. Justice Edwards, has not strictly adhered to the dictum of his predecessor, and the legal interpretation of the act being doubtful, the employers have resolved upon having the question fought out in the highest courts.

STATE LANDLORDISM.

The New Zealand Government is still pursuing its policy of purchasing large estates, compulsorily and otherwise, and then cutting them up into convenient areas for purposes of closer settlement. Hundreds of thousands of acres have been acquired in this way from private owners, and relet to pastoral and agricultural tenants on perpetual lease at an annual rental of 5 per cent. upon capital value. The system is purely one of State landlordism, and under it thousands of people have been placed on the land who would never have been able to get there but for its beneficent operation. In most instances these transactions have been profitable to the State itself, as well from an economic as from a financial point of view, and the system has at the same time contributed largely to the absorption of the unemployed and to the development of the colony's productiveness in the shape of grain, frozen meat, dairy produce, timber, fruit, and so on.

In South Canterbury the Government bought a large territory used as a grazing run at £6 15s. per acre. They paid the owner £73,000 in cash, and £250,000 in Government debentures, bearing interest at the rate of 3½ per cent. per annum, and they got another large estate in Marlborough by paying the owner £250 cash and £93,000 in debentures bearing the same rate of interest, the debentures in each instance having a currency of ten years. The margin of interest between what they pay to the debenture holders and the per centage in the shape of rent upon capital value which is charged to crown tenants enables them to more than recoup themselves for the cost of survey and sub-division for closer settlement.

Of course the time will come when these crown tenants will agitate for a conversion of their leaseholds into freeholds, but that conversion can be granted to them with such safeguards as will absolutely prevent the aggregation of big estates again at any future period. In the meantime the system of State landlordism is working remarkably well, and a good deal of the colony's present prosperity is unquestionably due to its adoption and the wisdom shown in the administration of it.

A COLORADO SENATOR ON TOUR.

James W. Bucklin, a member of the State Senate of Colorado, United States, arrived at Auckland from America a few days ago, having been appointed Chairman of a committee which is deputed to investigate the fiscal systems of New Zealand and Australia. Mr. Bucklin is to leave Auckland for Sydney the day after to-morrow, going thence to Melbourne and Adelaide. On returning to Sydney from Adelaide he will return to New Zealand, and after visiting Wellington and other cities, will leave for America. Mr. Bucklin states that a great deal of attention is being bestowed in America on New Zealand legislation, and he tells us there is a growing feeling that something must be done in the United States to place the burden of taxation upon those who are best able to bear it.

COLONIES ASSIST THE EMPIRE.

The news of the recent British reverses in the Transvaal war, and the serious checks that have been offered to the advance of the armies under Gens. Buller, Methuen, and Gatacre, have stirred the colonies into further action in the way of providing fresh contingents of men, horses, and armaments. The offers of further assistance have been gratfully accepted by the imperial authorities, and a combined contingent from Australia, and another one from New Zealand, will be dispatched for South Africa early next month. The Colonies are ablaze with demonstrations of loyalty and patriotism, now that the prestige of the Empire seems to be endangered; and besides sending off strong detachments of citizen soldiers, large contributions of money are pouring in for the relief of Transvaal refugees and the widows and orphans of those who may be killed during the war.

This generous and patriotic spirit pervades every community in Australasia; but at the same time it cannot be denied that a very numerous section of people believe that the war is a capitalistic one, and that the British nation ought never to have been deluded into entering upon it through the designs of such men as Cecil Rhodes and other capitalists like him.

There is a strong feeling that but for its gold products the inhabitants of the Transvaal would never have been interfered with in their peaceful occupation in that out-of-the-way region, but at present the Empire's difficulty and threatened loss of prestige in the eyes of Europe outweigh all other considerations, and hence the readiness of the colonies to rally loyally to the old flag and to contribute men and money to the fullest extent that may be demanded of them as far as their resources will permit. J. G. G.

WOES OF A WEDDING GUEST.

Thrilling Tale of a New Jersey Commuter Who Was Lost in the Wilds of Brooklyn.

"They talk about the topographical difficulties of the Transvaal," said Jones, folding up his paper and staring about the ladies' cabin of the Jersey ferryboat, "but they don't cut much of a figure beside the topographical difficulties of Brooklyn."

Jones was the oldest commuter on a certain New Jersey railroad, and in consequence was looked upon as an authority on things in general by those who were his fellow-passengers to New York and back each day. When he spoke, the other commuters seated in the ladies' cabin gathered close around him, for by long experience they were able to tell from his manner when he was going to favor them with an interesting incident from his past life.

"I once tried to go to a wedding in Brooklyn," he continued, "at which I was to officiate as best man. It was in the Summer, too, I remember, and I had a narrow escape from being arrested as a lunatic. The trouble with the place I was trying to find was that I didn't know its name. It happened this way. A friend of mine was engaged to a girl in Brooklyn. The place where she lived was within the city limits, but still it was a village and was called by a name of its own. It was arranged that the wedding was to take place at the home of the parents of the girl.

"My friend did not give me very specific directions for finding the home of his intended bride. He told me that all I had to do was to take a certain trolley car and tell the conductor to let me off at a certain street. The house had no number, but the family was so well known there that I would have no difficulty in finding it.

"In due course I received my formal invitation. The only address given on the card was New Utrecht. I thought that my friend had not mentioned this name, so I took my bicycle road map of New York and the vicinity and looked it up. I studied for some time among the suburbs of Brooklyn before finding the name I wanted. At length I did find it in large letters. I had been looking for it among the fine print, believing that it was a very small place, but there it was, in great black type, spreading over a territory that must have embraced many square miles. I was puzzled me, for I remembered distinctly that my friend had said that I could walk from one end of it to the other in twenty minutes. The directions he had given me were so simple, however, that it seemed that there could be no difficulty in following them.

"I boarded the proper trolley car at the bridge. After traveling for what seemed to me an interminable time, first through the slightly familiar streets of Brooklyn, and, afterward, past country fields and suburban villas, the car reached the end of its route. I had forgotten to tell the conductor to let me off at the proper street, but I remembered that my friend had said it was not a great distance from the end of the trolley line. Getting off the car, I went up to the conductor, who was changing the trolley pole around preparatory to starting the car back to New York, and asked him if I was in New Utrecht.

"'New Utrecht?' he repeated; 'I never heard of it. You're in Unionville. Is that where you wanted to go?'

"'No,' I said; 'I want to go to New Utrecht.'

"'Rats!' said the conductor, 'there ain't no such place, not 'round here, anyways,' and he rang his bell and the car started off, leaving me standing alone in the middle of the track.

"An old man, with a long, gray beard was mowing the grass in a yard nearby. Going up to the fence I leaned over and asked him if I was in New Utrecht.

"'I never heard of it,' he said with all the evidences of astonishment.

"'Well, I want to get there in a hurry,' I said. 'Is there anybody here who can direct me?'

"The man edged away from me, looking frightened. Disgusted at his stupidity, I started to walk along the car tracks. The wedding was to be at noon, and it was almost that hour then. I asked every one I met to direct me to New Utrecht, but never once received an intelligent answer. I had often heard of Brooklyn stupidity, but never of anything to equal this.

"After hurrying along the tracks for nearly a mile, I stopped, tired and perspiring, to look back over the road I had traveled. To my astonishment, I saw that I was followed by a small crowd of curious people. One man asked me where I thought I was going.

"'New Utrecht!' I shouted. 'Don't any of you fools know enough to tell me where it is?'

"'I told you he was crazy,' said the man I had seen mowing the grass. 'Let's get a policeman. He might be dangerous.'

"'Yes,' I shouted, 'get a policeman, or somebody who has sense enough to direct me to New Utrecht.'

"The man hurried off, and I remained standing in the hot sun, surrounded by a circle of curious spectators. At length the policeman, tall, fat, and ruddy, appeared.

"'Well, young feller,' he said, 'what's the trouble?'

"'I want to go to New Utrecht,' I said.

"'There ain't no such place,' he answered.

"'But I know there is,' I said. 'I'm invited to a wedding there, and, besides, I saw it on the map.'

"'Humph!' said the policeman. 'You'd better come along with me.'

"He caught hold of my arm and started off down a side street. Resistance was useless, and I trotted along beside him meekly.

"As we passed a large house with a broad lawn in front of it I thought I heard a voice that sounded familiar. Looking up, I saw my friend among a group of people on the porch of the house. I was so delighted that, forgetting all my troubles, I broke away from the policeman and made a wild rush to him across the lawn. My friend was equally delighted to see me, but his joy changed to astonishment when the fat policeman came puffing up and started to drag me off. It required considerable explanation to make the officer of the law understand that I was not a violent lunatic, but he finally took himself off in evident dissatisfaction. I was not too late for the wedding, and I told the story of my wanderings to an appreciative audience.

"'You see,' said my friend, 'this place hasn't been called New Utrecht in fifty years. It is known as Van Pelt Manor. It is a hobby of my mother-in-law to use the old name, as she is a Holland Dame and a descendant of one of the original Dutch settlers here, so she had it engraved on the wedding invitations. You are not the only guest who has been misled by it.'"

GOSSIP OF THE CYCLISTS

Decreased Weight of the New Chainless Models.

MOVEMENT FOR GOOD ROADS

L. A. W. Officials Sanguine that Congress Will Pass Their Bill—Big Road Records of 1899.

What is said to be one of the most important features of the new chainless models is the great reduction in weight. It has been stated that this reduction would probably be slight, the difference in weight between this year's models and those of 1899 being only about two pounds. As a matter of fact, however, the reduction is more than this, and it has been found practicable to build a bevel gear chainless wheel, adapted to all kinds of riding, that weighs less than twenty-five pounds. Instantaneous response to power applied is one of the main advantages claimed by manufacturers of bevel gear machines. It is asserted that the rigid construction of the chainless wheel is such that there is less writhing and squirming of the machine when the rider puts forth all his strength for a spurt. It is predicted that the coming season will see a wonderful increase in the use of the chainless model.

***

The announcement last week that a bill would be presented in Congress on behalf of the League of American Wheelmen asking for an appropriation of $5,000,000 for good roads was the beginning of the good roads agitation as a National movement. The league officials believe that now is an appropriate time to introduce such a bill, and all the machinery of the wheelmen's organization has been set in motion to secure its passage. The regular weekly bulletin of the League of American Wheelmen writes thus of the movement:

"As for the merits of the bill, there can be no question. It is a recognized fact now that good highways are an economical necessity, in which this country is centuries behind Europe. That such a bill will receive an extended support cannot be doubted, as it is framed in the interests of wheelmen, farmers, automobilists, and the commercial community generally.

"This particular bill is in the nature of an experiment, to fix the popular status of such a measure, and, if successful, to demonstrate to the country at large the practicability of such appropriations and the necessity for better roads. A United States department officer commissioned to investigate this subject, has reported as his belief that, because of the lack of proper highways, the annual loss to the country is over half a billion of dollars. Much of this is represented in an annual loss to the small farmer.

"As a National bill, the one proposed now is not unique, for in the early part of the century there was inaugurated a good roads movement that was on a much larger scale than the one now under the guidance of the wheelmen. This was at the time when the roads were the sole dependencies of commerce for the hauling of the products of all the States to the markets or to the seaboard connections, such as canals and rivers.

"The first good roads movement of any importance was the building of a proposed National highway to connect the East and West. This was known as the Cumberland Turnpike, part of which is still in existence and is kept in good repair. The latter part of this highway was abandoned because of the building of railroads to cover practically the same territory, but nothing has been done to build the feeders to these railroad systems. The appropriations made for this and other roads by Congress fix the constitutionality for the present bill, and there are no legal objections against the measure.

"As to the probability of the bill becoming a law, there is not so much doubt as might at first appear. In the first place, the amount asked for is a very small sum for a Congressional appropriation. As a matter of fact, there are many laws carrying larger appropriations passed that never get near the publicity this one will receive. That the bill should be supported by Congressmen there are all kinds of reasons to offer. The League of American Wheelmen has been able to advance many reasons of an economic nature for the support of its good-roads agitation, and has succeeded in interesting the farmers all over the country in the subject. At present the farmers' organizations and the league are working in harmony in several of the States.

"As to the support this bill will receive, it may be said that a systematic campaign will be instituted and kept up in its favor. This will give every State division of the league something to do in bringing pressure to bear upon the Senators and Representatives of each individual State. Many of these are already members of the League of American Wheelmen, and as such will form the nucleus of the support of the bill. Others have been approached for an opinion on the bill, and not a single objection to it has yet been heard. Still others have a friendly interest in the league because of contact with it in local affairs in the past."

***

It has been claimed that the average rider adds considerably to his labor by unconsciously back-pedaling. The rider, instead of getting the full benefit of his stroke by continuing the downward push on the pedal to the furthest possible point, invariably stops the pressure and compels the up-coming crank to carry part of the weight of his foot. If ankle motion is diligently practiced it will do much to correct this fault. Indeed, ankle motion is recommended by veteran riders to those who have a tendency toward careless pedaling. The coaster-brake device brought to notice this fault of careless pedaling. At first unconsciously, and afterward from force of habit, the coaster brake would be thrown into operation as a result of not continuing the downward push of the pedal. This back pedaling is probably done when it is desired to slacken speed momentarily or when striking an obstruction, and the telltale coaster will record the fault plainly. With the coaster arrangement, however, this back-pedalling habit does not have any undesirable results. Instead of checking the progress of the machine, as would be the case with a fixed gear, it permits the machine to run forward under its own impetus.

***

The annual report of the mileage competition of the New York Division of the Century Road Club shows that the eight leading men wheeled 114,998 miles in 1899. Gus Egloff rode a total of 17,401 miles. This includes 21 single centuries, 29 doubles, 11 triples, 1 four-hundred-mile trip, 1 five-hundred-mile trip, and 1 ride of 1,000 miles. The 16,328 miles wheeled by C. A. Lehritter includes a fifteen-century trip.

The season of 1899 was remarkable for the many remarkable performances by woman cyclists. According to the records of the Century Road Club Mrs. E. R. Bayne and Miss Carrie Hitchcock each wheeled about 10,000 miles. Five hundred miles of this Mrs. E. R. Bayne made in century runs, while Miss Hitchcock took part in forty-eight centuries. The most remarkable performances, however, are credited to Miss Jane Yatman of Manhattan and Mrs. Jane Lindsey and Mrs. Irene Brush of Brooklyn. None of these women rode as many miles as Mrs. Bayne or Miss Hitchcock, but their mileage records were made in a series of rides that are without parallel among women in the history of cycling. This smashing of records was due to the rivalry that sprang up between Miss Yatman, Mrs. Lindsey, and Mrs. Brush for the honor of the record for continuous centuries that involved practically continuous riding for several days at a time. Until these women began to establish what appeared to be impossible records a triple century was considered a remarkable record. Mrs. Brush really started the ball rolling early last season by wheeling two consecutive centuries. Soon afterward she rode four consecutive centuries. Then Miss Yatman started out and rode 700 miles, but not to be outdone Mrs. Lindsey started out a few weeks later and completed eight centuries, finishing in a state of collapse. Miss Yatman probably would have tried to beat this record, but the season was too far advanced. She intends to start out next Spring and prepare for a ride of ten consecutive centuries, which record she believes will be out of every one's reach.

The scores of the eight men who rode 114,998 miles follow:

	Centuries.	Miles.
Gus Egloff	131	17,401
C. A. Lehritter	121	16,328
F. W. Hyde	76	14,375
Dr. E. McIntyre	17	16,432
J. B. Post	44	16,170
P. Thomas	52	12,128
C. E. Nylander	51	11,940
I. Gillett	60	10,226

The centuries made by the leaders in the women's division of the Century Road Club are Mrs. E. R. Bayne, 50; Miss Carrie Hitchcock, 48; Miss Jane Yatman, 33; Mrs. Jane Lindsey, 32; Mrs. May Smith, 25, and Mrs. E. M. Hitchcock, 23.

***

At the annual election of the Century Wheelmen the following officers were elected:

President, William H. Mackey; Vice President, F. L. Latham; Recording Secretary, E. A. Whitney; Corresponding Secretary, B. Ziesig; Financial Secretary, L. W. Palmer; Treasurer, Willis E. Frost; Captain, P. J. Murray; First Lieutenant, Charles Meyn; Second Lieutenant, J. Sasse, Jr.; First Sergeant, F. H. Robinson; Second Sergeant, W. Bruetscher; Third Sergeant, J. T. Staff; Color Bearers, D. McL. Mount, D. Whyte; Buglers, William H. Pease, Harry Rockefeller; Surgeon, Dr. G. H. Richtmyer; Board of Directors, Warde Bingley, H. V. Brill, W. B. Crane, W. P. Hepburn, F. J. Hughes, George J. Kraemer, S. H. McConnell, Joseph P. Walsh.

The club has had a very successful year. Of the first eight prize winners of the Century Road Club mileage competition of the State of New York five were members of the Century Wheelmen, C. Lehritter winning second. Although the club does not go in for racing much enthusiasm is shown by its members in road riding.

YACHTS AND YACHTSMEN.

The noted cutter Gloriana, one of the fastest yachts that ever sailed along the Atlantic Coast, will be one of those that will make the voyage inland before the yacht-racing season on the lakes begins. As already mentioned, she will fly the private signal of Burt H. Whiteley. The Gloriana is the first of the Eastern crackajacks to be sold, but before the season opens at least six of the best-known boats in these waters will probably have Chicago for a home port. The Gloriana was designed and built by the Herreshoffs in the Fall of 1891. At that time she was remarkable for the great overhang forward, while her underbody showed the greatest depth a few feet forward of her sternpost. That these innovations were advantageous was shown by her performances the following season, when her owner, E. D. Morgan, sailed her in twenty races, all of which she won. The Gloriana is 70 feet over all, 45 feet 3 inches on the water line, 13 feet beam, and 10 feet 2 inches draught.

***

In a recent trial between Sandy Hook and Scotland Lightships Thomas W. Lawson's new steam yacht Dreamer made 13.13 knots under natural draught and 14.80 knots under forced draught. In a burst of speed the Dreamer ran three miles at the rate of 16½ knots. The Dreamer was designed by Clinton H. Crane and was built by Lewis Nixon at the Crescent Shipyards, Elizabethport, N. J. When completed the Dreamer will equal in elegance any yacht in the New York Yacht Club fleet. Her hull is of steel, flush plated from the upper turn to the bilge. She is 182 feet over all, 150 feet on the water line, 23 feet beam, and 11 feet draught. The Dreamer is schooner rigged, with two pole masts and a short pole bowsprit.

***

Capt. Hank Haff has other accomplishments besides steering a racing yacht. Every day he can be seen near his home, at Islip, L. I., driving his 2:14 trotter, Bull's-eye. It is said that the veteran is as skilful with the ribbons as he is with the wheel.

***

Little information can be gleaned relative to the movements of the Columbia next season, and whether or not she will cross the Atlantic in quest of some of the valuable yachting trophies is still shrouded in deep mystery. The yacht is snug in her Winter quarters at City Island, where she is protected from the weather by a house built over her. This structure has a door at each end, and on fine days they are opened so as to permit a free circulation of air. All her spare spars that were not taken to City Island are still piled up in storage in the Walker's Cove yard at Bristol. Late rumors indicate that not only will the Columbia and Defender remain on this side of the Atlantic next Summer, but that neither of them will be placed in commission during the season.

***

From the great number of boats, consisting of large cutters, knockabouts, yawls, steam yachts and launches, and other types of racing freaks that are being built this season there is every indication of an unusually active Summer. By the launching of August Belmont's new racing cutter Mineola and her tender Scout attention has been drawn largely to the Herreshoff yards at Bristol. There are more than 130 carpenters employed in the boat shops there, and the force is being increased each week.

***

Commodore Joseph E. Fletcher of the Bristol Yacht Club will dispose of his cutter Nymph this Spring, and is negotiating for an eighty-foot schooner, from whose truck will float the broad pennant of the chief flag officer of the Bristol Club.

***

A recent letter from John Fearon of Glasgow shows that Will Fife, Jr., has profited somewhat by the glimpse he had of the Columbia when on this side of the Atlantic. Commenting on the latest craft turned out by the Scotch designer, he says:

'At the first glance, there is little apart from the profile of the boat to suggest either of the cup racers in any way. The new boat (no name has yet been found for her) is much easier in the draught comparatively, and much less beamy than the Shamrock was, and the keel runs dead parallel with the water line. In midship section the boat favors the Columbia model rather than that of the Shamrock, but she is probably more like the last 65-rater turned out of the Fairlie yard than either of the cup racers. The bilge turns less sharply than the Shamrock's did, and the floor is less flat than that of the challenger. She turns to the garboards with an easier curve than either the Shamrock or the Columbia, and has relatively a greater displacement than either. I am assured that her displacement is greater than that of any 65-footer which has left the yard since the Isolde. She will be built after the usual composite principle—wood planking on angle-steel timbers.

Capt. Archie Hogarth, who commanded the Shamrock in American waters, will have charge of the new boat.

***

C. D. Mower is designing quite a number of boats this Winter, and is turning out some very promising ones, among them being a fifteen-footer, twenty-four feet over all, and of the extreme "scow" type. This boat was built by L. D. Huntington of New Rochelle, and was tried out before the cold weather set in, showing good speed and sail-carrying ability. Another of Mr. Mower's designs is a boat for George E. Reynolds of Kansas City, to be used on Lake Michigan, and to be built by Huntington. She is a centreboard boat, 35 feet over all, 24 feet water line, 10 feet beam, and 3 feet draught, and carries 975 square feet in a jib and mainsail rig, with a short bowsprit. She is designed chiefly for an afternoon sailing boat, suitable for occasional short cruises, so she has a large cockpit and a cabin house 10 feet long, with 4 feet 6 inches head room. The cabin has clothes lockers at the after end and wide transoms and a sideboard with lockers on either side forward. The galley is under the cabin house. She has an iron shoe of 3,500 pounds for outside ballast.

***

A challenge has been issued through the Orange Lake Ice Yacht Club for a series of races with the Irene of the Lake Minnetonka Ice Yacht Club, holder of the Northwestern championship pennant. The details have not as yet been completed.

***

The lateen rig for ice yachts has grown into favor among the Western clubs, and yachtsmen there believe that the superiority of the newer boats can be traced directly to this style of sail. Yachtsmen in the East, however, do not appear to agree with the Westerners. As a matter of fact, while the lateen rig is used to some extent in the East, the most speedy of the Hudson River boats are sloop rigged, with a single headsail, and a pole mast. This lofty rig is also going out of fashion, and the most successful racers' sail plans are cut with short hoist and a long base line. Excellent examples of this are Commodore Harry Higginson's Windward and Vice Commodore Willett Kidd's Snowdrift.

***

At the annual meeting of the Williamsburg Yacht Club the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Commodore—William Kells; Vice Commodore—J. Fennell; Rear Commodore—M. Rosemond; Secretary—H. Sneider; Corresponding Secretary—W. E. Long; Treasurer—Adolph Kling; Measurer—A. I. Brush; Sergeant at Arms—J. Newburg; Regatta Committee—Victor Hallers, W. H. Woodcock, M. Gelgart, and J. Rawlinson; Trustees—J. Schuessele, L. Rice, and Andrew Humphries; Fleet Captain—D. M. McKillop; Surgeon—A. C. Harrick; Chaplain—Ex-Commodore F. W. Smedley; Steward—L. Rice. During the Winter the club will hold its meetings at Schwartz's Hotel, Manhattan Avenue, Greenpoint, the clubhouse at North Beach being closed.

***

The following ticket for officers of the Orange Lake Ice Yacht Club was the unanimous choice of the members at the annual meeting of the club, which was held in the Pine Point clubhouse last Saturday evening: Commodore—H. C. Higginson; Vice Commodore—Dr. Willett Kidd; Secretary and Treasurer—W. A. Kidd; Regatta Committee—James O'Brien, Frank G. Wood, Patrick Delany, David Brown, and W. Sawyer of Malden.

***

Secretary F. L. Hauptener of the Greenville Yacht Club has placed a commission with a bidder at Patchogue, L. I., for a thirty-five-foot up-to-date cruising yawl. The boat will be equipped with all the latest improvements and will be launched early in April.

***

Albert Wendel of the Greenville Yacht Club, owner of the sloop Wanderer, has purchased the big catboat Lady Eldridge, formerly of Atlantic City. The Lady Eldridge was owned by Capt. Mathias, who is in the coasting trade and has no time to devote to sport. The new boat is one of the largest catboats in New York Harbor, and in addition to being a fine sea boat, is very fast. She was sailed up the coast from Atlantic City single-handed.

***

The Lake Geneva Yacht Club has set aside $4,000 for the annual regatta of the Inland Lakes Yachting Association, which will be held under the auspices of the Lake Geneva Club next August. Besides the usual championship cup, there will be other valuable trophies to attract the best talent on the small lakes.

***

There will be almost a new fleet of half and one raters at Lake Geneva. Seldom it is that the same boat races for the championship two years in succession, for the owners see, or think they see, faults in the construction that can be remedied in a new boat. Fifteen yachts were at the last regatta, but Mr. Carpenter, Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements, is counting upon having to care for at least twenty this year.

***

The Regatta Committee of the Yachting Department of the Knickerbocker Athletic club is formulating a plan whereby the Greenville, Jersey City, Pavonia, New York Bay, and New Jersey Yacht Clubs will cooperate with it in organizing a large club composed of all the members of the smaller organizations with stations on New York Bay. It is not proposed to abandon the various club houses now held, but to use them as auxiliary stations for supplies, &c., with general headquarters at the big clubhouse of the Knickerbocker Club, back of their track at Bergen Point. Vice Commodore Charles J. Leach of the Greenville Club is working for the consolidation, which is likely to meet with the approval of yachtsmen in general.

***

The Nominating Committee of the Riverside Yacht Club has submitted the following candidates for officers of the club for the year 1900: For Commodore, George G. Tyson, schooner Nirvana; for Vice Commodore, James D. Smith, schooner Viking; for Rear Commodore, E. Hope Norton, sloop Memory; for Treasurer, Charles F. Buxton; for Secretary, J. G. Porter; for Measurer, T. E. Ferris; for Trustees for term ending February, 1903, Frederick Beltz and W. A. Hamilton; for Trustee for unexpired term of George Lowther, (resigned,) W. J. L. Davids; for Regatta Committee, Charles P. Tower, Chairman; W. A. Huffington, and F. S. Doremus; for Membership Committee, Robert Rutter, J. H. McKenna, and George E. Marks; for Entertainment Committee, J. Arthur Oatwell, S. L. Lindeman, and E. H. Brinley, Jr.; for Fleet Surgeon, Dr. H. H. Tyson, Jr.; for Chaplains, the Rev. Dr. George C. Houghton, the Rev. Rufus Putney, and the Rev. Charles F. Boylston.

***

A. Cary Smith is working on the designs of a big auxiliary schooner yacht for a prominent New York yachtsman whose name has been withheld for the present. The new yacht will be a full-rigged steel craft with a feathering propeller, and will be equipped with a 100 horse-power steam engine. H. deB. Parsons has designed the engine and its connections.

BRIGHT YACHTING OUTLOOK.

Coming Season Promises to be a Most Interesting One—Uniform Measurement and Racing Rules.

With uniform measurement and racing rules, the coming season bids fair to be a most interesting one in yachting circles. This will be especially true in the race about classes. The older boats, such as the Seawanhaka-Corinthian one-design craft, will not be compelled to compete against the later racing machines of the twenty-one-foot water-line class, where they could not possibly win, barring accidents, but will compete in a class by themselves. This class will include all knockabouts with centreboards, leaving the keel boats to fight out the question of supremacy together.

These two classes alone, the rules governing which were printed last Monday in The New York Times, will bring out about thirty boats, whose owners will race them throughout the Summer, and with the addition of several new ones and others that will come around the Cape from Boston the sport will be correspondingly keen and the races well contested.

The new rules allow fine lines and plenty of power for the boats, and at the same time the restrictions are such that substantial boats that will be good, comfortable cruisers will be the rule. Among the new boats will be one for Sherman Hoyt of the Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht Club and another for Louis R. Alberger of the Indian Harbor Club.

There have been in the past some slight differences in the classification of racing yachts between the Larchmont and Atlantic Clubs and the Yacht Racing Association of Long Island Sound. At a meeting last Wednesday night, at which representatives of these three organizations discussed the matter thoroughly, steps were taken to have the various rules conform. The result of this will be that one rule of measurement and classification will be in vogue, and yacht owners will require but a single measurement throughout the season, the certificate of which will be recognized by every club in the vicinity of New York.

The racing plans of the various clubs have not been definitely agreed upon. It can be said confidently, however, that the schedule of races as sailed last year under the Sound Association's auspices will be closely followed during the coming Summer. The Larchmont Club will give races as usual on all the principal holidays, and the Seawanhaka-Corinthian Club will hold club races every Saturday afternoon at Oyster Bay, in addition to the regular dates allotted to them by the association.

Racing south of Hell Gate will practically be monopolized by the Atlantic Yacht Club, especially in the larger classes, and several races among the new seventy-foot cutters may be expected under the auspices of the Atlantic and Larchmont Clubs, respectively.

BROOKLYN ADVERTISEMENTS. | BROOKLYN ADVERTISEMENTS. | BROOKLYN ADVERTISEMENTS. | BROOKLYN ADVERTISEMENTS.

We are Sole Agents in the United States for the Celebrated Carlsbad Pine Cone Soap.

Frederick Loeser & Co.

"A Perfect Thing:" The Narcisse Glove.

BROOKLYN.

The Largest and in Every Way the Most Complete Store in Brooklyn and the Second Largest in Greater New York.

A Peremptory Silk Sale

Miles of Fancy Silks.

39, 55 & 79c. instead of 59c, $1, $1.25 & $1.50

Our silk selling has become the acknowledged centre of a movement around which others seem to arrange themselves the best they can. The phenomenal success of these sales, and the immense quantities of silk sold, brings us the offer first of every available lot on the market. So here again we have something we know you will appreciate. Fancy silks, including stripes, checks, corded silks, Dresden and Jacquard effects, light and medium shades, in almost countless varieties; the largest ever offered. Regular 59c., $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50 up-to-date silks at 39c., 55c. and 79c.

A Vital Story of Tailor-Made Suits and Skirts.

During the between seasons one of the very best makers, in fact considered by the trade a "leader," wanted to keep all of his force together and made up for us a number of the new 1900 Spring Tailor-Made Suits and Skirts at from the regular prices. This advantage, of course, as usual, we pass along to you. But not only will you find the prices very attractive but these first new styles and designs we know will be very interesting just to see, because they are the advance things of the season here first.

A Saving of 25 to 30 per cent.

At $14.75 INSTEAD OF $19.50.—Tailor-made Suits of Cheviot Cloth, double breasted, semi-fitting jacket lined with taffeta, skirt entirely new in shape, with box pleat effect.

At $29.50 INSTEAD OF $37.00.—Tailor-made Suits of Zibeline Cheviot, Eton Coat, with double breasted effect, faced with peau de soie, lapped seams, skirt with double box pleat and lined with taffeta silk.

At $18.50 INSTEAD OF $24.00.—Tailor-made Suits of English Cheviot, short, stylish, tight-fitting coat, faced with silk, skirt with box pleat and lined with percaline.

At $21.00 INSTEAD OF $28.00.—Tailor-made Suits of Rough Cheviot Cloth, short top coat effect, skirt with box pleat; suit finished with lap seams and lined with taffeta silk.

At $6.75 INSTEAD OF $8.75.—Separate Skirts, Cheviot Cloth, box pleat in back, flounce effect, finished with rows of stitching.

At $7.25 INSTEAD OF $9.25.—Tailor-made Skirts in English Cheviot Cloth, box pleat on back, trimmed with rows of stitching.

At $11.25 INSTEAD OF $14.00.—Tailor-made Skirts in Rough Cloth, elaborately trimmed with taffeta, appliqued in scroll designs.

Opportunities in the Art Embroidery Store 2d Floor.

A large number of improvements in the new home of the Art Embroidery store, new building, 2d floor. Not only more conveniences in the buying, but a larger assortment from which to buy.

AT 49c. INSTEAD OF 69c.—Imitation Irish Point Shams and Scarfs. The following few sizes of Renaissance, with linen centre—

Squares, 20x20—$1.25 to $2.39 instead of $3.50 to $4.98.

Squares, 24x24—$1.98 instead of $3.98.

Scarfs, 20x54—$2.49 to $5.25 instead of $5.00 to $11.50.

Scarfs, 18x36—with silk centre, $2.19 to $3.25, instead of $4.85 to $6.50.

Scarfs, 20x36—all Renaissance, $2.69 instead of $5.98.

Squares, 30x30—Silk Centre, $2.39 instead of $4.98.

Round, 36x36—Linen Centre, $2.69 instead of $5.98.

CHESS PLAYED BY EXPERTS.

Details of Some of the Vienna Tournament Contests.

The following are detailed moves in some of the games played in the recent national masters' chess tournament at Vienna:

RUY LOPEZ.

| | Wolf. White. | Alapin. Black. | | Wolf. White. |

DAILY, ONE CENT. SUNDAY, THREE CENTS.

"All the News That's Fit to Print."

The New York Times.

THE WEATHER. Fair; winds variable.

COPYRIGHT, 1900, BY THE NEW YORK TIMES COMPANY.

VOL. XLIX...NO. 15,612. NEW YORK, MONDAY, JANUARY 22, 1900.—10 Pages and Supplement. ONE CENT In Greater New York and Jersey City. Elsewhere, TWO CENTS.

TO-DAY: TEN PAGES,

WITH FINANCIAL REVIEW AND QUOTATION SUPPLEMENT

THE NEWS CONDENSED.

FOREIGN.—Gen. Warren was engaged all day with the Boer forces, driving them back about two miles and forcing them from three positions. As the army advances further from the railway the difficulties of transportation are increasing enormously. The British losses reported are very small. On Saturday they were about 300. Col. Plumer's advance to the relief of Mafeking has progressed to within one hundred miles from that place. Much comment has been excited in Europe over reported courtesies extended by President Krüger to Webster Davis, the Assistant Secretary of the Interior of the United States, who has arrived at Lorenzo Marques. President Krüger's private car has been placed at his disposal for the trip to Pretoria. Richard D. Blackmore, author of "Lorna Doone," died in England yesterday. Osman Digna has been brought to Suakim and lodged in prison. The steamer Paris is on her way to Belfast in tow.

Page 1.

Senator Stranahan explained and defended the provisions of the proposed tax on mortgages.

William Jennings Bryan will arrive in this city this morning, and make the Hoffman House his headquarters.

There is some opposition in East Orange to the acceptance of the proposition made by Andrew Carnegie to give the city a fifty-thousand-dollar library.

The earthquake of Friday night and Saturday morning in Mexico killed seven people, injured sixty, and did much damage to properties.

The problem of the selection of a successor to Superintendent of Insurance Payn puzzles Senator Platt, it is said, and he does not know what to do.

Mrs. Elizabeth O'Hare of 102 Summit Street, Brooklyn, died suddenly yesterday in the Church of St. Francis Xavier, that borough.

Page 2.

The Central Federated Union adopted a resolution demanding that only citizens be employed in the construction of the rapid transit tunnel.

The Rev. Dr. Hillis, at Plymouth Church, preached against war between nations and in the churches, referring especially to the South African conflict and to an alleged heresy case now under consideration in this city.

Page 3.

It 's now expected that the prosecution in the Molineux murder trial will complete its case to-morrow.

Three men were killed in East Eleventh Street in a fight between the members of two families.

Men under arrest in Newark, N. J., are thought to have been implicated in the shooting of a watchman in Bridgeport, Conn., two weeks ago.

William Gillen of 1022 South Twentieth Street, Philadelphia, died yesterday on the platform of the Cortlandt Street station of the Sixth Avenue elevated road.

Page 7.

The Rev. Dr. Madison C. Peters preached last evening to the members of the dramatic profession on "The Church and the Theatre."

Mrs. Anna Nathan Meyer, a Trustee of Barnard College, gave an outline of the new agreement establishing close relations between the college and Columbia University.

Page 10.

There was an elaborate observance of the feast of St. Agnes at St. Agnes's Church.

The Rev. Dr. Parkhurst yesterday, in his sermon at the morning service in the Madison Square Presbyterian Church, again attacked the municipal administration in the strongest terms

Amusements.—Page 7.
Arrivals at Hotels and Out-of-Town Buyers.—Page 2.
Court Calendars.—Page 9.
Marine Intelligence and Foreign Mails.—Page 3.
Weather Report.—Page 2.
Yesterday's Fires.—Page 2.

70,000 FRANCS FOR A CORPSE.

Relatives of Sig. Tomba, Who Was Buried at Sea, Offer a Big Price for His Body.

Foreign Correspondence NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, Jan. 9.—Considerable interest has been aroused of late concerning the attempts to recover the body of the celebrated Italian millionaire impressario Signor Antonio Tomba, who died at sea some three months ago on board the Italian steamer Regina Margherita, found from Buenos Ayres to Genoa. Notwithstanding the entreaties of Tomba's family at the time, the body was buried at sea off San Vicenzo, in the Cape Verde Islands.

Tomba's relatives, unable to persuade the Captain to infringe upon the rules regarding the carriage of corpses on his ship, and determined to make a last attempt toward preserving the body and securing its interment in the deceased's native land, had the body inclosed in a water-tight and hermetically sealed floating coffin of wood.

On the face of the coffin was affixed a roll of parchment offering 50,000f. to whoever might find it and convey it to Genoa or Buenos Ayres.

No news as yet having been received of the coffin, the brother of the impresario, Signor Dominico Tomba, has now come forward with an additional offer of 20,000f. for the recovery of the body.

In the face of such monetary temptation the officers and crew of some of the many steamers and sailing vessels may be persuaded to take on board the much-desired coffin should they come in contact with it. The superstition among sailors regarding the housing of the dead, and sanitary laws prohibiting their carriage, are two important drawbacks to the recovery of Sig. Tomba's body, but the sum of 70,000 francs is no small one, and a crew of modern seamen may think twice before refusing such a prize.

CAR WRECKS AUTOMOBILE.

Son of Thomas A. Edison, the Driver—Occupants Thrown to the Street and Bruised.

An eastbound Fifty-ninth Street cross-town electric car ran into an automobile at Sixth Avenue and Fifty-ninth Street last night, completely smashing it and throwing its three occupants to the street. They were W. L. Edison of Orange, N. J., a son of Thomas A. Edison, who was operating the machine; H. Stach of 146 East Seventy-first Street, and George Paulding of Madison Avenue and Seventy-first Street.

None of the men was hurt seriously, but they went to the office of Dr. Lewis Morris, at 60 West Fifty-eighth Street, where their bruises were attended to, and then went home.

The automobile was following closely behind a west-bound car, and when Sixth Avenue was reached Mr. Edison attempted to make a short turn into that thoroughfare. He had not calculated on an east-bound car which came along just then. Mr. Edison would not make a complaint against the motorman, and he was not arrested.

Arrest of William M. Coe.

BOSTON, Jan. 21.—Chief Inspector Watts received a telegram this afternoon announcing the arrest at White Plains, N. Y., of William M. Coe, formerly treasurer of the Altham International Motor Company, who is wanted here on a warrant charging him with the larceny of $5,000 from George Francis, proprietor of the Boylston Café in this city. It is alleged Coe made misrepresentations regarding the financial condition of the motor company.

More Trenton Schoolgirls Escape.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 21.—Two more girls escaped from the State Industrial School for Girls to-night. This makes fifteen that have escaped within the past few months. Eleven of the fifteen have been recaptured.

MR. BRYAN COMING TO-DAY

Westerner Will Make the Hoffman House His Headquarters.

HERE TO WIN TAMMANY HALL

Ex-Gov. Hogg, Who Intimates This Is the Real Purpose of His Visit, Is Confident of His Election.

According to advices received at the Democratic Club last night William Jennings Bryan will arrive in this city at 7 o'clock this morning, and will go at once to the Hoffman House, which he will make his headquarters during his stay in this part of the East. So far as is known Mr. Bryan's visit will extend over three and possibly four days, though none of his friends was able to give positive information in this regard yesterday.

Mr. Bryan had originally planned to stay at the Hotel Bartholdi, where he has an engagement to meet the State Committee of the Chicago Platform Democracy to-morrow. Several of his friends, including Norman E. Mack of Buffalo and James S. Oliver, ex-Sergeant at Arms of the Democratic National Committee, however, visited him in Washington and persuaded him that inasmuch as the Hoffman House is generally regarded as Democratic headquarters it would be well for him to register at that hotel. Mr. Bryan thereupon telegraphed to the management of the bartholdi, canceling his engagement of rooms and made application for quarters at the Hoffman House.

While Mr. Bryan is in the city he will be kept busy in attending to the political and social demands upon his time. A number of Democrats of more than local prominence are here awaiting his coming, and though there has been no formal conference arranged, it is likely that whatever time Mr. Bryan has to spare will be fully occupied in talking over the situation. He will be a guest at a private dinner to-night, and to-morrow he will have a meeting with the Chicago platform Democrats. In the evening he will dine with John W. Keller at the Democratic Club.

This dinner, it was definitely announced yesterday, will be of small dimensions. In order that there may be no mistake as to its unofficial character, Mr. Bryan and the half dozen other men who will be Mr. Keller's guests will occupy one of the tables in the main dining room, during the usual dinner hour. Those members of the club who may desire to do so, will dine at the other tables at the same time. After the dinner Mr. Bryan will be presented to the members of the club who may be in the clubhouse, and while there has been no formal programme outlined and no efforts have been made to attract a large attendance, it is believed that the house will be well crowded. Mr. Keller was unwilling to say yesterday whom his guests would be, but it is known that invitations have been accepted by John F. Carroll, Corporation Counsel Whalen, Senator P. H. McCarren of Brooklyn, and ex-Gov. Hogg of Texas, who provoked an outburst of Bryan enthusiasm at the Tammany Society's Fourth of July celebration last year.

Gov. Hogg, in conversation yesterday, intimated that the real purpose of Mr. Bryan's visit at this time was the healing up of all differences which existed between the late Presidential candidate and the Tammany organization during the campaign of 1896. Mr. Hogg spoke in praise of Tammany Hall and Richard Croker, and predicted that Mr. Bryan would be elected next Fall by an "overwhelming majority."

"All through the West and South," said Gov. Hogg, "Tammany Hall is regarded as the greatest and most potent factor in the political field. Its sturdy support of the party's nominees has won it friends in every quarter, and with a united Democracy such as we will have during the ensuing campaign, there is no doubt of the election of Mr. Bryan. Out West Mr. Croker is looked upon as a leader of the best type. He is a man of principles, and his political acumen is beyond dispute.

"One of the things that most commends him to the people of the West is the fact that he resigned his office of City Chamberlain, which paid him $25,000, because he did not believe that a city official to whom are intrusted vast sums of money should own race horses. He wanted to go into racing, and, rather than violate this principle, he relinquished an extremely lucrative office.

"I've been about the country a good bit in the last year, and I'll tell you that everything looks as though this would be a Bryan year. Those who voted for Mr. Bryan in 1896 will vote for him in 1900, and besides, there are thousands of men who voted for Palmer and Buckner, or did not vote at all, who will return to the fold. Then there are thousands—hundreds of thousands—of Republicans who will not support McKinley. We are going into this campaign with everything on our side and we're sure to win out."

Gov. Hogg expressed himself as being full of regret for the war between Great Britain and the Boer Republic. "Things like this are enough to divide public opinion," he said. "On the one side is England, which manifested the warmest friendship for us during our struggle with Spain. On the other is a small nation fighting for liberty. If it were not for the fact that England is fighting against a republic you'd never hear a word spoken against her. It would be a bad thing for all of us if England should sustain defeat, but just the same she is on the wrong side this time."

Norman E. Mack, who called upon Mr. Bryan in Washington on Thursday, said last night that in the western part of the State there is no opposition to Mr. Bryan's candidacy. So far he had heard of only one possible Democratic candidate for Governor, and that is Senator Mackey of Erie County. Mr. Mack will have a conference with Mr. Bryan during his visit.

Mr. Bryan's Visit to Jersey City.

City Collector Davis of Jersey City said yesterday that he would make arrangements for Col. William J. Bryan to speak on Wednesday night at St. Peter's Hall. He said Col. Bryan would arrive on Wednesday afternoon, and would dine with Congressman Daly in Hoboken. From there he would go to the clubrooms of the Davis Association in Jersey City, and then to St. Peter's Hall.

THE FRENCH IN CHINA.

Details of the Troubles at Kwang-Chan-Wan Bay.

Special to The New York Times.

TACOMA, Jan. 21.—The steamship Monmouthshire brings news from Shanghai that China has acquiesced in the French demands for territory at Kwang-Chan-Wan Bay after two more Chinese defeats. China has dismissed the Viceroy of two Kwang provinces, appointing Li Hung Chang to succeed them. Li has been ordered south to delimit the French boundary and arrange other details. China also agrees to decapitate the Prefect who began the warfare against the French, and to pay 200,000 taels indemnity to the families of Frenchmen killed in the fighting.

Dec. 20 eighty French soldiers were sent into the interior to make a demonstration and prevent further native uprisings. They engaged a body of Chinese troops and fought their way through. A mob then surrounded them, but it was driven back with about 100 natives killed and wounded. The French lost eighteen men. The same week three companies of French Marines charged against Chinese regulars, killing twenty-two of them. French warships then threatened to go up the river and bombard Canton. China thereupon yielded.

Fatal Row Over Runaway Match.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Jan. 21.—Mardell Polston met Duncan McDuffy on the road near Bennettsville to-day and was accused of assisting in the runaway marriage of McDuffy's daughter. Polston denied the charge, and a quarrel ensued, which resulted in the killing of McDuffy. Polston is in jail.

Roland Reed Much Better.

Roland Reed, the actor, who has been a patient in St. Luke's Hospital for several weeks, is improving. The physicians said that yesterday Mr. Reed was able to sit up in bed for the first time. It is thought that unless some unlooked for complication sets in he will recover.

ALDERMAN CATCHES THIEVES.

Chicago Official Captures Two Offenders in Twenty Minutes—Has a Hard Fight.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—Alderman James C. Patterson of the Twelfth Ward, made a record as a thief taker yesterday which even an experienced policeman might envy. He captured two men within twenty minutes and marched them to the station.

As the Alderman was hurrying to keep an engagement at the Palmer House, he saw a young man acting suspiciously in a crowd near Marshall Field's. Patterson watched him and saw him slip his hand into a woman's dress. The Alderman caught the fellow, who immediately struck him a blinding blow in the eye, but Patterson clinched with him and they fell and rolled over on the walk, punching each other. The Alderman kept his hold, and overcame the man. Then he marched him to the Central Station, three blocks away.

Starting out once more, Patterson was about to enter the Palmer House when he saw a man thrust his hand under a woman's cloak. His detective instinct was aroused, and he pounced upon the thief. This one also showed fight and punched the Alderman. Bystanders thought it was an ordinary street fight, and they let the men have it out. Patterson's eyes were blackened and his lip cut. His collar and tie were torn off, but he maintained a grip on the man and defended himself with the other hand. The prisoner was finally tripped up and gave in.

Chief Kipley offered to appoint the Alderman to the force, but the honor was declined. He did accept the present of a "billy" and a patrol box key, however.

OPPOSE A CARNEGIE LIBRARY.

Some Residents of East Orange Will Fight the Acceptance of the Millionaire's Offer.

Special to The New York Times.

ORANGE, N. J., Jan. 21.—Opposition to the acceptance of the proposition made by Andrew Carnegie to give East Orange a fifty-thousand-dollar public library will be manifested to-morrow night at the meeting of the East Orange City Council, when Mr. Carnegie's offer will be formally made known in a communication from Mayor Bruen. Mr. Bruen said to-day that, notwithstanding statements to the contrary, the proposition would be accepted by the City Council. Several influential citizens have stated, however, that they intend to protest against the gift being accepted.

Dr. J. M. W. Kitchen says he considers Mr. Carnegie's offer almost an insult to East Orange. "I admire Mr. Carnegie's philanthropic work in providing libraries for communities that could not get them otherwise," said Dr. Kitchen, "but he evidently does not know the condition of affairs here in East Orange. We are a wealthy community, amply able to provide our own library if we want one. Efforts by various well-intentioned people to secure a library in East Orange have been unsuccessful. There is already an excellent library in Orange, only a mile distant, and that affords every facility that is required by East Orangeites. Mr. Carnegie stipulates that we shall raise $5,000 a year to support his white elephant. It is all wrong to say that this gift should be accepted before the people have a chance to be heard. If put to a vote of the people of East Orange, I believe they would thank Mr. Carnegie for his kind offer and respectfully decline it."

Dr. Kitchen's sentiments are echoed by a number of other people, who point out that when the Stickler Memorial Library, in Orange, is completed it is likely that there will be a large increase in its value through the liberality of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Stickler. The library now contains upward of 10,000 volumes, while the memorial building will have space for about 40,000. The Carnegie library would have to be supported by public taxation, whereas the Stickler Memorial will be supported by private contributions and an endowment fund, which already exceeds $35,000.

WHY THE MINISTER RESIGNED.

California Divine Believes in Dancing and Drinking, and Condemns "Hypocrisy" in the Church.

OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 21.—The Rev. James C. McInness, pastor of the Oakland Congregational Chapel, to-day announced his retirement from the ministry. In assigning his reasons for taking this step, he said:

"I believe in dancing and a long list of other things that are tabooed by churchgoers when indulged in by ministers. If a man needs a drink he has the right to take it. When I meet a man on the streets, I like to slap him on the back and say, 'Hello there, Bill,' in a good, hearty voice. I believe in God and Christianity, but the Church is burdened with false ideas and full of sinful hypocrites, and some of my friends who might be called 'lushers' are infinitely better than these frauds of piety.

"The ministry is no place for a young man who wants his personal liberty. He must use too much hypocrisy himself and overlook too much hypocrisy in others."

WILL PRAY FOR KENTUCKY.

To-morrow a Day of Humiliation in Frankfort—All the Churches Will Take Part.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Jan. 21.—The clergymen of Frankfort have decided that Tuesday shall be set apart in this city as a day of humiliation and prayer. Services will be held in the Episcopal Church at three different times during the day, the first service being at 9 A. M., the second at 4 P. M., and the third at 7 P. M.

The churches uniting in observance of the day include the Episcopal, Baptist, Methodist, two Presbyterian, Christian, and Roman Catholic—all the churches in Frankfort. The clergymen of the various denominations announced from their pulpits this morning that the deplorable events of the last week in the City of Frankfort and the talk of the possible repetition of such affairs as the Colson-Scott tragedy, had rendered necessary some steps to awaken the public conscience to the dangers threatening the commonwealth of Kentucky.

Prayers will be offered at all three services asking that men of both parties may be guided to act with wisdom and moderation and that the danger of further bloodshed may be passed by.

Clark Not to Testify.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Jan. 21.—The Republicans have decided not to place on the witness stand William H. Clark of New York, who, it was said, was taking part in the Goebel-Taylor contest on behalf of Richard Croker, and the subpoena served on him has been withdrawn.

CHURCH RAISES $101,000.

Presbyterian Congregation at Buffalo Now Out of Debt.

BUFFALO, Jan. 21.—In the absence of the pastor of the Lafayette Avenue Presbyterian Church this morning a committee representing the congregation held a special service in order to raise sufficient money to clear the church from debt. The result was astonishing.

It had been announced that $96,000 was needed urgently, but it was not thought that at to-day's meeting one-half of this amount could be raised. Such, however, was the response from the large congregation that in two hours $101,000 had been pledged, and the church placed in a sound position financially.

Five States in Five Hours.

The "Royal Limited," beautiful, swift, and sure. Leaves New York, South Ferry, and foot of Liberty Street, daily 3 P. M., arrives Washington 8 P. M. Exquisite Dining and Café Car Service.—Adv.

SHIPWRECKED SAILORS SAVED.

Crew of the Sutton, Which Struck on Fenwick Island Shoals, Taken Off—Vessel Is Doomed.

LEWES, Del., Jan. 21.—The steamer which the Fenwick Island Life Saving Station reported last night as stranded on Fenwick Island Shoals, about eight miles off shore, proves to be the British steamer Sutton, with a cargo of iron ore from Carthagena, Spain, for Philadelphia. The Sutton stranded at 6 o'clock Saturday morning during a dense fog. After working all day to back off the shoal, the vessel from constant pounding began to fill and settle.

After darkness had settled Capt. Pike fired rockets and burned colored lights, which attracted the attention of the revenue cutter Onondaga, which had left the Breakwater at 5 o'clock in the afternoon to patrol the coast between Cape Henlopen and Cape Henry. The Onondaga immediately responded to the signals for assistance, and sent boats to rescue the crew of twenty-four men. This was difficult to do as a heavy southwest gale was blowing at the time, but by the aid of the Onondaga's searchlight the men were taken from the stranded vessel at midnight, and the whole crew was brought to the Breakwater.

The weather having moderated this morning, the crew of the stranded steamer went aboard the wrecking steamer North America, and at 11 o'clock proceeded to the scene of the wreck for the purpose of examination, with a view to saving the steamer and cargo if possible.

The North America returned from the wreck at 6 o'clock to-night, and Capt. Pike and Capt. Hamlett of the Onondaga report the vessel to be full of water, with but slight chances that she can be saved. The shipwrecked crew was landed here to-night, and will probably leave for Philadelphia to-morrow.

The Sutton is practically a new steamer, having been built at Glasgow in 1897 by A. Rodger & Co. She is 314 feet long, 44.1 feet broad and 20.7 feet deep, registering a net tonnage of 1,621, and when fully loaded displaces 2,426 tons. She is owned by J. Sunley & Co. of London.

BRITISH SHIP DORA AGROUND.

Hard On the Mud in the Kill Von Kull and a Hindrance to Navigation.

The British ship Dora, while passing up the Kill Von Kull yesterday grounded on the mud bottom near the entrance to Newark Bay. She is loaded, and was bound for a dock near Elizabeth.

She went on hard at half tide and her cargo will have to be lightered, as with the wind as it is there will not be a sufficiently high tide for several days to float her. She is in no danger, but is a hindrance to navigation.

While she lies where she is all tows coming through the kills will have to be broken up. The usual course is to tow on a long line. Now the tugboats will have to take one barge alongside at a time, and take it past the steamer. This will cause a delay of several hours when the tow is a large one.

SOLD A "PATENT" CORN SHELLER

Alleged Agent Bunkoed Many Connecticut Farmers.

Special to The New York Times.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Jan. 21.—A short time ago a man claiming to be the authorized agent of an Ohio manufacturing concern took a large number of orders for a patent corn sheller from the farmers in this vicinity. By a special agreement the customers were to pay part of the cost at the time the order was given and the balance upon the delivery of the sheller. The agent has not been seen since, but the farmers all received a pine board, 12 by 6 inches, with one end bound with a piece of sheet iron. The following directions were sent along with it:

"Sit on the board and draw the corn over the iron end, and it can be shelled with ease."

MONEY FOR WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE.

Susan B. Anthony Will Try to Raise a $1,000,000 Fund.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—"Miss Susan B. Anthony is attempting to raise a million-dollar sinking fund for the woman's suffrage cause, and she will be more actively engaged in the work after resigning as President than she ever was before," said Mrs. S. E. Gross, to-day.

"Just how this million dollars will be raised, Miss Anthony has not fully decided, but it is said that ways and means of raising the fund will be one of the principal topics of discussion at the National meeting to be held in Washington Feb. 5.

"In retiring from the Presidency Miss Anthony believes that she can do more toward advancing the suffrage cause than she could by continuing as the head officer," continued Mrs. Gross. "It is her idea to get the younger element actively engaged in the administration of the affairs of the association during her lifetime so that they may be able to carry on the work after her death."

NEW DORMITORY FOR HOBART.

Medbury Hall to be Built in Near Future on Separate Entry Plan.

Special to The New York Times.

GENEVA, N. Y., Jan. 21.—Plans have been adopted by the Board of Trustees of Hobart College to build a new dormitory in the near future. The new building will be known as Medbury Hall. It will occupy a site just west of the Demorest Memorial Library Building on the north side of the campus, and will be 165 by 30 feet.

The building will be arranged on the separate entry plan now adopted by Princeton and the University of Pennsylvania, and is planned to accommodate about sixty men. The structure will be of brick, trimmed with buff sandstone, and will be of Jacobean architectural style, largely employed at Cambridge, England.

The plans are to have the present buildings and those that may be erected in the future, form a quadrangle, and the Coxe Memorial Hall may be placed immediately in the rear of the present dormitories. The hall known as the South Building will be entirely devoted to chemistry, and Trinity Hall, one of the present dormitories, to physics.

More American Engines for France.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21.—The Baldwin Locomotive Works have obtained another large order for engines from France. The order, which is for thirty large ten-wheeled passenger engines, is from the Paris and Orleans Railway, and is the first order for locomotives ever placed by the company with an American firm. The engines are to be shipped by Aug. 1.

Diphtheria in a Children's Home.

Special to The New York Times.

NORWALK, Conn., Jan. 21.—The entire Fairfield County Home for Destitute Children is under quarantine because of diphtheria. Two cases have already broken out, and the children have been taken to the isolation hospital. Health Officer W. J. Tracey is certain that there will be other cases and will make strict quarantine regulations until all danger is past. There are also several cases of measles at the home.

Honolulu Attracts Japanese.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21.—The steamer Doric, which arrived yesterday from the Orient, landed 700 Japanese at Honolulu. This completed a list of 2,000 inside of four days. The records of the Immigration Bureau at Honolulu show that since June 15 last 17,800 Japanese have been landed there.

Safety, Speed, and Comfort.

The standard qualities of all trains on the Pennsylvania Railroad.—Adv.

Fast Trains via Pennsylvania Railroad to Chicago, St. Louis, Cleveland, Toledo, and Cincinnati. Service unequalled.—Adv.

PAYN CASE PUZZLES PLATT

Republican Leader Is Unable to Choose His Course.

HINT OF NEW DEVELOPMENTS

Payn's Friends Talk of a "Mine" to be Set Off—President McKinley May Interfere.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 21.—Gov. Roosevelt returned at noon to-day from New York, where he went to have a talk with Senator T. C. Platt and B. B. Odell, Jr., Chairman of the Republican State Committee, in regard to the selection of a man to succeed Louis F. Payn as Superintendent of Insurance. It is announced that the Governor has not yet decided on the man whose name he will send to the Senate, and it is further reported that the Governor declined to accept any of the names suggested to him yesterday by Messrs. Platt and Odell.

The Governor himself refuses to say anything about the conference or its results, but some of his friends say that he promised Mr. Platt to defer making any nomination until after the State leader has had an opportunity to submit names of other Republicans for Mr. Payn's place. The Governor is said to be willing to permit the machine to name the man for Insurance Superintendent, but the man must be one agreeable to the appointing power, and politicians say there is a wide difference between the views of the Governor and the organization leaders as to what constitutes fitness for public office. Further, it is said the Governor wants a man who will command the votes of the organization Senators.

In discussing the situation with a reporter the Governor was non-committal. "Have you decided whom to nominate for Mr. Payn's place?" he was asked.

"I have nothing to say at all concerning this matter," said he. "I regret that I cannot give you a more satisfactory answer, but I will not talk at this time."

"Will you make any statement regarding yesterday's conference, either to-morrow or any day this week?" was then asked.

"I don't know," was the reply. "I cannot say a word now, and I do not know what I shall do."

"Will you make any nomination this week?"

"I don't know," again answered the Governor, "I have nothing to say for publication."

In reply to a question as to the probability of further conferences between himself and the organization representatives, the Chief Executive said he could not say what would happen. It is not believed here that the Governor will take any decided step before Wednesday, and he may let the matter go over for another week. His action, it is said, will depend largely upon what he hears from Senator Platt.

All kinds of rumors are heard around the hotels to-night concerning the methods which it is alleged are being employed in the present contest. The predictions made some weeks ago that there would be no local legislation until the Payn matter is settled are being repeated on all sides to-night, and everybody in Albany anticipates a bitter struggle.

It is admitted by persons affiliated with the machine that Senator Platt is puzzled; more so, perhaps, than at any time since he assumed his leadership. The Platt men say that if he turns against the Insurance Superintendent the latter will wage war on the machine, while on the other hand the adherents of the Governor argue that if the organization intends to renominate the Governor for his present office it cannot afford to antagonize him.

Mr. Payn is here to-night, but has nothing to say for publication. He has not lost any of his confidence, however, and some of his friends are hinting mysteriously about a "mine" which Mr. Payn is ready to set off. They cannot be induced to go into details, but intimate that it will cause a great sensation.

Stories are in circulation that President McKinley's friends are arranging to bring about a settlement of the trouble, on the ground that they fear that an open break in the Republican ranks in this State will have a serious effect in the coming National campaign.

After a conference between Chairman Odell of the Republican State Committee and Louis F. Payn, Superintendent of the Insurance Department, yesterday, it was announced that the State organization will ask Gov. Roosevelt not to send to the Senate the name of Mr. Payn's successor during the current week. At the same time, it was said that efforts would be made to induce the Governor to have another conference with Senator Platt and Chairman Odell on Friday or Saturday next, in order to select a candidate to whom the organization can pledge its support.

This is regarded by Mr. Payn's friends as an emphatic victory for the latter, and it is taken to mean that the party leaders, who have hitherto kept their hands off in the fight, had decided to give Mr. Payn their support, and to do all in their power to bring about a compromise between the Governor and the Superintendent of Insurance. Neither Mr. Odell nor Mr. Payn would discuss the conclusions reached at yesterday's conference.

TROY PEOPLE MUST WALK.

All the Street Cars Are Tied Up by a Strike.

ALBANY, Jan. 21.—Not a street car moved in Troy to-day. The United Traction Company was completely tied up in that section by the men going out on strike. The tie-up is, perhaps, the most complete of the kind ever attempted. With lines operating in five cities, all close together, the United Traction Company officials were unable to get a man to touch a Troy car. Three hundred and sixty-five men went out.

The strike was the result of the action of Superintendent Edgar S. Fassett in refusing to consider an application from the Troy employes for 20 cents per hour and ten hours to constitute a day's work.

At the meeting to-day the men decided to stand firm for 20 cents an hour. They are not particular about the ten-hour limit, so long as they are paid for every hour they work.

AGAIN ACCUSES TRENTON POLICE

Dr. Wishart Refuses, However, to Appear Before the Board.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 21.—The Rev. A. Wishart of the Central Baptist Church, in a sermon to-night reiterated his charges of a week ago that gambling, prizefighting, and Sunday selling were being conducted in Trenton with the knowledge of the police and that the latter were doing nothing to enforce the law.

Dr. Wishart was asked yesterday by the Police Board to go before them and furnish proof of violations of the law of which he spoke. Dr. Wishart said to-night that he would not go before the Police Board, and that the police knew these things were going on, and if they wanted to do their duty they knew where to get the proof.

Stopped to Listen, Got a Bullet.

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 21.—Hugh Barry, William McAllen, and James McFaul, all of Kearney, were engaged in a wrangle at Pavonia Avenue and Clay Street about 11 o'clock to-day, when Kate McKenna, eighteen years of age, residing at 423 Second Street, East Newark, came along on her way home from church. She stood a short distance away, listening to the wrangle, when Barry pulled a revolver and fired straight at her. The bullet passed through her clothing, but she escaped unhurt. The men were arrested, and a charge of atrocious assault made against them.

Level, Straight, and Comfortable.

The roads of the New York Central Lines over which run hourly trains between the East and West. See time table in this paper. Trains illuminated by Pintsch Light.—Adv.

DEATH IN AN EARTHQUAKE.

Disturbance in Mexico Kills Seven People and Injures Many—Much Property Damage Done.

COLIMA, Mexico, Jan. 21.—An earthquake shock began here at 11:45 on Friday night and assumed serious proportions at Tenimata, many houses being badly injured and some of light construction wrecked. There was great consternation, and people rushed into the streets, some barely escaping with their lives. Seven people were killed outright, and sixty were injured and are being cared for by the local surgeons. It was reported that the volcano had burst into eruption, but it now appears that the phenomenon was confined to subterranean manifestations.

Local scientific men believe that the earthquake traveled from under the Pacific Ocean, and that when news reaches here from the coast there will be interesting details.

The Governor of this State has appointed a commission to inspect the churches and public edifices, while owners of houses injured in the earthquake will be compelled to put them in a condition of security. Quiet is restored and there is little apprehension of a return of the disturbances.

GUADALAJARA, Mexico, Jan. 21.—At midnight Friday an earthquake shock cracked the arches and staircase of the State Palace and the portico of the university and the Degallado Theatre, the latter one of the most massive structures here. The churches of San Francisco and San José were damaged. The former is one of the handsomest edifices on the continent, and is locally known as the Golden Cup from the magnificence of its interior. The Government has closed Sagrario Church, fearing the dome will fall in. Carmen Barracks were badly damaged, and news from Zapotlan and Sarula state that several houses were demolished.

The shock was felt severely at San Blas, on the Pacific, and noises under ground were heard resembling the hoarse rumbling of a heavy sea dashing upon shore. Meterologist Conteras predicts a repetition of the shocks.

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, Jan. 21.—The earthquake traveled across the country, reaching here just after midnight Saturday morning. The shock was comparatively light.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 21.—News is arriving from the interior points affected by the earthquake Friday night and Saturday morning. Much damage was done to property in Guadalajara and the City of Colima, capital of the State of the same name, was the scene of terrifying experiences, accompanied with loss of life.

This city came off comparatively unscathed, few accidents occurring, although some adobe huts in the suburbs fell in, and one bridge was partially wrecked. The Church of the Three Kings at Atzcnatzalco, in the suburbs, was cracked and will be closed for repairs.

Scientists are studying the earthquake from data now being received from interior points.

PROPOSED MORTGAGE TAX.

Senator Stranahan Explains and Defends the Provisions of the Five Mills Levy.

ALBANY, Jan. 21.—There has been so much misconstruction of the proposed new tax law that Senator Stranahan, the Chairman of the committee, has made this statement:

"Under the system proposed no State tax shall be levied upon real or personal property by the Legislature, and, therefore, no county will be called upon by the Controller of the State to levy a tax upon the property of its citizens for the support of the State. Under such conditions no county will have any cause for concern as to the rate of assessment prevailing in another, for the reason that all moneys raised on the basis of local assessments will be expended in the county where paid. The absolute impossibility of a Board of Equalization satisfactorily adjusting the assessments between various counties by taking from the assessed valuation of one and adding to another, so that the burdens of a State tax are equally distributed between them, renders the change suggested imperative in any tax reform.

"The criticism on the bill so far as brought to my attention has been mainly that the tax of 5 mills on mortgages would be an additional tax on real estate; this proposition I cannot believe is correct. If the rate of tax was higher it might be possible for the lender to shift it to the borrower, but whether it will be possible to so shift it will largely depend upon the amount of money seeking investment. If the lender finds he can pay the 5-mills tax on mortgages held by him and yet realize a net income as high or higher than upon the other investments, he will not be able to shift it upon the borrower, because there will be found competition between lenders for this class of securities, and I undertake to say that there is now no considerable investment available more desirable than mortgages upon real estate in the City of New York at from 4 to 4½ per cent., the rate now obtaining there, and this will still be true if reduced 5 mills by the tax proposed."

GAMBLING AT COUNTY FAIRS.

Assemblyman Burnett's Bill, It Is Believed, Will Put a Stop to It.

ALBANY, Jan. 21.—Assemblyman Burnett, the Chairman of the Committee on General Laws, has introduced a bill which will be of especial interest in the country districts of the State. Under Section 88 of the State agricultural law, the moneys annually appropriated for the promotion of agriculture and those accruing from the Controller's tax on racing associations are distributed to the different county and town agricultural societies of the State, the section specifying the percentum to which each is entitled. Mr. Burnett proposes to make the payment of moneys contingent upon the absolute prohibition of all gambling and games of chance upon the grounds of such association or club during its annual fair.

Assemblyman Burnett is said to have the support of most of the prominent agriculturists of the State and of the officials of the State Agricultural Society in his efforts to pass this anti-gambling law.

DIED IN A BROOKLYN CHURCH.

Last Rites Administered to Mrs. O'Hare at the Foot of St. Francis Xavier's Altar.

Death claimed Mrs. Elizabeth O'Hare in the presence of a large assemblage of children attending Sunday school in the Roman Catholic Church of St. Francis Xavier in Brooklyn yesterday afternoon. The teaching came to an abrupt close as the Rev. Father Hickey, the pastor, descended to the body of the church and helped the stricken woman's husband to bear her to the foot of the altar, where he administered the last rites.

Mrs. O'Hare was fifty-three years old, and the wife of Patrick O'Hare, a retired builder of 102 Summit Street. She and her husband had been for a stroll through Prospect Park, and on their return their way led past the church at Sixth Avenue and Carroll Street. They heard the music, both vocal and instrumental, in the street and it moved them to step within and listen.

They took seats far up the main aisle. The music soon ceased and Father Hickey began to address the children, when Mrs. O'Hare suddenly became pale and began to gasp and tear at the bosom of her dress as though suffocating. Mr. O'Hare caught her in his arms and started to carry her to the street, when Father Hickey came near and saw she was in a dying condition. Father Hickey sent word for a physician to hurry to the church, and Mr. O'Hare bore the woman forward. After she had received extreme unction she was carried into the rectory, and there she died before a doctor arrived.

Mrs. O'Hare was born in Ireland, but had been a resident of Brooklyn for many years. She had been married nearly thirty years. She and her husband attended St. Stephens's Roman Catholic Church, at Hicks and Summit Streets, which was nearer their home.

A Beautiful Souvenir Mug Will Be presented to our bottled beer customers on record February 1st. THE OTTO HUBER BREWERY.—Adv.

GEN. WARREN FIGHTS HIS WAY ONWARD

He Advances Two Miles After an All-Day Struggle.

BULLER'S MEN ALSO ENGAGED

Boer Forces Were Driven from Three Positions.

British Losses on Saturday Were Nearly 300—Difficulties of Transportation Increase Greatly as Advance Continues.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—Gen. Buller cables to the War Office:

"Spearman's Camp, Jan. 21, 9 P. M.—Gen. Warren has been engaged all day, chiefly on his left, which he has swung forward about a couple of miles. The ground is very difficult, time ago trickling streams are now deep torrents.

"The scenes at the drifts cannot be easily forgotten. One sees a perfect pandemonium of ox wagons. Sometimes thirty oxen are yoked to a single wagon, and the drivers make a veritable babel of noise, shouting in Dutch, English, and Zulu. They brandish their long whips, and occasionally an upset stops a whole train.

"At another point, or time, half a regiment will drag a cart and its mules up the river bank by main force. The traction engines looked promising at first, but since Chieveley I have seen nothing of them."

The War Office has posted this dispatch from Gen. Buller, dated Jan. 21, 10 A. M.:

"The following were wounded in the action near Venter's Spruit yesterday: Officers—Staff, Col. Hamilton and Major C. McGregor; Second Lancashire Fusiliers, Capt. R. B. Blunt and Second Lieuts. M. G. Crofton and E. J. M. Barrett; First Border Rifles, Capt. C. D. Vaughan and Second Lieut. Murier; First York and Lancashires, Second Lieut. A. H. Keirrey; Second Dublin Fusiliers, Capt. C. A. Honsley, (since dead,) and Major F. English; Second Gordons, Second Lieut P. D. Stewart and 270 non-commissioned officers and men."

AT THE WAR OFFICE.

Yesterday was almost a record day at the War Office. As if anticipating important news, the authorities announced on Saturday that the lobbies of the War Office would be open throughout Sunday, and the knowledge that a great battle was proceeding brought a continuous stream of inquirers of all classes.

Some gloomy forebodings were caused by the bulletin announcing that nearly 300 had been wounded, but in general a cheery confidence was expressed in the success of Gen. Buller's movement. On it being announced that further officials dispatches were improbable to-night, the crowd dispersed, expressing disappointment that the news was no better.

The severity of the censorship at the present moment prevents the special correspondents from giving much additional information to supplement Gen. Buller's latest dispatch. The success of the movement depends almost entirely upon how far he proves able to outmanoeuvre the Boers, whose available forces are doubtless larger than his own.

The chief difficulty lies in the ability of the Boers to transport men, stores, and ammunition quickly and to intrench new positions. Secrecy regarding Gen. Buller's progress, therefore, is essential, and the public here is quite content to wait patiently.

PROBABLE BRITISH PLANS.

From the information which the censor has allowed to pass, it is as yet impossible to form a correct notion of the British tactics. One thing, however, is quite clear. The British commanders have profited by experience and are now avoiding infantry charges, giving preference to the more judicious use of artillery.

The general idea is that Sir Redvers Buller, with some 8,000 men and eighteen field guns, is holding the northern bank of the Tugela at Potgieter's Drift, while Sir Charles Warren, with about 12,000 men, thirty guns, and a large force of cavalry, is working around the right flank of the Boers eight or ten miles away.

One account of Saturday's fighting says that the British had few killed. Little reliance can be placed upon these reports, and, although the main position of the Boers has not yet been attacked and nothing is known as to its strength, Saturday's and Sunday's fighting, which can hardly be described as more than outpost affairs, evidently entailed serious losses.

The Boers are following their old-time tactics—making a show of resistance and then retreating in good order to prepared positions; and as they are working from the interior of their lines they may be able to bring strong forces to defend the main position.

Nothing is heard regarding any counter attack by Sir George White from Ladysmith, and Gen. Buller's "I think we are making substantial progress" remains the last word. This shows that there is still some very hard work in front of the British forces.

The news from other points is of slight interest. Gen. Kelly-Kenny's division has been sent by Gen. Gatacre to form an advanced base at Rosmead Junction.

British Losses at Ladysmith.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—A third supplementary list of the British casualties in the attack upon Ladysmith on Jan. 6 was published by the War Office to-day. It shows twenty-eight non-commissioned officers and men killed and five dangerously wounded. This brings the total casualties in that engagement to 488.

PLUMER'S MOVE ON MAFEKING.

He Has Penetrated Within 100 Miles of the Town—Casual Firing There Still Continues.

LORENZO MARQUES, Jan. 21.—A dispatch from Gaberones, undated, says:

"Col. Plumer has worked down this far toward Mafeking with three armored trains and a relieving force. The bridge is being rebuilt so that he may proceed."

A dispatch from Mafeking, dated Jan. 6, sent by runner to Mocleudi, Jan. 14, thence to this place, says:

"We concentrated our artillery, consisting of a seven-pounder, a Nordenfeldt, and one little old ship's gun, on Jan. 3, emplacing during the darkness, so as to bear on the enemy's big siege gun. We carefully concealed the guns until the next afternoon, when, after the enemy had fired a couple of shells, we let loose all our pieces, firing and loading as fast as possible.

"One of our shots must have thrown the enemy's siege gun out of position, for it ceased firing. With glasses we could see the Boers rapidly reinforcing at that point.

"The next day they moved back their guns 500 yards. They emplaced a five-pounder, and proceeded to drop shells regularly into Market Square.

"We have made up our minds to stick it out, and have food for another three months. The whole garrison is enraged at the enemy for firing upon the women's laager."

Another dispatch from Mafeking, Jan. 10, via Gaberones, says:

"The enemy continue the bombardment with field guns, and an occasional hundred-pound shell. They have again fired at the women's laager, but without hurting any one."

Gaberones is a small place on the Mossilikatzi River, one of the upper tributaries of the Limpopo. It is about 100 miles north of Mafeking, and about 300 miles southwest of Tuli Palla, where the railway leaves the Limpopo River, going north, is about 100 miles north of Gaberones. The next town toward Mafeking is Ramutsa, 20 miles to the south.

Gen. French Threatens Hebron.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The War Office has received the following from Lord Roberts, dated Cape Town, Jan. 21: "Gen. French reports a demonstration with cavalry and two guns toward Hebron on Friday, but that otherwise the situation is unchanged."

TROOPS MUST BUY ALL SUPPLIES.

CAPE TOWN, Jan. 20.—Lord Roberts, to avoid alienating the Cape Dutch and to see that the military respect the rights of non-combatants regardless of race or sympathies, has issued, through Lord Kitchener, his Chief of Staff, the following order:

"The Commander-in-Chief wishes to impress upon all officers who may at any time be in charge of columns or detached commands the grave importance of doing all in their power by good and conciliatory treatment, and of securing compensation for the people of the country, in all matters affecting either their own interests or those of the troops.

"In all cases where supplies of any kind are required these must be paid for on delivery and a receipt for the amount taken. Officers will be held responsible for the observance of the rule that soldiers are never allowed to enter private houses or to molest the inhabitants on any pretext whatever; and every precaution must be taken to suppress looting or petty robbery by persons connected with the army.

"When supplies are absolutely necessary for the subsistence of the army, and the inhabitants are unwilling to meet such demands, commanding officers may, after having satisfied themselves by careful personal investigation that such supplies are necessary and available, order these in such cases to be taken by force, full receipt therefor being given."

BOERS IN NATAL DISHEARTENED

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The correspondent of The Times at Lorenzo Marques, telegraphing Saturday, says:

"I learn from an absolutely unbiased and trustworthy informant that the Boers in Natal are disheartened. I also learn that the British residents in the two republics would suffer severely at the hands of the Dutch, did not the latter fear the result for Boers in the hands of the British.

"The Standard and Diggers' News threatens retaliation on the British officers in Pretoria if the Boer prisoners are removed to St. Helena.

"I hear that the Transvaal Government is still making huge profits out of the Johannesburg mines."

COLONIALS TO BE ENLISTED.

CAPE TOWN, Jan. 19.—Recognizing the importance of colonial troops, Lord Roberts has authorized the formation of a complete division of colonials under Gen. Brabant. It is intended to raise in Cape Colony additional mounted irregulars. As a further mark of favor, Lord Roberts, it is said, intends to select his own bodyguard from the colonials.

British Stretcher-Bearers Desert.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The Durban correspondent of The Standard says: "It is reported that ten volunteer stretcher-bearers, on their arrival at the front, walked deliberately across into the Boer lines. The same thing happened at the battle of Colenso. It is presumed they were spies who had succeeded in enrolling themselves in the ambulance corps. It is asserted that the Boers desecrated the Convent Church at Newcastle in an indescribable manner."

Hospital Ship Maine at Cape Town.

CAPE TOWN, Jan. 20.—The American hospital ship Maine, from the West India Docks, London, Dec. 23, arrived here to-day. Lord Roberts will inspect the Maine on Monday.

Butter for British Soldiers.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—A committee of Danish farmers has sent to the Princess of Wales 12,000 boxes of choice butter for the British soldiers in South Africa. She has accepted the gift in the name of the sick and wounded and has returned a complimentary message, which concludes with the phrase: "Especially as it is a present from my native country, Denmark."

Chamberlain to Dine with the Queen.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—Mr. Chamberlain will dine at Osborne House with the Queen to-day (Monday) and will return to London to-morrow.

COURTESY TO WEBSTER DAVIS.

President Krueger's Private Car to Take Him to Pretoria—Comment Excited in Europe.

LORENZO MARQUES, Jan. 21.—Webster Davis, United States Assistant Secretary of the Interior, arrived here to-day on his way to Pretoria, and called upon the Governor General, Capt. Alvaro da Costa Ferreira, who gave him a most courteous reception and requested him to convey a message of special friendship to President McKinley.

The Transvaal Government has informed Mr. Davis that President Krüger's saloon carriage will convey him to Pretoria.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The publication of the fact that President Krüger is sending a private car to take Webster Davis from Lorenzo Marques to Pretoria is causing considerable speculation here as to whether Mr. Davis, notwithstanding the denials from Washington, has not some sort of official mission.

It is thought rather singular that a mere traveler, even though an official at home, should receive so much attention. The subject is attracting the Continental papers, which are inquiring through the London representatives whether the British Government has information with regard to the object of Mr. Davis. They are reluctant to believe that one of President McKinley's Assistant Secretaries would take a vacation in the Transvaal and be given leave of absence from his duties for several months without some special purpose.

A recent dispatch from Washington pointed out that Mr. Davis had given up his proposed visit to the Transvaal owing to the possibility that it might be misinterpreted.

MACRUM'S MISSION.

Reported that He Bears a Letter from Krueger Proposing Peace on the Basis of the Status Quo.

ROME, Jan. 21.—Charles E. Macrum, former United States Consul at Pretoria, who arrived here yesterday, left, to-day for Paris.

Mr. Easton, who accompanied Mr. Macrum, said, in the course of an interview at Naples, that the Boers know that they must ultimately be defeated, but are determined to resist to the last. He praises the Boer tactics and expresses admiration for the bravery of both armies.

The Afrikanders are regarded by Mr. Easton as "a permanent danger to the British." He asserts that, prior to the war, the Transvaal Government inquired what number of cartridges was allowed to the German troops in the Franco-Prussian war and then ordered double the quantity.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—A special dispatch from Naples says that Mr. Macrum is reported to be the bearer of a letter to President McKinley from President Krüger in which the latter proposes peace terms based upon the status quo, with complete independence and a seven-year franchise.

PARIS, Jan. 22.—The Matin, referring to the arrival of Mr. Macrum in Europe, says that the object of his mission is mysterious, and asks if there be any connection between his return and the arrival of Webster Davis at Lorenzo Marques, from which point he is to be taken to Pretoria in a special train sent by President Krüger.

The Matin thinks it very probable that President Krüger, having been cut off from telegraphic communication with Dr. Leyds, is resorting to the good offices of the Americans in order to communicate with the rest of the world, and the paper concludes its observations by saying: "We shall soon know the meaning of these communications."

Montagu White Goes to Washington.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Montagu White, former consul of the Transvaal Republic at London, and who, it is understood, is in this country to endeavor to obtain recognition as the diplomtic representative of the republic here, arrived in the city to-day from New York.

THE KAISER RESENTS SEIZURES.

BERLIN, Jan. 21.—There is the best authority for the statement that those parts of Count von Bülow's speech in the Reichstag last Friday, when replying to Herr Moeller's interpellation, which contained severe strictures upon British policy and a veiled warning to Great Britain, were due to Emperor William's expressed wish.

His Majesty is said to be "thoroughly in accord with the nation in condemning Great Britain's manner of seizing German vessels."

Johannesburg Reformer Here.

F. Mosenthal, a former member of the Johannesburg Reform Committee, who, with John Hayes Hammond, was fined and imprisoned by the Boers as a result of the Jameson raid, arrived in this city yesterday on the Cunard Line steamship Campania.

DR. HILLIS ON PEACE AND WAR.

"Militarism is rampant throughout the world. This is an epoch of war, and the spirit of tumult prevails even in the churches," declared the Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis in Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, last evening. Dr. Hillis took as the text of his sermon, "Blessed are the peacemakers." He declared that it was a paradox to repeat the text when the United States as an eagle, England as a lion, and Russia as a bear, were in a state of tumult as a result of the war spirit.

Speaking of the time of Christ and of the Sermon on the Mount, he said that the injunction of peace was given in a time of war. It was a call to non-resistance in an age of tumult. "Strange enough," he continued, "we have come again to a time of strife. We have come again to an epoch of warfare.

"England inscribes on her banners not the dove of peace, but the lion with teeth which rend. Does the United States have a symbol of peace? No, but the eagle with talons, the same as the Russian bear. Germany, with its million of young men, and France, with its 600,000 who hate peace, show that all Europe is surely an armed camp. It is not the command to be at peace with all men, but to be at war with all men.

Continuing, Dr. Hillis declared that as the spirit of strife has broken out in the Church, so did it prevail in commercial life, there being two lawyers to every merchant.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

PLEAD THE BOER CAUSE

Senators and Representatives Speak at a Washington Meeting.

ALL DENOUNCE GREAT BRITAIN

Some Cast Slurs Upon Their Own Country—Resolutions Urge the President to Act.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The Grand Opera House, the largest auditorium in Washington, was packed to the doors to-night with an enthusiastic audience, which vigorously expressed its sympathy with the Boers in their fight with Great Britain. The meeting was held under the management of the united Irish societies, and a number of leading Germans of the city joined in the movement. Congressman Sulzer of New York was the presiding officer.

Senator William Mason of Illinois was the first speaker introduced by Chairman Sulzer. In the course of his speech Mr. Mason said:

"The Boers are right, but unless we can aid them in some way the cause may not triumph. The bird of liberty has hitherto always found a resting place in this country. Lately the American eagle, it appears, has taken to eating carrion. We do not want for the Boers the kind of liberty that England would give them. We want the Boers to have the kind of liberty they want. If you have any influence, lend your voice to the cause of the Boers. If you have no influence, but have convictions, speak your sentiments."

Senator Allen of Nebraska said: "If there is any country on the face of the earth that owes the British Empire nothing that country is the United States of America. England seeks to rule all people for mercenary ends. There is not a lofty motive about her policy. I am not a believer in non-intervention when liberty is at stake. I would not only intervene with sympathy loudly and forcibly expressed, but I would intervene with all the moral means in my power. I hope and believe that the God of justice will in time see that the British Empire is overthrown and a republic established in its place.

"I hope that the fate which is meted out to her will be the reward of any nation which seeks to deprive and oppress people of its liberties whether it be in the plains of South Africa or the islands of the sea. A man cannot believe in the justice of the cause of the Boers and at the same time uphold our Government's course in the Philippines. The American flag will never wave in triumph over the prostrate form of liberty."

Representative Champ Clark of Missouri, in the course of his address, said:

"Wherever people are struggling for liberty they should have the friendship of all Americans. It is astonishing that there should be any argument as to that proposition within the broad confines of this puissant Republic. Two years ago there would not have been. In the older day we would have made the welkin ring; now, governmentally speaking, we are dumb as oysters. Wherefore? Because England is a robber nation. We are ambitious to become a robber nation, and all robber nations must stand together for self-protection, and because it is so English, don't you know.

"That's governmental America. Mark you, only official America. From its sordid and inhuman verdict we appeal to the unofficial masses who make and unmake statesmen, whom Abraham Lincoln affectionately denominated 'the plain people.'

"The Senate of the United States may laugh to scorn Senator Mason's resolution of sympathy with the Boers, but the toiling millions of America will send their sympathy and their hearty godspeed across the sea to the brave burghers who are the best marksmen seen on earth since Andrew Jackson's immortal day at New Orleans. Why should we not sympathize with those sturdy defenders of their liberty and their homes? They are in the right. Not only that—they have five times as much cause for fighting as our fathers had in 1776. All precedents favor such action. We passed resolutions of sympathy with the Greeks, struggling against the Turks, and in advocacy of those resolutions Daniel Webster established his fame as an orator by his lofty impassioned speech to the moral sentiment of the world. Under the lead of Henry Clay we hastened to express our sympathy with the nascent South American republics. "We did these things when we were a feeble folk. Now that we are so strong that we cannot estimate our strength, we have fallen to the low estate of being John Bull's silent partner in butchering and despoiling white men fighting valiantly and gloriously for their altars and their fires. It's the Boers' gold and diamonds that the English are fighting for and not the rights of the Uitlanders."

Representative Bailey of Texas said: "I am sick of hearing about our brothers across the sea. England is brutal. She has hunted the Irish down and shot them in a brutal manner among the bogs and fens of Ireland. It is not merely English greed of gold or desire for wealth that urges England on during this war. She finds an opportunity to blot a republic from the map of the world and she does not hesitate to do it. I blush to say that there are men under this flag who hope to see this crime perpetrated. But they hope in vain."

After a number of other addresses had been made the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, The American people still cherish the lessons and memories of 1776 and 1812, and therefore fully understand and realize the rapacious war which Great Britain is waging against a small, but patriotic people, whose misfortune is the possession of natural wealth coveted by British greed.

Whereas, In the prosecution of this robber warfare, Great Britain has been balked, as yet of her tyrannous designs, and has, therefore, resorted to unlawful and barbarous war tactics, as is her wont, as follows:

1. The arming and mobilization of savages.
2. The distribution of dum-dum bullets to her soldiery, coupled with the boast that the British Government possesses 100,000,000 such missiles.
3. The illegal seizure of peaceful merchandise en route from the ports of the United States to friendly Portuguese markets.

Whereas, The President of the United States has not taken proper notices of these outrages, making it necessary for the people at large to express their will through public assemblages and serious warnings.

Therefore, The citizens of the American Capital in mass meeting assembled, have

Resolved, That the people of the Orange Free State and the South African Republic are and of right ought to be forever independent, and their civilization is recognized to be equal in morality to that of any other people, the false witness of the British press to the contrary notwithstanding. Therefore the precipitation upon them of savage foes in alliance with trained soldiery threatens the repetition of the horrors of Wyoming, Fort Dearborn, and other places, bitterly remembered by the American people as ruthless instances of British perfidy and dishonor. The attention of the President of the United States is respectfully directed to this feature which is a notorious matter of common repute throughout the world.

Resolved, That this meeting, in concert with the American people throughout the land, sends its sympathy and good-will and heartfelt encouragement to the Boers, and reminds them that as we triumphed against the same foe, so may they.

Resolved, That we beseech and strenuously urge the President of the United States to exercise the prerogative vested in him by the Peace Convention lately arranged by the powers of the civilized world. We beg him to offer his good offices as a mediator between the Boers and the British for the deliverance of those unfortunate Englishmen and their families, now being punished, vicariously, for the crime of a brigand cabal of gold grabbers and land-hungry conspirators, not one of whom is at the forefront of the battle.

Resolved, That we solemnly protest against the shipment of munitions of war from this country for the use of Great Britain.

The meeting was remarkable for its enthusiasm.

SAYS THE BOERS ARE COWARDS.

Johannesburg Relief Committee Member Talks on the War.

Fritz Mosenthal, for thirty-five years a resident of South Africa and a member of the Johannesburg Relief Committee of Fifty-eight, concerned in the Jameson raid, all of whom when apprehended were compelled by the Boers to pay fines of £20,000, arrived here yesterday on the Cunard Liner Campania, and is visiting his brother, Frank Mosenthal, at 112 West Eighty-fifth Street. Mr. Mosenthal has a rather poor opinion of the Boers, and says they are cowards. Speaking of the Boers as a people and of the war now going on, he said:

"The Boer has no personal courage. He will fight when he is under cover, but in the open, man to man, he is no match for either the Briton or any other white antagonist. The Boers do not as a class possess any education, and do not wish to possess any. The moment a Boer becomes changed from the simple farmer to the city resident and his financial condition is enhanced thereby, he becomes a British subject and renounces the Boer traditions.

Jewelry Repairing.
Our exceptional facilities for the thorough repairing of Watches, Jewelry and Clocks, enable us to accomplish the simplest as well as the most difficult repairs at reasonable cost. Designs and estimates furnished for the resetting of diamonds.
A. Frankfield & Co.
Jewelers and Importers,
52 WEST 14TH ST.

Hunyadi János
Taken in the morning either pure or diluted with hot or cold water, it produces a copious evacuation without leaving behind it any intestinal discomfort, or exhaustion.

"Personally, I believe that the war situation now centres in the district around Ladysmith, and I believe that the British will gain a decisive victory soon, in which event the trouble will virtually be at an end."

Regarding Delagoa Bay, Mr. Mosenthal said that in the event of its being closed by Great Britain, which had first claim on it by virtue of existing treaties with Portugal, there would be no inlet for Boer munitions of war.

As to the right of franchise demanded by the British residents previous to the declaration of hostilities, Mr. Mosenthal said that it was quite true that Krüger had offered the Uitlanders a five years' franchise, but always with the reservation that each case should be passed upon by the older citizens of the Commonwealth. Mr. Mosenthal said that, while it was generally known that Krüger was wealthy, there was no means of knowing just how rich he was. His fortune was variously estimated at from £10,000,000 to £40,000,000. While Krüger would not take a bribe, said Mr. Mosenthal, it was currently said that he was not averse to receiving presents.

CATHOLIC CHURCH AND THE WAR.

Father O'Brien Says Cardinal Vaughan's Position Is Wrong.

TOLEDO, Jan. 21.—The Rev. Father Patrick O'Brien of the Good Shepherd Church, who recently presided at a pro-Boer mass meeting here, to-day made public a lengthy letter written in reply to the open letter of Herbert, Cardinal Vaughan, Archbishop of Westminster, London. This action was taken despite efforts of priests and laymen to have the reply, which quotes Catholic theology at length against the Cardinal's utterance, suppressed. The letter, dated Jan. 10, says, in part:

"I must beg your Eminence's pardon, as I am only an obscure priest, for daring to criticise the views of one of your high dignity in the Church, but I claim the right, as a Catholic, to point to the readers of the press, which has published your letter very extensively, some statements of opinion for which the Church is not responsible. As an Englishman, you are entitled to your opinions regarding the Transvaal war, but the Church should not be held responsible for those opinions only in so far as they agree with her teachings.

"As an Englishman, you no doubt think you are bound to uphold your Government, right or wrong, but this is not Catholic doctrine. You are not bound to obey the Queen if she commanded you to do a wrong, nor are your priests and people bound to obey you when you command them to support a Government waging an unjust war. You say that justice is on the side of England. The civilized world denies this, both Protestants and Catholics. Christian nations look upon your war with the Boers as the most unjust ever waged by a civilized Government.

"Catholic theology teaches that soldiers engaged in an unjust war cannot lawfully kill an enemy even in self-defense, because they are the unjust aggressors. It follows from this teaching that all who engage in an unjust war, knowing it to be such, are in a state of mortal sin, and if they die in impenitence, suffer the loss of their souls. Those are the teachings of the Catholic Church on the subject of war."

TRAGEDY IN GATACRE'S LIFE.

When a Colonel His Wife's Conduct Impelled Him to Drive Her from the Country.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21.—The prominence which Gen. Gatacre of the British Army has attained in South Africa, revives the story which is now being related among the British residents of Los Angeles, Santa Monica, and other Southern California communities.

When Gen. Gatacre was Colonel of the Eighty-eighth Connaught Rangers he for a time was stationed with his regiment at Dublin. His wife, a beautiful and dashing woman, became very popular in army society till scandal connected her name with that of Capt. Murphy, an Irish gentleman of family and fortune. Col. Gatacre finally called on his wife for an explanation. She is said to have boldly declared her love for the Irish Captain, whereupon Col. Gatacre laid down one of two alternatives for the Captain—either Capt. Murphy must resign his army commission and clear out of the country with Mrs. Gatacre or be killed at once. The Captain elected to resign, take the lady, and clear out.

Col. Gatacre added incidentally that if he ever encountered Murphy on British territory again he would kill him. When next heard of Capt. Murphy and the lady were in Los Angeles trying to break into the British social set. They had plenty of money, but were steadily ignored by the British residents. Finally they purchased an orange grove near Duarte, where they lived until about a year ago, when Mrs. Gatacre died. Her body was embalmed and sent to England. Capt. Murphy followed soon after and is now married and settled down on his Irish estates. Gen. Gatacre, after his wife and Capt. Murphy left Ireland, exchanged into a regiment for Colonial service and since then his advancement has been rapid.

MUST ANSWER FOR CONTEMPT.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 21.—Nineteen concerns doing business on the Kansas City Live Stock Exchange have been cited by Judge Holt of the Common Pleas Court, Kansas City, Kan., to appear before him and show cause why they should not be punished for contempt.

Some time ago a restraining order was issued by Judge Holt against several members of the Exchange enjoining them from instituting or inciting a boycott against the Traders' Live Stock Exchange, a rival organization doing business at the yards. The officers of the Traders' Exchange appeared before Judge Holt Saturday, alleging that the boycott was again in operation and praying for relief.

CONVICT BEATS HIS FATHER.

SALEM, N. J., Jan. 21.—Charles Robinson, who escaped recently from the jail at New Castle, Del., is in jail here. He may have a term to serve in New Jersey before he is returned to the prison from which he escaped, or may be sent back to serve out his term and then be brought back for trial here.

He reached the home of his father, at Penn's Grove, last night, and went to the room where his mother lay seriously and demanded money. His father refused him, and he beat the old man and left him seriously injured.

The alarm was given, and officers were close upon him when he left the house. He was chased across a swamp, and was finally cornered, but did not give up until knocked down and overpowered.

LOSSES BY FIRE.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 21.—The buildings, machinery, and manufactured lumber of the Taylor Lumber Company were destroyed by fire to-day. Loss, $47,000; insurance, $57,000, which covers the entire plant. The lumber yard was saved.

RUTLAND, Vt., Jan. 21.—The Merchants' Exchange, a three-story building, was burned here this morning with a total loss of nearly $30,000, partly covered by insurance. The block was owned by J. W. Stearns and B. W. Mussey. The two upper stories were occupied by J. W. Stearns, furniture, and the ground floor by McClellen & Farmer, druggists; H. C. Durkee & Co., grocers, and Miss Slattery, gloves.

YESTERDAY'S FIRES.

(From 12 o'clock Saturday night until 12 o'clock Sunday night.)

12:30 A. M.—337 West Forty-ninth Street; Kate Lester; damage, $25.

12:30 A. M.—125 Goerck Street; Paul Pefer; damage, $1,500.

9:30 A. M.—31 West Houston Street; Marquis & Co.; damage slight.

12:05 P. M.—295 Henry Street; David Press; damage, $200.

12:30 P. M.—244 East Houston Street; Jacob Rostadt; damage, $25.

9:00 P. M.—689 First Avenue; occupant unknown; damage slight.

For information regarding Florida's great Winter resorts apply to Travelers' Information Co., 8 Park Pl., N. Y.—Adv.

THREE KILLED IN A RIOT

Two Families in a Fatal Affray in East Eleventh Street.

BEGAN OVER A LOCKED DOOR

A Trivial Quarrel Between Two Men, Followed by a General Fight—Three Men Arrested.

Three men are dead as the result of a fight yesterday noon between members of the Colletti and Spinella families, in front of 430 East Eleventh Street, where several of the combatants lived. The victims are Antonio Colletti, thirty-seven years old, married, of 430 East Eleventh Street, who was shot through the left lung, and died before the arrival of an ambulance; Gaspard Colletti, nineteen years old, a brother of Antonio, and of the same address, who was shot in the left breast and died in Bellevue Hospital, and David Salvatore, forty years old, also of 430 East Eleventh Street, a cousin of the Collettis, who died in Bellevue from a bullet wound in the stomach.

The fight assumed almost the proportions of a riot. It was due to a quarrel which arose about 10:30 o'clock on Saturday night between Joseph Colletti and Visario Spinella, the latter being the housekeeper at 432 East Eleventh Street, in the rear of which house Joseph Colletti lives with his family. When Colletti reached home at 10:30 o'clock on Saturday night he found the door locked. He was in company with a friend, and the two kicked in a panel of the door to effect an entrance, against the protests of the housekeeper.

The trouble at that time ended with a war of words, there being no hostile demonstrations on either side. The bitter feeling between the two families became intensified yesterday, however, and terminated in the wholesale shooting of the Collettis by the Spinellas. The Colletti family is pretty well known among the Italian residents of that section of the town. Before yesterday's shooting it numbered eight brothers and six sisters, most of the brothers being employed as stone masons. The Spinellas are not quite so numerous, but there are three brothers in that clan.

BEGINNING OF THE TROUBLE.

One of these three brothers who was in no way concerned in yesterday's tragedy is the lessee of the building at 432 East Eleventh Street. Visario Spinella is the janitor of the building, and the third brother, Vincenzo, fifty-one years old, lives at 424 East Thirteenth Street with his wife and two sons.

One of the latter, Frank, seventeen years old, precipitated yesterday's trouble. He visited his uncle, Visario, at the East Eleventh Street house about noon, and hearing of the latter's troubles with Joseph Colletti began to raise a disturbance. He assaulted Antonio Colletti with a club. Colletti resented the attack and was joined by his brother, Gaspard. Visario Spinella took a hand in the trouble, the contestants on both sides were joined by partisans, men and women, and the fight became general.

In the meantime, some one had gone to Vincenzo Spinella and told him of the fight, and the latter, with his wife and another son, ran to the scene. He had scarcely arrived at the Eleventh Street house when he recognized Antonio Colletti, who had run out on the stoop. Spinella without hesitation drew a revolver and fired. Colletti fell back dead, the bullet having pierced the left lung and touched the heart.

By this time not only the house, but the street for nearly a block, was in an uproar. The yells of the men and the screams of women could be heard a block away, and the roadway became jammed with excited throngs of people. The fighting was going on in half a dozen places.

Spinella, after shooting Antonio Colletti, made his way down Eleventh Street, toward Avenue A. He was followed by Gaspard Colletti until the two had almost reached Avenue A. Spinella then recognized Colletti and promptly fired at him. The aim was true again, and the bullet pierced Colletti's left breast.

WOULD-BE AVENGER SHOT.

Just as the young man fell to the ground his cousin, David Salvatore, arrived. Seeing his cousin killed, Salvatore drew his revolver and fired two shots at Spinella. Both shots went wild, however, and the bullets whizzing over the heads of the excited throng of spectators struck the fronts of nearby houses. Spinella turned just in time to see his assailant fire at him. Once more the man brought his pistol up and fired. It was splendid target practice. Salvatore staggered but did not fall. A bullet had pierced his stomach.

Spinella did not waste a shot, but reaching Avenue A turned northward on that thoroughfare, and on arriving at Thirteenth Street ran for his house with his son Frank, followed by a mob of thousands. Several persons tried to get near him, but he had only to brandish his revolver to clear a way. His previous aim had been too true. Father and son ran into their house, and the mob followed after them.

In the hallway a man named William Fink grappled with the murderer. Spinella's ever-ready pistol was brought into play again, and he fired at Fink's head. For the first time the shot was ineffective. The bullet grazed Fink's head and buried itself in the wall. It had its effect, however, for the pursuer released his hold and ran out of the house.

Thirteenth Street, from Avenue A to First Avenue, was almost impassable by this time, though the entire affair had taken place within less than fifteen minutes. Roundsman Maguire of the Fifth Street Station was on his way southward on Avenue A to the station house. When passing Thirteenth Street he was told by a thousand wildly excited persons that a triple murder had been committed. He ran to 424 East Thirteenth Street and made a hasty search of the house.

He went to the top floor first, then worked his way down. In a front room on the first floor he found Vincenzo Spinella hiding behind a curtain in the corner. The man surrendered willingly to the officer.

POLICE RESERVES OUT.

Meantime the East Fifth Street Station had been notified of the riot and Captain Diamond turned out all his reserves and detectives on the double quick.

Even before they had reached the scene, however, Policeman Henry Ebert, the patrol wagon driver of the Fifth Street Station, who had been to his dinner, found the wounded Salvatore walking along Avenue A with a pistol in his hand. Ebert was about to arrest the man, when the latter fell to the ground. He told the officer he had been shot.

The police stable is in Eleventh Street, and it only took a moment to summon the patrol wagon, in which the dying man was sent to the station house. A few moments later he was hurried to Bellevue Hospital in an ambulance.

Fighting was still going on in Eleventh Street about the house at No. 430 when the police arrived, but it stopped as soon as their presence became known to the participants in the riot. Antonio Colletti was found lying dead on the stoop. Gaspard Colletti, the second victim, had been picked up on the street and carried into a drug store.

An ambulance was summoned from Bellevue Hospital and Surgeon Christian found that the man was mortally wounded. He died in the hospital at 2 o'clock. Salvatore expired at 4:30 o'clock. Neither man was able to make an ante-mortem statement.

Vincenzo Spinella was searched at the police station and the holster of a revolver was found in his pocket. The revolver was missing, but the police are confident of locating it. His son, Frank, was captured by Detectives Bissert and Bonnoil. Father and son were locked up on a charge of homicide.

Joseph Colletti, thirty-one years old, whose forcible entrance into the East Eleventh Street house on Saturday night started the original quarrel, was also arrested. On his person was found a new revolver, one chamber of which had been emptied. A dozen witnesses of the murders who were interrogated by the police said they saw Spinella do the shooting. Three-fourths of these witnesses are reputable Italians living in the vicinity of the scene of the tragedy.

A half dozen others were locked up and will give their testimony at the hearing at the Yorkville Police Court this morning.

Coroner Zucca viewed the bodies of the victims and gave permits for their removal.

Sick Persons in Burning House.

Two sick persons were carried by the police early last night out of a building at 507 Sixth Avenue, which was on fire. They were Mrs. Hanna Scott and Edward Jacobson. They were found on the fourth floor. They were not in danger at any time, but were taken out as a precaution. The building is occupied by W. Weiss, who keeps a clothing shop on the ground floor, and by tenants in the flats above. The loss will not exceed $600. The fire was discovered on the first floor about 6 o'clock.

Dies In a Railway Station.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21.—William H. Shelmire, who was pension agent for this district during the Administration of President Harrison, dropped dead to-night at a suburban station of the Pennsylvania Railroad. He had spent the day in the suburbs with his wife and children, and was on his way home when he expired. He was about sixty years of age.

Cession of Danish West Indies.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The Copenhagen correspondent of The Daily News says: "I hear that Denmark and the United States are arranging that the Danish West Indies shall enter a zollverein with the United States, which may be a prelude to the cession of the islands to the American Government."

Contract for Montreal Elevators.

MONTREAL, Jan. 21.—The Barnet and Record Company of Chicago have secured the contract for the construction of the Conners syndicate grain elevators in Montreal. J. S. Record of the firm is now here. He says work will be started as soon as possible upon the construction of a million-bushel elevator, with annexes with a capacity of 2,000,000 bushels more. Most of the steel for construction will be secured in the United States.

AT THE HOTELS.

PLAZA—Hugh J. Cannon, Salt Lake City.

MURRAY HILL—Capt. Charles McQuinston, United States Army; Charles Farmer, A. A. S., United States Army.

FIFTH AVENUE—Richard Dobell, M. P., Canada; Capt. C. W. Elthicke, Chicago; Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, Rhode Island.

MANHATTAN—Capt. James A. Emery, Eleventh United States Infantry.

GRAND—W. B. Day, United States Navy.

ARRIVAL OF BUYERS.

Representatives of Out-of-Town Firms Now in the City.

Work, A. D., & Sons, Sisterville, West Va.; G. T. Work, dry goods; H. H. Work, dry goods; William Baker, dry goods; Broadway Central Hotel.

Shuttleworth, J. A.; & Co., Louisville, Ky.; J. A. Shuttleworth; clothing; Broadway Central Hotel.

Kaufman, Strauss & Co., Louisville, Ky.; H. Kaufman, gloves and trimmings; E. Kaufman, clothing; 443 Broadway; Hoffman House.

Rice-Stix Dry Goods Company, St. Louis, Mo.; A. S. Raub, hosiery; 53 Franklin Street; Hoffman House.

Wile, Brickner & Co., Rochester, N. Y.; S. Wile, woolens; Hoffman House.

Woodhull, Goodale & Bull; Syracuse, N. Y.; E. S. Goodale, woolens; Herald Square Hotel.

Murray, Blanchard Young & Co., Providence, R. I.; H. A. Young, stationery; Grand Hotel.

Thomas, A. S., Meriden, Conn.; P. H. Thomas, dry goods; A. H. Arthur, notions; Grand Hotel.

Strauss, H., Louisville, Ky.; P. J. Hoag, domestics and linens; S. L. Lorsch, cloaks and suits; F. L. Rehm, carpets and upholstery goods, 443 Broadway; Union Square Hotel.

Loewenstein Brothers, Memphis, Tenn.; G. B. McElroy, silks and velvets, 51 Leonard Street; Park Avenue Hotel.

Moses, J. E., & Co., Louisville, Ky.; J. E. Moses, tailors' trimmings, 84 Leonard Street; Hoffman House.

Stricker, Putnam & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio; I. Stricker, woolens, 49 Worth Street; Hoffman House.

Keely Company, Atlanta, Ga.; H. T. Croft, carpets;

SENATOR CLARK'S DEFENSE

Says His Case Is Like Those of Payne and Ingalls.

WAS IGNORANT OF BRIBERY

Will Show that Votes Said to Have Been Bought Were Not Necessary to Elect Him.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The Senate inquiry into the election of W. A. Clark of Montana is not yet ended, but the testimony intended to show that the election was brought about by the purchase of enough Republican votes to elect Mr. Clark is supposed to be in. Other witnesses are to be heard, but the friends of Mr. Clark are treating the case as closed, so far as the opposition is concerned.

There has been a long line of witnesses to the use of money, in sums of $10,000 for each member of the Legislature, with the son of the candidate appearing as the financial manager for his father. The State Treasurer of Montana has exhibited $30,000, surrendered by members who swore that they received it as the price of voting for Clark for Senator.

The defense that Mr. Clark relies upon is set forth in a statement issued to-night on his behalf. It is maintained that Mr. Clark ought to be permitted to retain his seat if it can be shown to the satisfaction of the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections that he did not know that anybody was being bribed and that those persons who were bribed were not necessary to the success of Mr. Clark in seeking the election.

In following out this theory for the benefit of Clark the cases of Payne of Ohio and Ingalls of Kansas, both having been charged with buying their way into the Senate, are quoted to sustain the contention of Mr. Clark. The Senate seemed to have no doubt that money was expended in both these cases to secure the election of the Senators concerned, but that the election was not brought about by bribery.

Testimony has been given in the Clark case to convey the impression that he did know of the effort to use money to convince members of the Legislature of the pecuniary advantage of voting for him, but the defense expects to dispose of these assertions and secure such a verdict as was rendered in the Payne case, that while corrupt practices were found in the Ohio Legislature when Payne was chosen, it had not been proved that Mr. Payne was aware of or connected with the procuration of his election by the use of money.

If the Senate is convinced that Clark was ignorant of the use of money in the Montana Legislature, Clark's defenders think it will treat his case as it did those of Payne and Ingalls, admitting that bribery was practiced, but that the beneficiary did not know anything about it.

There is no claimant for the $30,000 collected during the Montana election, and the money is now in the Senate safe.

ANSWERS MR. VON BREMSEN.

Mr. Unger Declares Change in Records of Pardon Cases Was Due to a Typewriter's Error.

Assistant District Attorney Unger yesterday, in discussing the charges made by Theodore Von Bremsen against the District Attorney's office in connection with the pardoning of Max Hustedt and John Sullivan, sentenced to Sing Sing Prison for burglary, admitted that the facts in the main were true, but that the entire trouble was due to an error, and not, as Mr. Von Bremsen made it appear, any intentional changing in the records of the case.

Judge Newburger, who presided at the trial, and is now in the South, sentenced Hustedt and Sullivan in June, 1897, to four years and six months in prison. Stenographer Peter P. McLaughlin took the testimony in the case. It is customary, after a conviction, for the stenographer to have transcribed an abstract of the testimony, which is filed with the other papers in the case for reference. Mr. McLaughlin dictated the usual abstract, but the typewriter, in copying the notes, made the story as told in the abstract appear that two witnesses had committed perjury.

When Mr. Von Bremsen was retained to apply for the pardons he went to the Clerk's office to look over the papers, and discovered what he thought was a good case based on the abstract. In time he obtained from the Clerk a certified copy of this paper. Then after he had filed his pardon papers he demanded that the District Attorney prosecute the two witnesses on the charge of perjury.

On looking over the papers the error in the abstract was at once discovered by the attaches of the District Attorney's office, and a copy of the minutes of the trial was ordered made. This paper did not indicate perjury on the part of any of the witnesses. A new and correct abstract was being prepared when Mr. Von Bremsen called on Pardon Clerk Flynn and denounced what he believed to be an attempt to change the records. Mr. Unger was summoned, and he tried to explain the matter to Mr. Von Bremsen, but the Assistant District Attorney says the lawyer refused to accept his statement of the case.

Col. Gardiner, according to Mr. Unger, joined with Mr. Von Bremsen in asking Gov. Roosevelt for a pardon after going over the testimony. Mr. Unger says one of the prisoners had been before Judge Newburger about a year previous, and had made an excuse similar to the one used in the case then on trial for being near the scene of the burglary. Judge Newburger recognized the man and, Mr. Unger says, brought out many of the details of the first case in such a way that Col. Gardiner believed it might have influenced the jury and that a new trial would have been granted if an appeal had been taken.

Mr. Unger said the District Attorney's office would take no further notice of Mr. Von Bremsen's statements. Others connected with the office made similar statements.

Mr. Von Bremsen, when seen at his residence, 176 East Eightieth Street, yesterday, declined to talk further about the matter except to say that some of the statements attributed to him had been misquoted.

SIX IMMIGRANTS DETAINED.

Mother of One Says Daughter Was Brought Here Without Her Consent.

Acting on the request of the British Consul the immigration authorities yesterday detained the family of Edward Smith, consisting of man and wife, three children, and Elizabeth Turley, thirteen years of age, who was with them. The party, which arrived in the steerage of the Cunarder Campania, were held for investigation on the complaint of the mother of the Turley girl, who declares the Smiths, without her knowledge or consent, had taken the girl out of England. On the manifest of the Campania the girl appears as Smith's daughter.

At the Barge Office Smith told his side of the case. He said the girl had worked for his family for seven months at Blakeney, Norfolk County, England. Some time ago he decided to emigrate to Pennsylvania. He wrote to the mother of the Turley girl, who lives near Liverpool, and told her of his intention of taking Elizabeth with them. He told her the vessel on which they would sail. He did not hear from her, and so took the girl with him. The party will be brought before the Board of Special Inquiry to-day.

FOG-BOUND VESSELS MOVE.

Big Fleet Goes Out—Incoming Ships Keep Customs Officers Busy.

The almost impenetrable fog which hung over the harbor and the coast in this vicinity lifted during the late hours Saturday, and early yesterday morning the immense fleet of vessels collected outside the bar began to file into the harbor. At the same time the vessels which had been held in port unable to move through the mist, began to pass out. As a result the harbor presented the busiest scene of the year.

In the outgoing stream of craft there were twenty-one steamships, twenty-two schooners, two ships, and three barks, besides a miscellaneous collection of small craft. Among the incoming craft that had been held up off the Hook, were the American liner New York, the Cunarder Campania, the White Star freighter Cevic, and the Critic, from Leith and Dundee. All were behind time.

The customs officers were kept busy during the morning boarding the incoming vessels. So many of them came into Quarantine at almost the same time that many were forced to anchor and await their turn.

HELD FOR BRIDGEPORT CRIME.

Men in Custody at Newark Thought to be Burglars Who Nearly Murdered a Watchman.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 21.—Several supposed tramps in jail here for fighting turn out to be members of a gang of burglars who are wanted by the Connecticut authorities for the shooting two weeks ago to-morrow night of Night Watchman Charles Morris at Bridgeport in the brewery which he was employed to guard. The men, who had been held on a charge of disorderly conduct, were remanded to-day in the Police Court to await the arrival of requisition papers from the Governor of Connecticut.

Policeman Patrick Delaney was on patrol duty Thursday evening when he heard two pistol shots fired in quick succession near Clay Avenue and Ogden Street, and hurrying toward the flashes saw one man standing with a revolver in his hand, while three others were running away from him. By prompt action Delaney brought about the arrest of all of them, and they were locked up in the Summit Avenue Station House, where they gave the names of Lewis, Oliver, O'Brien, and Anderson. Lewis was the man who fired the shots, and while running from the police he was seen to throw away his revolver. It proved to be a weapon of heavy calibre with several chambers still loaded. It was superior to the pistols usually found on tramps, and Capt. Daly of the precinct, concluding that his prisoners were of more importance than their appearance indicated, notified Capt. Cosgrove of the Newark detective force of the affair, and he, after looking them over, notified Pinkerton's Detective Agency.

When Assistant Superintendents Beutler and Dougherty of Pinkerton's saw the men yesterday they immediately identified Lewis as Frank Lashaway, alias "New York Whitie," who has served a term in the Albany Penitentiary. Oliver they found to be Henry Ogden, who is believed to have been the ringleader in the Bridgeport shooting, as he lived in that city up to about six years ago, and had a bad reputation there. He is known among criminals as "Connecticut Blackie," has served time in Montana, and was arrested in New York last month. O'Brien proved to be "Big Jim" Murphy. Anderson they did not know.

Watchman Morris was making his rounds in Eckart's brewery at Bridgeport on the night of Jan. 8, when at 12:45 o'clock, as he passed from one room to another, he suddenly heard the command "Hands up!" He threw up his heavy nightstick, there was a flash and a report, and he fell to the floor with a bullet through one of his lungs. The cracksmen fled, and he was carried to the hospital, where for several days he was expected to die. He is now believed to be on the road to recovery, although the bullet has not yet been located. A team of horses was stolen from Bridgeport the same night, perhaps by the same thieves.

Pinkerton's Detective Agency was called in a few days later to work with the Bridgeport police. They learned that Ogden with three strangers had been seen in various Bridgeport saloons and in the vicinity of Eckart's brewery on the evening of the shooting. Detectives Arnold and Cronin of Bridgeport brought witnesses who had seen the men to Newark this morning, and all identified the prisoners, with the exception of Anderson.

WIFE FEARS FOUL PLAY.

Disappearance of Walter Laidler After Reunion with Woman He Married Years Ago—Her Story.

Walter R. Laidler, a guest at Smith & McNell's Hotel, in Washington Street, disappeared from there last Wednesday evening, leaving behind him the wife to whom he had been reunited only two months ago, after a separation of ten years, and with whom he had arrived from England that very day. There had been no quarrel between them, she says, and people at the hotel believe that her fears that he has met with foul play may have some foundation. Mrs. Laidler is almost distracted with grief over the affair, and so convinced is the hotel management of the truth of her story that Seabrook Waddell, a cashier there, has taken her into his own home in Greenville, N. J., while efforts are made to find her husband.

According to Mrs. Laidler, they were married in England ten years ago. Her husband was then poor, and leaving his bride, started for America to make his fortune. All these years he has supported her by regular remittances, and his letters told of constant prosperity until about three years ago, when she heard from him that he had lost all he had accumulated. He wrote last November, however, stating that he had repaired his losses, and had prepared a splendid home for her in California. Two days after the receipt of this letter, and while she was still admiring photographs of the place which it inclosed, her husband appeared in person and bade her prepare to accompany him to the new home. She says he had plenty of money, and distributed gold double eagles among her relatives as souvenirs.

They came over on the White Star liner Oceanic, which reached her pier Wednesday morning. They decided to spend a week in this city before starting West, and after going to the hotel they went to the Post Office, where Mr. Laidler received a large bundle of letters from the general delivery. Some of these he read while they were at dinner at a Broadway restaurant, and she made a playful remark about a few being in a woman's handwriting. She remembers now, she says, that he turned white, and that his hand trembled as she spoke.

They returned to Smith & McNell's, and in the evening he said he would go out to make arrangements about their baggage. He offered her a considerable sum of money, but she refused it, saying that he had better remain the custodian of their funds until she had become more familiar with American currency. Then he left the hotel, and she has not since seen or heard from him.

CARRIED SMALLPOX AROUND.

Disease Detected on a Man's Second Visit to Bellevue Hospital—Went to City Lodging House.

A case of smallpox to which probably hundreds of persons had been exposed was detected last night at Bellevue Hospital. The sufferer is Willis Brown, twenty-nine years old, a laborer who has been living with Mrs. Jackson, at 236 West Forty-first Street. He arrived from North Carolina on Friday on the steamship Jefferson of the Old Dominion Line. He had been employed on the Virginia Beach Railway as a laborer, and previous to going South lived in this State working on farms.

Brown walked into Bellevue at 10 o'clock yesterday morning and complained of being ill. Dr. Emerson and Dr. Sellings examined him. They declared he had a disease which is not received into Bellevue. The only place for him was the Metropolitan Hospital on Blackwell's Island, but that institution does not receive patients on Sunday.

Brown was turned into the street and wandered about all day. He rode to the Harlem River and down to the Battery on surface cars, and about 6 o'clock happened back again in the neighborhood of Bellevue. He saw an ambulance passing and inquired from the driver the directions to the city lodging house. He was told it was at First Avenue and Twenty-third Street, and he went there. He was admitted when he told his story with the understanding that he could stay for the night only.

The man in charge noticed about 9 o'clock that Brown was very sick, and he decided to send him back to Bellevue. When he reached the hospital the second time he was received by Dr. Cunningham. Dr. Cunningham took him into the small office of the general reception room, and had not examined the man very long before he discovered unmistakable symptoms of smallpox. He notified Night Captain John McHale of his suspicion, and Capt. McHale at once isolated the patient. He put him in a detached ward and notified the Health Department.

Dr. Hubbard went at once to Bellevue. He confirmed Dr. Cunningham's diagnosis and the patient was transferred without loss of time to the reception hospital for contagious diseases at the foot of East Sixteenth Street, where he will be detained until such time as he can be taken to North Brothers Island.

There were ninety-five men in the lodging house and all will be vaccinated. The place was disinfected without loss of time. Every precaution has been taken to prevent contagion.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

STANDARD VOTING MACHINE

A Number of Them Placed on Exhibition in This City.

How the Citizen Records His Vote and This Mechanical Device Registers It.

The Standard Voting Machine Company, which is seeking to have its machine adopted by the Police Commissioners for use at the elections in this city, has one on exhibition at 170 Fifth Avenue, and also at the City Club, the Republican County Committee Rooms, Tammany Hall, the office of the State Superintendent of Elections, and the Republican and Democratic headquarters in Brooklyn. At each of these places the machine cannot only be inspected, but practically tested under the direction of an agent of the company. This is the latest mechanical device for casting and registering votes at an election, and it has been used with success at regular elections in Buffalo, Rochester, Utica, and Ithaca.

The instrument is about four feet square and ten inches deep, and stands upon legs which bring the top about six feet above the floor. Before the face of it, upon which the voting is done, is a curtain running upon a semi-circular rod, and reaching to within about two feet of the floor, which incloses the voter as in a booth, while he casts his vote in secret. On this face of the machine are arranged upon cardboard strips in parallel columns the names of the candidates and the titles of the offices to be filled, exactly as on the present blanket ballot, with party names and emblems at the top. Along the left of each column is a series of pointers, one for each office, and at the top a knob by which the whole series can be moved at once, so as to point to the names of the candidates to be voted for. There are eight of these columns, with spaces for thirty offices in each, consecutively numbered from top to bottom. On the right-hand side is a series of slits, each covered with a slide, corresponding to the spaces in the columns for the names of candidates. When one of these slides is pushed open a space in revealed in which the name of a candidate not on any of the tickets may be written by the independent voter. The writing is upon a paper roll behind the surface, which moves along with every recording of a vote.

As the voter approaches the machine the curtain is open, hanging to his left, and then the whole mechanism of the front is so locked that nothing can be moved. He swings a heavy lever from his left to the right, which throws the curtain around behind him, shutting his action from view, and there it is locked so that it cannot be moved back until he is through. Then he turns the knob at the top of his ticket to the right, which sets every pointer in that column to the names of the candidates and locks every other column, so that none of the pointers can be moved. That is all there is to voting a straight ticket.

If he wishes to split his ticket, however, he can move back any one pointer in his column with his finger, and that releases all others in the same line across the ballot, and he can turn the corresponding one in any other column, but only one. The turning of that one locks all the rest, so that it is impossible to vote for more than one candidate for the same office, but the pointer can be turned back and the choice changed if a mistake is made. This variation from the straight ticket can be carried to any extent by turning back pointers on the column first selected and pushing forward the corresponding ones in any other column.

If the voter desires to designate a candidate of his own choice not on any of the tickets, he can push open the slide on the right in the line of the proper office and write the name on the paper surface in the slit, but after that has been done no pointer in the same line can be again changed. The movement of the slide has locked the whole line. When the occupant of the booth has arranged his vote to his satisfaction he swings back the lever which moves the curtain, and that movement throws back all the pointers and locks the voting mechanism again, at the same time registering the vote in the back of the machine, whic his locked from view. It is then ready for the next elector.

The top space of each column is for Presidential Electors, as with the present ballot, and it is to be voted as a whole, as is also the case now; but the corresponding space covered with a slide on the right, for independent voting, is a wide one, in which may be written, for instance, "Republican Electors, except so and so; add so and so," thereby a voter may scratch a candidate whom he dislikes. The order of the columns and of the offices is the same as with the present ballot. At the upper left-hand corner is a small opening in which figures appear recording the number of voters who have cast their ballots. In each polling place there are to be also the customary directions for voters, fac similes of the ballot, and two small "dummies" of the front of the machine, with two columns and five pointers in each, upon which the working of the knob and of the separate pointers can be shown and practiced. Voting a straight ticket is a matter of an instant, and it has been found that 100 votes can be recorded in an hour.

While the voting has been going on, every vote for each candidate has been recorded inside of the machine. This registering part of the apparatus faces the back and is inclosed by doors, which are locked while the polling is in process. They cannot be unlocked until the lever which works the curtain, and which releases and closes the voting mechanism, has been securely locked to the left by the Inspector when the polls close. When this registering mechanism is finally disclosed by opening the doors steel columns appear behind the voting columns in front, with slits corresponding to the spaces for the names of candidates and numbered in the same order, and in these are figures which show the total vote for each candidate. There can be no defective ballots or disputed votes, and no part of this device can get out of order so long as the machine works at all. The count is there complete, and all that is necessary in making returns is to transcribe the figures for each candidate for each office upon the return blanks, under the inspection of the election officers and the watchers. No figure as it stands on the machine can be changed, as all are locked in their position, and cannot be moved until the lever in front has been unlocked and moved to a certain mark on the semi-circular curtain rod. Then are the wheels upon which the figures are inscribed so released that they can be moved and set back to zero.

Sometimes two or more persons are to be chosen for the same office, as Coroners, Assessors, members of school boards, &c. By some simple changes in the back of the machine before its use begins at a particular election it can be so adjusted with reference to a group of candidates for a certain office that the pointer for each can be moved in the same column or in different columns without interfering with the working of the rest of the ballot. If the same candidate is nominated or indorsed by more than one party and his name appears in more than one column, there is another device, by which every vote cast for him and no more is recorded. At the bottom of the machine in front, below the columns for the names of candidates, there is an arrangement for voting "Yes" or "No" on Constitutional amendments or any proposition submitted to a vote of the people. The voting is done by simply turning a pointer to the word "Yes" or the word "No," and the vote is recorded, as in voting for candidates; but if there is a qualification for voting on any of these propositions, so that some of the electors are excluded from the privilege, there is a bar which can be so adjusted by the Inspector when such an elector is to vote that the pointers relating to such propositions cannot be moved.

It has been noted that in moving the separate pointers in splitting a ticket there is a slight click which may be heard by the Inspector outside of the curtain, revealing the fact that the voter does not vote a straight." A voter, however, may do a confusing amount of this clicking and still vote straight in the end if he chooses, or he can easily move any pointer with his thumb and finger, instead of merely pushing it over, and make no click at all. There is, in fact, no way by which any one outside of the curtain can judge of his voting except so far as he chooses to reveal it.

New Steamship Line to Cuba.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW LONDON, Jan. 21.—A large steamer of the Intercolonial Steamship Company came here to-day from New York and took on the first load sent from this port to Cuba. This marks the beginning of a new enterprise, including the erection of grain elevators and the establishing of a steamship line between this and other ports and Cuba. The plan is backed by the Grand Trunk Railway.

SUNDAY AMONG BOHEMIANS.

Instruction and Recreation Provided for a Large Colony of Foreign Origin in New York.

How do the large colonies of citizens of foreign origin in New York, to whom Sunday closing laws are an abomination, spend the Sabbath? This is a question that is often asked. In the case of the Bohemians, at least, it can be said that they have provided themselves with facilities for spending the day agreeably and profitably.

In New York there are about 75,000 Bohemians, 55,000 of whom reside in Manhattan, on the east side, mostly between Sixty-ninth and Seventy-second Streets. Formerly the colony was centred about Second and Third Streets, but seven years ago they began to migrate to the above-mentioned locality, where they are now firmly established about their rallying places, National Hall, on Seventy-third Street, and Sokol Hall, on Seventy-first Street, near First Avenue, the headquarters of the Telocvicna Jednota Sokol, or Bohemian Gymnastic Association. National Hall is used for the functions of half a hundred Czech societies. Sokol Hall enjoys the proud distinction of being the property of the members of the Telocvicna Jednota Sokol, of which J. Kadlec is President. It was erected three years ago at a cost of $50,000, and is the favorite resort of the colony, especially on Sundays, when they are sure of being provided with harmless merriment, leavened with features that combine both amusement and instruction.

The building is not sumptuously equipped by any means, but it answers the purpose for which it was intended. It comprises a large hall, with galleries and a stage, capable of accommodating 1,500 persons; a smaller hall in the basement, where meals are served at moderate prices; a billiard room with four tables; a bowling alley, shower baths, a couple of bars—for the Bohemian deprived of beer or wine would be a forlorn individual indeed—and last, but not least, a free circulating library, which contains about two thousand books in the Czech language—histories of various countries, and all of an elucational character. There are also a few books in English.

The large hall is the pride of the gymnasts, for here, when the hall is not otherwise engaged, the trapezes, rings, and bars are used by the juvenile and adult classes of both sexes, who train under the direction of Ferdinand Martyny. The Bohemians are renowned all over the European Continent as gymnasts, and the New York Bohemians have several first-rate gymnasts among them. There was some talk of sending some of them to Paris this year with Mr. Martyny, but the project had to be abandoned as being too costly.

All are welcome at Sokol Hall, whether members of the association or not. Yesterday afternoon the hall was crowded to the doors. And a stranger would not have failed to remark that while there was scarcely standing room to be had, and men formed a very large proportion of the audience, nearly all the occupants of the seats were women and children. The men stood in the rear and down the aisles.

The feature of the programme provided was a lecture, with stereopticon views, by Dr. J. P. Chmlicek. Dr. Chmlicek was a surgeon in the volunteer army, and in the late war served in the camp at Tampa. Some months ago he was ordered to Manila, but he never got further than San Francisco, from which place he recently returned after service in the military hospitals. Dr. Chmlicek described his experiences in the West, and showed his auditors the scenery and described the geographical features of the places he had visited. Prof. Raboch and his orchestra furnished excellent music, and solo and chorus singing and performances of a couple of one-act plays wiled away the rest of the afternoon in a manner that, as the unstinted applause indicated, was highly satisfactory to everybody.

MOLINEUX MURDER EVIDENCE.

Case of the Prosecution Expected to be Closed To-morrow.

Assistant District Attorney Osborne now expects to close the testimony for the prosecution in the Molineux case to-morrow afternoon. Hand-writing experts Hagan and Kinsley will go on the stand this morning and tell of their chemical tests on writing exhibit F. This exhibit is the one in which a correction of the address was made, and their evidence will corroborate that of Heckman, the letter-box man, if they find that different ink was used in the corrected address from that used in writing the original. Mr. Osborne declares that he is satisfied with the result of the chemical tests made by the two experts.

Mrs. M. A. Gelle, the former housekeeper at the Knickerbocker Athletic Club, has not yet been found. It is declared that her testimony would be of little value, but nevertheless extraordinary efforts are being made to locate her. Beyond her testimony, that of the experts, and the possible recall of Cornish, Mr. Osborne will have little to offer unless he is able to get the two New Jersey witnesses he is after to volunteer to testify.

One of the first efforts of the defense will be to break down the testimony of Nicholas Heckman as to his acquaintance with Molineux and the latter's rental of letter boxes. The three letter carriers on the route in which his store is situated will be among the first witnesses called, and they will flatly contradict some of his statements. Other witnesses who have had business relations with Mr. Heckman will also go on the stand. Dr. E. Styles Potter, who was the second physician called in to attend Mrs. Adams after she took the poison, will be one of the chief witnesses for the defense. He was not called by the prosecution, and his evidence in some details will contradict that of Dr. Hitchcock, who was called by the People. It is also possible that Mrs. Gelle will come forward at the proper time as a witness for the defense.

GEN. WHEELER AND HIS MEN.

MUNCIE, Ind., Jan. 21.—B. F. Whaley, a Hoosier volunteer, writes from Paniqui, Province of Tarlac, Luzon, Philippine Islands, making the following reference to Gen. Joseph Wheeler:

"How could a single man in our ranks, be he veteran or 'rooky,' make even a wry face at his trials of war when than venerable 'cotton-headed' Southern war horse and hero of El Caney and San Juan, Gen. Joseph Wheeler, is at the front of our column, leading the way through swamps, across rivers, and into dense jungles, now and then dismounting from his horse and bidding some exhausted soldier to get into the saddle, while he, taking the gun of the private, marched along with us, chatting with the men about him in a gleeful, familiar way, causing them to forget every sensation of hunger and fatigue and to remember only that they were defenders of the flag?

"When we left Angeles in October, Gen. Wheeler gave imperative command that no soldier should start upon this march burdened with an ounce of unnecessary incumbrance. Consequently we are at present the raggedest, dirtiest, nakedest, most dilapidated and weather-beaten set of lads upon which the sunshine and rains of Luzon ever descended.

"Since starting on this campaign we have been completely cut off from the rest of the world. We have met with but little resistance and no loss of life. In fact, the natives seem more inclined to welcome us as benefactors."

SHIPPING AND FOREIGN MAILS.

Miniature Almanac—This Day.

	A. M.	P. M.	P. M.
Sun rises...7:18	Sun sets...5:05	Moon rises..11:35

High Water This Day.

A. M.		A. M.
S. Hook...11:22	Gov. Isl'd..11:32	H. Gate....1:38
P. M.	P. M.	P. M.
S. Hook..	Gov. Isl'd..	H. Gate....1:28

Outgoing Steamships.

TO-DAY, (MONDAY,) JAN. 22.

	Mails Close.	Vessels Sail.
Orinoco, Bermuda	10:00 A. M. *10:30 A. M.	12:00 M.
Talisman, Barbados	12:00 M.	.....
Talisman, Gaudeloupe	12:00 M.	2:00 P. M.

TUESDAY, JAN. 23.

Lahn, Southampton and Bremen	7:00 A. M.	10:00 A. M.
Wartburg, Haiti	1:00 P. M.	3:00 P. M.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 24.

Advance, Colon	9:30 A. M. *10:00 A. M.	1:00 P. M.
Friesland, Antwerp	10:30 A. M.	12:00 M.
Ithaka, Tampico	1:00 P. M.	3:00 P. M.
New York, Southampton	7:00 A. M. *9:00 A. M.	10:00 A. M.
Oceanic, Queenstown and Liverpool	8:00 A. M. *9:30 A. M.	11:00 A. M.
San Juan, San Juan	1:00 P. M.	3:00 P. M.
U. S. transport, Puerto Rico	10:30 A. M.	.....
Vigilancia, Havana, &c.	1:00 P. M.	3:00 P. M.

THURSDAY, JAN. 25.

Auguste Victoria, Napies, &c.	.....	.....
Cienfuegos, Santiago	1:00 P. M.	3:00 P. M.
La Bretagne, Havre	7:00 A. M.	10:00 A. M.
Tjomo, Trinidad	11:00 A. M.	1:00 P. M.

*SUPPLEMENTARY MAILS.—Additional supplementary mails are opened on the piers of the American, English, French, and German steamers and remain open until within 10 minutes of the hour of sailing.

TRANSPACIFIC MAILS.

Mails for China and Japan, via Vancouver, close here daily at 6:30 P. M. up to Jan. $23, inclusive, for dispatch per steamship Empress of Japan, (registered mail must be directed "via Vancouver.") Mails for Society Islands, via San Francisco, close here daily at 6:30 P. M. up to Jan. $26, inclusive, for dispatch by ship City of Papeiti. Mails for Hawaii, Japan, China, and the Philippine Islands, via San Francisco, close here daily at 6:30 P. M. up to Jan. $27, inclusive, for dispatch per steamship Doric. Mails for Hawaii, via San Francisco, close here daily at 6:30 P. M. up to Feb. $2, inclusive, for dispatch per steamship Australia. Mails for Australia, (except West Australia, which go via Europe, and New Zealand, which go via San Francisco,) Hawaii and Fiji Islands, via Vancouver, close here daily at 6:30 P. M. up to Feb. $3, inclusive, for dispatch per steamship Miowera. Mails for Australia, (except West Australia,) New Zealand, Hawaii, Fiji and Samoan Islands, via San Francisco, close here daily at 6:30 P. M. after Feb. $3 and up to Feb. $17, inclusive, or on day of arrival of steamship Campania, due at New York Feb. $17, for dispatch per steamship Alameda. Mails for Hawaii, China, Japan, and the Philippine Islands, via San Francisco, close here daily at 6:30 P. M. up to Feb. $4, inclusive, for dispatch per steamship Nippon Maru.

‡Registered mail closes at 6 P. M. previous day.

Postmaster Van Cott announces that the mails from Hongkong of Dec. 23, Yokohama Jan. 3, and Honolulu Jan. 12, which arrived at San Francisco per steamer Doric, are due in New York on the morning of Wednesday, Jan. 24.

Incoming Steamships.

TO-DAY, (MONDAY,) JAN. 22.

Algonquin, Jacksonville, Jan. 17.
Amity, Bordeaux, Jan. 8.
Bendo, Hamburg, Dec. 31.
Briscoe, Gibraltar, Jan. 7.
Bucentaur, Gibraltar, Jan. 6.
Chuden, Amsterdam, Jan. 6.
Florida, Brunswick, Jan. 11.
Fontabelle, St. Thomas.
Glanton, Hamburg, Jan. 1.
King Bleddyn, Rotterdam, Jan. 3.
Olio, Hvil, Jan. 6.
Pauillac, Pauillac, Jan. 6.
Pocahontas, Gibraltar, Jan. 8.
Pretoria, Bermuda, Jan. 17.
Pretoria, Hamburg, Jan. 8.
Stalheim, Christia., Jan. 2.
State of Nebraska, Glasgow, Jan. 10.
St. Cuthbert, Antwerp, Jan. 8.
St. Leonards, Antwerp, Jan. 8.
Winifred, New Orleans, Jan. 16.

TUESDAY, JAN. 23.

Adirondack, Port Limon, Jan. 16.
Chaucer, St. Lucia, Jan. 16.
Concho, Galveston, Jan. 17.
El Cid, New Orleans, Jan. 18.
Ethiopia, Glasgow, Jan. 11.
Georgic, Liverpool, Jan. 13.
Hevelius, St. Lucia, Jan. 16.
Hudson, New Orleans, Jan. 17.
Rotterdam, Rotterdam, Jan. 13.
Southwark, Antwerp, Jan. 13.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 24.

Andes, Jamaica, Jan. 17.
Aquileja, Algiers, Jan 9.
Finance, Colon, Jan. 17.
Kansas City, Swansea, Jan. 10.
St. Jerome, St. Michael's, Jan. 14.
Teutonic, Liverpool, Jan. 17.
Trapani, Bremen, Jan. 10.

THURSDAY, JAN. 25.

Albers, St. Lucia, Jan. 18.
Manitou, London, Jan. 14.
Palatia, Hamburg, Jan. 14.

FRIDAY, JAN. 26.

Dona Maria, Lisbon, Jan. 10.
Rhein, Bremen, Jan. 26.
Tartar Prince, Gibraltar, Jan. 12.

SATURDAY, JAN. 27.

Aller, Bremen, Jan. 16.
St. Louis, Southampton, Jan. 20.

Arrived.

SS La Bretagne, (Fr.,) Havre Jan. 13, South of Fire Island at 10:20 P. M.

SS Pisa, (Ger.,) Fendt, Hamburg Jan. 5, and Portland, Eng., 6th, to the United States Shipping Company. In Quarantine at 12:05 A. M. 22d.

SS New York, Roberts, Southampton and Cherbourg Jan. 13, with mdse. and passengers to the International Navigation Co. Arrived at the Bar at 1:40 A. M.

SS Campania, (Br.,) Wilkes, Liverpool Jan. 13 and Queenstown 14th, with mdse. and passengers to Vernon H. Brown & Co. Arrived at the Bar at 1:35 P. M. 20th and anchored owing to dense fog.

SS Cienfuegos, (Cuban license,) Smith, Manzanillo Jan. 9 and Cienfuegos 12th, with mdse. and one passenger to James E. Ward & Co. Arrived at the Bar at 10:45 A. M.

SS Indrani, (Br.,) Campbell, Yokohama, &c., Aug. 15, with mdse. to Funch, Edye & Co. Arrived at the Bar at 2 A. M.

SS Llandaff City, (Br.,) Carey, Bristol Dec. 31 and Swansea Jan. 4, with mdse. to James Arkell & Co. Arrived at the Bar at 2 P. M.

SS Seminole, Bearse, Boston, to W. P. Clyde.

SS Hamilton, Boaz, Newport News and Norfolk, with mdse. and passengers to the Old Dominion Steamship Co.

SS El Sud, Higgins, New Orleans Jan. 16, with mdse. to J. T. Van Sickle.

WIND—Sandy Hook, N. J., Jan. 21, 9:30 P. M., northwest, 23 miles an hour, clear.

Sailed.

SS Richmond, for Wilmington, N. C., and Georgetown, S. C.
SS Colorado, (Br.,) for Hull.
SS Kentigern, (Br.,) for Valparaiso, &c.
SS El Norte, for New Orleans.
SS Mesaba, (Br.,) for London.
SS Henry L. Gaw, for Baltimore.
SS Hollender, (Br.,) for Manchester.
SS Coleridge, (Br.,) for Pernambuco, &c.
SS F. W. Brune, for Baltimore.
SS Prins Willem III., (Dutch,) for Haiti, &c.
SS Norge, (Dan.,) for Copenhagen, &c.
SS Ravensdale, (Br.,) for Progreso.
SS Elise Marie, (Ger.,) for Flushing.
SS Powhatan, (Br.,) for Gibraltar, Genoa, &c.
SS Washington, (Ger.,) for Flushing.
SS Exeter City, (Br.,) for Bristol.
SS Excelsior, (Ger.,) for Bremen.
SS Ragusa, (Ger.,) for Pernambuco.
SS Thomas Turnbull, (Br.,) for Newcastle.
SS American, (Dutch,) for Rotterdam.
SS Horda, (Nor.,) for Honolulu.
SS King Gruffyd, (Br.,) for Philadelphia.
SS La Grande Duchesse, for Savannah.
SS Drummond, (Br.,) for Shanghai, &c.
SS Seminole, for Charleston, &c.

By Cable.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—SS Buffalo, (Br.,) Capt. Loveridge, from Hull for New York, passed Dover to-day.

SS Mannheim, (Ger.,) Capt. Ockelman, from New York, arr. here to-day.

Menominee, (Br.,) Capt. Robinson, sld. hence for New York to-day.

SS Nordby, (Dan.,) Capt. Larsen, (from Hamburg,) sld. from Cuxhaven for New York to-day.

SS Cufic, (Br.,) Capt. Caven, (from Liverpool,) sld. from Queenstown for New York at 2:30 P. M. to-day.

Our name is familiar to you through type—it would be more pleasantly familiar through clothes. At our Remnant Sale there's the double pleasure of getting them good and getting them cheap.

Suits to order $14.00, formerly $20.00 to $40.00; Trousers $4.00, formerly $5.00 to $10.00. About 250 Overcoat lengths at $16.00. All fancy Vestings, silk trimmed, formerly $10.00 to $15.00, now $6.00. Full dress or tuxedo, silk lined throughout, $30.00. The up-to-date Raglan, skeleton lined, $25.00. If you haven't the time to try them on, we will take all the risk. Money back for the asking.

ARNHEIM,
OUR ONLY STORE,
BROADWAY & 9TH STREET.

R. H. Macy & Co.'s Attractions Are Their Low Prices.

Macy's
Both Sides 14th St. from 13th to 15th, 6th Ave.

Continuation of the Silk Sale.

The most potent achievement that secured economic distinction for the Silk department was the acquisition of immense quantities at the rates quoted before the recent large advance in price.
The following items should establish cordial relations between Macy's and all who have not heretofore grown familiar with our way.

75c. Brocaded India Silks at 59c.

Black Brocaded India Silks, twenty desirable styles—principally polka dots and small floral designs. It is one of the Black Silks that will not crush, crack nor slip in the seams, value 75c.; our price, 59c.

Yard-Wide Swiss Taffeta, 98c.

Black Swiss Taffeta—all silk, not a shred of anything else. The spinning and dyeing are perfect—36 inches wide; our price, 98c.

Rich Black Silks at 99c.

This offer represents Peau de Soie, Duchesse, Gros de Lyons, Faille Francaise, Bengalines, Royal Armure, Drap de Regence and 27-inch Corded Taffetas—99c.

75c. Printed Pongees at 49c.

Printed Pongees have certain charms and characteristics that keep them in popular favor. They are soft and clingy, and yet they are exceptionally strong and serviceable. You may rely upon the spinning and dyeing of these. And the patterns are right—black grounds with lilac polka dots; blue grounds with dainty white stripes; blue grounds with white polka dots; heliotrope grounds with white polka dots, and black grounds with white stripes, 32 inches wide, usual 75c. quality, at 49c.

80c. Fancy Taffeta Silks at 59c.

Fancy Taffeta Silks, the variety is infinite—indescribable. Here's a hint: White, pink, nile, lemon and soft blue grounds, overwrought with small broche figures—leaves, diamonds, triangles, vines and dashes, divided by half-inch satin stripes aglow with Dresden and Sevres embroidered effects in bright contrasting tints.

Taffeta Plaids—large plaids of great character

WANAMAKER'S WANAMAKER'S WANAMAKER'S WANAMAKER'S WANAMAKER'S

50c Silk-and-Cotton Foulards at 25c

THE Rotunda is given over to them; nearby counters and shelves hold a share, for we had enough faith in this pretty fabric to buy a hundred and nine thousand yards

—hence, the half price. Charming stuff in two hundred and four designs—mostly the favored blue grounds, but there are light ones, too; some strewn with tiny flowers.

Silk-and-cotton, because this filmy fabric is strong when made this way, while the silk gives ample sheen.

Such dress goods news will bring large response—but there is large preparation—over five hundred feet of counter space, so divided that there shall be no crowding, and a corps of salespeople equal to all demands. And they are as enthusiastic over the goods as we are and as you will be.

A Trade Sale of China and Glass

We have no idea of interesting careless folks in our advertising—at least it is hopeless to expect much in that direction. It is the man or woman who thinks; who, better still, knows—the one who values money, having much or little of it, that comes here for supplies.

And, to thinking folks, "trade sales" stand for something—and are interesting. They are measures of the buying power of the business. We do not mark down prices because it is a certain day or "because it is you," or because we want to celebrate—we buy great lots below value and give you the advantage. As a rule, the things we offer in "trade sales" are made to our order—of full standard quality but cheaper because our order stops time-waste. That is all. It operates in American mills and in French factories—wherever it is advisable to move large quantities of goods quickly.

And, hence, to-day's sale of Table China (in the Basement) and of the wanted Odd Pieces of China and Bric-a-Brac and Cut Glass (on the Main Floor.)

Details that follow state the savings, as measured by every-day fair prices—

Separate China Pieces in Groups

A Group at 10c—
These are Austrian goods, neatly decorated in flowers and gold. Tea plates, breakfast plates, after-dinner cups and saucers, tea cups and saucers. All good value at 25c each—though you may choose at 10c.

A Group at 25c—
French and Austrian china and English porcelain. Actual values are $6 to $9 a dozen—a fair proportion at the latter figure. All are attractively decorated in colors and gold. The tables hold bread-and-butter, tea and course plates, cracker jars, after-dinner cups and saucers.

A Group at 50c—
This is all French china—breakfast plates, dinner plates, comports, bon-bon dishes, olive dishes, tea cups and saucers, inkwells. The lowest valuation on the least expensive kind is $8.50 a dozen—that for the breakfast plates. Other pieces in this lot are worth $10 and $12 a dozen.

Separate China Pieces in Groups

A Group at 75c—
A collection of elegant French plates, made up almost entirely of Haviland's goods. There are breakfast, dinner, tea and soup plates, all of which are full $1.50 values.

A Group at $1—
All plates—dinner, breakfast, tea and soup. The same make and quality as those reduced to 75c, but these have costlier decorations. They are easily worth $1.50 ea.

A Group at Just Half Prices—
Fine French and Austrian china and Wedgwood Jasper comprise this collection. There are salad bowls at 75c, ice cream trays at $1.50 and $2, celery trays at 75c to $1.10, ice cream sets at $6, comports at 65c to 85c, jugs at $1.35 to $1.85, fish sets at $2.50, steins at 50c, chocolate pots at $1.25 to $1.85. There's not a piece in this gathering worth less than double its present price.

Dinner Sets

$6—English porcelain; 100 pieces; underglaze decorations. This quality cannot be bought from the manufacturers to-day at this price.
$8.50—English porcelain; 100 pieces; 3 styles of decoration. The wholesale price is higher.
$11—English porcelain; 113 pieces; green underglaze decoration; value $14. Another sort, with 125 pieces, at $15, though worth $20.
$15—American porcelain; 113 pieces; fine border decoration and gold; value $20.
$15—Austrian china; 101 pieces; all handles gilded; an especially good value.
$20—English porcelain; 145 pieces; blue underglaze decoration; value $27.50.
And these sets of French china—
125 pieces, $125; value $200.
124 pieces, $65; value $95.
120 pieces, $52; value $80.
113 pieces, $45; value $60.

Dinner Sets

Also some French china sets at $20, that are worth $27.50; and some at $25, worth $35.
The dinner sets are conveniently arranged in the Chinaware Store, Basement.

Cut Glass

Richly cut—American, the best. All in new, desirable designs. This list shows savings—present prices compared with regular valuation:
Water tumblers, $2.25 doz.; worth $4. Some at $5, worth $9; others at $10, worth $20.
Olive Dishes, $1.75 each; worth $2.75.
Jelly Plates, $3; worth $4.
Pitchers, 2-pint, $5; worth $10.
Bowls, 8-in., $3.50; worth $5; some at $5, worth $7, and at $5.50, worth $8.
Flower Vases, 18-in., $7.50, worth $10; 14-in., $3.50, worth $5; 12-in., $2.75, worth $3.75.
Attractive prices on syrups, oils, salts and peppers and knife-rests.

Bric-a-Brac

Exceptionally good values in Teplitz vases and figures, and Sevres mounted vases, in exquisite designs and decorations.
Teplitz vases, 85c, instead of $1.25; $2.50, instead of $3.50; $4.50, instead of $6.50.
Teplitz figures at 60c, instead of 90c; 85c, instead of $1.25; $1, instead of $1.50.
Sevres vases at $27.50, instead of $40; at $35, instead of $50; $40 instead of $60.

Lamps and Globes

Some elegant lamps remain from the specially selected Holiday stock. To them are added about 150 fine samples—priced—
$6 to $8 kinds at $4, $8.50 to $12 kinds at $6, $13.50 to $18 kinds at $9.
Ruby Lamp Globes in deep rich color, with beautifully etched lace and floral designs, in 9, 10 and 12 in. sizes are newly priced:
9-in., at $1; regularly $2
10-in., at $1.50; regularly $2.50
12-in., at $2.50; regularly $3.50

Muslin Underwear It has been a great sale — this January distribution of white goods, and like all occasions here there has been the utmost freedom. Everybody has examined the sample pieces to their hearts content. Of course, mussed pieces—lots of them, and the pieces used in decoration. A washing will cure all the ills, but to-day they must get out of here—

$1.25 for $1 75 and $2 Night Gowns
$1 for $1.50 Night Gowns
65c for $1 Night Gowns
50c for 75c Drawers
18c for 25c Drawers
$1 for $1.75 White Petticoats
65c for 90c and $1 White Petticoats
$2 for $3 Eiderdown Robes

—not very many of any of these lots, and surely not many of any one size. But think of the saving!

$1 for $2.25 and $2.50 Cashmere Waists—solid colors.
$1 for $1.50 and $2.50 Waists of pretty Mercerized cotton. Broken sizes.
Mohair Waists, $1 and $2—values up to $3.75. And velveteen Waists at $3, values up to $6.50. Just a few.

We have called in most of the remaining lots of Muslin Underwear and this fourth week promises to be one of the most important of the sale. Too bad that prices are going so much higher right off, but do our best we must pay more. Lucky if you get enough from our present stocks to last you a year. Second Floor.

Housekeeping Linens

IMPORTANT SAVINGS

16-in.-wide bleached Crash at 5c a yard, instead of 8c.
Roller Towels, made from 2½ yards of bleached crash, for 10c.
45c for 65c hemstitched Towels.

And these are merest hints. More than thirty rather important lots are told of in the detail that follows.

It's the best linen news we've printed in a twelve-month—reductions at the very time we are surest of having to pay higher prices.

Why? If you have a friend who manufactures he can explain. A furnace company year after year showed a balance earned, but it was never available for dividends—"there's our profit, gentlemen; a warehouse full of metal." But it took a new management to work out real cash. We are paying higher prices for the linens we are ordering for future shipments; we are finding "bargains" where stocks of this, that and other must be turned into cash for dividend-paying.

Will you take a dividend as well, by getting enough of these goods for present and prospective wants? None for dealers—hence, we shall feel free to decline deliveries where we believe the goods are bought to sell again.

6¼c a yard for 10c Crash, brown or bleached, 20 in. wide; or, 16 in. Crash, twilled.
12½c for 18c Glass Toweling, checked; and 20 in. bleached Twilled Crash.

Towels—
10c for 15c Huckaback Towels, fringed, 18x38 in.
12½c for German Damask Towels, bleached, 21x45 in., knotted fringe.
19c for Old Bleach Huckaback Towels, 20x39 in., fringed.
25c for 35c Bath Towels (Turkish, cotton), 23x45 in.
35c for 50c Hemstitched Huckaback Towels, 23x45 in.
45c for 65c fancy-weave Bleached Towels, 25x44 in.

Table Cloths—
$1.30 for 2-yard square German Damask Cloths; fringed; 2x2½ yards at $1 60. 2x3 yards at $1.90.
Fourth avenue side.

Table Cloths—
16-inch Doilies to match, 85c instead of $1 a dozen.
$1.75 for 2-yd. long cloths of pretty Irish Damask; 3-yd. at $2.75.
$2.90 for 2x2½ yard Cloths, instead of $3.50.
26-inch Napkins to match at $2.90 a dozen.

Table Linen by the Yard—
35c for 63-in. Bohemian Linen.
40c for loom-dice Linen, 56 in. wide.
56c for bleached Irish Damask, 67 in. wide.
75c for bleached Scotch Damask, 72 in. wide.
$1 for Scotch Double Damask, 70 in. wide.
$1.25 for $1.75 Double Damask, 2 yards wide.

Napkins—50c, 75c, 85c, $1.50, $2 and $3 a dozen. Some big Dinner Napkins at $4.25, but they are the regular standard $5.50 kind. There are Fancy Linens as well—Tray Cloths, Hemstitched Tea Cloths and the like—just as cheap as the other linens we've told of.

Notions Many little things at little prices. And though trifling in cost, still big in importance. The numerous things for the sewing-room and toilet table should be good, dependable. No trash can get into these stocks. That's worth remembering while noting your wants in this list:

Stockinet Dress Shields, Nos. 1 and 2, 5c pr.
Light-weight Dress Shields, Nos. 3, 4 and 5, 7c pair.
Rubber Lined Dress Shields, Nos. 3 and 4, 7c pair.
Spring Hooks and Eyes, Nos. 2, 3 and 4, 2c card.
Prussian Binding, black or white, 12c piece.
Basting Cotton, 500-yard spool, 3c.
Safety Pins, black or white, card of 1 doz., 2c.
English Pins, paper of assorted sizes, 5c.
Cotton Tape, bundle of assorted widths, 2c, 12c and 25c.
Strawberry Pin Cushions, 5c.
Needle Books, 4 papers needles and darners, 3c.
Combination Needle and Pin Books, 5c, 10c.
Safety Pin Books, 2 doz. assorted sizes, 5c.
Tubular Shoe Laces, 5c doz.
Pin Books, assorted sizes, 3c.
Hair Pins, bundle of 10 papers, 4c.
Tomato Pin Cushions, 4c.
Hair Pin Cabinets, 3c.
Egg Darners, 3c.
Women's Cotton Side Garters, 8c pair.
Women's Silk Side Garters, 10c pair.
Women's Fancy Frilled Side Garters, 10c pr.
Women's Fancy Frilled Garters, trimmed with satin bows and fancy buckles, 15c pair.
Tenth street.

Trunks at Half Price

One of the three best trunk makers we know of—and one of the three lives away over in Paris—asks us once or twice a year to sell his sample line for him. This maker doesn't retail, so the samples get much less handling than do those in retail stores—in fact, most of these haven't a mar or a scratch.

Just seventy-five—no two alike—and probably it will be fairest to sell none of them until 9 o'clock. That will give all a chance who care to come.

Men's trunks, women's trunks, women's hat trunks, steamer trunks. Cheapest is $5.50 regularly. It will be $2.75. Then by easy steps to the very finest—a $33.50 trunk. That will be $16.75.

Selling starts at nine o'clock. Fifth floor, Tenth street.

Early Spring Millinery

A special show day. Off to Florida or other sunny clime? Our help to your readiness.

But whether you go away or not, you'll thank us for this peep of what is to be.

Paris says "bleu." You may not like the spelling, but you will like the hats.

Broadway window and Show-room on Second floor.

Blankets, Quilts, Comfortables

LOWER PRICES

Mill men are charging higher prices on new business, even the sheep man can put on airs now-a-days, but odd cases of goods are just "remnants" to producers and commission men, and what's the difference if they go at a loss?

$8 a pair for $10 Blankets, 78x86 in.
$3 a pair for $3.50 Blankets, 72x82 in.; weighing 5½ lbs.
$2 a pair for $2.50 Blankets, 70x82 in.; 5 lbs.
$1.25 for $1.65 Marseilles Bed Spreads.
$1.95 for $2.50 Marseilles Bed Spreads.
85c. for $1.25 Crocheted Bed Spreads.
$3.25 for $3.75 Down Quilts—figured sateen both sides.
95c. for $1.25 Cotton Comfortables.
$1.20 for $1.50 Comfortables, silkoline; ruffled.
Ninth street aisle, Main floor.

In the Fifth Floor Bargain Store—the Trunks; Corsets at 45c.; several of the special lots of Hosiery; Women's and Children's Gloves—kidskin and others; Fur Scarfs and Muffs; three hundred Remnants of Table Linen.

Formerly A. T. Stewart & Co.

JOHN WANAMAKER

Broadway, Fourth Avenue, Ninth and Tenth Streets.

REPORT ON CIVIL SERVICE

National Commission Makes Suggestions for Legislation.

WANTS EMPLOYES PENSIONED

Also Declares that the Civil Service Rules Should Be Extended to Colonial Possessions.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—In the sixteenth annual report of the United States Civil Service Commission, just submitted to the President, the commission refers to hitherto unknown phases of the service, and remarks on the importance of a merit system in our colonial possessions, and the necessity of providing for superannuated employes.

The report opens with a preliminary statement in regard to the extent of the classified and unclassified service, from which it appears that there are approximately 75,000 classified positions and 107,000 unclassified positions; of the latter, 71,007 are occupied by fourth-class Postmasters. There are 19,446 positions in the executive service in the District of Columbia, and more than 162,000 distributed among the States and Territories. The commission states that the expenditures for salaries for the entire service, classified and unclassified, is approximately $104,000,000 per annum, a large increase having resulted from the war with Spain.

During the year 283 different kinds of examinations were held. Of the positions classified, 72 per cent. are subject to examinations for which a good common school education is a sufficient training, such as clerk in the departmental, Post Office, and customs services, and railway mail clerk; 22 per cent. are subject to registration tests, including no educational examination, but requiring applicants to furnish evidence as to their ability as workmen, experience, physical qualifications, and age. The positions of fireman, watchman, and janitor, as well as various positions included in the mechanical trades, are filled in this way. Only 6 per cent. of the classified positions are subject to technical examinations requiring special or technical knowledge in addition to a general education, such as Patent Office examiner, stenographer and typewriter, draughtsman, and nautical expert.

During the year 47,956 persons were examined for all branches of the service, an increase of 2,244 over last year. Of this number, 35,682 passed and 12,274 failed. The total number of appointments made during the year on certificates of the commission was 9,056. Reference is also made to the results of the commission's investigations of charges of political assessments, in which connection attention is called to extracts in the appendix to the report of debates in Congress at the time of the passage of the civil service law, as tending to show that it was the intention of Congress to prevent solicitations, either in person or in writing, of persons in the public service, and also to prevent members of either house of Congress and persons in the public service from soliciting other persons in the public service, either directly or indirectly.

The commission for the first time discusses the question of providing a retirement fund for superannuated employes. It refers to the report of the joint commission of Congress in 1893, appointed to inquire into the organization of the executive departments in Washington, in which it was shown that of 17,073 employes 1,416 were sixty years of age or over, 288 seventy years or over, and 40 eighty years or over. Reference is also made to the action of the Secretary of the Treasury in 1897, who, "recognizing the difficulties under which the Treasury Department labored with aged and incapacitated employes hindering the proper performance of the work, created an honorable service roll," which action was questioned by Congress, and a provision adopted prohibiting the establishment of such a roll or a civil pension roll. The commission states:

"It must be admitted, however, that the question of the superannuation of employes is a serious one confronting those who are responsible for the proper and efficient administration of the work of the executive service."

The last report of the Commissioner of Pensions is quoted wherein he recommends the establishment of a retirement fund by withholding a certain percentage of the salaries of the employes in his bureau. The commission states that many years will elapse before any question will arise in regard to a retirement fund for appointees through its examinations, the average age of whom is only twenty-eight years, but remarks:

"There are employes, however, who entered the service before the passage of the civil service law, and have become incapacitated by age after having rendered faithful and efficient service. While under the civil service act and rules, inefficiency is considered just cause for dismissal, appointing officers naturally hesitate to dismiss old employes who have become incapacitated after rendering long, faithful, and efficient service, but it would seem that some provision ought to be made so that the work of the Government may not be embarrassed by their retention.

"It is suggested that the question of enacting a law providing for a retirement fund for incapacitated employes, such fund to be created and maintained by withholding a certain percentage of the salaries of employes, is worthy of the serious attention of Congress. Such a law would not be open to the objection of establishing a civil pension list, and if it should be enacted the Government would be the chief gainer, as the employes placed upon the retired list because of their inefficiency would be succeeded by active and energetic persons in the prime of life."

Gratifying progress is shown in the remarkably small per cent. of removals now made from the classified service. The civil service law requires that removals from positions subject to examination shall not be made for political or religious reasons, but the order of the President of July 27, 1897, prohibiting removals from competitive positions except for just cause, and requiring that the reasons for removals shall be given in writing and made a part of the records of the office, has had a most salutary effect. Only 0.19 per cent. of those appointed through the commission's examinations have been removed from the departmental service during the last sixteen years, or a little over seven-tenths of 1 per cent. a year.

A large number of temporary appointments without examination, 3,539, was made during the year. In explanation of this the commission states:

"The revision of the rules in May, 1896, brought into the classified service about 31,000 positions in services which are known as 'field' service, scattered throughout the United States, the positions belonging to which were either of a technical character or below the clerical grade. Many of the temporary appointments were made to these positions."

The commission dwells at length on the question of a merit system for the civil service of our colonial possessions. It is urged that the Spanish method of making appointments for political or personal reasons, without due regard to the qualifications of appointees, be avoided. It also calls attention to the language used by the Philippine Commission in its proclamation to the natives promising them an honest, economical, and efficient civil service, and states:

"This promise made by the authorized agents of the United States cannot be fulfilled unless the practice, with its corrupting influence, of distributing appointments as personal favors or political rewards, through which Spain lost her colonies, is superseded by a well-administered merit system. The patronage system has been tried in this country and found wanting. In 1882, the year before the passage of the civil service law, the Congressional committee appointed to investigate the condition of the Federal service reported that the civil service of the country under that system was inefficient, extravagant, and in many instances corrupt. The necessity of good administration, the committee stated, imperatively demanded a change. The introduction, therefore, of the patronage system into the government of the Philippines, after the condemnation of that system at home, cannot be accomplished without breaking faith with the Filipinos, who have been promised an honest, economical, and efficient government.

"The training given to young men in this country renders them better qualified to grapple with new conditions than the training received in England or Holland, which have been so successful in the government of colonies. This is shown by the successful management of large industrial and commercial enterprises in this country. In the administration of the government of our new possessions, this Government must compete with the management of private enterprises in securing and retaining the services of able men. This can only be done, as discovered by other countries, after long experience, by giving a tenure dependent on faithful and efficient service and not subject to political changes at home; by making the pay for such services commensurate with the importance of the positions and the dangers and inconveniences which they involve, and by encouraging promotions from the lower grades to the highest in the service.

"The commission therefore strongly urges that no unnecessary delay should occur in bringing the great bulk of the civil positions in our insular territories within the provisions of civil service rules."

The commission calls attention to the repeated recommendations of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia that the municipal service of the District of Columbia be put under the protection of the civil service law, and recommends inclusion of that service by Executive order, if it is found that this can be done under the provisions of the Civil Service act; if not, it is recommended that proper legislation be enacted to this effect.

THIS WEEK IN CONGRESS.

House Will Argue the Roberts Case—Quay, Currency Bill, and the Philippines in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The feature of the proceedings in the House this week will be the consideration of the case of Brigham H. Roberts, the Mormon Representative-elect from Utah. Though both the majority and minority of the committee which investigated the case agree that Mr. Roberts should not sit as a member of the House on account of alleged polygamous practices, there will be a struggle over the question of procedure, upon which the committee has split. The case will be called up on Tuesday and two, possibly three, days will be devoted to it.

The majority of the committee holds that Mr. Roberts should be excluded, while the minority contends that he should be seated and then expelled, basing their argument for this course upon the ground that Mr. Roberts possesses all the Constitutional qualifications for membership and that any attempt to exclude him upon the theory that Congress has the power to add to those qualifications would establish a dangerous precedent that might return to plague Congress in the future. Mr. Littlefield of Maine and Mr. De Armond of Missouri, who presented the minority report, will make a strong fight, and say they believe they can convince a majority of the House that the course they advocate is the only proper one to pursue.

The majority of the committee, on the other hand, is confident that it will be backed by a majority of the House.

Mr. Roberts is expected to make a plea in his own defense. Should he be seated in accordance with the contention of the minority a resolution to expel him will be immediately offered, and this doubtless will carry by an almost unanimous vote, although the majority, in its report, has insisted that, once seated, a member cannot be expelled for acts committed before he was a member of the House.

To-morrow will be devoted to District of Columbia matters, and Friday to eulogies upon the life and public services of the late Vice President Hobart.

THE SENATE.

The Senate again this week will devote itself almost exclusively to speechmaking. A variety of subjects will be covered. The financial bill will remain the unfinished business, but the Senate will not be held strictly to its consideration. Several set speeches probably will be made upon it, among those who are expected to speak being Senators Cockrell, Daniel, and Allen. No announcement has yet been made of speeches on the affirmative side of the measure, but now that a day has been agreed upon for a vote it may be expected that some of the friends of the bill will speak in its defense.

The first speech of the week will be made immediately after the close of the routine business Monday morning by Senator Pritchard on his resolution declaring the proposed amendments to the Constitution of North Carolina to be in contravention of the Federal Constitution. He will be followed by Senator Turner in a prepared speech on the Philippine question. Tuesday Mr. Ross will address the Senate on the application of the Constitution of the United States to Puerto Rico and the Philippine archipelago. He will be followed on the same date by Mr. McEnery with a speech on the North Carolina Constitutional question.

The two reports on the Quay contest will be presented Monday or Tuesday, and as this contest is a privileged question it is not unlikely to receive early attention. Senator Penrose, who is in charge of Mr. Quay's case, says he will ask that the contest be pressed to an early decision in the Senate.

The Samoan treaty also will be taken up again in executive session on the motion of Senator Jones of Arkansas, to reconsider the vote by which it was ratified. The treaty has been already returned to the Senate by the President to await the disposition of the Arkansas Senator's motion.

CENTRAL FEDERATED UNION.

Street Cleaners, Actors, and Pipe Calkers Receive Attention.

Delegate Patrick J. McNulty of the Street Cleaners announced to the Central Federated Union yesterday that he had paid out some $56,000 of the $80,000 which had been awarded to street cleaners as back pay. He had received $34,000 a day or two ago, he said, and would pay it out to 192 men before the 1st of February. He said that $1,500,000 was owing to the men on graded salaries, and there were several cases in the Supreme Court for its recovery. The Executive Committee of the Street Cleaners' Association asked the Central Federated Union to indorse Senator Ford's bill fixing eight hours as a legal day's work for street cleaners, and securing the right of an employe of the Street Cleaning Department to a hearing before dismissal. The meeting granted the request.

A committee from the actors of the People's Theatre, who said that they had been locked out, called to relate their grievances. Delegate Dorscher, the spokesman of the committee, said the actors had been locked out because they refused to play with two non-union actresses. "We threatened to strike," said Dorscher, "but the managers anticipated us and locked us out. The ushers and costumers struck to help us, and the United Hebrew Trades sent a committee to the managers in our behalf. We tried to get the stage hands to strike, but they refused, and we have come to ask the Theatrical Protective Union to compel them to strike."

Delegate Philip Kelly of the Theatrical Protective Union said his union would not call out the stage hands in the People's Theatre, because the actors had acted too hastily and had not consulted with his union. The meeting appointed a committee to see what could be done to help the locked-out actors.

The Pipe Calkers complained that non-union men of their trade were employed on Bedlow's Island and Governors Island, and that they were made to work ten hours a day. They asked that their complaint be forwarded to President McKinley.

"As President McKinley is a member of the Chicago Bricklayers' Union he ought to sympathize with you," remarked Delegate Cowen of the Amalgamated Machinists.

The meeting granted the Pipe Calkers' request.

LICENSES OF TRUCK DRIVERS.

Opposition to a Proposed Amendment Abolishing Them.

The Truck Drivers' Benevolent and Protective Association is up in arms against a proposed amendment to the licensing ordinances of the Board of Aldermen, in which the words, "truck drivers" are omitted from the list of callings requiring licenses. Peddlers, pawnbrokers, and others are required to have licenses, but truck drivers are not mentioned.

The truck drivers desire to be included in the list of men requiring licenses, not because they are anxious to contribute to the treasury of the municipality, but as a protection to themselves against their employers in cases of threatened strikes. Several years ago, they say, Patrick Keahon, who was then a Tammany Alderman in the Seventh Assembly District, had an ordinance passed which licensed truck drivers. They paid 50 cents for a license the first year, and renewed it yearly thereafter for 25 cents. They say that if they should threaten to strike their employers could easily get new men in their places at once if no licenses were required, while under the license regulations the employers would lose time in looking for new men and getting licenses for them. They declare that the author of the existing regulations, Patrick Keahon, has become an employing truckman himself, and now desires to prevent the truck drivers from obtaining licenses.

The truck drivers held an indignation meeting yesterday afternoon at Flannery's Hall, Hudson and Leroy Streets, and decided to employ a lawyer to oppose the proposed amendment.

STATE TRUST COMPANIES

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 21.—From the reports of trust companies of New York City, made to the State Superintendent of Banking for the year 1899, at the close of business on Dec. 31, these abstracts are made:

NEW YORK.

Bankers' Trust Company.

RESOURCES.

Stock investments (market value)	$2,854,419.53
Amount loaned on collaterals	1,986,500.00
Cash on hand	3,115.71
Cash on deposit	385,896.25
Due from banks	9,250.00
Other assets	14,643.08
Total	$5,253,624.57

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$1,500,000.00
Surplus fund	1,500,000.00
Undivided profits	7,134.18
General deposits payable on demand.	2,242,849.98
Other liabilities	3,640.41
Total	$5,253,624.57

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Profits during the year	$20,914.34
Interest credited depositors	315.42
Expenses of institution	21,592.44
Deposits on which interest is allowed	1,851,830.29
Rate of interest, per cent	1½ to 3

Colonial Trust Company.

RESOURCES.

Bonds and mortgages	$192,750.00
Stock investments (market value)	2,172,759.91
Amount loaned on collateral	8,903,024.15
Amount loaned on personal securities	583,246.84
Cash on hand	84,951.22
Cash on deposit	2,960,208.09
Other assets	178,889.09
Total	$15,075,829.30

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$1,000,000.00
Surplus fund	500,000.00
Undivided profits	485,467.53
Deposits in trust	51,911.15
General deposits payable on demand.	12,992,479.66
Other liabilities	95,970.96
Total	$15,075,829.30

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Profits during the year	$700,638.91
Interest credited depositors	318,662.27
Expenses of institution	117,107.26
Dividends declared	50,000.00
Deposits on which interest is allowed	12,813,605.44
Rate of interest, per cent	2 to 4

Guaranty Trust Company.

RESOURCES.

Bonds and mortgages	$25,000.00
Stock investments (market value)	12,237,786.07
Amount loaned on collaterals	8,707,892.31
Amount loaned on personal securities	292,500.00
Real estate (estimated value)	152,584.00
Cash on hand	50,982.89
Cash on deposit	3,807,226.98
Overdrafts	15,928.63
Due from banks	1,497,984.68
Other assets	283,395.84
Total	$27,071,351.40

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$2,000,000.00
Surplus fund	3,500,000.00
Undivided profits	404,191.81
Deposits in trust	1,410,232.18
General deposits payable on demand.	19,579,136.70
Other liabilities	177,790.71
Total	$27,071,351.40

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Profits during the year	$1,696,774.58
Interest credited depositors	563,489.64
Expenses of institution	181,584.27
Dividends declared	240,000.00
Deposits on which interest is allowed	18,047,742.45
Rate of interest, per cent	1 to 4

Holland Trust Company.

RESOURCES.

Bonds and mortgages	$11,386.50
Stock investments (market value)	597,265.24
Amount loaned on collaterals	207,043.68
Real estate	247,981.11
Cash on hand	350.77
Cash on deposit	1,488.74
Other assets	26,268.82
Total	$1,091,979.86

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$500,000.00
Surplus fund	66,509.01
Deposits in trust	51,527.61
General deposits payable on demand.	107,736.79
Other liabilities	366,206.45
Total	$1,091,979.86

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Profits during the year	$5,289.19
Interest credited depositors	4,114.67
Expenses of institution	14,787.21
Deposits on which interest is allowed.	98,671.29
Rate of interest, per cent	2 to 4½

Knickerbocker Trust Company.

RESOURCES.

Bonds and mortgages	$564,900.00
Stock investments (market value)	3,375,159.79
Amount loaned on collaterals	12,555,153.73
Amount loaned on personal securities	355,225.00
Cash on hand	140,925.49
Cash on deposit	1,433,017.94
Overdrafts	5,570.31
Other assets	237,511.65
Total	$18,667,463.91

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$1,000,000.00
Undivided profits	957,884.81
Deposits in trust	1,312,712.55
General deposits payable on demand.	15,231,435.27
Other liabilities	165,431.28
Total	$18,667,463.91

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Profits during the year	$795,506.07
Interest credited depositors	378,988.86
Expenses of institution	156,712.39
Dividends declared	70,000.00
Deposits on which interest is allowed	14,798,836.64
Rate of interest, per cent	1 to 4

Mercantile Trust Company.

RESOURCES.

Bonds and mortgages	$215,720.93
Stock investments, (market value)	7,860,047.51
Amount loaned on collaterals	31,247,672.92
Amount loaned on personal securities	12,100.00
Real estate	38,845.85
Cash on hand	17,177.66
Cash on deposit	8,826,166.65
Other assets	68,527.51
Total	$48,286,259.03

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$2,000,000.00
Surplus fund	4,000,000.00
Undivided profits	230,785.88
Deposits in trust	590,792.45
General deposits payable on demand.	41,380,201.90
Other liabilities	84,478.80
Total	$48,286,259.03

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Profits during the year	$1,949,200.68
Interest credited depositors	894,462.65
Expenses of institution	170,398.54
Dividends declared	320,000.00
Deposits on which interest is allowed.	38,574,746.46
Rate of interest, per cent	1 to 4

Merchants' Trust Company.

RESOURCES.

Stock investments (market value)	$547,500.00
Amount loaned on collaterals	350,000.00
Cash on hand	333.92
Cash on deposit	552,292.90
Other assets	6,725.90
Total	$1,456,852.72

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$500,000.00
Surplus fund	1,000,000.00
General deposits payable on demand.	153,231.47
Other liabilities	3,621.25
Total	$1,656,852.72

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Profits during the year	$1,888.55
Interest credited depositors	87.66
Expense of institution	1,461.25
Deposits on which interest is allowed.	153,105.99
Rate of interest, per cent	2 to 3

North American Trust Company.

RESOURCES.

Bonds and mortgages	$63,293.90
Stock investments (market value)	1,461,309.07
Amount loaned on collaterals	4,137,425.53
Amount loaned on personal securities	310,140.22
Real estate	176,517.76
Cash on hand	4,017,775.75
Cash on deposit	793,143.98
Overdrafts	1,039.99
Due from banks	23,477.69
Other assets	102,049.03
Total	$11,086,181.90

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$2,000,000.00
Surplus fund	1,000,000.00
Undivided profits	129,659.54
Deposits in trust	280,055.07
General deposits payable on demand.	7,509,478.13
Other liabilities	166,984.16
Total	$11,086,181.90

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Profits during the year	$360,331.94
Interest credited depositors	17,215.84
Expenses of institution	171,916.18
Dividends declared	75,000.00
Deposits on which interest is allowed	703,973.61
Rate of interest, per cent	1½ to 3

New York Life Insurance and Trust Company.

RESOURCES.

Bonds and mortgages	$3,044,372.00
Stock investments (market value)	10,466,534.17
Amount loaned on collaterals	5,554,958.89
Amount loaned on personal securities	7,653,124.83
Real estate (estimated value)	449,680.98
Cash on hand	1,325,000.00
Cash on deposit	314,088.94
Other assets	1,790,418.12
Total	$30,598,152.93

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$1,000,000.00
Surplus fund	3,385,052.23
Undivided profits	47,661.01
Deposits in trust	24,117,944.78
Other liabilities	*2,047,494.91
Total	$30,598,152.93

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Profits during the year	$1,506,548.85
Interest credited depositors	725,075.72
Expenses of institution	133,883.05
Dividends declared	400,000.00
Deposits on which interest is allowed.	24,117,944.78
Rate of interest, per cent	1 to 5

*Includes $404,502.77 life insurance and $1,032,015 annuities.

Real Estate Trust Company.

In the published statement of the Real Estate Trust Company on Saturday, the results of operations for the year were mixed. Following are the correct figures:

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Profits during the year	$288,975.19
Interest credited depositors	123,126.52
Expenses of institution	44,288.23
Dividends declared	40,000.00
Deposits on which interest is allowed.	4,325,340.00
Rate of interest, per cent	1½ to 4

State Trust Company.

RESOURCES.

Bonds and mortgages	$31,600.00
Stock investments (market value)	2,694,927.39
Amount loaned on collaterals	11,585,141.84
Amount loaned on personal securities	10,000.00
Cash on hand	40,036.91
Cash on deposit	2,639,235.53
Due from banks	1,223.50
Other assets	120,246.40
Total	$17,122,411.57

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$1,000,000.00
Surplus fund	500,000.00
Undivided profits	761,889.83
Deposits in trust and general deposits payable on demand	14,829,116.55
Other liabilities	31,405.19
Total	$17,122,411.57

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Profits during the year	$830,924.50
Interest credited depositors	227,197.57
Expenses of institution	71,687.70
Dividends declared	60,000.00
Deposits on which interest is allowed.	10,947,589.90
Rate of interest, per cent	1 to 4

Title Guarantee and Trust Company.

RESOURCES.

Bonds and mortgages	$5,316,118.69
Stock investments, (market value)	1,031,250.00
Real estate, (estimated value,) Company's building in Brooklyn	200,000.00
Cash on hand	8,242.74
Cash on deposit	456,183.51
Plant, (copy of real estate and tax record)	450,000.00
Other assets	176,912.96
Total	$7,638,707.90

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$2,500,000.00
Surplus fund	2,500,000.00
Undivided profits	376,656.93
Deposits in trust	70,812.23
General deposits payable on demand and notice	1,258,621.04
Other liabilities	932,617.70
Total	$7,638,707.90

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Profits during the year	$1,342,952.77
Interest credited depositors	39,016.17
Expenses of institution	615,980.28
Dividends declared	237,500.00
Deposits on which interest is allowed	1,946,624.10
Rate of interest, per cent	1 to 5

The Trust Company of America.

RESOURCES.

Bonds and mortgages	$22,500.00
Stock investments (market value)	5,034,238.74
Amount loaned on collaterals	5,259,200.00
Amount loaned on personal securities	243,510.75
Cash on hand	11,966.75
Cash on deposit	1,316,819.39
Other assets	86,444.15
Total	$11,974,699.78

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$2,500,000.00
Surplus fund	2,500,000.00
Undivided profits	85,605.87
General deposits payable on demand.	6,842,854.94
Other liabilities	46,239.17
Total	$11,974,699.78

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Profits during the year	$200,054.57
Interest credited depositors	76,872.21
Expenses of institution	114,839.19
Deposits on which interest is allowed	6,673,142.42
Rate of interest, per cent	2 to 4

Union Trust Company of New York.

RESOURCES.

Bonds and mortgages	$1,644,597.00
Stock investments (market value)	8,445,722.30
Amount loaned on collaterals	27,383,829.20
Real estate	1,900,000.00
Cash on hand	2,527,807.26
Cash on deposit	1,632,203.16
Other assets	911,014.26
Total	$44,445,173.20

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$1,000,000.00
Surplus fund	6,168,808.26
Deposits in trust	36,670,433.46
Other liabilities	605,931.48
Total	$44,445,173.20

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Profits during the year	$2,009,175.08
Interest credited depositors	841,757.82
Expenses of institution	222,410.71
Dividends declared	320,000.00
Deposits on which interest is allowed.	35,421,579.18
Rate of interest, per cent	1 to 4

BROOKLYN.

Brooklyn Trust Company.

RESOURCES.

Bonds and mortgages	$60,250.00
Stock investments (market value)	3,561,984.47
Amount loaned on collaterals	6,924,702.14
Amount loaned on personal securities	519,714.54
Real estate (book value)	157,761.28
Cash on hand	72,076.49
Cash on deposit	634,990.37
Overdrafts	89.71
Other assets	306,991.95
Total	$12,238,560.95

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$1,000,000.00
Undivided profits	1,097,912.93
Deposits in trust	366,026.53
General deposits payable on demand.	9,098,675.81
Other liabilities	75,945.68
Total	$12,238,560.95

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Profits during the year	$553,5[illegible].99
Interest credited depositors	231[illegible].91
Expenses of institution	[illegible],546.67
Dividends declared	[illegible],000.00
Deposits on which interest is allowed.	5,162,850.64
Rate of interest, per cent.	2 to 3½

Franklin Trust Company.

RESOURCES.

Bonds and mortgages	$447,850.00
Stock investments (market value)	3,855,374.86
Amount loaned on collaterals	2,288,941.10
Amount loaned on personal securities	564,909.34
Real estate (estimated value)	493,457.60
Cash on hand	109,492.22
Cash on deposit	1,071,428.57
Overdrafts	103.73
Other assets	70,119.59
Total	$8,901,377.01

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$1,000,000.00
Surplus fund	250,000.00
Undivided profits	1,016,211.84
Deposits in trust	194,256.26
General deposits payable on demand.	6,333,942.45
Other liabilities	86,966.46
Total	$8,901,377.01

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Profits during the year	$502,131.09
Interest credited depositors	159,914.51
Expenses of institution	77,879.20
Dividends declared	100,000.00
Deposits on which interest is allowed.	6,311,732.94
Rate of interest, per cent	1½ to 4

Hamilton Trust Company.

RESOURCES.

Bonds and mortgages	$681,624.00
Stock investments (market value)	1,635,485.50
Amount loaned on collaterals	2,687,508.00
Amount loaned on personal securities	11,700.71
Real estate	48,935.66
Cash on hand	90,221.91
Cash on deposit	585,284.13
Other assets	110,686.99
Total	$5,881,376.90

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$500,000.00
Surplus fund	500,000.00
Undivided profits	154,881.43
Deposits in trust	159,875.10
General deposits payable on demand.	4,465,136.02
Other liabilities	101,504.35
Total	$5,881,376.90

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Profits during the year	$304,735.50
Interest credited depositors	125,418.89
Expenses of institution	48,401.81
Dividends declared	40,000.00
Deposits on which interest is allowed.	4,515,011.12
Rate of interest, per cent	2 to 4

Kings County Trust Company.

RESOURCES.

Bonds and mortgages	$132,733.33
Stock investments (market value)	1,527,972.00
Amount loaned on collaterals	5,206,471.24
Amount loaned on personal securities	224,500.00
Real estate	747,342.95
Cash on hand	61,337.63
Cash on deposit	333,697.31
Other assets	72,015.12
Total	$8,306,658.69

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$500,000.00
Surplus fund	900,000.00
Undivided profits	41,548.74
Deposits in trust	169,188.16
General deposits payable on demand.	6,598,859.33
Other liabilities	97,062.46
Total	$8,306,658.69

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Profits during the year	$351,647.90
Interest credited depositors	156,831.73
Expenses of institution	62,767.03
Dividends declared	47,500.00
Deposits on which interest is allowed	6,533,859.33
Rate of interest, per cent	2 to 5

Long Island Loan and Trust Company.

RESOURCES.

Bonds and mortgages	$245,000.00
Stock investments (market value)	1,538,462.50
Amount loaned on collaterals	1,990,755.00
Amount loaned on personal securities	103,700.00
Real estate, banking property	100,000.00
Cash on hand	56,213.08
Cash on deposit	134,925.77
Other assets	132,058.84
Total	$4,001,114.69

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$300,000.00
Undivided profits	630,069.73
Deposits in trust	52,837.62
General deposits payable on demand.	2,892,245.26
Other liabilities	25,962.08
Total	$4,001,114.69

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Profits during the year	$168,884.33
Interest credited depositors	77,843.93
Expenses of institution	28,164.37
Dividends declared	42,500.00
Deposits on which interest is allowed	2,945,082.00
Rate of interest, per cent	2 to 4

Manufacturers' Trust Company.

RESOURCES.

Bonds and mortgages	$160,000.00
Stock investments (market value)	1,566,256.72
Amount loaned on collaterals	2,288,237.35
Amount loaned on personal securities	838,802.56
Cash on hand	41,192.35
Cash on deposit	752,821.49
Other assets	81,359.21
Total	$5,718,669.68

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$500,000.00
Surplus fund	500,000.00
Undivided profits	237,907.21
Deposits in trust	151,222.23
General deposits payable on demand.	4,274,880.54
Other liabilities	54,659.70
Total	$5,718,669.68

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Profits during the year	$247,025.44
Interest credited depositors	118,033.81
Expenses of institution	52,962.10
Dividends declared	50,000.00
Deposits on which interest is allowed.	4,426,102.77
Rate of interest, per cent	2 to 4

The Nassau Trust Company.

RESOURCES.

Bonds and mortgages	$441,919.67
Stock investments, (market value)	882,724.72
Amount loaned on collaterals	2,096,663.66
Amount loaned on personal securities	102,377.78
Cash on hand	18,445.69
Cash on deposit	225,787.40
Other assets	36,013.14
Total	$3,803,932.06

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$500,000.00
Undivided profits	366,198.42
Deposits in trust	2,914,964.35
Other liabilities	22,769.29
Total	$3,803,932.06

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Profits during the year	$161,566.78
Interest credited depositors	71,407.89
Expenses of institution	27,241.70
Dividends declared	30,000.00
Deposits on which interest is allowed	2,914,964.35
Rate of interest, per cent	2 to 4½

People's Trust Company of Brooklyn.

RESOURCES.

Bonds and mortgages	$846,168.21
Stock investments (market value)	3,000,232.50
Amount loaned on collaterals	5,932,796.90
Amount loaned on personal securities	896,075.37
Real estate	149,500.00
Cash on hand	154,890.82
Cash on deposit	902,354.35
Other assets	150,574.68
Total	$12,038,412.83

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$1,000,000.00
Surplus fund	1,000,000.00
Undivided profits	360,790.69
Deposits in trust	774,079.34
General deposits payable on demand.	8,657,905.19
Other liabilities	245,637.61
Total	$12,038,412.83

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Profits during the year	$512,554.87
Interest credited depositors	241,911.12
Expenses of institution	63,597.33
Dividends declared	125,000.00
Deposits on which interest is allowed	9,369,199.35
Rate of interest, per cent	2 to 4½

Williamsburg Trust Company.

RESOURCES.

Bonds and mortgages	$90,000.00
Stock investments (market value)	1,133,068.75
Amount loaned on collaterals	1,499,473.33
Amount loaned on personal securities	97,914.93
Cash on hand	49,283.21
Cash on deposit	314,687.94
Other assets	27,087.05
Total	$3,211,515.21

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$700,000.00
Surplus fund	350,000.00
Undivided profits	38,561.70
Deposits in trust	1,762.44
General deposits payable on demand.	2,113,228.19
Other liabilities	7,962.88
Total	$3,211,515.21

SUPPLEMENTARY.

Profits during the year	$73,843.24
Interest credited depositors	27,315.39
Expenses of institution	18,954.83
Deposits on which interest is allowed.	2,114,990.63
Rate of interest, per cent	2 to 4

MAY BE SENATOR FROM UTAH.

Career of Alexander H. Turbet in the Mining Business.

Alexander Hamilton Tarbet of Salt Lake City, who is talked of for United States Senator from Utah, is at the Gerard House. Though not quite forty years old, he has had a remarkable career.

When only nineteen years old Mr. Tarbet had been in the employ of the Montana Copper Company for two years. Then the ground in the Colusa Mine began to run, and four days later the property was about to be abandoned. Mr. Tarbet took up the task of holding the ground solid, succeeding in twenty-four hours. For this work he was made Superintendent of the property. He began to accumulate money and purchased the Wake-Up-Jim claim, which soon showed immense wealth. His holdings were valued at more than $1,000,000, but when he got up one morning he found that the whole property had been attached and not only had his millions vanished into thin air, but he owed practically $15,000 and had nothing with which to pay it.

But he had plenty of credit. He purchased teams and wagons and obtained some ore contracts. In two years he was out of debt and had built the Summit Valley Railroad, connecting the Parrott mine with the Parrott smelter. Since its construction, in 1884, this railway has annually paid 100 per cent. on the investment. Mr. Tarbet next successively engaged in mining operations in Montana, British Columbia, and the Coeur d'Alene district of Idaho. He recently sold one mine in Idaho for $2,000,000, and owns another for which he has refused $1,000,000.

Mr. Tarbet has settled in Salt Lake City, where he is at the head of the syndicate which bears his name. His company owns many valuable interests in Utah, Arizona, and California. He is now making his annual Winter sojourn in New York. To a reporter who asked him whether he was a candidate for the Utah Senatorship he said:

"No, I can't say I am a candidate. A number of my friends, however, persist that I shall enter the field. Of course, a seat in the highest legislative body of the Nation is an honor of which any man may well be proud. But I am not ambitious in a political sense. Still, if the people of Utah want a Democrat to represent them in the United States Senate, I will be pleased to do so."

ROBERTS MAY BE GOVERNOR.

George E. Blair of Salt Lake City, Clerk of the Utah Supreme Court, is at the Waldorf-Astoria. Referring to the case of Representative Roberts, he said that the people of Utah long ago discounted the intention of Congress to debar him from the seat to which he had been elected.

"The result will be," continued Mr. Blair, "that Mr. Roberts will be elected Governor at the next Gubernatorial election. He would be chosen United States Senator but for the fact that the people realize that he would receive the same treatment at the hands of the Senate that he has received from the House of Representatives.

Chinese Masons Installed.

The ceremony attending the installation of twenty-three Chinamen in their Masonic Lodge, which is known as the Lone We Tong Eng Ti, at their rooms on the top floor of 16 Pell Street, last night, was witnessed by Masons from this and other cities. Gong Hoar of Baltimore, Grand Master of the Chinese lodge, was the installing officer, and many other Chinese Masons were present. It was said at the lodge last night that there are over 600 Chinese Masons in this city.

The Castellanes Reach Port.

The French Line steamer La Bretagne from Havre was sighted off Fire Island at 10:20 o'clock last night. The vessel, which has among her passengers Count and Countess Boni de Castellane of Paris, will arrive at her pier about 8 o'clock this morning.

PITTSBURG RAILWAY STORIES.

Vanderbilt Interests Will Shorten Line to Chicago — New Trunk Line Is Projected.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 21.—The Commercial Gazette will say to-morrow:

"The Vanderbilt interests have a plan, practically certain of consummation, which by building about fifty miles of new road, is to provide the greatest trunk line in existence between Pittsburg and Chicago. It will be nearly a dozen miles shorter than the present shortest line, the Fort Wayne, which is 468 miles long.

"The plan is to be worked out by cutting up the Lake Erie and Western, recently acquired by the Vanderbilts, so as to form divisions of the Pittsburg and Lake Erie and the Lake Shore. Instead of the present freight route via Ashtabula, Ohio, involving what amounts to almost a right angle in its course, or via Cleveland, involving another bad angle, the use of a section of the Lake Erie and Western and the building of two connecting links with the Pittsburg and Lake Erie and the Lake Shore will provide the new trunk line, which will be almost an air line.

"The plan is to build a link from Youngstown to Akron, thus connecting the Pittsburg and Lake Erie with the Lake Erie and Western tracks to Spencer, then to build a short connecting link across to the Southern Division of the Lake Shore, use this division to Toledo, and the Lake Shore main line from this point to Chicago. The combined distances will be about 458 miles."

The Dispatch to-morrow will say:

"A new trunk line from Erie to Johnstown and linking the great lakes to Chesapeake Bay by a new route is one of the important projects outlined for development in Pennsylvania this year. The new line will become one of the standard grain and ore routes. Should New York capitalists execute plans they have been working on for years—and good authority says they are practically completed—a branch will reach Pittsburg and a new outlet to the Chesapeake and Atlantic seaboard will be given this city.

"John B. McDonald, contractor, who recently received the $35,000,000 contract for constructing the great traction tunnel in New York, is said to be one of the principal projectors of the road.

"The route of the new line will be from Erie to Cambridgeborough, to Titusville, to Tionesta, to Cooksburg, Clarion County, by bridging the Alleghany, thence to Brookville, Punxsutawney, Indiana, Blairsville, and Johnstown.

"Included in the scheme is a proposed line from Black Lick Station, near Blairsville, to Pittsburg, entering the city by way of the Pittsburg and Western; the Pittsburg Junction Road, and the Baltimore and Ohio. The line from Erie to Johnstown will be 210 miles long, and will develop one of the largest coal fields in Western Pennsylvania.

THINK CHILD TOOK DIAMONDS.

Mrs. Bowman Lost Jewels Worth $500 —Confession and Retraction.

Viola Moore, thirteen years old, a colored nurse employed by Mrs. G. A. Bowman, living at the St. Cloud Hotel, was arrested last night upon suspicion of having stolen diamonds worth $500.

Mrs. Bowman left the hotel Saturday to go to her husband's office, at 144 West Forty-second Street. She put her diamonds in a small chamois bag and hid it in her corsage. She left the nurse in her apartments to care for her baby.

When she got home she put on a wrapper and took a nap, forgetting all about the diamonds. When she arose she remembered the jewels, and, thinking they must have fallen on the floor as she undressed, she searched for them. Viola aided her, but no trace could be found of them.

When Mrs. Bowman's husband came home the nurse was examined and cross-examined, but stuck to her story that she had seen nothing of the diamonds. In the report to the police Mrs. Bowman described the missing property as one gold band ring with two one-carat diamonds, a gold ring with two diamonds and a pearl, a Tiffany ring with five diamonds, and a small solitaire diamond ring.

The child had been employed by Mrs. Briggs, who lives in the Tilden House, in Gramercy Park, and it was Mrs. Briggs who had recommended her to Mrs. Bowman. Mrs. Briggs said she knew the child to be thoroughly honest and had asked Mrs. Bowman to send the girl back if found unsatisfactory.

This request recurred to the Bowmans, and yesterday morning they took her back to her former employer. During the day Viola made some confessions to Mrs. Briggs and the police were informed.

Detectives Falkner and Sheehan got the child to admit at first that she had found the jewels, but as to what she did with them she would not tell. At the station last night, however, she denied ever having made a confession. She was sent to the Gerry society and will be arraigned this morning.

CHURCH ROW IN TRENTON.

Brother Wanted to Thrash Deacon Who Ordered His Sister Out.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 21.—There was a narrow escape from a fight at the First Baptist Church to-day, and it is expected there will be some lively sessions of the church in the near future. Miss Ida Davies whispered to a girl friend during the service.

The action was seen by James Gordon, one of the deacons, who, according to Miss Davies, went to her and said the church would be better off without her presence. She says this made her angry and she started to leave.

When she reached the lobby, she says, the deacon again addressed her in a manner which she resented, and this caused her to turn about to re-enter the church and take her place. She claims that the deacon prevented her by grabbing hold of her hair and dragging her back. Her brother rushed up and was about to administer a beating to the deacon when others interfered. The young man says he is not through with the matter and that he will have satisfaction. A lively church row is threatened, as the friends of the Davieses have taken up the matter.

LABOR AND RAPID TRANSIT.

Central Federated Union Opposes the Employment of Aliens.

At yesterday's meeting of the Central Federated Union a resolution was offered by Delegate Jacobs of the Cigarmakers opposing the employment of alien labor in the building of the rapid transit tunnel and declaring that the entire work should be done by citizens.

Delegate William J. O'Brien of the granite cutters said he and his union would watch the Italian padrones and see that they did not bring in men to do the work. Delegate William A. Perrine of the iron molders said he had visited several iron foundries in New York and found that all the castings for the rapid transit system could easily be made in this city. He said that the unions in the iron trades were preparing to fight for the enforcement of their construction of the prevailing rate of wages law.

The resolution demanding the employment exclusively of citizen labor was adopted and a committee was appointed to look after the enforcement of the demand.

INSANE MAN BREAKS AWAY.

George G. Bingham, thirty years old, a clerk, of 261 West One Hundred and First Street, became insane a week ago, and his brother, Ferdinand Bingham, took him to his home, at 843 West End Avenue, where he placed him under the care of his private physician.

The man's malady grew worse until last night, when he became so violent that it was decided to send him to Bellevue Hospital. When the ambulance arrived the insane man broke out of the house and ran screaming up West End Avenue. He was caught by his brother and a policeman after a chase of two blocks, and after a struggle was placed in the ambulance and taken to Bellevue.

Actor, Photographer and Robber.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 21.—C. G. Mordledge, alias Frank Marley, alias Martin, who claims to be both an actor and a traveling photographer, was arrested here today after giving the police a hard chase. Early this morning he had thrust two revolvers into a bartender's face in an East Twelfth Street saloon and made off with $35, the contents of the till. At the station he confessed that he was the man who last Sunday robbed two restaurants in the centre of the city and held a dozen people at bay.

Princeton Baseball Coaches.

PRINCETON, Jan. 21.—Capt. Hillebrand of the Princeton University baseball team announced to-night that Bradley, Captain of the 1897 baseball team, had been engaged to coach the team this year, and would commence his duties on May 1. The management has also engaged Catcher Clarke of the Boston National League team to coach the players in the early part of the season.

Clearance Sales. All Cars Transfer to Bloomingdales 3d Ave., 59th & 60th Sts. Clearance Sales.

That Trade Sale of Perfumeries, Patent Medicines and Toilet Articles continues at a rapid pace. The large crowds at our counters amply demonstrate the fact that our customers appreciate values. It would pay you to secure your needs now, or purchase and store away for future use.

Rubber Goods.

Remember that manufactured and crude rubber has advanced 50 per cent. We nevertheless offer hot water bottles and fountain syringes, every one warranted, at the following exceptionally low prices, each in separate box.

Hot Water Bottles.
1 Qt. 2 Qts. 3 Qts. 4 Qts.
29 39 49 59

Fountain Syringes, all hard rubber connections, 3 hard rubber pipes.
1 Qt. 2 Qts. 3 Qts. 4 Qts.
39 49 59 69

Claver's Glycerine Soap . . . 5
Kirk's Snowberry Soap, 8 oz. floating bath . . . 7
Old Glycerine Soap, Japanese Bouquet Soap, Oatmeal Soap, Old Honey Soap, Per box of 1 dozen cakes . . . 24
Oakley's Celebrated Extracts, all odors, small bottles . . . 15
French's Bay Rum, 10
Florida Water, (Ponce de Leon,) 15
Mirrors, fine French plate, bevel edge, solid oak frames, 5x7 . 31
Nail Scrubs, solid backs, 2
Dressing Combs, 7 inch, strong, hard rubber . . . 5
Magic Polishing Cloths . . . 5
Dr. Snow's Egg Shampoo . . . 10

An assortment of fine English and French pure bristle Tooth Brushes, some worth 35c. . . . 10
Chamois Skins, 9x14 inches . . . 5
Westphal's Auxiliator, large bottle . . . 50
Red Raven Splits 5
Bath Brushes, long handles . . . 19
Medicated Toilet Paper, per dozen perforated rolls . . . 23
95% Grain Alcohol, full quarts . . . 75
Full pints . . . 39
Dr Snow's Citrate of Magnesia, fresh every day . . . 10
Dr. Snow's Elixir Calasaya . . . 31
Dr. Snow's Celery Compound . . . 39

Main Floor, 59th St. Section.

You Make a Ten-Strike and No Mistake if you take immediate advantage of such an offer as this, backed by such a concern as this.

A Fashionable Suit or Overcoat made to your order for $12.00 Conceded Value $30

This is the thing we do twice a year, for 60 days, Jan. 8 to March 10—no longer—for no other purpose than to keep our tailoring plant going between seasons, with all of our men tailors employed.

Unlimited

The New York Times.

"All the News That's Fit to Print."

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.

NEW YORK, MONDAY, JAN. 22, 1900.

OFFICES:

NEW YORK:
Publication Office.....41 Park Row
All American District Telegraph Offices.
WASHINGTON.....515 Fourteenth St.
LONDON: Trafalgar Buildings, Trafalgar Sq., W.C.
SWITZERLAND, Geneva: P. Drehmann, Librairie Nouvelle, Rue du Mont Blanc.
GERMANY, Mainz: Saarbach's News Agency, Agency for Germany and Austria.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:
BY MAIL, POSTAGE PAID.

DAILY, per Month.....$0.50
DAILY, per Year.....6.00
DAILY AND SUNDAY, per Year.....7.50
SUNDAY, per Year.....1.50
SATURDAY, with Review of Books and Art, per Year.....1.00
MONDAY, with Financial Supplement, per Year.....1.00
DAILY AND SUNDAY, per Month.....0.65
For postage to foreign countries add 80 cents per month.

TEN PAGES with Financial Review and Quotation Supplement.

PROTECTION AND SUBSIDIES.

The energies of the protectionists are now being concentrated on the plan for subsidies to American-built ships. The American shipbuilding interest has enjoyed the highest degree of protection in the exclusive privilege of supplying the coastwise trade. It has had a rebate on the imported materials for its products. It has grown to a point where it can and does compete in the building of war vessels for other nations. It is not content with this. It seeks from the taxpayers large subsidies. We are not aware of a single sensible and substantial reason why the taxpayers should be compelled to pay such contributions to any class, and especially to this class, which already enjoys peculiar monopoly.

Our old friends of the American Protective Tariff League at its annual meeting on Thursday undertook to recite the claims of the shipbuilders on the purses of their fellow-citizens. The statement is so naïve that we reproduce it:

> Whereas, The scarcity of American-built vessels carrying the American flag available for use by the United States in war emergencies is an element of danger that should no longer be ignored or disregarded, and
>
> Whereas, It is not creditable to us as a Nation that we are carrying in American vessels not more than one-eighth of the total volume of American commerce; therefore
>
> Resolved, That it is the duty of Congress to heed the recommendation of President McKINLEY in his last annual message and to enact legislation that shall remedy these defects and place the American merchant marine upon the footing demanded alike by the possible exigencies of war, and the pressing requirements of our increasing export trade.

So far as war vessels are really needed for war emergencies the people of this country are perfectly willing to pay for them and to pay for building them when the proper authorities ask it. The experience of Manila and Santiago shows that we do not need to subsidize any more shipyards to secure all the vessels of this kind that we can require. So far as the country may need transports or swift liners capable of performing the indispensable work of scouting, these can be got from a merchant marine owned by Americans. There is no more necessity that they shall be American built than there is that any other war material shall come exclusively from American shops. If the American merchant had the common right to fly the American flag over his own property, bought and paid for with American money, he would promptly provide himself with all the vessels required in that trade, and there is not the slightest doubt that he would run that business as successfully as he does others in which he has a fair chance with his competitors.

As concerns the "pressing requirements of our increasing export trade," the proposition of the Protective Tariff League is not businesslike. If these are great they should be met by the prompt repeal of all laws that interfere with their satisfaction. The chief of these laws is the one that refuses an American register to an American owned vessel unless it is built in this country. If it is desirable to have our export trade under the American flag, then it is equally desirable to give Americans every possible facility to bring vessels under the flag. To deny them the right to buy vessels that shall enjoy the protection of their own flag in order to compel them to buy of American builders is a gross instance of class legislation. If instead of opening the markets of the world to Americans wishing to buy ships, the Government taxes the whole Nation to pay bounties to American shipbuilders, then the injustice is extended from the one class that may want to buy ships and are not permitted to do so to the entire people.

And this particular form of subsidy the protectionists are pressing for shipbuilders is peculiarly hard on the farmers. The bounty is paid mainly on tonnage and speed. It is intended to encourage the building of large and swift ships. But the great volume of all grain freights, the cheapness of which adds to the returns of the farmers, is carried in relatively slow and small tramp steamers and the competition of these is the chief cause of low freights. The bounties will tend to discourage this competition, and will come out of the pockets of the farmers and the workingmen. Surely we have had enough of the legislation that taxes and does not benefit these classes who are the great majority of the people. Is it worth while to extend the humbug?

MR. BRYAN'S WELCOME IN THE EAST.

The pent-up enthusiasm of the Democrats of the East for W. J. BRYAN burst its bonds in the lower house of the Maryland Legislature the other day, when the Democratic majority by vote refused to receive him, see him, or hear him talk.

When the date of the great man's arrival in this city was announced the Governors of the Manhattan Club, which has very good things to eat and drink, and is the Democratic Club of highest standing in New York, thoughtfully and most generously determined that nothing should be allowed to interfere with Mr. BRYAN'S getting the best dinner to be had in New York at any reputable tavern on tendering the price for the same.

Mr. CROKER'S Democratic Club, where Mr. BRYAN has more friends and admirers than at the Manhattan, was not to be outdone in hospitality. When one of the members announced his purpose to give Mr. BRYAN a personal and private dinner, the club magnanimously refused to interfere.

The Democratic social organizations in this city have been accustomed to entertain past, present, and future candidates for high office with victuals, drink, and adulation. Candidates for the office of President, in particular, have rarely got away from New York without a dinner or its equivalent.

Mr. BRYAN will be entertained here, but not by men whose names were ever heard of in connection with Democratic enterprises prior to that of 1896. There appears to be something the matter with BRYAN in the East.

ADVANTAGES OF THE VOTING MACHINE.

We present elsewhere in our columns a description of the perfected voting machine which is now offered for the inspection of citizens of New York, and with which the Police Commissioners are asked to equip the Bureau of Elections. When the Constitution of the State was revised in 1894 the requirement of the ballot at elections was modified for the purpose of permitting the use of such a mechanical device, provided the secrecy of voting was maintained, and in 1896 a law was passed allowing the local authorities to adopt the voting machine whenever they deemed it advisable. Since the first of these contrivances was exhibited there has been no doubt that they had great advantages, if they could be so simplified and made certain in their action as to obviate all risk of tampering with the mechanism and of interruption in their use. This point seems now to have been attained.

Of course, the Standard voting machine is a patented device, which the owners are anxious to sell to the cities and towns of the State for their own profit, and it will be greatly to their advantage if it is adopted by the City of New York; but that is no reason why it should not be regarded with favor if it answers the purpose intended as perfectly as is claimed. Apparently this particular machine is free from the defects of its predecessors, and there is no reason to expect any material improvement upon it. It has been used at two general elections in Rochester and at one in Buffalo and elsewhere in this State, and has given complete satisfaction. It will be seen from the description that the process of voting is just as secret as the preparation of the blanket ballot under the present law, and it is almost as simple as that operation. In fact, it will be less confusing to many voters, because just what is to be done is made palpable by the mechanism before the eyes. It needs no more intelligence to vote in accordance with one's wishes with this machine than to prepare the present ballot, and it is a completed performance in which no one but the voter takes part.

But a merit which no system of handling paper ballots can have is that of certainty and finality. There can be no spoiled or defective ballots, and no doubt can remain about the voter's intention. He simply votes and there it ends; and his vote is counted and recorded with a mechanical precision and certainty which no human mind can emulate. When the polls are closed the exact vote for every candidate is already registered in figures which cannot be changed and need only to be transcribed on the official blanks to make the returns complete. There is no chance of dispute over the validity of any vote cast or the accuracy of any computation, no room for disagreement as to figures. The returns of a polling place can be made up in a few minutes, and those of the largest city can be brought together in a little more than the time required for transmission to the election headquarters. This expediting of returns and prompt publication of results, for which there can be no ground for dispute, is one of the chief advantages of this method of voting. Moreover, the chance of fraud and manipulation is reduced to a minimum, if not wholly excluded.

Each machine is to cost $500, and one will be required for each polling place, making the first equipment somewhat expensive, but in the long run it will prove economical beyond doubt. The celerity with which the voting can be done will make it practicable to reduce the number of election districts, and the absence of ballots to be given out and to be received and deposited in boxes will diminish the number of officers required to conduct elections. Much of the printing and stationery now necessary can be dispensed with, and it is estimated that the saving in this city will not be less than $140,000 for each election. This would pay the cost of the machines in a few years and then become a permanent advantage of no small account.

There is certainly every reason why the Police Commissioners should give this matter serious and favorable attention. They need not rely upon the testimony of experience elsewhere or even upon the report of the State Commissioners who have already reported in favor of this machine, but should have the apparatus critically examined for themselves by the most competent experts and thoroughly tested. If then it answers the requirement as perfectly as it now seems to do there should be no further hesitation about adopting it. It would be another step in election reform, more important and beneficial than any that has preceded it, and another triumph for American inventive skill applied to the highest public purpose.

"SOCIAL OSTRACISM" AND TRUSTS.

Dr. HADLEY has made a correction and explanation of some remarks reported to have been made by him in regard to the remedy for evils connected with trusts. He says:

> The alleged quotations with regard to social ostracism grew out of a chance remark in the course of a talk before business men of Denver. Social ostracism will serve as a remedy for any public evil. It is, in fact, the only effective remedy. It applies to evils connected with trusts in the same way that it does to any other form of commercial wrong. I did not suggest the ostracism of trusts, but of the individuals who grossly abuse the powers which the existence of trusts place in their hands.

We quite agree with the standard of social relations clearly indicated in these remarks. The phrase "social ostracism" is not particularly well chosen, for it is commonly used to describe a process involving either some injustice or some unfounded conception of superiority on the part of those who ostracize. But the principle that men shall not admit to their personal and family society other men whom they regard as dishonest is entirely sound, and we suppose very few men would like to confess that they do not seek to apply it. Fairly and firmly applied, it is, as Dr. HADLEY says, "a remedy for any public evil," though we should hardly go so far as to say that it is "in fact the only effective remedy."

Obviously, however, it is a principle that is not always easy of application. There is no trouble in the cases of men who are notoriously dishonest, but, on the other hand, men of this sort rarely give occasion for its application. They do not seek the society of honorable men, would not greatly enjoy it, and have little to gain from it. The difficulty exists with those who may be very dishonest indeed, but who try to conceal the fact, and, except from the peculiarly well informed, do conceal it. Here the question is, what is the degree of knowledge that requires an honorable man, so situated as to make his decision important, to refuse association with another? Dr. HADLEY himself says that he suggests the application of the social penalty—that is what it amounts to—only to "individuals who grossly abuse the powers which the existence of trusts places in their hands." How is guilt to be established? It would be extremely interesting if he could describe the tests to be applied and still more so if he could give us, say, a score, or even a half dozen, names of persons to whom exclusion from the society of honorable men is due.

Unquestionably it is a safe rule where there is doubt as to a man's character for a gentleman to give himself and his family the benefit of the doubt, and thus avoid the risk of intimate contact with the unclean. That, we should say, is the rule that self-respecting gentlemen, rich or poor, professional men or small tradesmen, instinctively apply. But it is difficult to say just how much influence this line of conduct can have on those who "grossly abuse the powers which the existence of trusts places in their hands." The society they would be likely to seek is spelled with a capital S. It may contain a considerable percentage of self-respecting gentlemen, but it clearly contains only a small proportion of the total number, along with a good many who do not conspicuously justify that description. Its standard cannot confidently be said to be moral, and the wealth that is at least advantageous, if not necessary, to an applicant for admission is not closely scanned. If it were practicable to establish a competition for admission, in which the successful must attain, as in the civil service, a standing of 70 on a scale of 100, in the purity of the sources of their means, a good deal could be done for the restriction of abuses in the acquisition of wealth. But, then, Society would hardly remain what it is, and there would be a strong temptation for the rejected to go off and form another Society which might soon be as "brilliant" and "exclusive" as that which now exists. The whole question is pretty puzzling. Nevertheless, Dr. HADLEY'S idea of not associating with men you have reason to think dishonest is essentially sound, and though those willing to apply it may not greatly change the conduct of their fellow-men, they will preserve a comfortable self-respect.

BARNARD AND COLUMBIA.

The change in the relations of Barnard College to Columbia University, which was announced on Saturday evening by President Low, may be taken as marking the close of the experimental stage in the teaching of women by the university. It is true that there was not much of the experimental left, for no one could think that Columbia would reduce, much less abandon, its efforts in this direction. Still Barnard was not recognized as an integral part of the university, and the position of the latter was in effect and in profession that of a godmother, with rather indefinite though always kindly sense of responsibility. In the future the incorporation with the university is complete, and Barnard assumes the same relative position as the other schools and colleges. Nor is this merely a question of dignity by any means. The actual advantages conferred are considerable, especially to the graduate students; the Faculty receive their appointment directly from the university, and a place is accorded to the Dean of Barnard in the University Council. The change is another sign of the completeness with which American society accepts the principle that women are entitled to the same opportunities for education as those enjoyed by their brothers. It has taken a long while to bring this about, but it is to the credit of those engaged in the work of Barnard and Columbia that they have accomplished so much in so short a time.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

—Sensations must be extremely scarce in St. Louis, else would The Globe-Democrat of that city have refrained from attempting to manufacture one out of a yarn from a discontented sailor on the Montgomery which it has somehow gotten hold of. According to the suspiciously, the very suspiciously, long "special cablegram" from Buenos Ayres in which the man's grievances are exploited, his "connections in his native State are in the very highest circles of political celebrities," and this fact, if it is a fact, may explain why he has been allowed to accuse Commander J. P. MILLER of treating a part of his crew with systematic cruelty. By his own admission the highly connected tar is one of eighteen formerly on the Marblehead who, having been allowed shore leave at Montevideo, overstaid their allotted time and were left behind when their ship was suddenly ordered away. They were picked up later by the Montgomery, and since then their lives have been made burdens to them because of the Commander's relentless persecutions. So the man declares in the introduction to his tale, but when he comes down to details all we learn is that the Commander had called him and his companions "a disgrace to the American Navy," had stopped their shore leave, had assigned them to uncomfortable sleeping quarters, and as a culminating outrage had taken away their "ditty boxes." In other words, they have been punished for a very serious offense against discipline and do not like the resulting inconveniences! THE TIMES has often evidenced its readiness to take up the wrongs of sailors, in and out of the navy, but it remains quite calm when its attention is called to the cases of unruly fellows suffering the deserved and reasonable penalties of their acts. Moreover, Commander MILLER is known here from his work as examiner of volunteer officers during the war with Spain, and though he gave the impression of a man who would be firm in the maintenance of discipline, his disposition to be both fair and kind was equally manifest. It strikes us, therefore, that The Globe-Democrat could be in better business than that of publishing two-column "cablegrams" of anonymous complaint against a naval officer from self-convicted members of his crew.

—Women invariably resent the charge that they can discuss nothing whatever without sounding the personal note, and thus putting logic to terrified flight, but resentment doesn't alter facts, and cases in which the accusation mentioned is well founded are certainly numerous, though perhaps it is an exaggeration to call them innumerable. One of the most striking and interesting sort—and one eminently calculated, we fear, to elicit at least half a dozen angry and therefore useless retorts—is supplied by an address just issued by the Illinois Anti-Suffrage Association. That organization, as its name hints but does not make quite explicit, is vehemently opposed to the enfranchisement of women, and its address is designed to explain the grounds of the opposition. It begins in the ordinary way with delightfully calm and irrelevant remarks about the dissimilar services rendered to the State by men and women, and then breaks forth in this impassioned strain: "A man is known by the company he keeps; so is a movement, and strange, indeed, have been the political companions of woman suffrage. Leaving out of the account its early entanglement with the cause of free love, it is at present in Utah the tool of Mormonism, which has already elected a polygamist to Congress by its aid. In the Southwest it has fraternized with Populism. It is closely allied with the political fortunes of prohibition, and from first to last has been, and still is, a necessary and structural part of that form of Socialism which seeks the destruction of all existing institutions. Not one of these theories has the sanction of the American people." Far, far be it from us to reveal with which side will be our sympathies in the dreadful conflict we foresee as the inevitable result of these words. The carnage will be awful to contemplate, but—now is the time to secure good seats from which to watch it.

—Some little Englander with a troublesome memory or scrapbook has sent to The London Leader excerpts from certain speeches delivered in Johannesburg last Fall by prominent Outlanders, and he wants to know what the advocates of compulsory civilization think about them. They do make mighty queer reading, it must be confessed, and, if authentic, will stand more than a little explaining. For instance, it is said that on Nov. 14 the eminent Mr. HAYS HAMMOND delivered himself of the following remarks: "There are in South Africa millions of Kafirs, and it does seem preposterous that we are not able to obtain 70,000 or 80,000 Kafirs to work upon the mines. * * * With good government there should be an abundance of labor, and with an abundance of labor there will be no difficulty in cutting down wages, because it is preposterous to pay a Kafir the present wages. He would be quite as well satisfied—in fact, he would work longer—if you gave him half the amount. His wages are altogether disproportionate to his requirements." Another orator, RUDD by name, is indirectly quoted in the same strain: "If they could only get one-half the natives to work three months of the year it would work wonders. He was not pleading for the mines, or urging the views of capitalists, but from the point of view of progress, agriculture, public works, mines, and the general prosperity of the country. They should try some cogent form of inducement or practically compel the native, through taxation or in some other way, to contribute his quota to the good of the community, and to a certain extent he would then have to work." Perhaps the underlying meaning of this is all right, but, as already said, it makes queer reading.

—Two Massachusetts cities, Cambridge and Northampton, are seriously doubtful about the justice of exempting from taxation property used for educational purposes, and some of their most eminent citizens are protesting against it. The Mayor of Northampton thus defines the situation as it exists there: "As we now have $3,210,224 worth of property exempt from taxation by statute, we feel very strongly that something should be done toward bringing about a change in our statutes that will place at least a part of the property now exempt on the taxable list. Our City Council has authorized the appointment of a committee to confer with committees or authorities from other cities and towns interested in recommending an amendment to the Legislature." In Cambridge the discontent has taken the form of a formal request from the Legislative Committee of the City Government that the Mayor petition the Legislature for the passage of a law providing for "the assessment of a tax upon the real estate of literary, benevolent, and scientific institutions incorporated within the Commonwealth, now exempt from taxation, and for the payment of such tax out of the Treasury of the Commonwealth." The ground taken, of course, is that the presence of a great educational institution, especially in a small town, throws additional burdens upon the local taxpayers, while the unquestioned benefits of the institution are shared in equal degree by the inhabitants of a vastly larger territory. The contention is novel, but there is evidently something in it, and if the discussion continues long it is likely to have far-reaching consequences. It might possibly lead, for instance, to a claim that in fairness universities should be taxed like other corporations, and that the taxes should be paid out of the National Treasury.

—So the navy has no use for the Holland boat. Well, the officials who have reached this decision may be quite right, but to the lay observer it looks as though they were taking a good many chances. The Holland craft has stood some rather severe tests, and, as submarine vessels go, has accomplished wonderful things. Foreign Governments are spending vast sums in experiments with under-water navigation, and have produced nothing better, if as good. The time may come when we will wish in vain for the exclusive use of the invention now rejected by men traditionally set in their ideas and hostile to changes and innovations.

PERSONAL NOTES.

The late Mrs. Abby L. A. Faulkner of Jamaica Plain, Mass., bequeathed all her property for the erection of a hospital there "for the people" on the death of her husband, Dr. George Faulkner. She had purchased a site for it.

* * *

The Rev. Dr. C. R. Dieffenbacher has resigned the pastorate of the First Reformed Church, in Greensburg, Penn., after serving for twenty-two years. The church has had but four pastors for the past 117 years. One of them served fifty-nine years.

* * *

Emperor William of Germany sent a Bible to the Rev. Hugo Stubenvail, pastor of the First Lutheran Church, in Elkhorn, Wis., who had written a poem in his honor. The Bible when used in the church for the first time was received with special services.

* * *

Congressman-at-Large Samuel A. Davenport of Pennsylvania has announced that he will not be a candidate for re-election, having accomplished the main object he had in view, the securing of an appropriation for the improvement of Erie Harbor. He is now in his second term.

* * *

William Kerr of Providence, R. I., is still pursuing the trade of watchmaking at the age of eighty-two years, after sixty-six years' work at it. The Jewelers' Circular says he has invented several curious clocks, the best-known being one on which a little ball makes a zigzag journey down an inclined plane which tilts back and forth at regular intervals. In 1879 he made a large working model of the Strasburg Cathedral clock.

* * *

C. P. Huntington has subscribed to a fund for a library in Oakland, Cal., and The San Francisco Call is in a quandary whether he holds some strictly original opinions in regard to the educational value of free libraries or his fears of overeducation have been dispelled.

* * *

Gen. John M. Palmer of Illinois is said to be arranging his abundant materials for a book of political recollections. The venerable ex-Senator has had much to do with the politics of the country for sixty years past, and has been actively a participant in them as a member of several parties.

* * *

The St. Albans (Vt.) Messenger attributes to Senator Redfield Proctor of its State the framing of the opening sentence in the financial plank of the Republican National platform of 1896, declaring that "the Republican Party is unreservedly for sound money," and it says that to him also is due the credit of the elimination of the words "sixteen to one," which were in the original draft of the plank as submitted by Mr. Kohlsaat.

THE BOER WAR CONTROVERSY.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Mr. Shearman's excellent letter in your issue of the 17th inst. upon the merits of the controversy between the Transvaal and Great Britain, which has issued in the present war, does not mention one point of considerable importance in itself, but still more as illustrative of the Boers' ideas of justice.

When the population now known as the Uitlanders were encouraged by the Boer Government to enter the Transvaal and to develop the gold fields, the period for naturalization, fixed by the law of 1882, was five years; but before the time came that the new-comers could avail themselves of this right the law was, in 1890, changed, the period being extended to fourteen years, with further restrictions of method which made the franchise still more illusory. Whether this was strictly ex post facto legislation I am not lawyer enough to know, but it is clearly a violation of fair dealing and is wholly characteristic.

May I suggest to our citizens generally, and to the Boer sympathizers especially, the inadvisability of public meetings on this question. There are very many among us, myself certainly one, who feel as strongly in favor of Great Britain as others do of her opponents. Let us all be careful not to provoke one another by immoderate expressions of opinion, to which public meetings tend. Those [illegible] one side provoke retaliation on the [illegible]r, nay, they may make it necessary, for, in the problems of the near future good understanding with Great Britain is too important for us to permit the impression that we are all against her here, and we may find ourselves in the unseemly state of party divisions for and against foreign States, as in the beginning of this century between the French and British parties. I avail myself of this opportunity to say that, in my judgment, not only is the cause of Great Britain just, but to have failed to uphold it would have been to fail in national honor.

A. T. MAHAN.

New York, Jan. 20, 1900.

NUGGETS.

In a Pet.

Mary—Sure, an' he went off in a pet.
Caroline—Who did?
Mary—The mouse. Our terrier ate him.—Harlem Life.

True to His Ideal.

Hicks—Funny about Pincherly. He says he believes in treating all men alike.
Wicks—That's right. He never treats anybody.—Boston Transcript.

Never Lonely.

"How I envy an egotist!"
"Why?"
"He always has an air of being such good company for himself."—Detroit Free Press.

Superstitious.

Mistress—Bridget, are you superstitious?
Bridget—Well, Mum, Oi t'ink it's unlucky to break a lookin' glass. Oi broke de parlor mirror in de lasht place Oi lived in, an' lost me job.—Philadelphia Record.

The Responsibility.

Mr. Grumps—The Ladies' Journal says a woman should make herself as attractive to her husband after marriage as she did before.
Mrs. Grumps—Huh! My father always gave me plenty of money to make myself attractive with. You don't.—New York Weekly.

EARTHLY APPEARANCES.

S. E. Kiser in Chicago Times-Herald.

The widest river may not be
The best to navigate;
The fairest words may be the ones
That hide the deepest hate.

The loudest laugh may only serve
To keep away a sob;
The sweetest kernels do not grow
Upon the longest cob.

The keenest edge may not be found
Upon the longest blade;
The sweetest songster may not sing
Within the fairest glade.

The widest seat is not the one
Where mightiest men have sat;
Sometimes the greatest mind is not
Beneath the biggest hat.

TREACHERY IN NEGROS ISLAND.

Officials Elected in November Led the Revolt of Last Month—Eleven Are Arrested.

MANILA, Jan. 21.—Mail advices from Negros bring particulars of the uprising last month in the southern part of the island, in which Lieut. Ledyard, Sixth Infantry, was killed. Instead of being an unimportant revolt of native police, as was at first reported, it appears to have been an attempt to overthrow American authority. The movement was started by the chief officials of the Autonomous Government—the men who were elected and inaugurated with so much ceremony last November.

Eleven of these officials, including the President and several Councilors, were lodged in jail on the charge of plotting treason. Several secured their release under heavy bonds, but others remain in prison.

Gen. Smith found evidence that the revolting police were following the orders of the Autonomous Government, which designed to use the forces under its control to overpower the Americans. The plot failed through being started prematurely, but Negros was in a state of uneasiness for a week. Two companies of the Twenty-sixth Infantry were hurried from Iloilo to reinforce the garrison at Bacolod.

The officials arrested include some of the most prominent men in Negros. It is believed that they will be expelled from the island.

The escort of fifty men of Company C, Thirtieth Infantry, Lieut. Ralston commanding, which was ambushed near Lipa, as already cabled, consisted of fifty convalescents from the hospital, who were going to rejoin the regiment. The insurgents hid in the bushes along the road and opened fire upon the pack train from three sides.

The Americans, in addition to their casualties, were compelled to abandon the train, which consisted of twenty-two horses. The latter, with their packs, all fell into the hands of the insurgents, who pursued the retreating escort for three miles along the road until the Americans were reinforced.

AMERICAN TROOPS CENSURED

Returned Volunteers on Their Conduct—Praise for the Filipinos.

At the monthly meeting of the Young People's Association held last night in the chapel of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church in West Fifty-fifth Street, addresses were made by Lieut. E. W. Hearne of the Fifty-first Iowa Volunteers, lately returned from Manila, and W. B. Miller, who has charge of the army and navy work of the Young Men's Christian Association. Lieut. Hearne told of the temptations of the soldier, and illustrated the evils that follow enforced idleness and the inactivity of garrison duty. He said among other things:

"The Filipinos, while pagans and semi-civilized, are moral and sober. They first learn of Christianity from the profane sailor, and when they see immense numbers of drunken, profane, and immoral soldiers representing this country they have little respect for religion they profess. 'If that is your religion, they say, 'we prefer our own.'

"The soldier, when associated with others, loses his identity. Then his savage and lower nature displays itself. This is particularly true of the soldier in the Philippines, idle under a tropical sun. He loses all his religion. It is our duty to first send out Christian soldiers if we expect to make any sort of impression on the people there."

Lieut. Hearne impressed his hearers with the necessity of some action to prevent the degradation of the soldiers and sailors. He spoke of the establishment of a headquarters of the Young Men's Christian Association in Manila, and said that when he left there only a small number had allied themselves with it. "What is five or seven out of a great army present in that tropical land?" he said. "We must give something to the soldier that will amuse him and draw him away from the vices that allure him." Lieut. Hearne spoke of his purpose to return to Manila and aid in the work.

Mr. Miller spoke of the work of the Young Men's Christian Association during the Spanish war and in the camps. In speaking of the campaign in the Philippines, Mr. Miller said:

"So great was the effect of the drunkenness and irreverence of the American soldier in the Philippines that one man, writing to me from Manila, said that two missionaries gave up their work among the natives and went to work on the army. They realized the uselessness of their work when there was an immoral and drunken army representing this country on hand. One drunken soldier can do more evil than two missionaries can undo. The sending of whisky and questionable things to Manila is not a badge of honor for this country."

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Duncan will give a reception to the Rev. Dr. George T. Purves, the new pastor of the church, at their home, 9 East Sixty-fourth Street, to-night, to which the members of the Young People's Association are invited.

CONDITION OF CUBAN PRISONS.

Women's Jail a "Den of Filth and Iniquity"—Leper Hospital a "Filthy Hog Pen."

HAVANA, Jan. 21.—Major Runcie, who has been at work for some time investigating the circumstances surrounding the detention in prison of persons charged with various offenses, to many of whom no trial has been granted, is engaged in preparing a report of a visit he recently paid to the women's prison. This institution he describes as "a den of filth and iniquity." He did not find a cot, a blanket, or a female attendant in the prison, where several hundred women are confined. The sanitary conditions are almost indescribable.

The Major says he cannot understand how such a place could have been tolerated in a so-called civilized community. His examination reveals a state of affairs worse than anything yet written regarding Spanish mismanagement.

What Major Runcie has already made known seems to astonish the Cuban officials. They assert that Señor Lanuza is principally to blame, as, in his position as Secretary of Justice in Gen. Brooke's Cabinet, he ought to have discovered the existence of these committies.

Gen. Wood describes the leper hospital, which he recently visited, as a "filthy hog-pen."

The commission which has been investigating the records of prisoners confined in the Carcol has nearly completed its labors. Next week it will begin the investigation of cases in the Presidio. The prisoners are awaiting the result with great eagerness, as all expect some improvement in the conditions of confinement. The Governor General's decree of pardon has thus far been applied to 318 persons.

Cuban Industrial Relief.

HAVANA, Jan. 21.—W. W. Howard, general manager of the Cuban Industrial Relief Fund, reports that the first Winter crops on the relief farms at Ceiba and Mocha are being marketed at Matanzas, bringing good prices. Sweet potatoes, beans, peas, and fodder corn are being sold. Irish potatoes, which have benefited greatly by the recent rains, will be ready next month, Mr. Howard expects.

VESTRY ASKS 4 PER CENT.

Says Too Few Contribute in Church of the Redeemer.

The Wardens and Vestrymen of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Redeemer, on West One Hundred and Thirty-sixth Street, near Lenox Avenue, have issued an appeal to the members of the congregation to be more liberal in their donations to the parish.

"At the present time," the address says, "the income is not sufficient to carry on the work as it should be carried on. There are a very small number of persons who are contributing the major part of the total income. Ten persons give about one-third of this total.

"There is room in the church for those who are too poor to pay anything, and all are welcome, rich or poor, but the Vestry does not think that those who have a comfortable and assured income should shift the burden they ought to bear.

"The Vestry believes that in general a church is entitled to at least 4 per cent. of every man's expenditures, and hopes that every member of the parish will consider this matter fairly."

Nicaragua Canal Arbitration.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 21. — The Nicaraguan Government will appoint Senhors José D. Rodriguez and Bruno Buitrago as arbitrators for Nicaragua in adjusting the differences with the Maritime Canal Company. It is understood that the Government will object to United States Minister Merry and Rudolph Weiser, the company's agent, as representatives of the company in the arbitration.

THE RUSH FOR CAPE NOME

Thousands Booked for Early Passage to the Gold Field.

THE COST OF LIVING THERE

Butter Quoted at $1 a Pound, Tomatoes $3 a Can—$200 Will Rent a Small House.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. — Abraham E. Smith, United States Consul at Victoria, B. C., in a report to the State Department, predicts a great rush to the Cape Nome gold field in Alaska this Spring. He says that the transportation companies there and at the United States ports on Puget Sound are all engaged in preparing steamers for the trip. The distance from Victoria to Cape Nome is 2,500 miles, entirely by water, and the transportation agencies have already booked all the passengers that can be carried on the first trips on all the vessels that can be obtained for the service. At a recent meeting of representatives of the company it was computed that 25,000 persons desired to go to Cape Nome as soon as possible. The earliest date at which any of the steamers is advertised to leave is May 1. The prevailing fare from Seattle or Victoria to Cape Nome is $100 for first-class and $80 for second-class passage. The rate for the transportation of freight is $40 a ton.

"The reports that had been circulated last season in regard to the gold discoveries at Cape Nome were quite generally disputed here," writes the Consul, "the opinion being that the Atlin and Klondike countries were more promising and also easier of access. But the last two steamers from the North effectually dispelled all uncertainties, the passengers bringing with them indisputable evidence that all along the beach in the vicinity of Cape Nome gold in paying quantities can be had for the digging.

"A number of these men have called at the Consulate, exhibiting specimens of the gold, saying they dug it on the beach near the water's edge; that men with only hand shovels and the simplest and rudest of pans cleared from $50 to $100 and even $300 per day, while sometimes a clean-up of from $1,000 to $1,500 has been reported. Nuggets worth from $200 to $400 were found near Anvil Creek, and it is believed $300,000 to $400,000 was taken out of Snow Gulch last Summer; one man, it is said, took out $150,000, while another claims still more."

Consul Smith says that complaint was made by some of the returning miners that claims of twenty acres each, embracing the entire shore from Cape Nome to Cape York, forty miles distant, had been staked. This situation has been changed by the decision of Commissioner Hermann of the General Land Office, which is understood to mean that lands below ordinary high tide cannot be disposed of to individuals or corporations and that the right to dig in these tide lands and to wash gold out of the sand between high and low water is as free as the right to fish in the adjacent waters.

Consul Smith reports that there are now between 5,000 and 6,000 people at Nome City, Anvil City, Cape York, Port Clarence, and other places in the vicinity, housed in buildings of the most temporary character. There are two newspapers printed in the district, from which he extracts the market quotations current last Fall. Beef and butter went $1 a pound, flour $50 a hundred, wood from $35 to $50 a cord, tomatoes $3 a can, coal $75 a ton, and lumber $250 a thousand feet. Restaurant prices were on the same scale. The charge for a steak was from $1.50 to $3. For an order of ham and eggs or three eggs one had to pay $2. For $1.50 the hungry miner could regale himself with pork chops, mutton chops, boiled mackerel, a hamburger steak or an oyster stew. If he desired to spend only $1 he could have a choice of corned beef hash, pickled pigs' feet, a box of sardines, a Welsh rabbit, or a cup of coffee with bread and butter.

The rent of an eight-room house at Cape Nome is $200 a month, but the price of labor is in proportion to the cost of living. Longshoremen receive $2 an hour and carpenters $1.50. The ruling price for a shave is $1 and for a hair cut $1.50. A bath costs $2. Fifty cents is charged for laundering a flannel shirt, 75 cents for washing a colored linen shirt, and $1 for rehabilitation of the rare and luxurious garment known as the white shirt. Cigars and drinks cost 50 cents each.

Will Make Furniture at Cape Nome.

Special to The New York Times.

KOKOMO, Ind., Jan. 21.—Elwood Madden, E. F. Murden, A. P. Murden, and Omar Maris will leave here the last of the week for Cape Nome, Alaska, with several carloads of machinery for use in that district. The Murdens will establish the first planing mill in that territory, and will operate a sawmill with a furniture factory in connection. They expect to make a fortune.

REPARTEE IN THE SENATE.

Remarks Exchanged by Senator Spooner and Senator Allen in Debate on Transvaal Resolution.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Personal colloquies involving the exchange of repartee are by no means as common in the Senate as in the House, where they are of daily and almost hourly occurrence, but they do occur now and then. Noteworthy was the battle of words between Senators Allen and Spooner on Friday. The question was on Mr. Spooner's amendment to the resolution calling for information about the South African war. Mr. Spooner was objecting to the divulging of communications sent by foreign Governments when Mr. Allen broke in and said that no communications were called for in the original resolution.

"I don't know what a protest against the contemplated action of the United States would be unless it were a communication," said Mr. Spooner. "Does the Senator know?"

"I was not observing the Senator's question," said Mr. Allen, nonchalantly. "If he will state it again I will tell him."

Mr. Spooner looked annoyed, and replied, in a tone of gentle rebuke: "The Senator ought not to criticise my observations if he does not understand them."

"I do understand you when I listen to you," explained Mr. Allen, "but I regret to say that I do not always listen to you."

"Then you lose something," retorted Mr. Spooner.

"I know I do," humbly replied Mr. Allen, "but I have been missing these crumbs of wisdom all my life. I wish I could get in shape to listen to the Senator every day."

Mr. Spooner did not seem at all mollified by this tribute. He said, in a voice of heartfelt regret: "I am obliged to listen to the Senator from Nebraska almost every day."

"I know the Senator from Wisconsin does not like my speaking out my sentiments."

"I do like your speaking out," replied Mr. Spooner, "but I don't like your sentiments."

"I don't like yours," said Mr. Allen, sharply. "I am not sent here by the class of people who sent the Senator from Wisconsin here."

"The Senator once lived in Wisconsin," retorted Mr. Spooner.

"If the Senator will permit me—" began Mr. Allen.

"I did permit you," interrupted Mr. Spooner. "You reflected upon the class of people who sent me here. I did not reflect upon the class of people who sent the Senator here."

"And I did not reflect upon the class of people who sent the Senator from Wisconsin here," said Mr. Allen.

"But I will say one thing," went on Mr. Spooner, "and that is, with the Senator's views upon public questions, the class of people who sent me here never would send him here."

"With all due deference to the Senator from Wisconsin," said Mr. Allen, "and to the great people of the great State he represents, that is the highest compliment he could pay me."

Here the exchange of shafts ended, and Mr. Allen began a speech on Populism, prefacing it with a confession that he had "not always dwelt in the high and pure intellectual atmosphere the Senator from Wisconsin has dwelt in from boyhood up."

Marble Collegiate Church Service.

A. C. Dixon and L. G. Broughton will preach to-day at 3:30 P. M. in Marble Collegiate Church, Fifth Avenue and Twenty-ninth Street.

HOTELS IN PARIS DESERTED

English Visitors Scarce on Account of South African War.

A SUCCESSOR TO DEROULEDE

Another Attempt to Introduce Bull-fighting—Opening of the Chamber of Deputies.

Foreign Correspondence NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Jan. 12.—The Paris season has opened in a very depressing way. Not for a decade at least has the city been so empty, and both rich Parisians and the usual stock of visitors who live here at this time of the year are seeking their pleasure and comfort elsewhere. Not long ago one of the greatest manufacturers in France, a man whose name is known all the world over, explained his intention to give up residing altogether in the magnificent palace which he owns here, to live an exclusively pastoral life. His reasons were worth noting. Fond of horses, and one of the largest breeders in France, he complained that with the existing regulations it was impossible to drive a carriage and pair with safety through the Paris streets. There was the bicycle fiend, and the motor-car fiend, and the ever-increasing complication of tram lines which made driving valuable horses out of the question. As a rich man, moreover, the minor courts thought it necessary to adjudge him always in the wrong whenever an accident happened. During last year he had lost several very valuable horses through street accidents which were not the fault of his coachman, but he could obtain no redress.

Quite recently the Municipal Council authorized an additional system of tramway lines to be constructed in the centre of the Avenue des Champs Elysées. This will ruin the most fashionable drive in Paris; but everything is being sacrificed to the democratic spirit. The particular millionaire referred to above, who owns an island on the coast of Canada, talks of ultimately retiring there altogether, with a few faithful friends who are as much disgusted as himself with the present state of affairs in Paris. In the meanwhile trade is at a low ebb, and the hotels are deserted. The proprietor of the Hotel Brighton said a couple of days ago that he had not a single patron. The Grand Hotel has closed one of its wings, and the other hotels are in a similar condition. The Transvaal war is largely responsible for this. In spite of what the papers say, it is the British visitor who keeps the pot boiling in Paris. The Englishman as a rule does not allow his patriotism to interfere with his pleasure, and I doubt whether the caricatures and insults directed against the Queen, though they have offended a good many persons, are really the cause of the great falling off of visitors. It is a curious fact that although we are within two months of the exposition, the popularity of Paris as a place of resort was never at a lower ebb.

FRENCH MINSTRY WILL REMAIN.

There is little doubt now that the Ministry will survive the exposition. It is their clear intention to do so, and they will take care that no awkward situations arise, so far as they can help it, to prevent them. Owing to the frequent expression by Sir Charles Dilke of the opinion that the Newfoundland question threatened the peace of Europe and might precipitate Great Britain and France into a war of extermination, some little excitement is being caused by the fact that the modus vivendi with respect to the Newfoundland fisheries has now come to an end, but best, however, on the highest authority, that the conclusion of a second modus vivendi, to last twelve months, is quite certain. The French Government is as much out of touch from popular French opinion regarding Great Britain, as the German Emperor and the German press are with one another. Both the Minister of War, Gen. de Galliffet, and the Minister of Marine, M. Lanessan, are Anglophile to the bone, and their colleagues are in complete sympathy.

By the condemnation and exile of Paul Déroulède, the seat in the Chamber of Deputies for the Department of the Charente has been left vacant. Three persons were at once suggested as possible candidates—Jules Lemaitre, the well-known critic and member of the French Academy; M. Barillier, a friend of Déroulède's, and François Coppée. The first, after a hesitation of twenty-four hours, has wisely decided to remain a man of letters. The second has retired on a word from Déroulède, and Francois Coppée now alone in the field—the unique representative of the Nationalist Party. His return will, in all probability, be unopposed.

COPPEE'S PROGRAMME VAGUE.

Coppée's programme is vague, and may be summed up in the one word, patriotism. In the manifesto he has caused to be circulated among his constituents, he speaks of uniting in one great bond of sympathy all Frenchmen who dream of a definite republic—a republic purged of the shame and scandal of Panama, of Anarchists' plots, of the Dreyfus affair, of the tragedy of Fashoda, and the treacheries of the High Court. In vehement language he denounces the present Government, whose internal policy has been, he says, disastrous and tyrannical, and whose attitude toward the foreigner has been groveling. Strong and many are his epithets against Free Masonry, and he deals with Cosmopolitans as he would with the enemies of truth and honesty. It will be seen that Coppée's scheme is practically identical with that of Déroulède, the latter being also anti-Dreyfusard and anti-international. Each regards revolution as a good and healthy means of purging France. It is the desire of each that the election for the office of President of the French Republic should be brought about by universal suffrage rather than by the combined votes of the two chambers, as is the law at present. Each regards the existing political machinery as false and the great army of functionaries which exists between the people and the executive as a barrier which at all costs must be destroyed. At the same time, Coppée lays it down definitely that he does not dream of restoring a monarchy. In his opinion, Orleanism is most unpopular in France, and a régime such as that which the Duke d'Orleans is anxious to establish would be harmful to the interests of the nation.

It will be readily understood that opinions and a programme such as the above would be far more likely to envenom than appease party hatreds, if Coppée were at any time to be taken seriously. But an appeal to patriotism only has so often proved a failure that Coppée's excursion into politics may be viewed with equanimity. Patriotism alone is not and can not be a political programme, and whatever attempts may be made to include Republicans, Nationalists, and Royalists under one banner on that ground alone are sure to fall to the ground. Coppée is, however, both sincere and honest. He seems seriously to believe that the army and France are being attacked, that they are in danger, and that they demand his aid and protection. He is being warmly backed up by the League de la Patrie Française and by Déroulède's organ, Le Drapeau.

If we look back to a period of thirty or forty years ago we find a very different Coppée to the Coppée who, in emulating the political aspirations of Victor Hugo and Lamartine, appears to be courting a no less certain fall than theirs. Coppée was then one of the ornaments of the early Parnassians. His friends and brothers in art were Paul Verlaine, Catulle Mendès, Leon Dierx, and José-Maria de Heredia. The great philosopher of the school, Xavier de Ricard, maintained that impassibility was the watchword of art and that all great art should be chaste. The Rue Rousselet, where Coppée lived with his mother, was the rendezvous of the friends. It was there that he wrote "Le Passant," "Les Humbles," and "Henriette." The style of these works—so clear, so limpid, so full of charming ease—seems utterly at variance with the agitating manifesto alluded to above. Between Coppée the poet and Coppée the politician there is a gulf which it is difficult to bridge.

CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES' MEETING.

On Tuesday last the Chamber of Deputies sat for the first time this year, and at once proceeded to elect its President. The occasion is one which never fails to afford considerable gratification as well to the oldest as the youngest among the members. By a rule of the Chamber it is provided that on the day of the President's election—an office tenable for one year—the oldest Deputy present shall take the chair, and be escorted thither and assisted there by the six youngest members of the House, accompanied, therefore, by these six young men, the veteran member has to traverse the Salle des Pas Perdus, down long lines of soldiers, while drums are beaten and arms presented. The young Deputies assist him to the Presidential chair and proceed themselves to superintend the voting. The respective duties of these seven persons only come to an end when, the votes having been counted, the name of the newly elected President is announced from the tribune. On this occasion M. Paul Dechanel confirmed the hopes of his party, being elected by the substantial majority of eighty-eight. At the same period last year his majority was only ten.

The French Academy will soon elect two more "immortels," but the candidates are not very numerous, and certainly cannot be looked upon as men of great talent. For the late M. Pailleron's fauteuil, only two candidates are being brought forward—M. Paul Hervieu and M. Etienne Lami, and the former is almost certain of being elected. But for the Cherbuliez fauteuil the result of the election is far from being certain—in fact there will be no result probably. At first there were only two candidates, MM. Bazin and Faguet, and the chances of M. Faguet, the nominee of the Nationalists, were very good, but a rival has made his appearance in the person of M. Porto Riche, who has upset all these little schemes. M. Porto Riche has always had ten votes, and is certain of getting them again, so that there may be no majority for any one.

MORE BULL FIGHTING.

In spite of their failure at Enghien and the judgment recently rendered against them by the Court of Cassation, the amateurs of bull fighting in France do not seem to despair of introducing these spectacles into Paris. The arena of Enghien, it will be remembered, was closed soon after the first disastrous corrida, which took place last October, when the first bull introduced into the arena jumped over the balustrade and injured many people. And now it is announced that the Spanish matador, Mazzantini, has obtained permission from the Municipal Council of Montmorency to build another arena and give performances during the coming exposition. But this second attempt is not likely to prove more successful than the other one. Moreover, the French law does not allow Spanish bull fights, and the Government will close this arena as it did the one at Enghien, if the law is broken.

The execution in England of Louise Masset, the French teacher, for the murder of her child, has been the subject of much comment in the French press. Some papers went so far as to say that the Queen had refused to pardon the murderess in order to revenge herself for the caricatures which have appeared in some of the French comic papers, while the Eclair absolutely refuses to believe that she confessed her guilt before the execution, and even hints that this statement was in all probability invented by the prison authorities. Louise Masset was the first Frenchwoman to be executed abroad for a considerable number of years, and her case caused quite a sensation in France. A petition to the Queen had been gotten up by the Fronde, the woman's paper, and signed by nearly all the French teachers, and some French papers sent special correspondents to London to be present at the hanging—a very rare thing for them to do.

R. S.

AUTHOR OF LORNA DOONE DEAD

Richard D. Blackmore, Poet, Novelist, and Market Gardener Expired in England Yesterday.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—Richard Doddridge Blackmore, the novelist, died to-day.

Mr. Blackmore was born in 1825, at Longworth, a pretty village in the Berkshire Hills. His father was the Rev. John Blackmore. On his mother's side he was descended from the once celebrated Dr. Doddridge. He was educated at Tiverton School and at Exeter College, Oxford, from which he was graduated in 1847, taking a second in classics. His expenses at the university were mainly defrayed by a scholarship, which he obtained on leaving school. After leaving Oxford he ate the required number of dinners at the Middle Temple, and was called to the bar in 1852. For a time after this he practiced as a conveyancer, but his affections were elsewhere. He wanted either to be a writer or a farmer, and it is a little remarkable that in later years he was the only well known novelist on record who combined these two avocations with success.

Blackmore had begun to write novels before he left the university, with the usual experience—when he tried to sell them—of young and unknown authors. His first published book was, however, a volume of poems, issued in London in 1854, under the title of "Poems by Melanter." This is now a bibliographical rarity of the first water, as is its successor "Epullia and Other Poems." London, 1855, which was issued anonymously. Neither of these two volumes set the Thames on fire, and gravitated with what the author must have regarded as almost improper speed to the fourpenny stands. He was not, however, discouraged, even upon the length of publishing another volume of poems in 1855, under the title of "The Bugle of the Black Sea." The Crimean war served to sell a certain number of copies of this, which was also issued anonymously, but "The Fate of Franklin," (London, 1860,) met the fate of the earlier poems.

"Clara Vaughan," published in 1864 at London and Cambridge, was Mr. Blackmore's first novel. It met with a certain measure of success. The author's great work, "Lorna Doone," was published in three volumes in 1869. It was well reviewed by almost all the literary journals, but another example of the inexplicable mystery that attends popular successes, did not meet with any large sale till half a dozen years later. Then it became known and talked about all over Great Britain and America, and by 1879 twelve large editions had been exhausted. New editions have been continually called for since then. The Saturday Review said of "Lorna Doone" on the book's first publication:

"In the mingled flood of absolute evil and negative merit it is rare to light upon a book of positive value, tender and yet strong, warm but kept wholesome and pure, stirring and not sensational. We have such a book in 'Lorna Doone,' which is of real excellence, and of a class not common among us."

"Alice Lorraine," published in 1875, while it has not attained the popularity of "Lorna Doone," is regarded by some of the admirers of Mr. Blackmore's work as superior to the more famous novel. "Cripps the Carrier," published in 1876, is a country tale pure and simple, though some of its scenes are laid in the City of Oxford. Other novels by Mr. Blackmore are "Erema, or My Father's Sin," (1877;) "Mary Anerley," 1880; "Springhaven," "Kit and Kitty," and "Perlycross," "Dariel," his last important work, was published two years ago. He published a translation of the Georgics of Virgil in 1871.

The novelist divided his time, during the last fifteen years of his life, between writing and market gardening. The latter industry he conducted on a large and successful scale, and in the autumn of 1894 contributed a series of letters to The London Times on the subject of fruit cultivation.

Spain to Refund Colonial Debt.

MADRID, Jan. 21.—The Minister of Finance has introduced in the Chamber of Deputies a bill authorizing the conversion at par into 4 per cent. perpetual stock of the Cuban 6 per cent. mortgage issue of 1886, the Cuban 5 per cent. bonds of 1890, and the Philippines 4 per cent. exterior debt.

The Paris Taken to Belfast.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The steamer Paris, which has been at Milford Haven making temporary repairs to the damages received while she was asnore on the Manacles, was towed from that place to-day for Belfast.

Osman Digna in Prison.

SUAKIM, Jan. 21.—Osman Digna, principal general of the late Khalifa Abdullah, who was captured last Thursday in the hills near Tokar, was brought here to-day and imprisoned.

Ruskin to be Buried Thursday.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The body of John Ruskin, in accordance with a wish he expressed years ago, will be interred in Coniston Churchyard. The funeral will take place on Thursday.

Society of Colonial Wars Dinner.

The Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New York will hold its eighth annual banquet at Delmonico's on Tuesday evening, Jan. 30, this being the two hundred and eighty-sixth anniversary of the founding of New Amsterdam. The dinner will be under the management of Frederic J. de Peyster, Governor of the society; Howland Pell, and the Stewards, Col. Henry S. Clark, Dr. Sydney H. Carney, Jr., Philip Rhinelander, Philip Livingston, Frank B. Keech, and William E. Harriman. The speakers will be Frederic J. de Peyster, William E. Dodge, the Rev. Dr. Donald Sage Mackay, J. Austen Fox, Capt. F. E. Chadwick, Howard R. Bayne, and Col. William Cary Sanger.

DEATH CLAIMS DUKE OF TECK.

Member of the Royal Family of Great Britain Dies at His Home in Surrey.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The Daily Mail announces the death of his Highness Francis Paul Louis Alexander, Duke of Teck, today, in his sixty-third year, at his home, White Lodge, Richmond Park, Surrey.

Francis Paul Louis Alexander, the Duke of Teck, was the only son of Duke Alexander of Würtemberg and the Countess Hohenstein. The matrimonial alliance of his mother was by German law considered morganatic, and his was simply the title of Count Hohenstein until the King of Würtemberg in 1863 made him a Prince.

He was a Lieutenant in the Austrian First Lancers in 1854, and two years later was transferred to the Guard Squadron. Soon after he was promoted to a Captaincy in the Seventh Hussars, and served under Field Marshal Count Wimpfen in the Austro-Italian campaign of 1859. He was mentioned in dispatches for gallantry on the field, receiving the gold medal for distinguished service at Solferino and the bronze war medal. He resigned after the campaign in 1866.

Subsequently he served in the British Army. He was attached to Sir Garnet Wolseley's staff, and served under him in the Egyptian campaign in 1882. He received the silver medal for gallantry on the field at Tel-el-Kebir, the bronze star of the Khedive, and the grand cross of the Osmanjieh. After his return from the Egyptian campaign he received the rank of Colonel, unattached, and in 1892 was promoted to the rank of Major General.

The Duke was President of the Royal Botanical Society of London, Honorary Colonel of two British volunteer regiments, a prominent member of many of the London clubs, and the owner of many objects of art and interest. He was married to her Royal Highness Mary Adelaide of Cambridge, a cousin of Queen Victoria, and Princess of Great Britain and Ireland, in 1866. The Duchess of Teck died on Oct. 27, 1897.

Their only daughter, the Princess Victoria Mary, was married on July 6, 1893, to the Duke of York, second son of the Prince of Wales. Prince Adolphus, the second child, was born on Aug. 13, 1868. He was married to Lady Margaret Grosvenor, daughter of the Duke of Westminster, on Dec. 12, 1894. Prince Francis Joseph was born on Jan. 9, 1870, and Prince Alexander, the youngest child, on April 14, 1874.

CORONATION FETE IN BERLIN.

Princes and Ambassadors Join in the Festivities.

BERLIN, Jan. 21.—The coronation fête today was the usual impressive spectacle. The attendance included all the Prussian Princes and a score or more from the other German States.

Empress Augusta Victoria wore a fur-trimmed, yellow silk robe, with a crimson train, carried by pages, and a diamond diadem. She personally conferred the Louise orders on a score of women, who subsequently joined in the festivities.

Among the invited diplomats were the Russian, French, Italian, Spanish, Turkish, and Austro-Hungarian Ambassadors.

Fewer decorations were conferred than was the case a year ago, and the fact that the number of high decorations conferred was so small has caused considerable comment.

DEFEAT FOR GEN. MERCIER.

Former Polytechnique Students Elect His Opponent President.

PARIS, Jan. 21.—Gen. Mercier received an unexpected rebuff yesterday when the old students of the Ecole Polyteehnique, which furnishes a majority of the artillery and engineer officers to the army, met in the school theatre to elect a President. Amid great excitement the ballot was taken, the result showing only 200 votes for Gen. Mercier against 1,000 for his adversary. Uproar and a free fight followed; Gen. Mercier's partisans declaring that the ballot had been falsified. Tables and chairs were overturned, and Gen. Boisonnet, who presided, was hustled about the hall.

Eventually order was restored, and a recount confirmed the defeat of Mercier.

TO PREVENT FIRE PANICS.

Department Demands Ordinance Compelling Lights in Tenement Halls.

On the recommendation of Fire Chief Croker, Commissioner Scannell has formerly requested the Municipal Assembly to pass an ordinance compelling owners of buildings containing more than three families to have lights burning on every floor from sunset to sunrise. The recommendation is the result of investigation of the recent tenement house fires, at several of which a number of lives were lost. The origin in many cases followed closely the time when some belated tenant passed up the stairs to his apartments after striking a match to see his way. A number of the fires started in the halls.

The fire authorities believe that this ordinance, if passed, will do more than anything else to prevent fires in tenements which originate in the hallways. Chief Croker yesterday, at his night headquarters in Great Jones Street, stated the position of the Fire Department on the proposed ordinance as follows:

"Every effort will be made to have this proposed ordinance adopted. It is in the interests of hundreds of thousands of tenants in every borough of this city. Many fires in these tenement houses we have found to be due to a carelessly dropped match in the hallway. The department has also found that when the cry of 'fire' has been raised in the tenements the tenants rush to the hallways to find them absolutely dark, and a panic results. In some cases the gas supplying light to the halls is shut off, so that no one can light it in an emergency."

SECRET MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED.

Boy Husband Cordially Received by His Father-in-Law.

The marriage of Miss Bessie Smith, the only child of B. Smith, a wealthy butcher of 231 Bedford Avenue, Brooklyn, to John McBennett, a clerk, was announced yesterday. The young people, each being only eighteen years old, are members of St. Vincent de Paul's Sunday School in North Sixth Street, and were secretly married in the late Father Malone's church in September. They decided yesterday to inform their parents of their marriage, and walked from church together to the Smith homestead. The bride invited her father into the parlor, where her husband was seated, and made the announcement. The father promptly extended his hand to his son-in-law and welcomed him as a member of his household. The couple had been companions since childhood.

MAY GET BOOKS ON SUNDAY.

Brooklyn Public Library Branches Opened by the Directors.

The several branches of the Brooklyn Public Library yesterday for the first time on a Sunday since their establishment, were opened to the public. That the innovation is popular was indicated by the large number of readers who visited each of the different branches during the day.

The idea of opening the library on Sundays was adopted by the Directors at their last meeting about two weeks ago. The branches of the library are as follows: Central, or Broadway, Branch, 26 Brevoort Place; East New York, Pennsylvania Avenue and Fulton Street; South Brooklyn, Forty-eighth Street and Fourth Avenue; Williamsburg section, Bedford Avenue, near Broadway; Bedford Park, Kingston Avenue, and Flatbush Branch, in Flatbush.

All branches will be open hereafter on Sunday from 2 to 6 o'clock in the afternoon.

FOUND DEAD IN THE STREET.

James W. Lucky's Body Picked Up by a Policeman.

While patroling his beat at an early hour yesterday morning, Policeman Skelly of the West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street Station found the body of a well-dressed man, apparently about fifty years of age, lying on the sidewalk at One Hundred and Twenty-fourth Street and Eighth Avenue. There were no marks of violence on the body, which was removed to the station house. From papers on the body it was found to be that of James W. Lucky.

The police notified Mrs. George C. Lawson of Hamburg, N. Y., whom Lucky requested in a note he left to be notified in case of his death. Last evening word was received from Mrs. Lawson that her husband would come to New York and claim the body.

BARNARD-COLUMBIA UNION

The New Relations of the Women's College to the University.

Mrs. Anna Nathan Meyer Gives an Outline of the Agreement Making Their Alliance Complete.

Great satisfaction is felt by those interested in the higher education of women at the announcement made by President Seth Low of Columbia University at the annual luncheon of the Wellesley Club on Saturday that Barnard College had been incorporated into the educational system of Columbia. It has long been realized that this would be the outcome of the relations between the two institutions which from the foundation of Barnard have been continuously growing closer, and the best results are anticipated from the new order of things.

This new and important stage in the history of Barnard College was reached last Friday, when the agreement with Columbia was approved by the Trustees of the college at their bi-monthly meeting, which took place at the house of their Chairman, Abram S. Hewitt. Mrs. Anna Nathan Meyer, a Trustee of Barnard and a member of the Executive Committee of the college, who took a leading part in securing the establishment of the institution, yesterday explained Barnard's new departure and status very clearly.

"Since Barnard College opened its doors ten years ago," she said, "this is the first time that its relation to the university has been officially defined. The graduating classes of Barnard College have received the Columbia degree, and the teaching staff of Barnard College has had to meet with the approval of the President of Columbia, but there has been no more formal alliance. In the future Barnard College takes its place as completely an integral part of the university system as the college proper, formerly known as the School of Arts, save that the financial management is separate and distinct. The President of Columbia University becomes ex officio the President of Barnard College, and he has just been elected a Trustee of Barnard College, so that his relation to Barnard College is precisely the same as the relation which he bears to Columbia University.

"The Dean of Barnard College, who up to the present has held no official relation to the university, in future will be appointed by the President of the University, by and with the advice and consent of the Trustees of Barnard College. The Dean of Barnard College will also for the first time have a seat in the University Council, with the right of voting on all the questions that come before that important body.

"In the past any instructors might be chosen by Barnard College so long as they met with the approval of the President of the university, but henceforth no one will instruct at Barnard College who is not an appointee of the university, with the same standing in all respects as that of other like officers in the university, and it is expressly stated that the instructors may be either men or women. Although the officers of instruction at Barnard College will be appointed by the President of the university, they will be nominated by the Dean of Barnard College, with the approval of the Trustees of Barnard College, so the important power of selection still rests with Barnard.

"This concerns the undergraduate student only. For the graduate students a very important step has been taken which cannot but awaken interest throughout the country. Women candidates for the higher degrees will no longer be registered as students of Barnard College; they will be accepted by the university as regular students of the university upon the same terms as the men under the Faculties of Philosophy, Political Science, and Pure Science, in such courses as have already been designated.

"Thus, ten years after Barnard College undertook to conduct the education of women by the professors and other instructors of Columbia College, the Trustees of Columbia have deemed it wise to give authority to the President of Columbia to charge himself with the welfare of Barnard College on precisely the same terms as he is charged with the welfare of Columbia College. Barnard may well be proud of the results of its labors."

Referring to the curriculum of the college, and the fact that the members of the Faculty may be either men or women, Mrs. Meyer said that the girls would receive exactly the same instruction as the boys, and by the same professors, and that the qualifications requisite for obtaining a degree would be identical for both sexes. The question of co-education in its broad sense does not enter into the agreement. The girl undergraduates will continue to receive instruction in separate buildings, but so far as the senior class is concerned, professors cannot be expected to duplicate their work. In the study of Arabic, for example, there may be only two or three male and an equally limited number of female students, and in such a case both sexes will naturally study together. There are no women professors at Barnard. There was one once in the person of the late Dr. Emily L. Gregory, who was head of the Botanical Department. Her lectures were so popular that students from Columbia used to attend them regularly. She was merely approved by the Trustees of the university. Henceforward, should any woman professor be recommended by the Trustees of Barnard she will be formally appointed by the university.

FATAL RUNAWAY IN THE PARK.

John T. Larney, twenty-eight years old, an undertaker at 325 East Thirty-eighth Street, was fatally injured by being thrown from a road cart on the East Drive, near One Hundred and Sixth Street, in Central Park, late yesterday afternoon. He died within a few minutes after being taken to the Harlem Hospital.

Larney yesterday afternoon borrowed a horse and wagon from a friend. He took his five-year-old son, Leo, and the latter's playmate, Thomas McCormack, eight years old, of 317 East Thirty-eighth Street, and together they drove through Central Park.

As they passed the restaurant near One Hundred and Sixth Street, one of the lads asked Mr. Larney for some candy, and stopping his horse he went after it. He returned in a few minutes, and had just taken his seat, when something frightened the horse. It plunged forward with such suddenness as to throw Mr. Larney and the two children into the road.

Mr. Larney never moved again. He was unconscious when picked up, and sank rapidly until death case. The boys escaped with slight bruises, and were taken home by a policeman.

The horse ran north, and a short distance up the drive ran into a light wagon driven by John Wyckoff, of Schenectady Avenue and Pacific Street, Brooklyn. In the collision a wheel was torn from Wyckoff's wagon, and he was thrown out. He was not seriously injured. The horse next ran into a team driven by John McGowan of 319 East Fifty-third Street. The driver was thrown out, but a few bruises were his worst injuries.

Mounted Policeman Robertson caught the runaway near One Hundred and Eighth Street. The horse and wagon were sent to their owner.

CASE OF LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT.

A couple were married on Friday at Far Rockaway five hours after they first met. The bridegroom was Patrick Hogan, proprietor of a hotel at Hammell's Station. He is forty years of age and had been married before, but has no children. When his wife died, on Christmas Day last, she left an estate valued at about $50,000.

Mrs. Emma A. Coope, a widow, who had been living at 546 Gates Avenue, Brooklyn, went to Hammell's Station Friday to visit a friend. She and Mr. Hogan were introduced to each other about 2 o'clock that afternoon. It was a case of love at first sight, and the courtship advanced apace, so that before dark they had agreed to become man and wife.

Mr. Hogan and Mrs. Coope were at the residence of the Rev. Mr. Seyrer, at Far Rockaway, at 7 o'clock, and a few minutes later left as man and wife. The bride has three children by her previous husband. Mr. and Mrs. Hogan are now living at Hammell's.

O. H. Chenault Buys Brood Mares.

Special to The New York Times.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Jan. 21.—W. J. Stone of Louisville has sold to O. H. Chenault, Lexington, the thoroughbred brood mares Silvertone, by imported Silvermine, dam Scramble, by Star Davis and Ethel T., eight years old, by imported Richmond, dam La Cigale, by King Alfonso.

THE CHURCH AND THE THEATRE

Dr. Madison C. Peters Tells Actors the Public Is to Blame for the Present Order of Things.

The Rev. Dr. Madison C. Peters last evening under the auspices of the Actors' Church Alliance preached at the Bloomingdale Reformed Church to the members of the dramatic profession on "The Church and the Theatre." He said, in part:

"The dramatic art is a legitimate art, and acting may be made an honorable profession, and the Church should recognize this fact and use its influence to induce all good people to patronize the plays and encourage the players who give good entertainments and stay from the performances that minister to vice.

"There are immoral plays and plays that are as innocent as milk. There are bad men and bad women in all professions. The pulpit's vituperation of the theatrical profession is as unchristian as only a clergyman who never saw a good play would ever dream of making it. The stage seldom or never strikes back.

"The numerous scandals of the American clergymen now serving terms in the various penitentiaries of the land afford legitimate material for the stage. These materials remain unused because the dramatist, the manager, and the actor have too great a respect for religion to weaken it by emphasizing the sins of any of its professors.

"Water cannot rise higher than its source, and the character of the theatre cannot be sustained above the character of those who attend. Playwrights and actors are not to blame for what we get on the stage. I want to fix the responsibility for the present order of plays where it belongs—upon the public. Let the people stay away from every performance, whatever its artistic excellence, if it abounds with intrigue and immorality.

"The shameful posters, the female attire, or the lack of it, the compromising attitudes, the silly things accepted, the commonplace persons admired and commended, the Sunday performances in our most disreputable theatres, in plain violation of the law—thunder at these as much as you will—let ridicule, sarcasm, and denunciation exhaust their armories on these abuses, these positive evils."

THE OPERA HOUSE CONCERT.

Five Members of the Metropolitan Company Sing.

The concert brought out the usual crowd last night at the Metropolitan Opera House. The participants were Mme. Gadski, Mlle. Zelie de Lussan, M. Saleza, Signor Campanari, and Herr Van Rooy.

The opening orchestral number, the overture to Wagner's "Rienzi," was followed by Herr Van Rooy in "Es ist genug" from "Elijah." To the second part he contributed some Haydn and Schubert songs. Mlle. de Lussan's part in the programme included "Vedrai Carino" from Mozart's "Don Giovanni," and Gounod's setting of "There Is a Green Hill far Away." Mme. Gadski was heard in "Wie nahte mir der Schlummer" from "Der Freischütz," (Weber,) and two Schubert songs. M. Saleza sang two arias, "Sigurd" (Reyer) and "L'Africaine," (Meyerbeer,) and Signor Campanari rendered the monologue from Verdi's "Falstaff."

Mr. Paur elicited from the orchestra such a pleasing interpretation of the Rubinstean Valse—the one that Paderewski played recently—that the audience insisted on his repeating it. The programme began with Wagner and ended with him, the prelude to "Die Meistersinger" being the last number.

OPENING OF "SAPHO" POSTPONED

Miss Nethersole Will Not Be Able to Appear Until To-morrow.

The production of "Sapho" announced to be given at Wallacks's Theatre to-night by Miss Olga Nethersole has been postponed until to-morrow night because of the illness of the actress.

Miss Nethersole is detained in Washington suffering from a severe cold. In a dispatch sent to this city last evening her physician, G. L. McGruder, says: "Miss Nethersole is better, but I deem it advisable for her not to appear until Tuesday."

The tickets sold for the play to-night will be good to-morrow night.

PROF. HERRON ON SOCIALISM.

Present Civilization Cannot Be Mended, He Declares—His Attack on the Protestant Church.

Prof. George D. Herron, who was forced to resign from Iowa College because of his radical social views and who is now on his way to visit Count Tolstoi and the Holy Land, spoke at the Social Reform Club last evening on "Socialism and Religion" before a gathering which would have filled an auditorium twice the size of the club's quarters at 45 University Place. The corridors and stairways outside the club rooms were crowded, and many had to leave, being unable to get within hearing distance.

Prof. Herron said in part:

"I have no expectation that the present kind of civilization can be amended—it can only be ended. The new system that shall give to every man at first what he is supposed to have earned and afterward what he needs, can no longer be called a party or sectional term. All kinds of socialism mean the organization of a world in which every man shall be born with an equal inheritance.

"What will become of God and gods, of temples, creeds and faiths, in the new morning of socialism? It seems to me that the effect of the socialistic state possessing the world would be to change the entire attitude of human life regarding the future. Protestantism stands—though it doesn't stand very well to-day—by keeping man in an attitude of fear toward the unknown. Progress up to date has been largely a progress of slaves. We still live in a miserably enslaved world. When men take into their heads that they can make any kind of a world they choose history will begin to go cross-lots, wandering no more through tragedy and failure. Whenever a Son of Man has come he has found a good deal of faith in evil but very little in good.

"Can you find me any representative Protestant Christian in the City of New York to-day who would not think civilization would fall into chaos if men should take seriously the things that they profess in their churches? Protestant Christianity believes to-day a thousand times more in the devil than in goodness.

"There is not a bit of spiritual difference between the Standard Oil combination and the Protestant Church, or, rather, take the Presbyterian Church, in which I was born and reared. One of its deeds tribute in the form of blood and sweat, and the other in the form of enslavement of souls and all the cash it can get besides. But when the socialistic movement comes to something like a really defined conflict with the capitalistic classes it will come as a programme of uncompromising socialism without regard as to whether you or I want it or not.

"It is already too late to reform society in America. It is no longer a question whether you will have a socialistic revolution, it is only left to you to decide what kind of a revolution you will have. There is nothing else left for a world disinherited. It is no wonder that the cries of socialism are wild when we look into the wheels of this hideous machine called civilization and see men dead in body and soul who are its grist, but it is no other than the cry with which Jesus waked the world nineteen centuries ago, 'Repent ye, change your lives, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand.'"

After the address Prof. Herron said that he meant to make no discrimination in favor of Roman Catholicism, but had referred only to Protestantism because he was a Protestant himself. A few persons left the rooms while the speaker was making his strongest attack on the church, but they made no comment, and there was not a dissenting voice, nor lack of enthusiasm, when a vote of thanks to him was proposed.

James Rogers, Baseball Player, Dead.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Jan. 21.—James Rogers, an ex-professional baseball player died at his home here to-night, age 28 years. The primary cause of death was the result of being struck on the head by a pitched ball several years ago, while playing in the National League. He was at one time Captain of the Louisville team, and last year captained and played first base for the Norwich team of the Connecticut State League.

Clubhouse for Queens Democrats.

The Democratic Club of the Borough of Queens will to-night give an entertainment at St. Mary's Lyceum, Long Island City. The club has under advisement the erection of a new clubhouse upon the property given it by the late Roswell P. Flower. The proceeds of the entertainment are to be devoted to the building fund.

RESCUE ON THE ELEVATED.

Policeman Wilhelm Drags Unconscious Man from Track—May Have Fallen from a Train.

Some passengers entering the elevated railroad station at Third Avenue and Sixty-seventh Street about 8 o'clock last night asked the ticket chopper, John Weigold, why he did not pick up the man who was lying on the north track at Sixty-sixth Street.

"What man?" asked the ticket chopper in amazement. It was explained that the passengers did not know, but they were reasonably sure that a man lay there, and that he should be rescued instantly.

There was a train in sight, and Weigold did not stop to ask any more questions. Policeman Wilhelm answered his yells for help, and then several more policemen came.

Wilhelm bounded from the platform to the trestle and ran at full speed to the place indicated. It was a race for life, and made all the more exciting because the policeman did not know how far he had to go.

The policeman could hear the train coming up the grade, and its lights came nearer and nearer, but he could see no man lying on the tracks. He took no chances, however. Just as he was thinking it was a hoax he saw the form of a man about twenty feet distant, squarely in the track. The coming train was not more than fifty yards away. Wilhelm never moved as fast in his life before, and probably never will again. He fairly flew. He reached the unconscious man, and with one mighty effort drew him aside. A moment later the train rolled by, the engineer apparently having no knowledge of an obstructed track and only slowing up for the next station.

From a card of membership in Typographical Union No. 6 it was learned that the man was P. J. Murphy, fifty years old, of 228 East Eighty-fourth Street. He was sent to the Presbyterian Hospital. He had a large scalp wound and was suffering from concussion of the brain. Dr. Osgood of the Presbyterian Hospital said Murphy was perfectly sober.

How Murphy got to the track is not clear, but the police think he stepped on to the rear platform of a train that had but a few minutes before gone up town, and losing his balance, fell headlong to the track.

The witnesses cheered Policeman Wilhelm loudly when he came back to the station carrying the unconscious man in his arms.

Coroner Bausch called at the hospital at midnight and made an effort to take Murphy's ante-mortem statement during brief intervals of semi-consciousness. He said he had tried to get off the train at "Ninety-ninth Street" and that nobody was responsible for his mishap. He then lapsed into delirium.

Coroner Bausch placed no reliance in any of his statements. He is in a precarious condition and there is little chance of his recovery.

DEATH LIST OF A DAY.

Rev. Dr. J. Henry Sharpe.

After an illness of three days, the Rev. Dr. J. Henry Sharpe, one of the most prominent ministers in the Presbyterian denomination, died yesterday at his home in Philadelphia.

Dr. Sharpe was Chairman of the Board of Councilors of the Pan-Presbyterian Historical Society of the United States, and in April next would have celebrated the eighteenth anniversary of his pastorate of the West Park Church. He was a member of the board and Chairman of the House Committee of the Presbyterian Society and Home for Aged and Infirm Ministers at Perth Amboy, N. J., besides holding other high positions in denominational enterprises.

The deceased was born in Cadiz, Ohio, in 1842. He entered Washington College, now Washington and Jefferson, but at the breaking out of the war left to enlist in the Fifteenth Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteer Cavalry. At the close of his army service he returned to college, graduated, and then took the regular course and graduated from the Western Theological Seminary in Allegheny. His first charge was the Wharton Street Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia, to which he was called in 1863, and his pulpit work since has been confined to that city.

Dr. Sharpe was a frequent contributor to religious publications, and at the time of his death was gathering material for a series of articles on the Presbyterian manses of this country. His widow, who was Miss Semple of Pittsburg, is left with two daughters and one son. The funeral will take place Tuesday, the interment to be in the Allegheny Cemetery at Pittsburg.

Beverley Chew Duer.

Beverley Chew Duer, son of the late William Duer, and cashier of the Bank of the State of New York, died yesterday morning at his residence, 62 West Eighty-seventh Street. Mr. Duer was born in this city sixty years ago, and was a graduate of Columbia. On leaving college he went to California, and after spending five or six years in San Francisco returned to this city and entered the service of the Bank of the State of New York. He became cashier of the bank ten years ago. He was a member of the Union Club. His wife, who survives him, is a daughter of John H. Pool. He also leaves two young children, a boy and a girl. The funeral will take place to-morrow at the family residence, and will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. Johnson of Christ Church, New Brighton, S. I. The burial will be on Staten Island.

Mrs. Anne Goodrich Smith.

Mrs. Anne Goodrich Smith, widow of Roswell Smith, founder of the Century Company, died early yesterday morning of heart failure, at the home of George Inness, Jr., 145 West Fifty-eighth Street. She was seventy-three years old. Mrs. Smith was the daughter of Henry L. Ellswor

FINANCIAL DIRECTORY.

Chemical National Bank
270 Broadway.

National Bank of Commerce
CAP. AND SUR. $8,500,000.
31 Nassau St.

Hanover National Bank
Capital $1,000,000. Surplus and profits, $2,500,000.
9 and 11 Nassau St.

The Nassau Bank
Corner Beekman and Nassau Streets.

Central National Bank
320 Broadway.

Phenix National Bank
49 Wall Street.

Continental Trust Company
30 Broad St.

Colonial Trust Company
CAPITAL & SURPLUS, $1,500,000.
ST. PAUL B'LD'G.
222 B'way.

Washington Trust Company
Stewart Building, 280 Broadway.

PHILADELPHIA.
Fourth Street National Bank
Capital, $1,500,000. Surplus, $1,500,000.

BANKERS' CARDS.

KOUNTZE BROTHERS,
BANKERS,
Broadway & Cedar St., NEW YORK.
Investment Securities.
Foreign Exchange.
Loans made against approved collateral.
Interest allowed on deposits.
LETTERS OF CREDIT.

Redmond, Kerr & Co.
BANKERS,
41 WALL ST., N. Y.
Members N. Y. Stock Exchange.
Transact a general banking business. Receive deposits subject to draft. Dividends and interest collected and remitted. Act as Fiscal Agent for and negotiate and issue loans of railroads, street railways, gas companies, etc. Securities bought and sold on commission.
DEAL IN
High-Grade Investment Securities.
Lists of current offerings sent on application.
PHILADELPHIA CORRESPONDENTS,
GRAHAM, KERR & CO.

N. Y. & N. J. TELEPHONE
"RIGHTS"
BOUGHT AND SOLD.
Geo. H. PRENTISS & Co.
37 William St., New York.
298 Montague St., Brooklyn.

A. J. DE KANTSTEIN & CO.
Members Consolidated Stock Exchange.
30 West 23d St.
STOCKS and BONDS bought and sold for cash and carried on margin.
SPECIAL LADIES' DEPARTMENT.
DAILY MARKET LETTER ON APPLICATION.
CORRESPONDENCE INVITED.

Chester B. Lawrence, Jr.,
Member Consolidated Stock Exchange.
STOCKS, BONDS, GRAIN, COTTON.
Branch Offices,
1,300 BROADWAY, CORNER 34TH ST.
621 BROADWAY, CORNER HOUSTON ST.
MAIN OFFICES, 32 & 34 BROADWAY.

E. C. POTTER & CO.
BANKERS AND BROKERS,
36 WALL STREET.
Members of New York Stock Exchange

FINANCIAL.

TO THE HOLDERS OF
Chicago & Grand Trunk Railway Co.
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS.

Default having been made in the principal of the above bonds, which became due on the first day of January, 1900, and foreclosure proceedings having been begun in pursuance of a plan of reorganization, formulated by the Company, under which plan the security of the bonds is seriously impaired:

At the request of a large number of holders of these bonds, resident in England, who have deposited their bonds under the Bondholders' Protective Agreement, dated December 21, 1899, the undersigned have agreed to represent the interests of the bondholders.

Holders of bonds in the United States can become parties to this agreement by depositing their bonds with the Central Trust Company of New York City, under said Protective Agreement, copies of which may be obtained from the Trust Company or at our office. Prompt deposit of the bonds is advisable.

Simon Borg & Company,
20 Nassau Street.
New York, January 5th, 1900.

METROPOLITAN TRUST COMPANY
OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
37 and 39 Wall St.
Capital $1,000,000
Surplus and profits $1,425,000
BRAYTON IVES, President.
FREDERICK D. TAPPEN, V.-Pres.
BEVERLY CHEW, Secretary.
BERTRAM CRUGER, Asst. Secretary.
TRUSTEES:
Morris K. Jesup, D. O. Mills,
Dudley Olcott, Fred'k D. Tappen,
Geo. A. Hamlin, C. P. Huntington,
Edward B. Judson, Bradley Martin,
Robert Hoe, Heber R. Bishop,
William L. Bull, J. Howard King,
Richard Mortimer, Wm. H. Tillinghast,
Samuel Thomas, Geo. Henry Warren,
John E. Parsons, Hamilton Smith,
John T. Terry, Haley Fiske,
Brayton Ives, J. Edward Simmons,
George Coppell.

THE MIDLAND TERMINAL RAILWAY CO.
Sealed proposals will be received at the office of The Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, 16, 18, 20, and 22 William Street, for the sale to the Trustee, in accordance with the provisions of the Mortgage dated the 1st of December, 1895, of a sufficient number of bonds to invest $17,988.16 of the Sinking Fund.
Proposals must be presented before 12 o'clock M. on the 25th day of January, 1900, and should be directed as follows: "PROPOSALS TO SINKING FUND, The Farmers' Loan & Trust Company, Nos. 16, 18, 20, and 22 William Street, New York."
THE FARMERS' LOAN & TRUST CO., AS TRUSTEE,
By E. S. MARSTON, President.
New York, January 15th, 1900.

Cincinnati, November 1st, 1899.
THE UNDERSIGNED SINKING FUND COMMISSIONERS, under the C., I., St. L. & C. consolidated 6 per cent. mortgage, hereby certify that we have this day made a drawing of bonds to be applied to Sinking Fund account of November 1, 1899, in accordance with provisions of mortgage, and that bonds bearing numbers as follows, viz.: 695, 489, 346, 48, 1083, 1036, and 544 have been drawn for such purpose and that interest on said bonds shall cease from and after the first day of May, 1900, and the bonds taken up at 105 per cent. and accrued interest to said date.
HERVEY BATES,
GEORGE T. BLISS,
M. E. INGALLS,
Sinking Fund Commissioners.

The Trust Co. of America,
149 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Capital and Surplus, $5,000,000.
ASHBEL P. FITCH ..... President.
WILLIAM B. LEUPP, Vice-President. WILLIAM BARBOUR, Vice-President.
RAYMOND J. CHATRY, Secretary. HENRY S. MANNING, Vice-President.
ALBERT L. BANISTER, Treasurer. LAWRENCE O. MURRAY, Trust Officer.

BROWN BROTHERS & CO.,
NO. 59 WALL ST.,
ISSUE COMMERCIAL AND TRAVELERS' CREDITS, AVAILABLE IN ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

Outside Securities a Specialty.
DAVID PFEIFFER, 18 Wall St.

FINANCIAL.

International Zinc Co., Ltd.
SHARES ADVANCE JAN. 25TH TO 85c.

Purchasers at present price,
75c. Per Share,
ecure 16% on their investment and the regular monthly dividend, payable Feb. 1st to all shareholders of record Jan. 25th.
Applications for stock at 75c. per share must bear date not later than Thursday, Jan. 25th, 1900.

Such applications, accompanied by remittance, will be received at either of the following offices of the fiscal agents,
JOSHUA BROWN & CO., Bankers,
89 State St., Boston.
45 and 47 Wall St., New York.
421 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.
409 The Rookery, Chicago.

COLONIAL TRUST COMPANY,
ST. PAUL BUILDING,
222 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
CAPITAL AND SURPLUS, $1,500,000.
Transacts a General Trust and Banking Business.
Allows Interest on Daily Balances.
Subject to check, payable at sight or through the New York Clearing-house and on Certificates of Deposit.
OFFICERS:
JOHN E. BORNE, President.
RICHARD DELAFIELD, CORD MEYER, JAMES W. TAPPIN, Vice-Presidents.
ARPAD S. GROSSMANN, Treasurer.
EDMUND L. JUDSON, Secretary.
PHILIP S. BABCOCK, Trust Officer.
TRUSTEES:
Henry O. Havemeyer, Cord Meyer,
Anson R. Flower, Perry Belmont,
Lowell M. Palmer, Wm. T. Wardwell,
John E. Borne, Henry N. Whitney,
Richard Delafield, Theo. W. Myers,
Daniel O'Day, L. C. Dessar,
Percival Kühne, Geo. Warren Smith,
Frank Curtiss, John S. Dickerson,
Vernon H. Brown, James W. Tappin,
Seth M. Milliken, Geo. W. Quintard,
W. Seward Webb.

North American Trust Company
100 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
CAPITAL $2,000,000
SURPLUS 1,000,000
Fiscal Agent for the United States in Cuba.
OUR FOREIGN DEPARTMENT has reliable agents in all cities and towns of Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Austria, Hungary, France, Spain, Italy, Switzerland, Belgium, and Holland; also Mexico, Central and South America, and is prepared to give prompt attention to the collection of legacies, management of estates, special payments, etc., in those countries.
OFFICERS.
Alvah Trowbridge ..... President
Heman Dowd ..... Vice-President
Stanley L. Conklin ..... Secretary
Francis C. Prest ..... Assistant Secretary
DIRECTORS.
Alvah Trowbridge, Luis Suarez Galban,
John G. Carlisle, Henry F. Shoemaker,
Charlton T. Lewis, Roland R. Conklin,
Samuel M. Jarvis, Wager Swayne.
James B. Dill, James S. Kuhn,
Hugh Kelly, Arnold Marcus.
Charles W. Drake Stanley L. Conklin,
Heman Dowd, Archer Brown,
Fletcher S. Heath, L. Carbajal, Marques de Pinar del Rio.

The Colorado Coal and Iron Company,
6% MORTGAGE BONDS.
The Colorado Fuel & Iron Company, successor, by consolidation, to The Colorado Coal & Iron Company, proposes to extend above bonds at the rate of 6% per annum until February 1, 1902, the present security and lien to remain in full force, the principal and interest of the extended bonds to be payable in gold.
Arrangements have been made to purchase the bonds not extended by the holders, and to extend the same. Bondholders who wish to avail themselves of the privilege of extending the bonds may notify the Knickerbocker Trust Company at once of their intention so to do, and must present their bonds at the office of the Knickerbocker Trust Company, No. 66 Broadway, New York, between January 15th and January 27th, 1900, to have the contract of extension and new coupon sheets attached.
Bonds not extended by present holders should be presented to the Knickerbocker Trust Company on February 1, 1900, when the last coupon will be paid and the bonds will be taken at par by a purchasing syndicate.
JOHN L. JEROME, Treasurer.

NATIONAL CITY BANK
NEW STOCK.
A LIMITED AMOUNT FOR SALE IN LOTS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.
LADD, WOOD & KING,
Members N. Y. Stock Exchange
AND
Dealers in Investment Securities,
31 PINE ST., N. Y.

Oregon Short Line Railway Company
First Mortgage 6% Bonds.
Coupons due February 1, 1900, from the above-mentioned bonds will be paid at maturity on presentation at the office of the Treasurer of the Oregon Short Line Railroad Company, No. 120 Broadway, New York, N. Y.
Temporary receipts will be issued for packages of coupons left for verification on and after Thursday, January 25, 1900.
Oregon Short Line Railroad Company,
FREDERIC V. S. CROSBY, Treasurer.

The Northern Pacific Terminal Co.
OF OREGON.
In accordance with the provisions of the Deed of Trust of the Northern Pacific Terminal Company of Oregon, the following bonds have been drawn for account of the Sinking Fund, viz.:
Nos. 236, 416, 417, 846, 852, 853, 877, 964, 1071, 1208, 2134, 2683, 2770, 3320, 3499, 3593, 3612, 3618, 3620, 3629, 3891, and will be redeemed by the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, Trustee, at its office, 16-22 William Street, New York, at 110 and accrued interest, on the 10th day of February, 1900, at which date interest will cease on the above bonds.
The Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., Trustee
by E. S. MARSTON, President.
New York, January 17th, 1900.

William Trist Bailey, Auctioneer.
REGULAR AUCTION SALE OF STOCKS, BONDS, ACCOUNTS, ETC.,
by WILLIAM TRIST BAILEY, Auctioneer,
MONDAY, JANUARY 22d, 1900.
At 12 o'clock noon, at the Independent Realty Auction Mart,
No. 139 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York.
By order of the Executors the following properties and securities will be sold by the Auctioneer named above, at the time and place above mentioned, namely:
8 Union Pacific Railroad Central Branch Bonds, par value, $1,000 each.
2 Certificates of Deposit issued by the Union Trust Company of the City of New York, covering 2 Atchison, Colorado & Pacific Railroad Bonds, par value, $1,000 each.
60 Shares Atchison Elevator Company Stock, par value, $100 each.
Seat in Consolidated Exchange.
46 Shares Atchison, Jewell County and Western Railroad Company Stock, par value $100 each.
10 Shares Acme Copying Press Company Stock, par value $25 each.
1,000 Shares Clancy Mining Company Stock, par value, $5 each.
27,000 Shares Hortense Mining Company Stock, par value, $10 each.
300 Shares Marshall Loom Company Stock, par value $5 each.
500 Shares Battle Mountain Mining Company Stock, par value, $10 each.
300 Shares Silver Islet Company Stock, par value, $25 each.
50 Shares United States Telephone Manufacturing Company Stock, par value, $50 each.
Receipt for 50 Shares of same Stock.
50 Shares Union Cattle Company of Wyoming Stock, par value, $100 each.
1 Bond $500, New York, Montana Mining & Discovery Company.
30 Shares Perry Stove Manufacturing Company Stock, South Pittsburg, Tenn., par value, $100 each.
80 Shares North Jersey Land Company Stock, par value, $5 each.
50 Shares Star Spring Company Stock, Saratoga, par value, $100 each. (Company in liquidation.)
79,750 Shares The Bonanza Chief Gold Mining Company Stock, par value, $1 each.
In addition to the above there will also be sold at the same time and place balances due on certain accounts in favor of the testator, with the collaterals held for the payment of certain of the accounts and certain judgments, the full particulars of all of which will be given at the time and place of sale.

ELYTON COMPANY,
ELYTON LAND COMPANY,
BIRMINGHAM REALTY COMPANY.
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN TO THE HOLDERS OF THE CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSIT ISSUED BY Union Trust Company of New York, Birmingham Trust & Savings Company, Birmingham, Ala., Whitney National Bank, New Orleans, La., for the following bonds, stocks, and coupons, viz.:
ELYTON COMPANY 5% FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS,
ELYTON COMPANY STOCK,
ELYTON LAND COMPANY 6% DIVIDEND TRUST BONDS,
embraced in the Agreement dated October 4th, 1898, and Plan of Reorganization dated May 29th, 1899, that on and after Thursday, February 8th, 1900, they may receive the new bonds and stocks to which they are entitled upon presentation and surrender of their Certificates at the office of the respective depositories, above named.
Holders entitled to fractions of bonds or fractional shares of stock must either sell the fractions or purchase such amounts as may be necessary to entitle them to an entire bond or a whole share of stock at an approximate market price to be fixed by the Committee.
Holders of Dividend Trust 6% Bonds of Elyton Land Company will please state whether they elect to take new prior lien 5% bonds of Birmingham Realty Company or cash, for face of their bonds.
Holders of the OLD stock of the Elyton Land Company are requested to deliver their Certificates of said stock at the time they present the Certificates of Deposit for Elyton Company stock.
Holders transmitting Certificates of Deposit by mail will please indicate whether they wish to sell or buy the fractions, and whether they desire the new securities sent by express at their expense, and at what valuation.
WILLIAM HALLS, Jr., Chairman;
AUGUSTUS W. KELLEY,
ALEXANDER D. SEYMOUR,
THOMAS G. JONES,
WILLIAM T. HARDIE,
C. C. RAWLINGS, Secretary.
Reorganization Committee.
New York, January 19th, 1900.

DIVIDENDS.

Louisiana & Missouri River Railroad Co.
First Mortgage 7% Bonds.
Coupons due February 1, 1900, from the above-mentioned bonds will be paid at maturity on presentation at the office of the Assistant Treasurer of The Chicago & Alton Railroad Co., No. 120 Broadway, New York, N. Y.
Temporary receipts will be issued for packages of coupons left for verification on and after Thursday, January 25, 1900.
The Chicago & Alton Railroad Co.
FREDERIC V. S. CROSBY, Ass't Treasurer.

Office of American Ice Company,
133 E. 23d Street.
New York, Jan. 18th, 1900.
A dividend of ONE PER CENT on the Common Stock of this Company has this day been declared, and will be payable Feb. 15th, 1900, to Stockholders of Record at the close of business Feb. 1st, 1900.
The transfer books of the Common Stock will be closed from 3 o'clock P. M., Feb. 1st, 1900, until Feb. 16th, 1900.
Dividend checks will be mailed to Stockholders of Record unless otherwise instructed.
J. T. SPROULL, Treasurer.

Louisville & Nashville R. R. Co.
The Board of Directors of the Louisville & Nashville R. R. Co. this day declared a dividend of TWO (2) PER CENT., payable on and after February 10th, proximo, to such as shall be registered stockholders of the Company at 3 P. M. on January 29th, 1900.
The stock transfer books will close at 3 P. M. on the 26th inst., and reopen at 10 A. M. on February 10th, 1900.
AUGUST BELMONT, Chairman.
New York January 9th, 1900.

The Lawyers' Title Insurance Company of New York,
87 & 39 Liberty St. and 44½ & 46 Maiden Lane.
NEW YORK, Jan. 10, 1900.
The Board of Directors of this company has this day declared a dividend of 2½ Per Cent., and an extra dividend of One-Half Per Cent, payable at the company's offices on Feb. 1, 1900. The transfer books will be closed Saturday, Jan. 13, and reopened Friday, Feb. 2.
JOHN DUER, Treasurer.

THE TRANSFER BOOKS OF THE GENERAL First Mtge. 4 per cent. Registered Bonds of the Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis & Chicago Ry. Co. will close at the office of the Central Trust Co. of N. Y., Monday, Jan. 22, 1900, at 3 o'clock, preparatory to the payment of the quarterly interest thereon, due Feb. 1, 1900, and will reopen Feb. 1, at 10 A. M.
R. F. OSBORN, Secretary.
Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 15, 1900.

THE TRANSFER BOOKS OF THE GENERAL First Mtge. 7 per cent. registered bonds of the Columbus & Toledo R. R. Co. will close at the office of J. P. Morgan & Co., N. Y., Monday, Jan. 22, 1900, at 3 o'clock, preparatory to the payment of the semi-annual interest thereon due Feb. 1, 1900, and will open Feb. 1st at 10 A. M.
WILLIAM A. SCOTT, Treasurer.
Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 15, 1900.

The German-American Bank,
New York, January 18, 1900.
The Board of Directors have declared a dividend of THREE PER CENT., payable on and after February 1st. The transfer books will be closed from January 24th to February 1st, inclusive.
J. F. FREDERICHS, Cashier.

Pacific Fire Insurance Company.
Ninety-fifth Dividend.
A semi-annual Dividend of Five Per Cent. (5%) is payable on demand at the office of the Company, No. 32 Pine Street, New York.
GEORGE JEREMIAH, Secretary.
New York, January 18, 1900.

COPARTNERSHIP NOTICES.

CERTIFICATE OF FORMATION
of
LIMITED PARTNERSHIP OF LADENBURG, THALMANN & CO.

The undersigned, desirous of forming a limited partnership pursuant to the provisions of the Statutes of the State of New York, do hereby certify as follows:

I.
That the name or firm under which such partnership is to be conducted is LADENBURG, THALMANN & CO., and the county wherein the principal place of business is located is the City and County of New York.

II.
That the general nature of the business intended to be transacted by such partnership is the general commission brokerage and mercantile business.

III.
That the names and residences of all the general and special partners interested in said partnership are as follows:
ERNST THALMANN, who resides at Number 150 West 59th Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City, County, and State of New York, and RICHARD LIMBURGER, who resides at Number 38 East 72d Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City, County, and State of New York, are the General Partners; and HANS BLEICHRODER, who resides at Berlin, in the Empire of Germany; Dr. GEORG VON BLEICHRODER, who resides at Berlin, in the Empire of Germany, and Dr. PAUL SCHWABACH, who resides at Berlin, in the Empire of Germany, are the Special Partners. The said General Partners and the said Special Partners are each of them of full age.

IV.
That the said Hans Von Bleichröder has contributed the sum of Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($500,000,) and the said Dr. Georg Von Bleichröder the sum of Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($500,000,) and the said Dr. Paul Schwabach the sum of Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($500,000) to the Common Stock of such limited partnership in cash.

V.
That the period at which the said partnership is to commence is the first day of January, Nineteen Hundred, and the period at which the said partnership is to be terminated is the thirty-first day of December, Nineteen Hundred and Four, both inclusive.
Dated this 21st day of November, Eighteen Hundred and Ninety-nine.
ERNST THALMANN.
RICHARD LIMBURGER.
HANS VON BLEICHRODER.
GEORG v. BLEICHRODER.
PAUL H. SCHWABACH.

State of New York, City and County of New York, ss.:
On this 21st day of November, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Ninety-nine, before me personally came the above named ERNST THALMANN and RICHARD LIMBURGER, to me known and known to me to be the persons described in and who executed the foregoing certificate, and they severally acknowledged to me that they executed the same.
J. W. ROTCHILD,
[Seal.] Notary Public No. 42,
City and County of New York.

10c. internal revenue stamp canceled.

Consul General of the United States, City of Berlin, German Empire, ss.:
On this fourth day of December, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Ninety-nine, before me personally came HANS VON BLEICHRODER, Dr. GEORG VON BLEICHRODER, and Dr. PAUL SCHWABACH, known to me and to me known to be the individuals described in and who executed the within instrument, and severally acknowledged that they executed the same for the purposes therein mentioned.
Witness my hand and Consular Seal of Office this fourth day of December, Eighteen Hundred and Ninety-nine.
FRANK H. MASON,
[Seal.] U. S. Consul General, Berlin.

City and County of New York, ss.:
ERNST THALMANN, being duly sworn, says:
That he is one of the General Partners named in the annexed certificate, and that the several sums specified in said certificate to have been contributed by the Special Partners, respectively, in said certificate named to the common stock of said partnership, have been actually and in good faith paid in cash.
ERNST THALMANN.
Sworn to before me this 30th day of December, 1899.
MICHAEL GAVIN 2d,
[Seal.] Notary Public No. 88,
New York County.

10c. internal revenue stamp canceled.

LADENBURG, THALMANN & CO.
Whereas, The limited partnership heretofore existing between Ernst Thalmann, Adolf Ladenburg, Richard Limburger, Julius Schwabach, Hans von Bleichröder, and Dr. Georg von Bleichröder will terminate by limitation on the thirty-first day of December, 1899; and,
Whereas, The business heretofore conducted by the said copartnership has been transacted within the State of New York for a period of three years and upwards, and also with foreign countries, under the said copartnership name of Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co.; and
Whereas, The undersigned have agreed to form a new limited partnership to commence on the First Day of January, 1900, and to terminate on the Thirty-first Day of December, 1904, and intend to continue the use of said firm name of Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co.; and,
Whereas, The undersigned, Ernst Thalmann and Richard Limburger, constitute a majority of the General Partners in said limited copartnership of Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., and are to be the General Partners in said new limited partnership of Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., and the said Hans von Bleichröder and Dr. Georg von Bleichröder constitute a majority of the special partners in said limited copartnership of Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., and are to be Special Partners in said new limited partnership of Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co.; and,
Whereas, The said Ernst Thalmann and Richard Limburger, who are to be such General Partners, and the said Hans von Bleichröder and Dr. Georg von Bleichröder, who are to be Special Partners in said new limited partnership of Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., have acquired the right to use the firm name of Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., and have consented and elected and do consent and elect to continue the business heretofore carried on under such limited copartnership and under the same firm name of Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co.
Now, therefore, We, the said ERNST THALMANN, whose place of abode is at Number 150 West 59th Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, and RICHARD LIMBURGER, whose place of abode is at Number 38 East 72d Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, who are to be the General Partners, and HANS VON BLEICHRODER, whose place of abode is at Berlin, in the Empire of Germany, and Dr. GEORG VON BLEICHRODER, whose place of abode is at Berlin, in the Empire of Germany, and Dr. PAUL SCHWABACH, whose place of abode is at Berlin, in the Empire of Germany, who are to be the Special Partners, do hereby certify and declare in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, that we are the only persons who are to constitute the said limited partnership of LADENBURG, THALMANN & CO., commencing on the First Day of January, Nineteen Hundred, and terminating on the Thirty-first Day of December, Nineteen Hundred and Four, and who are hereafter to deal under said firm name of LADENBURG, THALMANN & CO., and that the principal place of the business to be continued and conducted under said firm name by said limited partnership is to be in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, in the County and State of New York.
In witness whereof we have made, severally signed, and acknowledged this certificate, this 21st day of November, Eighteen Hundred and Ninety-nine.
ERNST THALMANN.
RICHARD LIMBURGER.
HANS VON BLEICHRODER.
GEORG v. BLEICHRODER.
PAUL H. SCHWABACH.

State of New York, County of New York:
On this 21st day of November, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Ninety-nine, before me personally came ERNST THALMANN and RICHARD LIMBURGER, to me personally severally known and known to me to be the individuals described in and who executed the foregoing instrument, and they severally acknowledged to me that they executed the same.
J. W. ROTCHILD,
[Seal.] Notary Public No. 42,
City and County of New York.

10c. internal revenue stamp canceled.

Consul General of the United States, City of Berlin, German Empire, ss.:
On this fourth day of December, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Ninety-nine, before me personally came HANS VON BLEICHRODER, Dr. GEORG VON BLEICHRODER, and Dr. PAUL SCHWABACH, known to me and to me known to be the individuals described in and who executed the within instrument, and severally acknowledged that they executed the same for the purposes therein mentioned.
Witness my hand and Consular Seal of Office, this fourth day of December, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Ninety-nine.
FRANK H. MASON,
[Seal.] U. S. Consul General, Berlin.

THE FIRM OF W. S. GURNEE, JR., & CO., has this day been dissolved by mutual consent.
W. S. GURNEE, JR.,
A. C. GURNEE.
The undersigned have formed a copartnership under the firm name of W. S. GURNEE, JR., & CO., for the transaction of a general bond and stock brokerage business.
W. S. GURNEE, JR.,
Member N. Y. Stock Exchange.
B. F. FROST,
LE ROY FROST,
Member N. Y. Stock Exchange.
80 Broadway, New York, January 22d, 1900.

MR. GEORGE ROUNTREE of WILMINGTON, N. C., has this day been admitted a member of our firm.
R. H. ROUNTREE & CO.
Jan. 20th, 1900.

MEETINGS AND ELECTIONS.

American Bank Note Company.
78 to 86 Trinity Place.
New York, January 20, 1900.
At the annual election of this company, held this day, the following gentlemen were elected Trustees for the ensuing year, viz.:
Phineas C. Lounsbury, John E. Currier,
James Macdonough, Edmund C. Converse,
Augustus D. Shepard, James B. Ford,
Theo. H. Freeland, Robert N. Toppan,
Joseph S. Stout, Felix Campbell,
Jared K. Myers, Charles A. Moore,
Warren L. Green.
At a subsequent meeting of the Board of Trustees the following officers were elected:
JAMES MACDONOUGH, President.
AUGUSTUS D. SHEPARD, Vice President.
THEO. H. FREELAND, Vice President and Treasurer.
JOHN E. CURRIER, Secretary.
JARED K. MYERS, Assistant Treasurer.
F. RAWDON MYERS, Assistant Secretary.
JOHN E. CURRIER, Secretary.

THE FINANCIAL MARKETS

Easier money rates are reflected so far on the Stock Exchange only by increased bond market transactions, with some attending advances. Compared with the record of a year ago current transactions look small, but the fact that they make gains over recent averages encourages expectation that further progress can be counted upon.

***

The greater abundance of funds at lower rates does not yet appear speculatively effective. Against the stock list's activity are the maintained counsels of conservative commission brokers who are convinced that a number of other interfering elements must pass away before warranted improvement can show in the situation. Such authorities have the support, so far, at least, as the industrial shares are concerned, of the banking community. Money lenders are more than ever insistent upon discrimination against ordinary trust stocks. The fact that the new industrial is a dividend payer cuts small figure, for under the prevailing policies of trust corporation management there is no possible means of knowledge as to whether even declared dividends are earned.

***

A number of important corporation meetings are about to be held. Issues are to be raised over the Consolidated Gas Company's affairs. The Brooklyn Rapid Transit shareholders are to meet, and possibly make changes in their Board of Directors. The American Steel and Wire Company is to file its first annual report. At every one of these meetings important developments may take place.

The management of the Consolidated Gas Company—about as much of a financial mystery as any that has ever been able to attract investors—is unlikely to be much affected by the new opposition. Controlling proxies are already in hand, and the prestige of the company's managers is in slight danger of damage from any suddenly devised attack. If minority shareholders have just grievances—if, as they allege, their vested interests are being sacrificed to inimical forces—it is improbable that defeat of their annual meeting protest will dispose of opportunities for redress.

Two results are expected from the annual meeting of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company. One is a financial statement to make clearer the company's situation, its assets and liabilities, its earnings and expenses, its profits or losses. And the other is such change in the Board of Directors as will disclose new elements of strength in the company's control. Wall Street has it that Mr. D. O. Mills, Mr. E. H. Harriman, and Dr. W. Seward Webb will become Directors. The probability is that not one of the three will be chosen; they do not expect to be, and two of them may be quoted as saying positively that they are not even considering such a proposition. Mr. Harriman's secretary may become a Director, following the example of the secretary of Mr. Depew.

***

Influences likely to exert quickest security market effects here, as abroad, will be in South African war reports, though it is difficult either for bull or bear to show how lasting results can be depended upon from foreign events, which, however immediately big, cannot forthwith be conclusive. What Wall Street is very sure of is that the success of British arms will lead quickly to renewed buying of securities here for foreign account.

WHY WAGES GO HIGHER.

An officer of one of the steel companies, discussing the recent increase of wages on the part of several of the companies, said:

"The increase is not surprising, and will readily be understood if the facts of the case are remembered. Up to a short time ago many of the companies were working on old-time orders, at old-time prices. That is to say, they were completing contracts entered into, some of them, months ago at the then prevailing figures. Now, with these orders off their hands, they are starting on new contracts at very much higher prices, and, their profits being larger, they can afford to pay better wages."

NO SETTLEMENT IN SIGHT.

Officials of the independent sugar refining companies repeat that there is nothing to say in respect to the report that they have been in conference, with a view to perfecting an organization to fight the Sugar Trust.

James B. Post of B. H. Howell, Son & Co., representing the Mollenhauer and National Companies, characterized as "for stockjobbing purposes" a report that a settlement of the sugar war was in sight and that the Mollenhauer and National Companies would soon join the trust.

"You may say emphatically," Mr. Post said, "that there is nothing in the report. There is no settlement of the war, nor can we see when there will be any. Those people who argue because of the recent advances in refined sugar prices that these signify a settlement simply do not understand what they are talking about. The advance in raw sugar was responsible for the advance in refined—that and nothing else."

PHILADELPHIA FARES WELL.

Discussing business and financial conditions in Philadelphia, Francis Henderson of Ross, Henderson & Co. of that city says:

"The general condition in our city is good; in fact, it couldn't be much better. We are in sound financial shape, with money easy and growing easier, while our manufacturers, merchants, and business men generally are wonderfully active.

"Our stock market shows a peculiar state of affairs, in that, in the midst of this activity and prosperity, it is apathetic and listless. Even good dividend-paying stocks are selling at a very low price. But, like New York, we are waiting developments."

PUERTO RICO'S PROSPECTS.

F. P. Mayo of Boston, who is interested with Boston capitalists in the proposed construction of a system of docks and railways in Puerto Rico, is a believer in the possibilities of that country. Discussing the matter, Mr. Mayo, who will return to Puerto Rico this week, says:

"In my opinion there are very great possibilities in Puerto Rico, and the development of the island will be of material advantage to this country. But in order to develop it capital is needed. As it is now, there is little money there, and the facilities are few and of small practical benefit. With ready capital the island could be immeasurably benefited and its trade appreciably extended.

"One thing that would help it would be free trade with this country. Now, the island produces 55,000 tons of sugar a year, on which there is a duty of something like $1.60 on every hundredweight. If this were removed it would stimulate the industry very much, and the crop could easily be made half as much again. It is possible, also, to develop the tobacco industry more; but as for coffee, it is in a bad way, and, because of the slow growth, no longer liable, since the blizzard, to meet with much favor."

HOW CANADA BENEFITS.

E. H. Spinney of Yarmouth, N. S., who has just sailed for London, before leaving had a word or two to say of business conditions both here and in Canada.

"It is a fact," said Mr. Spinney, "that when you have prosperity in the United States we have it in Canada also. It is, as it were, a sort of reflected prosperity, our business being helped by yours. In the district where I come from there is especial activity in the lumber and iron ore industries, and not a little of the demand has come from the United States. With closer reciprocal trade relations between the two countries I think that the people of both would be better off, we giving you what you need that you do not grow or manufacture; you giving us that which we need but do not produce."

MORE EQUIPMENT.

Among the orders for equipment placed last week by various railroads are the following:

Southern, 150 coke cars; Florence and Cripple Creek, 150 box cars; Monterey and Mexican Gulf, 100 box cars; Mexican International, 100 gondola cars; New York, New Haven and Hartford, 100 coal cars; Chicago and Eastern Illinois, 10 caboose cars and 500 steel cars; Pennsylvania, 100 box cars of 80,000 pounds' capacity each; Illinois Central, 500 coal cars of 80,000 pounds' capacity each; Southern Pacific, 500 flat cars; Seattle and International, 100 flat cars; Chicago, Lake Shore and Eastern, 150 steel hopper-bottom coal cars; Grand Trunk, 24 locomotives.

THE MANCHESTER MARKET.

MANCHESTER, Jan. 21.—The market last week was strong, with a fair business everywhere for yarns, American yarns being from 1/8@3-16 dearer, and the spinners holding the margin well. Bundles were fairly sold for Japan, China, and the Continent. Egyptian yarns were from 1/4@3/8 higher, and in good demand.

The profits are still large in cloth, which is well situated. All the Indian markets bought last week, Calcutta leading. The severe famine in Bombay, however, is expected to restrict the trade there soon. China was a constant buyer. Most of the manufacturers who are working for the Far East are now deeply engaged for the next six or nine months.

South America did fairly, but the Levant was unsatisfactory and collections were bad. The week's purchases included most of the leading gray bleaching, printing, and dyeing cloths.

The printers' combine to advance prices was a somewhat disturbing factor.

In Continental yarns and cloths the position showed no change, the market being very firm and well sold.

JACKSON AVENUE CAUSEWAY.

Dispute Over Title to Tract, Ownership of Which Mrs. Higgins Claims.

Title to property is in question in the appeals from the awards made by a commission in connection with the widening of the Jackson Avenue causeway across Flushing Bay. The awards amount to several thousand dollars.

The title to one tract, of which Mrs. Mary Higgins is the alleged owner, rests upon a grant made by the State Land Board a number of years ago to John Higgins, her husband, who was at the time owner of the upland adjacent to this property, which is under water. Higgins became insolvent, and his upland was sold under a decree of foreclosure.

No steps were taken to foreclose the land under water, the plaintiffs assuming that the title to the land under water vested in the owners of the upland. Mr. Higgins died, and no action was taken in the matter until, under the condemnation proceedings, awards for the land appropriated for the widening of Jackson Avenue were made to Mrs. Higgins amounting to over $1,000.

It is alleged by the counsel for Mrs. Higgins that as the land under water adjoins the highway, the title is not vested in the owners of the upland foreclosed by her husband's creditors. The Commissioners in the condemnation proceedings took this view. The Jackson Avenue causeway has been widened nad straightened and macadamized by Queens County, the whole improvement involving an expense of $50,000.

The question of benefits and damages still remains unsettled.

GERMAN MONEY CONDITIONS.

BERLIN, Jan. 21.—Money rates continued easier throughout last week. The reduction in London and Vienna had a favorable effect and led to an expectation of a further reduction at the Reichsbank. The difference between official and private rates is now over 2 per cent. Nevertheless, the large volume of discount—176,000,000 marks above the figures of a year ago—renders caution necessary.

A further reduction at the Reichsbank is probable before February. London exchange has dropped slightly below the gold export point.

The great demand for capital here during the last few years is now felt in the scarcity of capital for new enterprises. The emissions in 1899 were 2,036,000,000 marks. In 1898 they were 2,021,000,000 marks. For the two years they were 433,000,000 marks more than the emissions for 1896 and 1897.

Many schemes are now waiting for more favorable conditions. The Boerse has shown a waiting attitude, and speculation has been reduced to narrow limits. Nevertheless values are rather firm. Domestic industrials are again advancing moderately, and coalers were favorites, owing to the obstruction of canal shipments and the reductions of English imports, as well as to the miners' strike in Austria.

The advance in coal prices has agitated the iron market, which reports heavy new inquiries for supplies. The situation there is still improving, and confidence in the boom continues firm.

The bicycle industry makes an unsatisfactory showing. The Freya Works, at Munich, lost $75,000 last year, and the failure of this establishment is possible.

Two hundred brickyards in Westphalia and the Rhine country have formed a pool.

The receipts of the Prussian and Hessian railways from April to December, 1899, were 1,914,000,000 marks, showing an increase of 32,000,000 marks over the corresponding period of the previous year.

CLEARING HOUSE COMPARISONS.

The following table gives the agg

FEDERAL COURTS.

Calendar for Monday, Jan. 22.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT—Brown, J.—Opens at 11 A. M. in Room 66 Post Office Building.

61—International Contract Co. vs. Mulligan.

STATE COURTS.

New York Calendars—This Day.

SUPREME COURT—Appellate Division—Recess.

SUPREME COURT—Appellate Term—For the hearing of appeals from City Court and Municipal Courts.—Recess.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term—Part I.—Andrews, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Litigated motions.

1—Hees vs. Dongan.
2—Waterman vs. Shields.
3—Johnson vs. Fowler.
4—Hemmill vs. Man. Ry.
5—Islen vs. Capelle.
6—Hartley vs. U. H. Diamond Co.
7—Kruger vs. Segelken.
8—Matter of Elders.
9—Bogert vs. Wiener.
10—Matter of Blackwell.
11—In re St. Nicholas Bank.
12—Lagowitz vs. Arendt.
13—Conolly vs. Dillon.
14—Burgess vs. House.
15—Sawyer vs. Thomas.
16—Weller vs. Remington & Sherman Co.
17—Pickhardt vs. Pickhardt.
18—McLaughlin vs. McLaughlin.
19—In re Talmage.
20—In re Hull.
21—Hausenstein vs. Barry.
22—Kauffeld vs. Wallach
23—Danzig vs. Kennedy.
24—Danzig vs. Wood.
25—In re Jarvis.
26—Johnston vs. Harris.
27—Peters vs. Queen.
28—Eckhardt vs. Monterey & Fresno R. R.
29—In re Riverside Park.
30—Saltus vs. Frankel.
31—Wight vs. Middlesex Co. Bank.
32—In re McClelland.
33—Isvar vs. Pelchaft.
34—Kagan vs. Kagan.
35—Wimmel vs. Wimmel.
36—People ex rel. Sayville Steamboat Co. vs. Kempner.
37—Hausman vs. Clausmann.
38—In re Katz.
39—Early vs. Ferris.
40—In re Jacobs.
41—Yankauer vs. Man. Railway Co.
42—Kohn vs. same.
43—Leyerson vs. same.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term—Part II.—Fitzgerald, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Ex-parte business.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term—Part III.—Leventritt, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Calendar clear. Motion.

1—Manhattan Ry. Co. vs. Morss. Demurrer.
2—Bates vs. Riker. Preferred causes.
3—Rosenmeyer vs. Greenbaum.
4—Jenness vs. Meyer.
5—Del. & H. Co. vs. Feltner.
44—Hauser vs. same.
45—Irving Nat. Bank vs. Reed.
46—Nicholas vs. Purdy.
47—Doelger vs. Adamovsky.
48—Mooney vs. Lafollette.
49—Hanrahan vs. Hanrahan.
50—Hawkins vs. Rakas.
51—McCreery vs. Inge.
52—Greenfield vs. Greenfield.
53—Steinberg vs. Met. St. Ry.
54—Boylan vs. Cassin.
55—Globe Realty Co. vs. Tange.
56—Matter of Ginsberg.
57—Neville vs. Brown.
58—Pendleton vs. Harris.
59—Fox vs. Fox.
60—Colton vs. President, &c., of Man. Co.
61—Abbott vs. Meinkin.
62—Waldo vs. Rhinelander.
63—McIlvaine vs. Stender.
64—Gilfillian vs. Kearney.
65—People ex rel. Holt vs. Kearney.
66—Byrne vs. Kearney.
67—Rosenmeyer vs. Greenbaum.
68—Dollar Sav. Bank vs. Seltz.
69—Jayne vs Ingram.
70—People, &c., vs. Lyons.
71—Byrne vs. N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R.
72—Bell vs. McKenna.
73—Early vs. Ferris.
74—Hawkins vs. Pakas.
75—Greenfield vs. Greenfield.
76—Boylan vs. Cassin.
77—Myers vs. O'Connor.
78—German Sav. Bank vs. Welte.
79—Bush vs. Bush.
80—Hitchcock vs. Met. St. Ry.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term—Part III.—Keogh, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Assistant District Attorney Townsend and Gordon for the People.

1—Thomas J. Seery.
2—Nicol A. Douglas, John Crombie.
3—Joseph Kennedy.
4—Giacomo Calepio.
5—Andrew Smith.
6—Filippo Bambino.
7—Lelich Tannanwald.
8—James Kiernan, John Gallagher, John Toohill.
9—Charles Reilly.
10—Julius Samuels.
11—Robert H. Muxlow.
12—E. Arden Noblet.
13—Mary Heinz.
14—Christopher Kennedy
15—William McCarthy.
16—Louise Bergen, Ernestine Percoion. Pleadings.
1—John Gibson, William Deegan.
2—Anthony Fox.
3—Michael Janley.
4—John Murphy.
5—John Reilly.
1300—Shea vs. De Rago.
1463—Weekes vs. Buttman.
467—Simpson vs. Roseman.
1952—Kopke vs. Weber.
1954—Friedner vs. Well.
1634—Hart vs. Met. St. Ry.
1242—Klein vs. 3d Av. R. R.
3984½—Beere vs. Mayer.
1355—Goldberg vs. Briskman.
1965—Brown vs. Cooper.
1930—Same vs. Knowlson.
1931—Same vs. Waldstein.
1932—Same vs. Smith.
1935—Same vs. Loft.
1719—Everett vs. Meskin.
830—Phillips vs. 3d Av. R. R.
1912—Klenke vs. Haupt.
1792—Winich vs. 3d Av. R. R.
1798—Steinman vs. Zeman.
1799—Same vs. same.
1791—O'Connor vs. 3d Av. R. R.
1818—H. B. Claflin Co. vs. Jonasson.
1836—Kerr vs. Hyde.

CITY COURT—Trial Term—Part I.—McMahon, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Assistant District Attorneys Townsend and Gordon for the People.

1—Thomas J. Seery.
2—Nicol A. Douglas, John Crombie.
3—Joseph Kennedy.
4—Giacomo Calepio.
5—Andrew Smith.
6—Filippo Bambino.
7—Lelich Tannanwald.
8—James Kiernan, John Gallagher, John Toohill.
9—Charles Reilly.
10—Julius Samuels.
11—Robert H. Muxlow.
12—E. Arden Noblet.
13—Mary Heinz.
14—Christopher Kennedy
15—William McCarthy.
16—Louise Bergen, Ernestine Percoion. Pleadings.
1—John Gibson, William Deegan.
2—Anthony Fox.
3—Michael Janley.
4—John Murphy.
5—John Reilly.
1419—Heimerdinger vs. Lehigh Valley R. R.
1739—Hergday vs. Slate.
1547—G. H. Haulenbeek Adv. Agency vs. Clark.
1626—Kennenberg vs. Balcolm.
3794½—Ludecke vs. Met. St. Ry.
1435—Madison Sq. Light Co. vs. Kelt.
1697—Cruger vs. Hunt.
1253—Wertheim vs. Strong.
805—Abrahams vs. Morrison.
1427—Hibbard vs. Monegal.
1253—Gerken vs. Ruppert.
450—Schurr vs. 3d Av. R. R.
1959—Paine vs. Bol.
1653—Sadofsky vs. Alpert.
1994—Held vs. Goldberg.

CITY COURT—Trial Term—Part IV.—O'Dwyer, J.—Held in Brownstone Building, (Chambers Street.)—Opens at 10 A. M. All cases must be tried when reached. Calendar clear. Short causes.

3536—Ludwig vs. Shuldiner.
748—Barkley vs. Wohlskehl. Order, &c.
749—Same vs. same.
3703—Perry vs. Rogers.
3190—Sternbach vs. H. S. Crocker Co.
3842—Scheuer vs. Rosenman.
3921—Angelino vs. Abelman.
3920—Stein vs. Ritchle.
3904—Strauss vs. Waldorf.

Highest number reached in regular call, 1995.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS—Part I.—McMahon, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Assistant District Attorneys Townsend and Gordon for the People.

1—Thomas J. Seery.
2—Nicol A. Douglas, John Crombie.
3—Joseph Kennedy.
4—Giacomo Calepio.
5—Andrew Smith.
6—Filippo Bambino.
7—Lelich Tannanwald.
8—James Kiernan, John Gallagher, John Toohill.
9—Charles Reilly.
10—Julius Samuels.
11—Robert H. Muxlow.
12—E. Arden Noblet.
13—Mary Heinz.
14—Christopher Kennedy
15—William McCarthy.
16—Louise Bergen, Ernestine Percoion. Pleadings.
1—John Gibson, William Deegan.
2—Anthony Fox.
3—Michael Janley.
4—John Murphy.
5—John Reilly.
1419—Heimerdinger vs. Lehigh Valley R. R.
1739—Hergday vs. Slate.
1547—G. H. Haulenbeek Adv. Agency vs. Clark.
1626—Kennenberg vs. Balcolm.
3794½—Ludecke vs. Met. St. Ry.
1435—Madison Sq. Light Co. vs. Kelt.
1697—Cruger vs. Hunt.
1253—Wertheim vs. Strong.
805—Abrahams vs. Morrison.
1427—Hibbard vs. Monegal.
1253—Gerken vs. Ruppert.
450—Schurr vs. 3d Av. R. R.
1959—Paine vs. Bol.
1653—Sadofsky vs. Alpert.
1994—Held vs. Goldberg.

CITY COURT—Trial Term—Part V.—Cowing, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Assistant Districts Attorneys McClelland and Herrman for the People.

1—Percy Simms.
2—Edward Johnson.
3—Thomas Jackson.
4—Samuel Bright.
5—Jennie Allen.
6—Thomas Feeney.
7—Louis Goldstein.
8—John H. Wills.
9—Frank Walsh, John Warren.
10—Frank Rossler, Thomas J. Horn, Thomas Curry.
11—Charles Fuchman.
12—Herman Fuchs, Harry Drepler.
521—Greene vs. Electricity Newspaper Co.
617—Goldowitz vs. Healy.
1169—Alexander vs. Goodman.
3028—Cohal vs. Margraf.
1282—Leow vs. Con. Gas Co.
1348—Cohen vs. 3d Av. R. R.
1146—Dressner vs. Dressner.
3902½—Twelfth Ward Bank vs. Rogers.
1770—Villias vs. Stern.
1814—Meyer vs. Reorgan.
3895—Rodkinson vs. Met. Life Ins. Co.
1885—Gross vs. Dry Dock, &c., R. R.
1809—Fried vs. Met. St. Ry.
1899—Con. Steel & M. Co. vs. Stole.
1914—Hutkoff vs. Lucas.
958—Balsam vs. Atkinson.
1874—Rosenberg vs. Friedland.
1924—Ketchum vs. Belding.
1925—Same vs. Munn.
1926—Same vs. Bates.
1927—Same vs. Morgan.
1928—Same vs. Dreyer.

CITY COURT—Trial Term—Part III.—Conlan, J.—Held in Brownstone Building, (Chambers Street.) Opens at 10 A. M. Calendar clear.

746—See & Theiss Marble Co. vs. Westchester Elec. R. R.
1316—Keller vs. Universal Storage & W. Co.
603—Jacobs vs. 3d Av. R. R.
815—Zimerspitz vs. Gross.
3696½—Haslacher vs. 3d Av. R. R.
1794—Saracco vs. Fiske.
1795—Tosi vs. same.
1982—Smith vs. Hubsam & Horrmann Brew. Co.
1986—Burkan vs. Moses.
1702—Park & Tilford vs. Thayer.
1731—Brumberg vs. 3d Av. R. R.
1484—Keller vs. Ketchum.
3922½—Purdy vs. C. C. White Paper Mfg Co.
791—Bergner vs. Russell.

CITY COURT—Trial Term—Part IV.—O'Dwyer, J.—Held in Brownstone Building, (Chambers Street.)—Opens at 10 A. M. All cases must be tried when reached. Calendar clear. Short causes.

3536—Ludwig vs. Shuldiner.
748—Barkley vs. Wohlskehl. Order, &c.
749—Same vs. same.
3703—Perry vs. Rogers.
3190—Sternbach vs. H. S. Crocker Co.
3842—Scheuer vs. Rosenman.
3921—Angelino vs. Abelman.
3920—Stein vs. Ritchle.
3904—Strauss vs. Waldorf.

Highest number reached in regular call, 1995.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS—Part I.—McMahon, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Assistant District Attorneys Townsend and Gordon for the People.

1—Thomas J. Seery.
2—Nicol A. Douglas, John Crombie.
3—Joseph Kennedy.
4—Giacomo Calepio.
5—Andrew Smith.
6—Filippo Bambino.
7—Lelich Tannanwald.
8—James Kiernan, John Gallagher, John Toohill.
9—Charles Reilly.
10—Julius Samuels.
11—Robert H. Muxlow.
12—E. Arden Noblet.
13—Mary Heinz.
14—Christopher Kennedy
15—William McCarthy.
16—Louise Bergen, Ernestine Percoion. Pleadings.
1—John Gibson, William Deegan.
2—Anthony Fox.
3—Michael Janley.
4—John Murphy.
5—John Reilly.
1419—Heimerdinger vs. Lehigh Valley R. R.
1739—Hergday vs. Slate.
1547—G. H. Haulenbeek Adv. Agency vs. Clark.
1626—Kennenberg vs. Balcolm.
3794½—Ludecke vs. Met. St. Ry.
1435—Madison Sq. Light Co. vs. Kelt.
1697—Cruger vs. Hunt.
1253—Wertheim vs. Strong.
805—Abrahams vs. Morrison.
1427—Hibbard vs. Monegal.
1253—Gerken vs. Ruppert.
450—Schurr vs. 3d Av. R. R.
1959—Paine vs. Bol.
1653—Sadofsky vs. Alpert.
1994—Held vs. Goldberg.

CITY COURT—Trial Term—Part VI.—Smith, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Cases to be sent from day calendar for trial. Case on.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term—Part VII.—Freedman, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Elevated railroad cases. Calendar clear.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term—Part VIII.—Adjourned for the term.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Part I.—(Criminal Term.)—Fursman, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Assistant District Attorney Walsh for the People.

1—Lena Lieberman.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Part II.—McAdam, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Calendar clear. Preferred causes.

12084—Boehm vs. Motley
11914—Fyfe vs. Paine.
11708—Corbin vs. Field.
12176—Nichols vs. Miller
11737—Baxter vs. Moffatt.
12303—Bornheimer vs. Gillen.
12206—Lubitz vs. Summit Knitting Co.
12501—Emerson vs. Rose

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Day Calendar—To be called in Part III. Room at 10:30 A. M. Cases will be sent from this calendar to Trial Term, Parts III. and IV., for trial.

4313—Garvey vs. Met. St. Ry. Co.
4365—Bangham vs. same
4366—Same vs. same.
4331—Sheridan vs. same.
6128—Howard vs. Rankin.
6388—Edwards vs. Huffman House.
6067—Hamburger Provident Sav. Assn. v s.
6766—Werner vs. Rappheim.
3921—Levene vs. Clark.
10293—Ward vs. St. Vincent's Hospital.
4389—Greenbaum vs. Fowler.
6719—Leggeratt vs. City of New York.
4897—Sternberger vs. Croner.
6701—Danuco vs. Murray
6709—Doorley vs. Electric Vehicle Co.
620—Cohen vs. Reiss.
2053—Leotsakos' vs. Vlasto.
6195—Keil vs. Mayor, &c.
11818—Lichtenstein vs. same.
4370—Fuller vs. Met. St. Ry. Co.
6137—Norwood vs. Mayor, &c.

Highest number reached in regular call on general calendar, 7166.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Part III.—Beach, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Cases to be sent from day calendar for trial. Calendar clear.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Part IV.—MacLean, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Cases to be sent from day calendar for trial. Case on.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Parts V., VI., and VIII.—Adjourned for the term.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Day Calendar—To be called in Trial Term, Part VII. Room, at 10:30 A. M. Cases to be sent from this calendar to Trial Term, Parts VII., IX., X., and XI., for trial.

6987—Reynolds vs. Brenner.
4441—Hannah vs. Anderson.
6461—Hinckle vs. Hayes.
1533—Wiedermann vs. Everard.
5250—Sweeney vs. Brennan.
4009—Raymond vs. Dittenhoefer.
4018—Relman vs. Dreicer.
4113—McManus vs. 3d Av. R. R. Co.
6782—Murray vs. Brennan
4303—Di Pascale vs. 3d Av. R. R. Co.
4307—Buchanan vs. same.
4522—Steele vs. Hutkopf
2229—Kissel vs. Flint.
5972—Herrick vs. Guarantors' Finance Co.
4306—Masterson vs. 3d Av. R. R. Co.
4309—Franklin vs. same.
5491—Berringer vs. New York Steam Co.
5927—Harris vs. Goodman.
6144—Philban vs. Standard Structural Co.
6529—Hayden vs. Bell.
6931—Supple Hardware Co. vs. Driggs.
6935—Bowie vs. Gross.
6954—Smith vs. Keser.
2865½—D. M. Kiehler & Sons Co. vs. Boylan.
541—A. Blum, Jr., & Sons vs. United Firemen's Ins. Co.
5144—Danzig vs. N. Y. C. & H. R. R. R. Co.
7039—Hewitt vs. Miller.
3646—Rosenstein vs. Prince.
5442—Syms vs. Von der Leith.
962—Palmer vs. Sun Printing & Pub. Co.
3028—Lippe vs. Moran.
4275—Banks vs. Union Ry. Co.
6432—Bowers vs. Sanford.
5658—Mengler vs. Hewson.
6147—Collis vs. Press Publishing Co.
11313—Kister vs. Manhattan Ry. Co.
4672—Townsley vs. Bankers' Life Ins. Co.
4292—Mahler vs. Joseph.
5437—Schmitz vs. Suzuki.
5242—Cuddy vs. Rainey.
5255—Marshall vs. Seelig
4392—Faber vs. Hamilton.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Part VII.—Gildersleeve, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Cases to be sent from day calendar for trial. Calendar clear.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Part IX.—Dugro, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Cases to be sent from day calendar for trial. Calendar clear.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Part X.—Truax, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Cases to be sent from day calendar for trial. Calendar clear.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Part XI.—Scott, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Cases to be sent from day calendar for trial. Calendar clear.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Part XII.—Adjourned for the term.

SURROGATE'S COURT—Chambers—Thomas, S.—Wills for probate at 10:30 A. M.

Maria S. Keyser,
Mary L. Housley,
George Pierce,
Meyer Bauland,
Gustavus S. Winston.
Augusta Schindler,
Mayer M. Schwartz,
Gustave P. Terrenoud,
Sarah Whitehead,
Frank Lask.

SURROGATE'S COURT—Trial Term—Held in Surrogate's Court, Trial Term, Ground Floor, in County Court House—Fitzgerald, S. Opens at 10:30 A. M. Contested wills.

1502—James MacKean.
1499—James Mullins.
1510—Robert Bolmer.
1531—Sarah Goodheim.
1468—Matthew F. Harney.
1471—Annie Taylor Morgan.
1516—Johanna B. Widmayer.

CITY COURT—General Term—Adjourned sine die.

CITY COURT—Special Term—Hascall, J.—Opens at 10 A. M. Held in Brownstone Building, (Chambers Street.) Motions must be made returnable at 10:30 A. M. and must be placed upon the Chambers Clerk's calendar before that hour to entitle them to be heard. Defaults on motions will be taken at 11 A. M.

CITY COURT—Trial Term—Part I.—Fitzsimons, C. J.—Held in Brownstone Building, (Chambers Street.)—Opens at 10 A. M. Calendar clear.

521—Greene vs. Electricity Newspaper Co.
617—Goldowitz vs. Healy.
1169—Alexander vs. Goodman.
3028—Cohal vs. Margraf.
1282—Leow vs. Con. Gas Co.
1348—Cohen vs. 3d Av. R. R.
1146—Dressner vs. Dressner.
3902½—Twelfth Ward Bank vs. Rogers.

CITY COURT—Trial Term—Part II.—McCarthy, J.—Held in Brownstone Building, (Chambers Street.)—Opens at 10 A. M. Case on.

1770—Villias vs. Stern.
1814—Meyer vs. Reorgan.
3895—Rodkinson vs. Met. Life Ins. Co.
1885—Gross vs. Dry Dock, &c., R. R.
1809—Fried vs. Met. St. Ry.
1899—Con. Steel & M. Co. vs. Stole.
1914—Hutkoff vs. Lucas.
958—Balsam vs. Atkinson.
1874—Rosenberg vs. Friedland.
1924—Ketchum vs. Belding.
1925—Same vs. Munn.
1926—Same vs. Bates.
1927—Same vs. Morgan.
1928—Same vs. Dreyer.

CITY COURT—Trial Term—Part III.—Conlan, J.—Held in Brownstone Building, (Chambers Street.) Opens at 10 A. M. Calendar clear.

746—See & Theiss Marble Co. vs. Westchester Elec. R. R.
1316—Keller vs. Universal Storage & W. Co.
603—Jacobs vs. 3d Av. R. R.
815—Zimerspitz vs. Gross.
3696½—Haslacher vs. 3d Av. R. R.
1794—Saracco vs. Fiske.
1795—Tosi vs. same.
1982—Smith vs. Hubsam & Horrmann Brew. Co.
1986—Burkan vs. Moses.
1702—Park & Tilford vs. Thayer.
1731—Brumberg vs. 3d Av. R. R.
1484—Keller vs. Ketchum.
3922½—Purdy vs. C. C. White Paper Mfg Co.
791—Bergner vs. Russell.

CITY COURT—Trial Term—Part IV.—O'Dwyer, J.—Held in Brownstone Building, (Chambers Street.)—Opens at 10 A. M. All cases must be tried when reached. Calendar clear. Short causes.

3536—Ludwig vs. Shuldiner.
748—Barkley vs. Wohlskehl. Order, &c.
749—Same vs. same.
3703—Perry vs. Rogers.
3190—Sternbach vs. H. S. Crocker Co.
3842—Scheuer vs. Rosenman.
3921—Angelino vs. Abelman.
3920—Stein vs. Ritchle.
3904—Strauss vs. Waldorf.

Highest number reached in regular call, 1995.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS—Part I.—McMahon, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Assistant District Attorneys Townsend and Gordon for the People.

1—Thomas J. Seery.
2—Nicol A. Douglas, John Crombie.
3—Joseph Kennedy.
4—Giacomo Calepio.
5—Andrew Smith.
6—Filippo Bambino.
7—Lelich Tannanwald.
8—James Kiernan, John Gallagher, John Toohill.
9—Charles Reilly.
10—Julius Samuels.
11—Robert H. Muxlow.
12—E. Arden Noblet.
13—Mary Heinz.
14—Christopher Kennedy
15—William McCarthy.
16—Louise Bergen, Ernestine Percoion. Pleadings.
1—John Gibson, William Deegan.
2—Anthony Fox.
3—Michael Janley.
4—John Murphy.
5—John Reilly.
1419—Heimerdinger vs. Lehigh Valley R. R.
1739—Hergday vs. Slate.
1547—G. H. Haulenbeek Adv. Agency vs. Clark.
1626—Kennenberg vs. Balcolm.
3794½—Ludecke vs. Met. St. Ry.
1435—Madison Sq. Light Co. vs. Kelt.
1697—Cruger vs. Hunt.
1253—Wertheim vs. Strong.
805—Abrahams vs. Morrison.
1427—Hibbard vs. Monegal.
1253—Gerken vs. Ruppert.
450—Schurr vs. 3d Av. R. R.
1959—Paine vs. Bol.
1653—Sadofsky vs. Alpert.
1994—Held vs. Goldberg.

CITY COURT—Special Term Trials—Jenks, J.—Day calendar.

To be continued—441—India, Wharf Brew. Co. vs. Brook. Wharf &c., Co.
488—Strack vs. Brooklyn El. R. R. Co.
489—Leverich vs. same.
490—Haggerty vs. same.
491—Haggerty vs. same.
492—D. T. Leverich vs. same.
493—Feeney vs. same.
440—Cleveland vs. Pomeroy.
377—Tompkins vs. Rosebrouck.
500—Lambertson vs. Lambertson.
437—Hadley vs. Hadley.
97—Ayers vs. Ayers.
324—Clarke vs. Sullivan.
313—Mead vs. Horin.
458—Chauncey vs.
171—Parks vs. Parks.
454—Lustig vs. Oliger.
87—McKeever vs. Cuhen.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Day Calendar—Part I. Gaynor, J.; Part II., Dickey, J.; Part III., Keogh, J.; Part IV., Maddox, J.; Part V., Lambert, J.

2776—Clark vs. Cliff Paper Co.
14 5— ann lly vs. B'klyn Heights R. R.
2724—Rauch vs. same.
5214—Johnson vs. Lord.
2049—Solotoff vs. Davidsburgh.
2318—Glasbeen vs. Manhattan Lighterage Co
4444—Glass vs. Levy.
4457—People ex rel. O'Sullivan vs. Farrell
1783—Parsian vs. Russell.
1853—Jones vs. B., Q. C. & Sub. R. R.
2515—Bradford vs. Uhlman.
2601—Disler vs. McCauley.
354—Cmielewski vs. Mullenhauer Sugar Co.
1874—Evans vs. Gilbert.
2262—Peterson vs. Farrell.
1318—Larsen vs. Del., L. & W. R. R.

The following causes, if marked ready, will be passed for the day. Causes will not be set down for days upon the calendar.

1266—Stuart vs. B'klyn Wharf Co.
2961—O'Connor vs. B'klyn Heights R. R.
2052—Annunziato vs. Rudolph.
3625—Wolf vs. Brooklyn Heights R. R.
2952—Ross vs. Williams.
2124—Dillon vs. Nassau R. R.
4573—Boskowitz vs. B. H. R. R.
4606—Kelly vs. City of New York et al.
4740—Freeman vs. B. H. R. R.
4603—Williamson vs. B. H. R. R.
2130—Knight vs. same.
1461—McCarroll vs. same.
3454—Connell vs. Standard Oil Co.
892—Flatow vs. Jenkins.
1726—Reeder vs. Merserau & Co.
2025—Poulson vs. Navarro.
1215—Quirk vs. Siegel-Cooper Co.
42—Strauss vs. Edelstein
43—Matter of Flanagan.
44—Matter of Masscrop.
45—Matter of Baker.
46—Ray vs. N. Y. Bay R. R.
47—McConnell vs. Village of Tarrytown.
48—Doran vs. Harwick.
50—Pilkington vs. B. H. R. R.
51—Schreiver vs. B. H. R. R.
52—Palmer vs. Board of Education, &c.
53—Matter of Ibert.
2708—Gardiner vs. Campbell.
3424—Brown vs. B. H. R. R.
2384—Cowley vs. Nassau R. R.
3198—Morean vs. Siegel-Cooper Co.
1878—Klein vs. B'klyn Union Gas Co.
4067—Baccio vs. N. Y. Condensed Milk Co.
4134—Reeder vs. Westphal.
4587—Whitbeck vs. Palmer et al.
4539—Francois vs. Morrison.
4577—Coughlin vs. B. H. R. R.
4508—Kling vs. same.
4571—Anwater vs. same.
4598—Gambino vs. Romeo.
4699—Hoy vs. Brooklyn Heights R. R.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term—Part II.—Cowing, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Assistant District Attorneys McClelland and Herrman for the People.

1—Percy Simms.
2—Edward Johnson.
3—Thomas Jackson.
4—Samuel Bright.
5—Jennie Allen.
6—Thomas Feeney.
7—Louis Goldstein.
8—John H. Wills.
9—Frank Walsh, John Warren.
10—Frank Rossler, Thomas J. Horn, Thomas Curry.
11—Charles Fuchman.
12—Herman Fuchs, Harry Drepler.
1300—Shea vs. De Rago.
1463—Weekes vs. Buttman.
467—Simpson vs. Roseman.
1952—Kopke vs. Weber.
1954—Friedner vs. Well.
1634—Hart vs. Met. St. Ry.
1242—Klein vs. 3d Av. R. R.
3984½—Beere vs. Mayer.
1355—Goldberg vs. Briskman.
1965—Brown vs. Cooper.
1930—Same vs. Knowlson.
1931—Same vs. Waldstein.
1932—Same vs. Smith.
1935—Same vs. Loft.
1719—Everett vs. Meskin.
830—Phillips vs. 3d Av. R. R.
1912—Klenke vs. Haupt.
1792—Winich vs. 3d Av. R. R.
1798—Steinman vs. Zeman.
1799—Same vs. same.
1791—O'Connor vs. 3d Av. R. R.
1818—H. B. Claflin Co. vs. Jonasson.
1836—Kerr vs. Hyde.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term—Part III.—Keogh, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Assistant District Attorneys Townsend and Gordon for the People.

1—Thomas J. Seery.
2—Nicol A. Douglas, John Crombie.
3—Joseph Kennedy.
4—Giacomo Calepio.
5—Andrew Smith.
6—Filippo Bambino.
7—Lelich Tannanwald.
8—James Kiernan, John Gallagher, John Toohill.
9—Charles Reilly.
10—Julius Samuels.
11—Robert H. Muxlow.
12—E. Arden Noblet.
13—Mary Heinz.
14—Christopher Kennedy
15—William McCarthy.
16—Louise Bergen, Ernestine Percoion. Pleadings.
1—John Gibson, William Deegan.
2—Anthony Fox.
3—Michael Janley.
4—John Murphy.
5—John Reilly.
1419—Heimerdinger vs. Lehigh Valley R. R.
1739—Hergday vs. Slate.
1547—G. H. Haulenbeek Adv. Agency vs. Clark.
1626—Kennenberg vs. Balcolm.
3794½—Ludecke vs. Met. St. Ry.
1435—Madison Sq. Light Co. vs. Kelt.
1697—Cruger vs. Hunt.
1253—Wertheim vs. Strong.
805—Abrahams vs. Morrison.
1427—Hibbard vs. Monegal.
1253—Gerken vs. Ruppert.
450—Schurr vs. 3d Av. R. R.
1959—Paine vs. Bol.
1653—Sadofsky vs. Alpert.
1994—Held vs. Goldberg.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term—Part IV.—Goff, R.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. No day calendar.

Referee Appointed—New York.

SUPREME COURT—Fitzgerald, J.—Arnold vs. Arnold—Edwin G. Whittaker.

Receiver Appointed—New York.

SUPREME COURT—Fitzgerald, J.—Morris Eschwege vs. Michael Coffel et al.—John Welch.

Brooklyn Court Calendars.

SUPREME COURT—Appellate Division, Second Judicial Department—Goodrich, P. J.; Bartlett, Hatch, Woodward, and Hirschberg, JJ.—Non-enumerated day calendar.

1—Oprandy vs. Garcia.
2—Oprandy vs. Garcia.
6—Climax Machine vs. Town of Montgomery
10—Matter of Potter.
14—Matter of Kendall.
15—Matter of Kendall.
8—Goodwin vs. Coler.
17—Recht vs. Ruhl.
24—New Rochelle Gas and Fuel Co. vs. Van Benschoten.
35—Everitt vs. Everitt.
194—Housman vs. Wright
20—Matter of Vacheron.
11—Depew vs. Solomonowitz

SUPREME COURT—Special Term Trials—Jenks, J.—Day calendar.

To be continued—441—India, Wharf Brew. Co. vs. Brook. Wharf &c., Co.
488—Strack vs. Brooklyn El. R. R. Co.
489—Leverich vs. same.
490—Haggerty vs. same.
491—Haggerty vs. same.
492—D. T. Leverich vs. same.
493—Feeney vs. same.
440—Cleveland vs. Pomeroy.
377—Tompkins vs. Rosebrouck.
500—Lambertson vs. Lambertson.
437—Hadley vs. Hadley.
97—Ayers vs. Ayers.
324—Clarke vs. Sullivan.
313—Mead vs. Horin.
458—Chauncey vs.
171—Parks vs. Parks.
454—Lustig vs. Oliger.
87—McKeever vs. Cuhen.

SUPREME COURT—Trial Term—Day Calendar—Part I. Gaynor, J.; Part II., Dickey, J.; Part III., Keogh, J.; Part IV., Maddox, J.; Part V., Lambert, J.

2776—Clark vs. Cliff Paper Co.
14 5— ann lly vs. B'klyn Heights R. R.
2724—Rauch vs. same.
5214—Johnson vs. Lord.
2049—Solotoff vs. Davidsburgh.
2318—Glasbeen vs. Manhattan Lighterage Co
4444—Glass vs. Levy.
4457—People ex rel. O'Sullivan vs. Farrell
1783—Parsian vs. Russell.
1853—Jones vs. B., Q. C. & Sub. R. R.
2515—Bradford vs. Uhlman.
2601—Disler vs. McCauley.
354—Cmielewski vs. Mullenhauer Sugar Co.
1874—Evans vs. Gilbert.
2262—Peterson vs. Farrell.
1318—Larsen vs. Del., L. & W. R. R.
2980—Martone vs. Lindino.
3926—Wheeler vs. Nassau Railroad.
1938—Lewis vs. Nassau Railroad.
2898—Nelson vs. Masonic Life Ins. Co.
1745—Goldklang vs. Nassau Railroad.
2282—Schranck vs. Nassau Railroad.
984—Hodgins vs. Carlin.
1751—Flanagan vs. B. H. R. R.
3161—Graham vs. Silver & Co.
3041—Simonson vs. B. H. R. R.
3191—Rhoades vs. B'k'n Union El. R. R.
2606—Wilson vs. Nassau R. R.
2352—Baldwin vs. Abraham.
2051—Dubbioso vs. Feron
4705—Josephine Hausman, an alleged incompetent.

The following causes, if marked ready, will be passed for the day. Causes will not be set down for days upon the calendar.

1266—Stuart vs. B'klyn Wharf Co.
2961—O'Connor vs. B'klyn Heights R. R.
2052—Annunziato vs. Rudolph.
3625—Wolf vs. Brooklyn Heights R. R.
2952—Ross vs. Williams.
2124—Dillon vs. Nassau R. R.
4573—Boskowitz vs. B. H. R. R.
4606—Kelly vs. City of New York et al.
4740—Freeman vs. B. H. R. R.
4603—Williamson vs. B. H. R. R.
2130—Knight vs. same.
1461—McCarroll vs. same.
3454—Connell vs. Standard Oil Co.
892—Flatow vs. Jenkins.
1726—Reeder vs. Merserau & Co.
2708—Gardiner vs. Campbell.
3424—Brown vs. B. H. R. R.
2384—Cowley vs. Nassau R. R.
3198—Morean vs. Siegel-Cooper Co.
1878—Klein vs. B'klyn Union Gas Co.
4067—Baccio vs. N. Y. Condensed Milk Co.
4134—Reeder vs. Westphal.
4587—Whitbeck vs. Palmer et al.
4539—Francois vs. Morrison.
4577—Coughlin vs. B. H. R. R.
4508—Kling vs. same.
4571—Anwater vs. same.
4598—Gambino vs. Romeo.
4699—Hoy vs. Brooklyn Heights R. R.

PIANOS.

Established 1854.

GABLER

PIANOS.

To Rent or for Sale on Easy Terms. 214 to 224 EAST 22D STREET.

PIANO WANTED.

WILL PAY CASH FOR GOOD UPRIGHT. STATE MAKE, NUMBER, AND LOWEST PRICE. M. P., BOX 102 N. Y. TIMES OFFICE.

THE OPERA PIANO

New and elegant designs, also several slightly used WRITE FOR BARGAIN LIST.

Warerooms, Broadway, Cor. 47th St

INSTRUCTION.

FOR SELF-SUPPORTING YOUNG WOMEN CLASSES.

ART, Manual training, design, Modeling, Wood carving, Tadd system.

FREE HAND drawing, photo retouching, photo color, crayon, water color, sketch class.

BUSINESS TRAINING, Writing, Arithmetic, Typewriting.

TRAINING of attendants on the sick.

SEWING, graded system.
DRESSMAKING, with or without chart.
MILLINERY, embroidery.

Apply YOUNG WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN ASS'N, 7 East 15th St. 9 A. M. to 5 P. M., 7 to 9 P. M. Saturday afternoons and evenings excepted.

LANGUAGES.

The Berlitz School of Languages, 1,122 Broadway, New York. 73 Court St., B'klyn. Special advantages for Visitors to Paris Exposition.

INSTRUCTION—BUSINESS COLLEGES.

The Packard Commercial School 101 E 23d St. corner 4th Ave New York Telephone 101-18th

All commercial branches individually taught. Students who enter now have six months for business preparation before vacation. Ask for catalogue.

SURROGATE NOTICES.

FRY, SIMON.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against SIMON FRY, late of the County of New York, Borough of Manhattan, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscribers, at their place of transacting business, at the office of Messrs. Horwitz & Samuels, their attorneys, No. 346

DR. PARKHURST'S CHARGE

Says Christians Abandon City Government to "Thieves."

Affirms Churches Cannot Cope with Evils Now Leading the City's Youth to Perdition.

The Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, from his pulpit in the Madison Square Presbyterian Church, at the service yesterday morning again attacked the present city administration, blaming it for the vice that exists in New York and admitting that the churches and mission houses are unable to cope with it.

In referring to the duties of the minister and the layman, Dr. Parkhurst said, in part:

"With all the selfish men and all the wicked men that are in the ministry, from the days of Judas down, there yet prevails quite generally the idea that, whereas a ministerial Christian ought to be supremely burdened by the needs of mankind, a lay Christian can still be a good Christian—as good as there is any practical necessity for his being—and load himself with the burdens of mankind, in greater degree or in less degree, a good deal as he happens to feel like doing. In other words, there currently exists, even among men that ordinarily think pretty carefully, that distinction between being in the ministry and being out of it that operates to excuse men that are out of it from helping to carry that world burden that devolves upon every Christian. I am not arguing that the ministry should be less consecrated; God forbid!—but that Christianity is Christianity, loyalty to God, consecration to mankind, devotion to the generation, in the ministry or out of it.

"Now I want to illustrate my meaning by an example taken right out from the heart of the situation as it exists here in this city. This is not a bad town, if it be viewed with regard to the tremendously large element of straightforward and clean people that are in it. We have been divinely informed that those two distinguished cities that were destroyed by fire and brimstone in Abraham's time would have been spared if there had been as many as ten righteous men among the inhabitants. And undoubtedly we have thousands of just that character—as straightforward as Abraham himself—and more so if you take account of some of his dealings.

"Yet perhaps there is no city within the bounds of Christian civilization that is as vile in its administration as our own, but that is less the fault of the wicked people than it is of the righteous ones. It is properly demanded of a Christian citizen that he should carry upon his heart the civic needs of the people among whom he is planted. And that is not done. That is our trouble. If a man is a Christian, citizenship is appointed to be one of the channels through which he shall make his own personal character as a Christian a factor of the times in which he lives and of the town to which he belongs, and that is just what by any considerable number of Christian citizens is not done.

"Christians are Christians on Sunday, Christians at the prayer meetings, Christians at the communion table, work like slaves six days out of the week making money, and leave the city to be ruled by a race of thieves and vagabonds, and the consequence is that more children are being started on the direct road to hell every week than all the churches, missions, and Sunday schools combined are saving in a year.

"The point there, however, is not the condition of the city, but the fact that so many of those who are called Christians are Christian for themselves simply, and not for the rest of the world. I do not of course mean that as any sweeping characterization, although I do not understand how as a community we could be where we are to-day if there were not an enormous mass of so-called Christians to whom that last remark of mine applies.

"All of the foregoing, then, indicates self-forgetting and outward-reaching tendency of individual Christianity, when genuinely established in the heart, regardless of all distinction of clergyman and layman, missionary and Assemblyman, Sunday school teacher and stock broker."

ATTACKING CITY VICE.

Inspector Cross Adopts a New Police Plan to Cleanse the Lower East Side.

Inspector Cross of the First Inspection District, whose territory includes the several police precincts on the lower east side, instituted a new order of things last night with a view of driving disorderly women from the flats, the tenement houses, and the streets of the Twelfth Precinct, which is commanded by Capt. Herlihy.

Inspector Cross said, in speaking of what the police propose to do, that the condition of affairs relative to the prevalence of the social evil on the streets and in the tenements in that particular portion of the town had been notoriously a subject of newspaper comment and criticism. He does not think, he said, that the picture is as bad as it has been painted in the public press, and he added:

"We have determined to give the subject heroic treatment. After consultation with Chief Devery I asked him to send me forty young, unmarried men from up town and from all parts of the Boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx for the purpose of cleaning out the precinct. He has done so, and these men have just left my office to go into the precinct and honestly arrest all women soliciting on the streets or from the stoops or windows of flats and tenement houses, and we will thus probably ascertain where the evil exists, if its exists anywhere.

"All these men are young officers, are unacquainted with the east side, and are unknown to the residents of that locality. These men will remain at the duty assigned them until their usefulness is past, when they will be sent back to their precincts, and new men will be substituted. A special effort will be made to prosecute the landlords who rent their houses for immoral purposes. If it is necessary we will send down 200 men right into Allen Street, if those now detailed here are not enough for the work in hand."

The Inspector spoke earnestly, and Capt. Herlihy, the commander of the precinct, who sat beside him, nodded his head in approval of the Inspector's words.

DR. ADLER'S SHARP REBUKE.

Spirit of Money-Getting, He Declares, Vitiates His Society—Blames Men of Millions.

"Perils of the Modern Family" was the theme of Dr. Felix Adler yesterday morning before the Society for Ethical Culture at Carnegie Music Hall. Dr. Adler rebuked his congregation for being too much interested in money-getting, and for not being sufficiently interested in the higher things of life. He specifically criticised them for never having furnished him with a helper from their own number in all the years he has led the society.

Dr. Adler first discussed the relation of parents and children. In part, he said:

"There are two theories of life, precisely opposite to each other, which to-day have a pernicious influence on the family. They are individualism and socialism. Individualism is the doctrine of people who like to be alone, to do as they please. When every member of the family feels that way, that interdependence which is the joy and beauty of family life is destroyed. In its extreme form individualism in politics leads straight to Anarchism.

"Socialism, on the other hand, commends itself to those who like to be in a crowd. It is a grand idea, that of universal fraternity, but if it means in practice merely the minimizing of your duty to your own kith and kin, it may work great evil. Socialism, with all its grand enthusiams, is the great enemy of the family.

"But the greatest enemy of all, perhaps, is materialism. What was the great object of parents in Greece and Rome? To make their children happy, as we say? Not at all. In Greece the aim was to equip a son to worthily hold a great position in the State. The citizens of Rome strove to make their children worthy members of the sovereign Roman people. In each case it was that they should serve interests greater than themselves. The purity of Hebrew family life has been proverbial until very recently. This purity was the chief boast of the race. The Jews above other maintained a great ideal.

"To-day we desire that our children shall be good American citizens. But we do not educate our children to be faithful to Jewish tradition, nor do Christians educate theirs to be devoted members of the body of Christ. We try, indeed, to 'make them happy.' When was happiness made the chief object of life? Formerly a father said to his son: 'I serve, that you may serve.' Now he says: 'I toil, I save up.' For what? Why, 'that you may have a good time.' We are not selfish ourselves, but we are absolutely selfish in regard for our children. If some power should offer to make your son one of the great chiefs of our time, a multi-millionaire, how many of you would not jump at the offer? We must, indeed, educate our children to get moderate wealth, but the aim should be efficiency in necessary work.

"Why should we throw temptations in the way of our sons by piling up great fortunes for them? During the war with Spain some of the sciens of our wealthy families prided themselves on their ability to endure hardships even better than the sons of poor men. If so, why should they return to luxury, to the life of clubs? Why should strong, able men live like valetudinarians? If we cultivate hardihood in our children, we should not need to worry about their getting on.

"Why is such a deep resentment felt against those who direct great financial operations to-day, although they may unconsciously be rendering a social service? The question has been raised as to whether the charities of these men do not justify their huge fortunes. Not a bit of it. Such charity cannot efface a single wrong done in accumulating the money. President Hadley has suggested the ostracizing of these men, and the pertinent question has been raised, Who will do the ostracizing? Our whole society is infiltrated with the money-getting idea.

"I have been serving you for nearly twenty-four years, and I had helpers who came from the East and from the West, but never one from this society. Why is it that you have never given me a single helper? It is not because of the spirit of money-getting? Is it not because you care for your child's happiness, and not for its well-being?

"We should not forget the example of that Hebrew mother who was willing to see her son led even the way of Calvary, in order that He might unfold and make manifest what was divine in Him. The mothers who love what is divine in their sons, and the sons who spring from them, will renew the world."

FIFTY YEARS A PASTOR.

The Rev. Dr. John D. Wells of Brooklyn Celebrates the Event.

The Rev. Dr. John D. Wells yesterday celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his installation as pastor of the South Third Street Presbyterian Church, Brooklyn. In honor of the event the interior of the church was decorated with greens, while the pulpit was about hidden from view by cut flowers, palms, and ferns.

The morning service was largely attended and the anniversary sermon was preached by the Rev. N. Woolsey Wells, a son of the venerable minister, who has been Dr. Wells's assistant for several years. Dr. Wells occupied a seat in the pulpit, but made no remarks.

There was a communion service in the afternoon, which was attended by the pastors and members of the Ainslie Street, Ross Street, Noble Street, and Throop Avenue Presbyterian Churches, which are offshoots from Dr. Wells's church. A reception will be tendered Dr. Wells on Wednesday and Thursday.

FEAST OF ST. AGNES OBSERVED.

Elaborate Service in the Church Named for Her—Gifts Announced.

The Feast of St. Agnes was observed at St. Agnes's Church, in East Forty-third Street, yesterday morning. Bishop James E. Quigley of Buffalo celebrated a solemn pontifical mass and Archbishop Corrigan presided in the sanctuary. They were assisted by the Rev. Dr. Henry A. Brann, pastor of the church, and several other priests. The music was elaborate and the choir was accompanied by the organ and an orchestra. The collection was made by twenty-two girls dressed in white and wearing lilies and other white flowers. Bishop Quigley, during the mass, wore a mitre used only on special occasions, made of gold and studded with jewels. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. Seton of New Jersey, who took for his subject "Faith."

Previous to the sermon Dr. Brann announced the unveiling yesterday of a marble statue in the sanctuary of St. Joseph. The statue, which is of white marble, stands about five feet high and represents St. Joseph with a saw in his hand instead of the proverbial lily. This was done by the sculptor, Joseph Sibbel, in compliance with Dr. Brann's wishes, as he considered that St. Joseph was the saint of the workingman, and as such should be shown. The statue was a gift to Dr. Brann by a parishioner. Dr. Brann announced that the first donation for the establishing of a scholarship in the parochial school had been received and that several more had been promised.

It was also announced that during the week the sacred relics of St. Agnes, which are kept at St. Agnes's Church, would be on view for the veneration of the parishioners. The relics are incased in a gold casket and are imbedded in the altar of St. Joseph at the right of the large altar of St. Agnes.

Mission to Non-Catholics.

The Roman Catholic Church of St. Paul the Apostle, at Columbus Avenue and Fifty-ninth Street, was crowded last evening at the service announced for non-Catholics. All of the pews on the middle aisle were set apart for the accommodation of non-Catholics and all were filled. This was the first meeting in a concerted movement on the part of the Catholic Church in this country. The work at the Church of St. Paul the Apostle is in charges of Fathers Doyle and Handly. Father Doyle said last evening that numerous complaints had been made on the part of Protestant churches that they were losing their hold on the masses. It was to reach the large unchurched class that the movement was organized.

Allen Street Church Anniversary.

The eighty-ninth anniversary of the Allen Street Methodist Episcopal Church, in Rivington Street, near Ludlow, was celebrated yesterday. Bishop Edward G. Andrews preached the anniversary sermon. In the afternoon a luncheon was served to those friends of the church and old members who had come from a distance by the Ladies' Aid Society, and at 2 o'clock the Sunday school services were held. At 6:30 o'clock there was a revival of the "Old Allen Street Six O'clock Prayer Meeting," led by W. P. Sandford, and the services of the day were brought to a close at 8 o'clock with a church service, at which the Rev. Dr. Joseph Pullman preached a sermon.

Mission Work of Women.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions of the Reformed Church in America was celebrated yesterday at the Marble Collegiate Church. Mrs. Paul D. Van Cleef presided. A history of the work of the board was read by Mrs. De Witt Knox, and the Rev. Dr. John M. Ferris delivered an address, in which he complimented the women upon their success. John G. Fagg made an appeal for support in the mission work in Chiang-chiu. He said that $5,000 was required for a Christian school for girls and $2,500 for a home for the missionaries.

Annual Sermon to the Curlers.

About 150 members of the Grand National Curling Club of America attended services at the North Presbyterian Church, Thirty-first Street and Ninth Avenue, yesterday morning and listened to the Rev. Dr. S. B. Rossiter, the Chaplain of the club, who delivered his annual sermon to the curlers. Dr. Rossiter, speaking of curling and its moral effects, said that the unwritten laws of the game forbade betting and decreed that no money prizes should be given, and that the game should not be played on Sunday. These, he said, were strong points in favor of this clean, healthy sport. Among the officers of the club present were President John McGaw of Boston, Vice President W. D. Edwards of Jersey City, Treasurer George W. Peene of Yonkers, and Secretary David Foulis of this city.

GETS PRINCIPAL WHEN SIXTY.

Son of Henry Kretzchnar Can Only Use Income Until Then.

The will of Henry Kretzchnar of Brooklyn, which has been filed in the office of the Surrogate of Kings County, contains a peculiar provision. The provision is that the testator's only son, John H. Kretzchnar, cannot secure control of his share of the estate until he is sixty years old.

Kretzchnar, who died on Jan. 12, left an estate worth $80,000. He directs that the executors invest $15,000 for his son, the income from this investment to be paid to him, and when he is sixty years old he is to have control of the principal. The other beneficiaries under the will are the testator's daughter and his two nieces.

Hardly necessary to remind you that the January thaw has been with us. What you may not know is that some of our fancy sack suit prices have also been doing a little thawing.

$15 now gives a choice from some 1200 suits—values that ought to thaw your heart.

ROGERS, PEET & Co.

350 Broadway, cor. Leonard.
569 Broadway, cor. Prince.
Thirty-second and Broadway.

HEARD ABOUT TOWN.

They are telling a rather good story about W. A. White, editor of The Emporia (Kan.) Gazette, who recently obtained notoriety among politicians by reason of some very clever editorials he has written. So much talk did these create that Senator Hanna, when in the West, took occasion to visit Mr. White, congratulate him on his editorials, and incidentally suggest that if there was any little favor that the Administration could do for so able a man and so ardent a patriot it would be willing and glad to do it, and all that sort of thing—a regular political jolly. White was inclined to pose a little, and so, in rather pompous fashion, goes the story, brushed Senator Hanna aside with an oft-repeated, "I am the editor of The Emporia Gazette, Sir! Kansas is all right, and she does not want anything at the hands of the Administration; nor do I."

Shortly after this interview White appeared in Washington and turned up at Senator Hanna's committee room. Aha, thought the Ohio politician, my Kansas peacock has come off his perch and has caught a glimpse of his feet. But he greeted Mr. White most effusively and courteously chatted with him awhile. Deftly he led up to his point, and then:

"Now, Mr. White, is there anything I can do for you or your friends out in Kansas? If there is, just say the word, and I will see what can be done."

Still pompous, Mr. White drew himself up, and again sang the chorus, "I am the editor of The Emporia Gazette! Kansas is all right, and she has nothing to ask at the hands of the Administration; nor have I!"

Senator Hanna was puzzled. He did not know what to make of his friend, and finally hinted that if there was anything in the way of Post Offices in his State that his friends were aching to run, he might be able to help him a bit. After beating about the bush for a time, Mr. White broke out with:

"I really, Senator, if you wish to serve me, there is one favor I would like to ask, and that is that you will introduce me to the President."

The Senator rubbed his hands, smiled, sent for a messenger, and agreed to arrange the thing at once. This was done, and the pair soon drove to the White House, where there was a formal introduction, then an informal chat, in which Mr. White reasserted that "Kansas is all right" and the rest of it. Then the President, having been given a tip, brought up the Post Office suggestion, and this landed the fish. Mr. White then unfolded one of the most novel schemes that it had been the President's privilege to listen to in all his years of experience. It was something after this fashion:

"You see, Mr. President, I am the editor of The Emporia Gazette. Kansas is all right, and I have nothing to ask for her or for myself. But some of my friends in one faction of the Republican Party in our place have decided to ask that I be appointed Postmaster, and I will receive the support of a faction of the Democrats. I expect my nomination, with the accompanying petition, will be sent you in a couple of weeks."

"All right, Mr. White," said the President, "I promise you I will make the appointment as soon as the matter comes to my attention."

"That's just what I don't want you to do," said Mr. White, to the astonishment of the President and Senator Hanna. "I want you to find some reason for refusing to appoint me. I don't care what it is—incompetence, unfitness, bad politics, anything you like, only promise me that you will not let me be appointed. You see, the situation is like this. I am the editor of The Emporia Gazette. As such I receive a salary of about $2,000 a year. As Postmaster I would get about $3,000. Now, as the editor of The Emporia Gazette I am in a more or less independent position. As Postmaster I reckon there would be a lot of fellows who would come to me to borrow money, many of them men whom I could not afford to refuse. I have figured it out that they would want to borrow about $5,000 in the course of a year. I cannot afford to lend any such sum of money, and therefore I have come to you to ask that you will refuse to appoint me when my name is sent in to you. That will prevent me from offending my friends. Oh, Kansas is all right, and she has no favors to ask of the Administration except this one, and this one she would very much like you to grant."

***

What new direction the fancy of the collector will take is a subject that is just now interesting dealers in prints as well as the fadist. Fashions there are in the collection of engravings just as in the collection of gowns for my lady's wardrobe. It was but a few years ago that every print sharp was hunting high and low for pictures of Napoleon, and of people and things that had to do with him. The craze was hardly ended when Washington was taken up by whoever has the making of these styles, and that fashion is only just beginning to die out. There was a feeble attempt last year to take up Oliver Cromwell in pictures as well as in literature, but it did not strike the popular notion, and died a natural death. Marie Antoinette seems to better catch public fancy than any other subject that has been talked of recently, and pictures of her by old French engravers have found their way to prominent places in most of the fashionable shops where such things are dealt in. The life of that unfortunate Queen had so much of the romantic and tragic in it that the feelers of the print buyer's pulse say it indicates a bit of fever when pictures of Marie are displayed. As over 200 portraits of the Queen are known to be in existence, there is an ample field for reapers to work in.

***

"Reading of these suits brought by dressmakers against women to recover the cost of gowns furnished, reminds me of the experience that my wife is having with her dressmaker," said the man whose trade has no tricks in it. "She bought a dress pattern of eight and a half yards, I believe, of an unusual color and an exclusive design, and sent it to her dressmaker to have it made, taking the precaution to measure it before sending it out, so as to see that she got what she had paid for. In due time the dress came back, made as she wished it, and to all appearances satisfactory. But when she put on the skirt it was so scant—I believe they call it—that she could not walk while wearing it. Now, my wife likes to be able to move about, and she was sure she had bought cloth enough to furnish a skirt in which she could do so. So she measured the cloth as it was made up, and found that the woman who cut the dress had deliberately appropriated a yard and a half of the cloth, for it was just that amount shy of the quantity of goods she had sent to the dressmaker. The dress went back to the shop, and my wife went back with it, and demanded an explanation of the shortage. That, of course, she did not get, but as the cutter left the room when she entered it, she had a very well founded suspicion as to where that extra cloth had gone. The dressmaker promises to make inquiries, and if possible put the skirt in wearable condition. A few days later she sent word to my wife that she could not match the goods, could get no trace of any missing material, and so she has had the dress thrown back on her hands, with a demand that she pay for the goods. Inquiry instituted by my wife among her friends reveals the fact that this sort of petty thievery is common among dressmakers, and that they generally get away with the spoils all right, offering as an excuse 'short measure' on the part of the firm selling the goods. That sort of excuse would not work this time, and so the dressmaker has got to make good to me, you can bet, or there will be trouble. It is my first experience with this sort of thing, and it made me mad clear through on my wife's account, as she is unable to obtain another dress like this one on which she had set her heart, and which a thieving dressmaker ruined for her."

***

Small fruit buyers can expect to get a full quart or pint of the fruit they buy now if they insist upon it, unless the basket in which the fruit is sold is marked "short" in letters one-half inch in height. If the marketman sells fruit in other packages than those so marked that do not contain the full measure he is liable to a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $20. This is because of a law passed at the last session of the Legislature, and which went into effect on Jan. 1. It is a law about which your marketman knows nothing in all probability, but it is a law all the same, and is Chapter 509. It provides that the quart basket shall contain sixty-seven cubic inches, the pint basket thirty-three and one-half inches, and the half pint basket sixteen and three-quarter inches when they are even full. When the package contains any less quantity the package must be marked "short," as stated. Manufacturers of the baskets used by growers and packers are said by the marketmen on the west side to know as little about this law as they do, and they say it is going to make a lot of trouble when the berry season is under way if any one tries to have the law enforced. It may also drive shippers in other States away from this market, and make a shortage of fruit in the berry season.

DORMAN B. EATON'S MEMORY.

Services at All Souls' Church—Carl Schurz and John H. Rhoades Praise His Work.

Services in honor of the memory of Dorman B. Eaton were held yesterday afternoon in All Souls' Church, Fourth Avenue and Twentieth Street. The Rev. Thomas R. Slicer conducted the services. Eulogistic addresses were made by Carl Schurz, John Harsen Rhoades, Dr. Stephen Smith, and the Rev. Dr. Slicer. According to the wishes of Mrs. Eaton, there was no choir music, Organist Hoyt and Ludwig Hoffman rendering a short programme with organ and 'cello.

Mr. Schurz eulogized Mr. Eaton's work in the interests of the present system of civil service, giving to him the credit for the drafting of the present law. "That man is, indeed, to be envied," said Mr. Schurz, "who at the end of his life can look back over his career, and know that his days have been useful to his fellowmen. No one who knows the career of Dorman B. Eaton will deny that he was entitled to that happiness. I know of no man who more unselfishly strove for the betterment of the condition of his fellowbeings without hope or desire for reward.

"An unbeliever in the present-day theory that to the political victors all offices are legitimate spoils, with quiet and unostentatious courage he followed the dictates of his own conscience in advocating those measures which he believed to be for the relief, upbuilding, or advancement of his country and countrymen. When the question of civil service reform on the merit system was first agitated the draft of a law submitted was considered such an excellent one that it was unanimously accepted, and he was virtually the author of the present law under which our civil service operates."

Mr. Rhoades said in part:

"No nation has achieved and maintained lasting greatness which has not been builded upon foundations created by those who have recognized that obedience to the moral laws which govern the universe must be welded into the State, and who, forgetful of self and inspired by unselfish love for their fellow-men, have given their lives to public service for the public good. It is for reasons such as these that we are here to-day to do honor to the memory of our friend, and to set the seal of our commendation upon his work.

"Many years ago, when engaged in a contest to wrest the control of a great corporation from the hands of those who had proved unworthy of the trust confided in them, he received many letters of a threatening character, and his friends, alarmed, begged him to withdraw from the contest, telling him he was powerless in the hands of those threatening his life. His only reply was: 'I cannot. I have my duty to perform, and I will perform it.' And after the attempt on his life was made he still remained the same undaunted, courageous man, ready to obey whenever duty called."

Dr. Stephen Smith spoke of Mr. Eaton's work in improving and in some cases establishing the Health, Dock, Fire, and other city departments, as well as his reorganization of the police courts.

Col. Sanger May Succeed Col. Smith.

National Guardsmen in Brooklyn are discussing a report that Col. William Cary Sanger may be named to succeed Col. Smith as commander of the Twenty-third Regiment. Members of the regiment say that Col. Sanger would not accept the command without pressure, and it is said that a plan is on foot to organize a demonstration which will convince him that he is wanted.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Upholstery Department.
Fourth Floor.

About 400 pairs fine French Renaissance Lace Curtains,—attractive designs, full size,
$4.75, $6.00 and $8.75 per pair.

Arabian Lace Curtains,—heavy corded patterns,—lace edge and insertions,
$5.00, $7.50 and $9.50 per pair.
Usual Price $6.50 to $11.50.

250 pairs Portieres,—showing latest designs in reversible Armures, Oriental striped fabrics, Victorian Damask, Fringed Moiré, Corded Reps, and imitation Satin Derby,
$3.75, $4.75 and $7.50 per pair.
Value $7.50 to $13.75.

Extensive collection, India Table Covers,—novel designs, 1 yard, 1¼ yards and 1½ yards square, 35c., 75c. and $1.00 each.

Lounge Cushions, down filled,—covered with Oriental stuffs;
$1.90 and $2.25 each.

James McCreery & Co.,
Twenty-third Street.

Sale of High Class Garments.

We will offer the entire balance of our choicest Imported and Domestic garments at very attractive prices.

Fine Velour Jackets, High Art Automobile Coats, Carriage Wraps, and Evening Capes, at the following prices:
$22.50, $37.50, $57.50, $75.00 & $100.00,
original prices $50 to $300.

These garments are only one of each kind—sizes mostly 34, 36 & 38—but enough garments to make selection from.

Lord & Taylor,
Broadway & 20th St.

FLINT'S FINE FURNITURE

A Bit of Dutch History.

It was the Dutch who brought to the new world more domestic refinements and comforts than any other people. In England, for instance, domestic comfort, to say nothing of elegance, was unknown until Charles II. taught his people what he had learned in Holland.

Some of the Dutch furniture of these times was so comfortable, so charming in its quaintness, and, withal, oftentimes so elegant in line, that we have reproduced chairs—rush-seated, broad, "squat," sturdy—the very epitome of quaintness and comfort—they are "delightful old shoes of chairs." Tea tables—bandy-legged, clawfooted, perchance with movable top—imagine them keeping merry with Delft teacups. Work-tables, wonderfully handy—the Dutch wives were famous needlewomen. Card-tables, desks, cupboards, plate, and spoon racks, many now even below factory prices, as you

"BUY OF THE MAKER"

GEO. C. FLINT CO.
43 45 AND 47 WEST 23RD ST
NEAR BROADWAY.
FACTORY 154 AND 156 WEST 19TH STREET

SOROSIS
TRADE MARK.
THE BEST SHOE FOR WOMEN.

Excellence of comfort and appearance, added to durability and quality, render this shoe the standard of fashionable foot gear.
Sizes 1 to 9. Widths 00 to 5.
35 varieties. Prices always uniform.
$3.50 per pair.
Sold in New York, exclusively by
JAMES McCREERY & CO.,
Broadway and 11th St.

WENT UP DUMB WAITER ROPE.

Colored Tried to Reach His Apartment This Way and Broke His Leg.

William Coloe, a printer, twenty-three years of age, lies in the J. Hood Wright Memorial Hospital, with his right leg broken and experience enough to last him for the rest of his life as to dumb waiters as a means of approaching one's room in the upper story of a flat house.

Coloe lives with his brother, Thomas Coloe, in the apartments on the fifth floor of 515 West One Hundred and Fifty-ninth Street. Coloe went out Saturday night, and on his return home found he had lost his latch key. He went to the basement window, which he kicked open, and was half way through it when he was pulled out by a policeman of the West One Hundred and Fifty-second Street Station, who mistook him for a burglar. Coloe knew the patrolman, and he was allowed to crawl in through the basement window on the explanation that he had lost his latch key.

On getting into the basement Coloe tried the door leading to the first floor, but found it locked. He then thought it would be a good idea to ascend the dumb waiter shaft by means of the rope. Coloe wriggled himself into the shaft and then began to climb the rope. He had nearly reached the opening at the fifth floor when the rope broke and Coloe fell to the bottom of the shaft.

Coloe yelled when he fell and aroused the whole house. It was thought by the tenants that burglars had gotten into the house. The janitor put on his clothes and taking a revolver and a lamp went into the basement. He found Coloe lying at the bottom of the shaft and pulled him out.

HARLEM ORATORS DINE.

Assistant District Attorney Blumenthal Speaks on the War.

The Orators of Harlem dined last night. By that is not meant the spellbinders who in each campaign hold Republican and Democratic audiences enthralled by golden chains of eloquence. The Orators are a band of twenty young men of Harlem who are bent upon the search for one or more of their number who may be truly great.

They organized last September, and to celebrate their progress dined last night in the Harlem Arcade, at 211 East One Hundred and Twenty-fourth Street. About sixty covers were laid. Maurice B. Blumenthal, the Assistant District Attorney, was the guest and speaker of honor. He talked on "The Boer War," saying, in part:

"Oh, you poor, persecuted people of the South Africa Republic, stand by your guns! There is a just God who presides over the destinies of nations! He will raise up friends to fight your battles for you. Our sympathies are with you. Our guns soon may be. We join you, oh! persecuted brothers in the prayer for continued liberty, and may God answer it for you as He has done for us."

At the conclusion of the speaking the guests and members of the society indulged in dancing for the balance of the night.

O'Neill's.

Women's Spring Suits.

We are now showing in our Cloak and Suit Dept. a collection of the New Suits for the coming season, and beg to extend an invitation to our patrons to call and inspect them. They are strictly men tailored, custom finished, and include all the popular materials. Two noteworthy items:

Suits of Oxford and Venetian Suitings, short jaunty jacket that can be worn open or closed, new French Back, lined throughout with self color taffeta, new box plaited skirt lined with percaline . . . 18.00

Walking Suits of Pebble Cheviot, fly front walking coat and new box plaited skirt, entire suit lined throughout with extra quality of black taffeta . . . 25.00

Exceptional Value in Silk Waists!

A Special Lot of new waists, just finished, on sale to-day. They are made of Good Quality Taffeta with cordings and hemstitching—all the new shades . . . 4.98 each

Orders by Mail Will Receive Prompt Attention.

Sixth Avenue, 20th to 21st Street.

birds Mate now; breeding pairs, singer, according to voice, $2.00, $2.50, $3.00; female, $1.00. Holden's New Book on Birds; all about mating, food, care, and how to keep bird singing, with full price list of all birds and cages by mail, 25 cts., stamps. Song Restorer by mail, 25 cts. Free list all birds. G. H. HOLDEN, 240 6th Ave., N. Y.

AMUSEMENTS.

DALY'S B'way & 20th.....Begins 8:30
Daniel Frohman, Manager.
Matinées: Wed. & Sat., 2:15.
LAST 2 WEEKS
LAST 2 WEEKS
of Henry Arthur Jones's merry comedy,
THE MANEUVERS OF JANE.

Monday, Feb. 5, Daniel Frohman will present the new comedy of modern society, by "John Oliver Hobbes," (Mrs. Craigie) with the full strength of his company, including Hilda Spong, John Mason, Edward Morgan, and Mary Manning.) The play is entitled:
THE AMBASSADOR.
Orders for seats received and filed.

LYCEUM 4th Av. & 23d St. At 8:30.
Daniel Frohman...Mgr.
TO-NIGHT—FIRST TIME.
Charles Frohman Presents
A NEW PARISIAN COMEDY, entitled
The Surprises of Love.
By Paul Belhaud and Michael Carre.
Cast will include: Elsie De Wolfe, H. Reeves Smith, Charles Abbott, Eric Hope, Charles Bowser, Clayton White, Frank Lea Short, Margaret Robinson, Olive May, Helen Keating, Ellen Gall, and others.

METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE.
GRAND OPERA SEASON 1899-1900.
Under the direction of Mr. MAURICE GRAU.
To-night at 8, LE PROPHETE. Mmes. Schumann-Heink and Suzanne Adams; MM. Alvarez, Plançon, and Ed. de Reszke. Conductor Mancinelli.
Wed. Ev'g, Jan. 24, at 7:30, DIE MEISTERSINGER. Mmes. Emma Eames and Schumann-Heink; MM. Van Rooy, Bertram, Friedrichs, (début,) Breuer, and Dippel. Conductor, Paur.
Fri. Ev'g, Jan. 26, at 7:45, Double Bill—DON PASQUALE. Mme. Sembrich; MM. Scotti, Pinkorsi, and Salignac. Conductor, Mancinelli. Followed by CAVALLERIA RUSTICANA. Mmes. Calvé and Mantelli; MM. Campanari and Dippel. Conductor, Bevignani.
Sat. Aft., Jan. 27, at 2, TANNHAUSER. Mmes. Ternina, Olitzka, and Nordica; MM. Van Dyck, Bertram, and Plançon. Conductor, Paur.
Sat. Ev'g, Jan. 27, at 8, at Popular Prices, FAUST. Mmes. Emma Eames and Mantelli; MM. Saleza, Ocellier (début) and Pringle. Conductor, Bevignani.
WEBER PIANOS USED.

WALLACK'S.
POSTPONED TILL TUESDAY.
Olga Nethersole
IN SAPHO.
Tickets purchased for Monday good for Tuesday. Will positively appear Tuesday night.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN.
JANUARY 20 TO 27.
OPEN 9 A. M. TO 11 P. M.
5th NATIONAL EXHIBITION OF CYCLES, AUTOMOBILES AND ACCESSORIES.
50c. ADMISSION 50c.

AMERICAN 42ND & 8TH AVE. CASTLE SQ. OP. CO.
3d Year. TO-NIGHT SILVER VIOLET VASE SOUVENIRS.
1st Time of European Success,
AT THE LOWER HARBOUR (A BASSO PORTO.)
Preceded by THE MAGIC MELODY Always in English.
Evs., 8:15. 25c. to $1. Mats. Wed., Sat., 1,100 seats, 25c

Koster & Bial's
THE GREAT LAFAYETTE, MARION MANOLA, MARIE JANSEN, Ritchie, Binns & Binns, the 5 Cornallos Sisters, McNulty, Sclaret, Max Unger, Sheik Hadji Takar.

KEITH'S Continuous Performance.
MINNIE SELIGMAN.
LeROY AND CLAYTON.
Mr. and Mrs. ELLIS. CASE. LOUISE GUNNING. JOHN BOWKER: Transvaal, Illustrated.

CASINO! Beginning TONGT. 2 wks. only. MATINEES WEDS. & SATS
Geo. W. Lederer's London Co in The Belle of N. Y.
Orig. Cast & Chorus of 2 years run in London.

COMIQUE B'WAY & 29TH ST. THE HOUSE THAT JACK BUILT.
MATINEE TODAY 25 & 50
GAY MASQUERADERS. 2 Burlesques and Vaudeville.

THE DEWEY MATINEE TO-DAY.
VICTORIA BURLESQUERS,
East 14th St. "A High Balk" Calceda, The Nawns.

5th Ave THEATRE. B'way & 28th. Evs. 8:15. Mats. Wed. & Sat.
The Latest Musical Comedy Success,
THREE LITTLE LAMBS

BROADWAY Theatre. 41st St. & B'way. Evs. at 8. Mats. Wed. & Sat. 2.
NEXT MATINEE WEDNESDAY AT 2.
THE GREAT SUCCESS, BEN-HUR

Knickerbocker. Evgs., 8:15. Mat. Sat., 2:15.
N. C. GOODWIN and MAXINE ELLIOTT
LAST 2 WEEKS OF THE COWBOY AND THE LADY.
Feb. 5—Mr. Goodwin-Miss Elliott (A New Play.)

Hammerstein's 42d St., B'way & 7th Av. VICTORIA Evgs. 8:30. Sat. Mat. 2:15.
Mat. Sat. Prices, 50, 75, $1.00
Jerome Sykes & Edna Wallace Hopper AND CHRIS AND THE WONDERFUL LAMP

THE NEW YORK Positive Production, TO-MORROW (TUES.) EVE. BROADWAY TO TOKIO
Tickets bought for Jan. 20 good for 23d.

HURTIG & SEAMON W. 125th St. Kathryn Osterman & Co.
JOHN KERNELL—LEW HAWKINS, Stanley & Wilson, Three Livingstons, Ward & Curran, The Eldridges, & others.

BIJOU. B'way & 30th St. Evs. 8:15. Mat. Sat. only.
MAY IRWIN IN SISTER MARY
Phone 2224 Mad. Sq.
BEST ORCHESTRA SEATS ONLY $1.50.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC. 14th St. & Irving Pl.
Always Crowded. "WAY DOWN EAST."
Prices, 25, 50, 75, $1. Mats. Wed. & Sat. 2. Ev. 8:10.

HERALD SQ. Thea. Evs. 8:20. Mats. Wed. & Sat.
DAVID BELASCO presents his new triumph Naughty Anthony

Weber & Fields' MUSIC HALL. Matinées B'way & 30 St. Tues. & Sat.
Whirl-I-Gig & BARBARA FIDGETY

HUBER'S 14TH ST. MUSEUM. 10c. to all. Moore's New Orleans Minstrels.

AMUSEMENTS.

CARNEGIE HALL.
Tuesday Evening, February 6th.
GALA CONCERT
The entire proceeds to be devoted to the
Dewey Arch Fund
Among the distinguished artists who have kindly volunteered their services are:
Madame Nordica and Madame Gadski, Mr. Edouard de Reszke and Mr. Evan Williams, and other soloists.
Mr. Emil Paur, } Conductors.
Mr. Walter Damrosch, }
The full chorus of the Oratorio Society and an orchestra of sixty
Prices: $3, $2, $1.50, and $1. Boxes, $50. Seats and boxes can be obtained at box office, Carnegie Hall, and Tyson's.

PADEREWSKI
and
ADAMOWSKI QUARTET.
Only Recital at Sherry's.
TUESDAY AFTERNOON, JANUARY 23, AT 4.
Mr. Paderewski will play Soli by Chopin, Schumann, Liszt, and Paderewski.
Tickets now on sale at SCHUBERTH'S, TYSON'S, all principal hotels, and at Sherry's.

CARNEGIE HALL.
PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY of New York
EMIL PAUR.....Conductor
Fri., Jan. 26, at 2 P.M. Sat., Jan. 27, at 8:15 P.M.
SOLOIST: MME. SCHUMANN-HEINK.
Program: Overture "The Flying Dutchman," Wagner; "Ganymed," for Contralto and Orchestra, L. V. Saar; Symphony No. 4, B flat

The New York Times.

WEEKLY FINANCIAL REVIEW AND QUOTATION SUPPLEMENT.

COPYRIGHT, 1900, BY THE NEW YORK TIMES COMPANY.

NEW YORK, MONDAY, JANUARY 22, 1900. EIGHT PAGES.

STOCK EXCHANGE SUMMARY.

	Shares.
Stocks week ended Jan. 20...	1,582,317
Same week last year.....	5,731,976
To date this year.....	7,100,032
Corresponding date last year.	15,135,707

Bonds for the week.....	$13,910,400
Same week last year.....	$38,133,600
To date this year.....	$30,482,500
Corresponding date last year.	$95,716,540

Money rate range for week: Collateral loans on call, 2@4½; at three months, 5; at six months, 5½ per cent. Commercial paper, sixty to ninety days, 5 per cent.

THE WEEK'S CHANGES.

The following is a list of stocks in which there were last week net changes of ¼ per cent. or more:

Stocks Advanced.

American Ice	1¾	D. M. & Ft. D.	1
Am. District Tel.	5	Evans. & T. H.	1½
Am. Sugar Ref.	1¼	Hock. Valley	1¼
Am. Smelt. & Ref.	1½	Ill. Central	2¾
Am. Smelt. & Ref. pf.	1¾	Iowa Central pf.	2½
Brook. R. T.	1¾	Mo. Pacific	2¾
Brunswick City	2¾	N. J. Central	1
Canadian Pacific	1½	Norf. & West.	1¼
C., B. & Q.	1¼	Norf. & West. pf.	1½
Chi. Gt. Western	1¼	Pacific Coast	1¾
Chi. Gt. West pf. A.	1½	Pressed Steel Car pf.	1¼
Chi. Gt. West pf. B.	2½	Pullman Co.	1¾
Chi., Gt. West. deb.	2½	Reading 2d pf.	1½
Chi., Ind. & Louis.	1	St. L. Southwest.	1¼
Chi., Mil. & St. P.	1	St. L. Southwest pf.	1¾
C., M. & St. P. pf.	1½	Union Pacific pf.	1
C., L. & W. pf.	1½	U. S. Leather pf.	1¾
Col. & South. 1st pf.	2½	Wis. Cent. pf.	1
D. & R. G. pf.	1¾

Stocks Declined.

Am. Malt. pf.	1½	Met. St. Ry.	1¼
Balt. & Ohio	1¾	Nat. Biscuit	1¾
Chi. Term. Trans. pf.	2½	N. Y. Air Brake	7¾
Col. & Hock. C. & I.	1	P., C., C. & St. L.	1¾
Consol. Gas	3½	R. G. West. pf.	1
Glucose Sug. Ref.	1	Third Av.	10½
Gt. North. pf.	3½	Union Bag & Paper.	2
H. B. Claflin Co.	1½

***

Net changes in bonds of 1 per cent. or more were:

Bonds Advanced.

Adams Express 4s.	1	K., C., P. & G. 1st, trust receipts	1½
Ann Arbor 4s	2	Knox. & Ohio 1st.	3
At., T. & S. F. gen.	1	Lake Erie & W. 1st.	1
At., T. & S. F. adj.	1½	Lake Erie & W. 2d.	3½
Balt. & Ohio 3½s.	1	L., Ev. & St. L. con. 5s, t. r.	8
Balt. & Ohio 4s.	1	Louis. & N., unif. 6s.	1
B. & O. S. W. 3½s.	2½	Leh. & W. B. con. 7s.	2½
C. of Ga. 2d pf. inc.	1	Mex. C. 1st com. inc.	3
Cent. Pac. 1st 4s.	1½	Mex. C. 2d con. inc.	1¼
Cent. Pac. 3½s.	1¼	Mo., Kan. & Tex. 1st.	1
Chi., B. & Q. deb. 5s.	1	M., K. & T. of T. 1st.	1½
C., B. & Q., Ill. Div. 3½s	1¾	Mo. Pacific con.	1½
C., I. & L. ref. 6s.	1	N. Y., C. & St. L. 1st 4s	1¼
C., M. & St. P., C., P. & W. 5s.	1¼	N. Y., O. & W. 4s.	1¼
C. & N. W. deb. 5s, 1909	1	Norf. & W. con. 4s.	2½
C., R. I. & P. gen. 4s.	1¼	Rich. & Dan. 6s.	1¼
C., St. P., M. & O. 6s.	1¾	St. L. S. W. 1st.	1
C., C., C. & St. L. gen.	1½	St. L. S. W. 2d.	2½
Clev. & Mah. Val. 5s.	1	St. P., M. & M., Mon. ex. 4s	1
Col. Mid. 2-4s.	1¾	St. P. & Sioux C. 1st.	2½
Col. Mid. 1st 4s.	1	San A. & A. P. 4s.	1½
Col. Fuel & I. gen.	1½	Tol., St. L. & K. C. 1st, t. r.	7
D. & R. G. con. 4s.	2	Ulster & Del. 1s.	1
Ed. El. Ill. of N. Y. conv. 5s	1½	Union Pacific 4s.	2
Erie 1st con. 7s.	1	Va. Mid. gen.	1
Erie 1st con. 4s.	2½	Va. M. gen., stamped.	1
Evans. & T. H. gen.	1	Wabash 2d	1
Ft. W. & D. C. 1st.	3	Wabash deb. B.	1½
Ft. W. & R. G. 1st.	3½	W., D. M. Div. 5s.	1½
Green Bay deb., A.	2½	W. N. Y. & P. 1st.	1
Ill. Cent. coll. tr. 4s, 1953	1	W. N. Y. & P. gen.	2¾
Int. & Gt. Nor. 1st.	1	West Shore 4s, reg.	1
		Wis. Cent. gen. 4s.	1

Bonds Declined.

B'way & 7th Av. con.	1¼	N. Y. Gas & E. L., H. & P. 5s.	2¾
B., W. & W. 6s.	1	Stand. R. & T. 6s.	1
Flint & P. M. 6s.	1
Peo. & East. inc.	2

ON THE LONDON EXCHANGE.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—Americans were dull and somewhat neglected. The best prices for the week were not maintained, although the changes were unimportant. Among the increases were Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, which rose ¾ of a point; Wabash debentures, ⅝; Wabash preferred, ½; Pennsylvania, ½, and Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé, ¼; Chesapeake and Ohio and Union Pacific preferred each fell ¼ point.

OUR LONDON CABLE.

THE WAR AND THE BANK RATE

Weakness of Money Leads to Fear of Foreign Demands for Gold—War Office Activity Injures Business—Indian Government Bank Project.

Cable Correspondence.

Copyright, 1900, The New York Times.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—Another reduction in the bank rate was inevitable in the existing state of our money market, and I am not sure it is to be the last. All the same, the open market is poorer by £1,700,000 than a year ago, so that the glut of free credits cannot now continue long or go much further. From this date onward to the end of March the collection of revenue usually causes the open market to be denuded of balances, but this year the war disbursements may more than neutralize this influence. The Government is certain to raise a large loan soon after Parliament meets, so it is quite possible that credits may accumulate in bankers' hands instead of being withdrawn from them. The Government's payments are heavily in arrears now, because its available means are exhausted. Should these payments come with a rush, the money market ease is sure to be accentuated and prolonged.

With all this allowed for, however, the discount rate cannot go much lower, because it is already at a point that tempts renewals of gold exports. The Bank only gained £45,000 last week, and the outflow of the metal is increasing. True, part of the withdrawals which took place were on Indian currency account, and therefore the product of the entirely artificial scarcity of money in the Peninsula, having nothing to do with cheap money here. But omitting this disturbing factor, as sure to be corrected by a big Indian loan later, the fact remains that our open market 3¼ per cent. discount rate is lower than that of any market on the Continent.

A week back the open market discount rate was highest in Paris, and the rate in Paris is still about one-half of 1 per cent. higher than in London, while in Berlin it is five-eighths to three-quarters of 1 per cent. higher. The ease here promotes ease abroad, and probably all the Continental as well as American market rates may recede further. The probability, nevertheless, is that they will remain above the London rate on the average, and in proportion as they do is the danger of a renewal of foreign gold demands upon us. There is ease, however, with us now, and inasmuch as speculation of all kinds has been hindered by the course of the war it is probable that no return of menacing dearness may occur before March.

Not only is speculation in new enterprises on the Stock Exchange suspended, pending the results of the great conflict now raging in South Africa, but the ordinary course of business of all kinds is much interfered with by the absorbing demands of the War Office on labor, on coal and iron, and on transportation facilities. An eminent Clyde shipbuilder wrote me the other day that many of his neighbors were likely to be obliged soon to call their creditors together, through their inability to fulfill contracts because the Government is absorbing the output of iron and steel. The unprecedented activity in dockyards and gun and ammunition factories, along with the equally unprecedented employment of ocean transports, has so told on our coal supplies that prices are almost touching the famine point and private manufacturers are being driven to the wall. All over the country the complaints about the injury to business from this cause alone are becoming louder.

The more factories slow down the more credit tends to accumulate on the London market. By this train of reasoning, also, we reach the conclusion that the war tends for the time to make cheaper rather than to raise the price of banking credit. But its chief influence is to promote violent surprises in fluctuations.

The Simla Government is pushing on the project for an Imperial Bank of India. This is one reason why its purchase of gold for a reserve is so persistent. Clinton Dawkins will leave the Indian Government soon after unfolding the budget for next year, and naturally he is anxious to settle the form of the new bank before quitting the post of Finance Minister. Other banks in India and the mercantile community there as a whole are strenuously opposing the scheme, but it probably will be carried through in spite of the opposition because the Government dreams of possessing an independent agency for controlling the supply of currency and credit in India as well as for managing the exchange business with London.

The new bank would have an office of its own here, and regulate the amount of India Council bills and transfers put up for sale daily and weekly so as just to sustain the exchange rate above that arbitrarily fixed, 1s. 3d. per rupee. It could play also at "catch market or merchant" and do infinite mischief. Whether the present Presidency banks should be absorbed or not, a large amount of new capital would be required for the State institution, and even when obtained its stability would not be assured, for the trade returns of India show her to be unable from one year to another to meet home charges for debt, railway dividends, and Government civil and military requirements by from one to two hundred million rupees per annum.

The dependency's importing power has not sensibly increased during the last ten years, and her poverty is disguised by continual borrowings on one pretext or another. As it has been, so will it be.

A. J. W.

CALENDAR FOR THE WEEK.

Monday, Jan. 22.

Amalgamated Copper Company—Dividend payable.
American Tin Plate Company—Books close for dividend on preferred.
Consolidated Gas Company—Annual meeting.
Diamond State Steel Company—Dividend payable.
Harrison Brothers' Company (Philadelphia)—Books close for dividend on preferred.
Henderson Bridge Company—Books close.
Laclede Gas Light Company of St. Louis—Annual meeting.
Maryland Coal Company—Books close for annual meeting.
Quincy Mining Company—Books close.

Tuesday, Jan. 23.

Rubber Goods Manufacturing Company—Books close for annual meeting.

Wednesday, Jan. 24.

Central Oil Company—Books close.
Estate of N. Low—Annual meeting.
National Salt Company—Dividend payable on preferred.

Thursday, Jan. 25.

American Iron and Steel Company—Dividend payable.
Boston and Montana Mining Company—Books close.
Consolidated Coal, Maryland—Books close.
Fort Wayne and Jackson Railroad—Annual meeting.
Homestake Mining Company—Dividend payable.
Huntington and Broad Top Mountain Railroad—Dividend payable on preferred.
Municipal Gas Company of Albany—Books close.
National Surety Company—Dividend payable.
Pittsburg Coal Company—Dividend payable on preferred.
Street's West Stable Car Line—Dividend payable.

Friday, Jan. 26.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company—Annual meeting.
Colorado Fuel and Iron Company—Books close for dividend on preferred.
Erie and Western Transportation Company—Books close.
Louisville and Nashville Railroad—Books close.
New York Security and Trust Company—Books close.

Saturday, Jan. 27.

Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railroad—Books close for dividend on preferred.
Diamond Match Company—Books close for annual meeting.
Warwick Iron and Steel Company—Books close.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES.

Net changes for the week of 1 point or more in the more active securities were:

Advances.

Chicago & A. subs.	1	New. A. Gas pf.	1
Havana Commer.	3½	National Salt pf.	1¾
Havana Com. pf.	1½	Standard Oil	7

Declines.

Amalgam. Copper	1	Electric V. pf.	10
Am. A. Chem. pf.	1	Flem. C. & C.	2
Am. Bicycle bonds	2	National Gram.	3
Distilling of Am.	1	N. Eng. G. & C.	2½
Dis. of Am. pf.	4½	N. Eng. G. & C. 5s.	1½
Electric Axle	1	Rubber Goods	1
Electric Boat	1	Sloss-Sheffield	2
Electric Boat pf.	5	Sloss-Sheffield pf.	2
Electric Vehicle.	15

So little activity was shown in the market for outside securities during the past week that, except in a very few cases, little interest attached to the movement in prices. It was a quiet market, in which dullness without any marked selling pressure brought about a number of declines which in not a few cases amounted to one point or more, while among the electric stocks were several that showed losses of 4 or 5 points. Declines were recorded on very light transactions, and, as was demonstrated at the close by recoveries in one or two prominent issues, the amount of stock to be had at the quoted figures was very small. The conditions that prevailed caused stocks to be easily affected by offerings, for no disposition was shown to

Continued on Page 6.

Sales of Stocks on the New York Stock Exchange Week Ended Jan. 20, 1900.

Range for Year 1900. Highest.	Range for Year 1900. Lowest.	Closing Sat., Jan. 20. Bid.	Closing Sat., Jan. 20. Ask'd	Net Ch'ge Past Week.	STOCKS. Sales Week Ended Jan. 20, 1,582,317.	Amount Capi'l Stock Outstanding.	Last Dividend. Date.	Last Dividend. Per Cent.	Period.	Week Ended Jan. 20. First.	High.	Low.	Last.	Closing a Year Ago.	Sales Week Ended Jan. 20, 1900.
114 January 6.	114 January 6.	114	117	..	Adams Express	$12,000,000	Dec. 11, '99.	2	SA	114	114	114	114	108¾	170
14⅝ January 4.	12½ January 15.	18	13¾	— ¼	American Car & Foundry Co.	29,000,000	.....	..	..	12⅞	13¼	12¼	12⅝	....	2,595
62½ January 4.	50¾ January 2.	60	55½	— ⅛	American Car & Foundry Co. pf.	29,000,000	Nov. 1, '99.	1¾	Q	60	60	59⅝	59⅞	....	402
34½ January 5.	32¾ January 17.	33⅜	33¾	— ⅛	American Cotton Oil.	20,237,100	Dec. 1, '99.	4	A	33½	33¾	32½	33⅜	36⅜	5,660
92½ January 12.	90 January 8.	92	93	— ⅛	American Cotton Oil pf.	10,198,800	Dec. 1, '99.	3	SA	92	92	92	92	89⅞	150
31 January 20.	24⅜ January 4.	31	32	..	American District Telegraph.	3,345,000	Nov. 15, '99.	1¾	SA	28	31	28	31	....	1,200
145 January 18.	145 January 18.	145	150	+ 5	American Express	18,000,000	Jan. 2, 1900.	3	SA	145	145	145	145	138	115
36½ January 2.	33¼ January 15.	36	36¼	+ 1⅝	American Ice Co.	22,939,100	Nov. 15, '99.	1	..	35½	36⅛	33⅛	36⅛	....	11,448
73 January 17.	72½ January 5.	73	75	..	American Ice Co. pf.	12,440,000	Jan. 15, 1900.	1½	Q	73	73	73	73	....	273
15½ January 17.	12⅜ January 4.	14½	14⅝	+ ⅜	American Linseed Co.	16,750,000	.....	..	..	13½	15½	13½	14⅜	....	5,223
56⅜ January 2.	52⅜ January 11.	54½	54⅝	— ⅜	American Linseed Co. pf.	16,750,000	Dec. 15, '99.	1¾	Q	53⅜	55¼	52⅜	54	....	2,858
7⅝ January 2.	5¾ January 18.	5¾	7	— ⅜	American Malting Co.	14,500,000	.....	..	..	6	6½	5¾	5½	32½	1,100
31⅜ January 2.	26⅛ January 19.	27	29	— 1½	American Malting Co. pf.	14,400,000	Oct. 16, '99.	1¾	Q	28	28	26½	27	85	1,110
39 January 10.	35½ January 2.	38¾	39	+ 1½	American Smelting & Refining Co.	27,000,000	.....	..	..	37⅞	39	36⅝	38⅜	....	4,238
89⅜ January 20.	86 January 2.	89¼	89¾	+ 1⅝	American Smelting & Refining Co. pf.	27,000,000	Jan. 9, 1900.	1¾	Q	87⅝	89¾	87	89⅜	....	2,903
*4¼ January 19.	*4¼ January 19.	2½	4	..	American Spirits Mfg. Co.	27,983,300	.....	..	..	4¼	4¼	4¼	4¼	13½	20
45 January 3.	41⅛ January 17.	41	42	..	American Steel Hoop Co.	10,190,800	.....	..	..	41½	42	41⅞	42	....	200
83 January 2.	81 January 10.	80	81	..	American Steel Hoop Co. pf.	14,000,000	Oct. 10, '99.	1¾	Q	81	81½	81	81	....	355
50⅜ January 2.	45¾ January 15.	48	49¾	+ ⅛	American Steel & Wire Co.	50,000,000	.....	..	..	47½	48⅝	45¾	48⅛	53	37,720
92½ January 3.	89 January 15.	90	91	+ ½	American Steel & Wire Co. pf.	40,000,000	Jan. 2, 1900.	1¾	Q	90⅛	90¼	89	90¼	122	1,700
137½ January 4.	112¼ January 11.	117½	117⅝	+ 1¼	American Sugar Refining Co.	36,968,000	Jan. 2, 1900.	3	Q	117	119½	113⅜	117⅝	131⅛	257,485
115 January 10.	111 January 11.	113½	117	..	American Sugar Refining Co. pf.	36,968,000	Jan. 2, 1900.	1¾	Q	111	114	111	114	115	185
92¼ January 18.	92¼ January 18.	92¼	96	..	American Telegraph & Cable Co.	14,000,000	Dec. 1, '99.	1¼	Q	92¼	92¼	92¼	92¼	100	117
34½ January 3.	28⅝ January 15.	28	29⅝	— ½	American Tin Plate.	28,000,000	.....	..	..	29¼	30½	28⅝	29⅝	....	3,956
83 January 2.	80¼ January 12.	79¼	81⅞	+ ⅝	American Tin Plate pf.	18,000,000	Oct. 30, '99.	1¾	Q	81⅞	82¼	81	81⅜	....	380
107⅜ January 3.	94½ January 12.	98¾	99⅞	— ¼	American Tobacco	54,500,000	Nov. 1, '99.	1½	Q	97	101	95⅞	98⅝	140½	121,580
*140½ January 18.	*139 January 15.	135	140	..	American Tobacco pf.	14,000,000	Nov. 1, '99.	2	Q	139	140¾	139	140½	137	60
41⅝ January 3.	38 January 8.	39½	40	+ ⅛	Anaconda Copper Mining Co.	30,000,000	Nov. 1, '99.	12	SA	39⅜	40⅜	39¼	40	....	40
*15 January 10.	*15 January 19.	16	19	..	Ann Arbor.	3,250,000	.....	..	..	15	15	15	15	....	310
44 January 19.	41 January 3.	43½	45	..	Ann Arbor pf.	4,000,000	.....	..	..	42½	44	42⅜	44	39⅜	2,515
20⅜ January 2.	18⅝ January 8.	19½	20	+ ¼	Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe.	102,000,000	.....	..	..	19⅝	20¼	19½	20	23¾	3,885
63¼ January 2.	58¼ January 11.	60½	61	+ ⅝	Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe pf.	114,199,500	July 20, '99.	1¼	SA	60	61½	59	61	62½	44,151
60¼ January 18.	55¼ January 8.	58⅝	58½	— 1⅝	Baltimore & Ohio.	42,500,000	.....	..	..	59½	59½	57⅞	58⅝	54	31,695
77⅞ January 2.	72⅜ January 9.	75	75¼	— ⅝	Baltimore & Ohio pf.	59,227,000	.....	..	..	75½	75½	74½	75¼	77¼	18,380
71⅞ January 9.	68¼ January 12.	70¼	70¾	+ 1⅛	Brooklyn Rapid Transit.	45,000,000	.....	..	..	68	71⅜	66⅝	70⅝	62	137,142
148⅜ January 5.	140 January 2.	146	147	+ ½	Brooklyn Union Gas.	15,000,000	Dec. 1, '99.	3	SA	145	146	145	146	143	951
15 January 18.	11⅛ January 8.	14¾	15	+ 2⅜	Brunswick Dock & City Improvement.	5,000,000	.....	..	..	12⅜	15	12¾	14⅜	15	3,295

Stock Transactions New York Stock Exchange Week Ended Jan. 20, 1900.—Continued.

Range for Year 1900. Highest.	Range for Year 1900. Lowest.	Closing Bid. Jan. 20.	Closing Ask'd.	Net Ch'ge Past Week.	STOCKS.	Amount Cap'l Stock Outstanding.	Last Dividend. Date.	Last Dividend. Per Cent.	Last Dividend. Period	Week ended Jan. 20. First.	High.	Low.	Last.	Closing 1 Year Ago.	Sales Week Ended Jan. 20, 1900.
50⅝ January 5.	48½ January 2.	49½	50		Canadian Southern	18,000,000	Aug. 1, '99.	1	SA	50	50	49	49	50½	40
93⅞ January 19.	90¾ January 4.	92½	93	+ 1¼	Canadian Pacific	65,000,000	Oct. 2, '99.	1	SA	92¾	93½	92¾	93	85	450
31½ January 3.	29 January 10.	29	30	+ 1⅝	Cheesapeake & Ohio	20,522,400	Oct. 25, '99.	1		29¾	30¾	29¾	30¾	23¾	11,055
124½ January 3.	119¾ January 10.	122½	122⅝	+ ¼	Chicago, Burlington & Quincy	68,219,400	Dec. 15, '99.	1½	Q	121¼	122⅝	119¾	122½	130	38,235
95⅝ January 15.	87⅞ January 2.	36	40		Chicago Consolidated Traction	15,000,000				39½	39½	39½	39½	...	400
124 January 6.	120 January 17.	113	124		Chicago & Eastern Illinois pf.	8,580,700	Jan. 2, 1900.	1½	Q	121	121	120	120	116	200
13⅜ January 5.	11¾ January 11.	12	13¼	+ ⅛	Chicago Great Western	21,284,800				12¾	13⅛	12	13⅛	18⅜	9,150
77⅞ January 3.	73 January 11.	75¾	76⅝	+ ⅛	Chicago Great Western pf. A	11,571,800	July 31, '99.	2	SA	75¾	76	75¾	76	53⅜	615
38⅝ January 13.	35⅞ January 6.	37⅜	38	+ ⅛	Chicago Great Western pf. B	5,269,160				37	38¼	37	38¼	32	340
88 January 18.	85 January 12.	87½	87⅝	+ ⅛	Chicago Great Western deb.	18,176,000	Jan. 15, 1900.	2	SA	86	86	86	86	68¾	600
17⅞ January 3.	14 January 12.	14⅝	15	+ 1	Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville	10,000,000				14½	15	14	15	9¾	1,001
45 January 5.	40 January 3.	40	45		Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville pf.	5,000,000	March 30, '99.	1		45	45	45	45	34	50
138¾ January 5.	115½ January 10.	115¾	138¾	+ 1	Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul	47,301,600	Oct. 31, '99.	2½	SA	117½	119¼	116⅝	118½	128¾	26,255
173¾ January 2.	169¾ January 18.	170	172	+ 1½	Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul pf.	34,836,400	Oct. 31, '99.	3½	SA	169½	171½	169½	171½	169½	582
164½ January 2.	138 January 11.	161¼	162⅝	+ 2	Chicago & Northwestern	39,116,800	Jan. 5, 1900.	3	SA	159	162¾	159	161¼	159	2,375
106⅝ January 2.	104½ January 3.	106½	106⅝	+ ⅛	Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific	50,000,000	Nov. 1, '99.	1¼	Q	106	106⅝	105	106⅝	120⅜	7,005
11 January 2.	9 January 10.	10½	11	+ ⅛	Chicago Terminal Transfer	13,000,000				10	10½	10	10½	9½	805
38 January 2.	32 January 16.	33½	36	+ 2½	Chicago Terminal Transfer pf.	17,000,000				32½	34	32	33½	27½	1,800
65 January 5.	60½ January 11.	61	61½	+ ½	Cleveland, Cin., Chi. & St. Louis	36,000,000	Aug., '99.	1¼	Q	61	61¾	60¾	61	49½	4,885
106⅝ January 5.	106½ January 2.	106	106	— ¼	Cleveland, Cin., Chi. & St. Louis pf.	10,000,000	Jan. 20, 1900.	1¼	Q	106	106	106	106	...	150
18 January 18.	14½ January 10.	17	17⅛	+ ⅛	Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling	5,000,000				15	16	15	15⅝	14½	1,382
52 January 17.	46 January 2.	52	55	+ 1½	Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling pf.	5,000,000	Oct., '96.	1¼		50	52	50	51½	41	1,150
46⅛ January 3.	40¾ January 8.	43	45½	— ⅝	Colorado Fuel & Iron	15,000,000				43	44⅝	41¼	43	34⅝	8,460
131½ January 17.	128 January 3.	129	134		Colorado Fuel & Iron pf.	2,000,000	Feb. 20, '97.	4		128	131¼	128	130	98½	990
9⅝ January 2.	9 January 4.	9	9½	+ ⅛	Colorado Midland	5,420,200				9¼	9⅝	9½	9½	7¾	464
23¼ January 2.	21 January 5.	22⅜	23½	+ ⅜	Colorado Midland pf.	4,954,800				22	23½	22½	22¾	20	1,870
6 January 5.	5¼ January 2.	5½	5⅝		Colorado Southern	30,885,000				5¾	5¾	5¾	5¾	3	1,710
43⅛ January 16.	38 January 3.	43	43½	+ 2½	Colorado Southern 1st pf.	8,500,000				43	43½	42½	43½	25	1,717
15⅝ January 3.	14⅜ January 6.	15	15⅞	+ ⅛	Colorado Southern 2d pf.	8,500,000				14½	15½	14½	15½	22	1,545
17¼ January 2.	15 January 3.	15	17	— 1	Columbus & Hocking Coal & Iron	4,700,000				15	15	15	15	...	110
*183 January 17.	*183 January 17.	160	...		Commercial Cable	10,000,000	Jan. 2, 1900.	12½	Q	163	163	163	163	...	27
199 January 3.	186½ January 16.	188	189	— 3½	Consolidated Gas	39,075,000	Dec. 15, '99.	1	Q	190	190	186½	187	192½	840
33 January 3.	30½ January 11.	32¾	33¾	— ⅛	Continental Tobacco Co.	43,845,700				31⅜	33¼	31	32½	...	12,130
89¼ January 3.	84½ January 11.	85¼	87	— ¼	Continental Tobacco Co. pf.	43,845,000	Jan. 2, 1900.	1½	Q	84½	86¾	83½	86	...	2,955
119 January 3.	113 January 8.	114⅝	116	— ½	Delaware & Hudson	35,000,000	Dec. 15, '99.	1½	Q	114½	115	114½	115	114	299
179⅝ January 2.	174 January 11.	174½	177		Delaware, Lackawanna & Western	26,200,000	Jan. 20, 1900.	1½	Q	176	176½	176	176½	158½	200
18⅝ January 3.	16⅞ January 10.	17⅜	18½	+ ⅛	Denver & Rio Grande	38,000,000				18	18	18	18	30⅝	150
71⅝ January 3.	62¾ January 10.	69¼	69¾	+ 1½	Denver & Rio Grande pf.	23,650,000	Jan. 15, 1900.	2	SA	68½	69⅝	68½	69¾	72¾	2,000
15⅝ January 3.	13½ January 15.	15	15½	+ 1	Des Moines & Fort Dodge	4,285,100				13½	15	13½	15	20	350
6 January 6.	4⅝ January 12.	4⅝	5½	+ ⅛	Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic	12,000,000				5¼	5¼	5¼	5¼	...	410
14⅜ January 3.	12 January 19.	12⅜	14	..	Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic pf.	10,000,000				13	13	13	13	8	325
*400 January 20.	*400 January 20.	375	400	..	Eighth Avenue	1,000,000	Jan., 1900.	5%	Q	400	400	400	400	...	50
11⅝ January 12.	11⅜ January 9.	11	...	..	Erie	112,282,700				12¼	12¼	12⅛	12⅛	18	10
33⅜ January 3.	31½ January 9.	33	33½	— ½	Erie 1st pf.	42,344,000				32¾	33	32⅝	32⅝	40⅜	1,550
107⅝ January 6.	101 January 3.	104½	104⅝	+ ½	Erie 2d pf.	5,000,000	Jan. 8, 1900.	1½	Q	104	105½	103⅝	104¼	...	4,100
1⅛ January 20.	1 January 20.	...	...		Erie, Tel. & Tel. rights	.....				1½	1½	1	1	...	700
42½ January 16.	40¼ January 5.	41¼	43	+ 1½	Evansville & Terre Haute	4,000,000	Oct. 19, '99.	2		42½	42½	42½	42½	38½	160
55½ January 2.	47⅞ January 11.	51½	51½	+ ½	Federal Steel	46,484,300	Jan. 20, 1900.	1½	..	51	51⅜	49	51⅜	53½	27,803
76 January 2.	70¾ January 10.	72⅝	74	— ½	Federal Steel pf.	53,261,100	Jan. 20, 1900.	3	..	73	74¼	72⅜	74	85½	3,043
124½ January 4.	120 January 10.	122	123½		General Electric Co.	18,276,000	Jan. 15, 1900.	1½	Q	122¼	123¼	122	123	101¼	920
52⅜ January 2.	47 January 2.	49⅝	51	— 1	Glucose Sugar Refining Co.	24,027,300	Dec. 1, '99.	1¼	Q	50½	50½	50	50	72	980
98⅜ January 12.	96 January 2.	97	98¾		Glucose Sugar Refining Co. pf.	12,619,300	Dec. 1, '99.	1½	Q	99½	99½	99½	99½	100½	10
174½ January 3.	166 January 20.	166	167½	— 3½	Great Northern pf.	59,469,700	Nov. 1, '99.	1½	Q	167½	167½	166	166	166	600
115⅛ January 11.	113 January 3.	113	115	— 1½	H. B. Claflin Co.	3,829,100	Jan. 15, 1900.	2	Q	114	114	114	114	103¾	190
34½ January 2.	30½ January 10.	31	34	+ 1½	Hocking Valley	9,150,700				31⅝	31⅝	31⅝	31⅝	...	220
62½ January 2.	58 January 8.	58⅝	59½	+ ⅝	Hocking Valley pf.	11,453,700	Jan. 10, 1900.	1½	..	59	59⅞	58¾	59⅞	...	980
114 January 19.	110⅝ January 9.	113¼	113⅝	+ 2⅝	Illinois Central	60,000,000	Sept. 1, '99.	2½	SA	112	114	112	114	121	830
25⅛ January 3.	23 January 9.	23½	24	+ ⅛	International Paper Co.	17,442,900	July 1, '99.	1	..	23¼	24	23¼	23⅝	35¾	1,060
68⅜ January 2.	65 January 9.	67	67⅛	— ¼	International Paper Co. pf.	22,535,700	Jan. 20, 1900.	1¼	Q	66¾	67¼	66¾	67	93⅜	1,545
10 January 10.	9 January 16.	9	10	+ ⅛	International Silver	10,000,000				9	9	9	9	...	200
12⅜ January 4.	11⅞ January 12.	12	12¼	+ ⅛	Iowa Central	8,488,800				12	12	11⅞	12	13⅜	890
50½ January 2.	48	50⅝	54	+ 2½	Iowa Central pf.	5,671,600	Sept. 1, '99.	1½	SA	50	50½	50	50½	47	200
12¼ January 20.	10 January 2.	12¼	13	+ ½	Kanawha & Michigan	9,000,000	.....	..	..	12¾	12¼	12¾	12½	12½	310
8¾ January 5.	8 January 5.	8¾	9	+ ¼	Kansas City, Pittsburg & Gulf tr. r.	21,061,100	.....	..	..	8¼	8¼	8¼	8¼	...	130
80 January 5.	78¼ January 12.	79	79¼	— ½	Laclede Gas	7,500,000	Sept. 15, '99.	1½	SA	80	80	79	79¾	52½	400
27 January 2.	21¼ January 19.	22	23	— ½	Lake Erie & Western	11,840,000				22½	22½	21½	22½	19½	500
82⅛ January 2.	77⅛ January 9.	80⅞	81½	+ ⅝	Louisville & Nashville	52,800,000	Aug. 20, '99.	2	SA	80⅛	81⅞	79⅝	81	67⅝	15,809
99 January 3.	90⅜ January 16.	93¼	93½	— ⅞	Manhattan Consolidated	48,000,000	Jan. 2, 1900.	1	Q	93¼	93⅜	90⅝	93½	114⅝	29,625
180 January 3.	159½ January 15.	164	164½	— 1½	Metropolitan Street Railway	40,000,000	Jan. 15, 1900.	1¾	Q	166	166	159½	164½	198¼	57,067
12⅜ January 2.	10½ January 4.	12	12¼	+ ½	Mexican Central	36,000,000				11⅞	12	10½	12	7½	5,620
¾ January 3.	3⅜	3⅜	4	+ ⅛	Mexican National certificates	33,350,000				3⅝	4	3⅝	4	1½	810
*104 January 18.	*104 January 18.	104	110		Michigan Central	18,738,000	July 28, '99.	2	SA	104	104	104	104	113	10
60⅝ January 2.	58 January 12.	58½	60	+ ⅛	Minneapolis & St. Louis	6,000,000				59⅝	59⅝	58	58⅝	41¼	1,180
91⅝ January 12.	90¾ January 2.	90	92		Minneapolis & St. Louis 2d pf.	4,000,000	Jan. 15, 1900.	2½	SA	91⅝	91⅜	91¼	91⅜	77½	100
17⅛ January 3.	15 January 2.	16	17		Minneapolis & St. Paul S. S. Marie	14,000,000				16	16⅜	16	16⅜	...	700
56 January 20.	55 January 20.	53	60		Minneapolis & St. Paul S. S. Marie pf.	7,000,000				55	55	55	55	...	100
10⅝ January 12.	10 January 5.	10	11		Missouri, Kansas & Texas	64,950,000				11¼	11¼	11¼	11¼	13⅞	10
34½ January 2.	31½ January 11.	33	33⅜		Missouri, Kansas & Texas pf.	13,000,000				32	33⅜	32	33	38	1,735
43⅜ January 20.	39⅝ January 11.	43	43¼	+ 2⅝	Missouri Pacific	47,507,100	July 1, '93.	1		40⅝	43⅜	39¼	43¼	47¼	79,090
40⅝ January 16.	39 January 12.	40¼	42	+ ⅞	Mobile & Ohio	5,329,800	Feb. 28, '98.	1		40	40¼	40	40¼	38	350
183½ January 13.	183½ January 13.	183½	185		Morris & Essex	15,000,000	Jan., 1900.	3½	SA	183½	183½	183½	183½	180	80
38 January 2.	35 January 9.	36¾	37	+ 1⅛	National Biscuit Co.	29,000,000	Jan. 15, 1900.	1	Q	36¼	36¼	35⅞	35¾	56	922
92⅛ January 18.	90⅝ January 2.	91¼	92½		National Biscuit Co. pf.	23,000,000	Nov. 30, '99.	1¾	Q	92	92½	92	92¼	106½	245
27⅜ January 13.	25 January 9.	26⅞	26¾	— ⅛	National Lead Co.	14,905,400	March 1, '99.	1	A	25¼	27½	25¼	26⅝	39½	1,030
105½ January 4.	104⅝ January 10.	105	105½	+ ¼	National Lead Co. pf.	14,904,000	Dec. 15, '99.	1¾	Q	105	105¼	105	105¼	115	388
46⅛ January 3.	41 January 9.	45¼	45¾	+ ⅛	National Steel Co.	22,000,000				42¾	42¾	41	42⅛	...	2,075
93 January 2.	92 January 9.	92	92⅝		National Steel Co. pf.	26,000,000	Dec. 30, '99.	1¾	Q	92½	92½	92¼	92¼	...	885
119⅝ January 2.	115 January 6.	117½	118	+ 1	New Jersey Central	27,055,800	Nov. 1, '99.	1	Q	116½	117½	115¾	117¾	103	1,210
133 January 2.	125 January 6.	130	135	— 7⅜	New York Air Brake	5,000,000	Jan. 15, 1900.	2	Q	134½	134½	130	130	155½	451
138 January 5.	131¼ January 2.	134¼	134½	+ ½	New York Central	160,000,000	Jan. 15, 1900.	1¼	Q	133¾	134¾	133	134¼	137⅞	16,600
214 January 19.	213 January 2.	213	217		New York, New Haven & Hartford	52,308,600	Dec. 30, '99.	2	Q	213	214	213	214	190	376
13⅜ January 4.	12½ January 2.	12¾	13¼	— ⅛	New York, Chicago & St. Louis	14,000,000				12½	12½	12½	12⅝	16⅞	100
*130 January 18.	*130 January 18.	130	135		New York, Lackawanna & Western	10,000,000	Jan., 1900.	1½	Q	130	130	130	130	129½	10
23¼ January 2.	20⅞ January 10.	22	23¼	+ ⅛	New York, Ontario & Western	58,113,900				21⅝	22¼	21⅝	22	19⅝	5,660
26 January 2.	22⅝ January 10.	25½	25⅝	+ 1⅛	Norfolk & Western	36,000,000				24	25¾	23½	25¾	19⅝	33,020
70⅝ January 18.	67 January 8.	69¾	70	+ 1½	Norfolk & Western pf.	23,000,000	Aug. 24, '99.	2	SA	68½	70⅝	68½	70¾	67½	7,309
15⅞ January 4.	13⅞ January 18.	14	14½		North American	39,776,300				14	14⅝	13⅞	14½	7¾	5,250
54½ January 2.	50½ January 11.	52	52½	+ ⅝	Northern Pacific	80,080,000	Aug. 3, '99.	1	SA	51⅜	52½	51¼	52¼	49	14,242
74⅛ January 2.	72⅞ January 8.	74⅛	74½	+ ⅞	Northern Pacific pf.	75,000,000	Dec. 5, '99.	1	Q	73⅝	74½	73⅝	74⅜	80¼	4,630
8 January 18.	7⅝ January 4.	8	9	..	Ontario Mining	15,000,000	Jan. 20, 1900.	30c	Q	8	8	8	8	...	100
53 January 2.	50 January 13.	51½	52	+ 1⅝	Pacific Coast	6,809,600	Nov. 1, '99.	1	..	50¼	51⅝	50¼	51⅝	48½	1,306
66⅜ January 2.	64⅞ January 19.	64½	66	..	Pacific Coast 2d pf.	3,914,400	Nov. 1, '99.	††1	Q	61⅜	64⅞	64⅞	64⅝	65	100
47½ January 2.	41 January 10.	43⅝	44	— ½	Pacific Mail	20,000,000	Dec. 1, '99.	1½	SA	41¼	44¼	42⅝	44	46⅝	8,215
133⅝ January 5.	128½ January 12.	129⅝	130¼	— ½	Pennsylvania Railroad	129,303,250	Nov. 29, '99.	2½	SA	129⅝	130¾	129⅝	130	135½	15,987
3 January 4.	2¾ January 16.	2¾	3	+ ⅛	Pennsylvania Railroad, rights	.....	.....	..	..	2¾	2¾	2¾	2¾	...	29,958
*127½ January 20.	*127½ January 20.	127½	128½		Pennsylvania Railroad sub. receipts	.....	.....	..	..	127½	127½	127½	127½	...	33
106½ January 2.	100½ January 11.	104½	104¾	+ ½	People's Gas, Chicago	28,668,800	Nov. 25, '99.	1½	Q	104	104⅝	102½	104⅝	111¾	16,001
3¼ January 2.	2½ January 4.	2½	2⅝	— ¼	Peoria, Decatur & Evansville	8,400,000	.....	..	..	2⅝	2⅝	2½	2⅝	1½	2,440
5⅜ January 5.	5½ January 17.	5½	7	..	Peoria & Eastern	10,000,000	.....	..	..	5½	5¾	5½	5½	6	100
74 January 19.	74 January 19.	...	...	..	Philadelphia Co.	7,560,000	Jan. 20, 1900.	2½	..	74	74	74	74	...	100
80½ January 2.	77⅝ January 18.	77½	80	+ 1⅝	Pittsburg, Cin., Chi. & St. Louis	24,387,100				77⅝	77⅞	77⅝	77⅝	68⅝	410
94 January 8.	90½ January 2.	92	98	..	Pittsburg, Cin., Chi. & St. Louis pf.	649,200	Oct. 10, '99.	1½	..	90	90	90	90	87½	10
58⅝ January 17.	56¼ January 2.	56½	57¼	+ ⅝	Pressed Steel Car Co.	12,500,000				58	58⅝	56½	57	...	2,700
93¾ January 17.	85½ January 2.	88	88	+ 1¼	Pressed Steel Car Co. pf.	12,500,000	Jan. 15, 1900.	1¾	Q	87	88¼	87¼	87¼	...	2,060
189⅝ January 19.	187 January 10.	188	190	+ 1½	Pullman Co.	74,000,000	Nov. 15, '99.	2	Q	188	189½	188	189⅝	157	641
19 January 2.	17⅛ January 16.	17⅜	17⅝	— ½	Reading	69,900,000	.....	..	..	17½	18	17⅛	17⅝	23	1,980
51½ January 2.	49 January 9.	50⅝	50⅝	— ⅝	Reading 1st pf.	28,000,000	.....	..	..	51	51	49	50⅝	38¼	11,910
29⅛ January 2.	26 January 9.	27⅛	28	+ 1½	Reading 2d pf.	42,000,000	.....	..	..	26½	28	26¾	28	31⅝	1,800
23⅜ January 3.	19⅜ January 15.	20½	21	— ⅛	Republic Iron & Steel Co.	27,352,000	.....	..	Q	19⅜	20⅝	19⅜	20⅝	...	3,720
68⅛ January 5.	64⅜ January 18.	65	66	..	Republic Iron & Steel Co. pf.	20,852,000	Jan. 1, 1900.	1¾	Q	65	65	64¾	65	...	495
81 January 10.	80 January 16.	82¼	88	— 1	Rio Grande Western pf.	6,900,000	Nov. 1, '99.	1¼	Q	80	80	80	80	72½	125
6¼ January 4.	6 January 15.	5	6	..	St. Joseph & Grand Island	4,600,000	.....	..	..	6	6	6	6	5	300
10 January 3.	9 January 15.	9½	10	+ ½	St. Louis & San Francisco	26,442,980	.....	..	..	9	9⅝	9	9⅝	9⅜	1,019
33⅜ January 15.	32½ January 5.	32½	33½	+ ¾	St. Louis & San Francisco 2d pf.	14,335,700	Sept. 1, '99.	1	SA	32½	33⅜	32⅜	33¼	33⅜	700
11⅜ January 20.	9¾ January 9.	11⅜	12	+ 1⅛	St. Louis Southwestern	16,500,000	.....	..	..	10	11⅜	10	11⅜	8½	3,500
27⅛ January 20.	23½ January 10.	27¼	27⅜	+ 1⅜	St. Louis Southwestern pf.	20,000,000	.....	..	..	25	27⅛	25	27⅛	21½	4,650
56 January 3.	50¼ January 11.	50	53	..	St. Paul & Duluth	4,680,200	July 5, '87.	3	..	51	51	51	51	44	300
39 January 2.	35½ January 8.	38¾	38⅞	+ ⅝	Southern Pacific	193,802,100	.....	..	..	37⅝	38¾	37	38½	33	65,500
12⅜ January 2.	11 January 8.	11⅞	12	+ ⅛	Southern Railway	119,900,000	.....	..	..	11½	12	11¼	11⅝	13¾	9,580
55⅛ January 2.	51⅞ January 8.	54½	54⅝	+ ⅝	Southern Railway pf.	60,000,000	Oct. 4, '99.	1	..	53¾	55	53¼	54⅝	48⅝	5,535
10¼ January 4.	8¾ January 16.	9⅛	9½	..	Standard Rope & Twine	12,000,000	.....	..	..	9¼	9⅝	8⅝	9¼	9⅝	880
87⅝ January 3.	79¾ January 11.	83½	85½	..	Tennessee Coal & Iron	20,000,000	Jan., '87.	1	..	84	86½	82	85¼	39¼	4,775
16⅜ January 19.	14⅝ January 10.	15⅞	16½	+ ⅜	Texas Pacific	38,706,700	.....	..	..	15½	16⅝	15	16⅜	18⅛	5,525
11⅜ January 12.	11½ January 17.	12	13	— ½	Texas Pacific & Land Trust	10,370,000	.....	..	..	11½	11½	11½	11½	14½	200
135⅛ January 3.	107 January 19.	111⅜	111⅞	—10½	Third Avenue	36,000,000	Nov. 29, '99.	1½	Q	120⅜	123½	107	112	171	27,906
67 January 4.	66 January 3.	..	67½	..	Twin City Rapid Transit	15,010,000	Aug. 15, '99.	1	Q	86½	86½	86½	86¾	...	100
137 January 2.	136 January 2.	..	137	..	Twin City Rapid Transit pf.	2,032,200	Jan. 1, 1900.	1¾		137	137	137	137	130	235
24⅞ January 3.	21⅜ January 2.	22	23	— 2	Union Bag & Paper Co.	16,080,000				22⅜	23	21⅜	22½	...	1,220
75 January 2.	73½ January 9.	74¼	75	+ ⅛	Union Bag & Paper Co. pf.	11,000,000	Jan. 1, 1900.	1¾	Q	73⅝	74⅜	73⅝	74⅜	...	486
48⅝ January 2.	44⅝ January 10.	47¼	47½	+ ⅞	Union Pacific	91,270,000				46½	47⅝	45¾	47⅜	50	59,850
76 January 2.	73½ January 8.	75⅝	75½	+ 1	Union Pacific pf.	97,087,800	Oct. 2, '99.	2	SA	74⅛	75⅝	74	75½	83½	17,765
47⅞ January 16.	47¼ January 3.	47	49	..	United States Express	10,000,000	Nov. 15, '99.	1½	SA	47½	47¾	47½	47½	56	345
19 January 3.	15½ January 8.	17	17⅜	+ ⅝	United States Leather Co.	61,509,900	.....	..	..	16½	18⅝	16½	17⅜	7⅝	101,616
77 January 3.	72¾ January 10.	75¼	76	+ 1⅜	United States Leather Co. pf.	60,000,000	Jan. 2, 1900.	1½	Q	74⅛	78¼	74⅛	76	74¼	2,835
44 January 2.	40½ January 15.	40⅝	41½	+ ⅝	United States Rubber Co.	23,686,000	Oct. 31, '99.	1	Q	40½	41½	40½	41	47	660
104½ January 3.	101 January 19.	101½	102⅜	..	United States Rubber Co. pf.	23,525,500	Oct. 31, '99.	2	Q	102	102¾	101	101	115½	938
*272¼ January 17.	*272¼ January 17.	..	..	..	United N. J. Railroad & Canal	21,240,400	Jan. 10, 1900.	2½	Q	272¼	272¾	272¼	272¼	...	15
7⅜ January 2.	7¼ January 5.	7¼	7½	..	Wabash	28,000,000	.....	..	..	7⅜	7⅝	7⅜	7⅜	8¼	600
21⅝ January 2.	19⅝ January 10.	21	21⅞	+ ⅜	Wabash pf.	24,000,000	.....	..	..	20⅜	21¼	20⅜	21⅛	24	2,625
88⅛ January 5.	85 January 2.	87	87½	+ ½	Western Union Telegraph	97,370,000	Jan. 15, 1900.	1¼	Q	87¼	87¼	87¼	87¼	95	1,209
10⅝ January 2.	9¼ January 11.	9⅞	10	+ ⅛	Wheeling & Lake Erie	15,000,000	.....	..	..	9⅝	10⅛	9⅝	10	...	2,580
54½ January 3.	52 January 2.	53	53⅜	+ ⅜	Wheeling & Lake Erie 1st pf.	2,500,000	.....	..	..	53¾	53⅞	52½	53⅜	...	430
29½ January 3.	26½ January 11.	27¼	28⅝	— ⅜	Wheeling & Lake Erie 2d pf.	7,000,000	.....	..	..	28½	28½	27¾	28¼	...	580
20½ January 3.	17 January 11.	18⅜	19½	+ ½	Wisconsin Central	.....	.....	..	..	18	19	18	19	...	700
51½ January 3.	47⅜ January 11.	49	49½	+ 1	Wisconsin Central pf.	.....	.....	..	..	48¾	49½	48¾	49½	...	800
59½ January 16.	59½ January 16.	59½	60⅝	..	Silver bullion certificates	.....	.....	..	..	59½	59½	59½	59½	...	5,000

Note.—The highest and lowest prices, unless otherwise designated, are based on sales of 100-share lots. *Sales of less than 100 shares. †Including extra dividend of ¾. ‡Including extra dividend of ½. Dividend period changed from semi-annual to quarterly and extra payments of 5-12 of 1 per cent. on first preferred and 1-3 of 1 per cent. on second preferred to make it conform with fiscal year, which ends June 30. ††Including extra dividend of 1 per cent. A.—Annual. SA.—Semi-annual. Q.—Quarterly. M.—Monthly. All stocks in this table par $100, with these exceptions: Evansville & Terre Haute common, Delaware, Stock Transactions New York Stock Exchange Week Ended Jan. 20, 1900.

BONDS.

Sales Week Ended Jan. 20. $13,910,400

	Week Ending Jan. 20. First.	High.	Low.	Last.	Sales.
Adams Express 4s	103⅜	104	103⅜	104	17
American Cotton Oil 5s	103⅞	103⅞	103⅞	103⅞	2
American Dock & Improvement 5s	114	114	113	113	2
American Spirits Mfg. Co. 6s	85	85	85	85	5
American Tobacco scrip	99	100	99	100	11
Ann Arbor 4s	91	93	91	93	28
Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fé gen. 4s	99¼	100½	99¼	100½	528
Atchison, T. & S. F. adjustment 4s	79½	80⅞	79⅛	80⅛	44½
Atlantic & Danville 1st 5s	100	100	100	100	5
Austin & Northwest 5s	95½	95¾	95¼	95½	30
Baltimore & Ohio 3½s	93⅜	94⅞	93½	94⅝	908
Baltimore & Ohio 4s	99	100	98⅝	100	219
Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern Div. 3½s	87½	89¼	87½	89⅝	461
Broadway & Seventh Avenue 1st con. 5s	118⅝	118⅞	118⅝	118⅝	5
Brooklyn Rapid Transit 5s	104	105	103½	105	21
Brooklyn Union Elevated 1st 5s	94½	96½	94	95¼	121
Brooklyn Wharf & Warehouse 5s	75	75	74	74	17
Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg gen. 5s	110	110	100	100	4
Bur., Cedar Rapids & Northern col. tr. 5s	115	115	115	115	20
Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Northern 1st 5s	106½	107	106½	107	23½
Canada Southern 1st 5s	106½	106⅞	106½	106⅞	29
Canada Southern 2d 5s	107⅞	108	107½	108	30
Central Branch, Union Pacific, 4s	87½	87½	87½	87½	4
Central of Georgia consol. 5s	89	90	89	89½	145
Central of Georgia 2d pref. inc. 5s	10	10¼	10	10¼	10
Central of Georgia 1st 5s	120	120	120	120	2
Central of New Jersey general 5s	118½	119	118½	119	67
Central Pacific 3½s	82¾	83⅛	82⅝	83⅜	559
Central Pacific 1st 4s	98¾	100¼	98⅝	100⅛	610
Cent. R. R. & Banking Co., Georgia, coll. 5s	91	91	91	91	1
Chesapeake & Ohio 4½s	96½	97¼	96¼	97	195
Chesapeake & Ohio 6s, 1911	118½	118½	118½	118½	10
Ches. & Ohio, Rich. & Alle. 1st con. 4s	101½	101½	101½	101½	8
Chesapeake & Ohio con. 5s	115¾	115¾	115¾	115¾	11
Chi., Bur. & Quincy, Illinois Div. 3½s	102⅝	103⅛	102⅛	103⅞	140
Chi., Bur. & Quincy consol. 7s	110⅞	111⅛	110⅞	111⅛	55
Chi., Bur. & Quincy, Denver Div. 4s	102	102	102	102	7
Chi., Bur. & Quincy, Nebraska ext. 4s	110¼	110¼	110¼	110¼	39
Chi., Burlington & Quincy sinking fund 5s	101½	101½	101	101	10
Chi., Burling & Quincy convertible 5s	120½	120½	120½	120½	1½
Chi., Bur. & Quincy debenture 5s	108⅞	111	108⅞	111	26
Chicago & Eastern Illinois gen. 5s	112½	112½	112	112½	12
Chicago & Erie 1st 5s	115	115	115	115	14
Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville ref. 6s	112	112½	112	112½	2
Chi., M. & St. P., Wis. & Minn. Div. 5s	117⅝	117¾	117⅝	117¾	5
Chi., Mil. & St. P., Iowa & Dakota ext. 7s	168	168	106	168	1
Chi., Mil. & St. Paul terminal 5s	112⅝	113	112⅝	113	15
Chi., M. & St. P., Chi. & Pac. West. Div. 5s	119	119½	119	119½	28
Chi., M. & St. P., Hastings & Dakota 5s	110¼	110¼	110¼	110¼	1
Chi., Mil. & St. Paul gen. 4s, Series A	109½	100½	109½	100½	2
Chicago & Northwestern deb. 5s, 1909	108	108	108	108	1
Chicago & Northwestern general 3½s	107¼	108	107½	108	20
Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific general 4s	104½	105½	104½	105½	177
Chicago, St. Louis & New Orleans 3½s	100	100	100	100	2
Chicago, St. Paul & Minneapolis 1st 6s	132	132½	132	132½	7
Chi., St. Paul, Minn. & Omaha con. 6s	131½	133	131½	132¾	21
Choctaw, Oklahoma & Gulf 5s	103	103	103	103	5
Cleve., Cin., Chi. & Indianapolis gen. 6s	130	130	130	130	5
Cleveland, Cin., Chi. & St. L. gen. 4s	95	96½	95	96½	54
C., C., C. & St. L., Cin., Wab. & M. Div. 4s	93	93	93	93	3
Cleveland & Mahoning Valley 5s	129	129	129	129	1
Colorado Coal & Iron 6s	102¾	103½	102¾	103½	84
Colorado Fuel & Iron gen. 5s	94	95¼	94	95½	66
Colorado Midland 2-4s	64½	66½	64¼	66⅝	225
Colorado Midland 1st 4s	72	73	72	73	106
Colorado & Southern 4s	85	85	85	85	82
Denver & Rio Grande 1st 7s	102¾	102¾	102¾	102¾	6
Denver & Rio Grande consol 4s	97½	98	97½	98	36
Denver & Rio Grande Improvement 5s	103½	103½	103½	103½	3
Detroit, Mackinac & Marquette l. g. 3½s	20⅞	21	20⅞	21	15
East Tenn., Va. & Ga. consol. 5s	115	115	114½	115	10
East. Tenn., Va. & Ga. Div. 5s	115½	115½	115½	115½	10
Elizabeth, Lexington & Big Sandy 5s	101½	101½	101½	101½	5
Erie 1st consol 7s	139½	140	139½	140	16
Erie 1st extended 4s	117	117	117	117	10
Erie prior lien 4s	90	90½	90	90¼	22
Erie general lien 4s	68¼	69⅝	68¼	69⅜	65
Evansville & Terre Haute gen. 5s	107½	107½	107½	107½	1
Flint & P. M., Port Huron Div. 5s	105	105	105	105	4
Flint & Pere Marquette consol. 5s	103	103	102¼	102¼	7
Flint & Pere Marquette 6s	120	120	120	120	3
Fort Worth & Denver City 1st 4-6s	73	74½	73	74½	6
Fort Worth & Rio Grande 1st 3-4s	58½	58½	58½	58½	1
Gal., Har. & San An., Mex. & Pac. 5s	101	102	101	102	36
Georgia Pacific 6s	119½	121	119½	121	18
Grand Rapids & Indiana 4½s	108	108	108	108	2
Green Bay & Western debenture, A	57	57	57	57	5
Green Bay & Western debenture, B	6⅝	7⅜	6⅝	7⅜	173
Hocking Valley 4½s	99½	99⅝	99½	99⅝	47
Houston & Texas Central gen. 4s	84½	84⅜	84¼	84⅜	50
Houston & Texas 1st 5s	110½	110½	110½	110½	2
Illinois Central 4s, 1953	102	102½	102	102½	15
Illinois Central, St. Louis Div. 3½s	99⅝	100⅝	99⅝	100⅝	10
Illinois Central, Louisville Div. 3½s	100	100⅜	100	100⅜	15
Indiana, Illinois & Iowa 1st ref. 6s	107¼	107¼	107¼	107¼	9
International & Great Northern 1st 6s	121	121	121	121	3
International & Great Northern 2d 5s	90	91¼	90	91¼	2
International & Great Northern 3d 4s	60⅞	61	60⅞	61	17
Kanawha & Michigan 4s	85	85	85	85	9
Kansas City & Pacific 1st 4s	77	77	77	77	10
Kansas City, Pitts. & Gulf 1st 5s, tr. rects	68	68⅛	68	68⅛	91
Knoxville & Ohio 1st 6s	118	119	118	119	20
Laclede Gas 1st 5s	109	109	109	109	10
Lake Erie & Western 1st 5s	118⅝	119¼	118⅝	119¼	27
Lake Erie & Western 2d 5s	112	112⅝	112	112⅝	8
Lake Shore 1st 7s	101¼	101¼	101¼	101½	2
Lake Shore 2d 7s	112⅝	112⅝	112⅝	112⅝	13
Lake Shore 3½s	109½	110¼	109½	110⅛	49
Lehigh & Wilkesbarre Coal 5s	100½	100½	100½	100½	1
Lehigh & Wilkesbarre consol. 7s	100	100⅝	100	100	28
Long Island Ferry 4½s	99	99	99	99	2
Louis., Evansville & St. Louis gen. 4s	6½	8	6½	8	20
Louis., Evans. & St. Louis consol. 5s, tr. r.	63	70	63	70	301
Louisville & Nashville unified 4s	97⅝	98½	97⅝	98½	20
Louis. & Nash. collateral trust 4s	97	97⅛	96¾	97⅛	6
Manhattan Consolidated 4s	104½	105	104½	105	25
Metropolitan Street Railway 5s	119⅞	120¼	119	120¼	67
Metropolitan West Side El., Chicago, 4s	97	97½	97	97	18
Mexican Central 1st income	20½	24⅞	20½	24½	113
Mexican Central 2d income	10¾	11⅝	10¾	11⅝	45
Mexican International consol. 4s	87⅞	87⅞	87½	87⅝	49
Michigan Central cons. 7s	136¾	136¾	136¾	136¾	11
Midland of New Jersey 1st 6s	117	117	111	117	1
Mil., Lake Shore & West. ext. & imp. 5s	122	122	122	122	1
Minneapolis & St. Louis 1st & ref. 4s	93	95	93	95	9
Missouri, Kansas & Texas 1st 4s	90	90	89	90	72
Missouri, Kansas & Texas 2d 4s	67½	69	69	67⅝	82
Missouri, Kansas & Texas of Texas 5s	92½	92½	92	92½	10
Missouri, Kansas & Texas ext. 5s	94½	94½	94	94½	39
Missouri Pacific trust 5s	97⅝	98	96	97	134
Missouri Pacific coll. gold 5s	93¾	94	93	93¾	67
Missouri Pacific consol. 6s	115	116¼	115	116¼	94
Mobile & Ohio new 6s	124½	124⅞	124½	124⅞	1
Mobile & Ohio general 4s	85½	86	85½	85⅝	14
Mohawk & Malone 1st 4s	107	107	107	107	5
Nash., Chat. & St. Louis con. 5s	105	105	105	105	8
New York Central, Lake Shore collat. 5½s	96	96½	97½	96⅝	35
New York Central 1st 7s	129¾	130¾	129¾	130¾	40
New York Central extended 4s	101½	101⅝	101½	101⅝	2
New York Central general 3½s	100⅞	100⅞	100⅞	100⅞	1
New York, Chicago & St. Louis 4s	105¾	105¾	105¾	105¾	8
N. Y. G., Elec. L., H. & P., pur. money 4s	93¾	93½	93¾	93¾	5
N. Y. Gas, Elec. Light, Heat & Power 5s	105	105	104	104⅞	28
N. Y., N. H. & H. 4s, deb. certs	107	107	107	107	2
New York, Ontario & Western rects. 4s	103	103	103	103⅛	9
Norfolk & Southern, 1st 5s	110	110	110	110	2
Norfolk & Western consol. 4s	93½	94¼	93¾	94¼	200
Northern Pacific general lien 3s	68	68⅜	68¼	68⅜	213
Northern Pacific prior lien 4s	105¾	105⅞	105¾	105⅞	205
Northern Pacific terminal 6s	118	118	118	118	1
Oregon Railroad & Navigation 4s	101½	102	101½	102	130
Oregon Short Line consolidated 5s	111	113¼	111	113⅞	70½
Oregon Short Line 6s	130½	130½	130½	130½	25
Pacific Coast 1st 5s	105¾	107	105¾	107	6
Pacific of Missouri 1st 4s	102	103	102	103	4
Panama 1st 4½s	106	106	106	106	2
Pennsylvania 4½s, registered	111½	111½	111½	111½	5
Peo., Dec. & Evans. 1st 6s, tr. rects	100	100	100	100	10
Peo., Dec. & Evans. 2d 5s, 1st instal. paid	23	23	23	23	4
Peoria & Eastern 1st 4s	57½	57½	57½	57½	16
Peoria & Eastern Income	37	37	37	37	11
Pitts., Cin., Chi. & St. L. 1st reg. 4s	118	118	118	118	2
Pitts., Cleveland & Lake Erie 1st 6s	125	125	125	125	1
Pittsburg & Western 4s	90½	90½	90½	90½	10
Pittsburg & Western 4s, tr. rects	90½	90½	90½	90½	10
Reading general 4s	83¾	84½	83½	84¾	227
Richmond & Danville consol. 6s	119⅝	120½	119⅝	120⅝	41
Rio Grande Western 4s	95	96	95	95⅞	94
St. Joseph & Grand Island 1st 2-3-4s	84¾	84⅞	84¾	84¾	3
St. Louis & Iron Mountain gen. 5s	110½	110½	109½	110½	434
St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern 4s	79	80	78½	79½	52
St. Louis Merchants' Bridge 5s	111	111	111	111	5
St. Louis & San Francisco 4s	80¼	80¾	80	80	2
St. Louis & San Francisco gen. 5s	107½	107½	107	107½	11
St. Louis Southwestern 1st 4s	88¾	90¾	88½	90	184
St. Louis Southwestern 2d income	55	58½	55	58¾	401
St. Paul & Duluth consol. 4s	98¼	98½	98¼	98¼	5
St. Paul, Minn. & Man., Montana ext. 4s	103½	103½	103½	103½	10
St. P., M. & M. con. 6s, reduced to 4½s	112⅝	113¼	112⅝	113	52
San Antonio & Aransas Pass 4s	76⅝	78⅜	76⅝	78¼	197
St. Paul & Sioux City 1st 6s	129½	129½	129½	129½	13
South Carolina & Georgia 1st 5s	102	104⅞	102	104⅞	11
Southern Pacific col. tr. 4s	82	83	81½	82¾	321
Southern Pacific of Arizona 1st 6s	110½	110⅝	110½	110½	20
Southern Pacific of California consol. 5s	105½	105½	105½	105½	5
Southern Pac. of Cal. consol. 5s, stamped	105⅛	106	105½	106⅜	25
Southern Railway 5s	106⅝	107½	106¼	107½	141
Standard Rope & Twine income	21	21¼	21	21	24
Standard Rope & Twine 6s	80½	82	80¼	82	19
Tenn. Coal & Iron, De Bard. 6s	105¼	105½	105¼	105½	3
Tenn. Coal & Iron, Tennessee Div. 6s	106	106	106	106	4
Texas & New Orleans consol. 5s	102	103	102	103	50
Texas & Pacific 1st 5s	111	112¾	111	112¼	31
Third Avenue 5s	125	125	125	125	4
Toledo, St. Louis & Kansas City 6s, tr. r.	110	117	110	117	70
Ulster & Delaware 1st 5s	104	104	104	104	6
Union Pacific 1st 4s	102¾	104½	102¾	104½	752
Union Pacific 1st 4s, registered	104½	104½	104½	104½	3
Virginia Midland gen. 5s	109	110	109	110	12
Virginia Midland gen. 5s, stamped	110	110	110	110	8
Wabash 1st 5s	114¼	115	114¼	115	29
Wabash 2d 5s	100	101	100	101	19
Wabash debenture, Series B	36	37½	35½	37½	712
Wabash 1st, Detroit & Chicago ext. 5s	110	110	110	110	1
Wabash 1st, Des Moines Div. 4s	92	93	92	93	40
West Shore 4s	112¼	112¾	112¼	112½	189
West Shore 4s, registered	111½	112	111½	112	14
West. New York & Pennsylvania 1st 5s	110½	111⅛	110½	111⅛	8
West. New York & Pennsylvania gen. 3-4s	69	71	69	71	32
Western New York & Pennsylvania income	22½	23½	22½	23¼	60
Western Union collateral trust 5s	111⅞	111⅞	111⅞	111⅞	5
Wheeling & Lake Erie 1st 5s	107	107	107	107	1
Wheeling, Lake Erie & Pittsburg Coal 5s	32	32	32	32	8
Wilkesbarre & Eastern 1st 5s	104½	105	104½	105	22
Wisconsin Central 1st 4s	89½	90½	89½	90½	183
Total sales					$13,599,000

GOVERNMENT BONDS.

Bond Transactions New York Stock Exchange Week Ended Jan. 20, 1900.

	Week Ending Jan. 20. First.	High.	Low.	Last.	Sales
United States 4s, 1925, coupon	134½	134½	134½	134½	64
United States 4s, 1925, registered	133½	133⅞	133⅛	133⅜	19
United States 5s, coupon	113¼	113¼	113¼	113½	70
United States 5s, registered	112⅝	112⅝	112⅝	112⅝	10
United States 4s, 1907, registered	114	114	114	114	½
United States 4s, 1907, coupon	114½	114½	114½	114½	1
United States 3s, coupon	110⅝	110⅝	110⅝	110½	32½
United States 3s, small	109½	109½	100½	100½	*2
Total sales					$197,200

STATE BONDS.

Bond Transactions New York Stock Exchange Week Ended Jan. 20, 1900.

Alabama, Class A	111	111	111	111	1
Alabama, Class C	102	102	102	102	1
Tennessee settlement 3s	94	94½	94	94½	5
Tennessee settlement 3s, small	91	91	91	91	*2
Virginia funded debt 2-3s of 1991	85	85¼	85	85	107
Total sales					$114,200
Grand total					$13,910,400

*In $100.

GOVERNMENT BONDS.

HIGHEST, LOWEST, AND LAST PRICES, YEAR 1900.

Where no sale has occurred this year the last sale in 1899 is given.

	Highest.		Lowest.		Last Sale.
United States 2s, registered					102	Dec. 2
United States 4s, 1907, registered	114⅜	Jan. 5	114	Jan. 3	114⅜	Jan. 5
United States 4s, 1907, coupon	114½	Jan. 9	114	Jan. 2	114½	Jan. 16
United States 4s, 1925, registered	133⅛	Jan. 19	133⅛	Jan. 19	133⅛	Jan. 19
United States 4s, 1925, coupon	134½	Jan. 19	133⅜	Jan. 2	134½	Jan. 19
United States 5s, registered	112⅝	Jan. 19	112⅝	Jan. 19	112⅝	Jan. 19
United States 5s, 1901, coupon	113¼	Jan. 15	113¼	Jan. 15	113¼	Jan. 19
United States 3s, 10-20, 1918, coupon	110⅝	Jan. 6	110	Jan. 2	110½	Jan. 19
United States 3s, 10-20, 1918, small	110½	Jan. 3	109½	Jan. 19	109½	Jan. 19
United States 3s, 10-20, 1918, reg	100⅞	Jan. 6	100½	Jan. 2	100⅝	Jan. 13

STATE BONDS.

HIGHEST, LOWEST, AND LAST PRICES, YEAR 1900.

Where no sale has occurred this year the last sale in 1899 is given.

	Highest.		Lowest.		Last Sale.
Alabama, Class A	111	Jan. 17	103½	Jan. 8	111	Jan. 17
Alabama, Class C	102	Jan. 16	102	Jan. 16	102	Jan. 16
Louisiana consolidated 4s					110	Apr. 28
Louisiana consolidated 4s, small					109½	Feb. 27
North Carolina consolidated 4s					97	July 12
Tennessee settlement 3s	94½	Jan. 19	94	Jan. 17	94½	Jan. 19
Tennessee settlement 3s, small	91	Jan. 17	91	Jan. 17	91	Jan. 17
Virginia deferred 6s, trust receipts					5⅝	Dec. 21
Virginia funded debt 2-3s, 1991	85¼	Jan. 16	85	Jan. 5	85	Jan. 19

FOREIGN BANK HOLDINGS.

The following is a comparison of the average of bullion in the principal European banks last week and at the corresponding date last year. The figures are received weekly by cable by The Commercial and Financial Chronicle:

BANK OF ENGLAND.

	Gold.	Silver.
Jan. 18, 1900	£34,555,238	.....
Jan. 19, 1899	£31,965,000	.....

BANK OF FRANCE.

Jan. 18, 1900	75,721,258	£45,703,667
Jan. 19, 1899	72,421,761	47,849,696

BANK OF GERMANY.

Jan. 18, 1900	26,606,000	13,191,000
Jan. 19, 1899	26,132,000	14,492,000

RUSSIA.

Jan. 18, 1900	85,736,000	5,515,000
Jan. 19, 1899	99,120,000	3,036,000

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY.

Jan. 18, 1900	40,374,000	10,845,000
Jan. 19, 1899	36,880,000	12,466,000

SPAIN.

Jan. 18, 1900	13,620,000	14,625,000
Jan. 19, 1899	11,062,000	6,307,000

ITALY.

Jan. 18, 1900	15,412,000	1,506,000
Jan. 19, 1899	15,088,000	2,344,000

NETHERLANDS.

Jan. 18, 1900	3,920,000	5,960,000
Jan. 19, 1899	3,115,000	6,750,000

BELGIUM.

Jan. 18, 1900	3,977,000	1,439,000
Jan. 19, 1899	3,125,000	1,556,000

Total for week	£297,748,516	£98,597,667
Total preceding week	298,023,988	97,827,967
Corresponding date last year	301,973,397	92,733,696

BANK STATEMENT.

The weekly statement of the New York City Associated Banks, issued Saturday, showed an increase in the reserve of $7,488,321. The banks now hold a surplus of $24,185,675 above the legal requirements. The changes in the averages show an increase in the loans of $4,579,100, an increase in specie of $7,341,700, an increase in legal tenders of $4,194,300, an increase in deposits of $16,230,700, and a decrease in circulation of $21,800.

The following is a comparison of the averages of the New York banks for the last two weeks and the corresponding date last year:

	Jan. 20, 1900	Jan. 13, '00	Jan. 21, '99
Loans	$650,347,200	$676,285,100	$730,351,000
Specie	152,607,800	145,266,100	187,073,100
Legal tenders	42,957,400	38,763,100	39,880,100
Net deposits	765,518,100	749,287,400	849,074,100
Circulation	16,294,800	16,316,600	15,439,300

The following shows the amount of reserve held above the legal requirements:

	Jan. 20, 1900.	Jan. 13, '00.	Jan. 21, '99.
Specie	$152,607,800	$145,266,100	$187,073,100
Legal tenders	42,957,400	38,763,100	39,880,100
Total res	$195,565,200	$184,029,200	$226,953,200
Reserve req'd against dep.	191,379,525	187,321,850	212,268,525
Surplus of reserve above legal requirements	$24,185,675	$16,727,350	$14,684,675

The following table shows the amount of reserve held by the New York Clearing House banks at the end of each week in the present year, and at the corresponding dates in 1899 and 1898:

	1900.	1899.	1898.
Jan. 6	$11,737,725	$33,586,375	$22,264,675
Jan. 13	16,727,350	20,263,075	25,963,775
Jan. 20	24,185,675	34,684,675	31,275,300

The following shows the surplus reserve at this time for a series of years:

1900	$24,185,675
1899	34,684,675
1898	31,275,300
1897	17,477,250
1896	27,225,000
1895	22,762,500

Complete Bond Quotation List, New York Stock Exchange, for the Week Ended Jan. 20, 1900.

	Range for Week.		Range since January 1.		Last Sale.		Week Ending.
	Lowest.	Highest.	Lowest.	Highest.
Ala. Midland 1st g. 5s, 1928.....M N*					101	Sep 15,99
Ann Arbor 1st g. 4s, July, 1995.....Q J	87	Jan 19	90	Jan 3	87	Jan 19	87	87
At., Ten. & O. M. gen. g. 4s, 1995.....A O	100⅝	Jan 20	95¾	Jan 4	100¾	Jan 20	100¾	100¾
Do registered.....A O*					95½	Dec 5,99
Do adjust. g. 4s, July, 1995.....May*	96¾	Jan 20	76¾	Jan 20	96¾	Jan 20	96¾	96¾
Do do registered.....May*					95	Dec 5,99
Atl. Av. of Brook. imp. g. 5s, 1934.....J					115	Ja 26,99
Baltimore & Ohio.
Do prior lien g. 3½s, 1925.....J J*	94½	Jan 16	92¾	Jan 19	94¾	Jan 20	94¾	94¾
Do g. 4s, 1948.....A O	100⅞	Jan 19	97¾	Jan 3	100⅝	Jan 20	100⅝	100⅝
Do L. W. Div. 1st g. 5½s, 1925.....J J	99½	Jan 20	97	Jan 3	99½	Jan 20
W. Va. & Pitts. 1st g. 6s, 1990.....A O					105½	Oct., 98
Mon. Riv. 1st gtd. g. 5s, 1919.....F A*					109½	July 99
Cen. Ohio reor. 1st g. 4½s, 1930.....M S					111	Jne 5, 99	105
At. & Chi. June. 1st gtd. int g. 5s, 1950					115	Ja 10,99
Col. & Cin. Mid. 1st ext. 4½s, 1992					88	Ja 24, 99
Pitts. & Con. 1st g. 4s, 1946.....J J*					107¼	Jan 13,99
Brooklyn Rap. Tr. g. 5s, 1945.....A O*	105	Jan 3	105½	Jan 18	105	Jan 19
Brooklyn City 1st con. 5s, 1941.....J J*					116	No 27, 99	115	117
B., Q.Co.& S. con.gtd.g.5s,Jul,1941.MN	103	Jan 12	103	Jan 12	103	Jan 12	102	104
Brook. Union El. 1st g. 4-5s,1950.*F A	96½	Jan 17	92½	Jan 4	95½	Jan 20	95	96
Brunswick & West. 1st g. 4s,1938.*J J					74	Sept., 96
Buff., R. & Pitts. gen. g. 5s, 1937..M S*	110	Jan 15	102	Jan 18	109	Jan 18	109
Roch. & Pitts. 1st g. 6s, 1921.....F A					129	Sep 1, 99
Do con. 1st g. 6s, 1922.....J D*					123½	No 30, 99	124
Clearf. & Man. 1st gtd. g.5s,1943.*J J					103	Ap 14, 97
Buffalo & Sus. 1st g. 5s, 1913.....A O*					100	No 18,99
Bur., C. R. & N. 1st 5s, 1906.....*J D	107	Jan 19	106½	Jan 18	107	Jan 19	107½	106½
Do con. 1st 5s, 1934.....*A O	115	Jan 19	115	Jan 10	115	Jan 19	114
Do do registered.....*A O					113½	Feb 4,98
M. & St. L. 1st gtd. g. 7s, 1927.*J D					140	Fe 14, 97
C. R., I. F. & N.W. 1st g.5s,1921.A O*					105	Jan 6, 99
Can. South. 1st gtd. 5s, 1908.....*J J	106⅞	Jan 20	105½	Jan 3	106⅞	Jan 20	106	107¼
Do 2d 5s, 1913.....*M S	106	Jan 5	107⅛	Jan 18	106	Jan 20	107	108½
Do do registered.....*M S					106	Ja 30, 97
Can. Br. U. P. 1st g. 4s, 1948.....J D	87¾	Jan 18	87¼	Jan 5	87½	Jan 16	87	90
Cen.R. & Bk.Co.Ga.col.g.5s,1937..*M N	91	Jan 15	91	Jan 15	91	Jan 15
Cen. R. of Ga. 1st g. 5s, Nov.,1945..F A	120	Jan 15	120	Jan 15	120	Jan 15
Do con. g. 5s, 1945.....M N*	91	Jan 2	89	Jan 11	89⅝	Jan 20
Do do reg. $1,000-$5,000.....M N*					97¾	Oct 23,99
Do 1st pf. inc. g. 5s, Nov,1945.Oct	55	Jan 2	55	Jan 2	55	Jan 2	32	36
Do 2d pf. inc. g.5s, Nov.,1945.Oct	10¾	Jan 19	9¾	Jan 3	10¼	Jan 19	10	11
Do 3d pf. inc. g. 5s, Nov.,1945.Oct	5⅝	Jan 12	4½	Jan 5	5⅝	Jan 12	4½	6
Do M. & N. Div. 1st 5s, 1946.....*J J					95	Dc 27, 99
Do Mid. Ga. & At. Div. 5s, 1947.*J J					102	Jne 29,99
Do Mob. Div. 1st g. 5s, 1946.....*J J					99	July 6,98
Cen. of N. J. 1st conv. 7s, 1902.....M N*					110	Sep 18,99	108
Do conv. deb. 6s, 1908.....*M N					112¼	Mr 20,99
Do gen. 5s, 1987.....J J*	119	Jan 19	117¼	Jan 3	119	Jan 19	119
Do do registered.....Q J	117⅝	Jan 13	110	Jan 10	117⅝	Jan 19		117⅝
Leh. & Wil.C.con.ss.7s,July,1900.Q M	100½	Jan 16	98	Jan 11	100½	Jan 19
Do 5s, 1912.....M N*	100½	Jan 6	100½	Jan 6	100½	Jan 17	100
Am. Dock & Imp. Co. 5s, 1921.....J J*	114	Jan 18	113	Jan 19	113	Jan 19	113	114½
Ches. & O. g. 6s, Ser. A, July,1908.A O					115¾	De 15, 99		119
Do g. 6s, Jan., 1911.....A O	118½	Jan 16	118	Jan 13	118½	Jan 16	118	121
Do 1st con. g. 5s, 1939.....*M N	116	Jan 11	115	Jan 5	115¾	Jan 16	115½	116½
Do do registered.....*M N					117	Jne 2, 99
Do gen. g. 4½s, 1992.....*M S	97¼	Jan 18	95½	Jan 2	97	Jan 20	96½	97½
Do do registered.....*M S					97¾	Au 30,99
Do R. & A. Div. 1st g. 4s, 1989..*J J	101½	Jan 16	101	Jan 8	101½	Jan 16	101¾
Do do 2d g. 4s, 1989.....*J J	99	Jan 9	99	Jan 9	99	Jan 9		99½
Do Craig Val. 1st g. 5s, 1940.....J J*					93½	My 27,98
Do Warm Sp.Val.1st g.5s,1941.*M S					101½	Ap 29,99
Ellis., Lex. & B. S. 5s, 1902.....*M S	102	Jan 5	101	Jan 2	101½	Jan 15		102
Chi. & Alton s. f. g. 6s, 1903.....*M N					109	Jne 12,99
La. & Mo. Riv. 1st 7s, 1900.....F A*					103⅜	Oct 2, 99
Do 2d 7s, 1900.....M N*					106⅝	Fe 24, 99
Miss. R. Bdge. 1st 6s. s. f.,1912..A O*					105½	Oct., 95
Chi., Bur. & Q. con. 7s, 1903.....J J*	111¼	Jan 20	110¼	Jan 5	111¼	Jan 20	111¼
Do s. f. 5s, 1901.....A O*	101½	Jan 16	101½	Jan 15	101½	Jan 15	101⅝
Do deb. 5s, 1913.....*M N	111	Jan 19	106¼	Jan 10	111	Jan 19	110
Do conv. 5s, 1903.....M S*	120½	Jan 18	120½	Jan 18	120½	Jan 18
Do Iowa Div. s. f. 5s, 1919.....A O*					118⅜	Sep 20,99	111
Do do 4s, 1919.....A O*	103	Jan 5	103	Jan 5	103	Jan 5	102½
Do Denver Div. 4s, 1922.....*F A	102	Jan 2	102	Jan 2	102	Jan 18	102
Do Southw. Div. 4s, 1921.....M S					100	Ap 11,99
Do Chi. & Iowa Div. 5s, 1905..*F A					105	Au 9, 99
Do Illinois Div. 3½s, 1949.....J J*	103⅞	Jan 18	100⅜	Jan 5	103⅞	Jan 19	103½	104
Do Nebraska ext. 4s, 1927.....*M N	110¼	Jan 17	108⅜	Jan 2	110¼	Jan 18	110⅜
Do do registered.....*M N					111¼	Jne 2, 99
Han. & St. Jo. con. 6s, 1911.....*M S					120	No 17, 99
Chi. & E. Ill. 1st s. f., 1907.....J D*					113¼	De 20, 99
Do 1st con. g. 6s, 1934.....A O*	136	Jan 10	136	Jan 10	136	Jan 10
Do gen. con. 1st 6s, 1937.....M N*	113	Jan 12	112	Jan 2	112¼	Jan 19
Do do registered.....M N*					103½	No 18,98
Chi. & Ind. Coal R. 1st 5s, 1938..*J J					107	De 16, 99	105
Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville—
L., New Alb. & Chi. 1st 6s, 1910..J J*					115	No 29,99
Chi., Ind. & L. ref. g. 5s, 1947.....J J*					100	De 18, 99		100¼
Do ref. g. 6s, 1947.....J J*	112¼	Jan 16	111¼	Jan 12	112¼	Jan 16	110
Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul—
C.,M. & St.P. 7s,$ gold,R.D.,1902..J J*	167	Jan 10	167	Jan 10	167	Jan 10
Do 1st C. & M. 7s, 1903.....*J J	167	Jan 3	168¼	Jan 12	168¼	Jan 12
Do con. 7s, 1905.....*J J	167	Jan 2	167	Jan 2	167	Jan 8
Do 1st I. & D. ext. 7s, 1908.....J J*	166	Jan 17	166	Jan 17	166	Jan 17
Do Southwest. Div. 6s, 1909.....J J*					120¾	De 22, 99	117¼
Do 1st La.C. & Dav. 5s, 1919.....J J*					118	No 28,99	116⅝
Do 1st So. Minn. 6s, 1910.....*J J	118⅞	Jan 8	117⅝	Jan 6	118⅜	Jan 8		118½
Do 1st H. & D. Div. 7s, 1910..*J J					126½	De 27, 99	125⅜
Do do 5s, 1910.....*J J	110¼	Jan 20	110¼	Jan 20	110¼	Jan 20	109⅜
Do Chi. & Pac. Div. 6s, 1910.....*J J	118⅜	Jan 8	118⅛	Jan 5	118⅛	Jan 11	118⅛
Do Chi. & Pac. W. g. 5s, 1921..*J J	119¼	Jan 19	118	Jan 2	119¼	Jan 19	119
Do C. & M. Riv. Div. 5s, 1926..J J*					117	De 20, 99	119¼
Do Mineral Pt. Div. 5s, 1910..J J*					112¼	De 9, 99	110⅜
Do C. & L. Sup. Div. g. 5s, 1921.J J*					122¼	Jne 1, 99	117⅝
Do Wis., Minn. Div. g. 5s, 1921.J J*	117¾	Jan 13	117	Jan 3	117⅜	Jan 16		117⅞
Do terminal g. 5s, 1914.....J J*	113	Jan 2	112⅜	Jan 16	113	Jan 20		113⅝
Do Far. & So. assu. g. 6s, 1924.*J J					137½	Jul 18,99	132
Do Dak. & Gt. So. g. 5s, 1916.....J J	110¼	Jan 2	110¼	Jan 2	110¾	Jan 2		113⅝
Do gen. g. 4s, Ser. A, May,1989..J J	109½	Jan 19	109	Jan 10	109¾	Jan 19		108¾
Do do registered.....Q J					105½	Fe 19, 98
Mil. & N. 1st, main line 6s, 1910.*J D	119	Jan 9	118	Jan 12	118	Jan 12	118	120
Do 1st con. 6s, 1913.....*J D					125	Jul 10,99	118½
Chicago & N. W. con. 7s, 1915.....Q F					142	De 15, 99	140
Do gold 7s, 1902.....J D*	109	Jan 9	109	Jan 9	109	Jan 11	109¼	110
Do do registered.....J D*	108¾	Jan 6	108¾	Jan 6	108¾	Jan 6	109¼
Do sink. fd. 6s, 1879-1929.....A O*					129	Sep 7, 99
Do do registered.....A O*					116	Jne 14,99
Do sink. fd. 5s, 1879-1929.....A O*	100	Jan 6	100	Jan 6	100	Jan 6
Do do registered.....A O*					103¾	Mr 28,99
Do sink. fd. deb. 5s, 1933.....*M N	118¾	Jan 12	118¾	Jan 12	118¾	Jan 12
Do do registered.....*M N					119¼	De 27, 98
Do debenture 5s, 1909.....M N*	108	Jan 18	107	Jan 3	108	Jan 18
Do do registered.....M N*					105	De 28, 99
Do deb. 5s, April, 1921.....A O15					117	No 14,99
Do do registered.....A O15					117¾	Fe 7, 98
Do ext. 4s, Aug., 1886-1926.....F A15					105	De 20, 98
Do do registered.....F A15					106½	No 13,99
Do gen. g. 3½s, 1987.....M N*	108	Jan 20	105¼	Jan 9	108	Jan 20
Do do registered.....Q F					103	No 19,98
Escanaba & Lake Su. 1st 6s, 1901..J J*					107¾	Ma 26,98
Winona & St. Peters 2d 6s,1907.M N*	120	Jan 4	120	Jan 4	120	Jan 4	122	125
Mil. & Mad. 1st 6s, 1905.....M S*					117¼	Fe 6, 99
Ottum., C. F. & S. F. 1st 5s,1900.*M S					110	No 4, 99	109
Northern Illinois 1st 5s, 1910..*M S					114¾	Au 28, 99	111
Iowa Midland 1st 8s, 1900.....A O*					103	No 10,99
Mil., L. S. & W. 1st 6s, 1921.....*M N					139¾	De 6, 99	136½	137½
Do conv. deb. 6s, 1907.....*F A					105½	Fe 24, 97
Do ext. & imp. s. fd. 5s, 1929..*F A	123	Jan 16	123	Jan 16	123	Jan 16	123
Do Mich. Div. 1st g. 6s, 1924.....J J*					140	De 13, 98	137½
Do Ash'and Div. 1st 6s, 1925..*M S					140½	De 5, 99	135½
Do incomes, 1911.....*M N					112	No 13, 99	115
Chi., Rock Isl. & Pac. 6s, 1917.....J J*					130	No 10, 99	129
Do registered.....J J*	127	Jan 8	127	Jan 8	127	Jan 8	128
Do gen. g. 4s, 1988.....*J J	105½	Jan 18	103½	Jan 8	105½	Jan 20	105¼	105¾
Do do registered.....*J J					106½	No 14,98
Des Moines & Ft. D. 1st 4s, 1905.*J J					96	Sep 21,99
Do 1st 2½s, 1905.....*J J					83	De 7, 99	83	85
Do extension 4s, 1905.....*J J					98¼	My 18,99
Keo. & Des M. 1st 5s, 1923.....A O*					112	De 7, 99
Do small bonds, 1923.....A O*					100	Ap 15, 97
C., St. P., M. & O. con. 6s, 1930..*J D	133	Jan 19	131	Jan 8	132¾	Jan 19	133	134½
C., St. P. & M. 1st g. 6s, 1918...*M N	132½	Jan 19	132	Jan 2	132½	Jan 19		134
St. P. & Sioux C. 1st g. 6s, 1919..*J J	128½	Jan 15	127	Jan 10	129½	Jan 19	129	131
North Wis. 1st 6s, 1930.....*J J					140	Mr 23,99		140
Chi. Term. Trans. g. 4s, 1947.....J J*	95	Jan 12	93¾	Jan 8	95	Jan 12
Chi. & W. Ind. 1st sk. fd. 6s,1919.M N*					108	Oct 4, 99	105
Do gen. g. 6s, Dec., 1932.....Q M					117¾	De 4, 99	115
Chi. & W. Mich. 5s, 1921,coup.off..J D*					100	Oct 28,99
Choc. Okla. & G. gen.g.5s,Oct.1,1919.J J	103	Jan 17	103	Jan 17	103	Jan 17		103¼
C., H. & D. con. sk. fd. 7s, 1905...A O*					120	Au 16,98
Do 2d g. 4½s, 1937.....*J J					103¾	Mr 13,97
Cin., D. & Int. 1st gtd. 5s, 1941.*M N	113½	Jan 5	113½	Jan 5	113½	Jan 5	110
City & Sub. R. Balt. 1st g. 5s,1922.*J D					106⅝	April, 95
C., C., C. & St. L. gen. g. 4s, 1993.*J D	96¼	Jan 20	94	Jan 2	96¾	Jan 20	96	97
Do Cairo Div. 1st g. 4s, 1939.....J J					97	Jne 20,99
Do St. L. Div. 1st cl.g.4s,1990.M N*	101½	Jan 3			101½	Jan 3	102
Do do registered.....M N*					99	May 4,99
Spring. & Col. Div. 1st g.4s,1940.M S*					87	Oct., 98
White W. Val. Div. 1st g.4s,1940.J J*					93	No. 22,95
C., W. & M. Div. 1st g. 4s, 1991..J J*	93	Jan 18	93	Jan 18	93	Jan 18
C.,I. S. L. & C. 1st g.4s,Au.,1936.Q F					104½	Au 28,99	101
Do con. 6s, 1920.....*M N					100	Nov., 94
C., San. & Clev. cn. 1st g.6s,1928.*J J					118½	Jne 14,99
Ind., Bldn. & W. 1st pf. 7s, 1900...J J					103¾	De 13, 99
Peo. & East. 1st con. 4s, 1940..*A O	87½	Jan 9	84½	Jan 4	86⅝	Jan 18	86	87
Do income 4s, April, 1990.....A	28⅝	Jan 12	25	Jan 8	28	Jan 17		29
C., C., C. & I. con. 7s, 1914.....*J D					138½	Jul 6, 99
Do gen. con. g. 6s, 1934.....*J J	130	Jan 15	130	Jan 15	130	Jan 15	128
Cin., Laf. & Chi. 7s, 1901.....M S*					105¾	No 24,99
C. & S. 1st gtd. C.C.C. & I.,1901.*A O					108½	Fe 10, 99
C., L. & W. 1st con. g. 5s, 1933.....A O*					106	De 21, 99	106½
Clev. & Mah. Val. g. 5s, 1938.....*J J	129	Jan 19	128	Jan 5	129	Jan 19

	Range for Week.		Range since January 1.		Last Sale.		Week Ending.
	Lowest.	Highest.	Lowest.	Highest.
Col. Mid. Ry Inc. g. 5s, Jan. 1917.....J J*	95¼	Jan 18	95	Jan 4	95¼	Jan 18	95	97
Do 1st g. 5s, July 1917.....J J*	95	Jan 19	71¼	Jan 3	95	Jan 19	75	95
Col. & Southern 1st g. 4s, 1929.....*J A	88	Jan 12	88	Jan 4	88	Jan 20	84½	88
Conn. & Pass. Riv. 1st g. 4s, 1943.*A O					102	Dec., 95
Del., Lack. & West. 7s, 1907.....M S*							123¼	Jan 23,99
Syr., B. & N. Y. 1st 7s, 1906.....A O*							124½	Ju 23,99
Morris & Essex 1st 7s, 1914.....*M N	136	Jan 4	136	Jan 4	136	Jan 4	140
Do 7s, 1871-1901.....A O*							140	Dc 31, 99
Do 1st con. gtd. 7s, 1915.....*J D	140	Jan 5	135	Jan 5	135	Jan 11	130	141
Do do registered.....*J D							140	Oct 28,98
N. Y. Lack. & W. 1st 6s, 1921.....*J J	136	Jan 13	136	Jan 13	136	Jan 13
Do construction 5s, 1923.....F A							132	Sep 12,99
Do term. 7s, 1st mtg. 1923.....M S							153½	Jne 30,99
Warren 2d 7s, 1900.....A O*							106	As 1, 99
Del. & H. 1st Penn. Div. 7s, 1917.M S*							148	De 15, 99
Do registered.....M S*							148	May 4,97
Alb. & Sus. 1st con. gtd.7s,1906.*A O							120¼	Ap 21, 99
Do registered.....*A O							122	Jan 6, 99
Do do 6s, 1906.....*A O	115	Jan 19	115	Jan 12	115	Jan 19	115
Do do registered.....*A O							113	De 12, 99
Ren. & Saratoga 1st 7s, 1921.....*M N							154	Sep 7, 99
Do registered.....*M N							141	May 5,98
Den. Con. Tramway 1st g. 5s,1933.A O							93	Ja 24, 99
Den. & Rio Gr. 1st g. 7s, 1900.....M N*	102⅝	Jan 19	102¼	Jan 6	103⅝	Jan 19
Do 1st con. g. 4s, 1936.....*J J	99	Jan 20	96½	Jan 4	99	Jan 20	96½	99
Do con. g. 4½s, 1936.....*J J					108	No 27,99
Do Improvement g. 5s, 1928.....*J D	103¼	Jan 16	101⅝	Jan 10	103¼	Jan 16	104
Des Moines Un. Ry 1st g. 5s,1917.M N*					108	Ap 27,99	107	110
Det. & Mack. gold 4s, 1995.....*J D	78	Jan 11	76¼	Jan 8	78	Jan 13
Det.,Mack. & Mar. 1d.gt.3½s,Ser.A.1911	21	Jan 2	19	Jan 8	21	Jan 15
Dul. & Iron Range 1st 5s, 1937.....A O*					105⅝	De 30, 99		106
Dul., Red W. & So. 1st g. 5s, 1928.*J J					92¼	Fe 11, 98
Dul., So Shore & Atl. g. 5s, 1937..*J J					112	De 8, 99
Elgin, Jol. & E. 1st g. 5s, 1941.*M N	107½	Jan 9	107¼	Jan 9	107¼	Jan 9
Erie 1st ext. g. 4s, 1947.....*M N	117	Jan 15	117	Jan 15	117	Jan 15	116	118
Do 2d ext. g. 5s, 1919.....M S*	119¼	Jan 4	119¼	Jan 4	119¼	Jan 4	120
Do 3d ext. g. 4½s, 1923.....*M S	113¾	Jan 5	113¾	Jan 5	113¾	Jan 5	115
Do 4th ext. g. 5s, 1920.....A O*					115½	No 15, 99	120
Do 5th ext. g. 4s, 1928.....*J D					106½	Ap 14, 99	107
Do 1st con. g. 7s, 1920.....M S*	140	Jan 20	138	Jan 12	140	Jan 20	140	143
Do 1st con. g. fund. 7s, 1920...M S*					143	De 30, 98	138	145
Long Dock con. g. 6s, 1935.....A O*	130	Jan 5	130		130	Jan 5	130
Buff., N. Y. & Erie 1st 7s, 1916..*J D					140	Fe 6, 99	135
Jefferson 1st gtd. g. 5s, Jan.1909.A O					106	De. 2, 99	102
Chicago & Erie 1st g. 5s, 1982..*M N	115	Jan 10	115	Jan 10	115	Jan 16	114	116
N.Y., L.E.& W.D.& L1st c.6s,1913.J J*					102	Aug., 96
N. Y. & Gwood L.gtd.g.5s,1946.*M N					109	Oct 27,98
Erie 1st con. g. 4s, pr. bds., 1996..*J J	90½	Jan 19	88	Jan 10	90¼	Jan 20
Do registered.....J J					93½	My 25,99
Do 1st con. gen. lien g. 4s, 1996.*J J	68⅝	Jan 17	67	Jan 3	69⅝	Jan 19
N.Y.,Sus. & W. 1st ref. g.5s,1937.*J J	109	Jan 3	107¼	Jan 3	107½	Jan 10
Do 2d g. 4½s, 1937.....*F A					92½	Au 25,98	92½
Do gen. g. 5s, 1940.....F A*	92½	Jan 3	92	Jan 3	92	Jan 3
Do term. 1st g. 5s, 1943.....*M N	108½	Jan 3	103½	Jan 3	108¼	Jan 3
Wilk. & East. 1st gtd. g. 5s,1942..*J D	105	Jan 8	104	Jan 4	105	Jan 20	104½	106
Midland R. of N. J. 1st g.6s,1910.*A O	117	Jan 15	116¾	Jan 5	117	Jan 15
Eureka Springs R. 1st g. 6s, 1933.*F A					95	No 10,97
Ev. & T. H. 1st con. 6s, 1921.....J J*					127	De 1, 99
Do 1st gen. g. 5s, 1942.....*A O	108	Jan 8	103	Jan 2	107½	Jan 19	106½
Do Mt. Ver. 1st g. 6s, 1923.....A O					110	May, 93
Do Sul. Co. Br. 1st g.5s,1930..*A O					110	Sept., 91	98½
Ev. & Ind. 1st con.gtd.g.6s,1926..*J J					100¾	Au '23,99
Flint & Pere Marq. g. 6s, 1920.A O*	121	Jan 12	120	Jan 17	120	Jan 17	120	122
Do 1st con. g. 5s, 1939.....*M N	103	Jan 15	102	Jan 12	102¼	Jan 19
Do Pt. Huron D. 1st g. 5s,1939.*A O	105	Jan 18	105	Jan 18	103	Jan 18
Fla. Cen. & Penin. 1st g. 5s, 1918..J J*					101	Mr 26,99
Do con. g. 5s, 1943.....*J J					80½	May, 96
Fort St. Un. D. Co. 1st g. 4½s,1941..J J					105	Mr 11,98
Ft. W. & Den. City 1st g.4-6s,1921.J D*	74½	Jan 17	71½	Jan 12	74½	Jan 17	73¼	75
Ft. W. & Rio G. 1st g. 5-4s, 1928...J J*	58½	Jan 18	55	Jan 4	58½	Jan 18
Gal.,H. & H. of 1882 1st 5s,1913.*A O	102	Jan 8	102	Jan 8	102	Jan 8	101	102¼
Ga. & Ala. R. 1st pf. g.5s,1945.A O*					108	De 12, 98
Ga., Car. & N. 1st gtd. g. 5s, 1929..J J*					101	My 12,99
Green Bay & West. deb. certs., A.....	57	Jan 19	56	Jan 12	57	Jan 19
Green Bay & West. deb. certs., B.....	7⅝	Jan 18	6¼	Jan 3	7⅝	Jan 19
Hock. Val. R. 1st con.g.4½s,1999.J J*	100	Jan 2	99	Jan 2	99⅝	Jan 19	99
Col. & H. Val.1st ext.g.4s,1948.A O*	105	Jan 10	102	Jan 8	105	Jan 10
Hous., E. & W. T. 1st g. 5s, 1933.*M N					102½	De 30, 99	101	103
Illinois Cent. 1st g. 4s, 1894-1951.*J J					113¼	Jul 6, 99
Do registered.....*J J					112¼	No 23, 98	111
Dg g. 3½s, 1951.....*J J					106	No 27,99
Do do registered.....*J J					102	Ap 15, 98
Do col. tr. g. 4s, 1952.....*A O					100	De 28, 99	102
Do do registered.....					104	Fe 1, 99
Do col. tr. g. 4s, 1953.....M N*	102½	Jan 18	101	Jan 2	102½	Jan 19
Do do registered.....	98	Jan 9	98	Jan 9	98	Jan 9
Do West. Line 1st g. 4s, 1951..F A*					109½	De 13, 99	111½
Do Louis. Div. g. 3½s, 1953.....J J*	100⅝	Jan 19	100	Jan 5	100⅝	Jan 19
Do Cairo Bridge g. 4s, 1950.....J D*					102¼	Sept., 96
Do Mid. Div. reg. 5s, 1921.....F A*					123	My 24,99
Do Springf. Div. 1st g. 3½s,1951.J J					95	De 21, 98
Do St. Louis Div. g. 3s, 1951..J J*					83½	De 8, 99
Do do g. 3½s, 1951.....J J*	100⅝	Jan 19	99½	Jan 2	100⅝	Jan 19		101¾
Do do registered.....					101½	Oct 23,99
C., St. L. & N. O. g. 5s, 1951..*J D15					124	De 11, 99
Do do registered.....*J D15					125	De 5, 99
Do g. 3½s, 1951.....*J D15	100	Jan 20	100	Jan 20	100	Jan 20
Do Memphis Div. 1st g.4s,1951.J D*					106¾	Au 17,99
Belle. & Carond. 1st 6s,

	Range for Year 1900. Highest.		Range for Year 1900. Lowest.		Last Sale.		Bid.	As'd.
Mil. Elec. Ry & L. con. g.5s,1926.*F A	.. ....	.. ....	.. ....	.. ....	106	Oct 27,99	..	..
Mo., Kan. & Tex. 1st g. 4s, 1990..*J D	90½	Jan 2	88½	Jan 9	90	Jan 20	89¼	90
Do 2d g. 4s, June 1, 1990.....F A	69	Jan 19	67	Jan 10	69	Jan 19	68½	69
Do 1st ext. g. 5s, 1944.....M N*	95¾	Jan 4	93½	Jan 10	94½	Jan 20	..	..
M.,K. & T. of T.1st gtd.g.5s,1942.M S*	92¼	Jan 15	91	Jan 11	92½	Jan 19	92	..
K. C. & Pac. 1st g. 4s, 1990.....F A*	77	Jan 3	77	Jan 3	77	Jan 18	..	..
Dallas& Waco 1st gtd.g.5s,1940.M N*	..	....	..	....	94	De 8, 99	..	..
Boonville Bridge gtd. g. 7s,1900.*M N	..	....	..	....	100½	No 22,99	..	..
Mo., K. & E. 1st gtd. g. 5s, 1942.*A O	103	Jan 8	102¼	Jan 3	103	Jan 8	..	..
Missouri Pac. 1st con. 6s, 1920...M N*	116½	Jan 20	114¾	Jan 13	116⅜	Jan 20	..	116
Do 3d 7s, 1906.....M N*	..	....	..	....	114	De 7, 99	111¼	..
Do tr. g. 5s, stpd. Jan., 1917...M S	98	Jan 17	94	Jan 2	97	Jan 19	..	..
Do 1st col. g. 5s, 1920.....F A*	94	Jan 3	92	Jan 2	93¼	Jan 19	..	..
Pac. R. of M. 1st ext.g.4s,1938..F A*	105⅜	Jan 6	105¼	Jan 6	105⅞	Jan 6	..	..
Do 2d ext. g. 5s, 1938.....J J*	..	....	..	....	110	No 11,99	..	112
St. L. & I.M.gn.con.l.g.g.5s,1931.*A O	110¼	Jan 20	109¼	Jan 3	110½	Jan 20	110½	110⅝
Do do gtd. g. 5s, 1931.....*A O	..	....	..	....	109½	De 30, 99	..	..
Do do unified & ref. g. 4s, 1929.J J*	80	Jan 20	77¾	Jan 8	79½	Jan 20	..	..
Mobile & Ohio new g. 6s, 1927.....J D*	124½	Jan 19	124	Jan 3	124½	Jan 10	123	125
Do 1st ext. g. 6s, July, 1927.....Q J	..	....	..	....	121¾	Jne 30,99	..	..
Do gen. g. 4s, 1938.....M S*	84	Jan 9	83	Jan 3	83½	Jan 19	..	..
Do Mont. Div. 1st g. 6s, 1947..*F A	107	Jan 9	107	Jan 9	107	Jan 9	106¼	..
St. L. & Cairo gtd. 4s, 1931.....*J J	..	....	..	....	84	Apr., 96	..	..
Nash., Chat. & St. L. 1st, 1913..J J*	127¼	Jan 3	126	Jan 8	127½	Jan 13	127½	129
Do 2d 6s, 1901.....*J J	..	....	..	....	101	Sep 12,99	..	..
Do 1st con. g. 5s, 1928.....*A O	105	Jan 5	104⅞	Jan 6	105	Jan 20	..	..
Do T. & P. Bch. 6s, 1917.....*J J	..	....	..	....	111	De 20, 99	..	..
Do 1st 6s, McM., M. W. & Ala.*J J	..	....	..	....	108	Mar., 96	..	..
Do 1st 6s, Jasper Br., 1923...*J J	..	....	..	....	113	De 1, 99	..	..
N. O. & N. E. pr. lien 6s,Nov.,1915.A O	..	....	..	....	108¾	Aug., 94	..	..
N. Y. Cen. & Hud. 1st 7s, 1903.....*J J	103⅝	Jan 19	100	Jan 4	103⅝	Jan 19	109½	..
Do registered.....*J J	..	....	..	....	111½	Oct 3, 99	..	..
Do deb. 5s of 1884-1904.....M S*	107	Jan 12	107	Jan 12	107	Jan 12	107	..
Do do registered.....M S*	..	....	..	....	106¼	De 12, 99	107	..
Do reg. ceb. 5s, 1889-1904.....M S*	..	....	..	....	106¼	Fe 21, 98	..	..
Do deb. g. 4s, 1890-1905.....*J D	..	....	..	....	103¾	Jne 28,99	101⅝	..
Do do registered.....*J D	..	....	..	....	104½	Fe 25, 98	101⅝	..
Do deb. certs., ext. g. 4s, 1905.*M N	101¼	Jan 16	101	Jan 11	101¼	Jan 16	102	..
Do do registered.....*M N	..	....	..	....	102½	Au 1, 99	102	..
Do g. mtge. 3½s, 1997.....J J*	109¼	Jan 15	109	Jan 2	109½	Jan 19	109½	110½
Do do registered.....J J*	..	....	..	....	112½	Ap 14, 99	..	..
Do Mich. Cen. col. g. 3½s,1998.*F A	96½	Jan 10	96	Jan 3	96½	Jan 10	..	..
Do do registered.....*F A	..	....	..	....	96	De 12, 99	..	..
Do Lake Shore col. g.3½s,1998.*F A	98¼	Jan 17	97	Jan 2	98¼	Jan 18	98¼	98⅝
Do do registered.....*F A	97	Jan 10	96	Jan 3	97	Jan 10	..	96½
West Shore 1st gtd. 4s, 2361.....*J J	112½	Jan 18	110	Jan 2	112½	Jan 19	112½	113
Do registered.....*J J	112	Jan 19	110	Jan 4	112	Jan 19	..	..
Beech Creek 1st g. 4s, 1936.....J J*	108	Jan 4	108	Jan 4	108	Jan 5	..	..
Do registered.....J J*	..	....	..	....	106	Jne 17,98	..	..
Clear. Bl. C.1st s.f.gtd.4s,S.A.1940.J J	..	....	..	....	95	Jul 28,98	..	..
Do do registered.....J J	..	....	..	....	104	Jul 24,97	..	..
N. Y. & Harlem 1st 7s, 1900.....*M N	101¼	Jan 5	101½	Jan 5	101½	Jan 5	101¾	102½
Do registered.....*M N	..	....	..	....	101½	De 20, 99	..	..
N. J Junc. R. gtd. 1st 4s, 1986..*F A	..	....	..	....	103	May 7,97	..	..
R.,W. & O.cn.1st ext.5s,July,1922.A O	128½	Jan 5	128½	Jan 5	128½	Jan 8	..	..
Do Ter. R. 1st g. 5s, 1918.....*M N	..	....	..	....	109	Jan., 97	..	..
Os. & Rome 2d gtd. g. 5s, 1915..*F A	..	....	..	....	113	Ap 13, 99	..	..
Utica & B. Riv. gtd. g. 4s, 1922..J J*	..	....	..	....	107	Au 13,98	..	..
Mo. & Mal. 1st gtd. g. 4s, 1991..M S*	107	Jan 18	107	Jan 18	107	Jan 18	..	..
N. Y. & North. 1st g. 5s, 1927...A O*	..	....	..	....	123	Jul 14,99	..	..
Lake Shore & Michigan Southern—
Det., Mon. & Tol. 1st 7s, 1906...F A*	121	Jan 13	121	Jan 13	121	Jan 13	..	..
Lake Shore con. 1st 7s, 1900.....J J*	101¼	Jan 18	100⅞	Jan 4	101¼	Jan 18	101	..
Do do registered, 1900.....Q J*	100⅜	Jan 2	100⅜	Jan 2	100⅜	Jan 2	101	..
Do con. 2d 7s, 1903.....J D*	112⅝	Jan 19	112⅝	Jan 19	112⅝	Jan 19	112	..
Do do registered, 1903.....J D*	112¼	Jan 19	112¼	Jan 10	112¼	Jan 19	112	..
Do g. 3½s, 1997.....*J D	110¼	Jan 17	109½	Jan 6	110⅛	Jan 20	..	..
Do do registered.....*J D	..	....	..	....	109½	De 4, 99	..	..
C. & Sp. 1st gtd. L.S.&M.S. 1901.*A O	..	....	..	....	108¾	De 1, 97	..	..
Mahoning Coal R. 1st 5s, 1934...J J*	..	....	..	....	122⅜	No 3, 99	..	..
Michigan Cen. 1st con. 7s, 1902.*M N	109½	Jan 12	108¼	Jan 5	108½	Jan 16	108¼	..
Do 1st con. 5s, 1902.....*M N	..	....	..	....	103	De 28, 99	103	..
Do 6s, 1909.....M S*	..	....	..	....	123	Fe 25, 98	118	..
Do 5s, 1931.....*M S	..	....	..	....	129	No 20, 99	125	..
Do do registered, March, 1931..Q M	..	....	..	....	127	De 2, 99	125	..
Do 4s, 1940.....*J J	105	Jan 4	105	Jan 4	105	Jan 4	..	..
N. Y., C. & St. L. 1st g. 4s, 1937...A O*	105¾	Jan 18	104¼	Jan 3	105⅜	Jan 18	105¾	..
Do 2d 6s, 1903.....A O*	103½	Jan 3	103½	Jan 3	103½	Jan 3	..	..
N. Y., N. H. & H. 1st reg. 4s, 1903.*J D	..	....	..	....	104½	Oct 7, 97	..	..
Do con. deb. certs., $1,000.....A O*	187	Jan 19	185¾	Jan 5	187	Jan 19	185	..
Do registered.....*J D	..	....	..	....	187	Nc 17,98	..	..
Do do small certs., $100.....*J D	..	....	..	....	185	Au 26,99	..	..
Housatonic R. con. g. 5s, 1937..M N*	..	....	..	....	128	De 27, 99	..	..
N. H. & Derby con. 5s, 1918.....*M N	..	....	..	....	125½	Fe 6, 97	..	..
N. Y. & N. E. 1st 7s, 1905.....J J*	114	Jan 5	114	Jan 5	114	Jan 5	114	..
Do 1st 6s, 1905.....J J	..	....	..	....	113	Jul 29,99	109⅝	..
N.Y.,O. & W.ref.1st g.4s,June,1992.M S	104½	Jan 19	102	Jan 10	104½	Jan 19	..	..
Do do reg., $5,000 only.....M S	..	....	..	....	101½	No 30,98	..	..
Nor. Pa. Ry. gen. l.g.1st g.6s,1921.*J J	..	....	..	....	119½	Ap 12, 99	..	..
Do registered.....*J J	..	....	..	....	112	Jul 20,99	..	..
St. Paul & N. P. gen. 6s, 1923..*F A	..	....	..	....	131½	My 15,99	124	..
Do registered certificates.....Q F	..	....	..	....	132	Jul 28,99	..	..
N. P. Ry p.lin.ry &l.g.g.4s,Jan.,1997.Q J	103¾	Jan 18	102½	Jan 2	103⅝	Jan 20	103½	103¾
Do registered.....Q J	103	Jan 8	103	Jan 8	103	Jan 8	..	..
Do gen. lien g. 3s, Jan., 2047...Q F	66⅝	Jan 20	65	Jan 10	66⅜	Jan 20	66	66¼
Do do registered.....Q F	..	....	..	....	66	Sep 21,99	..	..
Wash. Cen. 1st g. 4s, Mch.,1948..Q M	..	....	..	....	95	My 11,99	..	86½
Nor. Pac. Ter. Co. 1st g. 6s, 1933..J J*	118	Jan 5	118	Jan 5	118	Jan 16	..	..
Norfolk & South. 1st g. 5s, 1941..*M N	110	Jan 15	110	Jan 15	110	Jan 15	110	114
Nor. & W. R. gen. g. 6s, 1931....*M N	129	Jan 2	129	Jan 2	129	Jan 2	129½	134
Do New Riv. 1st g. 6s, 1932...*A O	..	....	..	....	128	De 1, 99	..	..
Do imp. & ext. 6s, 1934.....*F A	..	....	..	....	117¼	Au 30,98	..	..
Col., C. & T. 1st gtd. g. 5s, 1922...*J J	..	....	..	....	101	Fe 23, 97	105	..
Sci V. & N. E. 1st gtd.g.4s,1989.M N*	..	....	..	....	97	De 29, 99	..	..
Nor. & W. R. 1st con.g.4s,1996..A O*	94½	Jan 19	90¼	Jan 3	94½	Jan 20	93½	94½
Ohio Riv.R.R. 1st g. 5s, 1936..*J D	..	....	..	....	103	Oct 24,99	105	..
Do gen. g. 5s, 1937.....*A O	..	....	..	....	85	De 8, 99	90	..
Omaha & St L. 1st g. 4s, 1901.....J J*	65	Jan 13	60	Jan 5	65	Jan 13	..	..
Pac. Coast Co. 1st g. 5s, 1946..*J D	107	Jan 17	104¼	Jan 3	107	Jan 17	106¾	107½
Panama, Dak. fd. sub. 6s, 1910..M N*	105	Jan 16	105	Jan 16	105	Jan 16	..	..
Penn. Co. gtd. 1st g. 4½s, 1921...J J*	112½	Jan 11	111½	Jan 10	112½	Jan 11	112	..
Do registered, 1921.....J J*	111½	Jan 19	111½	Jan 19	111½	Jan 19	..	..
Do gtd.3½s,col.tr.reg.cfs.,1937.M S*	..	....	..	....	102	No 11,98	..	..
Penn. R. R. Co. re. est. g.4s,1923.*M N	..	....	..	....	106	My 12,97	..	..
Un. N. J. R. & C.gen.4s,1944.*M S	..	....	..	....	115½	Fe 24, 98	..	..
Clev. & Marietta 1st gtd. 4½s, 1935...	100½	Jan 13	100	Jan 12	100¼	Jan 13	100	110
P., D. & E. Tr. Co. cf. 1st 6s, 1920..*J J	100	Jan 18	100	Jan 18	100	Jan 18	..	..
Do Evans. Div. 1st g. 6s, 1920.....*J J	..	....	..	....	100	De 23, 97	..	..
Do E. Div.T.Co.cfs.1st 6s,1020.M S*	..	....	..	....	97⅞	No 29, 99	..	..
Do 2d g. 5s, 1926.....M N*	..	....	..	....	17	My 23,98	..	..
Do do Tr. Co. cfs., 1st inst. pd.....	22	Jan 18	22	Jan 18	22	Jan 18	..	..
Peo. & P. Un. 1st g. 6s, Feb.,1921...Q F	..	....	..	....	126	Ap 28, 99	120	..
Do 2d 4½s, Feb., 1921.....M N	..	....	..	....	96	De 9, 99	..	..
Pine Creek reg. gtd. 6s, 1932.....J D*	..	....	..	....	137	No 17,97	..	..
Pitts., Clev. & T. 1st g. 6s, 1922...A O*	..	....	..	....	107½	Oct 26,98	..	..
Pitts. Junc. 1st g. 6s, 1922.....J J*	..	....	..	....	121	No 26,98	..	..
P., C. & S.L.cn.g.gt.4½s A,1940.A O*	114	Jan 9	114	Jan 9	114	Jan 9	..	..
Do Series B, gtd., 1942.....*A O	115	Jan 20	113⅞	Jan 12	115	Jan 20	..	..
Do Series C, gtd., 1942.....M N*	..	....	..	....	113	No 23, 98	..	..
Do Series D, 4s, gtd., 1945.....M N*	..	....	..	....	107	De 5, 99	..	..
P., C. & St. L. 1st 7s, 1900.....F A*	..	....	..	....	105⅝	Ap 13, 99	..	..
Do registered, 1900.....F A*	..	....	..	....	103½	Ap 23, 97	..	..
P., Ft. W. & C. 1st 7s, 1912.....J J*	135	Jan 12	135	Jan 12	135	Jan 12	..	..
Do 2d 7s, 1912.....J J*	..	....	..	....	139	No 16,98	..	..
Do 3d 7s, July, 1912.....A O	..	....	..	....	135	Jne 7, 99	..	..
C., St. L. & P. 1st con. 5s, 1932.A O*	..	....	..	....	119½	Oct 4, 99	..	..
C. & P. con. skg. fd. 7s, 1900...M N*	103	Jan 5	102	Jan 12	102	Jan 12	102½	..
Do gen. gtd. g. 4½s, Ser.A,1942.*J J	..	....	..	....	121	Jul 5, 99	117	..
C. R. & I. ext. 1st gtd.g.4½s,1941.J J*	108	Jan 15	106	Jan 15	108	Jan 15	..	..
Alle.Val. gen. gtd. g. 4s, 1942...*M S	..	....	..	....	102	No 10,97	..	..
P. & L.E. 2d g.5s,Ser.A&B.Ja.,1928.A O	..	....	..	....	114	Mar., 93	..	..
P., McK. & Y. 1st gtd. l. 6s, 1932...J J*	..	....	..	....	117	Mar., 93	..	..
P. P. & F. 1st g. 5s, 1916.....J J*	..	....	..	....	90	Jne 28,99	90	..
P., S. & L. R. 1st g. 5s, 1940.....A O*	113¾	Jan 16	113¼	Jan 16	113¼	Jan 16	114	116
Do 1st con. g. 5s, 1943.....J J*	..	....	..	....	98	Jul 14,97	..	..
Pitts. & West. 1st g. 4s, 1917.....J J*	99¾	Jan 18	96¾	Jan 18	99⅝	Jan 18	..	..
Do J. P. M. & Co. certs.....J J	99¾	Jan 18	96¾	Jan 11	99⅝	Jan 18	..	..
Reading, Co. gen. g. 4s, 1997.....*J J	95	Jan 2	93	Jan 9	94¾	Jan 20	94¼	94½
Do registered.....*J J	..	....	..	....	94⅜	De 6, 99	..	..
Rio Grande West. 1st g. 4s, 1939...J J*	96	Jan 18	94¼	Jan 4	95¾	Jan 20	95½	96
Utah Cent. 1st gtd. g. l. g.4s,1917.A O	..	....	..	....	88	Jne 27,99	83	..
Rio Gde. Junc. 1st gtd. g. 5s, 1939.J D*	..	....	..	....	105	No 10, 99	103	104
Rio Gde. South. 1st g. 5-4s, 1940...J J*	..	....	..	....	74½	De 15, 99	..	..
St. J. & G. I. 1st g. 2-3-4s, 1947..*J J	84¾	Jan 18	82	Jan 3	84¾	Jan 18	83	..
St. L. & S. F. 2d g. 6s, Cl. A,1906.M N*	..	....	..	....	110	No 15,99	110¼	..
Do g. 6s, Class B, 1906.....M N*	..	....	..	....	112	De 8, 99	111	..
Do g. 6s, Class C, 1906.....M N*	..	....	..	....	110	No 15,99	110¼	..
Do 1st g. 6s, F., C. & O., 1919.F A*	..	....	..	....	113¾	July, 98	..	..
Do gen. g. 6s, 1931.....J J*	..	....	..	....	124	De 16, 99	..	..
Do gen. g. 5s, 1931.....J J*	107½	Jan 18	106	Jan 4	107½	Jan 19	..	..
Do 1st r. g. 5s, 1937.....A O*	..	....	..	....	100¼	Oct 5, 99	..	..
Ft. S. & V. B. B. 1st g. 6s, 1910.*A O	..	....	..	....	105	Oct 4, 97	..	..
St. L. & S. F. R. R. g. 4s, 1996...J J*	81	Jan 2	79	Jan 8	80	Jan 20	..	..
Do Southw. Div. g. 5s, 1947...A O	..	....	..	....	99⅝	De 18, 99	..	..
Do Cent. Div. 1st g. 4s, 1929...*A O	..	....	..	....	97⅜	De 28, 99	..	..
St. L. S. W. 1st g. 4s, bd.cts.,1989.M N*	90¼	Jan 18	86½	Jan 9	90	Jan 20	89½	90¼
Do 2d g. 4s, inc.bd.cts, Nov., 1989.J J	58¾	Jan 20	53¾	Jan 10	58⅜	Jan 20	58	58¾
St. P. City Ry Co. con. g.5s,1937..*J J	..	....	..	....	N12	No 26, 99	..	..
St. Paul & Dul. 1st 5s, 1931.....F A*	..	....	..	....	120	Fe 9, 99	..	..
Do 2d 5s, 1917.....A O*	..	....	..	....	110¼	De 5, 99	..	..
Do 1st con. g. 4s, 1968.....*J D	96½	Jan 20	96	Jan 13	96⅝	Jan 20	..	..
St. P., Min. & Man. 2d 6s, 1909...A O*	..	....	..	....	118½	No 28, 99	..	..
Do Dak. ext. g. 6s, 1910.....M N*	119¼	Jan 12	119⅛	Jan 6	119½	Jan 12	119⅛	..
Do 1st con. g. 6s, 1933.....J J*	137	Jan 2	137	Jan 2	137	Jan 3	..	..
Do do registered.....J J*	..	....	..	....	137	Fe 23, 99	..	..
Do do reduced to 4½s.....J J*	113¼	Jan 18	112¼	Jan 2	113	Jan 18	113	114¼
Do do do registered.....J J*	..	....	..	....	108½	My 25,97	..	..
Do Mon. ext. 1st g. 4s, 1937...J D*	106¾	Jan 17	102½	Jan 2	106¾	Jan 17	..	..
Do do registered.....*J D	..	....	..	....	104	Ja 24, 96	..	..
Minn. Union 1st g. 6s, 1922.....J J*	..	....	..	....	122½	Ja 15, 96	..	..
Mont. Cent. 1st gtd. g. 6s, 1937....J J*	125½	Jan 19	125½	Jan 19	125½	Jan 19	..	..
Do registered.....J J*	..	....	..	....	112	De 29, 99	..	..
Do 1st gtd. g. 5s, 1937.....J J*	..	....	..	....	113	De 29, 99	..	..
Mont. Ext. 1st 6s, 1937.....J D*	..	....	..	....	112	Jne 30,99	..	..
Mont. Union 1st gtd. g. 6s, 1936...J J*	..	....	..	....	120	Jne 30,99	..	..
Mont. Cent. 1st gtd. g. 6s, 1937....J J*	125½	Jan 19	125½	Jan 19	125½	Jan 19	..	..
Do registered.....J J*	..	....	..	....	112	De 29, 99	..	..
Do 1st gtd. g. 5s, 1937.....J J*	..	....	..	....	113	De 29, 99	..	..
Mont. Ext. 1st 6s, 1937.....J D*	..	....	..	....	112	Jne 30,99	..	..
Mont. Union 1st gtd. g. 6s, 1936...J J*	..	....	..	....	120	Jne 30,99	..	..
S Fe, P. & P. R. 1st g. 5s, 1942...M S*	..	....	..	....	106⅝	No 20,99	..	..
S. F. & N. P. 1st g. 5s, 1919.....*J J	..	....	..	....	112⅜	Oct 2, 99	..	..
Sa., Fla. & W. 1st con. g. 6s, 1934..*A O	126½	Jan 13	125½	Jan 3	126¼	Jan 13	..	..
D. 1st g. 5s, 1934.....*A O	..	....	..	....	112	Mr 17,99	..	..
Sea. & Roanoke 1st 5s, 1926.....J J*	..	....	..	....	104⅜	Fe 5, 97	..	..
Southern Pacific Co.—
Do g. 4s, Cen. P. col., Aug., 1949.J D	83	Jan 20	80	Jan 9	82⅝	Jan 20	82¾	83
Do do registered.....J D	..	....	..	....	85	No 6, 99	..	..
Cen. P. 1st ref. gtd. g. 4s, 1949..F A*	100¼	Jan 20	97⅞	Jan 11	100⅜	Jan 20	100⅜	100½
Do mtge. gtd. g. 3½s, Aug.,1929.J D	83¾	Jan 18	81	Jan 9	83¾	Jan 20	83⅜	83⅞
Gal., Har. & S. A. 1st 6s, 1910...F A*	..	....	..	....	108	Oct 17,99	108	..
Do 2d g. 7s, 1905.....*J D	..	....	..	....	108½	No 4, 99	..	..
Do M. & P. Div. 1st 5s, 1931..*M N	102	Jan 18	101	Jan 4	102	Jan 20	..	..
Hous. & T. C. 1st W. & N.7s,1903.J J	..	....	..	....	102	Nov., 94	..	..
Do 1st g. 5s, int. gtd., 1937.....J J*	110½	Jan 9	110½	Jan 9	110½	Jan 18	..	113⅞
Do con. g. 6s, int. gtd., 1912...A O*	..	....	..	....	110½	De 26, 99	110	..
Do gen g. 4s, int. gtd., 1921..*A O	85	Jan 3	83¾	Jan 9	84½	Jan 20	84	85
Mor. La. & T. 1st g. 6s, 1920.....J J*	..	....	..	....	114	No 11,97	123½	..
Do 1st 7s, 1918.....*A O	..	....	..	....	134	No 22,99	..	..
Ore. & Cal. 1st 5s, 1927.....J J*	..	....	..	....	99	De 27, 99	..	..
San A. & A. P. 1st gtd.g.4s,1943..*J J	78½	Jan 2	75	Jan 9	78½	Jan 19	78	78½
Texas & N. O. 1st 7s, 1905.....F A*	..	....	..	....	116	De 14, 98	..	..
Do Sabine Div. 1st g. 6s, 1912.M S*	..	....	..	....	106½	No 17,97	..	..
Do con. g. 5s, 1943.....J J*	103	Jan 20	101	Jan 2	103	Jan 20	..	..
S.P.of Ari.gtd.1st g 6s Mch,1909-10.J J	110¾	Jan 4	110	Jan 2	110½	Jan 20	..	..
S. P. of Cal. 1st g. 6s,Ser.A,1905.*A O	..	....	..	....	107	No 1, 99	107	..
Do 1st con. gtd. g. 5s, 1937...M N*	105½	Jan 19	105½	Jan 19	105½	Jan 19	..	..
Do do stamped, 1905-37.....M N	106	Jan 3	104½	Jan 10	105⅞	Jan 19	..	..
Aus. & N. W. 1st gtd. g. 5s, 1941.J J*	95¾	Jan 5	95	Jan 4	95½	Jan 19	..	..
So. Pac. of N. M. 1st g. 6s, 1911..*J J	..	....	..	....	113⅞	No 23,98	..	..
Gila V.,G. & N.1st gtd.g.5s,1924.M N*	..	....	..	....	103⅞	De 27, 99	..	102
Nor. R. of Cal. 1st 6s, gtd., 1907.*J J	..	....	..	....	98	Au 6, 97	..	..
Do 50-year g. 5s, 1938.....A O*	..	....	..	....	103	Au 23,99	..	..
Southern R. 1st con. g. 5s, 1994.....J J*	107½	Jan 20	106	Jan 8	107⅝	Jan 20	107¼	107⅝
Do registered.....J J	..	....	..	....	98	Oct 31,98	..	..
Do Mem. Div. 1st g.4-4½-5s,1996.J J	..	....	..	....	108¼	Au 14, 99	..	..
E. Tenn. reor. lien g. 4-5s, 1938.*M S	108½	Jan 10	108½	Jan 10	108½	Jan 10	..	..
Ala Central 1st g. 6s, 1918.....J J*	..	....	..	....	112½	Au 17,97	..	..
Col. & Green. 1st g. 6s, 1916.....J J*	..	....	..	....	118⅜	Jne 8, 99	..	..
E. T., Va. & Ga. 1st 7s, 1900.....J J*	..	....	..	....	103⅜	De 1, 99	..	..
Do divisional g. 5s, 1930.....J J*	115½	Jan 18	115½	Jan 16	115½	Jan 16	..	..
Do con. 1st 5s, 1956.....M N*	115	Jan 18	114	Jan 2	115	Jan 20	..	..
Georgia Pac. R. 1st g. 6s, 1922...*J J	121	Jan 4	119½	Jan 16	120	Jan 16	..	..
Knox. & Ohio 1st g. 6s, 1925.....J J*	121	Jan 18	118	Jan 13	121	Jan 19	118½	121
Rich. & Dan. con. g. 6s, 1915.....*J J	120¾	Jan 18	118¼	Jan 2	120¾	Jan 18	120	123
Do equip. s. f. g. 5s, 1909.....M S*	101	Jan 11	101	Jan 11	101	Jan 11	..	..
Do deb. 5s, stamped, 1927.....*A O	..	....	..	....	105	De 12, 99	..	..
Va. Midland gen. 5s, 1936.....*M N	110	Jan 15	109	Jan 8	110	Jan 15	108½	111
Do do gtd., stamped, 1936.....*M N	110	Jan 18	108	Jan 4	110	Jan 18	..	..
Do serial, Series D.....*A O	..	....	..	....	102	Oct 13,99	..	..
Do serial, Series E.....*A O	..	....	..	....	109	Ja 12, 99	..	..
W., O. & W. 1st cur.gtd.4s,1924.*F A	..	....	..	....	90	Fe 23, 99	..	..
West. N. C. 1st con. g. 6s, 1914...J J*	114¾	Jan 10	114½	Jan 10	114½	Jan 10	..	..
So. Car. & Ga. 1st g. 5s, 1919.....*M N	105	Jan 3	102	Jan 15	104⅝	Jan 16	..	..
Atlantic & Dan. 1st g. 5s, 1950.....J J	100	Jan 12	99¾	Jan 10	100	Jan 16	..	..
Ter. Ass. of St. L. 1st 4½s,1930.A O*	..	....	..	....	113	Oct 2, 99	..	..
Do 1st con. g. 5s, 1894-1944.....F A*	..	....	..	....	111⅝	No 3, 99	..	..
St. L. M. B. T. gtd. g. 5s, 1930...A O	111	Jan 19	111	Jan 19	111	Jan 19	..	..
Tex. & Pac. E. Div. 1st g. 6s,1905.*M S	..	....	..	....	107	No 2, 99	..	..
Do 1st g. 5s, 2000.....*J D	112¾	Jan 20	111	Jan 3	112¾	Jan 20	111	..
Do 2d inc. g. 5s, Dec. 1, 2000...Mar	..	....	..	....	50	Oct 27,99	..	..
Do do Trust certificates.....J J	..	....	..	....	51½	No 20,99	..	..
Third Avenue 1st g. 5s, 1937.....J J*	125	Jan 15	125	Jan 15	125	Jan 15	..	..
Tol. & Ohio Cen. 1st g. 5s, 1935...J J*	105	Jan 8	105	Jan 8	105	Jan 8	..	..
Do West. Div. 1st g. 5s, 1935..A O*	..	....	..	....	103½	De 5, 99	..	..
Kan. & Mich. 1st gtd. g. 4s,1990.*A O	85	Jan 2	84½	Jan 2	85	Jan 20	..	..
Tol., Peo. & W. 1st g. 4s, 1917.....J J*	78¼	Jan 12	78

OUTSIDE SECURITIES.

Continued from Page 1.

buy stocks except in a few cases, and prices were allowed to drop without much support being given. Such news as the week brought was generally of a favorable character, but very few special developments figured as factors in the course of prices during the week.

Indications seem to be that no marked increase in activity is to be looked for in the very near future, but apart from this very little ground for apprehension as to the future of the market appears. It is shown that on any increase in demand prices very easily recover from prevailing figures, and the purchase of a few hundred shares appears in most issues to be sufficient to bring about considerable improvement in price. Among the week's net changes were several gains of importance, among them being an advance of 7½ points in Standard Oil and of 3½ points in Havana Commercial. A number of smaller net gains were recorded, but these were considerably outnumbered by the declines.

Standard Oil attracted much attention both because of its activity in an otherwise dull market and because of its noteworthy strength. Of late many intimations have been heard that much higher prices will probably be recorded for this issue in the near future, and the course of the stock during the past week has lent to these intimations some appearance of being well founded. Disposition is shown apparently on the part of inside interests to accumulate the stock, and the amount that was taken at constantly advancing figures was much beyond the usual amount in Standard Oil, and the disposition seemed to be to take practically all the stock that was offered at reasonable figures. On Friday, transactions aggregated about 700 shares, and during the two hours of trading on Saturday over 300 shares changed hands. It sold up to 498½, and this figure was bid for the stock at the close, showing a net gain of 7 points. At the end of the week a sale of the old Standard Oil Trust certificates was made at 500, which is record price for the issue. The demand for the stock was not, as is usually the case, limited to small lots, but 100-share lots were readily taken. Brokers trading in the stock stated that inside interests appeared to be the buyers, and this buying strengthened the opinion which is seemingly quite general among those interested in the stock, that Standard Oil may be expected to show very satisfactory developments in the near future.

Distilling of America was prominent among the industrials and showed considerable weakness. The common stock sold below 6, and closed at 6 bid, with a net loss of 1 point. In the preferred stock sales were made as low as 20, and it closed at 20¾ bid, with a net loss of 4¼ points. Weakness in these issues seemed attributable chiefly to a number of unfavorable rumors which were heard in regard to the company's condition, but which met with no confirmation and were denied by persons closely connected with the company and familiar with its affairs. No announcements as to the character of the report that is being framed by the committee investigating the company's affairs were had, yet rumor had it that it would necessarily be of an unfavorable character, and predictions of much trouble for the company were freely indulged in. Stock market plans seemed the most likely explanation of many of these reports. Naturally the character of the report of the committee remains a matter of surmise. It is said, however, by officers of the company, that the company's financial status is most satisfactory and that its business is in promising condition. At all events, nothing yet appears to lead to the supposition that the investigating committee's report will be of a character likely to unfavorably affect the stock of the Distilling Company of America.

Electric Vehicle and several others of the electric stocks were in poor demand and suffered considerable net losses for the week. On very light transactions Electric Vehicle common lost 15 points and the preferred 10 points. Electric Boat declined 4 points or more in each issue, and Electric Axle lost 1 point. The last named was the most active of the electric stocks, being traded in from 5½ down to 4⅛, and closing at 4⅛ bid, against 5⅛ on the previous Saturday. Apparently there are a number of holders of this stock who find it inconvenient to make the second payment of $5, which falls due next month, and who therefore are disposing of their holdings. No other reason appeared for the decline in Electric Axle, for such news as was had in regard to the company's affairs was of a favorable character, and report had it that announcements of considerable interest would soon be made in regard to increases in the company's business.

Very little activity appeared in the copper stocks and most of these issues closed somewhat below the previous week's final figures. Amalgamated Copper, usually one of the most active stocks on the curb, was traded in in very limited amounts. On one or two days there was absolutely no trading in this stock, while on others the sales amounted to only a few hundred shares. It declined to 62¾, and, recovering fractionally, closed at 63 bid, with a net loss of 1 point. California Copper became active during the week, and on several days was traded in to the extent of 2,000 to 3,000 shares. It sold from 3 up to 3⅞, falling back to 3⅝ and closing at 3½ bid. Interests connected with the company seemed to be the principal buyers of the stock, although on one or two days the trading was fairly broad. It is said that a dividend will probably be declared on the stock in April, and the early strength was attributed to this report.

The gas stocks were very quiet. No significant net changes were recorded in the New Amsterdam issues, and Standard Gas remained about steady. As far as reported, Mutual Gas was not traded in at all, but at the close of the week there was some offering of the stock below 300. It closed at 275 bid, against 300 bid the previous week.

Following are the latest quotations for securities not listed or inactive on the Stock Exchange. These quotations are compiled from reports made to THE NEW YORK TIMES by many of the most active and reputable commission brokers. Information is solicited from all persons interested. Address Financial Editor, THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Banks.

	Bid.	Asked.
America	425	..
American Exchange	137	..
Astor	490	..
Bowery	283	300
Broadway	235	250
Central	175	185
Chase	428	..
Chatham	300	310
Chemical	3800	..
Citizens'	150	..
City, new stock	278	..
Colonial	240	..
Columbia	190	..
Commerce	270	..
Continental	128	..
Corn Exchange	325	375
East River	130	..
Fifth National	225	..
Fifth Avenue	2800	..
First	3250	..
Fourth	170	..
Fourteenth Street	145	165
Gallatin	490	..
Gansevoort	75	80
Garfield	1300	..
German-American	115	..
German Exchange	235	260
Germania	325	..
Hanover	700	..
Hide & Leather	120	..
Home	130	140
Importers & Traders'	520	535
Irving	172½	..
Leather Mfrs'	225	..
Liberty	310	..
Lincoln	775	825
Manhattan	255	275
Market & Fulton	215	240
Mechanics'	190	200
Mercantile	190	..
Merchants'	165	175
Merchants' Exchange	116	..
Metropolis	400	450
Mount Morris	200	..
National Union	400	..
Nassau	190	..
New Amsterdam	500	..
New York	245	265
New York County	1500	..
Ninth	88	95
Nineteenth Ward	100	..
North America	200	210
Oriental	190	200
Pacific	170	..
Park	..	500
People's	225	..
Phenix	100	110
Plaza	400	..
Produce Exchange	120	130
Republic	200	..
Riverside	210	..
Seaboard	275	..
Second	550	..
Seventh	170	..
Shoe & Leather	98	105
State of New York	128	..
Twelfth Ward	115	..
Union Square	210	..
Western National	325	..
West Side	375	..
Yorkville	210	..

Trust Companies.

	Bid.	Asked.
Atlantic	190	..
Bankers'	200	204
Brooklyn	390	..
Central	3050	..
Central Realty Bond and Trust	250	..
Continental	365	..
City	..	400
Farmers' Loan & Trust	1350	..
Fifth Avenue	400	500
Franklin	300	325
Guaranty	600	700
Hamilton	270	280
International B. & T.	135	..
Kings County	350	..
Knickerbocker	375	..
Manhattan	350	400
Manufacturers'	325	..
Mercantile	800	..
Metropolitan	425	450
Morton	400	425
Nassau	175	200
N. Y. Life Ins. & Trust	1350	..
N. Y. Security & Trust	650	..
North American	145	155
Produce Exchange	125	135
Real Estate	300	..
State	375	410
Title Guaranty & T.	390	..
Trust Company of America	197	199
Union	1375	1425
U. S. Mortgage Trust	500	540
United States	1575	..
Washington Trust	300	..
Williamsburg	200	210

Ferry Companies.

	Bid.	Asked.
Brooklyn Ferry	24	26
Brooklyn Ferry bonds	88	90
N. Y. & Hoboken F.	65	68
N. Y. & Hoboken F. con. 5s	93	94
Tenth & Twenty-third Street	80	90
Tenth & Twenty-third St. bds.	105½	107

DIVIDENDS.

STEAM RAILROAD STOCKS.

Company and Period.	Amt.	Payable.	Books Close.	Books Open.
Atch., T. & S. F. pf. (semi-annual)	1¾	Feb. 1	Jan. 19	Feb. 2
Boston & Maine pf. (semi-annual)	$2	Mch. 1	Feb. 3	Feb. 20
Bur., C. R. & Northern	2	Feb. 1	Jan. 20	Feb. 1
Bur., C. R. & Northern (extra)	2	Feb. 1	Jan. 20	Feb. 1
Canada Southern	1	Feb. 1	.....	.....
Central R. R. of N. J. (quarter)	1½	Feb. 1	Jan. 16	Jan. 22
Chicago Great Western pf. A	2½	Jan. 31	.....	.....
Chicago, R. I. & Pacific (quarter)	1¾	Feb. 1	Dec. 30	Jan. 6
Chi., St. P., M. & Omaha (annual)	5	Feb. 20	Jan. 31	Feb. 15
C., St. P., M. & O. pf. (semi-annual)	3½	Feb. 20	Jan. 31	Feb. 15
Chi., Ind. & Lou. pf. (quarter)	1½	Feb. 1	Jan. 27	Feb. 9
Cleve., Cin., Chi. & St. L.	1½	Mch. 1	.....	.....
Colorado & Southern 1st pf.	2	Feb. 15	Jan. 31	Feb. 15
Delaware & Hudson (quarter)	1¾	Mch. 15	Feb. 28	Mch. 16
Great Northern pf.	2½	Feb. 1	Holders of record	Jan. 15
Green Bay & Western	50c	Feb. 1	Jan. 20	Feb. 2
Hunt. & B'd Top Mt. R. R. & C. pf.	2½	Jan. 25	Jan. 15	Jan. 25
Illinois Central (semi-annual)	2½	Mch. 1	Jan. 31	Feb. 23
Lake Shore & Michigan Southern	3½	Jan. 20	.....	.....
Louisville & Nashville	2	Feb. 10	Jan. 26	Feb. 10
Michigan Central	2	Jan. 29	.....	.....
North Carolina	3½	Feb. 10	.....	.....
Northern Pacific	1	Feb. 5	Jan. 11	Jan. 23
Northern Pacific (extra)	1	Feb. 5	Jan. 11	Jan. 23
Northern Pacific pf. (quarter)	1	Mch. 5	Feb. 7	Feb. 17
Rio Grande West. pf. (quarter)	1¼	Feb. 1	.....	.....
St. Jo. & Grand Island 1st pf.	2	Jan. 31	Jan. 15	Feb. 1

STREET RAILWAYS.

Columbus (Ohio) Railway pf.	1¼	Feb. 1	Holders of record	Jan. 16
Harrisburg (Penn.) Traction	1½	Feb. 1	Jan. 20	Feb. 1

BANK STOCKS.

Corn Exchange	6	Feb. 1	.....	.....
German American	3	Feb. 1	.....	.....

TRUST COMPANIES.

Guarantee Trust & Safe Deposit Co. (Philadelphia)	5	Feb. 6	.....	.....
N. Y. Security & Trust	5	Feb. 1	Jan. 26	Feb. 1

MISCELLANEOUS COMPANIES.

Alabama Consol. Coal & Iron Co. pf. (quarterly)	1¾	Feb. 1	Jan. 20	Feb. 1
American Glue pf.	$4	Feb. 1	Holders of record	Jan. 16
American Ice Co. common	1	Feb. 15	Feb. 1	Feb. 16
Am. Iron & Steel	50c	Jan. 25	.....	.....
Amalgamated Copper (quarter)	1½	Jan. 22	Dec. 28	Jan. 22
Amalgamated Copper (extra)	1½	Jan. 22	Dec. 28	Jan. 22
Am. Car & Foundry pf.	1¾	Feb. 1	Jan. 10	Feb. 3
Am. Steel Hoop pf. (quarter)	1¾	Jan. 31	Jan. 20	Feb. 1
Am. Tin Plate pf. (quarter)	1¾	Jan. 31	Jan. 22	Feb. 1
American Tobacco (quarter)	1½	Feb. 1	Jan. 15	Feb. 2
American Tobacco pf. (quarter)	2	Feb. 1	Jan. 15	Feb. 2
Boston & Montana Mining (quarter)	$5	Feb. 29	Jan. 25	Feb. 8
Boston & Montana Mining (extra)	$3	Feb. 20	Jan. 25	Feb. 8
Cambria Steel (quarter)	50c	Feb. 15	Jan. 31	.....
Cambria Steel (extra)	$1.50	To pay installment on stock.
Central Oil Co. (quarter)	1½	Feb. 1	Jan. 24	Feb. 2
Colorado Fuel & Iron pf.	8	Feb. 15	Jan. 26	Feb. 15
Columbus (Ohio) Gas Light & Heat.	2	Feb. 1	Jan. 10	Feb. 2
Consolidated Coal (Maryland)	2	Feb. 1	Jan. 25	Feb. 3
Consolidated Gas (Pittsburg) pf.	3	Feb. 1	Holders of record	Jan. 20
Daylight Prism Co. (quarter)	2	Feb. 10	Jan. 30	Feb. 10
Daylight P. Co. pf. (semi-annual)	4	Feb. 10	Jan. 30	Feb. 10
Daylight Prism Co. pf. (extra)	2	Feb. 10	Jan. 30	Feb. 10
Denver Gas & Electric	1½	Feb. 20	Feb. 9	Feb. 20
Diamond State Steel	4	Jan. 22	Jan. 12	Jan. 23
Ed. El. Ill. of Boston (quarter)	2	Feb. 1	Jan. 16	Feb. 2
Electric Company of America	50c	Jan. 30	Jan. 20	Feb. 1
Erie & Western Transportation	2½	Feb. 1	Jan. 26	Feb. 2
Finance Co., Penn., 2d pf. (quarter)	$1	Feb. 1	Jan. 20	Feb. 1
Flat Top Coal Land Association	½	Feb. 1	Holders of record	Jan. 12
Flat Top Coal Land Ass'n (extra)	½	Feb. 1	Holders of record	Jan. 12
Flat Top Coal Land Ass'n pf.	1	Feb. 1	Holders of record	Jan. 12
General Electric pf.	$3.50	Jan. 31	Jan. 15	Jan. 31
Harrison Bros. & Co. pf. (quarter)	1¾	Feb. 1	Jan. 23	Feb. 3
Henderson Bridge	2½	Feb. 1	Jan. 22	Feb. 2
Homestake Mining (monthly)	25c	Jan. 25	.....	.....
Homestake Mining (extra)	25c	Jan. 25	.....	.....
International S. Pump pf. (quarter)	1¼	Feb. 1	Jan. 20	Feb. 2
Lawyers' Title Insurance	2½	Feb. 1	Jan. 13	Feb. 2
Lawyers' Title Insurance (extra)	½	Feb. 1	Jan. 13	Feb. 2
Madison (Wis.) Gas & Elec.	2½	Jan. 20	Jan. 10	Jan. 21
Mt. Vernon Wood Cot. & Duck	1½	Mch. 1	Feb. 20	Mch. 2
Municipal Gas, Albany, (quarter)	2½	Feb. 1	Jan. 25	Feb. 2
National Lead common	1	Mch. 1	Feb. 15	Mch. 2
National Salt pf. (quarter)	1¾	Jan. 24	Jan. 19	Jan. 24
National Surety Co.	5	Jan. 25	.....	.....
Pacific Coast (quarter)	1	Feb. 1	Jan. 10	Feb. 1
Pacific Coast 1st pf. (quarter)	1¼	Feb. 1	Jan. 10	Feb. 1
Pacific Coast 2d pf. (quarter)	1	Feb. 1	Jan. 10	Feb. 1
Penn. Furnace Co. (quarter)	$1.50	Feb. 5	Stock of record	Feb. 1
Pittsburg Coal pf.	1¾	Jan. 25	Jan. 15	Jan. 26
Pressed Steel Car com. (quarter)	1¼	Feb. 9	Jan. 20	Feb. 9
Procter & Gamble (semi-annual)	6	Feb. 15	.....	.....
Pepperill Mfg. Co. (semi-annual)	$6	Feb. 1	Stock of record	Jan. 20
Pepperill Mfg. Co. (extra)	$10	Mch. 1	Stock of record	Jan. 20
Pullman's Palace Car Co. (quarter)	$2	Feb. 5	Feb. 1	Feb. 16
Quincy Mining	$5	Feb. 15	Jan. 22	Feb. 1
Rochester Gas & Electric pf.	3	Feb. 1	Jan. 18	Feb. 1
Street's West Stable Car Line	50c	Jan. 25	.....	.....
Torrington Co. com., Class A	4	Feb. 1	Jan. 18	Feb. 1
United States Rubber	1	Jan. 31	Jan. 15	Feb. 1
United States Rubber pf. (quarter)	2	Jan. 31	Jan. 15	Feb. 1
Warwick Iron & Steel	2	Feb. 10	Stock of record	Jan. 27
Warwick Iron & Steel (extra)	½	Feb. 10	Stock of record	Jan. 27

MEETINGS.

	Books Close.	Books Open.	Date.	Nature.
Brooklyn Rapid Transit	Jan. 16	Jan. 27	Jan. 26	Annual
Chicago Junction Railways & Union Stock Yards	Jan. 18	Feb. 9	Feb. 8	Annual
Colonial Bank	.....	.....	Feb. 5	Annual
Consolidated Gas	.....	.....	Jan. 22	Annual
Consol. K. C. Smelt. & Ref. Co.	.....	.....	Feb. 2	Special
Diamond Match	Jan. 27	Feb. 8	Feb. 7	Annual
Estate of N. Low	.....	.....	Jan. 24	Annual
Figge Slaughtering Co.	.....	.....	Feb. 7	Special
Fort Wayne & Jackson R. R.	Jan. 11	Jan. 27	Jan. 25	Annual
General Chemical Co.	Jan. 20	Feb. 1	Jan. 31	Annual
Laclede Gas Light Co., St. Louis	.....	Jan. 24	Jan. 22	Special
Maryland Coal Company	Jan. 22	Feb. 7	Feb. 6	Annual
Missouri Pacific	Jan. 30	Mch. 14	Mch. 13	Annual
Mobile & Ohio	Jan. 31	Feb. 23	Feb. 7	Bondholders
Nassau Electric RR.	.....	.....	Feb. 13	Special
National Starch Mfg. Co.	Jan. 17	Feb. 13	Feb. 7	Annual
National Surety Company	.....	.....	Jan. 30	Annual
People's Gas Light & Coke Co. of Chicago	Jan. 19	Feb. 13	Feb. 10	Annual
Rubber Goods Mfg. Co.	Jan. 23	Feb. 14	Feb. 13	Annual
St. L., Iron Mt. & Southern	Jan. 30	Mch. 14	Mch. 13	Annual
Sicilian Asphalt & Paving Co.	.....	.....	Jan. 31	Annual
Tri-Mountain Mining Co.	Jan. 20	Feb. 15	Feb. 14	Annual
Universal Preservative Co.	Jan. 17	Jan. 30	Jan. 29	Special
Victoria Coffee Mills	.....	.....	Jan. 31	Special

Ferry Companies—Continued.

	Bid.	Asked.
Union Ferry	33	40
Union Ferry bonds	100	100¾

Insurance Companies.

	Bid.	Asked.
Citizens'	110	120
Commonwealth	100	108
Continental	525	..
Eagle	230	240
Empire City	85	90
German-American	..	510
Germania	285	300
Globe & Rutgers	..	100
Greenwich	170	175
Hamilton	105	110
Hanover	150	170
Home	215	230
Kings County	150	..
Nassau, Brooklyn	150	..
New York	90	100
Niagara	165	..
North River	145	150
Pacific	135	145
Peter Cooper	110	120
Phenix, Brooklyn	..	185
Stuyvesant	80	..
United States	120	125
Westchester	300	..
Williamsburg City	420	..

Street Railways.

	Bid.	Asked.
Atlantic Avenue con. m. 5s	113	115
Atlantic Avenue gen. m. 5s	106	108
Atlantic Avenue imp. 5s	99	101
Bleecker St. & F. Ferry stock	35	40
Bleecker St. & F.F'y extend 4s	100	100½
Broadway & Seventh Avenue	235	240
Broadway & Seventh Av. 1st	104	105
Broadway & Seventh Av. 2d	109½	111½

Street Railways—Continued.

	Bid.	Asked.
Broadway Surface 1st 5s	117	118
Broadway Surface 2d	104	105
Brooklyn, Bath & W. E. 5s	100	102
Brooklyn City R. R. 1st m. 5s	115	117
Brooklyn City Railroad	235	237
Brooklyn City & New. 1st	115	117
Brooklyn El. bonds	103	103½
B'klyn, Queens Co. & Sub. 5s	109	111
Buffalo Crosstown 5s	112	115
Central Crosstown	270	300
Central Crosstown 1st 6s	125	130
Central Park, N. & E. River	108	..
Central Park, N. & E. River 7s	106	108
Christopher & Tenth Street	170	172
Cleveland Electric con. 5s	104	106
Coney Island & Brook. stock	325	330
Coney Island & Brook. 1st 5s	100	102
Consolidated Traction of N. J.	58	60
Con. Traction of N. J. 5s	106	108
Columbus Railway	20	24
Columbus Railway pf.	83	86
D. D., E. B. & B. stock	125	150
D. D., E. B. & B. 6s	115	117
D. D., E. B. & B. 5 p. c. scrip	100	102
Eighth Avenue Railroad	375	400
Eighth Ave. 6 per cent. scrip	108	112
42d St. & Grand St.	390	410
42d St., Man. & St. N. Av.	68	75
42d St., Man. & St. N. Av. 1st	115	117
42d St., Man. & St. N. Av. 2d	88	90
Kings County El. 4s, (new)	85	87
Nassau Elec. 1st 5s, (B'klyn)	109	112
Nassau Electric 4s	87	90
New Orleans Trac. com.	27	28
New Orleans Trac. pf.	100	102
Ninth Avenue	195	205
North Jersey Street Ry.	27	29
North Jersey Street Ry. 4s	86	89
North Shore Traction com.	15	16
North Shore Traction pf.	85	87
Orange & Passaic Val. bonds	103	104
Rochester Railway	15	17
Rochester Railway con. 5s	106¼	108

Second Avenue stock	200	201
Second Ave 1st m. 5s	107	108
Second Avenue consol. 5s	115	117
Sixth Avenue stock	200	210
Southern Boulevard 5s, 1945	111	114
South Ferry 1st 5s	106	108
Steinway R. R. Co. 6 p. c. 1st	115	117
Syracuse Rapid Transit	12	18
Syracuse Rapid Transit pf	25	35
Twenty-third Street	395	410
Twenty-third Street deb. 5s	106	108
28th & 29th St. 5s, 1096	113	115
Union Railway 1st 5s	115	117
United Traction, Providence	108	111
United Trac., Prov., bonds	113	114
Westchester Electric 5s, 1943	100	111
Worcester Traction common	30	32
Worcester Traction pf	105	106½

Industrial and Miscellaneous.

	Bid.	Asked.
Acker, Merrall & Condit	100	102
Amalgamated Copper	83	83¼
Am. Agricultural Chem	30	32
Am. Agricultural Chem. pf	75	78
American Air Power	35	50
American Bank Note	47	50
American Bicycle	17	18
American Bicycle pf	43	45
American Bicycle bonds	90	92
American Press Association	75	85
American Type Founders	51	53
American Woolen Goods	23½	24
American Woolen Goods pf	78½	79
Arizona Lead	10	10½
Asphalt of America	12	13
Barney & Smith Car	10	13½
Barney & Smith Car pf	99	103
Barney & Smith Car bonds	103	106
British Columbia Copper	10½	11
Central & South American Tel.	105	105½
Central Fireworks	12	15
Central Fireworks pf	53	58
Chesebrough Mfg.	345	380
Chicago & Alton subscrips.	105	108
Chicago & Alton 3s (new)	93	96
Consolidated Fireworks	10	..
Consolidated Fireworks pf	70	..
Consolidated Rubber Tire	7½	..
Consolidated Rubber Tire pf	30	35
Cramps' Ship & Engine Bldg.	79½	81
Distilling Co. of America	6	6¼
Distilling Co. of America pf	20⅝	21½
Electric Axle, Light & Power	4¼	4½
Electric Boat	18	20
Electric Boat pf	35	45
Electric Vehicle	45	50
Electric Vehicle pf	80	81
Electro-Pneumatic	1	1¼
Flemington Coal & Coke	20	22
General Chemical	50	65
General Chemical pf	97	100
Havana Commercial	21	..
Havana Commercial pf	60	..
Hecker-Jones-Jewell 6s, 1922	75	85
Hudson River Telephone	116	119
Illinois Transportation	2½	3
International Pump	16	17
International Pump pf	62	64½
Lorillard pf	107	109
Markeen Copper	5	7
Mergenthaler Linotype	200	205
National Gramophone	56	60
National Salt	46¾	48
National Salt pf	90	95
National Tube	43	43¾
National Tube pf	91½	93
New England Transportation	6½	7
New York Transportation	10	11
N. Y. & N. J. Telephone	165	180
Otis Elevator	20	25
Otis Elevator pf	86	88½
Pitts., Bess. & L. E	19½	21
Procter & Gamble	380	400
Procter & Gamble pf	190	200
Royal Baking Powder pf	94	95½
Rubber Goods	27	29
Rubber Goods pf	70	81
Singer Manufacturing	620	..
Sloss-Sheffield	28	29
Sloss-Sheffield pf	67	69
Standard Coupler	38	41
Standard Oil	498	499
Storage Power	13½	14½
Superior & Boston Copper	⅛	3-16
Swift & Co.	100	101
Swift & Co. 1st 6s	106	108
Tennessee Copper	13¾	15
Texas Pacific Coal	70	..
Texas Pacific Coal 6s, 1908	107	..
Union Typewriter	23	25
Union Typewriter 1st pf	110	113
Union Typewriter 2d pf	120	122
United Shoe Machinery	20	22
United Shoe Machinery pf	23	23½
U. S. Pneumatic Horse Collar	⅝	¾
Virginia Coal, Iron & C	24	25
Virginia C., I. & C. 5s, 1949	61	62
Westinghouse Air Brake	390	410
Worthington Pump pf	98	100

Gas Companies.

	Bid.	Asked.
Bay State	1⅝	1¾
Buffalo City	4	6½
Buffalo City 5s, 1947	72	75
Central Union 5s, 1927	100	102
Consumers' Gas (J. C.) bonds	104	106
Denver Gas	39	41¼
Denver Gas 5s, 1949	102	104
Fort Wayne	38	45
Fort Wayne bonds	60	65
Grand Rapids	98	100
Grand Rapids 1st 5s, 1916	103	105
Ind. Natural & Ill.	40	45
Ind. Natural & Ill. bonds	60	65
Indianapolis	100	105
Indianapolis 1st 6s, 1920	103	105
Lafayette	38	45
Lafayette bonds	60	65
Logansport & Wabash Val	38	45
Logansport & Wab. Val. bonds	60	65
Madison (Wis.)	77	80
Madison (Wis.) 1st 6s, 1926	107	109
Mutual	275	290
New Amsterdam	22	23
New Amsterdam pf	47	50
New Amsterdam 5s, 1948	94½	95¾
N. E. Gas & Coke	19½	20¾
N. E. Gas & Coke 5s, 1927	72½	73
N. Y. & E. R. 1st 5s, 1944	108	111
N. Y. & E. R. con. 5s, 1945	106	109
Ohio & Indiana	38	45
Ohio & Indiana bonds	60	65
St. Joseph (Mo.)	40	42
St. Joseph (Mo.) 1st 6s, 1937	94	98
St. Paul (Minn.)	32	36
Standard (New York)	109	..
Standard pf	125	..
Standard 1st 5s, 1930	115	117
Syracuse	11	13
Syracuse 1st 5s, 1946	85	90
Western (Milwaukee)	102	105
Western col. tr. 1st 5s, 1933	102	105

THE WEEK'S TRANSACTIONS.

On the Stock Exchange for the week ended Saturday, Jan. 20, total transactions included 1,302,877 shares of stock, $12,500,000 bonds, including $800,000 Government, and $44,000 State bonds.

In Stock the week's figures compare with those of the corresponding week last year as follows:

STOCKS.

	Jan. 21, '99.	Jan. 20, 1900.	Decrease.
R. R. & M.	5,781,976	1,552,317	4,148,659
Banks	95	95	*20
Mining	1,800	3,600	*2,100

BONDS.

	Jan. 21, '99.	Jan. 20, 1900.	Decrease.
R. R. & M.	$37,566,300	$13,599,000	$23,967,300
State	77,100	114,200	*37,100
Government	566,200	197,200	369,000

*Increase.

INACTIVE STOCKS—LAST TRANSACTIONS NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

The following table gives the range of prices in 1900 for stocks in which there have been no dealings during the past week. Where no sale has occurred this year the date of the last transaction is given:

Closing Jan. 20. Bid.	Asked.	STOCKS.	Amount Outstanding.	Last Dividend.		Range in 1900 Highest.		Lowest.		Last Sale.
195	..	Albany & Sus.	$3,500,000	Jan., 1900	3½	..	.....	..	.....	*210	Oct. 13, 1899
..	..	American Bank Note	.....	Sept. 29, 1899	$1	..	.....	..	.....	*43	Mar. 5, 1898
140	160	American Coal	1,500,000	Sept. 1, 1899	4	..	.....	..	.....	145	Dec. 27, 1899
..	..	American Spirits Mfg. pf	3,934,000	.....	.....	..	.....	..	.....	*24	Oct. 10, 1899
..	..	At. & Charlotte Air Line	1,700,000	Sept. 6, 1899	3	..	.....	..	.....	*121	Nov. 28, 1898
..	..	Beech Creek	5,685,000	Jan., 1900	1	..	.....	..	.....	100	Oct. 31, 1898
105	..	Boston & N. Y. Air Line pf	1,428,000	Jan., 1900	2	..	.....	..	.....	106½	Nov. 14, 1899
..	..	B'lyn Wharf & W. pf., Series B.	5,600,000	.....	.....	..	.....	..	.....	21	Feb. 15, 1899
44¾	58	Buff., Roch. & Pitts.	6,000,000	.....	..	*44¼	Jan. 12	*44¼	Jan. 12	*44¼	Jan. 12, 1900
92	100	Buff., Roch. & Pitts. pf	6,000,000	Aug. 15, 1899	1	..	.....	..	.....	103	Dec. 20, 1899
111	..	Bur., Cedar Rap. & Northern	5,500,000	Aug. 1, 1899	4	*119	Jan. 10	*119	Jan. 10	*119	Jan. 10, 1900
90	93	Capital Traction	12,000,000	Jan. 1, 1900	¾	..	.....	..	.....	93	Dec. 8, 1899
..	..	Central Coal & Coke	1,500,000	.....	.....	..	.....	..	.....	20¾	Oct. 13, 1898
..	..	Chicago & Alton	18,784,000	Dec. 27, 1899	3	..	.....	..	.....	171	Apr. 5, 1899
..	..	Chicago & Alton pf	3,470,500	Dec. 27, 1899	2½	..	.....	..	.....	*108½	Feb. 15, 1899
85	90	Chicago & Eastern Illinois	6,197,800	Jan. 2, 1900	2	91	Jan. 6	91	Jan. 6	91	Jan. 6, 1900
..	..	Chicago & Northwest. pf	22,396,600	Jan. 5, 1900	1¾	198½	Jan. 5	196	Jan. 4	198	Jan. 5, 1900
118½	125	Chi., St. P., M. & Omaha	21,463,250	Feb. 26, 1899	3½	129	Jan. 4	129	Jan. 4	129	Jan. 4, 1900
176	180	Chi., St. P., M. & O. pf	12,646,800	Aug. 21, 1899	3½	..	.....	..	.....	175	Dec. 8, 1899
..	..	Chicago Stock Yards	6,500,000	Jan. 2, 1900	4	..	.....	..	.....	102½	May 22, 1897
..	..	Chicago Stock Yards pf	6,500,000	Jan. 2, 1900	1½	..	.....	..	.....	120	June 4, 1898
186	..	Cleveland & Pittsburg	11,243,700	Dec. 1, 1899	1¾	..	.....	..	.....	*188¾	Oct. 25, 1899
1⅞	1⅝	Col. Coal & Iron Dev.	5,500,000	.....	.....	1½	Jan. 8	1½	Jan. 8	1½	Jan. 8, 1900
2½	..	Col. Coal & I. Dev. pf	500,000	.....	..	..	.....	..	.....	2½	Dec. 2, 1899
..	..	Col. & Hock. Coal & Iron pf	338,700	.....	..	..	.....	..	.....	30	June 9, 1899
50	..	Consolidation Coal	10,250,000	Feb., 1899	2	..	.....	..	.....	*50	Dec. 11, 1899
95	..	Des Moines & Ft. D. pf	763,000	Aug. 1, 1899	7	..	.....	..	.....	110	June 20, 1899
..	..	Detroit City Gas	2,944,300	Nov. 15, 1899	2½	..	.....	..	.....	97½	Dec. 26, 1899
16	19	Erie 2d pf	16,000,000	.....	.....	16	Jan. 8	15⅞	Jan. 10	16	Jan. 11, 1900
86	90	Evansville & Terre Haute pf	1,284,900	Oct. 16, 1899	2½	*88	Jan. 5	*88	Jan. 5	*88	Jan. 5, 1900
..	..	Ft. W. & Denver City	2,353,000	Mar. 15, 1898	2	..	.....	..	.....	*16	Nov. 16, 1899
..	..	Fort Worth & Rio Grande	3,108,100	.....	..	..	.....	..	.....	21½	Oct. 21, 1899
..	..	Gold & Stock Tel	5,000,000	Jan., 1900	1½	..	.....	..	.....	*108½	Dec. 14, 1897
..	..	Green Bay & Western	2,500,000	Feb. 15, 1899	1½	..	.....	..	.....	*45	Nov. 3, 1899
..	..	H. B. Claflin 1st pf	2,600,300	Nov. 1, 1899	1¼	..	.....	..	.....	*101	June 6, 1899
..	..	H. B. Claflin 2d pf	2,570,900	Nov. 1, 1899	1½	..	.....	..	.....	*100	Feb. 28, 1899
..	..	Harlem	8,638,650	Jan. 2, 1900	4	..	.....	..	.....	*300	Apr. 12, 1899
..	..	Hawaiian Sugar	10,000,000	.....	.....	..	.....	..	.....	*105	May 20, 1899
65	75	Homestake Mining	21,000,000	Dec. 26, '99, 50c.		..	.....	..	.....	*74	Dec. 20, 1899
97	102	Illinois Central leased line	10,000,000	Jan., 1900	2	..	.....	..	.....	*103½	Dec. 4, 1899
..	..	Keokuk & Des Moines	2,600,000	.....	.....	..	.....	..	.....	3⅝	Dec. 22, 1899
15	17	Keokuk & Des Moines pf	1,524,000	Apr. 15, 1899	½	..	.....	..	.....	17½	Dec. 8, 1899
..	..	Keokuk & Western	4,000,000	Jan. 1, 1900	1	..	.....	..	.....	*32	Jan. 25, 1899
..	..	Kingston & Pembroke	2,500,000	.....	.....	..	.....	..	.....	7¼	Nov. 9, 1899
39	44	Knickerbocker Ice (Chi.)	4,000,000	Jan. 1, 1900	1	38	Jan. 10	30	Jan. 2	38	Jan. 10, 1900
64	72	Knickerbocker Ice (Chi.) pf	3,000,000	Jan. 1, 1900	3	..	.....	..	.....	*67½	Dec. 11, 1899
95	100	Laclede Gas pf	2,500,000	Dec. 15, 1899	3½	100	Jan. 4	96	Jan. 11	96	Jan. 11, 1900
83½	85	Lake Erie & Western pf	11,840,000	Nov. 1, 1898	1½	87	Jan. 2	84	Jan. 2	85	Jan. 10, 1900
194	210	Lake Shore	49,466,500	July 28, 1899	3½	*200	Jan. 6	*197	Jan. 6	*200	Jan. 6, 1900
47	50	Long Island	12,000,000	Nov. 2, 1896	1	47½	Jan. 4	47½	Jan. 4	*50	Jan. 8, 1900
5	10	Manhattan Beach	5,000,000	.....	.....	..	.....	..	.....	8	Dec. 19, 1899
65	75	Maryland Coal pf	1,576,000	Jan. 1, 1900	3	*70	Jan. 9	*70	Jan. 9	*70	Jan. 9, 1900
..	..	Mergenthaler Linotype	10,000,000	Dec. 30, 1899	5	..	.....	..	.....	*152	May 31, 1899
..	25	Met. West Side El., Chi.	7,000,000	.....	.....	24⅜	Jan. 8	24⅛	Jan. 8	24½	Jan. 8, 1900
73	76½	Met. West Side El., Chi., pf	9,000,000	.....	.....	*73	Jan. 9	*73	Jan. 9	*73	Jan. 9, 1900
..	..	Nash., Chat. & St. L.	10,000,000	Nov. 1, 1898	1	..	.....	..	.....	*62	Dec. 15, 1899
..	..	National Linseed Oil	1,000,000	.....	.....	..	.....	..	.....	3½	June 9, 1899
..	..	National Linseed Oil certs.	.....	.....	.....	3¼	Jan. 10	3¼	Jan. 10	3¼	Jan. 10, 1900
5	..	National Starch Mfg.	5,000,000	.....	.....	..	.....	..	.....	3¼	Nov. 15, 1899
60	..	Nat. Starch Mfg. 1st pf.	3,000,000	May 1, 1898	2	..	.....	..	.....	65	Nov. 9, 1899
15	..	National Starch 2d pf.	2,500,000	Oct., 1896	6	..	.....	..	.....	25	Nov. 15, 1899
35	40	New Central Coal	1,000,000	Oct. 2, 1899	2	..	.....	..	.....	36	Oct. 27, 1899
..	..	New Jersey & New York Tel.	5,000,000	Jan. 15, 1900	2½	..	.....	..	.....	*124	Jan. 28, 1897
90	95	N. Y., Chi. & St. L. 1st pf.	5,000,000	Mar., 1896	2	81	Jan. 3	81	Jan. 3	81	Jan. 3, 1900
32½	35	N. Y., Chi. & St. L. 2d pf.	11,000,000	.....	.....	35¾	Jan. 5	32	Jan. 2	34	Jan. 13, 1900
..	..	Norfolk & Southern	2,000,000	Jan. 10, 1900	1	..	.....	..	.....	88¾	Nov. 14, 1899
..	..	Omaha & St. Louis	621,900	.....	.....	..	.....	..	.....	*7	Nov. 6, 1899
..	..	Oregon R. R. & Navigation	17,763,700	July 2, 1898	1	..	.....	..	.....	*45	Nov. 13, 1899
..	..	Oregon R. R. & Navigation pf.	2,489,800	Jan. 2, 1900	2	..	.....	..	.....	75½	Oct. 1899
83	90	Pacific Coast 1st pf.	1,515,500	Nov. 1, 1899	1	87½	Jan. 4	85	Jan. 9	85	Jan. 9, 1900
..	..	Panama	7,000,000	Jan. 3, 1896	2	..	.....	..	.....	*95	Sept. 22, 1897
..	..	Park Steel Co. pf	5,000,000	Dec. 1, 1899	1¾	..	.....	..	.....	*110	June 28, 1899
580	..	Pennsylvania Coal	5,000,000	Nov. 1, 1899	4	..	.....	..	.....	*375	June 17, 1899
..	..	P. Lorillard pf.	2,000,000	Jan. 2, 1900	2	..	.....	..	.....	*117	May 16, 1899
186	..	Pitts., Ft. Wayne & Chicago	19,714,200	Jan. 1, 1900	1¾	..	.....	..	.....	*184	Dec. 23, 1899
..	..	Pitts., McKeesport & Yough.	4,000,000	Jcn., 1900	3	..	.....	..	.....	*137	Mar. 3, 1899
..	13	Pittsburg & Western pf., t. r.	.....	25c. paid.		15	Jan. 2	14½	Jan. 3	14½	Jan. 3, 1900
2	2½	Quicksilver	5,708,700	.....	.....	..	.....	..	.....	2	Dec. 27, 1899
8	9	Quicksilver pf.	4,291,300	May 15, 1899	½	10	Jan. 4	10	Jan. 4	10	Jan. 4, 1900
190	..	Rens. & Saratoga	10,000,000	Jan. 1, 1900	4	..	.....	..	.....	*200¼	Dec. 11, 1899
39	45	Rio Grande Western	10,000,000	Sept. 5, 1899	1	..	.....	..	.....	43	Dec. 13, 1899
120¾	..	Rome, Watertown & Ogdens.	10,000,000	Nov. 15, 1899	1¼	..	.....	..	.....	*134	Dec. 5, 1899
45	48	St. J. & Grand I. 1st pf.	5,491,060	Aug. 1, 1899	1	40⅞	Jan. 2	40⅞	Jan. 2	40⅞	Jan. 2, 1900
15½	17	St. J. & Grand Island 2d pf.	3,500,000	.....	.....	..	.....	..	.....	15	Dec. 23, 1899
68	70	St. L. & San Fran. 1st pf.	5,000,000	Jan. 6, 1900	2	70	Jan. 3	70	Jan. 3	*70	Jan. 8, 1900
102	104	St. Paul & Duluth pf.	4,000,000	Sept., 1899	3½	..	.....	..	.....	*104	Dec. 23, 1899
200	..	Sixth Avenue	2,000,000	Jan. 1, 1900	3½	..	.....	..	.....	*200	Mar. 10, 1899
..	..	Standard Gas	5,000,000	June 3, 1899	1	..	.....	..	.....	*147	Jan. 22, 1898
..	..	Standard Gas pf.	3,721,100	June 30, 1899	3	..	.....	..	.....	*144½	Jan. 24, 1898
..	..	Southern & Atlantic Tel.	500,625	Jan., 1900	2½	..	.....	..	.....	100	Feb. 17, 1898
..	..	Tenn. Coal & Iron pf.	1,000,000	July 15, 1893	1	*157	Jan. 6	*155	Jan. 5	*157	Jan. 6, 1900
..	..	Texas Central	2,040,400	.....	.....	..	.....	..	.....	10	July 13, 1897
..	..	Texas Central pf.	1,324,500	Jan. 16, 1899	4	..	.....	..	.....	*40¼	Feb. 5, 1897
20	25	Tol. & Ohio Central	6,500,000	Nov. 15, 1893	1	..	.....	..	.....	24	Nov. 20, 1899
40	50	Tol. & Ohio Central pf.	3,705,000	July 25, 1896	1¼	..	.....	..	.....	45	Dec. 2, 1899
..	..	Tol., St. L. & Kansas City pf.	5,805,000	.....	.....	..	.....	..	.....	5	Nov. 14, 1899
..	..	Union Ferry	3,000,000	Jan. 2, 1900	½	..	.....	..	.....	64	July 13, 1897
..	25	U. S. Flour Milling	3,000,000	.....	.....	..	.....	..	.....	*12	Nov. 21, 1899
..	35	U. S. Flour Milling pf.	5,000,000	.....	.....	..	.....	..	.....	12	Dec. 20, 1899
130	..	Utica & Black River	2,222,000	Sept. 1, 1899	3½	..	.....	..	.....	165	Oct. 20, 1897
187	200	Wagner Palace Car	19,730,500	Jan. 4, 1900	66 2-3c	185	Jan. 2	185	Jan. 2	185	Jan. 2, 1900
..	..	Warren Railroad	1,800,000	Jan., 1900	3½	..	.....	..	.....	*174	Nov. 11, 1898
123	127	Wells-Fargo Express	8,000,000	Jan. 15, 1900	3	*129	Jan. 9	*129	Jan. 9	*129	Jan. 9, 1900
..	..	West Chicago Street	13,189,000	Nov. 15, 1899	1½	..	.....	..	.....	120	Aug. 8, 1899
..	..	Westinghouse Elec. & Mfg.	8,813,066	.....	.....	..	.....	..	.....	*88	Sept. 23, 1898
..	..	Western Gas	4,000,000	July 20, 1899	3	..	.....	..	.....	*98	Mar. 15, 1899

*Sales of less than 100 shares. All stocks in this table par $100 except Beech Creek, Cleveland and Pittsburg, Detroit City Gas, Evansville and Terre Haute preferred, Harlem, Pittsburg, McKeesport and Youghiogheny, Pennsylvania Coal, Warren Railroad, Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, Kingston and Pembroke, and Pittsburg and Western preferred, the par of each of which is $50. New Central Coal is $20 par, American Coal $25 par, and Southern and Atlantic Telegraph $25 par.

FOREIGN TRADE FIGURES.

Following are the returns of foreign commerce at the Port of New York for the week ended Friday last, as compared with the corresponding week last year. In the case of the exports of general merchandise the returns are for the week ended Tuesday:

Imports of Dry Goods and General Merchandise.

Week ended Jan. 20, 1900	$10,046,618
Week ended Jan. 21, 1899	8,282,446
From Jan. 1, 1900	29,114,654
From Jan. 1, 1899	27,080,799

Exports of General Merchandise.

Week ended Jan. 16, 1900	$11,598,457
Week ended Jan. 17, 1899	12,727,697
From Jan. 1, 1900	34,687,260
From Jan. 1, 1899	36,246,360

Imports of Gold.

Week ended Jan. 20, 1900	1,000,000
Week ended Jan. 21, 1899	1,000,000
From Jan. 1, 1900	1,000,000
From Jan. 1, 1899	1,000,000

Exports of Gold.

Week ended Jan. 19, 1900	$1,979,845
Week ended Jan. 20, 1899	168,086
From Jan. 1, 1900	5,625,447
From Jan. 1, 1899	1,341,624

Net Exports of Gold.

Week ended Jan. 19, 1900	$1,050,297
From Jan. 1, 1900	4,884,252

Net Imports of Gold.

Week ended Jan. 20, 1899	$1,332,000
From Jan. 1, 1899	478,924

Imports of Silver.

Week ended Jan. 19, 1900	$72,921
Week ended Jan. 20, 1899	123,989
From Jan. 1, 1900	174,063
From Jan. 1, 1899	208,131

Exports of Silver.

Week ended Jan. 19, 1900	$478,077
Week ended Jan. 20, 1899	895,000
From Jan. 1, 1900	2,187,584
From Jan. 1, 1899	2,950,980

Net Exports of Silver.

Week ended Jan. 19, 1900	$405,156
Week ended Jan. 20, 1899	892,011
From Jan. 1, 1900	2,013,521
From Jan. 1, 1899	2,744,909

Total Imports of Specie.

Week ended Jan. 19, 1900	$102,402
Week ended Jan. 20, 1899	1,894,135
From Jan. 1, 1900	318,345
From Jan. 1, 1899	4,058,440

Total Exports of Specie.

Week ended Jan. 19, 1900	$1,858,919
Week ended Jan. 20, 1899	1,164,086
From Jan. 1, 1900	7,812,031
From Jan. 1, 1899	4,292,624

Total Net Exports of Specie.

Week ended Jan. 19, 1900	$1,453,763
From Jan. 1, 1900	4,897,766
From Jan. 1, 1899	2,397,716

Imports of Specie at the Port of New York for the week ended Jan. 20 were $102,402 against $1,894,135 last year, and for the year to date $318,345 against $4,058,440 last year.

Exports of Specie from the Port of New York for the week ended Jan. 19 were $1,858,919 against $1,164,086 last year, and for the year to date $7,812,031 against $4,292,624 last year.

MONEY AND EXCHANGE.

Money on call during the week loaned at 2@4½ per cent., closing on Saturday at 3 per cent.

Time money, 5 per cent. for sixty days to four months, and 5@5½ per cent. for longer periods. Commercial paper rates, 5 per cent. for sixty to ninety days' indorsements, 5¼@6 per cent. for choice single names, and 6¼@7¼ per cent. for others.

The Bank of England gained £1,178,547 bullion during the week, and the proportion of reserve to liabilities, which in the previous week was 39.47, became 42.56 per cent. The rate of discount was reduced from 5 to 4½ per cent. The Bank of France gained 14,750,000f. gold and lost 1,725,000f. silver.

Foreign exchange market firm. Posted rates were $4.85 for sixty days and $4.88 for demand. Actual rates were $4.83¾ for sixty days, $4.86¼@4.87 for demand, $4.87¾ for cable transfers, and $4.82¾@4.83¾ for commercial.

In Continental, Paris francs were quoted at 5.19⅞ less 1-16 @5.20 for long and 5.16¼ for short; reichsmarks at 94⅝ and 95 1-16; guilders at 40 1-16 and 40⅝.

New York exchange was quoted as follows: Chicago—30c premium. Boston—Par @5c premium. San Francisco—Eight, 15c premium; telegraphic, 17½c premium. New Orleans—Commercial, par; bank, $1 premium. Savannah—Buying, $1 premium per $1,000; selling, par. Charleston—Buying, par; selling, ⅛c premium. Cincinnati—Between banks, 25c premium; from country, 50c premium. St. Louis—25c premium.

JAN 1900

The Mercantile Trust Co.,

NO. 120 BROADWAY.

Capital and Surplus, $6,000,000

Interest allowed upon Deposits.

OFFICERS:

LOUIS FITZGERALD, President.
JOHN T. TERRY, HENRY C. DEMING, ALVIN W. KRECH, } Vice Presidents.
ERNEST R. ADEE, Secretary.
J. D. OSTRANDER, Assistant Secretary.
WM. C. POILLON, Assistant Treasurer.

DIRECTORS:

Louis Fitzgerald,	Chauncey M. Depew,
John Jacob Astor,	Clement A. Griscom,
Marcellus Hartley,	George J. Gould,
John T. Terry,	A. J. Cassatt,
Eugene Delano,	Thomas T. Eckert,
J. Roosevelt Roosevelt,	James McCreery,
Henry G. Marquand,	Rudolph Ellis,
C. C. Cuyler,	James H. Hyde,
George L. Rives,	Charles H. Godfrey,
John E. Searles,	John W. Hunter,
Edward D. Adams,	James Stokes,
J. Hampden Robb,	Sidney Dillon Ripley,
James W. Alexander,	Henry C. Deming,
William H. Blocum,	L. C. Weir,
George Coppell,	Henry B. Ely,
John J. McCook,	James J. Hill,
Oliver Ames.	Alvin W. Krech.

Henry C. Frick.

The Trust Co. of New York

60 WALL STREET.

CAPITAL, . . $1,000,000
SURPLUS, . . $1,000,000

Takes full charge of real and personal estates. Acts as Trustee, Executor, Administrator, Guardian, Committee, Assignee, Receiver. Fiscal and Transfer Agent, etc. Interest allowed on deposits.

WILLIS S. PAINE, President.
WARNER VAN NORDEN, 1st Vice-President.
OSCAR F. RICHARDSON, 2d Vice-President.
EDMUND C. LOCKWOOD, Secretary.

TRUSTEES.

George W. Quintard,	Warner Van Norden,
William A. Brewer, jr.,	Willis S. Paine,
Jonathan B. Currey,	Charles M. Swain,
James Talcott,	Smith M. Weed,
Charles E. Sprague,	Henry F. Shoemaker,
Clarence Whitman,	John E. Searles,
Thomas P. Fowler,	Edward V. Loew,
W. Rockhill Potts,	Henry C. Brewster,
Gen. James Jourdan,	Ernst Thalmann,
Richard L. Edwards,	Felix Campbell,
Daniel A. Heald,	Isaac E. Gates,

Colgate Hoyt.

Sutro Bros. & Co.,

BANKERS,
56 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Negotiate Security Issues of Railroad, Street Railway, Gas, Electric, and other Companies, and transact a General Banking Business.
Investment Securities.
Private wire connection to Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Atlantic City.
Members New York and Phila. Stock Exchanges.

H. F. Bachman & Co., Philadelphia.

CITY TRUST CO

OF NEW YORK,
36 WALL STREET.

OFFICERS:
JAS. ROSS CURRAN, President.
JOHN D. CRIMMINS, Vice-President.
GEORGE H. SHELDON, 2d Vice-Pres't.
ARTHUR TERRY, Secretary.
WALTER W. LEE, Asst. Secretary.
STATEMENT DECEMBER 30TH, 1899.

RESOURCES.

N. Y. City Bonds	$1,095,000 00
Other Bonds and Securities	264,505 00
Bonds and Mortgages	36,000 00
Loans on Collaterals	8,340,796 87
Bills Purchased	338,917 17
Cash in Vault and Banks	1,965,333 44
Overdrafts	30 63
Furniture and Fixtures	14,036 66
Interest, Commissions, etc., Receivable	78,531 33
	$13,123,721 05

LIABILITIES.

Capital		$1,000,000 00
Surplus		1,000,000 00
Undivided Profits		181,277 23
Deposits:
General	$9,647,818 86
In Trust	227,150 72
		9,874,969 58
Interest, Taxes, etc., Payable		67,474 24
		$12,123,721 05

Began Business March 1, 1899.

THE STATE TRUST CO.

100 BROADWAY.

Capital $1,000,000
Surplus & Undivided Profits..$1,250,000

WALTER S. JOHNSTON, President.
WILLIAM A. NASH, HENRY H. COOK, } Vice Presidents.
H. M. FRANCIS, Secretary & Treasurer.
H. B. BERRY, Trust Officer.
G. L. WILMERDING, Asst. Secretary.

TRUSTEES.

Edward H. Clark,	Forrest H. Parker,
Henry H. Cook,	George Foster Peabody,
J. B. Duke,	Elihu Root,
Joel B. Erhardt,	Thomas F. Ryan,
Joseph N. Hallock,	R. A. C. Smith,
William Jay,	H. H. Vreeland,
Walter S. Johnston,	Charles E. Warren,
Edwin A. McAlpin,	William A. Wheelock,
Anson G. McCook,	H. P. Whitney,
Andrew Mills,	William C. Whitney,
William A. Nash,	P. A. B. Widener.

The Corn Exchange Bank,

William and Beaver Sts., New York.
WILLIAM A. NASH, President.

Capital and Surplus . . $3,000,000.00
Deposits 16,000,000.00

BRANCHES:

Broadway Branch,	Astor Place Bank.
Broadway & Spring St.	Astor Place.
Hudson River Bank,	Queens County Bank.
72d St. & Columbus Ave.	Borough of Queens.

FOURTH STREET NATIONAL BANK OF PHILADELPHIA.

Capital . . $1,500,000
Surplus . . 1,500,000
Deposits . 25,000,000

Government and Municipal Bonds

BOUGHT AND SOLD.
Also First Mortgage Bonds of Established Railways.

APPRAISEMENTS MADE OR QUOTATIONS FURNISHED FOR THE PURCHASE, SALE OR EXCHANGE OF ABOVE SECURITIES.

LISTS ON APPLICATION.

N. W. Harris & Co., Bankers.

NEW YORK, CHICAGO, BOSTON.
31 Nassau St., (Bank of Commerce Bldg.,) N. Y.

Spencer Trask & Co.,

BANKERS,
27 & 29 PINE ST., NEW YORK,
Transact a general banking business; act as fiscal agents for corporations, and negotiate security issues of railroads and other companies.
Execute commission orders and deal in
INVESTMENT SECURITIES.
Members of New York Stock Exchange.
BRANCH OFFICE: 67 STATE ST., ALBANY

VERMILYE & CO.,

BANKERS.
NASSAU AND PINE STREETS, NEW YORK CITY.
13 CONGRESS STREET, BOSTON.
Dealers in U. S. Government Bonds and other Investment Securities.
Deposits Received and Interest Allowed on Balances Subject to draft at sight.

Tunstall & Co.,

Members of the New York Stock Exchange,
52 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Branch Office at Hoffman House.
Stocks and Bonds bought and sold for cash or carried on margin. Market Letter on Application.
Telephones No. 1492 and No. 830 Broad.

HURLBUTT, HATCH & CO.,

BANKERS.
Members New York Stock Exchange. 71 Broadway, N.Y. City.
Stocks and Bonds bought and sold for cash or on margin.
Interest allowed on deposits subject to check. Telephone No. 1289 Cortlandt.

BOODY, McLELLAN & CO.,

BANKERS.
MEMBERS OF THE NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.
INVESTMENT SECURITIES.
Cable Address, "Goskite." 57 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
ALLOW INTEREST ON DEPOSITS SUBJECT TO CHECK.

36 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK.

Fisk & Robinson

BANKERS
Investment Securities
HARVEY EDWARD FISK,
GEORGE H. ROBINSON.
Member New York Stock Exchange.

DOUGLAS & JONES,

Members New York Stock Exchange.
ESTABLISHED 1886.
24 Broad St., New York City.
STOCKS AND BONDS BOUGHT AND SOLD ON COMMISSION AT THE NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE AND CARRIED ON MARGIN.
Daily Market Letter on Application.
CORRESPONDENCE INVITED.

HAVEN & STOUT

Bankers and Brokers.
1 Nassau Street, Cor. Wall St.
Members of
N. Y. Stock Exchange, N. Y. Cotton Exchange,
N. Y. Produce Exchange, Chicago Board of Tmde.
Branch Offices:
302 Broadway, cor. Duane St., New York.
84 Broadway, cor. Berry St., Brooklyn.

A. M. Kidder & Co

BANKERS, 18 WALL ST., N. Y.
Dealers in Investment Securities.
Members of the New York Stock Exchange.

Jas. H. OLIPHANT & CO

Members N. Y. Stock Exchange.
20 Broad Street, New York.
Investment Securities.

HATCH & FOOTE,

BANKERS,
No. 3 Nassau and 18 Wall St., N.Y.
ESTABLISHED 1867.

Bank of Spain's Report.

MADRID, Jan. 21.—The Bank of Spain's report for last week showed the following: Gold in hand, no change; silver in hand, increase 1,434,000 pesetas; notes in circulation, increase 4,028,000 pesetas.

Dominick & Dominick,

100 BROADWAY,
Members of the N. Y. Stock Exchange,
Brokers in Stocks, Grain, Investment Securities.

Boston.	Louisville.	Cincinnati.
Curtis & Motley	Halsey & Halsey,	Branch Office,
63 State St.	225 Fifth St.	334 Walnut St.

PRIVATE WIRES.

A. A. HOUSMAN & CO.,

MEMBERS OF THE
NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE,
20 BROAD STREET,
Branch Office, No. 2 Astor Court,
NEW YORK.

JAMES P. GEDDES,

Unlisted Stocks and Bonds,
INVESTMENT SECURITIES.
MILLS BUILDING,
Telephone, 1875 Cortlandt. Broad Street, NEW YORK.

SEYMOUR, JOHNSON & CO.

Members N. Y. Stock Exchange,
EMPIRE BUILDING,
NEW YORK.
Direct private wires to all principal cities.
Telephone 4160-4164 CORTLANDT.

P. J. Goodhart & Co.,

Dealers in
Bank & Trust Co. Stocks.
Members N. Y. Stock Exchange.
38 WALL STREET.

Brunswick & Western R. R. Guar. 4s.
Silver Springs, Ocala & Gulf R. R. Guar. 4s.
Denver Gas & Electric Co. 5s & stock.
Syracuse Rap. Trans. Ry. 5s and stock.
Columbus Railway Consold. 5s.
Rochester R'y Consols. 2nds and stock.
SAMUEL H. BARROWS, 38 Broad St.,
Dealer in
Municipal, Railroad, Traction, and Gas Securities. Telephone, 2825 Broad.

George Barclay Moffat. Alexander M. White, Jr.

Moffat & White,

BANKERS,
Members N. Y. Stock Exchange,
NO. 1 NASSAU STREET.

TREASURY BALANCES.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Following is a statement of the condition of the United States Treasury and the receipts and expenditures of the Government on the 20th day of January, 1900:

CASH IN THE TREASURY.

Gold coin	$254,304,517.50
Gold bullion	146,386,761.86
		$400,691,279.36
Outstanding gold certificates	$200,803,619.00
Less gold certificates in Treasury	21,556,383.00
		179,247,236.00	*$221,444,043.36
Standard silver dollars		$408,092,489.00
Outstanding silver certificates	$402,829,504.00
Less silver certificates in Treasury	8,558,388.00
		394,262,116.00
			13,830,373.00
Silver bullion			92,350.37
Standard silver dollars of 1890	$7,839,140.00
Silver bullion of 1890 (cost)	80,225,140.00
		$88,064,280.00
Less outstanding Treasury notes		88,064,280.00
United States notes		$30,368,672.00
Outstanding currency certificates	$14,180,000.00
Less currency certificates in Treasury	510,000.00
		13,670,000.00
			16,698,672.00
Treasury notes of 1890	$1,867,488.00
National bank notes	6,031,808.54
Fractional silver coin	4,289,708.98
Fractional currency	62.50
Minor coin	453,292.12
Deposits in National banks	100,352,819.61
Bonds and interest paid	1,544,583.92	$114,539,673.46
Less National bank 5 per cent. fund	$8,907,916.12
Outstanding checks and drafts	4,522,497.95
Disbursing officers' balances	56,599,840.90
Post Office Department account	6,029,488.99
Miscellaneous items	3,626,993.65
		79,686,737.61
			34,852,935.85
Available cash balance, including gold reserve			$286,018,374.58

RECEIPTS.	This Day.	This Month.	This Fiscal Y'r.
Customs	$743,794.07	$14,225,786.33	$128,116,236.87
Internal revenue	729,067.33	15,204,021.01	167,505,248.76
Miscellaneous	24,621.96	1,960,191.45	20,561,990.01
Total receipts	$1,498,091.36	$31,390,000.79	$316,183,495.64
EXPENDITURES.
Civil and miscellaneous	230,000.00	7,810,000.00	61,069,456.04
War	30,000.00	5,847,000.00	35,629,432.38
Navy	90,000.00	4,155,000.00	32,163,610.29
Indians	.....	605,000.00	5,669,223.53
Pensions	400,000.00	9,250,000.00	81,180,576.78
Interest	300,000.00	700,000.00	26,511,261.01
Total expenditures	$1,050,000.00	$28,457,000.00	$292,223,560.03
Excess of receipts over expenditures	448,091.36	2,933,000.79	23,959,935.61
Receipts last year—
Customs	1,000,140.56	11,640,936.20	107,695,775.53
Internal revenue	963,790.40	13,204,400.49	151,598,740.15
Receipts from all sources last year	2,242,157.43	26,871,968.22	272,835,858.10
Expenditures last year	2,580,000.00	34,556,000.00	364,237,311.78

NATIONAL BANK FUND.

Deposits under act July 14, 1890	49,500.00	2,045,340.00	9,253,755.00
Redemptions under act July 14, 1890	118,780.00	1,188,152.50	7,914,711.00

REDEMPTION OF NOTES.	U. S. Notes. (Since 1879.)	Treasury Notes. (Since 1890.)	Total.
To date	$544,085,366.00	$102,971,161.00	$647,056,527.00
This fiscal year	8,630,750.00	3,461,469.00	12,092,219.00
This month	2,010,286.00	980,190.00	2,990,486.00
This day	15,482.00	.....	15,482.00

*Net gold and bullion, including $100,000,000 reserved for redemption of United States notes, Section 12, act July 12, 1882.

DAILY, ONE CENT. SUNDAY, THREE CENTS.

"All the News That's Fit to Print."

The New York Times.

THE WEATHER. Fair; fresh to brisk southwesterly winds.

COPYRIGHT, 1900, BY THE NEW YORK TIMES COMPANY.

VOL. XLIX...NO. 15,613. NEW YORK, TUESDAY, JANUARY 23, 1900.—FOURTEEN PAGES. ONE CENT In Greater New York; Elsewhere and Jersey City. TWO CENTS.

THE NEWS CONDENSED.

Stocks firm.

Cash wheat, No. 2 red, 74¾c; cash corn, No. 2 mixed, 40⅝c; cash cotton, 7⅞c.

LEGISLATURE.—Several bills were passed in the Senate. Mr. Minton of New York introduced a resolution providing that alien labor be barred from work on the projected rapid transit tunnel. Assemblyman Harburger's Raines law repeal resolution was tabled in committee. A bill providing for East River tunnels and bridges was introduced. The annual appropriation bill calls for $16,000,000. The Committee on the Decline of Commerce reported to the Governor.—Page 8.

CONGRESS.—In the Senate yesterday Mr. Pritchard of North Carolina spoke to a resolution protesting against the new Constitution of his State, which he charged was designed to disfranchise the negroes and poor whites. Mr. Turner of Washington spoke in opposition to the retention of the Philippines. More evidence was introduced in the alleged bribery case in Montana. The bill to create two additional Federal judicial districts in New York was passed. Roberts will be heard in his own defense in the House to-day. Mr. Rawlins's polygamy resolution was favorably reported to the Senate yesterday. Puerto Rico's claims were again presented to committees from both houses. —Page 5.

FOREIGN.—Advices from South Africa show that Gen. Warren is still pushing the Boers but making slow progress, as every step of his way is contested. The Boers are still bombarding Kimberley. The widow of Gen. Waulhope denies that her husband wrote a letter criticising Gen. Methuen. A report was in circulation yesterday that Lord Dundonald had entered Ladysmith with 1,000 men. A bill is to be introduced in the French Chamber of Deputies providing a maximum tariff on colonial products of foreign countries which do not give France the benefits of the most-favored-nation clause. The English court will go into mourning in consequence of the death of the Duke of Teck. Twelve Assumptionist fathers, accused of being involved in the Royalist and anti-Republican conspiracy were placed on trial in Paris yesterday. Jamaica has rejected the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain's scheme to divert the bulk of the colony's trade from America to Great Britain. The Swedish budget provides for forty-six new batteries of artillery in four years, and for other additions to the country's armament. The London Daily Mail says Denmark might be willing to part with her West Indian islands in return for privileges granted to her by the United States in the Orient.—Pages 3 and 4.

Page 1.

Prof. Henry A. Hazen, one of the chief weather forecasters in the Washington Bureau, received probably fatal injuries yesterday while on his bicycle by colliding with a negro.

It was reported in Albany yesterday that Insurance Superintendent Payn would give up his fight if the Governor named a successor satisfactory to Platt and the organization.

Page 2.

Dr. John T. Thelberg, a well-known blind physician of this city, who lives at the Waldorf-Astoria, is accused of assault by Arthur Magnet, a boy of fourteen, who declares that the physician had been introduced to him as his father. This Dr. Thelberg denies.

Page 3.

A petition in involuntary bankruptcy was filed yesterday against Harper & Brothers.

The proceedings yesterday in the Molineux trial included the taking of further expert medical testimony. The prosecution did not conclude its case.

Page 5.

Fire in the basement of a Madison Street building disclosed an illicit distillery. The owner and his confederates escaped.

Page 8.

Peter Chipriono killed one man and wounded two others at a christening at Peckville, Penn.

It is reported that the trustees of the Soldiers' Home at Bath have decided adversely to the continuance as Superintendent of Col. C. O. Shepard.

The Produce Exchange members yesterday adopted an amendment to the by-laws of the Exchange limiting the amount that can be paid out yearly from the gratuity fund as insurance, the result being regarded as a victory for the younger members of the Exchange.

Page 10.

R. L. Coleman has been elected President of the American Bicycle Company, succeeding A. G. Spalding, who resigned.

Page 11.

The public school teachers received checks yesterday for their December salaries.

The annual meeting of the Consolidated Gas Company yesterday was a stormy one. G. A. Lamb declared the election of Trustees illegal, and said he would carry the matter to the courts.

Page 14.

The Trunk Line Association yesterday gave a public hearing to shippers who desired to offer protests against the revised freight classification which went into effect the first of the year. The hearing was not concluded.

Amusements.—Page 7.
Arrivals at Hotels and Out-of-Town Buyers.—Page 2.
Business Troubles.—Page 13.
Court Calendars.—Page 9.
Insurance Notes.—Page 11.
Losses by Fire.—Page 2.
Legal Notes.—Page 8.
Markets.—Page 13.
Marine Intelligence and Foreign Mails.—Page 3.
Real Estate.—Page 12.
Society.—Page 7.
United Service.—Page 5.
Weather Report.—Page 2.
Yesterday's Fires.—Page 2.

EFFORTS TO REACH DYING MAN.

M. T. Cuff of Danbury Passed Through an Extraordinary Experience.

Special to The New York Times.

DANBURY, Conn., Jan. 22.—Alderman M. T. Cuff of this city arrived home this morning with the body of his brother, Attorney John F. Cuff, who died on Friday night at Suwanee Springs, Fla. Mr. Cuff went from Danbury last Wednesday in response to a telegram announcing his brother's critical condition.

The railroad connections in Florida were found bad, and Mr. Cuff was forced to make a detour of nearly two hundred miles in order to get to Suwanee Springs on Friday night. In this manner he arrived late at night in a small village across the Suwanee River from the hotel where his brother lay dying. He was told that there was a ferry across the river.

He tried in vain to arouse the ferryman, so he finally found a small boat tied to the river bank, and, with a stick for an oar, started to propel himself across. His shouts for the ferryman had been heard by his sister, who was staying in the hotel with her brother, and she directed him where to make a landing.

When Mr. Cuff reached the middle of the river the boat began to fill with water and to sink. Throwing his grip and umbrella as far as possible toward the bank, Mr. Cuff lightened the sinking craft somewhat, but could not prevent it floating rapidly down the river.

Finally he was obliged to jump from the boat into the water, luckily striking a shallow spot in the centre of the stream. His sister, who was the only one to see his plight, went for help, and Mr. Cuff was rescued. He arrived at the hotel just in time to hear the dying words of the brother whom he had traveled a thousand miles to see.

Spittoons for Cleveland Streets.

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 22.—Spittoons will be placed at distances of 200 feet along the streets of this city if an ordinance introduced in the Council to-night is approved. This novel plan to aid in keeping the city clean was suggested in all seriousness, and many believe that the scheme will be made a law.

Five Fast Trains a Day to Chicago via the Pennsylvania Railroad; all models of safety, speed, and comfort.—Adv.

THE CASTELLANES COME UNWELCOMED

Countess Weeps When She Finds No Familiar Face.

THE COUNT DENIES REPORTS

Denounces as Unjust and Scurrilous Rumors of Gambling and Debt—Explanation for the Goulds.

Count Boni de Castellane and his wife, the Countess, who was Miss Anna Gould, arrived here yesterday from France on the French Line steamship La Bretagne. The couple have not set foot on American soil since their marriage, five years ago. They have come back, they say, that the Countess may see her brothers and sister. The two children of the Count and Countess were left in Paris.

Speeding over the cable ahead of the returning couple came reports to the effect that the Count had played at cards and speculated on the Bourse disastrously; that he had exhausted the big marriage dot; that he was financially embarrassed, and that the couple were coming here to seek assistance from the brothers and sister of the bride of five years ago. These rumors and allegations printed in a Parisian journal since the Count and Countess left the French capital were shown to them by reporters soon after the vessel had passed in at Sandy Hook. They were the only messages received by the couple upon their return. The Count became furious over what he denounced as the unjust and scurrilous attacks made upon him, and on the way up the bay continued his denunciations.

NO YACHT TO MEET THEM.

As the steamer plowed through the waters of the bay the Countess, leaning over the rail, kept her eyes always on the land of her birth. It had been expected that a yacht, or at least a tug, bearing relatives and friends of the distinguished couple would meet the ship at Quarantine and take them off to the city ahead of the steamer. The Count and Countess were all ready for such a contingency when La Bretagne arrived at Quarantine. No craft, however, loomed out of the gray mist of early morning except the usual harbor tugs. After the vessel had left Quarantine and stretched away up the bay on the very last lap of the journey the Countess Castellane stationed herself by the rail and set her face toward the city that appeared dimly through the thick atmosphere. Her husband joined her and tugged at his mustache as if in anger.

THE COUNTESS SHEDS TEARS.

As the big vessel floated nearer to her dock the Countess Castellane spied out the little group of men and women gathered on the pier to greet returning relatives and friends. A woman waved a handkerchief. The Countess, from the steamer's deck, was about to reply when she saw that the greeting was not for her. A second time her face lit up and she was about to wave a greeting, and again she saw that it was a fellow-passenger who was being welcomed. Then she burst into a flood of tears.

When the steamer had been warped into her pier, the Count and Countess were among the first to descend the gangplank. They were inconspicuously dressed. The Count wore a dark derby hat, tan shoes, dark gloves, and a long blue overcoat lined with silver fox skin. The Countess wore a dark skirt, a Persian lamb jacket, and a boa and muff of marten. Her hat was an inconspicuous affair of dark cloth caught up at the side and trimmed with purple flowers. They were followed by a valet and maid. On the pier they looked about them as if expecting some one. They found only a curious crowd of strangers gathered about them. The Count stopped on his way down the long pier to write a cablegram to his father. While he was engaged his wife looked about her with visible signs of embarrassment.

NO WELCOME AT HOTEL.

A woman reporter approached the Countess and asked her about her children. Her face lit up with a grateful smile, and she chatted pleasantly. The Count then returned, having sent his cablegram. At the pier entrance a score of cabmen were soliciting fares. The Count hailed one of these conveyances and he and the Countess were driven to the Waldorf-Astoria. There was no greeting there—no telegrams, no letters, no visitors. No preparations had been made for their reception, no one at the hotel knew of their coming. They were assigned to a handsome suite of rooms.

When greeted by reporters off Quarantine, Count Castellane appeared taken completely by surprise by the articles which have appeared in the Figaro of Paris, alleging that he had been on the Bourse and had so depleted his own and his wife's finances by gambling that he was compelled to come to the members of the Gould family for aid. He, as stated, in unmeasured terms denounced M. de Rodays of the Figaro. "He is a cur, a thief, a liar," said the Count with threatening gestures. "I cannot find speech to say all I would wish. I cannot fight a duel with him, for he is far beneath my rank."

"Besides, he is a coward. He cannot fight. He dare not fight, but I shall reserve the right to seek him out and slap his face upon my return to Paris. He would not accept a challenge. He is a man whom one may call a liar, a scoundrel, a thief, anything you choose, and he would say nothing. The only way to deal with him is to take a good stout cane, as I shall do, and slap his face. I have prepared this telegram that I will send to him."

COUNT'S MESSAGE TO RODAYS.

The Count then showed the following message:

"De Rodays, Editor Figaro, Paris:

"There has been communicated to me on board the ship the calumny printed in the Parisian papers emanating from the Figaro. You will at once print a formal denial. I reserve the right on my return to tell you what I think of your disloyalty.

"CASTELLANE."

The Count then continued:

"Here is another message that I shall send to my good friend M. Meyer of Le Gaulois:"

The dispatch to M. Meyer read as follows:

"On my arrival here I am told of the calumnies printed in The Figaro. Have just sent Rodays this dispatch: [Here is included the dispatch.] I beg you, my dear friend, to distribute this dispatch to all the newspapers in Paris."

"The Figaro," continued the Count, with emphasis, "has lost whatever caste it once had. It is always on sale to the highest bidder. It has lost half its circulation and all its prestige during the Dreyfus trial. It is the synagogue of Paris. It is the organ of the Jews to-day because the Jews pay most. It will be the organ of the Christians to-morrow if they will pay enough. Nobody who knows the paper will believe what it says, but there are those who credit it because they do not know any better.

"The papers, particularly those on this side of the water, copy this, and all this makes it imperative that I should answer it. The editor knew that I would be on the water eight or nine days and would be helpless, so he published those lies

COUNT NEVER GAMBLED.

"I never gambled before or after my marriage. I never played on the Bourse, never in my life. I would not know how to gamble in any way. I do not know how they gamble. This is all a political scheme to ruin me. I do not see how they dare say those things about a member of Parliament.

"He's a deputy, you know," added the Countess, who listened intently to her husband's words.

"Yes," continued the Count, "and I have been working very hard. I have received a holiday of one month. My wife wanted to see her sister and her brothers."

The Countess nodded her head.

Asked if it were true, as reported, that he had come to America for the purpose of attempting to borrow money from George Gould, the Count shrugged his shoulders in disdain.

"No, it is not necessary to come here, even if I did wish to borrow money. There is the cable, letters, many other ways. We come only on a visit. I have always loved America. My wife has not been here in five years. She wanted to see her brothers."

"And my sister," added the Countess.

"Are you going to Lakewood?" was asked.

"Lakewood?" replied the Count with a shrug. "I may not go to Lakewood. We shall go to the Waldorf-Astoria. And my wife's brothers and sister—I do not know where we shall see them."

THE ANTI-LOUBET AFFAIR.

When asked concerning the report that he and the Countess had led the Royalist demonstration against President Loubet at the Auteuil race track last Spring, the Count became violent again.

"There is absolutely no truth in it," he cried. "My wife and I never led the Royalists, did we Anna?" appealing to the Countess.

"No, never," she replied. "We did not move from our seats on that occasion."

"I do not think the present conditions in France warrant the rise of the Royalist party. Déroulède, however, is the most popular man in France to-day. I would not like to see a Royalist attempt now. What we want at present is a sound, honest, clean republic. Loubet? Oh, he's an honest, well-meaning man."

Reverting to the reports alleging extravagance on his part, the Count said:

"We building a palace? Pah! We are building a house to suit our own ideas of life. It will not cost as much money as many private houses in America. The talk that I squandered a fortune on it is stupid. My yachts are at Havre. They have not been pawned and they never will be. I have never asked any one to lend me a cent on them or anything else."

The Count was questioned regarding a rumor that he and the Countess had not lived happily together. He turned half round and called, excitedly:

"Anna!"

The Countess appeared from a side room, whither she had gone a moment before, with a weary look in her eyes. She smiled, however, as she approached.

"Is it true," cried the Count excitedly, "that we have lived unhappily, and that you left me, and I followed you from city to city? Is it true?"

THE COUNTESS'S DENIAL.

"Why, no," was the only reply of the Countess.

"You see," said the Count, proudly, "it is thus with us always. We have no disagreements. It is absurd, these stories."

Concerning the family affairs of the Count and the reports of his having lost heavily at gambling, M. Taigny, the Secretary of the French Legation at Washington, who was on board La Bretagne, corroborated all that the Count said:

Before she left the pier in the morning the Countess, in a short interview, expressed her pleasure at returning to America.

"I am glad to get back," she said, "but I like France and the French people. They are amiable and kind and they love Americans. My only regret is that we were obliged to leave our children behind us. They are two and three years old, respectively, and they look like the Count. They have dark eyes. We will remain in America about three weeks.

The Count was in a hurry, and the pair drove to the hotel, arriving at 9 o'clock. At 11 o'clock Miss Helen Gould arrived at the hotel. She attended the Bailey concert given in the large ballroom, and the Count and Countess Castellane occupied her box with her. Miss Gould drove home alone immediately after the concert. No other member of the Gould family called during the afternoon. At 6:30 o'clock the Castellanes drove to Miss Helen Gould's residence, on Fifth Avenue, and took dinner.

IN MR. GOULD'S OPERA BOX.

After dinner the Count and Countess de Castellane went to the opera with Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould, who had come in to town on the 2:12 P. M. train from Lakewood, N. J., and had gone to Miss Gould's house. This was the Goulds' night to occupy Box 12, which George J. Gould sublets from Henry Clews. The opera was Meyerbeer's "Le Prophète." Besides the Castellanes, the Goulds had with them in the box Mr. and Mrs. Sydney J. Smith. Mr. Smith appeared in the amateur theatricals recently given by the Gouids at their home, Georgian Court, Lakewood, N. J.

Mrs. Gould was attired in blue panne and wore a diamond collar and magnificent diamond headdress. The Countess wore cream-colored satin and diamond necklace and a tiara of diamonds in her hair. Mrs. Smith wore pale-blue silk. The party got in after the first act, and left the Metropolitan Opera House after the fourth act, the Castellanes going to the Waldorf-Astoria, and the Goulds to their town house on Fifth Avenue.

While at the opera the Count took occasion to go from box to box visiting his friends in the customary way, and was everywhere pleasantly received. There were many men visitors to Box 12 in the course of the evening, a good proportion of them young bachelors. Craig W. Wadsworth and Mr. E. Randolph were among those who came.

A friend of the Gould family who is also acquainted with Count Castellane, said that Mr. Gould's failure to meet the Castellanes at the pier was not at all surprising. "Would you expect," said he, "that Mr. and Mrs. George Gould would get up early in the morning to come in sixty-five miles from Lakewood on the chance of a steamer's getting in in the morning? The idea is absurd. It is not customary for people in society, anyway, to go to the piers to meet their friends. They send their servants and carriages, but do not go and make a scene in public. There was no reason for taking any trouble when the traveling arrangements are so good between the pier and the Waldorf-Astoria."

CASTELLANE TO SUE RODAYS.

Will Demand 100,000 Francs Damages for Alleged Slander—Figaro Declares His Threats a Bluff.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—Count Boni de Castellane has sent a second cablegram to M. De Rodays. It says:

"I have just learned of the infamous slander directed against me by you at the instigation of the Dreyfusards. My father has already denied it, and has expressed his contempt, to which I join my own. I shall have recourse to the law courts and shall sue you for 100,000 francs damages, of which the poor of Paris will get the benefit."

The Figaro publishes Count Boni de Castellane's cablegrams and says:

"We disdain his insults, which do not harm us. We shall be delighted to meet him in the law courts, on condition that the trial be a serious one, and that nothing be kept back which would throw the fullest light on the matter. But, owing to the professional secrecy of stock brokers, there is only one means of clearly establishing the truth, and this means lies in the hands of de Castellane.

"Let him request the Minister of Finance to send an Inspector to inquire of the stock brokers—the Minister of Finance can alone do this at de Castellane's request—and then we shall know positively if de Castellane has been slandered and if he never speculated on the Bourse.

"This is the only course open to de Castellane. Everything else in his cablegrams of threats is what the Americans call a 'bluff.'"

SCHOONER ABANDONED AT SEA.

NASSAU, N. P., Jan. 22.—The Ward Liner Saratoga, Capt. Johnson, from New York Jan. 18, which arrived here to-day, had on board the Captain and five men of the American schooner B. W. Morse, which sailed from Jacksonville Jan. 15 for St. John, P. R., and which had been abandoned at sea northeast of Abaco. Two of the crew of the schooner were drowned.

The schooner B. W. Morse, Capt. Newberry, hailed from Bath, Me., and was owned by Morse & Co. She was of 559 tons burden, and was built in 1880.

The Perfection of Railroad Travel is found on the Pennsylvania Limited. Others may imitate; none can equal.—Adv.

PROF. HAZEN BADLY INJURED.

Weather Forecaster Receives What May Be Fatal Hurts in a Bicycle Collision in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Henry A. Hazen, Professor of Meteorology and one of the chief forecasters of weather conditions at the Weather Bureau in this city, was probably fatally injured to-night by being thrown from his bicycle.

The accident occurred while the Professor was on his way to the bureau. At the corner of Sixteenth and M Streets, he ran into a colored man, the force of the contact throwing him from the wheel and pitching him forward on his head. The blow was a terrific one, the skull being cracked from over the nose to the back of the head, and causing also a hemorrhage of the brain.

Physicians afterward trephined the skull and removed a clot of blood from the right side. They say his injury is one of the most severe on record, and the chances for recovery are very remote.

Prof. Hazen was for some time an assistant to Prof. Loomis of Yale University, but since 1881 has been identified with the Government Weather Service at Washington. He was highly regarded as an efficient forecaster. He was fifty-five years of age and was born in India of missionary parents.

GREAT AUSTRIAN MINE STRIKE.

70,000 Men Have Already Quit Work—Industries May Be Paralyzed.

VIENNA, Jan. 23.—Thirty thousand more Austrian miners have gone on strike, their employers having refused the demands for higher wages and an eight-hour day. The total number now out is 70,000, and before the end of the week it is expected that 20,000 others will have joined the strike.

The employers threaten dismissal and eviction within three days. Police precautions have been taken to prevent violence.

The coal famine threatens to check every branch of Austrian industry.

HAWAII WOULD BE A TERRITORY

Citizens of the Islands Object to Being Colonists.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Hawaii is bending all her efforts just now to avoid receiving the treatment which she expects is going to be awarded to Cuba, Puerto Rico, Guam, and the Philippines. Hawaii wants to be a Territory, and is making a mighty effort to avoid being treated as a "colony." One of the Hawaiians in town is A. S. Hartwell, who is here as the representative of the dependency. Some time ago he requested that a seat in the Republican National Convention be given to Hawaii, on the same terms as Alaska. This was a part of the campaign for Hawaii's admission as a Territory. The National Committee referred him to the convention itself.

The demand for Hawaii's admission as a Territory has been voiced by every resident of the islands who has come to this city, no matter what his political beliefs. Prince David Kawananakoa advocated it as earnestly as any of the original republicans of Honolulu. Most of them believe that they will win, but Mr. Hartwell does not seem very sanguine.

BIG NEWSPAPER READING ROOM.

That of the Library of Congress, Now Open, Largest in the World.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The reading room for newspapers and periodicals in the library of Congress was opened to the public to-day, under the direction of Superintendent A. B. Slawson. It is said to be the largest newspaper reading room in the world. Five hundred American daily newspapers and 100 foreign papers, mostly dailies, have been subscribed for. The files are being arranged alphabetically by States and countries for the benefit of visitors from different parts of the United States and from other countries, so that they can find their home papers without difficulty. Heretofore the newspapers were not open to the public and had to be called for and sent out like books.

Every State in the Union is represented, with all the colonial possessions. The Manila Freedom has not yet arrived, but The Hawaiian Gazette is on file, with newspapers from Cuba and Porto Rico. South and Central America are liberally represented because of the frequent demands of Congressmen for newspapers from those sections. Trade papers are included in the South American assortment.

The papers are kept on a newspaper file invented expressly for the library by Bernard R. Green, Superintendent of the building, by means of which the latest issue is slipped in and back numbers slipped out by releasing a metal band, and without tearing or creasing the papers. The weekly and monthly periodicals number about 2,000.

SENATE TRADITIONS VIOLATED.

Mr. Beveridge, Though a New Man, Is Allowed to Preside.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Considerable interest has been aroused by the appearance of Senator Beveridge as presiding officer during a considerable part of the Senate debate on the Financial bill. It is extraordinary to so honor a brand-new Senator.

Since Mr. Beveridge appeared in the Senate several time-honored traditions about the duties and privileges of new Senators have been severely dealt with, but this is the direst blow of all. No earthquake has resulted from this violation of precedent, and the Indiana man has proved an efficient President pro tem.

ANOTHER GIFT FOR HARVARD.

James Stillman Adds $50,000 to His Previous Donation.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 22.—Announcement was made to-day that the gift of $50,000 to Harvard University for the purpose of establishing a hospital and infirmary for sick students, by James Stillman of New York City, has been doubled by him. It was found, because of the advance in the price of real estate and of building materials, that the original sum was insufficient to provide such a building as the donor intended to give, and on learning of the conditions Mr. Stillman immediately made his second gift.

Ground will be broken in the early Spring for the new hospital, which is to be called "Stillman Hall."

The sum of $25,000 annually has been placed at the disposal of the management of the hospital for its maintenance.

Bids for Lower Warrior River Locks.

Special to The New York Times.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 22.—Bids for the construction of Locks 4, 5, and 6 on the lower Warrior River were opened to-day at the Engineer's office at Mobile, and in Tuscaloosa. Five bids were submitted. The lowest was that of Christie, Lowe & Nepworth of Chicago, which was $417,230. To this firm the contract will probably be awarded after the bid has been acted upon by the War Department at Washington. The locks are situated about fifteen miles below Tuscaloosa, and are three of the six necessary to open the river between Tuscaloosa and Demopolis. The work is to be completed by Dec. 31, 1901.

Aged Couple Both Die Within a Week.

Special to The New York Times.

TALLMANS, N. Y., Jan. 22.—Mrs. John T. Young, aged eighty-three years, who died last Tuesday from pneumonia, was buried on Saturday. Her husband, aged eighty-four years, who was suffering from the same disease, while the funeral was being held, died yesterday. His funeral will take place on Wednesday.

PAYN WILL SURRENDER?

If the Governor Names a Man Satisfactory to Platt.

SUCH IS CURRENT REPORT

The Superintendent's Friends Assert He Is Confident and in the Fight to Stay.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 22.—A new report regarding the Payn situation is in circulation here to-night, and while everybody professes to know nothing definite about it, it is asserted on all sides that "it sounds probable."

This report is to the effect that an understanding exists between Senator T. C. Platt, the Republican State leader, and the Superintendent of Insurance to the effect that when Gov. Roosevelt agrees to nominate a man for Mr. Payn's place who is satisfactory to Senator Platt and the organization Mr. Payn will withdraw from the contest and agree to the confirmation of the nominee.

Mr. Payn's friends indignantly deny that there is the slightest foundation for this report and say that there never has been a time when the Insurance Superintendent was so confident of retaining his place and preventing the confirmation of any nomination other than his own which might be sent to the Senate. They say that Mr. Payn is in the fight to stay and will not retire under the existing circumstances. They add that Mr. Payn has been the man on whom the fight was forced by the Governor and his friends and that Mr. Payn will exert all his influence to defeat his enemies.

Despite these denials, the report is being repeated among the members, although no one can be found to say who is responsible for it.

Gov. Roosevelt this evening refused to say anything about the Payn matter, and refused to say when he would send a nomination to the Senate. It is believed here that he may defer action until next Monday, although no one knows what the Chief Executive intends to do, as he apparently has taken nobody into his confidence.

One of the conjectures to-night is that Chairman Odell of the Republican State Committee, the personal representative of Senator Platt, will come to Albany to-morrow or Wednesday and give the Governor the name of the man selected by the organization.

None of the many reports can be confirmed, and those who have had long experience in watching the politics in this State agree that the present situation is one which offers all sorts of possibilities, and one which is causing the Republican leaders more anxiety than anything which has happened since the famous struggle between the "Stalwarts" and the "Half-breeds," which split the party and turned New York over to the Democrats.

A LIBRARY FOR EAST ORANGE.

The City Council Unanimously Accepts Mr. Carnegie's Offer.

Special to The New York Times.

BRICK CHURCH, N. J., Jan. 22.—By a unanimous vote the East Orange City Council to-night accepted the offer of Andrew Carnegie to give the city $50,000 for the erection of a public library.

Dr. J. M. W. Kitchen was the only person among the hundred or more representative citizens in the meeting room who opposed the immediate acceptance of the offer. Dr. Kitchen said he did not believe a large library was needed in East Orange and that the condition imposed by Mr. Carnegie, that the city should pledge $5,000 a year for library maintenance, should be referred to an election before it was adopted. He also asked the Council to request Mr. Carnegie to modify the conditions of the gift.

Edward R. Crippen, President of the Council, made a bitter attack upon Dr. Kitchen from the chair, declaring that the leading physician spent most of his time maligning and defaming his own city, and that he was in no sense a public spirited man. Every public spirited man in the community, he said, was anxious to see the offer accepted, and Dr. Kitchen was the only one who had quibbled over the three-fifths of a mill tax which the maintenance would entail.

After accepting the offer and adopting resolutions pledging the city to the maintenance of the library the Council approved the appointment by Mayor Brunn of the following Library Trustees: Judge J. Franklin Fort, Alexander King, David S. Walton, Edward O. Stanley, Charles A. Sterling, Harry T. Ambrose, John C. Lyons, Frederick M. Shepard, and Robert W. Hawkesworth.

Library for Leavenworth, Kan.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Jan. 22.—In a letter to A. J. Tullock, member of the Public Library Board, received to-day, Andrew Carnegie offers to give $25,000 to the Leavenworth Public Library on condition that the city furnishes a site for the building and agrees to pay $3,000 to $5,000 a year for its maintenance.

CHICAGOAN ADMITS HIS GUILT.

Publisher of "Our Saviour in Art" Confesses to Being a Fraud.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—A. P. T. Elder, formerly a publisher in Chicago, pleaded guilty in the United States District Court to-day to having used the mails to defraud. Elder was publisher of a work known as "Our Saviour in Art," and corresponded with people in all parts of the country, offering them flattering inducements to act as general managers in the sale of the books. He is said to have pocketed all the money sent him for salesmen's outfits. Sentence was deferred until Feb. 5.

S. T. DUTTON COMING HERE.

To be Professor of School Administration at Teachers' College.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—It was given out in Brookline this morning that Samuel T. Dutton, Superintendent of Schools, and one of the best known men in educational circles of New England, was to resign his position, to take effect next Autumn. The School Committee will act on the matter at the next meeting of the board, which will be held on the first Monday in February.

Mr. Dutton leaves his present office to become Professor of School Administration at Teachers College, Columbia University, New York City. He will probably assume his new duties some time next September.

Norwalk Pastor Raises Money.

Special to The New York Times.

NORWALK, Conn., Jan. 22.—Seizing the opening of the handsome new Trinity Church as a rare opportunity, the Rev. F. W. Norris converted the morning service yesterday into a money-raising bee, which realized $2,067.75. This amount clears the church from debt. The church will be consecrated next Sunday.

Guests of Senator Depew.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—A distinguished party made an excursion to this city on Saturday night to dine with Senator Depew. They were fellow-members of the Corsair Club, who came over in a special car, and returned to New York yesterday. The party included William C. Whitney, J. Pierpont Morgan, Judge Howland, Lewis Cass Ledyard, Frank K. Sturgis, William Rockefeller, Charles Lanier, George S. Bowdoin, John K. Cowen, and Seth B. French.

THE DANISH WEST INDIES.

Daily Mail Says Denmark Would Have Equivalent for Them in American Concessions to Her in the East.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—The Copenhagen correspondent of The Daily Mail says:

"Negotiations for the sale of the Danish West Indies to the United States are likely to undergo a new development. The United States Government intends to acquire a sphere of influence in China. In that case Denmark, for the benefit of her newly founded commercial connections in East Asia, would through American concessions obtain a valuable equivalent for her western colonies."

WESTERN ROADS DISAGREE.

Canadian Pacific Balks on Abolition of Commissions—Concessions Asked Will Not Be Granted.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—Prospects for the abolition of all ticket commissions, that the officers of the Western roads are now working so hard for, are not so bright as they were. It appears that the roads in the commission agreement reckoned largely without the Canadian Pacific Company. This line now comes forward and demands as a condition of its signature to a non-commission agreement the discontinuance of the twenty-five-dollar colonist rate that has been and is still being quoted by the Great Northern and Northern Pacific Roads to North Pacific Coast points, and a larger percentage of the immigrant business as allotted by the pool of the Western roads to New York.

Officers of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific say they will not withdraw the low colonist rate.

The General Passenger Agents of the railways included in the Western Passenger Association met to-day to take action upon the proposed discontinuance of the payment of commissions.

The Western Passenger Agent of one of the trunk lines between New York and Chicago said to-day that most of the railway companies would probably raise ticket agents' salaries. That could be easily done out of the savings made by the non-payment of commissions to agents of other lines, he said.

An official of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern said that while the abolition of commissions might in the end lead to a consolidation of the ticket offices in the large cities, such action would not be taken immediately and perhaps not for a long time.

WESTERN POOL IS DOUBTFUL.

Chicago-St. Paul Traffic Agreement May Fall Through.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—It is doubtful whether the officers of the roads operating in the Chicago-St. Paul territory will be able to agree on a plan for pooling the passenger business between the two places. The details of the proposed pool have all been worked out, but officers of one or two of the lines say they will go into no combination that does not give them the percentage of the total traffic to which in their opinion their roads are entitled.

The scheme is to award each road a certain percentage of the total passenger business. If any member of the pool is found to be short in its allotted percentage of the total business special parties will be turned over until it has caught up in the pool. If there is not enough, cash will be turned over to the losing road.

ZOLA ON HIS FATHER'S CASE.

Says Documents Containing Francois Zola's Defense Are Gone.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—Emile Zola gives in the Aurore this morning the first instalment of the results of his inquiry into the charges made by the Petit Journal, in May and July, 1898, against his father, François Zola.

He declares that he applied successively to Gen. Billot, M. Cavaignac, and Gen. Zurlinden, Ministers of War, for permission to allow him to see the military dossier dealing with his father's case, but he was refused by each. Finally the present Cabinet authorized Gen. de Galliffet to communicate the dossier to him.

M. Zola, however, ascertained that the dossier had been communicated to the notorious Col. Henry in March, 1898, and he insinuates that it was tampered with, because now, while he has found one of two letters containing the accusations against his father which the Petit Journal published, the first letter and the eight documents referred to in the second letter are missing.

M. Zola says that both he and Maître Labori, who has examined the dossier, consider it singular that none of the documents giving François Zola's explanations and defense now remain. A choice seems to have been made, he asserts, so that the dossier consists purely of the documents containing the accusation.

MACHINE DISPLACES LABORERS.

Dock Shovelers Must Make Room for an Automatic Unloader.

Special to The New York Times.

ASHTABULA, Ohio, Jan. 22.—The announcement here to-day that orders have been placed for two more automatic iron ore unloaders to be built at once for use on the Carnegie docks at Conneaut carries with it great importance. For months tests have been in progress on the first and only automatic ore unloader in the world. At first it was believed by many to be a failure, but in its improved form it is meeting every anticipation.

As gigantic expense is involved in their construction, the placing of two additional orders is taken to mean that it has been perfected and will soon be adopted at every ore-receiving port on the Great Lakes. This will directly affect thousands of ore shovelers.

The great scoop, which is a part of the massive four-hundred ton machine, dips up ten tons of ore at a time. One machine working ten hours a day can displace a hundred men with satisfactory results. The shovelers regard it with fear, apparently realizing the fate of unskilled labor on lake docks.

DIVER LOOKS FOR BOY'S BODY.

Willie Campbell Breaks Through Ice in the Potatuck River.

Special to The New York Times.

DANBURY, Conn., Jan. 22.—A submarine diver is searching the bed of the Potatuck River, which joins the Housatonic at Sandy Hook, for the body of Willie, the eight years old son of ex-Representative Patrick Campbell of that village. The boy was running on the treacherous ice of the river yesterday afternoon while a group of less venturesome comrades watched him from the bank. Suddenly the ice gave way and the boy disappeared.

A party of fifty men was made up and a search of the riverbed was instituted. The ice was broken for a long distance and the river dredged all day and all night, but to no purpose. This morning the diver was brought from Bridgeport. Although nearly a mile of the river has been searched by the diver, no trace of the drowned boy has been found.

The Canadian Grain Route.

Special to The New York Times.

TORONTO, Jan. 22.—J. Israel Tarte, the Dominion Minister of Public Works, announced to-day that in further pursuance of the policy of securing for the Canadian lakes and St. Lawrence route grain traffic from the West and Northwest, several million dollars would be placed in the estimates at the coming session of Parliament. One of the chief works to be authorized is the deepening of the canals to eighteen feet, and the putting in of locks to enable large vessels to go up to North Bay.

A Beautiful Souvenir Mug Will Be presented to our bottled beer customers on record February 1st. THE OTTO HUBER BREWERY, Broadway and 42d St. Telephone: 2902-38th Str. —Adv.

PROTEST TO KELLER OVER BRYAN DINNER

Gold Men Fear It May Seem a Democratic Club Indorsement.

HIS LETTER TO PERRY BELMONT

Quoted by Robert B. Roosevelt, John Fox and John F. Doyle.

Mr. Keller Says His Act Is that of an Individual, and Will Dine the Westerner if It Drives Away Every Member.

William Jennings Bryan arrived in this city yesterday and immediately went to the Hoffman House, which will be his headquarters during his stay here. The coming of Mr. Bryan was the principal topic of conversation among Democrats of all shades of opinion, and the interest taken in his arrival was demonstrated by the throngs which visited the Hoffman House during the day.

Interest in Mr. Bryan's visit was heightened last night when it became known that the dinner in his honor which is to be given at the Democratic Club to-night by John W. Keller, the President of the Club, had aroused a considerable amount of opposition among members of the club. These members feel that, despite Mr. Keller's assurance that he is acting as host in his individual capacity, he cannot sufficiently divorce his personality from his official position in the club, and that any courtesy extended by him to Mr. Bryan will be construed as the club's indorsement of Mr. Bryan's candidacy. For several days there have been rumors of impending trouble, and last night the following letter, signed by ex-Senator John Fox, one of the Governors of the club; Robert B. Roosevelt, formerly United States Minister to the Netherlands, and John F. Doyle, a well-known ever, that we are Democrats and are interested in the success of the Democratic Party in the city, in the State, and in the Nation.

"This being true, we sincerely but respectfully urge upon you, occupying as you do the position of President of the club, not to do anything which would tend to forestall the action of the next Democratic National Convention.

"As individuals we insist upon the right to express our opinions in regard to the future policy of our party, and the selection of its nominees. We believe it unwise to permit the opinion to go broadcast throughout the land that the Democratic Club of this city or the Democratic Party of this State, so far in advance of the convention, are irrevocably committed to the indorsement of the principles of the last National platform, or of the views of the last Presidential nominee.

"We are painfully aware of the fact that in 1896 we lost the State of New York by 268,469 and the city by more than 20,000. It is our desire, if possible, to prevent a repetition of another such Democratic political disappointment.

"In conclusion, let us again repeat that we take this course in good feeling and to prevent, if possible, a misconstruction of your individual act as being the act of the Democratic Club."

During the campaign of 1896 the club adopted resolutions favoring the gold standard and took a strong position in opposition to the candidacy of Mr. Bryan. At that time Senator Fox was the President of the club. He was also prominent as a gold Democrat. Mr. Roosevelt is also known as a gold Democrat, and so is Mr. Doyle.

THE LETTER DISCUSSED.

Senator Fox last night said in explaining the letter: "My reason for signing such a letter is simply for the purpose of calling to Mr. Keller's attention the impropriety of his giving a dinner at the clubhouse, during his Presidency, in honor of a candidate for President unless he makes it manifestly plain to the whole country that it is an entirely personal matter—personal as refers to himself and personal as refers to Mr. Bryan.

"We cannot afford to have the people of the United States point to this affair and say that it is an official endorsement by this club of the candidacy of a man who was repudiated by it four years ago. Mr. Keller, as a member of the club, has the right to invite any one he chooses to dine with him, but in a case like this every safeguard should be thrown about such an affair to prevent misconstruction of his motives."

Robert B. Roosevelt, when seen at his residence, said: "When Mr. Keller sent his invitation to Mr. Bryan he must have forgotten the correspondence which passed between Mr. Bryan and Perry Belmont, personally do not consider Mr. Bryan a good Democrat. I have watched him closely, and his attitude on every public question has been wrong.

"Mr. Bryan and his gang, in their attacks upon the United States Supreme Court, have disgusted every old-time Democrat. His attitude toward the Supreme Court is very much like that of the Whigs before the civil war."

Mr. Keller said: "I did not receive a copy of the letter until late to-night, when one was handed to me by a reporter. I am surprised that the matter could have been so misunderstood. I only exercised my right as a member of the club to entertain a guest in my personal capacity. When I sent the invitation to Mr. Bryan it was so understood. There was no quarrel in Mr. Bryan refusing an invitation to the Jefferson dinner and accepting a personal invitation to dine with me. The former was a public, political affair and the latter private and personal.

"My action does not in any way commit the club to an indorsement of Mr. Bryan's candidacy or an acceptance of the Chicago platform. It has no political significance. I sincerely regret that these gentlemen should have seen fit to make public this correspondence before it was shown to me."

In a speech at a private dinner to Mr. Bryan during the evening he declared he would have Mr. Bryan at the Democratic Club to-night as his guest if it drove away every member from the club.

Mr. Keller will have as his guests, besides Mr. Bryan, John F. Carroll, Corporation Counsel John Whalen, Senator Thomas F. Grady, William L. Brown, A. H. Lewis, ex-Gov. Hogg of Texas, Norman E. Mack, and Justice James A. O'Gorman.

HOW MR. BRYAN SPENT THE DAY

Declares the Free Silver Question Is Still a Public Issue—Has Many Callers.

Mr. Bryan reached the city shortly after 8 o'clock in the morning, having arrived in Jersey City an hour and a quarter earlier on a train of the Pennsylvania Railroad. James S. Oliver, Sergeant at Arms of the Democratic National Committee, met Mr. Bryan in Jersey City and escorted him to the Hoffman House, where he was assigned to Suite No. 231, on the Twenty-fifth Street side of the house.

Immediately after reaching his room Mr. Bryan sent word of his arrival to Dr. John H. Girdner, one of his personal friends, and to ex-Gov. James S. Hogg of Texas, who is a guest of the Hoffman House. Within a few minutes both of these men called, and a little later they, with Mr. Bryan and Mr. Oliver, went to the café on the Twenty-fourth Street side of the house, where they breakfasted. During the meal Norman E. Mack of Buffalo came in to the room and took a seat at Mr. Bryan's table.

Mr. Bryan had hardly reached his apartments, after his breakfast, before his admirers began to arrive, and from that time on the clerks in the hotel offices were busily engaged in sending up cards. The first person to see Mr. Bryan was Elliot Danforth, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the State Democratic Committee. Mr. Danforth remained closeted with Mr. Bryan for a long time, and when he left he declared that nothing was said which could possibly interest the public. Congressman J. S. Rhea of the Third Kentucky District was another early caller, and Gov. Hogg frequently entered the inner room where Mr. Bryan met his friends. In the meantime, the outer room was crowded, and as Mr. Bryan came to the door to dismiss his callers, those who sat or stood in the outer chamber were presented to him by Mr. Oliver.

John T. Dunn of Elizabeth, N. J., who formerly represented the Third District of that State in Congress, and whose seat in that body adjoined Mr. Bryan's, entered the reception room about 11 o'clock. At the time Mr. Bryan was entertaining John W. Keller, and Mr. Dunn, after warning the reporters who were present that he was "traveling incog," took a seat and awaited his turn to see Mr. Bryan.

Mr. Dunn announced that, although he was not accredited, he had a proposition to make to Mr. Bryan, and he expressed the hope that his visit would not prove unavailing. Finally he was admitted to Mr. Bryan's presence and after a few moments, both men appeared at the door, and Mr. Dunn bade Mr. Bryan a hearty farewell and started to leave the hotel. He reconsidered his decision, however, and returned and resumed his seat.

MR. DUNN AS "HOUSEKEEPER."

Mr. Bryan came out of the inner room shortly after noon on his way to luncheon and seeing Mr. Dunn, he laughingly requested him to stay "and keep house." This duty Mr. Dunn assumed, and to such persons as called while Mr. Bryan was away, he said that Mr. Bryan was not in. As "housekeeper" he would like to have them wait. Mr. Bryan's return released Mr. Dunn from his duties, and again Mr. Dunn shook hands warmly and departed, only to return a while later. This time, however, he found that Mr. Bryan was resting, and after a time the ex-Congressman left promising, however, to come again to-day.

Mr. Bryan took luncheon in one of the private dining rooms with George Fred Williams of Massachusetts, John W. Cox, Dr. Girdner, Norman E. Mack, and Gov. Hogg. His return to his apartments was a signal for the beginning of another stream of visitors, which was not stayed until after 6 o'clock, when Mr. Bryan left the hotel to attend a dinner given in his honor. Among those who called in the afternoon were Coroner Antonio Zucca and two other members of the Greater New York Italian-American Democratic Union. Coroner Zucca told Mr. Bryan that the organization had an enrolled membership of 3,500, and that it controlled 19,000 voters in the entire city. He asked Mr. Bryan to set a time when the Executive Committee of the union could call on him. Mr. Bryan replied that he would receive the committee at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Two colored men who called assured Mr. Bryan that they could promise to him the greater part of the colored vote of the city. Neither of these men would give his name to the reporters, but one of them declared that Mr. Bryan had said to them: "For thirty years the Republicans have been telling you that you must vote their ticket because Lincoln freed the slaves. I'm glad to know that you do not all believe what they tell you."

Eugene V. Brewster, the Brooklyn lawyer who took such a prominent part in the "dollar dinner" movement last Spring, was another visitor to Mr. Bryan's room, but he was unable to wait until Mr. Bryan had finished talking with a caller. Mr. Brewster said that he had a proposition to make to Mr. Bryan. What it was he would not say, but it was said by one of his friends that Mr. Brewster wanted Mr. Bryan to address a meeting of laboring men.

Other callers were Calvin E. Keach of Rensselaer County, ex-Mayor James M. Nolan of Rochester, James Mullen of Gravesend, Dr. George W. Thompson and James R. Brown of the Chicago Platform Democracy, James F. Pierce, ex-Superintendent of Insurance; J. C. Warner of Red Cloud, Neb., and Col. James P. Jones, Superintendent of the Aquarium. John F. Carroll, the deputy leader of Tammany Hall, called during the afternoon, but remained only a few moments. "I only came to pay my respects," Mr. Carroll said as he left the hotel.

Mr. Bryan went driving with Dr. Girdner during the afternoon, and remained away from his room for about an hour. On his return he consented to talk to the newspaper reporters who were present, and he began by saying that he often found that his remarks had been "dressed" to suit the policies of the newspapers which published them. This was true, he said, of the published report that he had relegated the silver question to a secondary place among the issues of the coming campaign.

"I maintain and I have maintained all along," Mr. Bryan said, "that there are three issues before the people—the money question, the trust question, and imperialism. As to the relative importance of each men may differ, but the position of the Republican Party on any one of them is sufficient to drive out of that party all men who believe that the Government should be administered on behalf of the majority and not in the interest of a minority.

"In all my speeches I discuss all three of these questions, and I intend to keep on talking on the silver question so long as the Republicans remain intent on forcing the gold standard upon the country and turning the issue of paper money over to the National banks."

Mr. Bryan was asked as to the probable chances for Democratic success next Fall, and he replied, "The chances are improving daily. Many of the gold Democrats have become reconciled to the Chicago platform, and many more will return to us, either because they now favor that platform or because of the new issues which have arisen and which will be incorporated in the platform of 1900. Besides, we can attract many Republicans by advocating measures that are best for the people and which any man can support."

In alluding to the foreign policy of the present Administration, Mr. Bryan said, "The more the people see of imperialism the less they like it."

When asked as to where he drew the line between expansion and imperialism, Mr. Bryan said, "Expansion can only be applied, I think, to an extension of the limits of a republic without any change in its character. For instance, the purchase of the Louisiana territory increased the area of the country, and the purchase has since been settled up and divided into States, the citizens of which have equal rights with the rest of our citizens in the governance of the Nation.

REPUBLICAN POLICY IMPERIAL.

"Webster defines an empire to be a nation which embraces variety in race and diversity in government, and as an imperial policy is the policy of an empire, it embraces the idea now promulgated by the Republican Party, that this Nation should reach out and draw other nations under the flag by force of arms and then govern them as subjects.

"My contention is that this Republic can have no subjects, and cannot afford to bring in those who are not to share in full the destiny of the American people. Each of the proposed annexations must be settled on its own merits, and we must consider whether the people to be annexed desire to come in, and also whether we want them to come in. The Filipinos do not desire to come in, and I don't believe the majority of the American people wants them to do so. Therefore I have favored, and still do favor, the bringing forward of an immediate announcement of the Nation's purpose to give independence to the Filipinos on the same terms that we have promised to give it to the Cubans—as soon as a stable government has been established.

"I believe that hostilities would cease as soon as such an announcement had been made, and that the establishment of a stable government would then be an easy matter. I further believe that this Nation should give to the Filipino Government the same protection that has been given to the Central and South American Republics. I mean such protection as would prevent molestation from without."

It was suggested to Mr. Bryan that there had been a change in the local situation since his visit last Spring, at which time Richard Croker publicly declared his belief in expansion.

"Oh, I know nothing of the local situation," Mr. Bryan replied.

Speaking of the South African war, Mr. Bryan said: "I believe our people sympathize with the Boers as they have sympathized with every people similarly situated. A man who believes in the doctrine of self-government must naturally sympathize with those fighting for liberty rather than with the monarchy which is endeavoring to take it away from them."

DINNER TO MR. BRYAN.

Mr. Bryan dined last night at 677 Fifth Avenue. Among the other guests were John F. Carroll, Elliot Danforth, Dr. John H. Girdner, N. O. Fanning, Charles P. Bacon, Lewis Nixon, Asa Bird Gardiner, John B. Sexton, John E. McDonald, George M. Van Hoesen, Isaac Vromble, Justice O'Gorman, Dr. J. F. Barnes, Ex-Sheriff Dunn, Norman E. Mack, John B. Stanchfield, John J. Scannell, John Whalen, Edward C. Sheehy, John W. Keller, James Shevlin, Senator Grady, James P. Keating, Frank Campbell, Ex-Gov. Campbell of Ohio, Ex-Gov. Hogg, Cambridge Livingston, and Dr. W. J. O'Sullivan.

The speakers at the dinner were Mr. Bryan, Senator Grady, Mr. Stanchfield, Justice O'Gorman, and Mr. Keller. The remarks of all of the speakers were brief. Although those present were reluctant to speak of what had taken place, the gist of the speeches was obtained. Mr. Bryan, it was said, made no reference to Tammany Hall or to Mr. Croker.

Mr. Bryan declared that the issues of the approaching campaign were those of the Chicago platform with the addition of strong anti-trust and anti-imperialistic planks. He said he wanted to see the policies thus outlined carried out.

"If they can be carried out by another leader," said Mr. Bryan, "then let them be carried out by him."

Senator Grady said he thought it would be unwise to discuss the platform before the National Convention met. Such discussion, he said, should be left to the delegates in the convention. Mr. Stanchfield spoke of his personal loyalty to the party during the campaign of 1896.

Mr. Keller said he would not have thought himself of sufficient importance to have invited Mr. Bryan to dinner at the Democratic Club if he had not been President of the club. There had been some opposition, he said, to the club as an organization giving a dinner to Mr. Bryan, and he had undertaken, in his personal capacity, to invite Mr. Bryan to dine with him. "I will give this dinner," he declared, "if it drives every man from the club."

Mr. Bryan's plans for to-day include a conference with the Executive Committee of the Chicago Platform Democracy and a dinner to be given in his honor at the Democratic Club by Commissioner of Charities John W. Keller.

SHOULD LEAVE SILVER ALONE.

City Collector Davis Thinks Mr. Bryan Would Be Wise to Ignore It in His Jersey City Speech.

W. J. Bryan will speak in St. Peter's Hall, Jersey City, to-morrow night, under the auspices of the Executive Committee of the Hudson County Democracy.

When City Collector Robert Davis, who has arranged for the meeting, was told yesterday that Mr. Bryan had asserted that he would speak on free silver he shrugged his shoulders.

"I would prefer," he said, "not to take issue with Mr. Bryan. This is a year when Democrats should get together. It is not a time for dissensions. Still, I can't help reiterating that Mr. Bryan will make a mistake if he insists on keeping the free-silver issue in the front.

"Mr. Bryan is popular with the Democratic masses, and he has a strong hold on the Democratic Party. It would seem the part of wisdom to refrain from antagonizing Democrats. Mr. Bryan could greatly help matters by dropping the 16 to 1 theory during his visit to Jersey City. He must know that there are thousands of active Democrats in New Jersey who, while they are ready to vote for Mr. Bryan, are unalterably opposed to free silver. New Jersey is not a free-silver State, and Mr. Bryan should bear that fact in mind. I shall do all I can to make Mr. Bryan's reception in Jersey City a thorough success. So will the Democratic Committee of Hudson County."

Congressman Daly and James F. Minturn, Corporation Attorney of Hoboken, who met Mr. Bryan in Washington last week, asserted that Mr. Bryan would not touch upon free silver in his Jersey City speech.

Virginia Legislature Invites Bryan.

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 22.—The State Assembly to-day adopted the following joint resolution: "Resolved, That the Hon. William Jennings Bryan, the greatest living exponent of the time-honored principles of the Democratic Party, be and he is hereby invited to address the Virginia Legislature at such time during the present session as may best suit his convenience."

Troy Street Cars Still Tied Up.

TROY, Jan. 22.—The strike of the United Traction Company men has progressed to a point where the railroad managers have told the men to return to work or their places will be filled. Not a wheel moved to-day, and the company made no effort in the direction of a renewal of traffic.

JOHN POTTER STOCKTON DEAD.

Succumbed to Heart Disease at the Hotel Hanover—His Career in Public Life.

Ex-Senator John Potter Stockton of New Jersey died yesterday afternoon at the Hotel Hanover, Fifth Avenue and Fifteenth Street, from heart disease. He had lived there since last October. On Sunday night he was taken suddenly sick while walking near the hotel.

Mr. Stockton was born in Princeton, N. J., Aug. 2, 1826. After a preliminary education he was sent to Princeton University, from which he was graduated in 1843. He then took up the study of law, being admitted to the bar in 1847.

Soon afterward Mr. Stockton was appointed by the Legislature of New Jersey a Commissioner to revise and simplify the proceedings and practice in the courts of the State, and was later State reporter in chancery, which position he held for some years.

In 1857 President Buchanan appointed Mr. Stockton United States Minister to Rome, but on the election of Abraham Lincoln to the Presidency he was recalled at his own request. In 1865 he was chosen United States Senator from New Jersey to succeed Senator Ten Eyck by a plurality vote of the Legislature, a resolution changing the number of votes necessary to elect from a majority to a plurality having been passed by the joint convention. On this ground, after Mr. Stockton had taken his seat in the Senate, a protest was made against his retention of it. The Committee on the Judiciary unanimously voted in favor of the validity of his election, and on their report being voted upon it was passed by a vote of 22 to 21, Mr. Stockton voting in his own favor. His vote was in turn objected to, and he immediately withdrew it, and was unseated by a vote of 23 to 21, after having held his seat for about a year. In 1869 he was elected to the United States Senate and served one term. While a member of the Senate he advocated the establishment of life-saving stations on the coast, and was successful in procuring the appropriation of the first sum voted for their maintenance.

Mr. Stockton was elected Attorney General of New Jersey in 1877, and was re-elected in 1882, 1887, and 1892. In that office he sustained the system of railroad taxation after a long struggle, causing the reversal in the Court of Errors of the decision of the Supreme Court against the State. He also broke up the coal monopoly in New Jersey.

As a Delegate at Large to the Democratic National Conventions Mr. Stockton was also a power in National politics. The first convention he attended was that of 1864, when, as Chairman of the New Jersey delegation, he nominated George B. McClellan for the Presidency.

Since the expiration of his last term as Attorney General, three years ago, Mr. Stockton had practiced law in Jersey City. In 1882 the degree of LL. D. was bestowed on him by Princeton University.

Mr. Stockton's daughter, Mrs. R. C. St. John, was with him when he died. She and her husband were living with him at the Hotel Hanover. He also leaves two sons—Richard Stockton, who is in business at Trenton, and John P. Stockton, Jr., a lawyer of High Wood, N. J.

Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been completed.

HARVARD'S FRENCH LECTURE.

Henri de Regnier Will Discuss "French Modern Poetry."

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 22.—The French writer chosen as the third annual lecturer of the "Cercle Française de L'Universite Harvard" to speak before Harvard University this year is the poet Henri De Regnier, who will deliver eight lectures on "French Modern Poetry," beginning March 1.

M. de Regnier will also lecture before Adelphi College, Brooklyn; the Alliance Française of New York, Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, Brown University, Bryn Mawr College, the Cercle Français de L'Alliance of this city, University of California, University of Chicago, Columbia, Cornell, Mount Holyoke, Packer Institute of Brooklyn, University of Pennsylvania, Princeton, San Francisco, Vassar, Wellesley, Wells, Williams, and Yale.

NEGROES BAR A REPUBLICAN.

"Expel" Augusta's Postmaster Because He Refused Them an Office.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Jan. 22.—W. H. Stallings, Republican Postmaster of Augusta, has been "expelled" from the Republican Party by the negroes in control of the politics of the party in this county. He presented himself to register for selection of delegates to the State and National Conventions and was denied the privilege, on the ground that he was expelled.

This action was taken because he refused to appoint a negro named Wimberly as Assistant Postmaster. Wimberly has since been appointed Deputy Revenue Collector.

NO RELIGION IN SCHOOLS.

State Superintendent Skinner Sustains the Protest from Piermont.

ALBANY, Jan. 22.—The attention of State Superintendent of Public Instruction Skinner was called this morning to the trouble in the new public school at Piermont, where some of the Catholic parents living in the district object to the form of religious exercises which take place when school opens in the morning, on the ground that the services are not of a non-sectarian order.

"Yes, it is a violation of the school law to compel children to attend religious services after the hour of school opening," said Superintendent Skinner, "and the reading of the Bible in the public schools is also prohibited. As far back as 1838 the Superintendent of Common Schools laid down the decision that neither the common school system nor any other social system can be maintained unless the conscientious views of all are equally respected."

In support of this principle the Superintendent holds that Scripture reading and prayers constitute no legitimate part of the business of the public schools.

Small Fire on Broadway.

Traffic on Broadway was somewhat impeded last evening by a fire in the five-story building at 498 and 500 on that thoroughfare. The flames started on the fifth floor, occupied by the Crown Manufacturing Company, dealers in stamped linen. The fire was confined to the top floor, and the loss to the firm was about $4,000. The three floors immediately below are occupied by Fleisch & Co., manufacturers of neckwear, and the first floor by Flesher, Whitman & Co., dry goods. These firms suffered to the extent of $1,000 by water, and the building was damaged to the amount of $2,000, making a total loss of $7,000.

Pennsylvania Policeman Murdered.

WASHINGTON, Penn., Jan. 22.—George W. McCammon of West Alexander was shot and killed to-day by a young man named Frank McGee. McCammon had an alleged sheep thief in custody, and was taking him to the office of Squire Waltz for a hearing, when McGee interfered, and the officer threatened him with arrest. McGee then drew a revolver and shot McCammon through the head, killing him almost instantly. McGee fled, but was later captured.

British Admiral Homeward Bound.

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 22.—Admiral Charles Fitzgerald of the British Navy, accompanied by his staff, Capt. Caldwell, Flag Lieut. Borden-Smith, and Secretaries Baker and Clark Hodder, passed through Omaha to-day, en route from China to England. The Admiral has just completed two years' service as second in command of the Asiatic Squadron, and is going home on recall. He does not expect to be sent to South Africa.

Two Michigan Miners Killed.

HOUGHTON, Mich., Jan. 22.—Two miners named Kratt and Sweet dropped nearly 2,000 feet in the Atlantic Mine yesterday. The accident came through another accident at the engine house disabling the hoist. Both men leave large families.

Capt. Sigsbee Leaves the Texas.

Capt. Charles D. Sigsbee, who was in command of the Maine at the time of the destruction of that vessel in Havana Harbor, was yesterday relieved by Commander William C. Gibson in the command of the second-class battleship Texas, lying at the Brooklyn Navy Yard. The vessel will leave this week to join the North Atlantic Squadron in Southern waters. Capt. Sigsbee will go to Washington to-day. He is to take charge of the Intelligence Bureau of the Navy Department there on Feb. 1.

BOY ACCUSES DR. THELBERG

The Blind Physician, He Is Told, Is His Father.

HIS LIFE IN SAN FRANCISCO

Charges Assault and Attempts to Bind Him to a Hard Sea Life—Doctor's Denial.

A story that reads like a chapter from such a work of fiction as "Kidnapped" was told to Magistrate Mott, in the West Side Police Court, yesterday by Arthur Magnet, a boy of fourteen years, who, through the Gerry society, charged Dr. John T. Thelberg, a well-known blind practitioner of this city, with assault. The boy also said that he had been told that Dr. Thelberg was his father, but on this point he is not sure, as he cannot recall much that occurred in his career before his eighth year, when, he says, Dr. Thelberg went to California for him, and brought him to this city. Dr. Thelberg has an office at 26 West Thirty-fourth Street, and lives at the Waldorf-Astoria.

The whole story came out through the refusal of the doctor to pay the boy's board bill, his payments having ceased since Jan. 1. On Jan. 15 last Mrs. Barton of 317 West Thirtieth Street, with whom the boy resides, sent a bill to Dr. Thelberg for $12 due her. He told her to call at the office with the boy, and it is then that it is alleged the assault took place. When the boy returned to the boarding house and showed his bruises to the people there, Mr. Williams, one of the boarders, took pity on him and reported the matter to the Gerry society. An investigation was made and the boy was taken to the society's rooms. A warrant for the arrest of Dr. Thelberg was sworn out, but on his promise to appear yesterday he was not taken into custody.

Agent Agnew of the society, with the boy in charge, the blind defendant in charge of an attendant, and Mrs. Barton appeared in court yesterday, when the lad told his story. He is a rather sickly looking boy of medium height, and has a disease which affects his ear and makes it impossible for him to do hard work. The story that he told to Magistrate Mott he practically retold later in the rooms of the Gerry society. It is as follows:

Six years ago, the boy says, he was living in San Francisco with a Mrs. Frazee at 8 Hopton Terrace. He was then a little over eight years of age, and can remember nothing of his father or mother. His earliest recollections are of Mrs. Frazee, who, he says, was kind to him, and to whom he desires to return. One day Dr. Thelberg, of whom he had never heard, called at the house and asked for him. He remembers that Mrs. Frazee refused to give him up, whereupon the doctor exhibited documents, apparently legal in character. These seemed to change the aspect of things, for Mrs. Frazee called him into the front room and said to him, "Arthur, here is your father, who has come for you." The doctor, who even at that time was blind, and who was in the care of an attendant, then took the boy to the railway station, and the party started for this city. On the way here Dr. Thelberg told the boy that in future he would be known as Arthur Magnet, the name which he has ever since borne.

Arthur remembers the details of his trip here. He says that at Chicago they were joined by Mrs. Thelberg, who, he says, is also a physician, and at present Professor of Physiology and Anatomy at Vassar College, where she lives with her daughter. The boy says that shortly after their arrival here he was sent to the Mount Pleasant Institute, at Amherst, Mass., where he remained one year. He was then sent to the Chappaqua Mountain Institute, at Chappaqua, N. Y., for another year. After that he spent two years on a farm in Greenport, N. Y., and, although it was understood that he was to be boarded there, he says he was nevertheless subjected to much harsh treatment, and had practically to work for his board, although he was not much over ten years old.

He then was brought back to this city, and Dr. Thelberg insisted that he go on board the schoolship St. Mary's. To get him there, he says, the doctor said he was over sixteen years of age, whereas he was more than three years younger. He joined the schoolship on June 1, 1898, and remained on board for nearly eighteen months, when he was graduated. This was in October last. He says that his protector tried to have him take a post-graduate course on the schoolship, but that the commander, having discovered that he was under age, refused to take him. The boy also alleges that the doctor used unwarranted methods to have him pass the physical examination at the time he was first put on board.

As soon as he got back to this city, Arthur says, his reputed father insisted continually that he go to sea. He would hear of no alternative, even when the boy said he was unable to stand the hardships of a seafaring life. It was at that time that he was taken to the boarding house in Thirtieth Street, then kept by a Mrs. Bliel, where the doctor made arrangements for his board. A few days later he was told that the doctor had arranged for him to sail as cabin boy on a ship bound for Lorenzo Marques. He went to the ship, but after two days found he could not stand the work, and ran away before the time set for sailing.

Arthur then says he got a place, first, as helper in a drug store, and then in a stationery store, but Dr. Thelberg would allow him to keep neither, insisting that he must go to sea. All during this time, he says, he kept up a correspondence with Mrs. Frazee, in San Francisco, who wanted him to return to her. When he was at school, he says, the doctor gave orders to the masters not to let him correspond with any one in California, but he managed to get the letters through, and lived in the hope that he might some day get enough money to return to San Francisco.

The boy's story of the alleged assault is in every particular the same as that told by Mrs. Bliel, who was present, she says, and witnessed it. Mrs. Barton bought the boarding-house on Jan. 1 from Mrs. Bliel and was told that Dr. Thelberg was responsible for Arthur's board. When it was not forthcoming for two weeks Mrs. Barton sent word to the doctor and was told to call with the boy. They saw the blind physician in his office. He, as alleged, called the boy to him, and after having upbraided him for his refusal to go to sea, and, grabbing him by the collar, belabored him with a cane. He finally broke the cane over the boy's legs, as alleged, and then told him and Mrs. Barton to leave the house, as he wanted nothing further to do with either of them. As they were leaving he said he would yet see to it that the boy carried out his desires in going to sea.

A few days later he called at the boarding-house and partially apologized to Mrs. Barton for his conduct, saying that he had always treated the boy well, but that he was lazy and ungrateful. He told Mrs. Barton, she says, that she was not to feed the boy and that he would pay only for his room rent. This, and the former bill, Mrs. Barton says, he has not yet paid. At that time he asked for Arthur, who was then in the Gerry society's care, but was told that he had gone away.

Mrs. Barton said yesterday that Arthur was a good boy and that he was physically unable to go to sea. She said that this refusal on the part of Arthur to accede to his reputed father's demands made the doctor nearly wild with anger, and he swore that his wishes should be carried out. He also told Mrs. Barton that he had known the boy's father well, but would not say who he was. He said he took the boy out of charity and had educated him.

In court yesterday Dr. Thelberg said he had known Arthur's father, who had been a sea captain, and that all his efforts in the boy's behalf had been repaid with ingratitude. A lawyer who accompanied the defendant asked for an adjournment of the case and Magistrate Mott paroled the doctor in the custody of his counsel until Wednesday, when the case will be heard. At the Waldorf-Astoria the doctor refused to be interviewed.

The boy said that it seemed to be the evident intention of the doctor to get rid of him by sending him to sea. He said he was sure that if he was forced to such a life the hardship and exposure would kill him. Superintendent Jenkins of the Gerry society, in whose charge the boy remains, has communicated with Mrs. Frazee in the hope that she will be able to shed some light on the boy's antecedents. Arthur says, also, that Dr. Thelberg never told him anything about his parents.

MRS. FRAZEE TELLS HER STORY

San Francisco Woman Says Dr. Thelberg Told Her He Was the Father of Her Adopted Son.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 22.—One of the most pathetic cases on record is that of Mrs. Arthur Frazee of 6 Hopston Terrace, who has waited for six years vainly hoping for the return of her adopted son, who has been held by Dr. John Thelberg of New York. Mrs. Frazee has made a living since her husband's death, in 1882, by carrying on a lodging house. She has become almost insane from grief over the loss of the boy, whom she loved as though he had been her own.

When seen this evening, Mrs. Frazee said: "Dr. Thelberg brought the child to me in 1883, when he was only three weeks old. He represented that it was the son of a dead friend named Arthur Magnet, and that he wished me to adopt the boy and bring him up as my own. He promised to send money regularly for the boy's support, but he only sent money for one year. I had the child baptized as Arthur Vetrunus Alexander Frazee, after my husband.

"The child grew up well and strong and was doing nicely, when in 1893 Dr. Thelberg suddenly appeared and demanded custody of the boy. He had a Sheriff's warrant. I was so alarmed and so fearful of publicity, which kept her from demanding her rights in court here, if she had told her story probably no San Francisco Judge would have ever surrendered the boy to Thelberg. Mrs. Frazee's husband was a well-known architect and left her a modest property. This, with what she makes by letting rooms, maintains her in comfort.

FATAL SHOOTING IN GEORGIA

Two Dead, Two Dying, Result of Trying to Arrest a Negro.

MACON, Ga., Jan. 22.—Two negroes shot to death and two white men desperately wounded were the casualties in an attempt to arrest a negro here to-day.

J. H. Butler, who did most of the shooting, was himself shot to death. His victims were Armstead Bryant, colored, shot through the heart and instantly killed; B. Seltman, white, shot through the stomach, will probably die, and John Reed, white, shot in the neck, in a precarious condition.

Butler threatened to kill a negro woman and when Policeman Peace attempted to arrest him the negro began to shoot. He ran up Fourth Street, one of the busiest streets in Macon, pistol in hand, firing at everybody in sight.

When Butler fell, mortally wounded, five policemen and fifteen citizens were firing at him. When examined it was found that three pistol bullets had gone completely through his body, and there are other wounds.

AT THE HOTELS.

WALDORF—G. R. Spence, Butte, Mon.; Potter Palmer, Chicago; Oliver Taigny, French Legation, Washington; Count Boni Castellane and Countess Castellane, Paris.

HOLLAND—M. Estes, South Bethlehem, Penn.; Wariam Whitney, Rochester; William Dittenhoeffer, Pittsburg.

HERALD SQUARE—William Hamlin, Buffalo.

GILSEY—J. K. Persons, Duluth; G. P. Ide, Troy.

HOFFMAN—W. J. Bryan, Lincoln, Neb.

ALBEMARLE—John Hoge, Zanesville, Ohio.

BUCKINGHAM—Spencer Trask, Saratoga.

MANHATTAN—D. B. Lyman, Chicago; H. P. Taber, Buffalo.

ASTOR—W. J. Clagg, Montreal; James Pearson, Toronto.

IMPERIAL—John Mack, Albany.

THE WEATHER.

LOCAL FORECAST—Fair, fresh to brisk southwesterly winds.

A cold wave has appeared in the region north of Minnesota and the Dakotas, where the temperature has fallen thirty to forty degrees, with a minimum of six degrees below zero at Prince Albert and four below zero at Winnipeg. During the next thirty-six hours this cold wave will overspread the States of the upper lake region, and it will be felt with moderate severity in the North Atlantic States by to-morrow.

Fair weather has prevailed in all districts, except on the North Pacific Coast, where light rain has fallen, and the temperature continues above the seasonal average in all parts of the United States. Fair weather is indicated for to-day, except in the upper lake region, where snow flurries are likely to occur, and on the North Pacific Coast, where rain is indicated.

Along the North Atlantic Coast fresh to brisk southwesterly winds will prevail, and on the Middle Atlantic Coast the winds will be light to fresh from southerly; on the South Atlantic Coast the winds will be variable.

The record of temperature for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from THE NEW YORK TIMES's thermometer and from the thermometer of the Weather Bureau, is as follows:

	—Weather Bureau.— 1899.	1900.	TIMES. 1900.
3 A. M.	34	32	34
6 A. M.	34	31	34
9 A. M.	36	38	40
12 M.	39	43	43
3 P. M.	47	48	47
6 P. M.	43	46	45
9 P. M.	39	43	42
12 P. M.	36	42	42

THE TIMES's thermometer is 6 feet above the street level; that of the Weather Bureau is 285 feet above the street level.

Average temperatures yesterday were as follows:

Printing House Square	41
Weather Bureau	40
Corresponding date 1899	39
Corresponding date for last twenty years	31

The maximum temperature yesterday was 49 degrees at 5 P. M. and the minimum 31 degrees at 6 A. M. The humidity at 8 A. M. was 72 degrees and at 8 P. M. 65 degrees. The barometer at 8 A. M. read 30.26 and at 8 P. M. 30.21.

LOSSES BY FIRE.

ASHLAND, Oregon, Jan. 22.—The Ashland Woolen Mills, owned and operated by E. K. & G. N. Anderson, were destroyed by fire last night. Loss, $65,000.

YESTERDAY'S FIRES.

(From 12 o'clock Sunday night until 12 o'clock Monday night.)

3:15 A. M.—100 Fifth Avenue; Mrs. F. Neilson; damage, $100.

3:20 A. M.—216 West Twenty-seventh Street; Jane Dietz; damage, $500.

3:50 A. M.—7 Lawrence Street; J. Haly; damage, $50.

7:05 A. M.—229 East Fifty-fifth Street; J. Hoffman & Co.; damage, slight.

7:45 A. M.—568 Ninth Avenue; John Steefens; damage, $2,400.

9:15 A. M.—43 Beach Street; A. McOwen; damage, $25.

10:25 A. M.—21 West Forty-fifth Street; E. P. Furnold; damage, $150.

11:05 A. M.—89 Madison Street; S. Friedman; damage, $25.

11:25 A. M.—182 Henry Street; M. Levine; damage, slight.

11:30 A. M.—9 Avenue B.—M. Manning; damage, $10.

1:15 P. M.—186 South Street; Thomas Nostrand; damage, $50.

5:55 P. M.—498-500 Broadway; H. Jacobs & Co. and others; damage, $7,000.

6 P. M.—968 Sixth Avenue; F. Schuman; damage, $500.

6:30 P. M.—136 East Forty-seventh Street; Bartholomew Club; damage, $100.

6:30 P. M.—39 Vandewater Street; T. Redecan; damage, slight.

7:30 P. M.—251 East One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street; William De Graff; no damage.

8:00 P. M.—Hunt's Point Road and Broadway; New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad; damage, $50.

9:40 P. M.—125 West Fifty-sixth Street; unknown; damage, $50.

MOËT AND CHANDON CHAMPAGNE

Absolute Facts that cannot be disputed.

FIRST. The house of MOËT and CHANDON was founded in 1743.

SECOND. The house of MOËT and CHANDON owns more vineyards than all of the following houses combined: Clicquot, Piper Heidsieck, Monopole, Ruinart, G. H. Mumm, Pommery, Roederer.

THIRD. The sales of MOËT and CHANDON throughout the world greatly exceed those of any other brand.

FOURTH. The wine shipped to the United States at the present time by the house of MOËT and CHANDON is of the celebrated vintage of 1893, of which they hold a sufficient reserve to instre its continuance for a considerable period.

FIFTH. MOËT and CHANDON Champagne has been served exclusively for a great many years at most of the prominent society functions.

SIXTH. After repeated sampling and careful comparison with all the other Champagnes by the ablest experts, MOËT and CHANDON has been pronounced, without question, far superior in quality to any of the other brands.

ARRIVAL OF BUYERS.

Representatives of Out-of-Town Firms Now in the City.

Seay Brothers, La Grange, Ga.; B. H. Seay, dry goods and clothing; St. George Hotel.
Lowenstein, B., & Brothers, Memphis, Tenn.; J. B. Plummer, dress goods, 51 Leonard Street; Park Avenue Hotel.
Malley, E., & Co., New Haven, Conn.; G. B. Johnson, millinery, gloves, and ribbons, 45 Lispenard Street; Murray Hill Hotel.
Shwartz, A., & Son, New Orleans, La.; E. Levy, shoes, 56 Wor

WARREN CONTINUES HIS FLANK ATTACK

Slow Progress Is Made, as the Boers Are Numerous.

EVERY MOVEMENT CONTESTED

Burghers Make No Reply to the Artillery Fire.

Prisoner Boasts that It Will Take Three Months for the British to Reach Ladysmith.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—The Daily Chronicle has received the following, dated Jan. 22, 4:15 P. M., from Spearman's Camp:

"Gen. Warren continues pushing, although he is necessarily making very slow progress, as the Boers are numerous and strongly intrenched.

"Our infantry is working over parallel ridges, with Lord Dundonald's cavalry lying well out on the left flank and awaiting developments. The Boers contest every inch of the ground.

"This morning Gen. Warren's artillery reopened fire, but the Boers did not reply and our fire became less hot."

"The naval guns in front here have been quiet. A Boer prisoner who was brought in boasted that it would take us three months to reach Ladysmith."

A special dispatch, dated Sunday night, from Spearman's Camp says:

"There has been hot fighting all day. At dawn our attack was resumed along the entire line, all the brigades taking part. We soon discovered that the Boers still occupied the range of hills in force, their position being very strong. The range is intersected by steep ravines and many approaches very difficult of access.

"To-day the Boers who were driven from their trenches yesterday took cover in dongas and behind the rocks with which the hills are strewn. The forces, therefore, commenced the task of driving them out, and set to work with good heart in the early morning. Much firing took place, and our progress was slow; but gradually British pluck told its tale, and the enemy fell back to another kopje. We swarmed on and occupied it, and then the attack recommenced with the utmost gallantry.

"The country simply abounds in hills, favorable to guerilla warfare, and our task is an arduous one. Nevertheless, it is being gradually accomplished. Whenever any of the enemy were observed taking up a fresh position our field batteries poured in showers of shrapnel, and the rapid movement of the guns, followed by accurate shooting, must have greatly distressed them.

"The enemy were on the defensive almost the entire day, save once, when they attempted to outflank our left and were signally checkmated. They relied almost entirely on rifle fire. A few shells were fired from a heavy piece of ordnance, but these fell harmless.

"We now occupy the lower crest on the left and are converging slowly, but surely, to the Boer centre. The Boer loss is unknown, but must have been heavy. Their killed and wounded are carried away to the rear rapidly. Strong rumors are in circulation that the Boers are retiring. The battle will be resumed to-morrow."

Another account of the fighting says:

"On Friday Gen. Warren began a long, circuitous march from Trichard's Drift westward. This was abandoned owing to the fact that the long ridge which runs west from Spion Kop was occupied by the enemy, who commanded the route, rendering the maintenance of communications for transports impossible.

"He therefore returned and camped for the night about two miles from Trichard's Drift.

"On Saturday a frontal attack on the ridges was ordered.

"The men behaved splendidly under an incessant heavy cross fire in a burning sun for seven hours. Our casualties were for the most part slight, the proportion of killed to wounded being extremely small.

"Capt. Henley of the Dublin Fusiliers fell mortally wounded while leading his men, and died later."

IS DUNDONALD IN LADYSMITH?

DURBAN, Natal, Jan. 22.—The statement comes from an excellent source in Pietermaritzburg that Lord Dundonald has entered Ladysmith with 1,600 men.

This is not confirmed from any other quarter, but it is known that Lord Dundonald's flying column has been acting well to the left of the line of advance.

LONDON ANXIOUS FOR NEWS.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Gen. Buller has reported nothing of his operations on Monday, and official and press intelligence leaves the British bivouacked Sunday night on the ground they had won after two days' fighting. The War Office turned everybody out of the lobbies at midnight. Apparently Lord Lansdowne was as much without news all yesterday as other persons were.

Military men assume that fighting must have taken place, and that it was probably more severe than on the two preceding days. Gen. Buller would not be likely to give the Boers leisure to add to the elaborate intrenchments, to arrange their artillery and to concentrate their forces.

The special correspondents Sunday night were allowed to send the announcement that the battle would be almost certainly resumed the following day, and hence official and popular anxiety is at high tension. The British military experts all share the hopes of their leaders, and, as Mr. Spenser Wilkinson points out, they hesitate to say a word that might be interpreted as unfavorable.

Mr. Wilkinson refers to the "cooler judgment of German and Austrian critics," which means that some of the best judges look upon Gen. Buller's enterprise as a forlorn hope, as merely a continual train of fighting, which may prove too much for the physical energy of the troops engaged.

The Daily Chronicle's military expert says:

"Even when a battle is won in a single day, as a rule pursuit is only possible when fresh troops are available. But in this instance it is not a question of mere pursuit but of renewing an attack upon entrenched positions after a day's hard fighting and a night of lying on the battlefield."

Reinforcements aggregating 5,000 or more have reached Cape Town during the last three days. It is uncertain how these have been disposed, but probably most of them have been sent to Natal, where it is believed Gen. Buller needs them.

At Ladysmith the deaths from enteric fever and dysentery average ten a day. Some fears are expressed that the garrison may be so worn out by privation and disease as to be unable to do much in the way of helping Gen. Buller.

BULLER REPORTS CASUALTIES.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—The War Office to-night issued the following dispatch from Gen. Buller:

"Spearman's Camp, Jan. 22—6 P. M.—The following casualties are reported in Gen. Hart's brigade as the result of yesterday's fighting:

"Killed—Capt. Ryall, Yorkshire Regiment, and five men.

Wounded—Second Lieut. Andrews, Border Regiment; Capt. McLaghlan, Enniskillens; Lieut. Barlow, Yorkshire Regiment, and seventy-five men.

"Missing—Eight men.

"Other casualties will be forwarded when received."

STILL BOMBARDING KIMBERLEY.

KIMBERLEY (by heliograph), Jan. 17, via Modder River, Jan. 22.—Native reports say that a proclamation has been issued at Barkly West by Commandant Bolthof, ordering all British subjects to quit before Jan. 22. Ladies are being subjected to great insults.

The Boers are again very active, bombarding heavily from all positions from dawn till 8 A. M., the fire being directed chiefly against the redoubts.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—A dispatch to The Daily Telegraph from Kimberley, dated Friday, Jan. 19, says:

"A twenty-eight-pounder gun, christened 'Long Cecil,' which was manufactured at the De Beers workshops, was tried to-day and fired accurately at a range of 8,000 yards."

According to the War Office officials' ideas, a dash to the relief of Kimberley will quickly follow the relief of Ladysmith, and then will come a long spell of organization, and perhaps three or four months will elapse before the column or columns will have the transport in a fine shape to advance with the certainty of meeting with no serious reverses. The latter conditions are held by the authorities to be absolutely essential before any forward movement toward the invasion of the Transvaal is begun, hence there is small probability of the war ending inside of six months.

BOERS MAY SUE FOR PEACE?

LONDON, Jan. 23.—The correspondent of The Times at Lorenzo Marques, telegraphing yesterday, says:

"News from the republics is exceedingly meagre, but it is reported that Pretoria is much perturbed. This is confirmed from different sources; and to-day it is even hinted that the Boers are about to sue for peace.

"This is improbable until they have played their trump card in the shape of an appeal for intervention. It is an undoubted fact that they are bitterly disappointed at the apparent apathy of the Continental powers."

CRITICISM OF METHUEN DENIED.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The widow of Gen. Wauchope, in an open letter, hotly denies the stories that the General in any way criticised Gen. Methuen. She says Gen. Wauchope's last mention of Gen. Methuen to her was contained in a letter from the Orange River, dated Nov. 29, as follows:

"I expect Methuen will halt at the Modder River for some days before pushing forward. He has had a hard time of it and must be a real gallant soul to shove along as he does."

Lord Wolseley has also issued a denial of the report that the War Office is in possession of a letter from Gen. Wauchope, written the night befor the battle of Magersfontein, saying it would be the last letter he would write, as he had been asked to perform an impossible task and he had either to obey or surrender his sword.

CONAN DOYLE TOASTS OOM PAUL.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Alfred Austin, the Poet Laureate, and Dr. Conan Doyle, the novelist, were the guests of the Authors' Club last evening. In response to a toast to his health, Dr. Doyle said that he was about to go to the front, not with a rifle, but with a stethoscope, which many would regard as a more dangerous weapon.

"This war," he continued, "marks a turning point in the life of Great Britain. Some eight months ago I took the chair at a peace meeting, but I wish now to abjure that error. I have seen more positive virtue in this country during the last few months than I saw during the previous forty years of my life. Why should we punish Krüger? That man has solved a problem which every statesman had found unsolvable.

"I would build a monument to President Krüger of the size of St. Paul's Cathedral, putting him under it, and I would write across it, 'To the memory of the man who federated the British Empire.'"

THE MAINE GOING TO DURBAN.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The Ladies' Maine Hospital Ship Committee received the following dispatch to-night:

"CAPE TOWN, Jan. 22.—Arrived yesterday. All well. Going Durban Thursday. Everything satisfactory.

"CHURCHILL."

The signer of the above dispatch is evidently Lady Randolph Churchill, who left England Dec. 23 with the American hospital ship Maine.

CAPT. MAHAN'S VIEWS PLEASING

LONDON, Jan. 23.—The morning papers express great satisfaction with Capt. A. T. Mahan's statement regarding the merits of the controversy between the Transvaal and Great Britain. The Times remarks editorially:

"The clear, manly words of Capt. Mahan, the man who, among living Americans, enjoys perhaps the greatest reputation abroad as well as at home, must carry great weight."

BOER RESOLUTION AT ALBANY.

ALBANY, Jan. 22.—In the House to-night Assemblyman Bramley introduced a resolution sympathizing with the Boers in their struggle against English invasion. It was laid over for one week. It reads:

"The Assembly of the State of New York deems the time opportune and the occasion appropriate to openly express its sentiments regarding the war now being waged between England and the Boer nation in South Africa.

"We deprecate this war as being one of conquest and invasion unjustified by any of the laws that are wont to govern the polity of nations.

"We recognize in it an effort to trample upon the rights and liberties of a free and independent nation and for the greed of gold to set at naught the acknowledged principles that underlie the constitution of national existence.

"We feel ourselves justified the more in thus expressing our convictions inasmuch as it is a struggle for liberty on the part of a liberty-loving and God-fearing people against the unwarranted encroachments of a nation which has never hesitated to sacrifice the most sacred principles of national honor to the expediency of self-interest and gain.

"Time was when America was engaged in a death struggle for National liberty with the same enemy. We maintained then and sought ardently to obtain moral support and sympathy because we knew that our cause was that of justice.

"In similar circumstances, and animated by that same undying love of freedom this Boer nation in the hour of her peril, which is the hour of freedom's peril, looks toward this Republic and asks us if we will uphold the banner of justice—if we still have a voice to raise in behalf of liberty.

"We feel that we would be untrue to the memory and traditions of our fathers, untrue to the cardinal principles on which this our beloved Republic is founded, if we were to remain silent in this contest between liberty and oppression.

"Therefore, we declare that we stand to-day where we have stood for more than a century as the upholders of liberty and the rights of man against the tyranny of physical force and to the Boer nation we extend our sympathy and wish her godspeed and success in her struggle for national existence."

DAVIS'S TRIP NOT APPROVED.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Both the State and Interior Departments authorize the most sweeping denial of the story that Webster Davis, Assistant Secretary of the Interior, is clothed with any diplomatic mission. It is declared that he represents no department of the United States Government in his visit to South Africa, but is there in a personal capacity. Since his arrival at Cape Town, where he went to visit his cousin, Consul General Stowe, the State Department has been very much annoyed at the misconstruction that has been placed upon his visit.

It was to prevent further misunderstanding on that score that the department positively declined Mr. Davis's application for leave of absence for Mr. Stowe, who wished to accompany Mr. Davis to Pretoria. If Mr. Davis's visit had not been purely personal it is very probable that he would have been also enjoined from proceeding to Pretoria, for it was anticipated that misrepresentations as to his purpose would be drawn. It is even now possible that he will receive a reminder from the Interior Department that his course is embarrassing to the Government.

The State Department has sent no instructions to Mr. Macrum respecting his attitude toward the newspapers since his departure from Pretoria for the United States. In fact, it is said, the department has no authority whatever over Mr. Macrum, who has passed out of the Government service.

BOERS BUYING CHICAGO BEEF.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—A trainload of beef, 750,000 pounds, for the use of the Boers is being purchased here by an agent of the Transvaal Government. On account of recent seizures by British war vessels of ships bearing supplies destined for the Transvaal, packers have refused to sell the beef for delivery beyond Chicago, and negotiations for transportation are pending. This is the second trainload of beef sold here for the Boers, the first consignment, sold about a month ago, being now, it is said, on the ocean.

Honourable Artillery Not Coming.

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—A letter received from London by a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company in this city confirms the impression that the Honourable Artillery Company of London will not visit Boston in June. The war defers the trip until 1901.

May Send Troops from India.

CALCUTTA, Jan. 22.—The Government has decided to transfer two native regiments now at Madras to Colombo and Singapore. This would enable the British regiments at those two points to be withrawn for South Africa if necessary.

Locusts Enter the Transvaal.

STERKSTROOM, Jan. 22.—Affairs here continue quiet. Tremendous swarms of locusts are passing over the British camp in a northerly direction, and are destroying the grass on the veldt. Commandant Olivier threatens to detains as prisoners of war any newspaper correspondents captured by his force.

GERMAN SHIP IS RELEASED.

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—A dispatch received here from Durban says the German bark Marie, loaded with sulphur, which was captured early in January by the British cruiser Fearless and taken to Port Elizabeth, has been unconditionally released.

The Montag-Zeitung asserts that when the Emperor recently received the Presidents of the Diet he expressed deep regret at the heavy loss of British officers in South Africa and praised the Boer generalship, but his Majesty reprehended the attitude of the German press toward Great Britain, which, he said, was rendering his task of avoiding friction with Great Britain doubly hard. He recalled Prince Bismarck's saying that the "windows which our press smashes we have to pay for."

SEEKS TO DEFINE CONTRABAND

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—The release of the Marie has made a most excellent impression here, and is interpreted as showing the earnest desire of Great Britain to re-establish thoroughly friendly relations with Germany. Nevertheless, there is the highest authority for the statement that Germany has not abandoned the idea of bringing about a clearer definition of what constitutes contraband and the rights of neutrals on the seas, either through an international conference or direct diplomatic negotiations between Cabinets.

A high official of the Foreign Office, discussing the matter to-day, said:

"Germany must await, of course, the result of the present negotiations with England relative to the rights of neutrals. We are not anxious to take the initiative in a movement for a clearer definition of contraband, but, if necessary, we shall do so. Anyway, we are ready to join the other nations in such a movement."

United States Ambassador White, when asked for a statement of the American position, said:

"I have no authority to express the views of the Government, since Germany has not thus far approached the United States with a request to join a movement for a clearer definition of contraband and the rights of neutrals, but I may say that our Government has always been ready to go into a conference on the subject. Ever since the declaration of Paris, in 1856, the United States Government has stood for the same sea rights as land rights respecting private property, holding it free under any circumstances, which is going further than any other nation.

"During the Peace Conference at The Hague I made a desperate effort in the same direction. Not only did I write a long letter to the President of the conference, Baron de Staal, but I also made a long speech on the question before the conference. I found Germany, Sweden, and Holland with the United States in the main, but that England was against us, and also France and Russia, for well-known reasons."

The East Africa Line is now establishing the amount of damage it sustained by the seizure of the Bundesrath. This will be at the least 500,000 marks.

MAY REDUCE CAPITAL STOCK.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—An official announcement to be presented to the stockholders of the Illinois Electric Vehicle Transportation Company shortly will probably advise reduction in the amount of the capital stock, after the plan followed by some of the Eastern companies of like character and backed by the same interests. A like reduction in the capital of the Illinois Electric Vehicle Transportation Company would bring its capital of $25,000,000 down to $5,000,000.

The Illinois Company shares are of $100 face value, of which $5 has been paid, and they are subject to call for installments in the future, as the needs of the company may require. Thus, while the reduction in the capital would leave the stockholder's interest in the present assets of the company unchanged, it would reduce his liability on calls for future payments under the underwriting agreement.

The amount of cash secured from payment of the first five-dollar installment on the shares yet remaining in the treasury of the company is equal to more than the present market price of the shares, and no doubt it is the present liability of the stockholders for future payments which has depressed the value of the company's securities in the market.

A DAY'S WEDDINGS.

Cassatt—Fell.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 22.—Miss Minnie Drexel Fell, daughter of Mrs. Alexander Van Rensselaer, was married at noon today to Robert Kelso Cassatt, son of Alexander J. Cassatt, President of the Pennsylvania Railroad, in St. Thomas's Episcopal Church, Camp Hill.

To the strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin" the bridal procession proceeded to the chancel. Beneath an unmense bell composed of white roses, white carnations, and Easter lilies, the bride was joined by the bridegroom. The Episcopal marriage service was read by the Rev. Samuel Snelling, rector of the church, assisted by the Rev. Henry Ingersoll Meigs. The ceremony over, carriages conveyed the bridal party and guests to the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Van Rensselaer, where a reception was given.

The bride wore a dress of white point d'alençon, en traine. A point tulle veil was fastened to her hair by a single rose. She carried a white Prayer Book and did not wear a jewel of any description. Mrs. Van Rensselaer wore a dark-blue velvet dress, with a white satin vest and a big blue and white hat.

The bridesmaids were Miss Mae Fell, the bride's younger sister; Miss Ellen Drexel Paul, Miss Katharine Cassatt, Miss Elsie Cassatt, Miss Rhoda Howe, Miss Lilly Rhodes, and Miss Pauline Biddle of this city, Miss Mary McCormick of Chicago, and Miss Grey of Albany. The bridegroom was attended by Murray Forbes of Boston as best man. The ushers were George McFadden, Samuel K. Reeves, George L. Harrison, Thomas Ridgway, Livingston L. Biddle, F. W. Rawle, and Samuel Chew of this city, S. A. Lawton of New York, and C. W. Hanford of Pittsburg. The bride was given away by her stepfather.

Englander—Bauman.

Max Englander and Miss Lillie Bauman, daughter of Samuel Bauman of 51 West Eighty-ninth Street, were married last night at Sherry's. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Davidson. The maid of honor was Miss Bettie Coon, and the bridesmaids were the Misses Selma Englander, Stella Goldsmith, Stella Appell, and Miriam Fox. The best man was B. B. Englander. The ushers were William Blau, Leo Weil, Maurice Appell, and Samuel Appell. The bride wore ivory satin with point lace trimmings, and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore a gown of white lace over silk. Her bouquet was of white roses. The bridesmaids were gowned in white silk trimmed with duchesse lace.

Kahn—Friedman.

Emil W. Kahn and Miss Cora Friedman, daughter of Henry Friedman, were married last night at the home of the bride's father, 6 East Ninety-fourth Street. Dr. Felix Adler performed the ceremony. Dinner was served after the ceremony at Sherry's. Between the courses a musical programme was given, including a number of original songs sung by the guests. The couple started last night on a wedding tour through the South.

Established 1823.

WILSON WHISKEY.

That's All

THE WILSON DISTILLING CO.
Baltimore, Md.

MOLINEUX MURDER TRIAL

More Physicians Say Barnet Died of Mercurial Poisoning.

Fight Over Admission of Defendant's Testimony Before the Coroner—State May Rest To-day.

The proceedings yesterday in the Molineux trial included the taking of further expert medical testimony and a discussion as to whether the testimony of Roland B. Molineux given by him as a witness at the Coroner's inquest should be admitted as evidence, a point not decided at the close of the day. The prosecution failed to wind up its case, though it was thought that the case of the people would be completed today when the result of the chemical tests of inks will be submitted by Mr. Hagan, the writing expert.

The first witness called yesterday by Assistant District Attorney Osborne was Dr. Henry P. Loomis, who made the autopsy on Barnet's body. He said he had made the autopsy and failed to find any cause of death. Had death been due to diphtheria, he said, the membrane of the throat would have shown it. The hypothetical question, intended to cover the conditions in the Barnet case, similar to that put to the other expert medical witnesses, was then put and objected to by Mr. Weeks for the defense on the ground that it was not correctly stated. It was amended by the including of points made by Mr. Weeks, and the witness then said in such a case he would say death was due to mercurial poisoning.

On cross-examination the doctor said he arrived at the conclusion that poison caused death by the history of the case, the condition of the mouth, the report of the chemist who examined the organs and found the poison, and from the failure of the autopsy to show any other cause.

In answer to further questioning the doctor said the Klebs-Loeffler bacilli were discovered in 1883, and that diphtheria had been recognized as a distinct disease since 1883. Mr. Weeks then called attention to a medical work written by Dr. Loomis's father in which diphtheria was mentioned, but the doctor said there could be no true diagnosis of the disease before the discovery of the germ and the making of cultures. This line of questioning was the outcome of the witness's previous statement that only the Klebs-Loeffler germ gave true diphtheria.

Dr. Loomis, however, admitted that Dr. Douglass, who attended Barnet, is well known as a pathologist, a careful man, and of good reputation. Dr. Douglass's testimony was a justification of his diagnosis of the case as one of diphtheria.

Dr. A. Campbell White of the Board of Health, who was next called, said some 2,000 cases of diphtheria had come under his observation, and that while connected with the Willard Parker Hospital several cases of mercurial poisoning had come there mistakenly assumed to be diphtheria. Mr. Weeks brought out on cross-examination that many of these cases had come under the doctor's observation before 1894, prior to which time no cultures had been taken by the Board of Health. The hypothetical question was also put to this physician, and the witness answered giving mercurial poisoning as the cause of death.

The first witness after the recess was Dr. Frank Ferguson, connected with St. Luke's and the New York Hospital. To the hypothetical question he also assigned mercurial poisoning as the cause of death. Dr. Ferguson examined the stomach of Mrs. Adams, and when called upon to describe its condition said he found the membrane almost totally destroyed, and the cause to which he assigned this condition was corrosive poison.

"In your opinion, what was the cause of death, doctor?" asked Mr. Osborne.

"Cyanogen contained in cyanide of mercury," was the reply.

Mr. Weeks, taking up the doctor on cross-examination, asked: "Did you find any evidences of asphyxiation?"

The doctor did not answer the question, but proceeded to tell what he did find. Two or three times Mr. Weeks tried to get an answer to his question, and finally found out that the lungs had not been seen by the doctor. In reply to further questioning witness said the action of the poison is such as to affect every cell in the body, ultimately causing asphyxiation, but he had not seen the lungs.

Mr. Weeks then questioned the doctor as to the germs of diphtheria, and, asking him when he had had his first diphtheria case, the doctor replied that it was in 1882. That was a year before the discovery of the Klebs-Loeffler bacilli, and Mr. Weeks asked if he had found that germ. The doctor promptly replied that he had not.

"Yet it was a case of diphtheria, wasn't it?" asked Mr. Weeks.

"Yes, Sir."

An employe of Tiffany & Co., M. M. Dodd, was next called, and from him it was learned that Molineux had an account with that firm in 1898, the last purchase having been made in January, 1899. Mr. Weeks brought out that the purchases were principally in the stationery department. Witness was then asked some questions by Mr. Osborne as to the kind of boxes used, being shown one long and of small depth and width. It was not like any used in his department, he said.

Dr. E. Styles Potter, who was called in consultation when Mrs. Adams died, was the next witness. "Did you form an opinion at the time of Mrs. Adams's death of the cause?" he was asked.

"I did."

"What was it?"

"Cyanide of potassium."

"Or at least one of the cyanides?" asked Mr. Osborne.

"Yes."

The hypothetical question covering the Barnet case was then put and brought out the reply, "mercurial poisoning."

The following testimony, brought out in cross-examination, was a repetition of the doctor's testimony before the Coroner. He was called in by Harry Cornish at about 9 o'clock in the morning. Asked as to how Cornish was dressed, the doctor said his impression was that Cornish was not completely dressed.

"Did he tell you he had mixed a separate dose of bromo-seltzer for himself?" Mr. Weeks asked.

The question was ruled out. The doctor's testimony before the Coroner to the effect that Mrs. Rogers had asked that the notification of the Coroner be delayed until she had seen Assistant District Attorney McIntyre, who was her friend and legal adviser, was read.

"Did Mrs. Rogers also say to Cornish she wanted the affair kept quiet, and that he knew the reason why?" asked Mr. Weeks.

"Yes," said the doctor.

The doctor said he did not see any signs of sickness about Cornish. Mr. Osborne put a question to the doctor, suggesting that he had not paid particular attention to what was going on about him except to the case before him. The doctor said that was true.

Mr. Weeks promptly followed this with a question as to whether the doctor had not testified that immediately after his return on the morning Mrs. Adams died, he made a memorandum of all that had taken place.

The doctor said he had, and it was arranged that he should be recalled to produce this memorandum.

George H. Gordon, stenographer for the Coroner, testified he had taken the minutes of the Adams inquest, including the testimony given by Molineux. He was asked to read these minutes, but Mr. Weeks objected, saying the defendant might not have been properly advised of his rights at that time.

The Recorder said he would not permit the reading of this testimony unless the Assistant District Attorney could show that the defendant had not at the time of the giving of this testimony as a witness been formally accused of the crime. It was brought out that the arrest was not made until Feb. 27, and Coroner Hart, who was called, said there was no formal accusation prior to that time.

The lawyers cited various cases bearing on this subject which, however, were not accepted by the Recorder as parallel, and then Mr. Weeks began an argument to show that Cornish, on the stand the day before Molineux, had made statements throwing suspicion on Molineux and that Molineux had been compelled to testify under threat of being adjudged in contempt of court, while counsel had been denied the right to appear, the District Attorney threatening him with arrest if he attempted to open his mouth.

"You ought to have been arrested," Mr. Osborne interjected here.

"Not a very polite remark on the part of the District Attorney," retorted Mr. Weeks.

The question was still under discussion as to the admissibility of Molineux's testimony when court adjourned.

AGAINST HARPER & BROTHERS.

Creditors Ask that the Corporation Be Declared Bankrupt.

A petition in involuntary bankruptcy was filed yesterday against Harper & Brothers, corporation, publishers, of 325 Pearl Street, by Epstein Brothers for the following creditors: Albert D. Smith, $393; Albert Clayburgh, $326, and Robert Rutter & Son, $1,737. The claims are all for merchandise sold to the corporation between Sept. 12 and Nov. 26. The claim of Mr. Clayburgh was assigned to him by Robert J. Freeman.

It is alleged in the petition that the corporation committed an act of bankruptcy on Dec. 4 last by permitting a receiver to be appointed in the Supreme Court, because of insolvency, in which petition Harper & Brothers admitted in writing inability to pay the debts, and willingness to be placed in the hands of a receiver for the benefit of creditors, and that while insolvent paid a person or persons specifically unknown to petitioners, with intent thereby to give them preference over other creditors.

Epstein Brothers said that one of the reasons for filing the petition in bankruptcy is that their clients are not satisfied to have the State Trust Company act as receiver for the corporation, for which it was appointed on Dec. 4, as the State Trust Company represents the bondholders and mortgage, for the benefit of the bondholders, and not for the general creditors. The receiver is now carrying on the business, working up the materials on hand and paying the expenses of running it out of the assets on hand, which belong to the general creditors.

Then there is the Reorganization Committee made up of secured creditors and a bank, which has made a proposition for a compromise, and Epstein Brothers said their clients are not satisfied with the proposition under way. Another reason for the petition is that there are under the State Court receivership certain preferences which cannot be had in the Bankruptcy Court.

MRS. MILLS'S ANNUAL DANCE.

Mrs. Ogden Mills gave last evening at her residence, 2 East Sixty-ninth Street, her annual dance, which was attended by about 200 guests. Last year this dance was the second in a series which were given by a number of fashionable matrons, including Mrs. W. Bayard Cutting, Mrs. W. D. Sloane, Mrs. R. Fulton Cutting, Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, and Mrs. Frederic Bronson. This duller season, which has not brought the crowding gayeties of last Winter, made Mrs. Mills's dance of last evening more of an event, if possible, to her guests than it would otherwise have been.

The dance was not given in honor of Miss Mary Crocker, as had been erroneously stated in several journals, but was Mrs. Mills's annual entertainment for her friends. Her guests began to arrive about 11 P. M., many of them coming from the opera, where "Le Prophète" was sung, and others from various dinners. Mrs. Mills wore a gown of soft gray tulle over gray silk, trimmed with a profusion of white lace, and her tiara and necklace of diamonds. She received alone at the entrance to the drawing rooms on the second floor.

Palms and ferns were placed in the halls and drawing rooms, as well as vases filled with cut flowers, which came from the conservatories at Mr. Mills's place at Staatsburg, on the Upper Hudson.

Supper was served soon after the later guests had arrived, and about midnight at small tables placed in the dining room and hallways. At the conclusion of this supper the cotillion was begun in the beautiful ballroom. It was led, as this cotillion has been led during the past few Winters, by Mr. Worthington Whitehouse, dancing with Mrs. Mills. There were seven favor figures, and the favors were dainty and were chosen by Mrs. Mills herself. They were silver articles, bonbon spoons, knives, bonbonnières, orders, powders on staffs, little fancy ornaments of French tissue paper, and other trifles. The pretty colors and tinsel effect of the lighter favors added greatly to the effect of the cotillion. A second supper was served after the cotillion. The guests, who, as said above, numbered about 200, and who were about evenly divided as to sex, were the men and women on Mrs. Mills's visiting list, which except for death or mourning and through all the changing conditions of New York society, like the law of the Medes and Persians, altereth not.

These guests included Mr. and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, Miss Mary Crocker, Miss Anna Sands, Mrs. Maturin Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Gerry and the Misses Gerry, Mr. and Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Bronson, Miss Elsie Bronson, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kemp, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Harriman, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Victor Sorchan, the Misses Morton, Mr. and Mrs. Lanfear Norrie, the Misses Barbey, Miss Edith Clapp, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bryce, Miss Bryce, Mr. and Mrs. Oakley Rhinelander, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund L. Baylies, Mr. and Mrs. Egerton L. Winthrop, Mr. and Mrs. W. Bayard Cutting, Miss Cutting, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Fulton Cutting, Mr. and Mrs. Cooper Hewitt, Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Wilmerding, Mr. and Mrs. Watts Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pendleton, Mr. and Mrs. Starr Miller, Mrs. Burke Roche, Mr. and Mrs. T. Suffern Taller, Mr. and Mrs. J. Lee Taller, Miss Beni, Mr. Heber R. Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Livermore, Mrs. John Sloane, Miss Evelyn Sloane, Mrs. Henry Clews, Miss Clews, the Misses Thomas F. Cushing, Egerton Winthrop, Robert Van Courtlandt, Edward de Peyster Livingston, Henry Bull, James De W. Cutting, Robert L. Cutting, Edward Bulkley, Alphonse de Navarro, Eliot Gregory, Craig Wadsworth, Phoenix Ingraham, Reginald Brooks, Harry Lehr, Barclay Kountze, Robert Gerry, Goelet Gallatin, and Robert Sands.

Grover Cleveland's Hunting Trip Over.

GEORGETOWN, S. C., Jan. 22.—Ex-President Grover Cleveland, Capt. Robley D. Evans, Capt. P. B. Lamberton, E. C. Benedict and Gen. A. G. McCook came up from the Santee Gun Club preserves to-day and left here at 3 o'clock in their private car attached to the regular northbound train. Mr. Cleveland is much improved by the outing and said that he had enjoyed excellent sport.

SHIPPING AND FOREIGN MAILS.

Miniature Almanac—This Day.

A. M.	P. M.	A. M.
Sun rises...7:17	Sun sets...5:07	Moon rises...12:03

High Water This Day.

A. M.	A. M.	A. M.
S. Hook...12:08	Gov. Isl'd..12:28	H. Gate....2:22
P. M.	P. M.	P. M.
S. Hook...12:08	Gov. Isl'd..12:15	H. Gate....2:11

Outgoing Steamships.

TO-DAY, (TUESDAY,) JAN. 23.

Mails Close. Vessels Sail.

Algonquin, Charleston	.....	3:00 P. M.
Talisman, Guadeloupe	9:00 A. M.	.....
Lahn, Southampton and Bremen	7:00 A. M.	10:00 A. M.
Wartburg, Haiti	1:00 P. M.	3:00 P. M.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 24.

Advance, Colon	9:30 A. M. *10:00 A. M.	1:00 P. M.
Alamo, Galveston	.....	.....
Friesland, Antwerp	10:30 A. M.	12:00 M.
Ithaka, Tampico	1:00 P. M.	3:00 P. M.
New York, Southampton	7:00 A. M. *9:00 A. M.	10:00 A. M.
Oceanic, Queenstown and Liverpool	8:00 A. M. *9:30 A. M.	11:00 A. M.
San Juan, San Juan	1:00 P. M.	3:00 P. M.
U. S. transport, Puerto Rico	10:30 A. M.	.....
Vigilancia, Havana, &c.	1:00 P. M.	3:00 P. M.

THURSDAY, JAN. 25.

Augusta Victoria, Naples, &c.	.....	11:00 A. M.
Cienfuegos, Santiago	1:00 P. M.	3:00 P. M.
Excelsior, New Orleans	.....	3:00 P. M.
La Bretagne, Havre	7:00 A. M.	10:00 A. M.
State of Nebraska, Glasgow	.....	.....

FRIDAY, JAN. 26.

Comanche, Charleston	.....	3:00 P. M.
Maracaibo, San Juan	11:00 A. M. *11:30 A. M.	1:00 P. M.
Roraima, St. Thomas	9:30 A. M. *10:00 A. M.	12:00 M.

SATURDAY, JAN. 27.

Adirondack, Jamaica, Costa Rica	10:00 A. M. *10:30 A. M.	12:00 M.

All Cars Transfer to Bloomingdale's
3d Ave., 59th & 60th Sts

Our Trade Sale of Perfumes, Patent Medicines, Toilet Requisites, &c., & c.

The crowds at our counters smilingly demonstrate the fact that our customers appreciate values. It would pay you to secure your needs now, or purchase and store away for future use.

At 29c. a 1¼ oz. bottle of Coudray's Celebrated French Extracts, sold in Paris at 3frs., or 60c. including the following odors: Violet, Heliotrope, Blanc, Lilac, White Rose, Peau-de-Espange and Jockey Club.
Our sale price, per bottle . . . 29c
Only 2 bottles to a customer.

Rubber Goods.
Remember that manufactured and crude rubber has advanced 50%; we nevertheless offer Hot Water Bottle and Fountain Syringes, every one warranted, at the following exceptionally low prices, each in a separate box:

Hot Water Bottles,

1 qt.	2 qt.	3 qt.	4 qt.
29	39	49	59

Fountain Syringes, all hard rubber connections, 3 hard rubber pipes:

1 qt.	2 qt.	3 qt.	4 qt.
39	49	59	69

Claver's Glycerine Soap 5
Kirk's Snowberry Soap, 8 oz. floating bath 7
Old Glycerine Soap . Japanese Bouquet Soap 24
Oatmeal Soap . . .
Old Honey Soap . . .
Per box of 1 doz. cakes
Oakley's Celebrated Extracts, all odors, small bottles . . . 15
French's Bay Rum . 10
Florida Water (Ponce de Leon) 15
Dr. Snow's Violet Carbolized Talcum Powder, ... 5
Dr. Snow's Pearl Tooth Powder, . . . 5
Dr. Snow's Witch Hazel, pure distilled, per half pint bottles, ... 9
Dr. Snow's Seidlitz Powders, U. S. P., per box 12 powders, . 10
Dressing Combs, 7 inch, strong hard rubber, ... 5

Magic Polishing Cloths, 5
An assortment of fine English and French pure bristle Tooth Brushes, some worth 35c. . . . 10
Dr. Snow's Egg Shampoo . . . 10
Chamois Skins, 9x14 inches, ... 5
Westphal's Auxiliator, large bottles, . 50
Red Raven Splits, . 5
Bath Brushes, long handles, . . . 19
Medicated Toilet Paper, per dozen perforated rolls, ... 23
95% Grain Alcohol, full quarts, ... 75
full pints, ... 39
Hundreds of other articles throughout our extensive department.
Lowest prices ever quoted.

PIANOS $5.00 DOWN.
This Is the Greatest Piano Value Ever Offered.
Join our Piano Club and secure one of the sweet-toned Siesel Pianos.
Pianos Are Delivered on Payment of First $5.
If you join our Piano Club we will furnish you with the celebrated sweet-toned SIESEL Piano for $149.00.

The Highest Cost Whiskey
in the U. S.—to manufacture and to the bottler—is the OLD CROW RYE
but on account of competition is sold to the public as low as any of the cheaper made whiskies. The HAND-MADE S

WANAMAKER'S WANAMAKER'S WANAMAKER'S WANAMAKER'S

An Intended Compliment

SHE was walking through the Rotunda with a friend, who evidently was a stranger in New York.

And the friend liked the store, and said so. "Yes, we think it the finest store in New York," said the woman who knew.

Please do not feel that way about it.

Fine things are so apt to make one feel as though "don't touch" signs were dangerously near—fine rooms are so little apt to be really home-like and cheerful.

It is a beautiful store—bountiful in its beauty—but won't you think of it as a comfortable store, a useful store, your store?

There is all the freedom we know how to give—and as many things as we can find room for, just to look at and enjoy.

As a store, its aims and purposes are clear: Good service; fair prices; nothing considered as absolutely sold until the purchaser is satisfied.

Three important sales started yesterday—and continue to-day—

Housekeeping Linens—interesting because of very low prices.
Trade Sale of China and Glass—a third to a half under every-day prices.
50c Cotton-and-Silk Foulards at 25c.

50c Cotton-and-Silk Foulards at 25c

Luckily the lot was large, for appreciative women bought two, three or five dress lengths at a time—you see, there are two hundred and four styles to choose from. And three-fourths of them in some play of blue and white. We know the future price will be about the same that you gave for equal goods last year—50c a yard—and the mills are busy. It does not change the value because we bought 109,000 yards at half price—the lot will be sold in a jiffy, and at the maker's command we do not call the fabric by his trade name. Cotton for strength; silk for sheen—half of each, and pretty all over.

In the Rotunda.

Muslin Underwear

Extra selling space to-day—Fifth Floor.

You see, the store has grown too small for the demands of the business, so to prevent crowding and scrambling (which you do not like and we will not have) we borrow space here and there to equalize things as well as we can.

Almost the very last of the special lots of Muslin Underwear have come—you'll be in a hurry to get your share of it, and to-day will find—

These lots in the Fifth Floor Annex—Drawers, at 15c; Night Gowns, at 50c to $1.75; Petticoats, 35c to $1.75.

Of course these lots, with all the other items of the sale, are to be found on Second Floor as well. Buy wherever it seems roomiest.

Linens---Very Decided Bargains

It is a simple proposition—we have certain lots of linens, as a rule, from our regular suppliers, that were sold to us at a loss to close out the special patterns and lines. Linens are higher—we are paying more for our forthcoming regular stocks. In the face of that, we are selling these lots cheaper probably than equal goods have ever before been offered.

A good many of the lots will be sold out by to-night.

Table Cloths—
$1.75 for 2-yd. long cloths of pretty Irish Damask; 3-yd. at $2.75.
$2.90 for 2x2½ yard Cloths, instead of $3.50.
26-inch Napkins to match at $2.90 a dozen.

Table Linen by the Yard—
35c for 63-in. Bohemian Linen.
40c for loom-dice Linen, 56-in. wide.
56c for bleached Irish Damask, 67 in. wide.
75c for bleached Scotch Damask, 72 in. wide.
$1 for Scotch Double Damask, 70 in. wide.
$1.25 for $1.75 Double Damask, 2 yds. wide.

Fancy Linens—
45c each—Hemstitched Damask Tray Cloths, one row of open work; our 60c kind.
$1.25 each—Tea Cloths, hemstitched, 45 in. and 54 in. square; our $1.75 kind.
$2 each—Tea Cloths, hemstitched; 45 in.; were $2.75.
$2.50 each—Tea Cloths, hemstitched; 45 in.; were $3.25.

Fourth avenue side.

Napkins—50c, 75c, 85c per doz., silver bleached Bohemians; $1.50 doz, 20-in. Scotch bleached, $1.75 kind. Some big Dinner Napkins at $4.25, but they are the regular standard $5.50 kind.

Towels—
10c for 15c Huckaback Towels, 18x38 in.
12½c for German Damask Towels, bleached, 21x45 in., knotted fringe.
19c for Old Bleach Huckaback Towels, 20x39 in., fringed.
25c for 35c Bath Towels (Turkish, cotton,) 23x45 in.
35c for 50c Hemstitched Huckaback Towels, 23x45 in.
45c for 65c fancy weave bleached Towels, 25x44.

Toweling—
16-in.-wide bleached Crash at 5c a yard, instead of 8c.
6¼c a yard for 10c Crash, brown or bleached, 20 in. wide; or 16 in. Crash, twilled.
12½c for 18c Glass Toweling, checked; and 20 in. bleached Twilled Crash.

In the Fifth Floor Bargain Store

Several lots of Muslin Underwear; Women's Handkerchiefs at 12 1-2c—values 25c to $1 (like those we sold last Saturday); Women's and Children's Gloves—kidskin and others; Women's and Children's Knitted Underwear; Women's Stockings, and Children's Dresses. Handkerchiefs will not be ready until 10 o'clock.

Women's Suits Very New We tailor folks call these "spring styles," but, as a matter of fact, if a woman intends to get the good of a cloth costume she buys it early—for we're apt to jump from winter to summer weather.

The new styles are charming—different enough to be interesting; as somebody put it, they are more womanly.

$18 to $110 for these new tailored suits.

Of course, we've stand-by styles for less than $18—not that stylishness is allowed to cost too much here. But there are certain inexpensive stuffs that make up very well.

Second Floor, Broadway.

Gold Watches for Women About a dozen; about one-third value. Grows interesting, doesn't it? Here's the story—J. J. Badollet & Co., of Geneva, lost their American agent some time ago, and the watches in hand were sold to us—at approximately one-third their worth.

We have twelve of the Women's Watches — some open-face, some hunting case, and all the cases—even the inner cap—of 18k. gold. Two or three of the watches are enameled; some are perfectly plain.

Full jeweled Badollet movements—and the watches are sold under our regular broad guarantee—thirty dollars

Wish we had more. Will you come in time to get one of the dozen?

Broadway and Tenth street.

Violets Liberal bunches, with touch of foliage—25c and 35c.

Natural? A bee might be fooled by them—for they look for all the world like Nature's handiwork.

A woman makes them—a woman who has beaten all Europe at flower making, and who wouldn't trade salaries with a state governor. And yet, you wonder at the cheapness of these bunches. It's the know-how—and she has that pre-eminently.

Special counter, Main floor, near Broadway.

Trade Sale of China and Glass

Things at half price are not always cheap—they may have been too high in the first place, or may have been about some warehouse until every one was sick and tired of them. We have decided that you don't want "job lots" and that we musn't sell them—they are apt to be really too dear.

But the Trade Sale rests on better foundation—manufacturers are better off for taking some orders at a loss—they help over odd times, just as the regular boarder helps a hotel, even though he pays only half the transient rate.

This china and bric-a-brac is fresh and fine. Austria and France furnished most of it. The cut glass is American—because America clearly leads the world in glass working.

Prices are clearly set forth in the detail that follows—we make comparisons intelligently and fairly.

Bric-a-brac, fancy china and glass on Main floor.

Dinner ware and wash-stand sets in the Basement.

Separate China Pieces in Groups

A Group at 25c—
French and Austrian china and English porcelain. Actual values are $6 to $9 a dozen—a fair proportion at the latter figure. All are attractively decorated in colors and gold. The tables hold bread-and-butter, tea, and course plates, after-dinner cups and saucers.

A Group at 50c—
This is all French china—breakfast plates, dinner plates, comports, bon-bon dishes, olive dishes, tea cups and saucers, inkwells. The lowest valuation on the least expensive kind is $8.50 a dozen—that for the breakfast plates. Other pieces in this lot are worth $10 and $12 a dozen.

A Group at 75c—
A collection of elegant French plates, made up almost entirely of Haviland's goods. There are breakfast, dinner, tea and soup plates, all of which are full $1.50 values.

A Group at $1—
All plates—dinner, breakfast, tea and soup. The same make and quality as those reduced to 75c, but these have costlier decorations. They are easily worth $1.50 ea.

Dinner Sets

$6—English porcelain; 100 pieces; underglaze decorations. This quality cannot be bought from the manufacturers to-day at this price.
$8.50—English porcelain; 100 pieces; 3 styles of decoration. The wholesale price is higher.
$15—American porcelain; 113 pieces; fine border decoration and gold; value $20.
$15—Austrian china; 101 pieces; all handles gilded; an especially good value.
$20—English porcelain; 145 pieces; blue underglaze decoration; value $27.50.
And these sets of French china—
125 pieces, $125; value $200.
124 pieces, $65; value $95.
113 pieces, $45; value $60.

Dinner Sets

Also some French china sets at $20, that are worth $27.50; and some at $25, worth $35.
The dinner sets are conveniently arranged in the Chinaware Store, Basement.

Cut Glass

Richly cut—American, the best. All in new, desirable designs. This list shows savings—present prices compared with regular valuation:
Water tumblers, $2.25 doz.; worth $4. Some at $5, worth $9.
Jelly Plates, $3; worth $4.
Bowls, 8-in., $3.50; worth $5; and at $5.50, worth $8.
Flower Vases, 18-in., $7.50, worth $10; 14-in., $3.50, worth $5; 12-in., $2.75, worth $3.75.

Bric-a-Brac

Exceptionally good values in Teplitz vases and figures, and Sevres mounted vases, in exquisite designs and decorations.
Teplitz vases, 85c, instead of $1.25; $2.50, instead of $3.50; $4.50, instead of $6.50.
Sevres vases at $27.50, instead of $40; at $35, instead of $50; $40, instead of $60.

Finest Plates

There have been exceptionally noteworthy offerings in fine plates here, never a more attractive one than this. These are plates of finest quality, in exquisite decorations. Most of them have been selling at $4 and $5 each—some even higher. Price, $2 each

Toilet Sets

They were bought as "seconds"—said to be imperfect. They are practically as good as those rated perfect, for the blemishes are hard to find. In two modern shapes, all complete 12-piece sets, all with fine decorations of flowers and gold, on tinted grounds. One kind at $4.50 is the quality that sells regularly for $7. The other at $6 is the usual $12 kind.

Lamps and Globes

Some elegant lamps remain from the specially selected Holiday stock. To them are added about 150 fine samples—priced—$6 to $8 kinds at $4; $8.50 to $12 kinds at $6; $13.50 to $18 kinds at $9

Ruby Lamp Globes in deep rich color, with beautifully etched lace and floral designs, in 9, 10 and 12-in. sizes are newly priced:
9-in., at $1; regularly $2
10-in., at $1.50; regularly $2.50
12-in., at $2.50; regularly $3.50

Basement.

Men's Suits to Order You may save 20 to 50 per cent. on a suit made to your measure if you'll choose quickly. There's good choice, too. Some of the best patterns in fine cheviots and worsteds remain from the season's selling. These fabrics are of the $25 to $40-a-suit kinds—that is, according to our prices. They're always considerably below those of the exclusive custom tailor. A sack suit, properly cut and carefully made, from these suitings, is now $20—to close them out. It won't take long.

Second floor, Fourth avenue.

Men's Trousers The coats and vests hold out, but the average man's wardrobe is short on trousers.

And luckily we found a tailor who had too many.

We're very much like a broker—an easy meeting-place for demand and supply.

Trousers of neat worsteds, fifty styles—$5, with all the good looks you'd get at $6.50 or $8.
Some at $4 instead of $5. Worsted and cheviot.
Others at $3—and a heap better than you ever hoped to get at the price.

Second floor, Fourth avenue.

Umbrellas If it's a bright day you'll be inclined to skip this paragraph.

But if you wait for a rainy day (unless it rains to-day) you'll not buy really good umbrellas for so little.

Four special lots—
Women's 26-in. union silk (part cotton) umbrellas, with natural wood stick, silver trimmed, or horn or Dresden or pearl handle, $1.75.
Women's 26-in. all-silk umbrellas, various styles of handle—$2.90—values up to $5.
Men's union-taffeta umbrellas, 28 in., at $1.75.
Men's all-silk, 28 in. umbrellas, at $2.90.

Broadway.

Aprons and Caps Lawn and gingham aprons, numerous qualities of each. Prices for those of lawn begin at 25c—a neat substantial kind it is. 50c for those of sheer lawn, hemmed and hemstitched; broad sash. Others at 65c, 75c and up to $2.75.

Gingham Aprons, at 18c to 40c.
Maids' Caps, at 8c to 35c.
Nurses' Caps, at 15c to 75c.

Second floor, Fourth avenue.

The Bicycle of the Year is the Orient

As easily leader this year as last—when Orient riders carried off the bulk of the prizes and made one world's record after another. Now, we haven't an idea that you'll be scorcher or racer, but if a wheel proves winner right along, it is because it runs easiest. Won't that easy running add to your pleasure in cycling?

Stronger than ever this year, because made of brass-lined tubing, which will not corrode and cannot rust. No added weight.

Orient Roadster, men's and women's, $50. Orient Chainless, men's and women's, $75.
Orient Leader, the new racer, men's and women's, $65.

And the Orient Motor Tricycle—which is half French, for it is run by De Dion motor. This is $450.

What we've left of the 1899 Orients go on sale to-day at these reductions—

Roadsters, $37.50, from $50. With Morrow Brake, $45, from $60.
One-Thirty Racers, $52, from $65.

Fresh and bright, and in general outlines almost the exact counterparts of the "1900" models.

Basement.

Formerly A. T. Stewart & Co., JOHN WANAMAKER Broadway, Fourth Ave., Ninth and Tenth Sts.

EX-SLAVES ARE DEFRAUDED

Pension Swindle Is Now Reaching Great Proportions.

EFFORTS TO STAMP IT OUT

In Spite of Official Warnings Many Ignorant Negroes Are Paying in Money to the Promoters.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The ex-slave pension swindle has taken deeper root and spread further than had been supposed, even by Government officials. The delusion that the United States Government is about to pension all the persons who were in slavery before the civil war is a fixed belief throughout the Southern States, thanks to the ingenuity with which the men behind the scheme have fostered it. Here in Washington, where wide publicity has been given to the rascally character of the swindle, poor old negroes are paying money regularly in the expectation of getting a big windfall from the Government; and now reports from all over the South show that the delusion is spreading everywhere faster than the Government exposures can follow.

A discovery made by the Senate Committe on Pensions shows what a lucrative scheme this must be to the men who are preying on the ignorance of an unfortunate class. The committee has two "membership certificates" in the so-called "association" to which the former slaves are induced to belong. It costs 25 cents to get one of these certificates, and the dues are 10 cents a month. Besides that, before a local branch of the "association" is formed its members have to pay $2.50 for a charter. One of the certificates which has fallen into the hands of the Senate committte is dated July 5, 1897, and is numbered 1,387. The other is dated April 17, 1899, and is numbered 35,710. This indicates the momentum with which the delusion is spreading. By the time the second certificate was issued—nine months ago—the heads of the "association" must have gathered in over $50,000, with no expenses except the cost of printing and mailing seductive circulars.

The circulars are enough to convince people more intelligent and better educated than the average ex-slave. They are profusely illustrated, and give histories of the progress of the "movement." The dissemination of this literature received a severe set-back when Assistant Postmaster General Heath, on the recommendation of Pension Commissioner Evans, barred it from the mails. Nevertheless, though badly hampered, the promoters of the scheme continue to push their plan with unabated vigor.

Unfortunately, it is easy enough to get some unthinking Congressman to introduce, "by request," a bill to pension ex-slaves, and this has been done in more than one Congress. Of course, the introduction of the bill is the end of it; it is promptly killed, but that is enough to accomplish the purpose of the promoters. They are able to say that a bill has been or will be introduced, that money is needed for "expenses," and the victims, encouraged by the news, fall over themselves in their hurry to pay subscriptions and dues.

Senator Gallinger, Chairman of the Committee on Pensions, has investigated the matter, and added his vigorous denunciation to those of Commissioner Evans and Mr. Heath. The victims, however, belong to a class that is hard to reach in the main, and the lie is traveling a long way while the truth is getting its boots on.

CALLS LYNCHERS MURDERERS.

Fort Scott Judge Orders Officers to Shoot, If Necessary.

FORT SCOTT, Kan., Jan. 22.—County Attorney Shephard, addressing the Court today regarding the lynching Saturday night of the Mecks brothers, said the officers were the people's servants, and that the people had simply taken the enforcement of the law out of their hands. He said he could not censure them for it. The Meekses were t have been sentenced today.

When their cases were called, Judge Simons said the men composing the mob were guilty of murder, and that they had cast serious reflection on the city and county. He instructed the Sheriff to protect Amos Phillips, the third of the murderers, whose life the mob also sought, saying: "If it is necessary to shoot do so. That is your duty, and that is the order of this Court."

No action looking to the arrest of any of the mob was taken.

A Coroner's inquest into the death of the Meekses to-day rendered a verdict of "hanged by unknown men."

SPECIAL ASSEMBLY ELECTION.

The Contest in the Thirty-first District to be Settled To-day.

The special election called by proclamation of Gov. Roosevelt for member of Assembly of the Thirty-first Assembly District will be held to-day. The polls will be open from 6 A. M. to 5 P. M., and all citizens who registered last Fall, including those who registered at the special registration day, will be entitled to vote. The candidates are Samuel Scott Slater, the Republican nominee, who represented the district last year in the Assembly, and Leon W. Goldrich, the Democratic nominee, who filled the vacancy caused by the untimely death of Edwin Stone.

Although it is a special election, something that has never previously happened in that district, the campaign has been a warm one. Banners were raised by both parties, meetings were held, and the district, which runs from One Hundred and Tenth Street north to One Hundred and Thirty-fourth Street, between Eighth and Park Avenues, has been flooded with campaign literature. The Democrats have made special efforts to capture the Thirteenth Election District, in which Mr. Slater lives. It is estimated that not more than 9,000 votes will be cast.

REWARDS FOR POLICEMEN.

Officers Honored by the Board and Citizens for Meritorious Service.

The Police Commissioners have honored several men of the department for meritorious service, and have allowed others to receive rewards from outside persons for similar service.

Patrolman Daniel M. Gilloon of the steamboat Patrol received honorable mention and a medal of honor for bravery in rescuing from drowning Christopher Welch, who attempted suicide in the Harlem River, Nov. 10.

Patrolman Thomas A. Ryan of the Elizabeth Street Station received a medal of honor and honorable mention for rescuing a woman who have been overcome by smoke in a fire at 94 Mott Street several months ago.

Patrolman Charles E. Northup of the West Thirtieth Street Station was commended for meritorious service at a fire in the boarding house at 159 West Thirty-sixth Street Oct. 20. He was on the sick list from a burned arm for some time.

Detective Officer Henry Lang of the Detective Bureau was granted permission to receive a gold watch from Carl Fischer-Hansen for arresting and securing the conviction of three men who had attempted to blackmail Mr. Fischer-Hansen.

Policeman William M. Dobbyn of the West Sixty-eighth Street Station received permission to receive $50 from W. H. Seaich of 78 Riverside Avenue, for meritorious service at a fire there Jan. 3.

New Jersey Legislature.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 22.—The two houses of the Legislature had brief sessions to-night, in consequence of adjourning out of respect to the memory of ex-Attorney General Stockton, who died to-day. The Senate confirmed all the pending nominations, and the Governor sent in these nominations, which were referred: County Judge of Somerset—Louis H. Schenck; Prosecutor of Somerset County—James L. Griggs; Prosecutor of Salem County—J. Forman Sinnickson.

Died at the Age of 101.

Mrs. Ellen Callahan died Saturday at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Catherine Dolan, at 437 West Fifty-seventh Street. Mrs. Callahan was born in County Cavanagh, Ireland, 101 years ago. She came to New York in 1853. Up to a few months ago Mrs. Callahan was in good health and retained her memory to a remarkable degree.

A HIGHER FRENCH TARIFF.

Bill Affecting Colonial Products of Non-Reciprocating Countries.

PARIS, Jan. 22.—M. Cailiaux, Moderate Republican, will introduce a bill in the Chamber of Deputies this week establishing a maximum tariff on colonial products from foreign countries that do not give France the benefits of the most-favored-nation clause.

Under it the duty on coffee will be doubled and other rates will be correspondingly high.

TO INCREASE SWEDEN'S ARMY.

Budget Provides for Forty-six New Batteries of Artillery.

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 22.—In the Swedish Budget, which calls for nearly 150,000,000 kroner, and which is the largest on record, King Oscar asks for forty-six new batteries of artillery by the end of 1903. One hundred thousand new Mausers are to be manufactured and 50,000,000 cartridges to be in store within four years.

A credit is asked for a trial mobilization of the army reserves.

Another important item in the budget is the railway appropriation of 20,000,000 kroner, one-fourth of which is to be applied to the purchase of new rolling stock.

JAMAICA TRUSTS TO AMERICA.

Rejects Chamberlain's Scheme to Divert Fruit Trade to Britain.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Jan. 22.—Jamaica has emphatically rejected the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain's English direct fruit-trade scheme to divert the bulk of the colony's trade from America to England, which calls for a subsidy of £40,000 annually, Jamaica paying one-half.

The concensus of public opinion, replying to the Governor's plebescitic circular, indicates a preference to depend on American trade, because the merchants are confident they can convince the American opponents of reciprocity that Jamaican interests do not conflict with theirs, while the colony's future is involved in American trade relations.

THE DUKE OF TECK'S DEATH.

He Had Been Insane Since His Wife Died—Court to Go Into Mourning.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The Duke of Teck, who died from pneumonia yesterday evening, had been insane since the death of the Duchess, and had been constantly under restraint. Previous to her death he showed signs of insanity, which, subsequent to her demise, became fully developed. His death was hastened by an attack of paralysis, which came on suddenly.

The general feeling in Court circles is that it was a merciful release, though it puts the finishing touch on the gloom overwhelming society, for now there is no prospect of any social season in London, as the Court necessarily will go into mourning, which so many leading families are already wearing.

No members of the family were at the Duke's bedside when he died, but the Duke and Duchess of York arrived at White Lodge, Richmond Park, this afternoon.

HOW JOHN RUSKIN DIED.

He Seemed Better Friday, but on Saturday Sank Quietly into Death.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—Last Thursday evening, when Mrs. Severn went to Mr. Ruskin to read to him the war news and Edna Lyall's "In the Golden Days," she found him annoyed by a throat irritation, and complaining of pains all over. She was considerably alarmed, as several of the servants at Brantwood had been attacked by the influenza. He was put to bed and his physician summoned. His temperature was found to be 102, and the doctor enjoined the utmost care.

Nevertheless, Mr. Ruskin was comfortable, ate a dinner of sole, pheasant, and champagne on Friday, and that evening seemed better.

The next day showed a marked change for the worse, and the physician was alarmed. Mr. Ruskin sank speedily into unconsciousness, his breathing lessening in strength until, at 3:30 P. M., he died without the sign of a struggle.

TRIAL OF FRENCH PRIESTS.

Twelve Assumptionist Fathers Accused of Royalist Conspiracy.

PARIS, Jan. 22.—The trial of twelve Assumptionist Fathers began here to-day before the Correctional Tribunal. It is alleged that they were involved in the so-called Royalist and anti-republican conspiracy. The court was crowded, and a number of ladies were present.

The Judge opened the proceedings by questioning Father Picard, Superior of the order, who denied that he belonged to an illegal association and declared he never took part in the political agitation. The Assumptionists, he added, attended to purely religious questions. Father Picard's counsel then asked for the acquittal of the prisoners.

The Public Prosecutor, replying, said the fathers were prosecuted because, in violation of the law, they had been living in France for the past fifty years without the authorization of the Government or approbation of the Holy See. He then spoke of the wealth of the Assumptionists, and produced facts in support of the charge that they had entered actively into the electoral campaign against the republic. The hearing was then suspended.

The trial is attracting much attention, as it is a miniature repetition of the High Court (Senate) trial recently concluded.

Senor Mattos Imprisoned.

Advices from Caracas, Venezuela, report the imprisonment there of Señor Manuel A. Mattos, who was Minister of Finance under President Andrade and is one of Venezuela's wealthiest men, by order of President Castro on the charge of conspiracy against the Government. Documents found in his possession show that he was in touch with Gen. José Manuel Hernandez, the rebel leader. A few weeks ago a firm of this city received from Señor Mattos an order for 20,000 Mauser rifles and 2,000,000 cartridges. Señor Mattos was at one time a member of the firm of Scholtz, Sanchez & Co. of this city.

Irish League Defies Government.

DUBLIN, Jan. 22.—The United Irish League meeting, summoned at Sligo to denounce the Government practice of using exclusively Protestant juries in trying Nationalist offenders, was proclaimed by the Government. But in defiance of the proclamation the meeting was held in the Town Hall at 5 o'clock Sunday morning. The Chief Secretary for Ireland, Gerald Balfour, was dared to prosecute the promoters. William O'Brien, founder of the league, addressed the meeting.

Ambassador White Gives a Dinner.

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—Ambassador White entertained at dinner to-day the Belgian Premier, M. Beernaert. Many members of the Diplomatic Corps were invited to meet the guest of the occasion. Mr. White has also given a dinner for former Senator Mitchell of Wisconsin.

Trial of Prussian Financiers Begun.

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—At Stettin to-day the trial of Count von Arnim, son of Bismarck's old enemy, and of a number of Stettin and Berlin financiers began. They are charged with fraudulent practices in connection with the failure of the Pomeranian National Hypothekbank, the amount involved being about 3,500,000 marks.

Translating Work on Naval Tactics.

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—Lieut. Commander Beehler, United States Naval Attaché here, is translating a work on naval tactics by Capt. Labre of the Austrian Navy, which will shortly appear, and which, it is said, will make some startling revelations.

Fund for German Commercial Bureau

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—The Berlin Chamber of Commerce has voted 50,000 marks toward the establishment of the proposed National Commercial Bureau, whose future is thus assured.

Brazilian Dictator Arrested.

RIO JANEIRO, Jan. 22.—The Minister of Foreign Affairs, Dr. de Magalhaes, has received a telegram announcing the arrest of Galvez, Dictator of Acre, and that he has been sent to Manaos.

To Prevent Railway Accidents.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The British Royal Commission appointed to inquire into the cause of railway accidents recommends the compulsory use of automatic couplings.

Trimble

"When you do drink, Drink Trimble."

Green Label.

The Green Label Bottling is 10 years old.

At all First-Class Dealers.
WHITE, HENTZ & CO., Phila. and N. Y.
Sole Proprietors.
Established 1793

Whiskey

THE FOUNDATION OF HEALTH

Abbey's Effervescent Salt.

"THE 'SALT' OF SALTS."

We ought to be thankful to Abbey for sending his Effervescent Salt all the way from England.

A teaspoonful in a glass of water night and morning works wonders.

No more headache! no more constipation! no more indigestion! no more biliousness! no more heartburn! health instead.

There are some people who never do anything until they have to. Don't be one of them. Take care of your health while you have it. Retain it by the daily use of Abbey's Effervescent Salt.

At druggists'. 25c., 50c. and $1 per bottle.

FREE Send two 2-ct stamps, to pay postage and packing, and we will mail you one of the most dainty and beautiful colored calendar creations of the year.

The Abbey Effervescent Salt Co., Dept. E, 18 Murray St., New York.

USED DAILY, GIVES HEALTH

Be Good to Your Stomach.

TAKE

VICHY CELESTINS

with your meals.

It aids digestion,

and its medicinal qualities keep your stomach in good order.

Vichy is imported only in bottles.

NOTE: So-called Vichy in Syphons is Not Vichy.

At First-Class Druggists, Grocers, Hotels and Cafés.

General Agency, 220 Broadway, N. Y.

"Cluett"

25 CENTS EACH

ZILPHA

CLUETT, PEABODY & CO. MAKERS

"BUY CHINA & GLASS RIGHT"

HIGGINS & SEITER

FINE CHINA · RICH CUT GLASS

ALL PRICES FALLESS THAN ELSEWHERE. 50-54 West 22d St. WEDDING GIFTS A SPECIALTY.

CROUCH & FITZGERALD
161 BROADWAY.
688 BROADWAY.
723 SIXTH AVENUE.

Wheatena

The Best HEALTH FOOD for BREAKFAST

Sold by ALL GROCERS.

MAGIC HAIR STAIN

for lightest brown or black; prepared by George Ortseby, wigmaker, 169 Tremont St., Boston; contains no lead or nerve poison; no smutting or rubbing off; use it once; nothing like it; price $1. Sold by C. N. Crittenton Co., 115 Fulton St., N. Y.; Walter S. Rockey, 8th Av. & 35th St., 42d St. & B'way

NEGRO'S RIGHTS DEFENDED

Senator Pritchard Protests Against Disfranchisement.

A REPLY TO SENATOR MORGAN

Proposed New Election Law of North Carolina Objected To as a Violation of the Constitution.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Senator Pritchard (Rep., N. C.,) to-day called up his resolution relating to the proposed amendment to the Constitution of North Carolina, which, if adopted, it is alleged, disfranchises a large class of voters of the State.

After the reading of the resolution Mr. Pritchard addressed the Senate in support of it. The address was meant in part as a reply to Senator Morgan. He said, in part:

"It is evident that the framers of the Fifteenth Amendment had but one object in view, and that was to embody in the Constitution of the United States a guarantee that there should be no discrimination on the part of any State against any class of people on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude. I call upon my Democratic friends to show me a single individual who, while in a condition of servitude, was entitled to vote. All will admit that no one had that right while in such condition. Therefore the proposed amendment to the North Carolina Constitution is as much in conflict with this clause of the Fifteenth Amendment as it would be with other portions of the amendment if it had declared that no one of African descent should be entitled to vote.

"There is much in the proposed amendment which is calculated to create apprehension and alarm on the part of the illiterate and poor white people of North Carolina as well as the colored race. It is a carefully prepared and well-devised scheme by which it is sought to forever prevent the common people of North Carolina from participating in the management and control of her affairs. While it is pretended by those who advocate the proposed amendment that its object is to secure white supremacy, at the same time there lurks beneath the surface a purpose to disfranchise thousands of our citizens, both white and colored, and thereby enable a certain class in our State to hold the offices and enjoy the emoluments of the same.

"It has been boldly proclaimed by Chairman Simmons and other leaders of the Democratic Party that the proposed amendment will not, if adopted, disfranchise a single white voter in the State of North Carolina. May I ask those gentlemen what is to become of that unfortunate class of our white people who are unable to pay their poll tax?

"The Democrats of North Carolina attempt to justify their actions in regard to the proposed amendment by asserting that they fear negro domination. According to the census of 1890 the whites outnumbered the negroes more than two to one, and no intelligent citizen can be induced to believe that two white North Carolinians are in danger of being dominated by one negro. It is absurd to contend that there is any danger of negro domination in North Carolina."

In conclusion Mr. Pritchard declared that the election law of North Carolina, passed by the last Democratic Legislature, was more unjust in its discrimination than the Goebel election law of Kentucky. As to the proposed Constitutional amendment, he said:

"I regard the proposed amendment as an attempt to legalize the fraudulent methods and practices of the Democratic Party that have obtained in the conduct and control of elections in the past."

In the course of his speech Mr. Pritchard also said that the cry of "negro domination" was the answer given to every proposition made by the Republicans. He was interrupted by Mr. Tillman, (Dem., S. C.,) who said that little else was to be expected when the Administration continually thrust negro Postmasters on the people of the South.

Mr. Pritchard—There you have it. If I should read the Ten Commandments to the Senator he would cry "negro" back at me.

Mr. Tillman—We say "nigger" at the South, not "negro." Let us stick to facts.

Mr. Pritchard—The Senator may use whatever expression he likes. I'm satisfied to use mine.

Mr. Pritchard then referred to the small vote in the State of Mississippi as compared with the population.

Mr. Money (Dem., Miss.,) interrupted to explain the point Mr. Pritchard had made, when he, in turn, was interrupted by Mr. Chandler, (Rep., N. H.,) who asked if an election had been held in Mississippi last year.

Mr. Money replied evasively.

Mr. Chandler—Well, I wish the Senator would examine his mind and tell us whether he thinks an election was held in his State last year.

Mr. Money replied that an election was held in Mississippi last year, and intimated that he had replied evasively to Mr. Chandler's question because, as he said, "I am as afraid of the Senator [Chandler] as I am of a monkey in a powder magazine with matches. I've been the victim of his wit before, but I'm glad to give him any information I have."

In reply to another point of Mr. Pritchard's speech, Mr. Tillman said there was only a little coterie of Republicans in South Carolina. They kept up the show of a party organization and lived on the money they got for their votes in Republican conventions.

NEW EVIDENCE AGAINST CLARK.

Another Montana Legislator Alleges that He Was Offered Money for His Vote.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—When the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections began its session to-day for the continuance of its investigation of the charges of bribery in connection with the election of Senator Clark of Montana, A. L. Smith, President of the Montana National Bank of Helena, was called. Evidently the purpose of calling Mr. Smith was to show transactions of the bank involving Senator Clark or members of the last Montana Legislature. His testimony, however, was unimportant.

Patrick W. Murray, a member of the Montana Legislature from Butte, testified that he had several times been approached and his vote solicited for Mr. Clark for the Senate. He detailed the particulars of two interviews with a Mr. Gallick, a supporter of Mr. Clark, who had on both occasions held up his hands and spread out his fingers and thumbs, saying that he (the witness) could have "that" for his vote if cast for Mr. Clark for the Senate. He also said that George Casey had come to him to buy a piece of mining ground which the witness owned, but that the condition of the sale was that he should vote for Mr. Clark for the Senate. He had refused all the propositions because Mr. Clark had opposed the election of the ticket on which he had made the race for the Legislature. Mr. Murray said he had not been employed by Mr. Daly for fourteen years, and was under no obligation to that gentleman.

At this point the prosecution announced that it had no more witnesses on hand, and the committee adjourned until to-morrow.

WOMEN NOT WANTED AT PARIS.

Resolution Relating to Exposition Meets an Unexpected Obstacle.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Mr. Depew, (Rep., N. Y.,) from the Committee on International Expositions, favorably reported a joint resolution authorizing the President to appoint a member of the Daughters of the Revolution as a representative of this Government at the unveiling of the statue of Lafayette at the Paris Exposition, and also to represent the Government at the exposition.

Mr. Cockrell (Dem., Mo.,) called attention to the fact that there was an understanding that no women should represent this Government at the Paris Exposition, the French Government having objected to women representatives.

Mr. Depew replied that he knew of no such restriction, but Mr. Allison said that such a restriction was made.

The Senate, without acting on the resolution, went into executive session, and at 4:48 P. M. adjourned.

ASKED TO DEFINE WATER RIGHTS.

Senator Platt Would Seek an Agreement with Canada.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Senator Platt of New York to-day introduced a joint resolution authorizing the President to invite the Government of Great Britain to join in the formation of an international commission to be composed of four members from each country, to report upon the conditions and uses of the waters adjacent to the boundary line between the United States and Canada, including all the waters of the lakes and rivers whose waters flow by the St. Lawrence River to the Atlantic Ocean, and to report on measures necessary to regulate the diversion of such waters.

The sum of $20,000 is provided by the resolution to pay the Commissioners' expenses.

SENATE MAY SELECT BENNETT.

Brooklyn Man Believed to Have a Good Chance to Secure the Secretaryship.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—On Wednesday there is to be another caucus of the Republicans of the Senate, when another effort will be made to bring about a reorganization of the clerical force of that body. Owing to the declination of several candidates offered by Mr. Platt from the State of New York, and the discovery that Gen. J. S. Clarkson was not acceptable, excuses have been made for postponements of the reorganization. To-day it is asserted that ex-Representative Bennett, to whom the candidacy was suggested, will run, and Mr. Platt will take the chance of getting him through.

While little has been said about the office of Sergeant-at-Arms, and some Senators have expressed the wish that the changes could stop before reaching Col. R. J. Bright, some of the Western men are confident that Col. D. N. Ransdell, President Harrison's Marshal of the District of Columbia, will succeed Col. Bright. Ransdell, like Bright, is from Indiana. He is a one-armed veteran, and a popular man.

It is understood that the Senators have about agreed upon the distribution of the patronage that will follow these changes, by which every Democrat in a high clerical position will be retired. Some Democratic chairmen of committees will retain their clerks. For the rest they will be Republicans and New York's share will not be the Secretary alone.

Charles G. Bennett represented the Fifth Congressional District of New York in the Fifth-fourth and Fifty-ninth Congresses. He was born in the Bennett homestead, at 1,090 Gates Avenue, Brooklyn, where he still lives, and is a son of the late George C. Bennett, founder of The Brooklyn Daily Times. Mr. Bennett was educated in the public schools of Brooklyn and after being graduated from the High School, took up the study of law at the New York Law School, receiving the degree of Bachelor of Laws from the State Board of Regents. He later became a member of the firm of Daniels & Bennett, which has offices at 99 Nassau Street, this borough.

Before his first nomination for Congress, in 1892, Mr. Bennett had taken an active part in politics and club life in Brooklyn. He had been for several years President of the Eighteenth Ward Republican Association. When first nominated to represent the Fifth District in Congress, Mr. Bennett was only twenty-eight years old. He was defeated then by 2,167 votes in a total of 31,163, but was again put up as the Republican candidate in 1894. This time he defeated the Democratic candidate, Anton Vigelius, by a majority of nearly 8,000. In the Fifty-fourth Congress he made himself popular with his constituents by securing after a persistent fight, an appropriation of $450,000 for the widening and dredging of Newtown Creek, for which the residents of the Eastern District of Brooklyn had been striving for many years. He was also prominent in the advocacy of the improvement of the Wallabout channel and the construction of a Hawaiian cable. His renomination and election to the Fifty-fifth Congress in 1896 followed.

Mr. Bennett has been a prominent member of the Union League, the Hanover, and Crescent Athletic Clubs of Brooklyn, and Chairman of the Finance Committee of the People's Bank.

TURNER ON THE PHILIPPINES.

Washington Senator Denounces the Action of the Administration as Perfidious.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Mr. Turner (Dem., Washington,) addressed the Senate to-day on the Philippine question. He said in part:

"Neither the stately periods of the President's message nor the fervid oratory of the Senator's address can change the facts of history or metamorphose a proposed course of action already partly accomplished, which involves a shocking and perfidious breach of National faith, into an act of policy defensible on grounds of justice, morality, and National duty."

Perfidy and bad faith were involved, he added, in the pretensions put forth by the Administration of either a legal or a moral right to absorb and govern the Philippine Islands without the consent of their people. The people of those islands were, he said, a brave, resolute, liberty-loving people, and their struggles ought to win them the admiration and respect of every member of the American Senate.

"Our action," he continued, "has no parallel in the history of all the world from the beginning of time down to the present moment. I venture to say that there is not one American voter in a hundred who would not have repudiated the pretensions of the Administration as perfidious and dishonorable if called on with full knowledge of the facts to sanction them in the beginning and before the present desolating war began.

"Already our Philippine experiences are beginning to have the boomerang effect predicted by the Senator from Indiana (Mr. Beveridge.). There is a primitive people in South Africa—a mere handful—pious and simple, brave and heroic, but careless of the great wealth lying under their hands, indifferent to its civilizing influence, and disposed to live their own simple lives in their own simple way. They are the last link that connects us with one of the great heroic epochs in the world's history. A great nation, having racial tendencies similar to our own, has seen the present deplorable condition of affairs among this South African people, and has determined to improve and civilize them in the same way we are improving and civilizing the simple but brave Filipinos. They are not succeeding so well, unfortunately, in their self-imposed task as we are. The Africanders are proving themselves to be worthy sons of heroic sires. They are making a heroic fight and one that has become the wonder and admiration of mankind throughout the world. Because of what we, in common with mankind, owe to their blood, because they are bravely fighting a ruthless invader of their homes and firesides, because they are fighting for the liberty to govern themselves and their affairs in their own way, because when they go down another republic will have perished, they undoubtedly carry with them in their struggle the profound sympathy of the American people. In other days our sympathy would have been expressed through Government channels. But now the ghost of liberty murdered in the Philippines stands in the way. We cannot even preserve a decent neutrality between this heroic people and their assailants. It is yet permitted to us, however, as individuals, to avert our eyes and as these noble men go down to death and oblivion to say to them as I now do: 'Thou last survivors of a heroic age! Hail and farewell!'"

TWO NEW COURTS FOR NEW YORK.

Senate Passes the Bill Providing for Four Federal Districts.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Mr. Hoar, (Rep., Mass.,) Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, called up a bill which had been favorably reported dividing the State of New York into the Western, Northern, Eastern, and Southern judicial districts, and providing for the time of holding court in the several districts.

There are at present two judicial districts in New York. The bill was passed.

ROBERTS WILL BE HEARD TO-DAY.

Will Have a Chance to Plead His Cause Before the House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The special committee to investigate the case of Representative-elect Roberts of Utah to-day arranged the programme for the consideration of the case in the House.

It will be called up to-morrow immediately after the reading of the Journal. Mr. Tayler of Ohio, Chairman of the committee, will open the debate in favor of the majority resolution to exclude, and will be followed by Mr. Littlefield of Maine, who will present the argument in favor of seating and then expelling Mr. Roberts. Mr. Roberts will then be given an opportunity to address the House. He will be allowed as much time as he desires within reasonable limits. The vote will be taken at 4:30 P. M. on Thursday.

The contest over the seating of Representative Roberts of Utah will not end with the decision of Congress. The latter is expected to be adverse to the Congressman-elect. Mr. Roberts, so it is declared by gentlemen from Utah now in this city, will take his case to the courts. Not that he cares for the office, but he proposes to battle for all time through the Supreme Court of the United States the questions raised in connection with his right to a seat.

Missing Witness Is Located.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 22.—It has developed that John P. Murphy of Butte, Mont., the missing witness in the Clark Senatorial investigation at Washington, was in this city last week. He is supposed to have left the city on Saturday night. While here he discussed the Clark case with the hotel clerk.

Polygamy Resolution Reported.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—In the Senate to-day Mr. Hoar, Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, reported back the resolution of Mr. Rawlins (Dem., Utah,) for an inquiry upon polygamy, with a recommendation that the first and last paragraphs of the resolution be adopted. The report was accepted and the resolution, as amended, adopted. As passed, the resolution reads:

To what extent polygamy is practiced or polygamous marriages entered into in the United States or in places over which they have jurisdiction.

What, if any, steps should be taken or measures enacted for the prevention of polygamy in the United States and places over which they have jurisdiction.

CLAIMS OF PUERTO RICO HEARD.

Business Men from the Island Heard by Congressmen.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The Senate Committee on Puerto Rico and Pacific Islands listened to additional statements of delegates representing the Chamber of Commerce of Puerto Rico to-day. All urged freedom of trade between the island and the United States, saying it was necessary to the rehabilitation of Puerto Rico and would be largely beneficial to their sugar, tobacco, and fruits.

G. A. Finlay, British Vice Consul at San Juan and an extensive sugar grower, was one of the commission. He said he had $800,000 invested in sugar. It costs 3½ cents (silver) a pound to produce sugar. The tariff duties in this country made the profits of sugar production very small. The cost of labor had been increased by United States occupation.

While Mr. Finlay was talking, Senator Perkins said: "You and we are face to face with a proposition that we are likely to have competition for the products of Puerto Rico and the United States from that section. What have you to say to that?"

The reply was that with equal privileges in the United States markets the people of Puerto Rico would be satisfied. The people of the island had made up their minds to become Americans. The price of labor on plantations was between 33 and 40 cents per day.

Speaking of the coffee production, which was something more than 60 per cent. of the products of the island, he said that with free commercial intercourse he believed most of the coffee would find a market in the United States. Although there was no duty upon it, Puerto Rican coffee must have a higher price than Brazilian coffee, or it could not be produced. It was a better coffee. In answer to a question, he said the rebate of the duty on sugar would largely go to the laboring man. Mr. Finlay also wanted the United States monetary system introduced. He said if the ratio was changed the debts should be scaled down to meet the difference.

Senator Pettigrew said if the tariff was taken off sugar it would not reduce the price in this country and would give the Puerto Ricans a bonus of $36 a ton.

Mr. Finlay said that proprietors would get only a small proportion of the bonus.

John G. H. Luco, a banker, who had been eighteen months in the island, indorsed the statements of Mr. Finlay.

Charles Armstrong, a merchant at Ponce, gave some information concerning wages. When the Americans occupied the island they increased the rate of wages at the various ports to $2 per day in gold. In the interior, aside from the increase on account of higher value of money and the establishment of the eight-hour system, there had been no increase. Freight rates had been increased by the executive order which went into effect Jan. 1, that all goods should be carried in American bottoms.

Other members of the committee were heard substantiating what Mr. Finlay and Mr. Armstrong had said.

The subject was further considered at an afternoon session, when Dr. Azel Ames and Julio Lamiago, residents of Puerto Rico, spoke of the political and commercial needs of the island. Gen. Roy Stone proposed as a means of introducing Puerto Rico coffee of the United States that a National society be incorporated by Congress, the incorporators including the wives of all prominent officials.

Prof. Cook of the Agricultural Department was heard by the House Committee on Insular Affairs to-day on the agricultural resources of Puerto Rico, and in particular its richness in coffee sugar, tobacco, and rice production. He gave also the conditions of plantation labor, cost of production, surrounding conditions, and a general survey of all the attending features of agricultural life on the island. Mr. Curtis of the Insular Commission was also heard on general conditions in Puerto Rico.

Plan to Improve the Mississippi.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Gen. Wilson, Chief of Engineers, to-day sent to the House the report of the commission appointed to prepare a project for improving the Southwest Pass of the Mississippi River. The project submitted is estimated to cost $6,000,000, and contemplates a channel 1,000 feet wide and 35 feet deep throughout the pass, the construction of two jetties, with sills across Cubitte Gap, the Jump and Baptiste Collets Canal, the closing of all outlets below the forts. The board reports that a ship channel can be opened within three years and the work completed in five years.

Short Session in the House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The House was in session only forty minutes to-day, and nothing of public importance was done except to refer to the Speaker for settlement a dispute between the Appropriations and Military Affairs Committees relative to the estimates for the appropriations for the manufacture of small arms at the Rock Island and Springfield Arsenals. Both committees claim jurisdiction. A few District of Columbia bills of minor importance were passed.

CONGRESSIONAL NOTES.

In the executive session of the Senate yesterday Senator Jones (Dem., Ark.,) gave notice that at the next executive session he would call up his motion to reconsider the vote by which the Samoan treaty was ratified.

The report filed to-day on the House bill for the election of United States Senators by the people, reviews the arguments made in favor of this change and refers to the unfortunate conditions which have occurred in Kentucky, Idaho, Delaware, and other States under the present system. The bill as reported leaves it discretionary with the Legislature to continue the present system or adopt the system of a choice by the people.

The President sent to the Senate in response to a resolution of inquiry a report from Secretary Hay as to the portion of the $50,000,000 defense appropriation expended by the State Department. The total amount was $493,860, the principal items being: Paris Peace Commission, $155,102; Philippine Commission, $136,420; transportation of destitute refugees from Cuba and Puerto Rico, $14,680; pay of special agents, $10,325; cablegrams, $8,624.

Senator Allen (Pop., Neb.,) yesterday offered a resolution calling upon the Secretary of the Treasury to furnish the Senate with all information consisting of correspondence and verbal communications he may have had with A. B. Hepburn and other officials of the National City Bank of New York, concerning the transmission of the Custom House of New York to the National City Bank. It went over under objection.

Secretary Gage has sent to Congress an estimate of $7,872,000 as the cost of collecting the customs during the next fiscal year.

Representative Henry of Texas has introduced a bill "to provide a form of government for the Territory of Puerto Rico." It provides an executive branch consisting of a Governor and Secretary and a legislative branch of two houses, viz., a Council of thirteen members and a House of Representatives of twenty-six members. The right of suffrage is given to all male inhabitants over twenty-one years of age who are able to read and write either the English or Spanish language.

THE UNITED SERVICE.

Army.

Brig. Gen. James F. Wade, commanding the Department of Dakota, will assume command of the Department of the Lakes upon the retirement from active service Jan. 21 of Brig. Gen. Thomas M. Anderson.

Lieut. Col. William A. Marye, Ordnance Department, will make one visit per month during February, March, April, and May to the Petersburg Iron Works Company, Petersburg, Va., on official business pertaining to the inspection of projectiles in course of manufacture by that company for the Ordnance Department.

Capt. Hobart K. Bailey, Fifth Infantry, now on leave of absence, will repair to Washington and report to the Major General commanding the army for special duty.

Brig. Gen. James H. Wilson, United States Volunteers, will proceed to Tampa, Fla., and report to the Adjutant General of the Army for further instructions.

Capt. Archibald W. Butt, Assistant Quartermaster United States Volunteers, will proceed to Portland, Ore., where he will take temporary station and report by letter to Major Joshua W. Jacobs, Chief Quartermaster, Department of the Columbia, for duty at Portland, Ore., in connection with the shipment of supplies from that point to Manila, Philippine Islands.

Navy.

Chaplain H. W. Jones is ordered to duty at the navy yard at Pensacola, Feb. 1.

Lieut. Commander W. W. Kimball is detached from the navy yard at Norfolk and ordered immediately to duty at the navy yard at Washington as head of the Board on Labor Employment.

The Scindia sailed from San Francisco for Manila Jan. 20, with the following complement of officers: Commander J. M. Miller, Lieut. Commander W. Kilburn, Lieut. S. H. Leonard, Lieut. F. J. Schell, Line Lieut. D. C. Redgrave, Ensign A. W. Pressey, Naval Cadet J. H. Tomb, Naval Cadet C. Shackford, Naval Cadet E. C. Kalbfus, Assistant Surgeon W. L. Bell, Assistant Surgeon J. S. Taylor, Assistant Paymaster D. M. Addison, and the following officers for Guam: Lieut. W. C. Herbert and Assistant Paymaster F. W. Delano.

PROMOTIONS IN THE ARMY.

Cols. Randall and Bell Are Named for Brigadierships.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The President sent the following nominations to the Senate to-day:

Brigadier Generals United States Volunteers—Col. GEORGE M. RANDALL, Eighth Infantry, and Col. JAMES M. BELL, Twenty-seventh Infantry, United States Volunteers.

Second Lieutenant United States Volunteers—Sergt. CHARLES McG. SWITZER, Company B, Forty-fifth Infantry, United States Volunteers.

Paymaster United States Volunteers, with rank of Major—Capt. ALFRED S. FROST.

Col. George M. Randall is a veteran, both of the civil war and of Indian campaigns. He is the newly appointed commander of the Military Department of Alaska.

Col. Bell began his military service as First Lieutenant of the Eighty-sixth Ohio in June, 1862, became Captain of an independent company Pennsylvania cavalry in 1863, and in 1866 entered the regular army as Second Lieutenant of the Seventh Cavalry. He was wounded at El Caney, and has been in the Philippine campaign from its opening.

Capt. Alfred S. Frost was Colonel of the First South Dakota Regiment during its Philippine service, and as such he led the charge of the regiment against Aguinaldo's forces near Marilao. His commission in the volunteer service dates from May 19, 1898.

Movements of Government Vessels.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The transport Port Albert sailed from Seattle Friday for Manila, via Hilo, H. I., with Capt. Wood, Quartermaster Department; Acting Assistant Surgeon Thompson, one private hospital corps, 67 civilian employes, 115 mules, and 400 horses aboard.

The Montgomery has sailed from Montevideo for La Plata.

The Scindia has left San Francisco for Guam.

The Chicago has arrived at Ensenada.

The Vixen has sailed from Cape Henry.

The Philadelphia, Admiral Kautz's flagship, has arrived at San Diego, which will be the headquarters of the Pacific Squadron during the manoeuvres now in progress.

The Sylph has arrived at Norfolk.

The Potomac has sailed from League Island for Norfolk.

Coaling Station in Narragansett Bay.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, Jan. 22.—A dispatch received here this evening from Washington states that the entire Rhode Island delegation in Congress called upon Secretary Long of the navy this afternoon to urge the Secretary on his action toward the establishing of a naval coaling station in Narragansett Bay, in accordance with the recommendations made by a special board of navy officers who recently examined six sites here. Secretary Long stated that the coaling station would be established in Narragansett Bay.

DISCUSS CO-OPERATION PLANS.

Committees of Unitarians and Universalists Meet in Boston.

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—An important private conference was held at the Unitarian Building to-day, when the committee appointed by the American Unitarian Association meeting held in Washington and the committee appointed by the Universalist Convention, held here in October, met to consider the co-operation of the two denominations along various lines which are common to both.

Previous to the discussion the Rev. Samuel A. Eliot of the Unitarian Association made an address setting forth the ideas of his people along the line of co-operation.

The manner in which the desired co-operation could be brought about, and different plans, were fully discussed. The reports of the meeting will probably not be made public until the convening of the Unitarian Association in May, when its committee will report.

The committee of the Universalist Convention will make its report at the Autumn meeting of that body.

MRS. EYLER'S PUPILS CAUGHT.

Girls Who Escaped Found in Trenton—Charge Cruelty.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 22.—Fannie Bogle, fourteen years old, of Jersey City, and Sallie Mann, aged twenty, whose home is in Paterson, and who escaped from the State Industrial School for Girls at this place, were captured here this morning.

The girls stated that they ran away from the Industrial School because they had long been subjected to indignities and cruelty. Their statements were similar to the sensational testimony brought out at the investigation before Gov. Voorhees. The two girls were sent back.

Arrested for Forgery in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—J. Edgar Walton was arrested to-day as he was attempting to leave the Chicago National Bank. He had nearly 200 blank checks on various banks, and a bank book showing him to have a small sum of money in a bank in Augusta, Me. Walton is charged with forging the names of two Chicago men to checks which he attempted to pass, and the name of Harry Packard of Augusta, Me., to a draft. It is also said that Walton induced a messenger of the Towle Manufacturing Company, jewelers, to leave a box of jewelry valued at $300 with him while the boy went on an errand for him. When the messenger returned the man and the jewelry were gone.

American Geographical Society.

The annual meeting of the American Geographical Society was held last night at Chickering Hall, and the larger portion of the time was devoted to a memorial of the late Judge Daly, who was President of the society for thirty-six years. The Nominating Committee, out of respect to the memory of Judge Daly, made no nomination for President. The other officers elected were W. H. H. Moore, Vice President; Prof. W. Libby, Foreign Corresponding Secretary, and Walter R. T. Jones, Treasurer, and the following Council: Francis M. Bacon, John Greenough, A. A. Julien, S. Nicholson Kane, and D. O. Mills. It was stated that $20,000 had been collected for the building of a new library on West Eighty-first Street.

To Investigate Concert Halls.

President Cyrus Clark of the West End Association has appointed a special committee of five to investigate certain concert halls which are regarded as nuisances by persons living in their neighborhood. The Chairman of this committee is Asa A. Alling, and its other members are W. Johnson Quinn, Henry C. Conger, William H. Whittingham, and Judson Lawson. The association will confine its attention to the district between Fifty-ninth and One Hundred and Thirtieth Streets, west of Eighth Avenue.

We are Still Closing Out Our

entire range of heavy weight fabrics. This comprises the finest and most select assortment of novelties imported for custom work—25% to 33⅓% saving guaranteed. No deviation in quality of work nor withdrawal of patterns or qualities.

Burnham & Phillips

Custom Tailoring Only.
Temple Court Annex, 119 Nassau St.

LEGAL NOTES.

AN OLD WILL PROBATED.—The will of George W. M. Briggs, which was recently admitted to probate by the Surrogate, had no full attestation clause, but it appeared by the last words of the instrument itself—which was all in the handwriting of the testator—that it was published and declared by him to be his last will and testament, and was signed, sealed, and delivered on Jan. 9, 1863. It appeared that each of the two witnesses was dead. They were friends of the testator, with whom his relations were intimate, and their handwriting was satisfactorily proved. A friend of the testator testified that in 1890 Mr. Briggs brought to his office the will, which he said he had made some years back, and he wanted the witness to look at it and in some way "to freshen it up," because, he said, it having been made so long ago, they might think he had made a later one. In handing him the paper, the testator said it was his will, and had been executed in his place of business down town; that Erastus Brown and H. Hornidge (who had signed as witnesses) were present, and that he told Brown in the presence of Hornidge, as they were there together all in one room, that he wanted him to witness the will, and that he got the two to sign the will as witnesses. Mr. Briggs told the witness that it was his will, and at his request the witness wrote an acknowledgment upon the will, and Briggs signed and swore to it before him as a notary public. The First Appellate Division, in an opinion by Presiding Justice Van Brunt, Justice Ingraham dissenting, has affirmed the decree of the Surrogate, holding that the will was sufficiently proved, and saying: "I think it is doubtful whether this will can be considered to be an ancient document, so as to raise a presumption as to due execution upon presentation of it and proof of the handwriting of the subscribing witnesses; yet, in view of the length of time which elapsed since it was made and before it was presented for probate, and all the other circumstances proved in the case, it is clearly one in which the most liberal presumptions in favor of its execution should be indulged in."

***

FRAUD UPON A PARTNER.—Ernestine Saunier was induced in January, 1898, to enter into a business co-partnership with Edward A. Barnum, at 431 Fifth Avenue, of which premises he was in occupation, under a lease made to him by Mary A. King, and expiring on the first of the following May. Barnum, among other things, contributed this lease to the co-partnership. In March Barnum negotiated a renewal of the lease, which he took in his own name, without the knowledge of his partner. In September Mrs. Saunier brought an action to dissolve the co-partnership, claiming that Barnum had been guilty of fraud in inducing her to enter into it. Clifford Boese was appointed receiver to take possession of the assets and sell them. The plaintiff secured judgment adjudging that she was entitled to a lien upon the assets of the firm for the amount of the capital contributed by her, after paying the firm debts. George E. Morgan, the referee appointed to state the accounts of the receiver, who had refused to pay the claim of Mrs. King for rent during October, November, and December, allowed that claim as a debt of the co-partnership. The Appellate Division, on plaintiff's appeal, has reversed the order of Justice Bookstaver, upholding the referee in that respect, deciding, in an opinion by Presiding Justice Van Brunt, that there was no right upon the part of Mrs. King to recover this rent from the plaintiff. "It is certainly a singular state of things," the Presiding Justice said, "that the landlord in this lease under seal can make a claim against a person not a party to the instrument, because the latter has been defrauded in the procuring of that paper. The respondent here proposes to fasten an obligation upon the appellant because of the fraud of the latter's partner upon her, which, in view of the situation of the case, she is not in any degree anxious to take advantage of."

***

ELEVATED RAILROAD LITIGATION.—Anson Phelps Stokes brought an action in December, 1890, against the Manhattan Railway Company, whose road had been erected and was then operated in front of premises owned by him, to obtain the usual injunction and damages for the injuries to his easements. In January, 1893, Mr. Stokes conveyed the premises to one Rosenfeld, reserving to himself in the deed "all causes of action for damages to the rental value of the premises because of the construction and maintenance of the elevated railroad." Last October Mr. Stokes moved to bring in Rosenfeld as a party defendant, it being shown that he refused to be a party plaintiff. An order granting the motion has been reversed by the First Appellate Division. Justice Rumsey, who gives the opinion, says the order should have been reversed because no copy of the proposed supplemental complaint was served. The Court adds that "even if a person might thus be brought in as defendant, the discretion so to do should only be exercised in a case where it is quite clear that the rights of the original parties cannot be finally disposed of without the presence of the grantee. That, clearly, is not the case, because the only right of the plaintiff is to have a judgment for damages, and these damages can be determined without the presence of Rosenfeld."

***

DAMAGES TO CITY CONTRACTORS FOR DELAY.—Charles F. Mairs and another, who had a contract with the city for the building of a contemplated bridge to City Island, yesterday received a judgment for $2,330, by Justice McAdam, in their suit against the city for damages for delay of their contract caused by the presence of a large iron pipe carrying water from the Westchester Water Works across the Harlem River to City Island, which pipe was situated at a place where the contractors were required to sink cribs for the bridge. The Court holds that when notice was given that this pipe prevented the contractors from proceeding with their work the city was bound to revoke its permission to the water company, or make some provision for the protection or removal of the pipe, that the contractors might proceed. Justice McAdam held the claim made on behalf of the city to be untenable, that the presence of the pipe was one of the unforeseen obstructions, respecting which the contractors took their chances, because, being legalized by the city, it was not an obstruction removable by it.

FIRE DISCLOSES A STILL.

Prompt Work of the Firemen Prevents Explosion—Owner and His Confederates Disappear.

A small fire in the basement of the five-story brick building at 89 Madison Street yesterday morning brought to light an illicit distillery capable of producing more than fifty gallons a day. The place had been under surveillance since its opening, about ten days ago, by Edward F. Long of the Internal Revenue Service. The fire itself did very little damage, the loss being but $25. Battalion Chief Callahan, who was there, said that had not the progress of the fire been arrested it would have caused an explosion that would have been productive of disastrous results.

About ten days ago a man who gave his name as Samuel Freeman called on the owner of the house and rented the basement for a paint shop. In the window he had painted a sign to the effect that painting, paper hanging, and kalsomining would be promptly attended to, though the only evidences of any work of this kind were rolls of paper and one or two paint pots. Very little was seen of Freeman, as he entered at night and departed in the morning. Soon after his arrival the tenants of the house detected a peculiar odor, which permeated the entire building. They could not understand what it meant.

The blaze was caused by the extreme heat setting fire to the unprotected walls. Freeman, who was there at the time, did his best to put it out, but, seeing that it was impossible, turned in an alarm and disappeared, together with two confederates. The internal revenue authorities refuse to give the names of the confederates and have hopes of arresting all three soon.

Mr. Long was in the neighborhood when the fire started and hurried to the place. He had seen the men take barrels and other paraphernalia into the place last week, but was waiting for them to get under full operation, in order to make a capture and to secure the necessary evidence.

The seizure amounted to two 100-gallon copper stills, two copper cooling pans, a 20-gallon doubler, a galvanized iron condenser, 20 barrels of sugar mash, and 100 gallons of spirits.

San Francisco Millionaire Found Dead

San Francisco, Jan. 22.—Capt. Julius Friedman, a millionaire, was found dead in his bed at the Palace Hotel to-day. Death was caused by heart disease, from which Capt. Friedman had long been a sufferer. He leaves no close relatives.

R. H. Macy & Co.'s Attractions Are Their Low Prices.

Macy's

Both Sides 14th St. from 13th to 15th, 6th Ave.

Cut Glass.

Macy's Cut Glass Factory. — Our Way. — The Retail Buyer.

Their Way.

Factory. — Jobber. — Retailer. — Consumer.

Geometry says, "The shortest distance between two given points is a straight line." Common-sense teaches that the "straight-line" principle in business guarantees economy.

The shorter the distance between you and the maker the lower the price. Take Cut Glass, for example:

The retailer who depends upon, and buys from the manufacturer, or the jobber—or both—is one or two removes from the source of supply. He must pay one or two profits before his own profit is added to the price you are asked to pay. That's the indirect, tortuous, crooked, winding way—opposed to every sound economic law.

We are manufacturers and as such put you in "straight line" with the base of production—all intermediate and in-between profits are entirely eliminated. That is why our regular prices are invariably lower than the special prices of the dependent dealer.

Salt and Pepper Bottles, twenty styles of cuttings, heavy and richly chased sterling silver tops . . 49c

Oil and Vinegar Cruets, with handle and cut lapidary stopper . 69c

Olive Dishes, some with handles, large variety of graceful designs . $1.63

Individual Sugar Bowls, with handles, very deeply cut . . $1.97

Water Tumblers, good quality, full size, per dozen . . $2.19

Jelly Plates, large size, cut edges, uncommonly pretty patterns . $2.47

Mustard Pots, exquisitely cut, sterling silver top and handle . $2.87

One thousand Bowls, medium size, new design, value $6.00; our price $3.24

Works of Art.

The exhibition of Mineral Paintings, Copper Enamels, and Ivory Miniatures is still going on in the china department. They are the things that only aesthetic and critical writers can describe. Entirely too splendid for the advertising pen. There are scores of ideal subjects—human, poetic, historic. Each one is a marvel of beauty. The collection is here for you to enjoy regardless of the usual business thought. But if you should care to buy, you'll find the prices extraordinarily low.

Lace Curtains.

The offerings represent remarkable values. Such bargains in such goods are rare guests even here. However, the circumstances that created the chances are among the normal and regular occurrences of trade. The importer had a large accumulation of single pairs, including left-overs of his own stock, and samples sent over by foreign mills for his examination. We secured both lots. Prices paid ranged from one-third to one-half of real worth.

All who have town or country homes that lack the grace and beauty of Lace Curtains will surely be interested in the following details:—

For $3.00 Tambour Muslin Curtains, $1.98.
For $7.50 Irish Point Lace Curtains, $3.74.
For $10.00 Irish Point Lace Curtains, $4.98.
The foregoing in single pairs only.

While considering this subject, we ask that you bear in mind the recent rise in all cotton products. Our present quotations for these goods would have been sensational before the advance.

$1.49 for single Curtain—Irish Point and Tambour Lace—full width and length. All are perfect—new, clean and fresh. They usually retail at from $5.00 to $7.50 per pair.

"Ends" of Curtains.

Most of you know what we mean by "Ends." Many manufacturers, when ready to sell, submit half instead of a whole Curtain to the prospective buyer for inspection. These short Curtains are called "Ends." They show the quality of net, the character of the bottom and border designs as effectually as an entire Curtain. Complete stocks are selected by means of such samples.

The Ends offered to-day include Irish Point, Tambour and Brussels—1½ yards long, fine qualities, beautifully embroidered, extra effective corners. The makers having finished with them they become retail prizes through the medium of Macy's.

39c. each, for Ends of Curtains that are worth $6.00 per pair—1½ yds. long.

49c. each, for Ends of Curtains that are worth $7.50 per pair—1½ yds. long.

64c. each, for Ends of

The New York Times.

"All the News That's Fit to Print."

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.

NEW YORK, TUESDAY, JAN. 23, 1900.

OFFICES:

NEW YORK:
Publication Office.....41 Park Row
All American District Telegraph Offices.
WASHINGTON.....515 Fourteenth St.
LONDON: Trafalgar Buildings, Trafalgar Sq., W.C.
SWITZERLAND, Geneva: P. Drehmann, Librairie Nouvelle, Rue du Mont Blanc.
GERMANY, Mainz: Saarbach's News Agency, Agency for Germany and Austria.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

BY MAIL, POSTAGE PAID.

DAILY, per Month	$0.55
DAILY, per Year	6.00
DAILY AND SUNDAY, per Year	7.50
SUNDAY, per Year	1.50
SATURDAY, with Review of Books and Art, per Year	1.00
MONDAY, with Financial Supplement, per Year	1.00
DAILY AND SUNDAY, per Month	0.65

For postage to foreign countries add 80 cents per month.

FOURTEEN PAGES.

THE TAX ON MORTGAGES.

Economists and thinkers will be interested in Senator STRANAHAN'S defense of his Joint Committee Tax bill and in his penetrating forecast of its probable operation. We quote what he has to say about the proposed tax of one-half of 1 per cent. on mortgages:

> The criticism on the bill, so far as brought to my attention, has been mainly that the tax of five mills on mortgages would be an additional tax upon real estate. This proposition I cannot believe is correct. If the rate of tax was higher it might be possible for the lender to shift it to the borrower, but whether it will be possible to so shift it will largely depend upon the amount of money seeking investment. If the lender finds that he can pay the five mills tax on mortgages held by him, and yet realize a net income as high or higher than, upon other investments, he will not be able to shift it upon the borrower, because there will be competition between lenders for this class of securities, and I undertake to say that there is now no considerable investment available more desirable than mortgages upon real estate in the City of New York at from 4 to 4½ per cent., the rate now obtaining, and this will still be true if reduced five mills by the tax proposed.

If Mr. STRANAHAN is right, the incidence of the mortgage tax will be controlled by the money rate. When money is plenty and interest rates low, the lender will pay the tax. When interest rates are high, the borrower will pay it. Are the Senator and his fellow-committeemen altogether satisfied with a tax that jumps about in that way, first upon the lender, where they intended to put it, and then upon the borrower, who ought not to pay it? A tax law so uncertain in its operation must be based upon a false principle.

But the Senator is confident that the mortgagee will not be able to shift the tax upon the borrower, because there will be such competition between lenders that those who refuse to assume the tax will not be able to put out their money on bond and mortgage.

Facts are such stubborn things that even the lawmakers must respect them, or ought to. Now the fact is that for several years the savings banks and other lending institutions in this city have been accustomed to insert in their mortgages a covenant binding the mortgageor to pay any tax of this kind that might be imposed by the State. The President of the Bowery Savings Bank says that 75 per cent. of the mortgages of that bank are past due. "There is nothing to prevent our calling these loans if the mortgageors refuse to stand an advance of one-half of 1 per cent. in the interest rate."

In the State of Massachusetts the law taxing mortgages was repealed some years ago as the result of what was called "the anti-double taxation" movement; that is, it was found that the borrower paid the tax, and as he was already taxed on the real estate on which the mortgage was placed he was subjected to double taxation. In Maryland the law taxes mortgages at the rate of 8 per cent. of the annual interest paid. This amounts to about one-half of 1 per cent. on the value of the mortgage. The law provides that the mortgagee shall make oath that he will not shift the tax upon the mortgageor. The Evening Post, in a Baltimore dispatch, prints a statement from an officer of the Safe Deposit and Trust Company of that city that will interest Mr. STRANAHAN:

> The operation of this act has in no way prevented loans being made, but it has been found, as in all previous cases, that the borrower practically pays the tax; in other words, since the adoption of the act, money lenders have increased the rate of interest. The amount of revenue derived from it is not very large, as the expenses incident to the examination of records and collecting this tax eats up nearly the whole of it, and it has been considered by some of the tax collectors a desirable law to abolish because of this fact. Its effect has been not to reduce the loans on mortgage, but it has increased the rate of interest.

Mr. STRANAHAN'S committee set out with the firm resolve to lift some of the burden of taxation from real estate. It is evident that they will add to that burden instead of diminishing it. Mortgage taxation is double taxation, it always has been double taxation, and unless they can make this law work contrary to human experience, it will be double taxation in this State; and the theory that even if the borrower does have to pay the tax he will be compensated in other directions will be found to be altogether illusory.

The safe, sound, and simple principle that in making tax laws it is best to put the tax on forms of property that cannot hide or get away, like real estate, and not to attempt the impossible by taxing intangible things, such as credits, has been ignored by the Joint Committee on Taxation. We seem to be as far as ever from a wise revision by competent hands of our crazy-quilt tax laws.

THE PAYN THEORY OF PUBLIC OFFICE.

If the simple-minded and inexperienced fathers of the Republic could have had a prophetic vision of PAYN they would have viewed their work with a good deal less complacency.

As they reasoned the matter out, the office would always seek the man, and he would be a first-rate man. When there was an office to be filled men would discuss the names of promising candidates until they came to some agreement, and then they would ask the man of their choice to serve. He would talk it over with his wife, invoke the Divine guidance, and would finally, with modesty and reluctance, consent to take the place. And at the end of his term he would gladly return to the honorable private station.

But here is PAYN bracing himself against displacement, and showing all his teeth, like a badger in a box, at those who would get him out and his successor in. The term for which he was appointed has nearly expired, but in the political philosophy of PAYN the tenure of a "good thing" is measured by the incumbent's ability to hold on. Not only the law, but public opinion, says he ought to go. There is nobody in the State whose opinion would command the slightest respect who does not know PAYN to be grossly unfit to be Superintendent of Insurance. That makes no difference to him. Not the swiftest nor the sharpest of the darts directed against him pierce that thick hide.

He has held the office long enough to know that it is a "good thing." Accordingly he intrenches himself and prepares to fight the Governor's attempt to displace him by appointing his successor.

This is at once an example of the most savage and the most sordid view of the relation of the citizen to public office that our politics have afforded.

GEN. LUDLOW AND THE HAVANA PRESS.

We give place, with pleasure, to Gen. LUDLOW'S explanation of his action in the cases of two scurrilous newspapers in Havana. Undoubtedly the explanation puts a different color upon the incident in several particulars from that which was given to it by the press accounts.

Really, the only point for criticism in the matter was the fact that Gen. LUDLOW felt called upon to punish a personal insult to himself. We observed that that is a privilege which neither our laws nor the spirit of our institutions permit to an executive officer, either civil or military. Courts alone have the power of punishing summarily, and necessarily arbitrarily, contempts committed in their presence. Such a power is evidently essential to secure the orderly administration of justice. That it should be necessary for the preservation of public order for an executive officer to take to himself a similar authority in his own case is, as Gen. LUDLOW intimates, a matter for regret. It is too invidious a duty to put upon any man to make him not only decide whether a personal assault upon himself is also a threat against public order, but also take action in his own case.

Gen. LUDLOW shows clearly enough that he really had no choice except between punishing seditious utterances which were also connected with personal insults to himself or letting them go unpunished. His record is proof presumptive that he was actuated by public and not by personal feeling. We may add that the temper of his explanation confirms this presumption. Without doubt there is very much in what he says about the effect of immunity from punishment for seditious talk and open contempt for those in authority upon a people in the political condition of the Havanese. Doubtless it would tend to make them believe that it proceeds from weakness, and that a government which does not resent insult can be defied with impunity. At the same time it seems a pity, to say the least, that that provision of the Spanish law which empowers some other official than the one insulted to take action toward punishing the insulter should have been abrogated by American authority and a very invidious duty put upon the Civil Governor of Havana.

ENGLAND AND HUNGARY.

Inherent, illogical hate for England, aided by amazing ignorance concerning foreign politics, as well as foreign civilization, must be the explanation of most of the Anglophobic articles that are appearing in the journals of Continental Europe. Suppose that for a long period all European news, save the bare announcements of great events, were withheld from the American public. How could the people here be expected to give sound judgment concerning important questions when they had been kept in profound ignorance of the influences which had produced them? The evils that must necessarily accrue from dwarfing provincialism in a national press were never more conspicuous than they are at this moment in Europe.

It was not, however, comprehension of the conditions existing in South Africa that first caused the papers of the principal cities of Italy to give moral support to the English in the present conflict. It was a feeling of gratitude for past favors, stimulated, very possibly, by the Anglophobic ravings of the journals of France. But as the spirit of good-will toward England augmented in Italy the journals there gradually learned that they could support Great Britain on other grounds than those of gratitude. The British policy, when once demonstrated, appealed to them and to their readers. That an interest in it, as curious as it is sincere, is moving the Italian mind is revealed in the personal communications that are daily appearing in the most respectable papers of Rome, Genoa, Florence, and Milan.

The same steps which marked the evolution of public opinion and intelligence in Italy are now manifesting themselves in Hungary. There, as in Italy, the first news of the beginning of hostilities in South Africa was received by demonstrations of sympathy with the Boers. Later these expressions of sympathy were curiously qualified. Suddenly the papers of Budapest awoke to the fact that Hungary was under peculiar obligations to Great Britain. There was a touch of remorse in the acknowledgment. Hungarians were reminded that in 1849 their exiled compatriots had found a secure asylum in England; that Great Britain had refrained from joining the enemies of the Magyar Nation at one of the most serious crises in its history. Articles began to appear in the columns of the Vasarnapi Ujsag, the Magyar Hirlap, and the Pesti Hirlap setting forth the actual situation between Briton and Boer. These articles inspired generous and sympathetic comments. One extract from a letter written by a Ministerial Councilor in which the tone of gratitude is sustained by a growing knowledge and appreciation of British aims and principles, will illustrate their character:

> Let the British Nation know that every true Magyar sides with England. We can never forget that in 1849 and subsequent years our exiles found protection and hospitality on her shores. As a free and Constitutional nation, like unto the British, we also are struggling for freedom and civilization, hence we say "Old England forever!" Let the English press know this.

Coincident with the attempt on the part of the Italian journals to instruct their readers in South African affairs, there have been signs of a gradual, yet unmistakable, broadening of the editorial horizon, and evidence of a point of view more cosmopolitan. It is a logical supposition that what is true of Italy may become true of Hungary. And if true of Hungary, why not of certain other European States? Why not, indeed, of France? If the war in South Africa should turn the journals of Europe into newspapers, that would not be among the least important results of the conflict. An intelligent, rational newspaper press in Continental Europe would accomplish more for civilization than diplomatic conferences or huge standing armies.

WILD MEN IN PUBLIC LIFE.

It seems to be time to remind American constituencies that statesmen who are still "ferae naturae" are no longer useful, or even inoffensive, in the public life of the United States. It was not always thus. It was not so many years ago that Senator FRYE of Maine was demanding, either on the stump or in interviews for publication, an immediate war with England. We have quite forgotten the pretext for this outburst, and we dare say the Senator has also. But we took the liberty of reminding him at the time that the effete monarchies were not used to that kind of talk from a person who held such a relation to the foreign affairs of his Government as is held by a member of the Senate Foreign Committee, and that they might fail to understand him. Senator FRYE has since taken an important and creditable part in a negotiation conducted in Europe. He is in no danger of repeating his comparatively early indiscretion.

But it seems proper to remind those wild Senators and Representatives who took part in the meeting of indignation against the British and of sympathy with the Boers that was held in Washington on Sunday evening, that the time has gone by when this sort of nonsense is harmless. Representative CHAMP CLARK of Missouri is not likely to complicate his country by anything he may say. But the other wild men are Senators, Messrs. MASON of Illinois and ALLEN of Nebraska. They have had abundant opportunities to relieve their minds in the Senate Chamber, and have taken full advantage of the same. That they should also hire a hall, for the purpose of doing the "Pogram defiance" in their private and individual capacities, shows a very dull sense of their responsibility. Capt. MAHAN very sensibly suggested, in our columns yesterday, "the inadvisability of public meetings on this question." In fact, such meetings may do much mischief, while it is not pretended by anybody that they can do any good or effect any more important object than the relief of the minds of orators. And if it be inadvisable for private citizens to take sides in public, it is not only inadvisable but indecorous for Senators, who have a distinct relation to foreign affairs as part of the treaty-making power. It seems that executive officers also are giving the Government trouble. Witness the case of the wild, amazing WEBSTER DAVIS, who is making his way to Pretoria in "Oom PAUL'S" private car, pursued by a heavy fire of disavowals from the State Department. The plain fact is that the politician who is still "ferae naturae" is no longer eligible for our legislative halls. He was always a public discredit and a nuisance. He has now become also a public danger.

DR. HILLIS AND HIS FACTS.

Does not the Rev. Dr. HILLIS think that 7 per cent. is rather a small proportion of fact to fiction in the statements of a clergyman?

In the report of his sermon on Sunday in which he deplored the prevalence of the fighting spirit in the community, he is said to have illustrated the appalling condition of our own country by the fact that there "were two lawyers to every merchant." It might be objected, even if this were true, that the lawyer is not necessarily a combative and contentious instrument, and that many of them are employed precisely for the purpose of avoiding contests and of conforming the conduct of affairs to the law framed for the peaceful and orderly adjustment of interests in a free community. A clergyman, for instance, who has managed to accumulate a small property in his labors in the vineyard, might with great propriety employ a lawyer to draw his will so that his heirs need not be in doubt or conflict as to their rights therein, and in such a case we suppose that it would be fair to look on the lawyer rather as a peacemaker than as one who stirs up strife. In like manner there are in many of the cities of the land numerous title guarantee companies whose business it is to examine titles to real estate, and to guarantee those that they find sufficient. It is notorious that the operation of this system has lessened very largely the litigation growing out of disputed titles. There are many other instances that sustain the proposition that the lawyers are far from being the disturbing force in society that Dr. HILLIS'S reference to them would imply.

And whatever the function of the legal profession as to their fellow-citizens, they may well claim that in their relations with each other they are probably quite as devoted to the things that make for peace as are the highly revered class to which their critic belongs. Clergymen, who, by the way, happen to number almost exactly the same as the lawyers, furnish, one year with another, about as many disputes among themselves as do the lawyers. The general records of synods, assemblies, conventions, and what not in which clergymen meet will perhaps reveal more serious mutual differences pursued with greater intensity than the bar associations. It may be that, as the lawyers are paid for conducting the quarrels of others and the clergymen earn that modest hire of which they hold that the laborer is worthy in teaching the precepts of peace, each class in its professional gatherings is prone to practice a variation on its habitual pursuits, and thus the lawyers become peaceful and the clergymen disputatious. But whatever the cause, it is a fair impression from the reports of their proceedings that the preachers do take their full share in the "gaudium certaminis."

Whether the lawyers care to indulge in this argumentum ad hominem or not, and whether the Rev. Dr. HILLIS is justified or not in using the prevalence of lawyers as an evidence of the prevalence of the spirit of contention, he will have to revise his figures and the conclusions based on them. There are not, as a matter of fact, two lawyers to one merchant; there are, on the contrary, rather more than seven merchants to one lawyer, which makes the exaggeration of the doctor a little more than fourteenfold and the proportion of fact to error in his statement not quite 7 per cent. And this is based on the census figures for merchants alone, and takes no account of the bankers, brokers, manufacturers, and officers of companies, who are practically of the same class. If these were included, as in fairness they well might be, the disproportion would be more than doubled. This, with all respect, will not do. It might be as well if the "hungry sheep look up and are not fed" as to have them fed after Dr. HILLIS'S fashion.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

—There be people who do not give much weight to the opinions of JOHN RUSKIN in practical matters, but there are others who either do or pretend to, and among them are a good many of the folks who indulge in sweeping condemnations of war, simply as war, and without making any allowance for the motives of the fighters on either side. There is interest, therefore, and perhaps some value, in certain remarks that form a part of one of the lectures included in "Crown of Wild Olive." It begins thus: "When I tell you that war is the foundation of all the arts I mean also that it is the foundation of all the high virtues and faculties of men. It is very strange to me to discover this, and very dreadful—but I saw it to be quite an undeniable fact." Further on the idea is amplified: "I found, in brief, that all great nations learnt their truth of word and strength of thought in war; that they were nourished in war, and wasted by peace; taught by war, and deceived by peace; trained by war, and betrayed by peace; in a word, that they were born in war, and expired in peace." Here, surely, is doctrine to satisfy the believers in a "strenuous life," and even the inventor of that phrase, so hated by cynical pessimists, will find the sentences quoted in unexpected harmony with his own theories of peace and war. As to whether or not what RUSKIN "saw" really is "quite an undeniable fact," that is too large a question to be discussed in a paragraph. It may safely be said, however, that to the ordinary, unemotional observer, the philosopher's position looks as though it might be attacked on the flank if not in front.

—A cynical student of current events suggests that the glittering success just attained by one of Chicago's Aldermen as a capturer of pickpockets may profitably be considered in connection with an ancient adage as to thief-taking, and has bearings, too, on an assertion about Aldermen recently made by one of the legal lights of Brooklyn. The suggestion has elements of attractiveness, but how it could be used without developing certain underlying potentialities in the way of libel suits is not easily discoverable. And, anyway, ancient adages are open to suspicion on general principles. The best of them are not much more than half true, and the one to which cautiously veiled reference has been made does business on a capital of which veracity forms considerably less than 50 per cent. Thieves catch thieves only when letting them go wouldn't pay as well or better. As for the Chicago episode, its details furnish convincing proof that the Alderman in question is brave, and though that is not absolute evidence of moral rectitude, it does go some distance in that direction. Cautious commentators—unlike ancient adages and some of Brooklyn's legal lights—do not make unqualified assertions about all the bearers of any particular name, racial, official, or other. Therefore will the present commentator, whose caution is instinctive and habitual, carefully refrain from making any use of the suggestion received from the cynical student of current events.

—"In politics as in the army," said Mr. BRYAN in his Baltimore speech, "the Generals get the glory and the privates do the work." This interesting statement seems to have been well received by Mr. BRYAN'S auditors, and therefore, of course, from his point of view he was perfectly justified in making it, but, considered abstractly, wasn't it an absurdly inaccurate statement and too obviously demagogic? However it may be with volunteer Colonels of the variety about which Mr. BRYAN has a deep and extensive personal knowledge, the average General when on active service does fully as much work as do the privates under him, and though he has an opportunity to secure glory of a kind not within the private's reach, some account must also be made of the fact that the General, instead of glory, may get disgrace such as never falls upon the rank and file—disgrace crushing and endless. History is not generous to the private, but, on the other hand, it is never cruel to him, and sometimes to be ignored is to be extremely fortunate. Generals are never ignored. We could all name several very modern ones who would think themselves in marvelous luck if they were in danger just now of nothing except a failure to get glory. But Mr. BRYAN knows his business, he can estimate the mental weight of an audience as well as the next man, and he wouldn't have talked nonsense about Generals and privates in Baltimore if he hadn't been sure that it was safe and profitable to do so. Skillfully to adapt means to ends is a common mark of both genius and talent, and the practical man looks to results. Mr. BRYAN is very practical—in some ways. That is why he said that Generals get the glory and privates do the work.

—A while ago there was talk of sending some students of sociology down to Kentucky to study the conditions of life—and death—as they exist in the more mountainous parts of that State. Whether the plan was carried out or not we have forgotten, if we ever knew, but if the inquisitive youths have not yet started for Kentucky, it occurs to us that they would find it safer and attain the same results if they came to New York and used their eyes, ears, and tongues among the residents of East Eleventh Street. Feuds differing in no respect from the Kentucky variety seem to flourish luxuriantly on that thoroughfare, and divergencies of opinion are settled there, permanently, by the free use of pistols, knives, and clubs, just as they are in Clay County. And there is much more sympathy for sociological investigation here than there is in the Blue Mountains. Even our millionaires are accustomed to finding themselves the objects of scrutiny and discussion, and though our Sicilians shoot and stab with promptness, they do it only among their personal acquaintance, and from them the stray sociologist would risk nothing worse than bullets that had missed their intended mark. Such bullets sometimes kill, of course, but they do it much less rarely than do those the flight of which is directed by an ever-present remembrance of the revenue law.

—Those revelations about the horrible condition of the Cuban prisons are curiously belated. The American occupation is already more than a year old, and it is certainly amazing to learn that the very worst features of Spanish rule have survived till now in all their atrocity. Has Gen. WOOD any more power than Gen. BROOKE had? Has he superior facilities for discovering what is going on? Are his ideas of good government different from those of his predecessor? These are hard questions and the obligation to answer them weighs heavily somewhere.

GEN. LUDLOW AND THE HAVANA PRESS.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Office of the Governor of Havana,
Havana, Jan. 18, 1900.

Permit me to reply to your courteous and considerate article of Jan. 13, the critical part of which, however, as I believe, is based upon some misapprehensions of fact.

The American military authorities in Cuba are here by virtue of military occupation, and exercise their functions under the direct orders of the President. Nevertheless, the methods pursued are essentially civil, the military authority being held in reserve for emergencies only.

The law of the land is that of Spain, and, whatever its crudities, defects, and contradictions, it constitutes the basis of government, and is executed as far as practicable, subject to modification by decree when necessary. There is, therefore, no other law than what your article designates as the Spanish "hold over" laws.

In my particular case, by the President's order, I am the Military Governor of Havana, and am likewise charged with the general government of the city, including its police and sanitation and the collection and disbursement of its revenues. I am, therefore, in terms, both a military and civil official, with special administrative functions, for the execution of which I am responsible to the Military Governor of the Island and to the President, as well as to the community in whose behalf my authority is exercised.

Since the organization of this City Government, a year ago, I have had no occasion to call upon the military for other service than the protection and care of the public property, and in but two cases have I had to employ summary methods. The two exceptions were the suppression of the Reconcentrado and the prevention of a general labor strike in the city.

In the former case, a vile sheet was terrorizing and blackmailing the community with an unspeakable licentiousness, and when endurance was no longer possible I directed the police to close the establishment and put the editors in jail.

In the other case, a grave peril was overcome, partly by persuasion and partly by the announced intention of summary dealing should the safety of the city be imperilled by a general strike.

In both cases my action was fully approved, both in Cuba and in the United States.

In the case of the fines imposed on two newspapers, no arbitrary or military action was taken. The law invoked was one for the protection of the civil authorities. The law provides two means of punishing infractions by newspapers—one by the imposition of a fine, from which appeal can be at once taken to the Audiencia; the other by indictment by the Fiscal, who prosecutes first in the Magistrate's court and later in the Audiencia. Both courses have equal validity and give judicial protection to the accused. The former is for libelous falsehoods, the latter for less definite slander and injurious language. I chose the former as more direct and involving a less penalty, with the hope that the intimation given would be sufficient. This failing, resort would be had to the more tedious and expensive method. In neither do I act as a "commanding officer," but upon my responsibility as a civil administrator for the protection of the public service, subject to the decision of the court for justification of my act.

It is true that I have had to assume the unpleasant duty of protecting myself from scurrilous attacks, from which, as you justly observe, an executive officer should be excused. Unfortunately, although the Spanish law made it the duty of the Fiscal to initiate proceedings of this nature, a decree by Gen. Brooke, made in July, 1899, changed this method of procedure and required the authority attacked himself, by direct action or information to the Fiscal, to set the legal machinery in motion. If it were to be done at all, then I had to assume the doing of it myself.

It will be observed that no personal consideration enters into this matter. Had such been the case I have had ample occasion to act long ago. It was only when I became convinced that the public order was in danger of being affected and public respect for the American Administration impaired that it seemed necessary to move in the matter.

The actual status of the publications in question is, I presume, unknown in the United States. One of them is nothing else than a revival of the Reconcentrado, and manned by the same crew of slanderers and blackmailers. The other is owned and directed by a convicted criminal, who has served a term of imprisonment for swindling, has been at other times arrested for various offenses, and for many years has been known as a blackmailer and a man destitute of moral character.

Well-informed people here attach no importance to anything that either of these publications may say, but their effect upon the less enlightened and more susceptible class of the community, and in particular upon the disorderly elements, gamblers, and the like, with whom a constant and quiet conflict has to be maintained by the police, is injurious, as sapping respect for law and authority and inciting malefactors to renewed activity.

Furthermore, we suffer here from the mistaken importance attached in the United States to the journals in question, by which our motives and actions are misrepresented.

It will be observed that there is no interference, nor has there been, with the freedom of the press. The right of newspapers to public discussion of public matters and officials is fully recognized, and the newspaper held to no greater measure of responsibility than would be a private citizen.

I trust that what I have said will suffice to establish that no arbitrary authority has been exercised, using merely the means put at my disposal by the law; that I have in no wise sought to repress or control criticism, but to suppress downright mendacity and slanderous personalities; furthermore, that I have been constrained to take action in accordance with the legal means available and with what I believe to be the necessity for so doing in the interest of the public service.

I value too much the good opinion of my fellow countrymen and the favorable judgment of the serious journals of my country to disregard them, and I have too keen an appreciation of my relations to the responsible Administration in Washington and regard for my own position here as representing it to do anything that should involve unnecessary embarrassment, and, acting according to my best judgment, I must content myself with future justification of my work.

The situation in Cuba is particularly difficult by reason of the fact that we are administering affairs in behalf of another people, who in race, language, and temperament are different from ourselves. The average citizen is excitable and amenable to transitory influences. He reads his newspaper and for the moment believes what he reads. He is not, like the American, accustomed to open vilification of authority, and infers weakness rather than strength from an ignoring of attack.

Another point, and I will no longer impose upon your courtesy. There are always malign influences working secretly against order, and it is not to be assumed that these will fail to operate whenever opportunity presents itself.

The American administration in Havana has not lacked the necessity for establishing enmities of this kind in the repression of crime, the prosecution of malefactors, and the blocking of covetous schemes. It is the disadvantage of the responsible official that he has to work in the open while the plotters scheme in the dark and make their attacks from under cover. It is too much to expect of an executive officer that he shall be at once effective in the repression of crime and plunder, and at the same time be popular with those whose unlawful acts and projects are defeated. He has to make his choice and discharge his public duty, abiding the result.

I should regret to find that in this matter I had really committed a "serious political mistake," nor can I persuade myself that this is so, or that it will be so considered by those to whom the facts are known.

WILLIAM LUDLOW.

THE COMMERCIAL TRAVELER'S POSITION.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It is all wrong. We are not running Augustus Van Wyck as our candidate for the Democratic nomination for President, nor are we launching any boom for ex-Gov. William J. Stone of Missouri. We are for the nominee of the Democratic Party, with a hope that the trust issue will be the chief plank in that party's platform. We honor most Judge Van Wyck and Gov. Stone; and most of the "boys" believe that either of these gentlemen would be elected. Our only concern is to see the Democratic Party victorious. We believe that the trust issue is as strong in the East as any other section of the country, and therefore it is dangerous for the Democratic Party to nominate the party for the Presidency who has dubbed the States of New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut. These three States, with Indiana, saved the Southern people from untold cruelties at the hands of the Republican Party. There are a large number of Southern members of this league, and our correspondence with them shows that they feel that they have nothing but gratitude for the Democrats of the "enemy's country."

So far as Judge Van Wyck is concerned, it is just this: that the commercial travelers feel toward Judge Van Wyck just as the letter carriers of the country used to feel for their champion, the late Sunset Cox. Judge Van Wyck has always been a great friend of the commercial traveler. If he is on a journey in a railway train, you will invariably find him in the smoking car, playing whist or swapping stories with a group of drummers. Judge Van Wyck is a very excellent story teller, and some of the best stories that the boys take out on the road they get from the Brooklyn Democrat. Whenever they want any advice of a legal character the Judge has always shown true friendship for them.

Our different organizations often want the services of an eminent legal adviser, and when they do Judge Van Wyck has gladly served them, and the drummer has talked up Judge Van Wyck all over the country, so that in turn the hotel men have become very fond of him. There are no more grateful people in the world than commercial travelers and hotel men. They can see no reason why they should not state a physical fact, viz., that Judge Van Wyck was the first Democrat of eminence to take up the question of trusts and force it to the front as one of the great issues now before the American public.

And now they are saying, because we are going to send out some good advice to Democrats of this country from Gov. Stone in reference to a Presidential policy for the Democracy, that we are booming the brilliant Missourian. Again, nothing of the kind. Gov. Stone is a very charming talker, and always most courteous to the commercial traveler. A few years ago a visit to Nevada, Mo., by commercial travelers was looked forward to as a great treat. There they would meet Gov. Stone, who always had a new story for them, as well as a warm handshake. He has always shown partiality for commercial travelers and hotel men, and, in a warmer way, they have the same feeling for him as they entertain for Judge Van Wyck.

This league is going to send out everything that will tend to help the Democratic Party in a line that is indicated by Gov. Stone's letters. We are going to send out a long extract from Clark Howell's recent speech at Buffalo, which is entitled "The Man With His Hat in His Hand." I suppose the papers will then say that the brilliant editor of The Atlanta Constitution is booming him for President.

WILLIAM HOYE,
Secretary and Treasurer Commercial Travelers' and Hotel Men's Anti-Trust League.
New York, Jan. 18, 1900.

THE USE OF VOTING MACHINES.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I note your editorial in this morning's TIMES advocating the adoption of the Standard voting machine for use in this city. This machine is so constructed as to be applicable only to party column ballot, which ballot-reformers are unanimous in condemning as entirely vicious in principle. The City Club has been for the last few years interested in endeavoring to secure the adoption of a ballot which shall follow the true Australian principle, and to abolish the ballot which we now have in favor of the form of the ballot in use in Massachusetts, where it has given entire satisfaction and has been the means of elevating the standard of party nominations. The City and Reform Clubs, in co-operation with other organizations, have perfected a bill, which is about to be introduced in the Senate and Assembly by Mr. Elsberg and Mr. Fallows, respectively, designed to bring about this reform of fundamental interest and importance. The machine which your editorial advocates does not attempt to overcome the main objections which reformers make to the present system. They charge that this system discriminates in favor of certain candidates as against others nominated for the same office, and surely no graver charge can be made against the election law than that by its operation it fails to record the exact will of the voter. Even the proud possibility of being able to register one's vote for twenty officials, including possibly Justices of the Supreme Court, in ten seconds (as per voting machine prospectus) is dearly purchased if it involves securely fastening upon us a system which augments the evils of machine politics. It is impossible to blink the political effect of the party column arrangement in the face of the fact that in the Mayoralty election of 1897 that arrangement caused the total vote for Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals at the head of the ticket to fall more than 90,000 behind the vote for Mayor in the Greater New York.

While not criticising the mechanical working of the machine on exhibition, (which I take for granted is excellent of its kind,) it is to be remembered that the Constitution allows the use of voting machines only "provided that secrecy in voting be preserved." In most political contests the certain knowledge that a voter splits his ticket is destructive of real secrecy, and the criticism was made by the press of Buffalo after the last election, at which time the Standard voting machine was used, that it was a very easy matter for those present to determine by sound or observation whether a voter had voted a "straight" ticket or otherwise. If this criticism is well founded, the spirit, if not the actual letter, of the Constitution is surely violated. I judge the criticism to be well founded from the careful explanation in the Standard Company's prospectus to the effect that a sly voter who desires to delude the bystanders into believing that he is really a "scratcher" can do so by artfully making a number of clicks with the mechanism, and thus accomplish his crafty design, while still voting a "straight" ticket. Bearing in mind that the voter to be protected is the one who is expected to vote a "straight" ticket, but desires to conceal the fact that he splits, and that no one was ever known to vote "straight" while wishing to have it believed that he voted a split ticket, the qualifications as a humorist of the writer of the prospectus will be apparent.

BOUDINOT KEITH.

THE HAMILTON TREES.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have noticed the appeal in behalf of the Hamilton Memorial trees by Maud Scofield Beeson in your issue of the 21st inst., and similar ones to much the same effect from time to time.

It does not seem to be understood by your correspondents that but six of the trees remain at One Hundred and Forty-ninth Street, four of which are dead and two alive—both miserable affairs. I observe from a photograph of the leafless trees before me that a fence incloses them, and the site is to be built upon. Now, why can't your correspondent and the societies she speaks of buy the site, turn it over to the Park Department, and ask President Clausen to detail his landscape gardener to identify the trees, renew the soil if need be, and replant them in their original grouping?

An authoritative identification of the species seems necessary. Some say they are elms, some say liquidambars, while Mr. Alexander Hamilton recently stated them to be "limes," (Tilia Americana?) brought when little whips from Washington's estate at Mount Vernon by Gen. Hamilton, and planted by him to typify the then thirteen United States. If the trees are of any of the kinds mentioned they ought to be in Park nurseries—only that I have had assurance that for years the Manhattan parks have had no nurseries—only a nurseryman. Otherwise, with foresight, seedlings or grafts from the old trees might be forthcoming.

It is eminently proper that the thirteen trees should be perpetuated in the original species and grouping for all time, but it must be done in a natural and practical way. It is not nature's way to have trees live forever. She perpetuates them by renewal.

I feel sure President Clausen will willingly co-operate, and if the original site cannot be had, that he will have one selected on Park ground as near to One Hundred and Forty-ninth Street and Convent Avenue as possible.

The thirteen Hamilton trees should always be a feature of New York. The Park Department can make them so.

JAMES MACPHERSON.
Trenton, N. J., Jan. 22, 1900.

GRIT OF AMERICAN VOLUNTEERS

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I read with great pleasure the article about Gen. Maury and Col. Curtis in your Sunday issue, as I do all references to the events of the war of the rebellion, in which I served four years and was honorably discharged from the army in 1865, before attaining my nineteenth birthday, having participated in all the battles fought in South Carolina and those of the Army of the James, including those of the troops sent from that army to capture Fort Fisher, N. C.

I was particularly struck with the closing sentence of the article in which Gen. Curtis is reported to have said to Gen. Maury, who had questioned his prudence in retiring from a difficult position instead of surrendering his command: "I believe [as I did throughout the whole war] that a commander who decides that it is better to be killed than captured, unless actually ambushed, will, in a majority of cases, escape both death and defeat." That determination is the essense of military success. Gen. Sheridan in his memoirs expressed the idea when he said: "I never engaged in a battle that I did not prefer death to defeat." The fact that he so felt, and further, than his actions in battle showed to his command that he was in the battle to win, was the guarantee of his remarkable success as a fighter.

I was on the skirmish line of Terry's Division in the battle of May 16, 1864, and when ordered to fall back I did not think we were beaten, nor, from what I could then see, did I think we were in danger of defeat, and that was the opinion of those about me. I have been confirmed in the belief that Butler ought not to have been beaten in that battle, because the enemy did not follow up the advantage gained by him under the cover of the fog, and the further fact that he did not attack Bermuda Hundred line until four days afterward, and then so feebly that less than a division sent to the picket line held him back. All the battles of our war were won by the side (except when the attack was by overwhelming numbers) that marched straight through, which rallied after a period of exhaustion, and went in to win or die. The great victories were generally snatched from the jaws of defeat. If the British officers could have learned and practiced this principle there would have been fewer Boer successes in South Africa. The history of military operations during the last forty years conclusively proves that the American volunteer has shown in battle a firmness and persistency superior to that of troops, regular or volunteer, of any other army in the world.

New York, Jan. 22, 1900. W. J.

The Boers Not Cowards.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In your report of to-day's issue your reporter makes me say that the Boers are cowards. I strongly protest against such perversions of the statements I made. What I said was that I did not believe that the Boers were able to resist cold steel, or that they ever would attempt to attack an enemy who was under cover while they had to attack in the open.

In no other respect do I charge the Boers with cowardice; indeed, it would be absurd and unjust for me to do so.

The way in which the whole Boer population rose to a man, believing, though in my opinion erroneously, that their country and nation were in danger, cannot be equaled in history. So far from being cowards, I consider that the courage the Boers showed in facing a first-class European power like England is almost without parallel.

FRITZ MOSENTHAL.
New York, Jan. 22, 1900.

NUGGETS.

Advantage of Position.

"Where have you been all afternoon?"
"Music hall. Piano recital."
"Infernally tiresome, wasn't it?"
"Not at all. I was the pianist."—Chicago Tribune.

Twisted.

"How did that orator impress his audience?"
"Oh, he's all right; but everybody tittered when his tongue got twisted and he shouted: 'Tottle the thrusts!'"—Indianapolis Journal.

Sentimental Maid, Practical Youth.

The maid was inclined to be sentimental. "What remedy," she asked, "is there for a broken heart?" The practical young man arose to the occasion. "Why not try 'splicing?'" he suggested. And now the cards are out.—Philadelphia Record.

His Place.

Father—So you've resigned your situation again?
Son—Yes, Sir. It was too hard.
Father—Too hard! Don't you know that no situation is perfectly easy?
Son—Yes, Sir. That's why I want no situation.—Catholic Standard and Times.

A Bad Field.

Asket—Back home again, eh? What was the matter, too healthy for you out there?
Doctor—Exactly. There was only one case of sickness in the town the whole time I was there.
Asket—And I suppose some other doctor had that?
Doctor—No, I had it. It was home sickness.—Philadelphia Press.

ON THE BOULEVARD.

From The Somerville Jonrnal.

She rides by in her Russian sleigh,
Wrappea to the very eyes in furs.
In all the passing line to-day
No equipage can vie with hers.
Her fur-clad coachman, dignified,
In stately grandeur holds the reins,
The fur-clad footman by his side
No vulgar side-glance ever deigns.

She sits there haughty and alone,
The pride of fashion in her face,
And, like a princess on her throne,
She looks down on the populace.
She is the envied one of all,
And yet no gladness fills her heart.
For oh! her new boots are too small,
And oh! oh! how her chilblains smart.

DRAMATIC AND MUSICAL

Elsie De Wolfe and Olive May at the Lyceum Theatre.

A NEW OPERA IN ENGLISH

Return of "The Belle of New York" to the Casino—Other Changes of Bill—Gossip of the Stage.

"The Surprises of Love," the new piece which took the place of the esteemed "Miss Hobbs" at the Lyceum Theatre last evening, begins with a situation suitable for burlesque or operetta and culminates in a perversion of the famous incident in Feuillet's "Roman d'un jeune homme pauvre." Only in this case the young man who is locked in a deserted building with a young woman does not jump from a height to save her reputation at the risk of his life, which he holds less dear. There is no hint of the romance which used to glow on the stage in the prime of Lester Wallack, and afterward in the brief hour of H. J. Montague, in the new comedy by Paul Bilhaud and Michel Carré; there is nothing nearly so sweet and wholesome in it.

A young widow has betrothed herself to a tiresome member of the French Academy, an institution which is getting to be quite a joke nowadays in the minds of French farceurs. The Academician gives the lady a ticket for a chance in some queer lottery which he bought on a Channel steamer from an enterprising American. The ticket wins the capital prize, which turns out to be a penniless and unlucky young man.

The widow declines to accept the prize, but circumstances conspire to compel her to accept it. The youth, driven by despair to attempt to drown himself in a public fountain, is rescued and housed in a pavilion in her garden, where, for two months, all the ladies of the neighborhood pay amorous court to him. Meanwhile, the widow grows tired and more tired of her Academician, and is clearly falling in love with her capital prize, who is a fine musician, an inspired artist, a flower of courtesy, and everything a nice young man should be.

The crisis is reached when the jealous Academician locks the door of the Summer house on the eve of the day set for his wedding in order to imprison the troublesome youth, and imprisons also by mistake the lady. In the last act, after a good deal of tedious pottering over a grossly indelicate situation, in which wit and humor are alike lacking, the Academician gets his deserts and the lottery young man gets the lady.

In fact, in spite of a really clever first act and some genuinely amusing episodes in Act II., "The Surprises of Love" is not very cheering entertainment.

Elsie De Wolfe, who was cordially received by an audience of unusually smart appearance, looked well, posed gracefully, and acted her part with tact. In one or two scenes she was fairly charming, and more than that the rôle did not permit. Her dresses were very handsome—but that is another story. Miss Olive May was also employed in this performance, and she, too, made a personal hit, and nearly as much of an artistic hit as the circumstances permitted. Miss May has an engaging personality and a sense of humor. She denotes the traits of the madcap with delightful buoyancy, but she should restrain her tendency to overdo. Her return to comedy and to one of the theatres near the heart of things in town is most welcome.

The rôle of Leduc, the winning number, was taken by Mr. H. Reeves Smith, the London comedian who was seen in "A Brace of Partridges." He was droll at first, and his denotement of the sentiment of the rôle was not unpleasant; but his monotonous tone grew tiresome and his touch was too heavy for the light, jesting subject. Evidently Mr. Reeves Smith is a "character actor" rather than a light comedian.

Worse acting than that of another imported comedian, Wallace Erskine's, as the self-important and jealous Academician, and some of the others with their school of acting extravagancies has not been seen in the Lyceum since Daniel Frohman hung out his sign there thirteen years ago. But Miss Margaret Robinson, in her little rôle showed a sense of artistic proportion and was sufficiently picturesque, while Mr. Eric Hope was no worse than might have been expected.

One of the most vehement bursts of applause in the evening, however, was ironical, and the irony was clearly directed at this hereditary legislator. An old gentleman is trying to marry his daughter to Leduc. He suggests bringing her to take a drawing lesson.

"You must make love to her," he urges; "be dramatic!"

"I'm afraid I'm not much of an actor," replies Leduc.

"You'd have to be rank to be as bad an actor as Farnrol," replies the other.

That's where the violent burst of applause came. And Farnrol, the actor, was the rôle taken by the Earl of Yarmouth, who calls himself Eric Hope.

Leduc	H. Reeves Smith
Dupont Martin	Wallace Erskine
Platinel	Clayton White
Oscar Farnrol	Eric Hope
Dr. Jalabrette	Frank Lea Shore
John Burnett	Charles Bowser
Footman	David McCartney
Marcelle Duval	Elsie De Wolfe
Raymonde	Olive May
Celeste Jalabrette	Margaret Robinson
Blanche de Soisy	Helen Keating
Jeanne Martine	Ellen Gail

WHAT MISS DE WOLFE WORE.

Miss Elsie De Wolfe's gowns were charming. They were as distinctive as the art of different French modistes could make them, and yet, to use an expression which means a great deal to a woman, they looked like the wearer—they were Miss De Wolfe's gowns and expressed her characteristics.

There are three of them quite different and yet having a characteristic resemblance like members of the same family. The first two are a pink and a yellow gown with foundations of satin, the one of pink chiffon and the other of deep cream silk net lace, appliqued over plaited chiffon. These are the most important gowns from their position, being the one a street and the other a handsome house gown. The third gown, which is worn in the last two acts, while a simple house or tea gown is most important from its position in the play and the most distinctly characteristic of Miss De Wolfe. It, with the outer garment which Doucet calls a housecoat, was "created" by him for this play.

The foundation is a soft, clinging liberty silk under white chiffon. There is a simple little waist of inch-wide box plaits finished with a little satin ribbon belt with a magnificent diamond buckle. The skirt is perfectly simple, of the same box plaits all the way round, the edge being finished with a border of heavy deep cream lace appliqued on to the gown and falling over a white chiffon plaiting.

More of this lace in points is appliqued around the semi-low neck of the little frock with a band of it set in above. The full sleeves are of the chiffon over a chiffon lining, banded in at the elbow with a bit of heavy blue embroidery, from which it falls out in full, soft folds to be gathered in at the wrist closely with a narrow band of dark fur.

The bit of blue is in tone with coat of light blue velvet, a charming thing, falling in straight lines, the back with four narrow box plaits at each shoulder, and drawn in only at the waist line, where the belt of white satin, with a pattern of heavy blue embroidery, is to be seen. The front is made in the same way, four box plaits on either side, finished at the opening with broad bands of dark fur, which passes around the neck and ends with tails at the lower edge. The sides are open from the shoulder, edged with narrower bands of the fur and caught together with something like idealized "frogs" of heavy blue embroidery.

The costume is delightful and charmingly finished with a black hood, black velvet next the face, black tulle spangled with black pailettes on the outside, tying in the front, while a black satin bow finishes the top and another the neck in the back. Miss De Wolfe wears a few fine and appropriate jewels.

AMERICAN THEATRE.

Production of "At the Lower Harbor" by the Castle Square Singers.

"At the Lower Harbor," ("A Basso Porto,") an opera in three acts, the book by Eugene Checci and the music by Nicola Spinelli, was produced at the American Theatre last night by the Castle Square Opera Company. It was preceded by Offenbach's two-act operetta "The Magic Melody." This made a programme so long that anything like extended consideration of the new work is entirely out of the question. Perhaps this is not altogether to be deplored, for "At the Lower Harbor" will commend itself more to discussion on account of the present drift of Italian music which it illustrates than on account of its own intrinsic merits. It was heard last night by an audience of large size, and it was applauded in the enthusiastic manner which is fashionable at the American Theatre. There is none the less room for doubt as to whether the same persons who applauded so vigorously last night will go to hear it again.

The work belongs to the same class as "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci," and is another of the current Italian attempts to show that the tragic side of the life of the lowly is more vivid than that of the lords and ladies who were the familiar figures of the Donizetti and Bellini works. There can be no doubt that in this new work the writers of the others mentioned have been outdone in at least one respect. The personages are far more repulsive than theirs, and the story is much more brutal. It has already been rehearsed in these columns, and it need not be retold. The motives are those of love and hate and jealousy, but there is an admixture of politics, and this seems to be the weak spot in the drama.

The machinations of a political villain in a red and black striped jersey, and with earrings, are not likely to be very convincing, and certainly no one can be expected to care much about them. Neither is the love of a young and apparently clean-minded girl for this ruffian the sort of thing that moves the hearts of the people. The mother's love for her children is likely to win more sympathy, but it is not presented in an attractive light. Taking it altogether, the book of the opera did not impress one at a first hearing as composed of the kind of matter which serves as the foundation for a lasting success.

The composer has sought to embody the moods of the story with a vast amount of detail, and as there is a good deal of detail in the story, he has encumbered himself with refinements which are not easily followed. In the main there is a good deal of musicianly work in the score, but there is little of the sort of music which takes hold on the popular taste. There are several ensembles of excellent value, but no one ever knew ensembles to make the success of an opera. The solo parts are not all well written.

The music of the unhappy mother, as far as could be judged last night, is spasmodic in its phraseology, except in one or two places, and uncommonly difficult to sing. Mme. Selma Kronold did as much as could be expected of her with music which is at one moment in the lowest register and the next in the highest. If this is the way in which the modern Italians mean to write for the voice, they would do well to go back and study the scores of their early forbears.

The most melodious number in the work is the serenade sung by Luigino at the opening of the second act, with an accompaniment of guitars and mandolins. Next to this is the duet for Cicillo and Sesella in the same act. As to orchestration, it would not be fair to make any comment on it. No doubt that used last night was the composer's, but it was not presented to the consideration of the audience in the most favorable light.

The opera was admirably put on the stage. The scenery would have been a credit to any opera house, and the stage groupings and acting of the chorus showed the results of careful and very intelligent preparation. The production, as a whole, was admirable when one takes into consideration the resources of the theatre. Miss Carrington deserves credit for her earnest work as Sesella and Mr. Pruette was a sufficiently villainous Cicillo.

Maria	Selma Kronold
Sesella	Mary Carrington
Luigino	Harry Davies
Cicillo	William Pruette
Pascale	Frank H. Belcher
Pichillo	Herman Brand

EDNA MAY'S REAPPEARANCE.

Revival of "The Belle of New York" at the Casino.

Had a stranger, say from Mars, happened into the Casino last evening and seen the crowd there and noted its enthusiasm he might have been excused for imagining that there was a turn-out to welcome to New York the Patti and Bernhardt of 1900 compressed into one packet of femininity. Instead it was only an outpouring to welcome back to America Miss Edna May.

Miss May herself could not have been wholly happy when the performance of "The Belle of New York" ended. Even before her appearance she learned that she had a formidable rival in Toby Claude, a petite, modest little actress who had the rôle of the little Parisienne, Fifi, in which Phyllis Rankin made a hit when the skit was first produced.

Miss Claude, who made her first appearance in America, caught the audience instantly by her cute, captivating and innocent little ways, and before the evening ended had so completely robbed Edna May of the laurels that were expected to be wholly hers, that the crowd took pity on Miss May in the final scene of the last act.

Then the queen of the Johnnies appeared in a costume of black that fairly blazed with diamonds and rhinestones in the rays of the friendly lime light, and made a thoroughly pretty picture—until she opened her mouth. Ushers carried to the stage for Miss May two very handsome floral pieces, and the curtain fell with the triumph of Miss May over the more modestly attired Fifi.

The house was packed, for "The Belle of New York" was popular in its way at its original production, and people were anxious to see the new members of the cast.

James E. Sullivan, as the polite lunatic, replaced David Warfield and achieved a success, for he was clever, but there can be too much of even a good thing.

E. J. Connolly figured in the rôle that Dan Daly made so funny and suffered greatly by comparison, for his was a sort of fun that might suit English music halls, but was altogether too vapid for an up-to-date American audience.

W. P. Carleton, who succeeded Harry Davenport in the rôle of the spendthrift lover, was the one new-comer who was willingly accepted as a most agreeable substitute for his predecessor.

He acted gracefully, sang well, and made a decided hit, especially when he sang Kipling's verses, "The Absent-Minded Beggar," that all England is singing just now. With a fair stage presence, and the good training he has had, he is sure to be heard from later in a better part than that he had last night.

Edna May, the much talked-of, has, since her journey over the water, acquired a most affected air, and what she probably thinks is a true English accent. It is cockneyism of the concert halls, however, and was anything but pleasing. Her clever impersonation of the Salvation Army lassie in the opening act, when she has no lines to speak, and her costume in the last act saved her reappearance from being merely commonplace.

In those two instances she was as she was before she went abroad, save for the excess of diamonds, and so renewed the success which first brought her into prominence.

"Le Prophete" Repeated.

Meyerbeer's opera "Le Prophète" was repeated last evening by the Maurice Grau Opera Company, with the same cast as at the first performance of the opera, given twelve days ago. Some of the singers were in better voice, notably M. Alvarez, who sang the part of John de Leyde, and Suzanne Adams, who appeared as Berta. Mme. Schumann-Heink gave Fides the usual dramatic fervor which she imparts to all of her rôles, and she sang it with greater plenitude of voice and spirit. M. Plançon was the Oberthal and MM. De Reszke, Bars, and Devries were the three Anabaptists. Signor Mancinelli conducted. It is worth noting that the skating ballet was more successfully carried out than in the previous performance, and the coronation scene was fully as impressive.

AT KOSTER AND BIAL'S.

Marie Jansen and Marion Manola Are the Star Attractions.

There were some old-time comic opera habitues in the audience at Koster & Bial's Music Hall last night when Marie Jansen and Marion Manola appeared, the one after a short and the other after a long period of absence from the vaudeville stage. Miss Jansen sang four pretty songs in a sweet, plaintive, and admirably managed voice that is no longer as strong as it used to be. Two of the songs she sang in Empire costume and two in the costume of a Spanish picador. Her reception was cordial without being strikingly demonstrative. Miss Manola was greeted with enthusiastic applause. She then gave two dramatic recitations. Her efforts were all cordially received.

Other features of the programme were the Five Cornallas, (three men and two women,) whose acrobatic performances were warmly applauded. Solaret, in an act consisting of dancing in various colored lights, presented a beautiful specialty. Max Unger gave several astonishing feats of strength and graceful muscular posing. Binns and Binns, musical comedians, were seen in an act that was as clever as it was entertaining, and which was quite a new departure from the usual run of musical comedy acts.

Revival of "Never Again."

The Henry V. Donnelly stock company presented yesterday the farcical comedy "Never Again" at the Murray Hill Theatre, in a clever and artistic manner. The performance may be accepted fairly as one of the best revivals given by the company this season. Charles D. Waldon as Vignon was superb in the rôle, while Walter Allen as Katzenjammer displayed a capital German accent and a talent for comedy acting that was delightful. Henry V. Donnelly played the part of Ribot, and gave a good interpretation, and William Redmund's Planchette was much to his credit. The remainder of the cast gave entire satisfaction.

Mrs. Snelling's Song Recital.

Mrs. Grenville Snelling, who has been for a considerable time favorably known as a salon singer, gave a song recital yesterday afternoon at Mendelssohn Hall. She had a large and well-disposed audience and the invaluable assistance of M. Georges Longy, the first oboist of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, while Mr. Joseph Pizzarello played her accompaniments with taste and discretion. Mrs. Snelling elected to display her powers in a programme of wide variety and no little exaction. Her list consisted of Galuppi's "Prigionera Abbandonata," Foote's "The Roses Are Dead," Purcell's "Nymphs and Shepherds," Gabriel Fauré's "Nell," "Au Cimetiere," and "Mandoline," an air from "Les Dragons de Villars"; Christian Sinding's "Wie glänzt der helle Mond," "Mir glänzen die Augen," and "Wiegenlied"; three French popular songs, "Par un Matin," "Pierre et sa Mie," and "Le Joli Tambour," and an "Agnus Dei," with organ and oboe obbligato, by Bizet.

Mrs. Snelling has often been heard to better advantage than she was yesterday. She was not in good voice, and this gave her trouble in the more difficult songs of her list. She sings always with taste and intelligence, and in the French folk songs she is especially happy. These, indeed, she sings with peculiar charm, dramatizing them with facial expression and gesture altogether appropriate. Nothing could be more delightful in its way than her singing of "Par un Matin" was yesterday. M. Longy was heard in three solos besides the obbligato, and his lovely tone and perfect technic were sources of constant wonder and joy to those who know how seldom the instrument he plays is treated with consideration in this part of the world. M. Longy is a virtuoso of the first order, and in his hands the oboe can be made to do anything within the capabilities of the instrument.

Ready for "Die Meistersinger."

Owing to the restoration of the cuts in the production of "Die Meistersinger" tomorrow evening at the Metropolitan Opera House, the performance will begin promptly at 7:30. A full rehearsal of the principals, chorus, and orchestra was held yesterday, and from all appearances the opera will be the most important of any given in this city in many years. Maurice Grau announces that he has arranged for the only appearance on the concert stage this season of Mlle. Calvé, and for this occasion the prices will be slightly advanced over the regular Sunday night prices.

Miss Nethersole Improving.

Miss Olga Nethersole's continued illness in Washington, D. C., compels the management at Wallack's Theatre to announce a further postponement of her appearance in Clyde Fitch's dramatization of "Sapho." In a telegram from her physician last night to Marcus Mayer, her manager, the former stated that Miss Nethersole was suffering from incipient throat trouble, and that her condition was improving sufficiently to warrant her appearance to-morrow or Thursday evening.

Felix Schweighofer's Farewell.

The benefit and farewell performance of the German comedian, Felix Schweighofer, will be given at the Irving Place Theatre to-night. Mr. Schweighofer will be seen in two new rôles, the schoolmaster, August Scheu, in the one-act farce, "Scheu Before the Secretary of State," and as the comedian, Rolver, in "Othello's Success." Herr Schweighofer will also present the second act of "Blitzmädel," (The Telegraph Girl.)

Mrs. Langtry Recites Kipling's Poem.

Mrs. Langtry, at the meeting of the Professional Woman's League yesterday, recited Kipling's poem, "The Absent-Minded Beggar." Mrs. Langtry was the guest of honor of the League for the day. The announcement was made that the poem was read publicly for the "first time in this country." It was recited in this city more than once before Mrs. Langtry's recital of yesterday.

Miss Moretti Succeeds Miss Henry.

Miss Eleanor Moretti last night succeeded Miss Ethel Henry in the rôle of Lady Samaurez in "The Degenerates" at the Garden Theatre. Miss Moretti will continue in this part throughout the remainder of Mrs. Langtry's engagement in this city.

Theatres and Music Halls.

EDEN MUSEE.—New moving pictures were shown yesterday, giving scenes from South Africa and six tableaus of Cinderella.

THEATRE COMIQUE. — Considerable merit is attached to the performance offered by "The Gay Masqueraders," which includes many novelties.

HURTIG & SEAMON'S MUSIC HALL.—An excellent bill was offered at this house. It consisted of Kathryn Osterman and her company in a sketch, "The Editor;" John Kernell, Lew Hawkins, Ward and Curren, the Livingstons, Stanley and Wilson and many others.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—"A Stranger in a Strange Land," an amusing comedy which has been in this city before this season, had a large audience last evening. The play contains a number of exciting episodes and plenty of comedy, which was received with much applause.

PROCTOR'S PALACE.—The programme yesterday contained a number of entertaining vaudeville acts, which included Montgomery and Stone, Duncan's collies, Harding and Ah Sid, Halladay and Ward, McPhee and Hill, Florence Henri King, Hornmann, and the Tyson sisters.

HARLEM OPERA HOUSE.—John Drew returned to the city after a brief absence and opened a week's engagement last evening with his charming comedy, "The Tyranny of Tears." The capacious theatre was almost filled to its capacity and Mr. Drew met with a hearty reception.

DEWEY THEATRE.—Edward F. Rush's Victoria Burlesquers, in a travesty called "A High Ball," is the current attraction this week. The specialty artists in the olio were Le Roy and Morris, Reid and Gilbert, Curtis and Wooley, and Hattie Mawns.

HUBER'S MUSEUM.—Old-fashioned minstrelsy was revived by Manager Huber yesterday by presenting Moore's New Orleans Minstrels, a troupe of Southern colored artists. The features of the curio halls were Col. Schult's troupe of great Danes, Prollo's illusions and dissolving views, Joe Cramer, Marille, M. Ferreri's trained rats, and a number of others.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE.—Miss Marie Dressler's newest effort in vaudeville, "Twenty Minutes in Shirt Waists," won her a substantial success yesterday. The sketch was a lively melange of song and story. She was assisted by Adele Farrington. Others in the bill were Willard Simms and Jennie Graham, Leo Dervalto, Keno, Welch, and Melrose, Sisson and Wallace, Musical Kleists, Lenton brothers, and Sandford and Stewart.

KEITH'S UNION SQUARE THEATRE.—Minnie Seligman and her company are the leading feature this week. They presented an especially revised one act sketch by B. B. Valentine of "In Paradise." Other acts on the bill were Walter Le Roy and Florence Clayton in a sketch called "Hogan of the Hansom;" Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Ellis, John Bawker, Charles Case, Miss Louise Gunning, Newell and Shevett, Adam's sea lions and the Vilona Sisters.

KNEISEL QUARTET AT PRINCETON.

Prof. Ludwig Breitner Assists at Its Second Concert.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 22.—The Kneisel Quartet of the Boston Symphony Orchestra gave its second concert of the season tonight in University Hall. The quartet was made up of Franz Kneisel, first violin; Karl Ondrick, second violin; Louis Snencenski, viola; Alwin Schroeder, violoncello. The assisting artist was Prof. Ludwig Breitner, who has been playing with the Boston Symphony Orchestra in New York City.

Prof. Breitner played in the third number, a Brahms quartet, with the same clearness of touch and beauty of tone that has characterized his other recent public performances. The programme was of unusual interest and variety, and rendered with the usual perfection of detail and poetic interpretation for which the Kneisel Quartet is noted. The programme follows:

1. Haydn—Quartet in D major, Op. 76, No. 5.
   Allegretto: Allegro.
   Largo (cantabile, E mesto.)
   Menuetto (allegro.)
   Finale (presto.)
2. Dvorak—Terzetto for two violins and viola, Op. 74.
   "Allegro ma non troppo," larghetto.
   Scherzo (vivace.)
   Thema con variazioni.
3. Brahms—Quartet for piano, violin, viola, and violoncello in major, Op. 26.
   Allegro non troppo.
   Poco adagio.
   Poco allegro.
   Finale (allegro.)

WHAT IS DOING IN SOCIETY.

Yesterday's bracing and enjoyable weather was thoroughly appreciated by the members of the gay world, and the streets and avenues of the fashionable districts were thronged with promenaders and carriages from morning until night. The day brought the last but one of the second series of Mr. Bagby's musical mornings at the Astoria, the usual number of "at homes," and in the evening a small dinner and theatre party given by Mrs. George Scott of 15 Washington Square North; the opera, where a large house was assembled to hear "Le Prophète"; the first night of "The Surprises of Love," in which Mrs. De Wolfe appeared at the Lyceum, and Mrs. Ogden Mills's annual dance.

***

To-day is more crowded with incidents than any of its predecessors of the past fortnight have been. The morning will bring the third meeting of the sewing class for the Lying-In Hospital at the residence of Mrs. Richard Gambrill, 30 Park Avenue, and the first of Miss Georgina Roberts's talks at the Astoria, when the subject will be "The Boer versus Civilization." In the afternoon a reception will be given by Mrs. Joseph F. Knapp at the Savoy Hotel for Mr. and Mrs. William Shakespeare of London, a luncheon of fifteen covers by Mrs. George F. Crocker, and "at homes" by Mrs. Charles A. Van Rensselaer of 55 East Sixty-fifth Street, Mrs. M. Augustus Field of 14 West Thirty-sixth Street, Mrs. Robert Hoe of 11 East Thirty-sixth Street, Mrs. Matuin L. Delafield of 475 Fifth Avenue, and by Mrs. Charles H. Coster of 37 East Thirty-seventh Street. At evening there will be the fourth Fortnightly Dance at the Astoria, the fourth Subscription Dance at Delmonico's, a dance for Miss Justine Cutting given by her aunt, Mrs. R. Fulton Cutting, at 24 East Sixty-seventh Street, at which Mr. Worthington Whitehouse will lead the cotillion, the fourth of Miss Callender's and Miss De Forest's Tuesday Nights, and three large dinners for young people to be given by Mrs. Bayard Cutting, Mrs. Lucius Wilmerding, and Mrs. Frederic Kernochan.

***

Mr. Bagby's one hundred and third musical morning yesterday at the Astoria was, as usual, largely attended, and the Waldorf palm gardens were filled afterward with gay parties at luncheon. The artists yesterday morning were Anton Van Dyck of the Metropolitan Company, Myron W. Whitney, Jr., Mme. Madeline Schiller, and Mrs. Adele Lais Baldwin. The programme was as follows:

"A Sera"	Tosti
"Luna in Mare"	Vannuccini
Myron W. Whitney, Jr.
Berceuse	Chopin
Ballade A flat	Chopin
Mme. Madeline Schiller.
"An Brunnen"	Hildach
"L'Adieu du Matin"	Pessard
Mrs. Adele Lais Baldwin.
Logés Erzahlung, "Myrnold"	Wagner
Siegmund's Liebesgesang, "Die Walkure"
Mr. Van Dyck.	Wagner
Polonaise E major	Liszt
Mme. M. Schiller.
"Bonny Machree"	Moir
"Bedouin Love Song"	Chadwick
Myron W. Whitney, Jr.
"John Anderson"	Bungert
"Keramos"	Mallard
Mrs. Baldwin.
Sérénade Printanière	A. Holmes
Poeme d'Avril	Massenet
Frahlingsnacht	Schumann
Mr. Van Dyck.

Mr. Isidore Luckstone was at the piano.

***

The last musical morning of the season will take place at the Astoria on Monday next. Mr. Bagby has given to the Neighborhood Clubs Association a number of tickets for this occasion, which can be had at $3, as well as boxes seating seven people at $25. Tickets can also be obtained from Miss Knowlton, 102 East Thirty-eighth Street, and Mr. Bagby, 21 West Thirty-first Street. The Kaltenborn Orchestra and several prominent soloists will appear. The patronesses of the Neighborhood Clubs Association are Mesdames Alonzo Bell, Edmund L. Baylies, John S. Barnes, Jacob Bend, Heber R. Bishop, D. W. Bishop, Cortlandt F. Bishop, W. Rathbone Bacon, James A. Burden, Arthur A. Cumnock, Edmund Coffin, R. Fulton Cutting, Richard Derby, N. H. Field, Walter S. Gurnee, Jr., J. Borden Harriman, John S. Hoyt, D. H. Knowlton, Clarence Mackay, Charles H. Marshall, Dave H. Morris, J. Archibald Murray, Almeric Paget, Henry P. Rogers, Douglas Robinson, Jr., William Jay Schieffelin, John Sloane, James L. Soley, Anson Phelps Stokes, Trevor, John Dunn Wood, and Lucius Wilmerding.

***

It is announced that Mr. Alexander Hadden will lead the cotillion at the Assembly Ball at the Astoria on Thursday evening next, and that Mrs. John C. Wilmerding, Mrs. Charles H. Marshall, Mrs. Lloyd S. Bryce, and Mrs. Cadwalader Jones will receive.

***

Mrs. Elbridge T. Gerry and the Misses Gerry of 12 East Sixty-first Street will give the first of two large receptions this evening. The second of these receptions will be given on Tuesday, Jan. 30. Mrs. Gerry will give her annual ball on the evening of Monday, Feb. 5.

***

Mr. William A. Robinson and Miss Edwyna L. Lee, a niece of Mr. Henry Senff, and who is a connection of the Havemeyers and a sister of Mrs. Jeffries, formerly Miss Anne Havemeyer Lee, will be married in St. George's Church at 4 o'clock to-morrow afternoon.

***

This afternoon Miss Ada Webster Ward will give the first of six talks, which are to follow on successive Tuesday afternoons, at the residence of Miss Caroline T. Lawrence, 45 East Twenty-ninth Street. Her subject will be "American Literature of the Nineteenth Century." Tickets can be had for the course from Miss Ward at 34 West Twelfth Street.

***

A number of well-known people went yesterday to New Haven for the first day of the annual festivities connected with the junior promenade. There were a number of receptions given in the afternoon by the various secret societies, and in the evening the Glee and Banjo Club gave its annual concert at the Hyperion Theatre, and afterward the sophomore and junior class germans were danced. To-day will bring a number of teas and receptions, and in the evening the annual junior promenade in the Second Regiment Armory. Among the New Yorkers who went yesterday to New Haven for these festivities were Mrs. Hewitt, Miss Hewitt, Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss, Mrs. Knowles, Mrs. R. C. Fisher, Miss Gunther, Miss Ballard, and Mrs. F. H. Wheeler and Miss Wheeler.

***

The wedding of Robert Kelso Cassatt and Miss Minnie Drexel Fell, daughter of Mrs. Alexander Van Rensselaer, took a number of New York people to Philadelphia yesterday. The story of the wedding will be found in another column.

***

The Society of Colonial Wars will hold its annual dinner at Delmonico's on Tuesday evening, Jan. 30, the two hundred and eighty-sixth anniversary of the founding of New Amsterdam. Sir Frederic J. de Peyster, Governor of the society, and the Stewards, Messrs. Howland Pell, Philip Rhinelander, Philip Livingston, Frank B. Keesh, William M. Harriman, and Dr. Sydney H. Carney, Jr., and Col. Henry S. Clark will have charge of the dinner arrangements. Among the speakers of the evening will be Mr. William Dodge, Capt. F. E. Chadwick, Col. William Cary Sanger, and Mr. Howard R. Bayne. King William pipes will be given as souvenirs.

***

Mr. and Mrs. Edward McVickar, (Miss Edith Speyers,) who were married last Wednesday in this city, are now in Florida, and were registered at the St. James Hotel, Jacksonville, yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kelly and daughter are at Palm Beach. The first golf tournament of the season at Palm Beach was held on Saturday last. It was an eighteen-hole handicap medal play event, and Mr. H. Suydam of New York won, with a total score of 84. His next competitor was Mr. Sidney Maddock of New York, with a score of 89.

***

The Lahn, which will sail to-day for Bremen, via Southampton, has booked, among other passengers, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Crawford and daughter, L. M. Jones, and Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Williams. La Bretagne, which arrived yesterday morning from Havre, brought, among other passengers, M. and Mme. Keratry, M. Paul Samary, Governor of St. Pierre et Miquelon, and Mme. Samary; M. Taigny, Secretary of the French Embassy at Washington, and the Count and Countess de Castellane. The last were at first printed on the steamer list as M. and Mme. de Bony, but their names were erased and they were given in another place their correct titles. The story of their arrival will be found in another column. Excepting for the fact that the Count has grown a little stouter, he has hardly changed at all in appearance since last here, in 1895, but the Countess has greatly improved in appearance, dresses in excellent taste, and has a quiet style. The Count and Countess attended the Bagby musicale, and afterward lunched in the Waldorf Palm Garden, where they attracted much attention.

***

Miss Porter, daughter of Gen. Horace Porter, Ambassador to France, gave a beautiful dance at Gen. Porter's house in Paris a short time ago. The rooms were decorated with holly and mistletoe. Mr. William Spencer led the cotillion, dancing with Miss Porter. Much taste was displayed in the favors, which were appropriate to the season and also very original. They were large white wings for the women, which were fastened either to the shoulders or in the hair; broad ribbon sashes, fans, horns, jumping jacks, French workboxes, large witches' hats, and poke bonnets trimmed with crinkled paper flowers. Among those present were Miss Wheaton, Miss Maude Leland, Mrs. Parsons, Miss Whitney, Miss Rodman, Miss Crane, and Messrs. Joseph Hunt, Joseph Stickney, William Hamlin, Kenneth Murchison, and Spencer Eddy.

***

Mrs. Edward Kemeys, Mrs. A. Van Rensselaer, and Mrs. John Borland are at the Grand Hotel, Rome. Mrs. J. West Roosevelt is spending the Winter in Rome with her children.

***

There has been a wave of most distressing weather on the Riviera. At Cannes golf has been at a standstill, tennis hopeless, and five o'clocks deserted. The links are said to be in a terrible state. At Nice, at the American Consulate, Mrs. Harold Van Buren and her daughters gave an "Ole Virginny" reception. The news from Cairo is not very encouraging as yet, and Americans seem to be scattered through Europe just at present.

***

Lady Essex was anxious to go out to South Africa as a Red Cross nurse. Her husband's services, however, were not accepted. The Duchess of Marlborough and her mother will pass the Winter in Rome. They leave in a few days for Paris. Lady Lillian Grenfell, the sister of the Duke of Marlborough, and her husband went to the Cape with the Duke. The Baroness Burdett-Coutts was also a passenger on the same ship. Major Burns, who married Miss Forbes Leith, and "Jack" Cumming have also left for South Africa.

***

There has been almost absolutely nothing going on abroad. The English gayeties are so far and few between as to be events. Paris is very dull. A few fashionable American women are entertaining, and among them Mrs. Ralph Curtis, Mrs. George Ingraham, and Miss Fanny Reed. Many entertainments have been given in honor of Miss Marion Munroe, the daughter of Mrs. John Munroe, Sr., and Mr. Henri Hottinguer, whose civil wedding took place yesterday, and whose religious wedding will take place to-day at the American Church on the Avenue d'Alma. The presents were displayed at a reception this past week, and many of them came from this city.

***

Recent arrivals in Vienna include Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Rice, Mrs. Shippen, and Miss Roosevelt, Mrs. M. Spaulding of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Howard T. Martin were also in Vienna for a few days en route to the Engadine. Messrs. Frank Griswold, E. J. Hurlburt, Miss Redman, the Misses Newton, and Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Brown were in Rome last week.

***

Among the last cable dispatches is one which announces that the Duchess of Manchester is seriously ill at Davos. The London newspapers say that the Duke of Manchester is very delicate, and that he caught a severe cold in New York, from which he has not recovered. The Duchess of Manchester has with her Miss Emily Yznaga. Mr. Fernando Yznaga, who was at Davos at the time of the death of his niece, Lady Alice Montagu, is returning very shortly to this country.

***

On the return of Lady Randolph Churchill to England she will come, according to present plans, to America with her son, Winston Churchill, who is to enter the lecture field. Much unfavorable criticism is being expressed at the tone of young Churchill's cables to the London newspapers. The story runs that he recently received a message from his brother officers, "Don't make an ass of yourself," and that he replied: "Impossible, for I have left your regiment."

***

The teas at the Hotel Ritz in the Place Vendome, Paris, bring together many Americans. Among those who were recently met there were Mrs. Ogden Goelet and Miss Lily May, who had a sable bolero and a flat gray hat, trimmed with many ostrich plumes; Mrs. Franklin Singer, Mrs. George Law, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Campbell.

YALE SOCIAL WEEK BEGUN.

Teas Yesterday Afternoon and Concert and Dances in the Evening.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Jan. 22.—The annual social week at Yale began to-day, and will last until Wednesday. As usual the hotels and fashionable homes of New Haven are crowded with guests, and the campus is a scene of gayety.

The social events of the week began this morning with a tea at the Colony House on Hillhouse Avenue. This afternoon there were a number of other preliminary teas, the most important being the annual Junior tea given by Mrs. Henry L. Hotchkiss at her home on Hillhouse Avenue, where Mrs. Arthur T. Hadley, the wife of Yale's new President, received in an official capacity for the first time. At the same hour this afternoon Mrs. Bernadotte Perrin, wife of the junior Greek professor, gave a tea to the sophomores.

The annual Glee and Banjo Club concert was given in the Hyperion to-night. The usual restrictions were placed upon the freshmen in the upper gallery, and the usual interruptions to the concert by the lower class men were the order of the evening. Immediately after the concert the two great events of the middle classes came off. Carriages at the Hyperion Theatre door took the guests from the concert to Warner Hall, where the Sophomore germán was given, and to Alumni Hall, where was the Junior german. The seniors of the college also gave a dance in Harmonie Hall.

To-day was, however, only preliminary to to-morrow's events. To-morrow evening the Junior Promenade Concert will be given in the Second Regiment Armory.

WILKESBARRE ELOPERS TRIED.

Mrs. Alice Jones to Appear When Called Upon for Sentence.

WILKESBARRE, Penn., Jan. 22.—The case of Mrs. Alice Jones, who, with George Stevenson, eloped to England last August, was called in the court to-day for trial. Stevenson impersonated John Jones, the woman's husband and going to the office of a real estate dealer, the elopers negotiated a mortgage for $600 on Mr. Jones's property. With this money they fled to Europe, but when they arrived at Liverpool they were arrested and later brought back to this country.

Mrs. Jones was able to procure bail and was released. Stevenson was sent to jail, and at his trial pleaded guilty to forgery. Judge Lynch would not sentence him until Mrs. Jones was tried. In the meantime the husband forgave his wife, and she was taken back to his home.

As was expected, when Mrs. Jones was arraigned she pleaded guilty. The specific charge against her was unlawfully and willfully signing a mortgage with George Stevenson by which she raised $600. Defendant gave bail for her appearance when called for sentence. It is understood that sentence will be deferred.

Charles H. Thompson Dead.

Charles H. Thompson, one of the oldest residents of the Eighth Ward, died Saturday at his home, 35 Charlton Street. Mr. Thompson was seventy-seven years old. He was injured in a runaway accident three years ago and never fully recovered. He was engaged in the business of contracting. He leaves a wife and two daughters.

DEATH LIST OF A DAY.

Theodore Bacon.

Theodore Bacon, a well-known lawyer and politician, died yesterday in his home in Rochester. He had been ill for several weeks with a nervous disorder, and the end was not unexpected. He was born in New Haven in 1824. He was the son of the Rev. Leonard Bacon, who was for fifty-seven years pastor of the First Congregational Church of

PRODUCE EXCHANGE VOTE

Gratuity Fund Insurance Limited by an Amendment.

YOUNGER MEMBERS' VICTORY

The Causes Which Led to the Crisis and Contest—New Measure Governing Assessment.

The Produce Exchange members met yesterday and voted to put into effect the amendment to Section 57 of the by-laws which modifies the provisions for the disposition of the gratuity fund. It limits the amount that can be paid out yearly from that fund as insurance, and, therefore, the amount that the members must pay in the form of assessments. The vote stood 1,053 to 944, in favor of the amendment. It was a victory for the younger men of the Exchange.

The vote was the settling, at least for the present, of a contest which could not have ended in any way without making some of the members feel that they were being unjustly treated. The contest has been carried on with some degree of hard feeling for a number of years, and no one knows that in the future it will not be reopened. It was primarily due to miscalculation over seventeen years ago, it is said, which formed the basis of a system that could not last. In 1882, when the gratuity fund was formed and it was made obligatory on all members of the Exchange to subscribe to it, it was calculated that the deaths would not be over thirty a year. The membership is limited to 1,000. As a matter of fact, the deaths last year numbered seventy-four. It was also thought that as members retired from business they would sell their memberships to younger men. A by-law was adopted making the assessment on each surviving member $3 at each death, and adopting a schedule by which the beneficiaries of a member would get $10,000; or, a proportionately less sum if the number of years he had spent as a member since the adoption of the aforesaid by-law were less than ten. If there were over fifty deaths in a year, the surplus fund was to be called on if it exceeded $750,000.

In the first year no member's death took more than $1,000 from the fund, in the second year $2,000 was the limit, and so on up to ten years, and as no death drain about $10,000 was collected from the surviving members, a surplus fund began to pile up. It is now about $750,000, the number of deaths forcing it down to that level. But, as years went on, the younger members began to feel the assessments as a severe burden, and to complain. Deaths grew more numerous than had been expected, and when members retired from business instead of selling their memberships to younger men they held on to them for their interest in the gratuity fund, understanding that it was the cheapest insurance they could get at their ages. Of course, this increased the mortality.

Conditions were getting to be such that the assessments for this fund were forcing members to sell their memberships, and it was feared a time would come when these memberships would bring nothing, and that not enough active members would be left to keep up the fund. Memberships had, in fact, decreased in selling value from $1,800 to $600. Some reform was needed and a committee was appointed to draft an amendment to the by-law, modifying the provisions. This was a sort of compromise, some younger members desiring a still more radical change, while older ones who had faithfully paid assessments by which beneficiaries of other men had profited, bitterly declared that the Exchange was in honor bound to see that they got as much insurance as they had been promised. They styled the amendment a sort of repudiation.

The amendment passed, although nearly two-thirds of the members are "full benefit" men, entitled to the highest gratuity. The new measure provides that there shall be an assessment at each death, not to exceed fifty in any one year, and members shall be assessed in proportion to their ages, as follows:

Years.	Assessments.
Under 40	$3.00
From 40 to 45	3.50
From 45 to 50	4.25
From 50 to 55	5.00
From 55 to 60	6.00
From 60 to 65	7.00
65 or over	8.00

The sum total of the amount so raised in a year is all that can be paid out in that year. Those who would have received $10,000 under the old system get "a maximum gratuity" under the new one; others who would have received less get a less proportion of "a maximum gratuity." This is the way a maximum gratuity is calculated:

The net amount realized from assessments during the year, after making the deductions aforesaid, shall be divided by the number of tenths of a maximum gratuity payable as herein prescribed to the beneficiaries of all members who shall have died during the same year, and ten times the amount of the quotient shall be a maximum gratuity.

The amendment further provides that the present surplus fund shall be divided up among the members in the proportions in which they have contributed to it.

Two other amendments were voted on. The first, providing for the creating of "non-participating" memberships, those having no connection with the Gratuity Fund, was defeated by a vote of 840 to 1,153. The second, making the fee on transfer of memberships $50, was adopted by a vote of 1,271 to 746.

FIVE WHISKIES KILLED HIM.

Man Dies After Drinking Them, and Two Arrests Are Made.

Capt. Conroy of the West Thirty-seventh Street Police Station yesterday made two arrests in connection with a sudden death in his precinct. Charles Gannon of 443 West Thirty-ninth Street went into the saloon of Childs Brothers at 543 Tenth Avenue and saw a friend, Joseph Cochran of 464 Eleventh Avenue, standing at the bar. He asked him to buy him a drink and Cochran said he would purchase five if Gannon would drink them. Gannon agreed and quickly drank five whiskies.

Gannon then went to the saloon of P. O'Brien at 537 Tenth Avenue and sat down in a chair near a hot stove. In about five minutes he fell to the floor dead. The Coroners' office was notified and ordered Capt. Conroy to make an investigation. He did so and arrested Cochran and Adolf Batt, the bartender in the saloon of Childs Brothers. They were paroled pending an examination.

WHITEHALL FERRY FRANCHISE.

Municipal Authorities Decide to Bring the Question to an Issue.

The municipal authorities are preparing to take action regarding the operation without a franchise for more than two years of the Whitehall Ferry of the Central Railroad of New Jersey. The ferry was started during the closing months of the reform administration. It was said that a franchise would soon be issued, to be sold to the highest bidder, and the railroad company, it is said, agreed that when it obtained the franchise it would pay the city a pro rata amount for the time it had already been in operation. On this understanding, proceedings brought by the city authorities soon after the Greater New York charter took effect were held in abeyance.

The Tammany officials have now decided that the question must be brought to an issue, and Corporation Counsel Whalen has announced that unless the present Municipal Assembly acts promptly he will take up the action and ask for an order of court to enjoin the company from operating the ferry. He has been directed to do this by a resolution of the Sinking Fund Commission. Members of the Board of Aldermen say that the matter has never come before that body. Robert W. De Forest, counsel for the railroad, said yesterday:

"The Whitehall Street Ferry was started experimentally, with a view to ascertaining whether or not sufficient traffic existed to warrant continuously running it. Application for a franchise was then made to Controller Fitch, and it was granted, subject to the formal steps necessary to carry it into effect. Since the new charter came into effect the question has been the subject of conferences among the Dock Board, the Corporation Counsel, and the Municipal Assembly. Application for the establishment of the ferry has been before the Municipal Assembly for some time. The company is willing to grant without litigation everything that the city could properly ask. The amount involved to the city is comparatively insignificant, being based in the cases of all ferries upon a percentage of gross receipts, which in the present instance would be about $1,000 a year.

HEARD ABOUT TOWN.

"The Standard Oil Company is reaching out in an entirely new direction down in our State," remarked Col. Scriven of New Orleans, while chatting at the Hotel Rivers. "Three or four different times during the past year they had prospecting parties going over the turpentine territory of our State, a field that has never been developed to any extent, compared with what has been done in the Carolinas and Georgia. But the turpentine field in those States has been worked almost to death, and the naval stores men have also been inspecting in Louisiana and Texas, where the are immense pine districts. It isn't the yellow pine or the manufacture of turpentine, according to our lumber and naval stores people, that the Standard Oil folks are after, but the turpentine after it is ready for the market. Their scheme goes to show how clever those people are in making one hand wash the other in their business affairs. They send a lot of oil to New Orleans for shipment to South and Central American ports. The oil cars come down full. They have to go back to the oil fields or refineries empty, and therefore at a dead loss. So the oil men are pushing the turpentine production in order that they may be able to bring the turpentine north in those empty tank cars of theirs. That is where their interest in the establishment of turpentine stills in our State, in Mississippi, and in Texas comes in. I expect that before the end of the year we will have a lot of stills built, and have the production of turpentine in large quantities added to our industries simply because the Standard Oil Company does not like the idea of dragging empty cars north from New Orleans and Galveston."

***

George W. Spear, the trotting horse trainer who has handled the horses belonging to the Hubingers of New Haven for the past three years, ended his engagement with them at the close of last year, as the Hubingers have dropped racing. Mr. Spear has come to this city for the season, and will probably have a public training stable at the new Empire City Trotting track that was opened by ex-Corporation Counsel Clark last Fall. Indications point to a larger number of trotting horses in training at that track during the coming Summer than have ever been handled at any track in this vicinity. The driving on the Speedway has awakened an interest in the light harness race horse such as has not been felt here in years.

***

Students at Columbia and members of the athletic clubs in town are watching with more than ordinary interest a plan which "Lonny" Stagg has for the preliminary training of the football players at the University of Chicago for the season of 1900. Stagg has come to believe that wrestling is the very best exercise that a football player can indulge in as preparatory work for the struggles on the gridiron field. Ability developed in this branch of athletics will, he believes, make his men supple and better able to handle themselves when it comes to the scrimmages incident to a football game. On the face of it his plan meets with the approval of men who have discussed it, and at the New York Athletic Club the other night a number of old football players commended it most emphatically, even if it was at variance with all accepted methods of training. Wrestling, they said, would certainly fetch the men up to the Summer months in fine physical condition, as well as teach them tricks that might be of advantage when they began to play football. What he proposes to do during the Summer months with such of his men as do not play baseball or indulge in rowing or field sports is not known. But Stagg is a versatile fellow, and will certainly find something to tide over these trying Summer months in order that the men may be ready for football when Fall comes, without the long ordeal of preliminary training that is so trying to the boys before they are able to get into the real spirit of the game.

***

"Civility costs nothing, and the clerks at some of the savings banks who have to meet and answer questions of depositors should learn the fact as well as others." Which reflection was made by a New York woman who has an account in the Brooklyn Dime Savings Bank. Like most women, she knows little about banking methods, and so asked questions of the clerk who received her deposit. Instead of gentlemanly treatment, she was answered curtly and almost insultingly because she wanted to know when and how interest would be added to her book, which had not been written up for two years. "I suppose the men are pestered almost to death by fool questions by women," she said, "but it is no more trouble to them to answer one politely, on the assumption that all women know nothing about business, than it is to be snappy, surly, and insolent. Still, they live in Brooklyn, which is one excuse, and their depositors seem to be largely of the working classes, to whom no one ever seems to try to be polite."

***

January strawberries were never so plenty or so cheap as they are this year. The Florida crop has begun to appear, and the wholesale prices for the fruit on Friday ranged from as low as 20 cents a basket up to 50 cents, which was the top price, though the hothouse fruit brought higher figures. While the fruit lacked the deep red color of the Summer berries, it was still very tasty, with a decided strawberry flavor, and persons of even moderate means were able to buy them at the retail stores without danger of impending bankruptcy. "If you are willing to pay the price," said one dealer, "it is now possible to have strawberries on the table from one year's end to the other, as the question of raising them, both early and late, has been mastered by growers in various parts of the country."

***

Brooklyn's unique institution, the Institute of Arts and Sciences, is to have a new Librarian, Miss Susie A. Hutchinson, who will begin her labors there on the first of the coming month. Miss Hutchinson comes from Branford, Conn., where she has served for a number of years as Assistant Librarian at the Blackstone Library, a free institution, founded and endowed by Timothy B. Blackstone, until recently President of the Chicago and Alton Railway, and a native of that town, where he was born in 1820. Mr. Blackstone established the library several years ago, before Mr. Carnegie made the founding of libraries a popular fad. Miss Hutchinson has been connected with the library since it was opened.

***

An agency for Southern hotels and railways has instituted a new way of calling attention to its business. In the show window where the circulars of the Winter resorts are displayed there is spread out a tempting array of oranges, pineapples, tomatoes, strawberries, green peas, string beans, eggplants, and other fruits and vegetables which are supposed to come from the resorts whose literature is there for the information of the public. The fact that the office is down town and near to the markets where these things can always be had has, of course, no connection with the display.

***

Carp, as every one who does any fishing knows, is esteemed neither by fishermen, fish culturist, nor fish eaters. Tender mouths which tear out when pressure is applied to the hook make them unpopular with the fishermen. A voracious appetite, which only the spawn and very young of other fish will satisfy, makes fish culturists dislike them. Meat that is tough, making it necessary to parboil the fish, makes them unpopular with cooks. A lack of flavor accounts for their unpopularity with the gourmet. So they have become as unpopular as denizens of the water as have the English sparrows as residents of the fields. At a tackle store the other day a group of fishermen were rejoicing over the fact that the recent lowering of streams and ponds hereabouts, owing to the drought, had resulted in the destruction of many thousands of the fish. In the waters near Rochester, when the water was drawn from the canal early in December, more than three tons of German carp were taken in a couple of days in the cleaning up process, and were given as payment for the work done to the parties who cleared the stretch of water. Game Protector Wellman, who had supervision of the job, saved from the mass of other fish taken about 3,000 Oswego bass, bullheads, suckers, and a few game fish, besides the bass, which were transferred to the Genesee River at points where there are no carp, and where the fish will have a better chance to thrive. From the South Norwalk (Conn.) reservoir the Water Commissioners of the city removed more than two tons of carp, and there are stories that large quantities of these fish have been taken from ponds on Long Island and in Western Connecticut, where their presence has prevented other fish from thriving. Down Maryland and Virginia way there has also been a raid on the carp under State direction, and fly fishermen believe that the result will be beneficial, in that it will give game fishes such a chance to thrive as they have not had for years. In Southern Pennsylvania and West Virginia the quantity of carp stripped from some of the streams was so great that the fish were spread on the ground for fertilizing purposes after every one who wanted carp had been supplied with all they could use for eating purposes. Carp look well in an aquarium, but they do not seem to be popular elsewhere.

BILLS IN THE LEGISLATURE.

SENATE.

ALBANY, Jan. 22.—The following bills were introduced in the Senate:

Senator Mackey—Appropriating $45,000 to facilitate State commerce by increasing the depth of water in the Erie Basin at Buffalo.

Senator Mackey—Authorizing the payment of cost of traveling and the expenses of Trial Justices while attending Supreme Court terms outside the counties in which they reside, except in the counties of New York and Kings.

Senator Humphrey—Amending the banking law so as to provide that any association may purchase at any private sale any real estate upon which it may have a mortgage.

Senator Elsberg—Requiring the Principal of every public or private school in the State, having more than 100 pupils, to instruct and train the pupils by means of drills so that they may be able to leave the school building in the shortest possible time in case of fire.

Senator Thornton—Amending the Penal Code so as to allow a woman over sixteen years of age convicted of a felony and sentenced to less than a year's imprisonment, to be sent to the State Prison for Women at Auburn. The bill further provides that a woman between the ages of fifteen and thirty, who has not been previously convicted of a felony may in the discretion of the trial court be sentenced to a house of refuge or reformatory for women.

ASSEMBLY.

ALBANY, Jan. 22.—These bills have been introduced in the Assembly:

Mr. DUSINBERY—To amend the fisheries, game, and forest law, so as to make railroad companies liable for all damages done by fire to property adjacent to or remote from its railroad if said fire result from any neglect upon the part of the railroad company.

Mr. RIERDON—To put a stop to hazing in schools and military academies and institutions of the State, and making it a misdemeanor to so do.

Mr. DOUGHTY—Separating the Town of West Hempstead from the Greater City of New York and creating it a town of the county.

Mr. KELSEY—Appropriating $91,175 for extension, equipment, and improvements to the Craig Colony for Epileptics.

Mr. BURNETT—An amendment to the Penal Code to provide that in all actions or special proceedings where disbursements are awarded by the Court of Appeals or Appellate Division on appeals from orders they must be taxed by the clerk where the order is entered and collected the same as motion costs.

Mr. BRENNAN—To legalize the appointments made in the Fire Department by the Fire Commissioner in the former City of Brooklyn in the absence of an eligible list on Jan. 1, 1896.

Mr. PRINCE—That judgments in favor of laborers and wage-earners for less than $50 obtained when recovered within two months after action accrued shall provide that the defendant shall be liable to arrest and imprisonment upon execution for a period not exceeding fifteen days.

Mr. PRINCE—That the summons in such an action may be made returnable in not less than three days nor more than five days from the time of its issuance.

Mr. O'CONNELL—That mechanics and skilled laborers employed in State institutions shall be paid the stated rate of wages for such labor in the locality in which the institution is situated and that the eight-hour law shall apply to such class of State employes.

Mr. O'NEIL—That no pawnbroker shall receive tools and implements used by mechanics or advance money thereon, unless the person presenting the same shall advance an affidavit sworn to before a notary public or Commissioner of Deeds to the effect that the tools or implements are legally in his possession and that he is the owner thereof.

Mr. REMSEN—That the Board of Public Improvements of the City of New York cause a field survey of the Thirty-second Ward of the Borough of Brooklyn to be made, and a map locating all the streets and bridges and all the lots now held and owned. Such map to be deemed final and conclusive with respect to the location, width, and grade of the streets. The expense of the survey and map shall not exceed $20,000, to be paid by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment of the City of New York. The owners of real estate in the Thirty-second Ward, who are unable to pay their taxes for the year 1899 within the time prescribed for payment without default by reason of there being no apportionment of their property or accurate map to locate it, may pay their taxes at any time within six months after the passage of this act.

Mr. KELSEY—To license employment agencies where fees are charged for procuring employment or situations.

Mr. LITCHARD—Providing that if the value of the consignment exceeds $25, the commission merchant shall, upon request of the consignor, make affidavit showing what portion of the consignment has been sold, the price received therefor, and the names and addresses of the persons to whom sold.

BILL FOR TUNNELS AND BRIDGES.

Mr. Brennan Asks for Further East River Improvements.

ALBANY, Jan. 22.—Assemblyman Brennan to-night introduced his bill of last year authorizing the Governor to appoint a commission for the construction of suspension bridges over the East River between the Boroughs of the City of New York and giving them the additional power to construct tunnels. The commission is directed to prepare plans for the construction of a bridge from a point between Fulton Ferry and the navy yard in Brooklyn to a point in Manhattan. All the powers conferred upon the commission to acquire land and construct the bridges in the bill of last year are contained in the bill introduced to-night, the bridge when completed to be a public highway.

The commission is authorized and empowered to construct a tunnel under the East River from some eligible point between Whitehall and Wall Streets in Manhattan and a convenient point between Atlantic and Hamilton Avenues in Brooklyn. This tunnel is to be of sufficient size to admit of the operation of not less than one nor more than four railroad tracks, with such loops at the termini of the tunnel in each borough as may be necessary.

The commission is also empowered to construct a bridge or tunnel across the East River between the Boroughs of Manhattan and Queens, between the two ends of Blackwell's Island.

All the expenses of these bridges or tunnels are to be borne by the City of New York and the Controller is directed to issue bonds from time to time for such amounts as the commission shall certify to be necessary.

SENATE BILLS PASSED.

ALBANY, Jan. 22.—Senator John Raines presided at to-night's session of the Senate in the absence of Lieut. Gov. Woodruff and Senator Ellsworth, President pro tem.

A bill to protect and straighten the boundary lines of the Eighth and Thirteenth Wards of the City of Utica by annexing parts of the Fifth Ward thereto; another confirming and legalizing certain taxes and assessments in Utica; another revising the charter of Utica relative to certain loans, all introduced by Senator Coggeshall, were passed.

Senator Wagner's bill authorizing the Board of Estimate and Apportionment of New York City to relieve the interest of the city in and to certain lands in the Borough of Brooklyn was passed. Several bills were introduced, and the Senate adjourned until to-morrow morning.

DEBATE ON EXCISE LAW REPEAL.

After a Heated Argument Harburger's Resolution Is Tabled.

ALBANY, Jan. 22.—The debate on the Raines law repeal resolution soon developed into an interchange of personalities between Assemblyman Harburger, the introducer of the resolution, and Assemblyman Rogers of Broome County, the Chairman of the Assembly Committee on Excise.

Mr. Harburger, after attacking the Raines law and its principles and the Republican Party for the use of its power in keeping the measure on the Statute books, indulged in vigorous criticism of Senator Raines and the members of the Assembly Excise Committee.

"This committee," said Mr. Harburger, "occupies the unique position of lending a willing ear to the voice of a corporation and being deaf to the appeals of the common people of the State. It is the same old story—everything for a corporation; nothing for the common people. We have an amusing spectacle in this situation. We see some of the shining lights in the Republican Party fooling the people, upholding legislation which they know has bred more vice and corruption and dens of dissipation than any other statute ever placed on our books.

"Senator Raines preaches what he knows is not true. He knows that the law that bears his name has increased all kinds of evils, and its continuance is a disgrace to our State. And now I want to say a word to my friend the Chairman of the Excise Committee. He, I presume, is going to play the same tactics as his predecessor on the Excise Committee. He is pompous, he is suave, he is all that is necessary for the making of any number of promises, for the doing of anything to smother in his committee legislation which would give the people relief from the oppressions of the Raines law. He will do your bidding. He is a true member of the Republican Party. Relief legislation is dead which comes in his hands."

After Mr. Harburger had concluded, Mr. Rogers rose to answer him. He said that Mr. Harburger reminded him of the Biblical character of Samson. The Book of Sacred Writ tells that Samson went to the mountains and slew a thousand warriors. Assemblyman Harburger resembled him greatly in that achievement, because both used a jawbone.

Mr. Rogers closed by remarking that no one took Mr. Harburger in a serious light. He said that he was either a monomaniac on the excise question, or was "inebriated with the effervescence of his own salubriousness." He believed that he was a fit subject for the State Commission in Lunacy. He called Assemblyman Harburger a "tiny pugilistic Tammany tiger," and declared that he would be his tamer.

Assemblyman Harburger made answer, after which the debate closed and the resolution was laid on the table.

GOVERNOR GETS COMMERCE REPORT

Commission's Findings Will Go to the Legislature Thursday.

ALBANY, Jan. 22.—Gov. Roosevelt to-day entertained at luncheon the members of the commission appointed to investigate the decline of commerce at the port of New York. The commission brought with it the report which it has drafted, setting forth the results of its inquiry. This was discussed with the Governor. It is the intention of the Governor to submit this report, with that of the Canal Advisory Board, to the Legislature on Thursday.

PRAYS FOR ASSEMBLYMEN.

Chaplain Asks that They Be Delivered from Temptations of Wine Room, Gambling, and the Lobby.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 22.—Much talk was caused to-night in the Assembly over the prayer of the Chaplain, the Rev. George R. Kerner, who asked divine help for the members to be "delivered from the temptations of this city, particularly the temptations of the wine room, the gaming house, and the influences of the lobby."

As the reverend gentleman uttered this part of his opening prayer the members of the Assembly raised their eyes and looked wonderingly at each other.

THE ANNUAL APPROPRIATION BILL.

Amount Called for the Same as Last Year, $16,000,000.

ALBANY, Jan. 22.—Leader Allds introduced the annual appropriation bill, which appropriates $16,000,000. The sum is about the same as last year, except that items aggregating $200,000 have been taken over from the supply bill, which is done in accordance with the recommendations of State Controller Morgan. This really makes the appropriation $200,000 less than last year's, which is due to the economy practiced by the different departments of State.

Ministers Want Horton Law Repealed.

The Baptist Ministers' Conference yesterday passed a resolution expressing "its earnest hope that the bill of Assemblyman Lewis to repeal the so-called Horton law may become a law, in the interest of public morals and good order."

A committee was appointed to present the resolution to the Legislature.

Will Ask Repeal of Death Penalty.

ALBANY, Jan. 22.—Senator Timothy D. Sullivan will introduce on Wednesday a bill for the repeal of capital punishment. A similar bill has already been introduced in the Assembly by Assemblyman Maher.

RENOUNCES PROTESTANT FAITH

Cambridge Livingston, Society Man, a Member of the Roman Catholic Church.

The fact became generally known yesterday that Cambridge Livingston, a son of the late Robert Cambridge Livingston, and whose mother was Miss Maria Whitney, has become a Roman Catholic. Mr. Livingston, who is a well-known member of the prominent family of that name, and who is also related and connected with several other of New York's oldest families, is a bachelor about thirty-two years old. He was graduated from Harvard in the class of '90, and has for some years been a prominent member of the Knickerbocker Club. He is also a member of the Catholic Club, which latter organization he joined after becoming a member of the Roman Catholic Church.

Mr. Livingston's change of creed was not brought about, it is said, by any particular influence. There are other Roman Catholic Livingstons, notably Johnston Livingston, the President of the Knickerbocker Club, who is a cousin of Cambridge Livingston, and his daughters, the Countess de Laugier-Villars, formerly Miss Carola Livingston, and her sister, Mrs. Geraldyn Redmond, formerly Miss Estelle Livingston. Miss Elizabeth Livingston, a distant cousin, became a member of the Roman Catholic Church last Spring.

Mr. Livingston, whose immediate family reside at Islip, L. I., where they have had a country place for many years, and who are prominent members of the Episcopal Church in that place, is reticent about his change of creed. It is understood among his friends that, being of a religious turn of mind, he became a member of that Church as a result of personal study and investigation, in which last he was aided by his cousins, the Countess de Laugier-Villars and Mrs. Redmond. The death of Lieut. William Tiffany, the fiancé of his sister, Miss Maude Livingston, which occurred in Boston from malarial fever contracted during the Cuban campaign in the early Autumn of 1898, deepened Mr. Livingston's religious convictions, and it was soon after this that he became a Roman Catholic.

Mr. Livingston inherited from his father a small fortune, and has had time to cultivate his literary tastes. Some few years ago he was much interested in politics, and for a time took a prominent part in the Tammany Hall organization of his district. He has been in mourning for a year, but before that time was a well-known figure at all the more fashionable entertainments of the season here and at Newport.

FUNERAL OF JAMES PYLE.

The Service Held at the Central Baptist Church.

The funeral of James Pyle, who died Saturday, was held yesterday at the Central Baptist Church, on West Forty-second Street, of which Mr. Pyle had been a lifelong member. On the platform, besides the pastor of the church, the Rev. Frank M. Goodchild, were the Rev. Dr. Henry M. Sanders of the Madison Avenue Baptist Church, formerly Mr. Pyle's pastor, and the Rev. Jonathan Bastow. Friends of Mr. Pyle numbering more than 500, including a large number of his employes, were present.

The service held was that of the Episcopal Church. No address was made. The Rev. Dr. Sanders offered a prayer, in which he referred to Mr. Pyle's connection with the Central Baptist Church, and to his long and active career. The Mendelssohn Glee Club sang "Rock of Ages" and "Lead, Kindly Light," and H. Evan Williams sang "Come Unto Me." As the body was carried out of the church the organist played Chopin's funeral march. Among the floral tributes was a bank of white carnations, sent by the employes of Mr. Pyle. The words, "Our Beloved Employer," formed of violets, were set in the piece. The burial was in Greenwood Cemetery.

Some comment was occasioned by the fact that the Episcopal service was used at the funeral, particularly as Mr. Pyle had been prominently identified with the Baptist Church. It was announced, however, that the Episcopal service was decided upon in accordance with the wishes of Mr. Pyle's daughters-in-law, who are members of that Church.

Among those present were many persons prominent in Baptist circles, including the Rev. Dr. John B. Calvert, James W. Perry, the Rev. Dr. A. H. Burlingham, and William M. Isaacs. Others present were D. H. McAlpin and Mrs. McAlpin, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stevens, H. C. Conger, Mrs. Frederick Evans, Mrs. T. R. Harris, Hugh Getty, Dr. H. M. Baker, Marcellus F. Mayo, James H. Campbell, James Dubois, and John W. Stevens.

$5,750 for a Wife's Affections.

The jury in the suit for $50,000 damages, brought by William L. Lewis against Charles Hoffman, Jr., for the alleged alienation of Mrs. Lewis's affections, yesterday returned a verdict awarding $5,750 to the plaintiff. The case was tried in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, before Justice William J. Gaynor.

Divorce for Mrs. George L. Humphrey.

Justice Leventritt yesterday granted to Mrs. Sadie C. Humphrey a decree of absolute divorce from her husband, George L. Humphrey, the leader of the Seventh Regiment Band. Mrs. Humphrey is allowed $18 a week alimony and the custody of their son.

EXPLOSIONS WRECK STORE.

Clerk Blown Through Hatchway in Stapleton Paint Shop—Powder in the Building—Inmates Shocked.

An explosion occurred last evening in the hardware and paint store of Julius C. Muller at Bay Street and Union Place, Stapleton, S. I. The explosion tore the roof off an extension, threw the stock from the shelves, burst out the front windows, and badly damaged the wall in all parts of the building. One person was injured. The firemen were called, but there was very little fire, and it was quickly put out.

The wrecked building is a three-story brick structure. The store proper is about fifty feet deep, and the extension runs back twenty-five feet further. The extension had a heavy plate glass roof, with lead and iron framing. The front of the store had three big plate glass windows, two on Bay Street and one on Union Place. Thomas McKnight, twenty-eight years of age, a clerk, went into the cellar through a trap door to get a scuttle of coal about 5:30 o'clock. He lighted a match when he reached the cellar in order to light the gas. The moment the match was struck there was a detonation, and the shock blew one of the big front windows out, and the glass rained across Bay Street, upon a car of the Staten Island Electric Road, which was passing, and against the front of Turpishe's jewelry store opposite. The flying glass broke windows in the car, but hurt none of the passengers.

Perhaps fifteen seconds after the first explosion there was a second and more severe one. This blew out the two remaining windows and lifted the glass roof of the extension from the walls and shattered it. The parts dropped into the extension. This explosion also tore loose the shelving.

McKnight was standing just below the trap door when he lighted the match. Mr. Muller found him lying on the floor of the store unconscious. Mr. Muller was dragging the young man from the trap door when the second explosion occurred. McKnight had apparently been blown upward by the force of the expanding gas, and went through the hatchway.

Mr. Muller was knocked down by the second explosion, but was not hurt, although hit by some of the stock falling from above.

On the floor above the store were Mr. Muller's living apartments. His wife and five children and his father were in the rooms. Mrs. Muller is not in good health. She was carried out. The elder Mr. Muller was badly shaken. Prof. G. H. Preston, instructor in penmanship in the borough schools, and his wife, occupied the third floor of the building. Mrs. Preston was suffering from shock last night.

When Hose Company No. 1 reached the scene an alarm was sent out calling six other companies. There were quantities of powder and a great amount of oil in the place.

In the cellar where the explosion occurred there were tanks of naphtha, benzine, kerosene, and gasolene. It is supposed that, the cellar being closed up, the gases filled the apartment, and were set off by the lighting of the match. The second explosion was of a tank of oil.

McKnight's injuries are not serious.

The damage to the building and stock is estimated at between $5,000 and $6,000.

BATH SOLDIERS' HOME.

Trustees Reported to Have Decided Against Superintendent Shepard.

Frank Campbell of Steuben County, Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, and one of the trustees of the Soldiers' Home at Bath, is at the Hoffman House.

Talking with a TIMES reporter, yesterday, with reference to the investigation affecting Col. C. O. Shepard of Buffalo, the Superintendent of the home, and especially regarding the assertions of Gen. Sickles that politics prompted the investigation, Mr. Campbell said:

"It is a matter that I do not care to discuss. So far as I personally know, and so far as I have learned from hearsay, no one has interfered with Col. Shepard to benefit neither Republican or Democrat. I have no interest in the matter and am thankful that my term as trustee will soon expire. I wanted to retire long ago. I do not believe that citizens of Bath are persecuting Col. Shepard because they did not get contracts. Those are awarded by the State Controller."

From other sources it was learned that Col. Shepard may have to go. Twenty-four witnesses, it is declared, have sworn to seeing him under the influence of liquor. When opposition to Col. Shepard was first manifested in pronounced form, it is said, he placed his resignation in the hands of the Attorney General to be presented to the Board of Trustees on Feb. 8 next, provided charges were not preferred against him. The Colonel, it is stated, agreed to abide by the decision of the trustees, who are reported to be 6 to 3 against the Colonel. Meanwhile, the State Board of Charities began an investigation and will continue it on Feb. 13.

MONEY FOR HOSPITAL FUND.

Charles Lanier of 17 Nassau Street, the General Treasurer of the Hospital Saturday and Sunday Association, reports the following additional contributions to the collection now in progress:

FROM CHURCHES.

St. Bartholomew's, Episcopal	$3,500.89
St. Thomas's, Episcopal	1,314.40
Temple Emanu-El	1,186.46
St. George's, Episcopal	469.40
Trinity Chapel, Episcopal	455.78
Holy Communion, Episcopal	361.50
Heavenly Rest, Episcopal	267.44
St. Agnes's Chapel, Episcopal	176.17
St. Andrew's, Episcopal	115.58
Ascension, Episcopal	102.76
Friends' Society, Gramercy Park	57.50
St. Michael's, Episcopal	31.70
Union, Reformed, High Bridge	25.35
St. Matthew's, Episcopal	20.00
Christ, Lutheran	10.00

PERSONAL AND GENERAL.

J. D. Rockefeller	$1,000.00	Wm. H. Bibby	25.00
Employes of Steinway & Sons	51.05	In Memoriam, (E. D. Cowman)	20.00
G. A. Suter & Co.	50.00	Harris D. Colt	15.00
Clarence S. Day	25.00	W. C. Gulliver	10.00

PAINT AND VARNISH TRADE.

By A. B. Ansbacher, Treasurer of Auxiliary:

A. B. Ansbacher & Co	$50	H. Kohnstamm & Co.	$15
National Lead Co.	50	S. P. Wetherill Co.	10
Emil Culman & Co.	25	Adler Color & Chemical Works	10
Harrison Bros. & Co.	25	Lewis Berger & Sons	10
J. W. Masury & Son.	25	Binney & Smith	10
Mayer & Lowenstein	25	Chilton Mfg. Co.	10
New Jersey Zinc Co.	25	Dingee, Weinmann & Co.	10
I. Pfeiffer	25	Hammill & Gillespie	10
Standard Varnish Works	25	H. Herrmann & Co.	10
D. F. Hemann & Co.	25	M. Huber	10
R. J. Waddell & Co.	25	Fred. L. Lavanburg	10
H. W. Everett & Co.	20	Prat & Lambert	10
L. C. Gillespie	15	Edward Smith & Co.	10
A. Kepplemann	15	H. M. Polhemus	5

FROM THE WOMEN'S AUXILIARY.

By Mrs. James Speyer, Treasurer of the Auxiliary:

Mrs. J. C. Tappin	$100	Mrs. Benj. Stern	$10
Mrs. R. MacCarter	25	Mrs. H. S. Henry	5
Mrs. J. H. Robb	20	Mrs. E. E. Poor	5
Mrs. C. H. Wesson	20	Mrs. P. K. Robinson	5
Miss Leland	20	Mrs. J. N. Beekman	5
Anon'mous, through Mrs. H. Miller	10	Mrs. J. S. Brush	5
Mrs. J. A. Burden	10	Mrs. H. Miller	5
Mrs. W. M. Evarts	10	Mrs. P. B. Thompson	5
Mrs. Eugene Meyer	10	Mrs. W. M. Peckham	5
Mrs. J. S. Barnes	10
Mrs. W. B. Weir	10	Mrs. L. A. Carroll	5
Mrs. E. W. Humphreys	5	Mrs. G. Falk	5

WOMAN BURNED TO DEATH.

Thought that a Lamp, by Which She Was Reading, Exploded.

Mrs. Jane Dietz, a widow, sixty-five years old, was burned to death in her apartments at 216 West Twenty-seventh Street early yesterday morning. She occupied two rooms in the rear on the second floor, and lived alone.

Edward Brady, who lives on the same floor, smelled smoke at 3 o'clock, and discovered it was coming from the rooms of Mrs. Dietz. He ran to his window and yelled "Fire!" and some one sent in an alarm.

Meantime the smoke increased in volume, and one of the tenants kicked in the panels of a door leading to the widow's room. Michael Kane then entered and found Mrs. Dietz lying on the floor. He tried to reach her, but was driven back by the smoke and flame, and was forced to retreat from the room. The firemen were soon on the scene, and the woman's body was dragged from the apartment. An ambulance surgeon pronounced her dead. The fire was put out after $100 damage had been done.

Mrs. Dietz drew a pension of $35 a quarter from the Government, her husband having died a prisoner of war in the hands of the Confederates. She also had $6 a week from another source. She was a great reader, and was in the habit of taking a book to bed with her and reading by the light of a kerosene lamp, which stood on a table near by. It is believed that this lamp exploded and started the fire. The dead woman was not very active, as her left leg from her knee down was of wood.

"The Right Thing at the Right Time at the Right Price."

BYCK BROS
MEN'S OUTFITTERS.
Fourteenth Half-Yearly
Stock Clearing Sale
OF
Men's Fine Clothing, Hats, Shoes and Furnishings
begins To-morrow Morning at 8 o'clock.
Full Details in This Evening and Wednesday Morning Papers.
Our stores will be closed this afternoon while stock is being arranged and marked. We cannot allow any selections to be made at sale prices until the hour above named.
DOWNTOWN: Southwest Corner Fulton and Nassau Sts
BYCK BROS
UPTOWN: 158-164 East 125th St., Nr. 3d Av. (Open Evenings.)

A New Underwear
which solves the problem of hygienic underdress, and eliminates some of the most difficult details of housekeeping.
What is it?
Kotedsilk
an absolutely unshrinkable fabric which retains its silken softness to the end and is enjoyed by those who cannot wear wool.
KOTEDSILK
TRADE MARK REGISTERED
On Every Garment.
KOTEDSILK UNDERWEAR CO., MILLBURY, MASS.,
And All Leading Stores.

PADRE HARTMANN'S ORATORIO.
Highly Praised When First Heard in a Church in Rome—Conducted by Bossi.

Foreign Correspondence NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, Jan. 9.—A large and select public attended, yesterday afternoon, the first performance of

LAFAYETTE STATUE'S COST

Mr. Niehaus Asks Why More Funds Are Needed.

TO MEMORIAL COMMISSION

Secretary Criticised for His Request for Additional Sums—An Investigation Suggested.

Charles Henry Niehaus, the sculptor, has written the following open letter to the Lafayette Memorial Commission, composed of Judge William R. Day, Senator W. B. Allison, and Ferdinand W. Peck:

"Gentlemen: In an article in the current number of The Art Interchange a question of veracity is raised as between Mr. Thompson, your Secretary, and Mr. Ward and Mr. Post of your committee of experts as to responsibility for the employment of Mr. Bartlett as the sculptor of the School Children's Memorial to Lafayette.

"In a letter to The Art Interchange, widely published in the press, your Secretary says it is hoped fifty thousand dollars will be added to the one hundred thousand dollars now in hand, and it appears that much more than this will be secured.

"It is pertinent to ask, What is to be done with this great sum of money?

"Mr. Emile Hovelacque Agregre (Fellow) of the University of France, eminent as an art critic in his country, has stated the Lafayette Memorial, to be placed in the Garden of the Tuileries, will be kept within a small scale that the adjacent Gambetta monument may not be dwarfed by a work which, though imitative of them, will not be flattering to the French.

"At the most, this equestrian statue, including pedestal, should not cost more than $75,000.

"So much as this has never been paid for an equestrian statue in this country.

"What is to be done with the rest of the money?

"I am sure I need not suggest to you or to Congress what action should be taken in this matter which so clearly calls for an investigation."

Mr. Niehaus said last night:

"Mr. Bartlett never got over $35,000 for any equestrian statue made by him, and he got that amount for making the equestrian statue at the Smith Memorial Circle in Philadelphia.

"No such amount as $75,000 was ever paid for an equestrian statue made in this country, where higher prices are paid than anywhere else.

"Secretary Thompson of the Lafayette Memorial Commission first said that some $112,000 or thereabouts had been raised, and the receipts were increasing, but later he said that $100,000 had been raised. It was first intended to have a group, but later a simple equestrian statue was decided upon.

"The United States Government gave him 50,000 one-dollar Lafayette medals, for which he is charging at the rate of $1.50 per medal in bulk, and as high as $4 per piece at retail.

"The pedestal could not possibly cost more than $20,000 in this country. I said that the statute ought to be made in the United States, so as to give it a distinctively American character, but he preferred to have it done by cheap labor abroad, which takes away from it the American feature."

WEBER & FIELDS'S INSPECTED.

Health Officers Report Dangerous Crowding—Mr. Fields's Statement.

The report of James W. McNaughton of the Health Department on the inspection of Weber & Fields's Music Hall was filed yesterday. In the report Mr. McNaughton says that the aisles are overcrowded, especially the one back of the orchestra circle. He found the main aisle so crowded with men that it was impossible to obtain standing room in it, and in some cases even the aisles leading to the seats were crowded. He adds.

"The conditions I found are, in my opinion, extremely dangerous, and a menace to life and limb, in the event of panic or fire. In view of the utter disregard as to crowding, loss of life would ensue."

He also states that there is no diagram of the exits on the programmes. In answer to the report Joseph Fields said last night:

"I knew that Mr. McNaughton had been making an inspection of the theatre. He and his assistants were here last Saturday night, and I heard of their report. I do not understand it, as the aisles are not crowded. The ushers are instructed to look after this at every performance. Our waiters have to pass through the aisles at all times and they have no difficulty in getting through.

"The theatre has, all told, fourteen exits, and can be emptied in two or three minutes after each performance. In fact, for its size it is better supplied with exits than any other house in the city.

"Mr. McNaughton is mistaken about the diagram of the exits not being printed on the programmes. It is there, and he ought to have been able to find it. We are always ready to make any changes that the Health or Fire Department might demand. They have not made any complaint to us about the present conditions as reported by Mr. McNaughton, and I cannot say what will be done until we hear from the department officially."

DEATH OF WILLIAM L. SONNTAG

The Artist Expires Suddenly from Lung Trouble—Sketch of His Career.

William L. Sonntag, one of the oldest members of the National Academy of Design, a member of the American Water Color Society and also of the Artists' Fund Society, died yesterday morning at his home, 55 East Seventy-sixth Street, Mr. Sonntag had been in failing health for some time, but his death, which resulted from an affection of the lungs, was not expected, as he had been seriously ill only two days.

Mr. Sonntag was born near Pittsburg, March 2, 1822. His parents moved to Cincinnati when he was a child, and it was in that city that he began his art studies. His work soon attracted attention, and several of his paintings, completed before he was twenty-five years old, secured prominent places in exhibitions. During the fifties he spent some time abroad, studying in Paris and other cities on the Continent. In 1861, soon after his return, he became an Academician.

Mr. Sonntag devoted his attention exclusively to landscape work. Perhaps one of the best-known of his canvases was "A Dream of Italy," which was on exhibition for a long time at what were known as the Dusseldorf Galleries, on Broadway, between Spring and Prince Streets. Before the war he spent much of his time in the South, particularly in Virginia, and reproduced many bits of scenery along the Potomac and Susquehanna Rivers. One of his Potomac River scenes was purchased by the Duke of Buckingham. During recent years he had a Summer home in the White Mountains, and much of the material for his later work was drawn from that locality.

Mr. Sonntag continued his painting until within a few months of his death, although nearly all of his more recent productions have been in water colors. His son, W. Louis Sonntag, Jr., who was also a member of the American Water Color Society, and whose name will be remembered in connection with his work as an illustrator for several periodicals, died about a year ago. Mr. Sonntag leaves a widow and one daughter, who is the wife of William B. Miles, the brewer.

The funeral, which will be private, will take place to-morrow afternoon. The interment will be at Kensico.

ELEVATOR CONDUCTOR A HERO.

Remained at His Post Until Everybody Was Out of Danger.

Albert Lewis, an elevator conductor, was the hero of a fire which occurred yesterday in the Kings County Trust Company's building, at Fulton Street and Court Square, Brooklyn. The flames originated in the cellar, and are believed to have been due to the improper insulation of some of the electric wires.

There were several people in the elevator car when a cloud of smoke swept up through the shaft and half stifled them. Lewis retained his nerve and calmly lowered the car to the main floor, letting his passengers out. Then he went to the cellar and found it ablaze. He afterward made several trips with the elevator to the upper floors, taking all the people in the offices out.

The firemen confined the blaze to the cellar. The damage amounted to about $1,000.

RAPID TRANSIT CONTRACT.

Mr. McDonald Does Not Post His $1,000,000 in Cash, but Mr. Coler Has No Fear He Will Not Qualify.

Although Contractor John B. McDonald did not post $1,000,000 in cash yesterday in accordance with his announcement to Controller Coler last Friday, no doubt was expressed by city and rapid transit officials that he will do so within the next few days, and, in addition, will qualify in the $1,000,000 and $5,000,000 bonds. Mr. Coler said he expects Mr. McDonald will fulfill his agreement within the time limit and that actual work on the tunnel will proceed without unnecessary delay.

Controller Coler, together with Commissioner Rives and Albert B. Boardman of counsel for the Rapid Transit Board, will go to Albany to-day to urge the passage of the suggested amendment to the section of the charter bearing upon the issue of bonds, offered with the idea of forestalling any possible adverse action on the part of the Municipal Assembly. At the meeting of the Municipal Assembly to-day an effort will be made to have both houses pass resolutions pledging the Assembly to vote for the issue of bonds for the construction of the tunnel. As a large majority of the members of the two houses are said to be in favor of the new road, it is expected the resolutions will be passed without opposition.

Corporation Counsel Whalen does not approve of the proposed amendment to be introduced into the Legislature, and has advised Assistant Corporation Counsel Creamer, who has charge of legislation at Albany, to oppose the measure. He said the present law was passed before power was given to the Municipal Assembly to pass on bond issues, and that the law provides that the Rapid Transit Commissioners may from time to time make requisitions on the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, and that nothing is specified about the Municipal Assembly. Under these conditions he does not think the Municipal Assembly has any power in the matter.

Arthur C. Hume, who represents the Terminal Railroad and Tunnel Company, said yesterday he will at the next meeting of the Rapid Transit Board lay the plans of his company for tunneling the East and North Rivers before the Commissioners. Mr. Hume said he believes the commission and the company he represents can reach an agreement providing for an ultimate return of the franchise to the city, as Controller Coler has suggested.

Assistant Immigration Commissioner McSweeney, who was quoted last Saturday as saying in effect that the agents of the various steamship lines are already posting abroad news of the big tunnel contract, the idea being to promote a rush of emigrants to this country, said yesterday he was misunderstood, and did not say what was attributed to him.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 22.—Controller Coler will come to Albany to-morrow with a bill relating to the proposed underground tunnel in New York City. One of Tammany's representatives said to-night that Mr. Coler's bill will provide that the issue of bonds for the underground tunnel shall be made in annual installments instead of a single issue of thirty millions, which, it is said, might have a bad effect on the finances of the city.

Another feature of the bill proposes to make the action of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment final, so far as the issue of bonds for the tunnel is concerned. It is said here that the second section of the bill is intended to hurry the work of construction and prevent any possible hold-up on the part of the members of the Municipal Assembly which might be seeking for places for followers from the contractor in charge of the work. Under the present law the Municipal Assembly must pass on all bond issues. Mr. Coler's bill is said to have the approval of the Tammany leaders.

NO ALIEN LABOR ON THE TUNNEL.

Assemblyman Minton Asks that Imported Italians Be Barred.

ALBANY, Jan. 22.—Asemblyman Minton of New York offered a resolution prohibiting the employment of Italian cheap labor on the construction work of the proposed new $35,000,000 tunnel for Greater New York. The introducer endeavored to have the rules suspended for action on his resolution, but Mr. McKeown of Kings objected and it went over one week under the rules.

This resolution, as offered, reads:

Whereas, Works of great public improvement entailing vast expenditures of money and affording employment to thousands of men, are now pending in the City of Greater New York, and particularly at this time the construction of the Manhattan and Bronx tunnel alone will necessitate an expenditure of thirty-five millions of dollars and will employ upward of ten thousand men; and,

Whereas, This employment, so eagerly sought for by and necessary to the happiness and the welfare of the unemployed citizen laborers of this city and State is threatened by alien Italian cheap labor; and it being discovered that strenuous efforts are now being made in Italy by steamship companies and others to induce immigration by the allurement of the said improvements; and,

Whereas, An influx of Italian laborers will be productive of distress to them, of enormous disadvantage to our native-born citizens and to our Irish-American and German-American citizens and to such citizens as regulate their lives in accordance with the habits and customs of this country; and,

Whereas, The economic and industrial records of our State demonstrate that Italian cheap labor is demoralizing to organized labor; that our citizens suffer by competition with them, and as a large proportion of the said Italian laborers carry away from this State and Nation to Italy a large amount of the money paid out in wages, to the loss and disadvantage of the State of New York; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senators and Representatives in Congress be, and are hereby, instructed to safeguard the interests of this State from this threatened Italian invasion; and, further, be it

Resolved, That the President of the United States be, and is hereby, requested to cause a rigid enforcement of the emigration laws and all laws affecting the importation of foreign labor at the several ports of entry to this country.

In speaking of his resolutions, Mr. Minton said: "Cables from Italy state that steamship agents are flooding that country with posters to attract laborers to this country. I want to see our own people, our native and naturalized citizens, employed in preference to this labor. Our people are endeavoring to live as American citizens and they should be protected. These Italian laborers herd together in shanties and never assimilate with our people. The tunnel is built in the lands of our people and by the money of our people. It should be built by the work of our people. I am against any measures which will take the work of even one man from our people and give it to an imported Italian."

CARNEGIE AND RAPID TRANSIT.

Mr. McDonald's Contract Said to Have Caused Trouble in the Company.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURG, Penn., Jan. 22.—Francis T. F. Lovejoy's resignation as Secretary of the Carnegie Steel Company, it was asserted to-day, was caused by a bid on steel work for the New York Rapid Transit $35,000,000 tunnel. Other changes are likely to be made by Andrew Carnegie.

A. R. Peacock, General Sales Agent and First Vice President, it is rumored, is slated to go, and W. C. Temple, it is alleged, is to succeed him. When bids on the steel work in the tunnel were asked for months ago the Carnegie Company gave prices. There was no limit of time for acceptance, it is said, and at that time prices were 33 per cent. lower than now.

Among iron and steel manufacturers today it was rumored that Andrew Carnegie is angry over the giving of this option. It is said that Mr. McDonald, having secured the tunnel contract and having based his estimates on those given him by the Carnegie Steel Company, insists that the contract for the iron and steel be fulfilled.

Reports have been current in this city for several days that John B. McDonald, the contractor for the rapid transit tunnel, was to have the benefit of a favorable contract with the Carnegie Company for iron and steel. Neither Andrew Carnegie nor Mr. McDonald could be seen last evening in regard to the report from Pittsburg that the contract had been productive of trouble in the company.

DAY'S BUSINESS $10,000,000.

American Woolen Company Opens Its Fall Line of Samples.

The American Woolen Company, popularly known as the trust, opened its Fall line of samples to the trade yesterday. As early as 7 A. M. a large number of buyers were on hand.

By 1 o'clock upward of 300 men were in line waiting to place orders, to make sure of early delivery. When the day's sales were footed up, it was found that more than $10,000,000 worth of business had been booked.

FILIPINOS LOSE A TOWN

Americans Drive Insurgents from Taal, in Batangas, Capturing Cannon and Rifles.

MANILA, Jan. 22.—Two companies of the Forty-sixth Infantry, under Major Johnson, and three companies of the Thirty-eighth Infantry, commanded by Major Muir, defeated 800 insurgents at Taal, Province of Batangas, Saturday, taking the town. The United States gunboat Marietta also shelled the place. The insurgents had four cannon, two of which were captured. Two Americans were wounded, and ten insurgent dead were found on the field.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Gen. Otis informs the War Department of recent military operations in the Philippines in the following dispatch:

"Manilla, Jan. 21.

"Major Johnson, commanding battalion Forty-sixth Infantry, Wheaton's brigade, reports from Lemery, 18th and 20th inst. drove enemy through Balayang eastward, morning 18th capturing seventeen rifles, one field piece; few hours later through Calaca, captured four prisoners, four horses and equipments, six rifles, killed three insurgents; advanced toward Lemery that afternoon, captured enemy's outpost, three men, six horses; advanced on Lomery, 5 o'clock P. M., enemy strongly intrenched; sent by navy gunboat to Batangas for assistance when three companies Muir's battalion Thirty-eighth sent to Taal, insurgent headquarters.

"Johnson drove enemy through Lemery on Taal, where he attacked southern portion of city, and Muir northern portion; enemy dispersed, retreating in many directions; Johnson's casualities, one man killed, one seriously and two slightly wounded; four field pieces, and quantity rifles captured. This movement of Johnson's ably conducted and important in results.

"Enemy reported in large force and heavily intrenched at and near Santa Cruz, Laguna de Bay. Schwan swinging his troops on that point, his left at town of Bay, few miles east Calamba, his right consisting of cavalry at City of Tayabas."

PHILIPPINE CASUALTIES.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The following list of casualties was received to-day at the War Department from Gen. Otis, under date of Manila, Jan. 21:

Deaths.—Variola, Dec. 28, John Goodling, H, Thirteenth Infantry; Dec. 31, Everett Barker, G; Jan. 13, William B. Sisk, F, Thirty-third Infantry; dysentery, Jan. 12, John C. Bottorff, D, Twenty-third Infantry; Jan. 11, William Brady, H, Ninth Infantry; Jan. 16, James Rose, E, Thirty-fifth Infantry; Jan. 17, William McQuade, Sergeant, G, Third Artillery; chronic diarrhea, Jan. 14, Frank House, F, Fourth Infantry; rupture of aortic aneurism, Jan. 15, George Gatewood, K, Twenty-fifth Infantry.

Wounds in Action.—Jan. 12, Peter Madden, B, Fourth Cavalry; Jan. 13, Charles Singleman, G, Eleventh Cavalry; found in Rio Agno Bautista, Luzon, covered with incised wounds; Jan. 6, Joseph Crispi, musician, A, Seventeenth Infantry; tuberculosis, Jan. 16, Robert Mills, Corporal, E, Eleventh Cavalry; pneumonia, Bert Myers, G, Twenty-ninth Infantry; Jan. 17, Walter Harris, E, Fortieth Infantry; gunshot, accidental, Jan. 12, Clarence Barkla, Corporal, M, Twenty-seventh Infantry.

Missionaries for the Philippines.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—The Methodist Church is about to begin active missionary work in the Philippines under the supervision of Bishop J. H. Thoburn. The first missionaries to be sent to Manila are Miss J. E. Wismer, Miss Mary A. Cody, and Dr. Norton of Ohio and Miss Mostes of Michigan. They will sail on the China on Wednesday, accompanied by Miss E. Anderson, who is going to do missionary work in the Malay archipelago.

Wheeler Leaves Manila To-morrow.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The War Department received a cablegram from Gen. Otis to-day stating that Gen. Wheeler will sail from Manila Wednesday on the transport Warren for the United States, by way of Guam and Honolulu.

Plague Statistics from Manila.

MANILA, Jan. 22.—The plague statistics now show a total of fourteen cases and eleven deaths.

CUBAN LAW REFORM.

Judicial System Throughout the Island to be Purged of Abuses.

HAVANA, Jan. 22.—The newly appointed Law Reform Commission will begin work almost immediately. Among the principal innovations will be the establishment of Police Correctional Courts, presided over by salaried Judges. The judicial system throughout the island will be made to lend itself to the speedy handling of cases in order that justice may be obtained without delay. At the same time facility to appeal will be granted.

Severe enactments will be instituted against perjury, the commission being of opinion that a few severe sentences will go a long way toward stopping that crime. Procurators are to be abolished. They are a class of "runners" between the courts and the lawyers, often receiving money from both parties to litigation, and being quite unnecessary.

La Lucha Compliments Gen. Wood.

HAVANA, Jan. 22.—La Lucha says today:

"Gen. Wood is a statesman rather than a soldier. This is exemplified in his latest decree, in which he softens the harsh and abrupt rules of the military regime, and aims to stimulate civil procedure, as well as to avoid any confusion between the military and the civil authorities."

CHANGES IN AN ARMY BOARD.

Secretary Root Reorganizes the Ordnance and Fortifications Board.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Secretary of War Root issued an order to-day almost entirely reorganizing the Board of Ordance and Fortifications, Major Gen. N. A. Miles, who is ex officio Chairman of the board, is the only member of the former board retained. The new members are Brig. Gen. John M. Wilson, Chief of Engineers; Brig. Gen. A. R. Buffington, Chief of Ordnance; Col. John I. Rodgers of the Fifth Artillery, and Thomas J. Henderson of Illinois. Mr. Henderson, who is the only civilian on the board, succeeds Thomas Joseph Outhwaite of Ohio.

The military members of the board who have been relieved from further services are Col. Royal T. Frank, formerly of the First Artillery, retired; Capt. Charles B. Wheeler of the Ordnance Department, and Capt. Joseph E. Kuhn, Corps of Engineers.

It is said that there is no special significance in the action of the Secretary in this matter beyond a desire to recognize the supreme importance of the board, which is charged with the duty of protecting our extensive sea coast from foreign attack, and to include in its membership the best military talent possible under existing conditions of the service.

CALLS DURKEE CLAIMS A FRAUD.

Secretary Gage Wires that They Are Without Foundation.

QUINCY, Ill., Jan. 22.—Secretary of the Treasury Gage wired The Quincy Whig today:

"No foundation for alleged Durkee claims."

This was in reply to a query concerning the sale of $12,000 worth of bonds in this city, based on claims of men representing the so-called Durkee heirs, to whom it is asserted is due from the United States $260,000,000 on first mortgage Union Pacific bonds.

A great many of these bonds have been sold throughout the country at par.

GEN. STANTON SERIOUSLY ILL.

Small Hopes for the Recovery of the Fighting Paymaster.

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 22.—Brig. Gen. T. H. Stanton, United States Army, retired, formerly Paymaster General of the army, and generally known as the "Fighting Paymaster," is lying dangerously ill at his home in this city. There are small hopes entertained of his recovery. His trouble is a general breaking down of his system, and is complicated by grip. Gen. Stanton is one of the best known and best liked men in the army, having served with distinction throughout the West.

He earned his title of "Fighting Paymaster" by always insisting on being transferred to the line when there was any trouble with the Indians.

NEWS OF THE RAILROADS.

ST. PAUL ROAD WINS.

Gains a Point in Its Controversy with South Dakota.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The United States Supreme Court to-day decided the case of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad Company against the Railroad Commissioners of the State of South Dakota. The case involved the State law providing a maximum rate for the railroads. The Circuit Court of the United States for the District of South Dakota dismissed the bill, but to-day's opinion reverses this judgment and remands the case, with instructions, to the lower court to investigate the earnings of the road in the State so as to arrive at the equities in the case.

The opinion, written by Justice Brewer, criticised the court below for its summary disposition of the case without a proper investigation of the facts such as the case demanded. The Justice said that the evidence before the court showed that the local operating expenses were much greater than the general operating expenses of the entire system and that they amounted to or exceeded 85 per cent. He also stated that if the local operating expenses were 85 per cent. it was obvious that under the schedule prescribed by the Commissioners there would be nothing left by way of profit or reward to the stockholders.

Seaboard Air Line.

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 22.—The new application for an injunction by Thomas F. Ryan against the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and others, which was set for hearing in the United States Circuit Court here to-morrow, was to-day, by Judge Waddill, continued and set for hearing on Friday, Feb. 2. The continuance was on a motion of Ryan's counsel and with the consent of counsel for the defendants.

IN THE BOWLING ALLEYS.

Carleton Club was again a winner last night in the tourney of the Inter-Club League of Brooklyn, bowling one of the highest scores of the tournament against Hanover Club. Crescent Club defeated Columbian Club with over 200 pins to spare. Brooklyn Bicycle Club won from Aurora Grata Club. Knickerbocker Field Club got the best of Lincoln Club in a hotly contested series, winning by less than forty pins for six games. Scores:

AT HANOVER CLUB.

Hanover Club.				Carleton Club.
Lee	122	234	175	Stoner	161	163	142
Helmle	147	162	161	Calder	190	165	138
Ferguson	162	162	166	Lincoln	206	177	117
Tompkins	147	202	149	Weber	125	171	173
Tuttle	181	133	170	Stebbins	165	151	157
Total	759	893	821	Total	847	827	727

AT CARLETON CLUB.

Carleton Club.				Hanover Club.
Mason	125	148	178	Rose	150	145	126
Meyer	151	170	178	Struse	113	119	178
Clarke	157	124	168	Price	138	137	123
A. S. Pros-key	155	163	230	Kitching	173	194	151
Schwartje	234	193	205	Grosch	158	146	194
Total	872	798	959	Total	734	741	772

Grand totals—Carleton Club, 5,030; Hanover Club, 4,720.

AT COLUMBIAN CLUB.

Columbian Club.				Crescent A. C.
Corcoran	153	135	181	Beard	186	166	167
Howard	181	157	166	Maguire	168	154	157
Sullivan	113	125	148	Pilkington	152	157	163
Langan	189	175	149	Edwards	171	129	145
Judge	176	164	189	Parkinson	177	161	147
Total	812	756	833	Total	854	767	779

AT CRESCENT ATHLETIC CLUB.

Crescent A. C.				Columbian.
Bull	173	160	178	O'Connor	113	176	179
Meserole	160	167	156	Kelley	189	152	168
Doyle	147	230	138	Haggerty	236	119	140
Anderson	152	181	146	Schaefer	152	181	133
Kelsey	180	176	102	Maxwell	142	177	174
Total	812	914	828	Total	832	775	797

Grand totals—Crescent A. C., 5,054; Columbian, Club, 4,805.

AT AURORA GRATA CLUB.

Aurora Grata Club.				Brooklyn B. C.
Cook	141	138	131	Lewis	159	179	141
Naylor	163	136	171	Ackerson	149	150	145
Gooderson	153	169	165	Urquhart	126	136	132
Page	145	180	159	Kline	130	154	140
Parker	138	150	173	Joslin	143	188	193
Total	738	773	799	Total	707	787	751

AT BROOKLYN BICYCLE CLUB.

Brooklyn B. C.				Aurora Grata.
Gelhaus	181	136	136	Little	190	166	147
Reiffarth	152	122	117	Tucker	121	118	132
Gardiner	158	170	180	McMullen	119	190	159
Matthews	183	139	233	McElfoy	198	159	167
Worth	144	149	180	Beard	159	114	157
Total	818	716	846	Total	777	747	762

Grand total—Brooklyn Bicycle Club, 4,625; Aurora Grata Club, 4,490.

AT LINCOLN CLUB.

Lincoln Club.				Knickerbocker F. C.
Higgins	155	204	171	Blossfield	144	150	154
Wicks	157	124	165	Bennett	201	157	149
Allen	133	148	133	Fam	150	150	125
Pomeroy	125	202	136	Holmes, Sr.	136	155	161
Stoutenbu'h.	169	226	96	Holmes, Jr.	158	172	163
Total	739	904	701	Total	789	784	753

AT KNICKERBOCKER FIELD CLUB.

Knickerbocker F. C.				Lincoln Club.
Walton	170	184	158	Olmstead	190	203	153
Silleck	151	165	159	Holdridge	126	185	187
Fishbeck	160	165	147	Rossen	143	123	116
Halstead	139	151	155	Young	149	140	168
Boocock	134	157	151	Steinbugler.	156	140	125
Total	763	822	709	Total	764	791	749

Grand total—Knickerbocker Field Club, 4,680; Lincoln Club, 4,648.

The Orientals, by winning two games in the Columbia League last night, won the championship with a record of twenty victories and one defeat. Before the series began last night the Corinthians and Orientals were tied for first place. In the first game the Corinthians defeated the Audubons easily, and in the second game the Orientals also found the Audubons easy to defeat. Then came the game between the leaders for the championship. The game was close throughout, the Orientals winning by 34 pins. Their victory was practically due to the splendid bowling of Rothermel. He made a score of 236 on seven strikes and three spares. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Corinthian—S. Walter, 101; Baker, 164; Mulford, 185; Holden, 175; Schaeffer, 217. Total, 932.
Audubon—Springer, 134; Adair, 104; Apt, 114; Petrie, 143; Brand, 151. Total, 646.

SECOND GAME.

Oriental—Mitchell, 178; Lehnert, 136; Vogel, 161; Rothermel, 195; Gilhaus 202. Total, 872.
Audubon—Springer, 145; Adair, 148; Apt, 135; Petrie, 141; Brand, 146. Total, 715.

THIRD GAME.

Oriental—Mitchell, 169; Lehnert, 156; Vogel, 186; Rothermel, 236; Gilhaus, 189. Total, 936.
Corinthian—S. Walter, 186; Baker, 153; Mulford, 162; Holden, 202; Schaeffer, 199. Total, 902.

The Orchards easily outplayed the Bronxdale and Borough teams in the North Side National League last night. The Bronxdale team won from he Boroughs. Wilckens of the Orchards made the best individual showing. He made an average of 194 for two games. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Orchard—Ochs, 164; Lankanau, 177; Steffens, 194; Schroeder, 170; Wilckens, 211. Total, 916.
Borough—Carstens, 176; McIntosh, 124; Grau, 99; Spellman, 164; Bruno, 149. Total, 712.

SECOND GAME.

Bronxdale—Ferber, 162; H. Hiers, 152; Mahoney, 171; E. Hiers, 145; Balz, 157. Total, 787.
Borough—Carstens, 181; Gorman, 116; Grau, 102; Spellman, 177; Bruno, 126. Total, 723.

THIRD GAME.

Orchard—Ochs, 176; Lankanau, 129; Steffens, 180; Schroeder, 148; Wilckens, 178. Total, 811.
Bronxdale—Ferber, 126; H. Hiers, 119; Mahoney, 166; E. Hiers, 117; Balz, 141. Total, 669.

The Morningsides turned out a score of 981 in their game with the Riverdales in the American National tourney last night. Doncourt's score of 251 in this game is the second best score of the tourney. The Morningsides also defeated the South Paw team of Brooklyn by a score of 900 to 889. The South Paws won their game with the Riverdales by nearly 300 pins. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

South Paw—Martin, 169; Medicus, 166; Rendell, 209; Bierschenk, 177; Jenkins, 214. Total, 935.
Riverdale—Brodbeck 185; Graef, 179; Merten, 142; E. Ebling, 138. Total, 644.

SECOND GAME.

Morningside—Clinch, 193; Demmler, 194; Doncourt, 251; Eiche, 153; Klingelhoffer, 190. Total, 981.
Riverdale—Merten, 165; Graef, 137; Brodbeck, 148, E. Ebling, 183. Total, 643.

THIRD GAME.

Morningside—Clinch, 171; Demmler, 210; Doncourt, 182; Eiche, 149; Klingelhoffer, 188. Total, 900.
South Paw—Martin, 193; Medicus, 183; Rendell, 175; Bierschenk, 163; Jenkins, 175. Total, 889.

The Defendam Council failed to send a team to bowl in the Royal Arcanum League at the Tennis Club alleys last night and forfeited its games with the Our Council second team and New York Council second team. Yonkers Council won its games with the Our No. 2 team. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Our No. 2—Milne, 139; Wedderoth, 138; Loughery, 116; Schiff, 171; Dent, 176. Total, 740.
Defendam—Forfeited.

SECOND GAME.

New York No. 2—Schroeder, 165; Gay, 85; Crookston, 115; May, 197; Snover, 165. Total, 727.
Defendam—Forfeited.

THIRD GAME.

Yonkers—Barnes, 189; Brewer, 149; C. R. Lawrence, 131; Hunt, 169; A. O. Lawrence, 132. Total, 770.
Our No. 2—Wragge, 140; Wenderoth, 115; Loughery, 99; Schiff, 156; Dent, 169. Total, 670.

In Section No. 2 of the United Bowling Clubs' tournament at the Arcade alleys last night the Accident Club won two games, defeating the Glendales and Defenders. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Accident—Walter, 130; Elter, 146; Acker, 135; Hoch, 169; Brann, 149. Total, 729.
Glendale—Laine, 121; Kreter, 107; Lehr, 127; Stutterheim, 155; Schneider, 178. Total, 687.

SECOND GAME.

Glendale—Laine, 160; Kreter, 168; Lehr, 128; Stutterheim, 1.2; Schneider, 193. Total, 781.
Defender—Fleckenstein, 139; Rosenfeld, 165; Hadeler, 143; Goetz, 134; Meier, 177. Total, 758.

THIRD GAME.

Accident—Walter, 194; Elter, 166; Acker, 169; Hoch, 145; Brann, 147. Total, 821.
Defender—Fleckenstein, 163; Rosenfeld, 111; Hadeler, 131; Goetz, 158; Meier, 173. Total, 736.

The Belvidere Club scored a double victory in the Harlem League last night, and if it wins its two remaining games there will be a tie among the Washington, Knickerbocker, and Belvidere Clubs for first prize. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Belvidere—Hotaling, 179; Newkirk, 182; Rehbein, 159; Lockwood, 157; Helles, 223. Total, 906.
Boulevard—Dumble, 178; Howard, 153; Darrell, 144; Wenderer, 172; Vetter, 169. Total, 816.

SECOND GAME.

Lotus—Warmuth, 150; Heath, 180; Sieburg, 150; Rehm, 215; W. Joseph, 203. Total, 898.
Boulevard—Dumble, 169; Howard, 179; Darrell, 174; Wenderer, 179; Vetter, 171. Total, 872.

THIRD GAME.

Belvidere—Hotaling, 155; Newkirk, 152; Rehbein, 190; Lockwood, 166; Hellen, 180. Total, 873.
Lotus—Warmuth, 150; Heath, 184; Sieburg, 148; Rehm, 150; W. Joseph, 181. Total, 813.

The fine work of A. E. Smith of Gilbert Council in the Brooklyn Royal Arcanum tournament enabled Gilbert Council to win both its games at Trainor's alleys. De Forest Council also won. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

De Forest Council—Arps, 179; Kruse, 159; Waldenberg, 114; Cadieu, 157; Maas, 168. Total, 777.
Gramercy Council—Andrews, 130; Hallowell, 136; Christman, 116; Harper, 179; Schmidt, 146. Total, 707.

SECOND GAME.

Gilbert Council—Smith, 210; Fuller, 179; Hager, 182; Bierds, 186; Van Tassel, 163. Total, 920.
Gramercy Council—Andrews, 150; Hallowell, 192; Christman, 167; Harper, 111; Schmidt, 121. Total, 741.

THIRD GAME.

Gilbert Council—Smith, 193; Fuller, 148; Hager, 180; Bierds, 169; Van Tassel, 182. Total, 872.
De Forest Council—Arps, 158; Kruse, 167; Waldenberg, 141; Cadieu, 159; Maas, 169. Total, 794.

De Long Council added two more to its list of victories last night in the Royal Arcanum sub-tournament by defeating both J. F. Price and Philadelphos Councils. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

De Long Council—Rosner, 123; Coolidge, 101; Hodgson, 150; James, 144; Healy, 149. Total, 667.
J. F. Price Council—Traver, 137; Lorentz, 184; Campman, 120; Stewart, 79; Serenbets, 138. Total, 658.

SECOND GAME.

Philadelphos Council—Lynch, 154; Brown, 135; Kolyer, 148; Clark, 109; Alexander, 126. Total, 672.
J. F. Price Council—Traver, 122; Lorentz, 149; Campman, 126; Ostreicher, 141; Serenbetz, 115. Total, 653.

THIRD GAME.

Philadelphos Council—Lynch, 118; Brown, 137; Kolyer, 163; Clark, 135; Alexander, 167. Total, 720.
De Long Council—Rosner, 176; Coolidge, 183; Hodgson, 125; James, 104; Healy, 168. Total, 756.

The opening series in Section No. 1 of the United Bowling Clubs' tournament were decided at the Germania alleys last night. The Fidelias won two games. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Fidelia—Kibbel, 165; Heespers, 111; Koster, 179; Foege, 185; S. Timm, 190. Total, 830.
Oriental—Schneider, 119; Krevenburg, 161; Oest, 136; Forsyth, 142; Stumpfel, 173. Total, 731.

SECOND GAME.

Woodland—A. Stahl, Jr., 145; Schwartz, 97; Hotz, 137; Dursch, 157; Dittrich, 129. Total, 665.
Oriental—Schneider, 132; Krevenburg, 154; Oest, 118; Forsyth, 151; Stumpfel, 131. Total, 686.

THIRD GAME.

Fidelia—Kibbel, 161; Heespers, 134; Koster, 144; Foege, 163; S. Timm, 200. Total, 804.
Woodland—A. Stahl, Jr., 130; Schwartz, 132; Hotz, 108; Dittrich, 155; Dursch, 120. Total, 845.

Three games of the Brooklyn Arlington National Bowling Tournament were played last night at Arlington Hall. None of the scores was so high as to affect the lead which the Imperial team holds in the tournament. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Monarch No. 2—Martin, 158; Fox, 187; Baxter, 129; Kramer, 150; Hasenzahl, 167. Total, 741.
Arlington—Harloe, 200; Addicks, 172; McAuliffe, 148; Harms, 145; Kelly, 156. Total, 821.

SECOND GAME.

Chauncey—Klie, 185; Brady, 154; Fels, 204; Mertz, 141; Buckholtz, 129. Total, 873.
Monarch No. 2—Martin, 184; Fox, 199; Baxter, 129; Kramer, 159; Hasenzahl, 139. Total,

FINANCIAL DIRECTORY.

Chemical National Bank
270 Broadway.

National Bank of Commerce
CAP. AND SUR. $5,500,000
31 Nassau St.

Hanover National Bank
Capital $3,000,000. Surplus and profits, $2,300,000.
9 and 11 Nassau St.

The Nassau Bank
Corner Beekman and Nassau Streets.

Central National Bank
320 Broadway.

Continental Trust Company
30 Broad St.

Colonial Trust Company
CAPITAL & SURPLUS, $1,500,000.
ST. PAUL B'LD'G.
222 B'way.

Washington Trust Company
Stewart Building, 280 Broadway.

PHILADELPHIA.
Fourth Street National Bank
Capital, $1,500,000 Surplus, $1,500,000.

BANKERS' CARDS.

G. Sidenberg & Kraus,
BANKERS,
20 BROAD ST., NEW YORK.
Members of N. Y. Stock Exchange.
Transact a general Banking Business.
Interest allowed on deposits.
Orders for Stocks and Bonds executed for cash or on margin.
Investment Securities

HENRY CLEWS & CO.,
BANKERS,
11, 13, 15, & 17 Broad St.
MEMBERS N. Y. STOCK EXCHANGE.
Orders executed for investment or on margin.
Interest allowed on deposits subject to check at sight. Railroads reorganized and trade combinations effected. Act as Financial Agents for Corporations and Investors.
U. S. Bonds, all issues, bought and sold.
Branch Offices { 252 FIFTH AV., cor. 25th St. / 487 BROADWAY, Silk Ex'ge Bldg. / 56 WORTH ST. & 39 Thomas St. / 87 HUDSON ST., Mercantile Ex. / 16 COURT ST., Brooklyn.

N. Y. & N. J. TELEPHONE
"RIGHTS"
BOUGHT AND SOLD.
Geo. H. PRENTISS & Co.
37 William St., New York. 398 Montague St., Brooklyn.

TUNSTALL & CO.
Members New York Stock Exchange,
52 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Branch Office Hoffman House.
STOCKS, BONDS AND INVESTMENTS.

FINANCIAL.

REDEMPTION OF
Duluth, Missabe, & Northern Railway Co.
First Consolidated Mortgage Bonds, dated Jan. 1, 1893.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that Seventy-five (75) of the First Consolidated Mortgage Bonds of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway Company were this day drawn for redemption in accordance with the requirements of Article Five of the Trust Mortgage, numbered as follows, viz.:

1256	1514	1933	2413	2951	3274
1263	1516	1946	2440	2953	3301
1272	1645	1950	2463	2972	3405
1312	1674	1989	2489	3015	3432
1355	1769	2037	2525	3017	3437
1347	1725	2068	2577	3054	3447
1379	1745	2097	2585	3089	3466
1414	1828	2156	2592	3102	3485
1432	1833	2225	2599	3167	3486
1433	1850	2329	2601	3174	3489
1494	1885	2330	2656	3187
1498	1904	2336	2674	3215
1501	1911	2361	2751	3269

All future interest of any of the bonds so designated ceases February 21, 1900, in accordance with the terms of the mortgage.
CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, Trustee.
By G. SHERMAN, Vice-President.
New York, January 22d, 1900.

We, the undersigned, hereby certify that the seventy-five bonds were designated by lot in our presence, as above stated.
FRED. C. RANDALL,
With Central Trust Company of New York.
E. V. CARY,
of Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway Company.
FRANK B. SMIDT,
Notary Public, New York County.

In accordance with the foregoing certificate, said mentioned bonds will be paid at this office on or after the 2d of February, 1900, at 105 per centum and interest, say $1,055.17 per bond.
CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK,
Trustee.
By G. SHERMAN, Vice-President.

FINANCIAL.

International Zinc Co., Ltd.
SHARES ADVANCE JAN. 25TH TO 85c.

Purchasers at present price,
75c. Per Share,
secure 16% on their investment and the regular monthly dividend, payable Feb. 1st to all shareholders of record Jan. 25th.

Applications for stock at 75c. per share must bear date not later than Thursday, Jan. 25th, 1900.

Such applications, accompanied by remittance, will be received at either of the following offices of the fiscal agents,

JOSHUA BROWN & CO., Bankers,
89 State St., Boston.
45 and 47 Wall St., New York.
421 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.
409 The Rookery, Chicago.

THE TRUST CO. OF AMERICA,
149 BROADWAY,
(Northwest Corner Liberty St.)
CAPITAL . $2,500,000
SURPLUS . $2,500,000
Allows Interest on Daily Balances,
subject to cheque through the New York Clearing House or payable at sight, and on Certificates of Deposit.
Acts as Trustee, Receiver, Committee, Executor, Guardian, Administrator, Assignee, Registrar and Transfer and Fiscal Agent.
Is a legal depository for Court and Trust Funds.
Loans Money on Bond and Mortgage.
Special attention given to the management of real estate and the collection and remittance of rents.
Carefully selected securities for investment always on hand.
Transacts a General Banking Business.
OFFICERS:
ASHBEL P. FITCH, President. WM. BARBOUR, Vice-President.
WM. H. LEUPP, Vice-President. H. S. MANNING, Vice-President.
LAWRENCE O. MURRAY, Trust Officer.
RAYMOND J. CHATRY, Secretary.
THOMAS C. CLARKE, Jr., Asst. Sec'y.
ALBERT L. BANISTER, Treasurer.
W. HUNT HALL, Asst. Treasurer.
DIRECTORS:

ASHBEL P. FITCH,	WILLIAM E. SPIER,
WILLIAM BARBOUR,	ANSON R. FLOWER,
HENRY S. MANNING,	HENRY S. REDMOND,
SAMUEL A. MAXWELL,	JOHN B. HEGEMAN,
MYRON T. HERRICK,	C. C. HUDSON,
CHAS. F. CUTLER,	S. C. T. DODD,
EMERSON McMILLIN,	WILLARD BROWN,
H. O. HAVEMEYER,	PHILIP LEHMAN,
JAMES M. DONALD,	EDWARD P. CRAGIN,
GEORGE CROCKER,	GEO. BLUMENTHAL,
J. WILLIAM CLARK,	EDWARD C. SCHAEFER,
JOEL F. FREEMAN.	FRANK JAY GOULD.

MANHATTAN TRUST COMPANY.
WALL STREET, Corner NASSAU, NEW YORK.
Capital & Surplus, - $1,500,000
OFFICERS.
JOHN I. WATERBURY, President.
JOHN KEAN, AMOS T. FRENCH, } Vice-Presidents.
CHARLES H. SMITH, Secretary.
W. NORTH DUANE, Treasurer.

Bankers' Trust Co. of N. Y.
10 WALL STREET.
Capital & Surplus, $3,000,000.
OFFICERS:
George W. Ely, President.
Francis H. Leggett, Louis V. Bright, } Vice Presidents.
Alfred H. Swayne, Secretary.
John H. Allen, Ass't Secty.

NATIONAL CITY BANK
NEW STOCK.
A LIMITED AMOUNT FOR SALE IN LOTS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.
LADD, WOOD & KING,
Members N. Y. Stock Exchange
AND
Dealers in Investment Securities,
31 PINE ST., N. Y.

BROWN BROTHERS & CO.,
NO. 59 WALL ST.,
ISSUE COMMERCIAL AND TRAVELERS' CREDITS, AVAILABLE IN ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

Outside Securities a Specialty.
DAVID PFEIFFER, 18 Wall St.

PROPOSALS.

PROPOSALS FOR
$5,568,483.90
OF
3½% Corporate Stock
OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK.
Exempt from all Taxation in the State of New York, except for State Purposes.
Principal and Interest Payable in Gold.

EXECUTORS, ADMINISTRATORS, GUARDIANS, AND OTHERS HOLDING TRUST FUNDS ARE AUTHORIZED, BY CHAPTER 65 OF THE LAWS OF 1889, TO INVEST IN THIS STOCK.

SEALED PROPOSALS WILL BE RECEIVED BY THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK, at his office, No. 280 Broadway, in the City of New York, until Tuesday, the 23d Day of January, 1900,
at 2 o'clock P. M., for the whole or a part of the following-described Registered Stock of the City of New York, bearing interest at the rate of THREE AND ONE-HALF PER CENT. per annum, to wit:

$2,000,000 00	CORPORATE STOCK OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK, FOR NEW EAST RIVER BRIDGE. Principal payable November 1, 1940.	$368,483 90	CORPORATE STOCK OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK, FOR HIGH SCHOOLS AND SITES THEREFOR. Principal payable November 1, 1940.
[illegible] 00	CORPORATE STOCK OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK, FOR A NEW HALL OF RECORDS. Principal payable November 1, 1940.	300,000 00	CORPORATE STOCK OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK, FOR CONSTRUCTING A PUBLIC DRIVEWAY ALONG THE HARLEM RIVER. Principal payable November 1, 1940.
300,000 00	CORPORATE STOCK OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK, FOR SCHOOL-HOUSES AND SITES THEREFOR. Principal payable November 1, 1940.
500,000 00	CORPORATE STOCK OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK, FOR SCHOOL-HOUSES AND SITES THEREFOR IN THE BOROUGH OF BROOKLYN. Principal payable November 1, 1940.	1,650,000 00	CORPORATE STOCK OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK, FOR THE NEW AQUEDUCT. Principal payable October 1, 1919.

A Deposit of TWO PER CENT. (in money or certified check on a National or State Bank in the City of New York) required.
For fuller information, see CITY RECORD. Copies to be procured at No. 2 City Hall.
BIRD S. COLER, Comptroller,
THE CITY OF NEW YORK,
DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE, COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE,
JANUARY 9, 1900.

THE TRUST CO. OF AMERICA,
149 BROADWAY,
(Northwest Corner Liberty St.)
CAPITAL . $2,500,000
SURPLUS . $2,500,000
Allows Interest on Daily Balances,
subject to cheque through the New York Clearing House or payable at sight, and on Certificates of Deposit.
Acts as Trustee, Receiver, Committee, Executor, Guardian, Administrator, Assignee, Registrar and Transfer and Fiscal Agent.
Is a legal depository for Court and Trust Funds.
Loans Money on Bond and Mortgage.
Special attention given to the management of real estate and the collection and remittance of rents.
Carefully selected securities for investment always on hand.
Transacts a General Banking Business.
OFFICERS:
ASHBEL P. FITCH, President. WM. BARBOUR, Vice-President.
WM. H. LEUPP, Vice-President. H. S. MANNING, Vice-President.
LAWRENCE O. MURRAY, Trust Officer.
RAYMOND J. CHATRY, Secretary.
THOMAS C. CLARKE, Jr., Asst. Sec'y.
ALBERT L. BANISTER, Treasurer.
W. HUNT HALL, Asst. Treasurer.
DIRECTORS:

ASHBEL P. FITCH,	WILLIAM E. SPIER,
WILLIAM BARBOUR,	ANSON R. FLOWER,
HENRY S. MANNING,	HENRY S. REDMOND,
SAMUEL A. MAXWELL,	JOHN B. HEGEMAN,
MYRON T. HERRICK,	C. C. HUDSON,
CHAS. F. CUTLER,	S. C. T. DODD,
EMERSON McMILLIN,	WILLARD BROWN,
H. O. HAVEMEYER,	PHILIP LEHMAN,
JAMES M. DONALD,	EDWARD P. CRAGIN,
GEORGE CROCKER,	GEO. BLUMENTHAL,
J. WILLIAM CLARK,	EDWARD C. SCHAEFER,
JOEL F. FREEMAN.	FRANK JAY GOULD.

LOUIS MESIER, Auctioneer,
REGULAR AUCTION SALE OF
STOCKS AND BONDS
By ADRIAN H. MULLER & SON,
WEDNESDAY, JAN. 24th, 1900,
At 12½ o'clock, at the N. Y. Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway.
(By order of the Central Trust Co., Executor.)
112 shs. Central Fire Works Co. Pfd.
9 shs. Lawyers' Mtge. Insurance Co.
$500. Montauk Club, B'klyn, 2d Mtge. 5 p. c. Bond.
69 shs. Bedford Riding Academy.
500 shs. Camden Land Co. of Maine.
32 shs. Thomas A. Edison Polyform Co.
10 shs. Brooklyn Turkish Bath Co.
10 shs. Lawyers' Title Insurance Co.
(By order of Executors.)
100 shs. Gansevoort Bank.
5 shs. 12th Ward Bank.
50 shs. State Trust Co.
(By order of Administratrix.)
10 shs. Dobbs Ferry Bank.
50 shs. Bemis Car Box Co.
400 shs. American Automatic Tool Co.
(For Account of Whom it may Concern.)
16 shs. Woodcliff Land Improvement Co.
50 shs. City Trust Co.
150 shs. North American Trust Co.
6 shs. Importers' and Traders' Nat'l Bank.
5 shs. National Park Bank.
25 shs. Bank of Manhattan Co.
15 shs. State Trust Co.
5 shs. National Union Bank.
34 shs. American Exchange Nat'l Bank.
38 shs. Phenix National Bank.
32 shs. Yellow Pine Pfd.
$200 New York Athletic Club 6 p. c. Bds., 1903.
$200 New York Athletic Club 2d 5 p. c. Bds., 1910.
15 shs. Metropolitan Plate Glass Ins. Co.
100 shs. Troy Steel Co. (typ'd.)
12 shs. Bank of Metropolis.
14 shs. Merchants' Nat'l Bank.
7 shs. Bank of America.
60 shs. North American Trust Co.
2 shs. New York Life Ins. and Trust Co.
10 shs. Lawyers' Title Ins. Co.
10 shs. State Trust Co.
40 shs. Merchants' Nat'l Bank.
50 shs. Westchester Trust Co.
$18,000 Vicks., Shrev. & Pacific R. R. 1st assenting 6 p. c. Bds., 1920.
$2,000 Peo., Dec. & Evans. R. R. 2d 5 p. c. bds., 1926.
$26,000 Sav., Fla. & West. R. R. 1st 6 p. c. bds., 1934.
$7,500 Brooklyn City R. R. 1st consld. 5 p. c. Bds., 1941.
50 shs. Mechanics' Bank of B'klyn.
5 shs. Lawyers' Surety Co.
35 shs. Importers' and Traders' Nat'l Bank.
25 shs. National Park Bank.
40 shs. Bank of America.
65 shs. American Surety Co
10 shs. National Union Bank.
25 shs. North American Trust Co.
50 shs. Standard Coal & Iron Co.
20 shs. Morning Star Consld. Mining Co.
250 shs. Armstrong Real Estate & Impt. Co.
97½ shs. Empire State Phosphate Co.
200 shs. San Diego Land & Town Co., pfd.
500 shs. San Diego Land & Town Co., common.
500 shs. Denver Union Water Co., pfd.
50 shs. Forest Hotel Co., Lakewood, N. J.
81 shs. International Express Co.
25 shs. State Trust Co.
10 shs. Hanover Nat'l Bank.
32 shs. Nat'l Park Bank.
100 shs. North American Trust Co.
25 shs. Nat'l Bank of Commerce.
3 shs. American Exchange Nat'l Bank.
20 shs. Trust Co. of New York.
10 shs. Trust Co. of America.
8 shs. Farmers' Loan and Trust Co.
5 shs. Lawyers' Mtge. Ins. Co.
100 shs. Bankers' Trust Co.
7 shs. Madison (Wis.) Gas and Elec. Co.
$11,000 Washington Trac. and Elec. Co. Coll. Trust 4½ p. c. Bds., 1949.
10 shs. Trust Co. of America.
50 shs. Trust Co. of America.
500 shs. Yellow Pine Co., common (Hypd.)
40 shs. State Trust Co.
50 shs. Celluloid Co.
6 shs. Nat'l Park Bank.
70 shs. Empire Steel and Iron Co., Pfd.
70 shs. Empire Steel and Iron Co., common.
$2,000 Lotos Club 2d Mtge. 6 p. c. Bds., 1904.
5 shs. United States Trust Co.
10 shs. Farmers' Loan & Trust Co.
5 shs. State Trust Co.
10 shs. Leather Manfr's Nat'l Bank.
15 shs. Home Insurance Co.
300 shs. Jos. Ladue Gold Mining & Devl'p Co., Pfd.
4 shs. Phenix Insurance Co. of B'klyn.
50 shs. Butchers' & Drovers' Bank.
25 shs. State Trust Co.
100 shs. Gray National Telautograph Co.
15 shs. Produce Exchange Trust Co.

RICHARD V. HARNETT & CO.
AUCTION SALE
STOCKS AND BONDS
Tuesday, Jan. 23, 1900,
AT 12:30 P. M.
At the New York Real Estate Salesroom, 111 Broadway.
(For account of whom it may concern.)
3 shares Continental National Bank of New York, $100 each.
10 shares National Broadway Bank, $25 each.
51 shares Gerbereux Flynn Company, $100 each, (hypothecated.)
45 shares Gerebereux Flynn Company, $100 each, (hypothecated.)
18 shares Gerbereux Flynn Company, $100 each, (hypothecated.)
$191,000 Tidal Oil Co. 1st mortgage 6 per cent. gold bonds, June, 1897, coupons attached, (hypothecated.)
$19,000 Tidal Oil Co. 1st mortgage 6 per cent. gold bonds, Dec., 1898, coupons attached, (hypothecated.)
Lists at Auctioneers', 71 and 73 Liberty St.

Office of the Consolidation Coal Company,
44 South Street, Baltimore, Maryland,
January 16th, 1900.
The Board of Directors of this Company have this day declared a dividend of Two Dollars per share on the Capital Stock, payable at the office of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, No. 65 Cedar Street, New York, on and after February 1st, 1900. Dividend checks will be mailed to stockholders.
The transfer books will be closed at 3 o'clock P. M. January 25th, 1900, and reopen at 10 A. M. February 2d, 1900.
T. K. STUART, Secretary.

AT 12 M.
On Monday, January the eighth, 1900, the following Mobile City Bonds, issued 1881, were drawn for retirement, viz.:
Nos. 3523, 3659, 3730, 3781, 3802, 3913, and 3942.
Holders of these bonds will take notice that on and after the first of February, 1900, these bonds will be paid in full with one month's interest, upon presentation, by the First National Bank, Mobile, Ala., and will not bear interest after said date.
CHAS. D. WILLOUGHBY,
Cashier First National Bank, Mobile, Ala.

DIVIDENDS.

AMERICAN CAR & FOUNDRY CO.
St. Louis, Mo., January 2, 1900.
Preferred Capital Stock Dividend No. 3.
At a meeting of the Board of Directors held this day, it was resolved that a dividend of 1¾ PER CENT. on the preferred capital stock of the company be declared and paid on Thursday, Feb. 1st, 1900, at the office of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, No. 65 Cedar Street, New York City, to stockholders of record at the close of business Wed., Jan. 10, 1900. Transfer books will close Jan. 10, 1900, and reopen Sat., Feb. 3, 1900. WILLIAM McMILLAN, Treasurer.

The Lawyers' Title Insurance Company of New York.
37 & 39 Liberty St. and 44½ & 46 Maiden Lane.
NEW YORK, Jan. 10, 1900.
The Board of Directors of this company has this day declared a dividend of 2½ Per Cent., and an extra dividend of One-Half Per Cent, payable at the company's offices on Feb. 1, 1900. The transfer books will be closed Saturday, Jan. 13, and reopened Friday, Feb. 2.
JOHN DUER, Treasurer.

Tennessee Coal, Iron & R. R. Co.,
No. 80 Broadway, New York, Jan. 22, 1900.
The coupons due Feb. 1st, 1900, on the bonds of the De Bardeleben Coal and Iron Co., and the South Pittsburg purchase bonds of this company, will be paid at maturity at the Hanover National Bank, New York City. J. BOWRON, Treasurer.

Pittsburg, Shawmut & Northern Railroad Company
First Mortgage 5% Bonds.
Coupons due February 1st, 1900, from the abovementioned bonds will be paid at maturity on presentation at the office of Henry Marquand & Co., 160 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

Standard Rope and Twine Company
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS.
COUPONS DUE FEBRUARY 1st on the above will be paid on and after that date at the office of the Manhattan Trust Company, Wall and Nassau Streets, New York City.
JOSEPH G. TAYLOR, Treasurer.

DIVIDENDS.

OFFICE OF THE
Northern Pacific Railway Company
Mills Building, New York, Dec. 13, 1899.
At a meeting of the Board of Directors, held this day, there were declared from the net earnings of the company a dividend of ONE PER CENT. on the Common Stock of the Company, and an extra dividend of ONE PER CENT. on said common stock, both to be paid Feb. 5, 1900, to the stockholders of record at the closing of the transfer books on Jan. 11, 1900.
For the purpose of such dividends the transfer books of this company will be closed at 3 P. M. on Jan. 11, 1900, and will be reopened at 10 A. M. on Jan. 23, 1900.
NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY,
By GEORGE H. EARL, Secretary.

23 Wall Street,
New York, Dec. 13, 1899.
The transfer books of the Voting Trustees for Common Stock Trust Certificates of the NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY will close in New York and Berlin at 3 P. M. on Jan. 11, 1900, and will reopen at 10 A. M. on Jan. 23, 1900.
On Feb. 5, 1900, the Voting Trustees will be prepared to distribute the above dividends, aggregating two per cent. on the Common Stock of the Company, when received by them, among the parties entitled thereto, as the same appear of record on their books when closed as above.
J. P. MORGAN & CO., New York.
DEUTSCHE BANK, Berlin,
Agents for Voting Trustees.

The H. B. Claflin Company,
Corner of Church and Worth Sts., New York City.
January 22, 1900.
The quarterly interest on the preferred stocks will be paid February 1st.
Transfer books for the Preferred stocks only will be closed at 3 P. M. January 24 and reopened at 10 A. M. February 2d, 1900.
D. N. FORCE, Treasurer.

Office of Phenix Insurance Company,
Brooklyn, N. Y., January 22, 1900.
57TH DIVIDEND.
The Board of Directors have this day declared the semi-annual dividend of five per cent., (5%,) payable on demand, at their branch office, No. 47 Cedar Street, New York City, to stockholders of record on this date.
WM. A. WRIGHT, Secretary.

MEETINGS AND ELECTIONS.

Election Notice.
St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern Railway Co.,
New York, January 13, 1900.
Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the stockholders of the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern Railway Company will be held in the Company's office, in the City of St. Louis, Missouri, on Tuesday, March 13, 1900, at 9:00 o'clock A. M., for the election of thirteen Directors for the ensuing year, and for the transaction of any other business that may come before said meeting. The annual meeting of the Directors will be held in the same office on the same day, at 12:00 o'clock noon. The transfer books will be closed on Tuesday, January 30, 1900, at 3:00 o'clock P. M., and reopened on Wednesday, March 14, 1900, at 10:00 o'clock A. M.
GEO. J. GOULD, President.
A. H. CALEF, Secretary.

Election Notice.
The Missouri Pacific Railway Co.,
New York, January 13, 1900.
Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the stockholders of The Missouri Pacific Railway Company will be held in the Company's office, in the City of St. Louis, Missouri, on Tuesday, March 13, 1900, at 9:30 o'clock A. M., for the election of thirteen Directors for the ensuing year, and for the transaction of any other business that may come before said meeting. The annual meeting of the Directors will be held in the same office on the same day, at 12:00 o'clock noon. The transfer books will be closed on Tuesday, Jan. 30, 1900, at 3:00 o'clock P. M., and reopened on Wednesday, March 14, 1900, at 10:00 o'clock A. M.
GEO. J. GOULD, President.
A. H. CALEF, Secretary.

MOBILE & OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY.—The Annual Meetings of the registered holders of the General Mortgage Bonds of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, pursuant to the General Mortgage of May 15, 1888, and of the holders of the Preferred Income and Sinking Fund Debentures of said Company, pursuant to the Deed of Trust of May 1, 1879, will be held at the office of the Company, No. 11 Pine Street, in the City of New York, on Wednesday, February 7, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon, and 2 o'clock P. M., respectively. The Voting Register of the said General Mortgage Bonds and the Transfer Books of the said Debentures will close at 3 o'clock P. M., on Wednesday, January 31, 1900, and reopen on Friday, February 23, 1900.
HY. TACON, Secretary.
Mobile, Ala., January 20, 1900.

Rubber Goods Manufacturing Co.
NOTICE OF ANNUAL MEETING.
The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Rubber Goods Manufacturing Company will be held on the thirteenth day of February, 1900, at Two o'clock, at the registered office of the company, No. 60 Grand Street, Jersey City, New Jersey, for the purpose of electing a Board of Directors and receiving and acting upon the reports of the officers, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the meeting.
In accordance with the laws of the State of New Jersey, only stockholders of record on the twenty-third day of January are entitled to vote at this meeting. W. A. TOWNER, Secretary.
Dated Jan. 15, 1900.

TO THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE FIGGE Slaughtering Company, Limited.—Pursuant to a resolution of the Board of Directors of this Company, notice is hereby given that a meeting of the stockholders of the Figge Slaughtering Company, Limited, is called and will be held at Numbers 631 to 635 West Fortieth Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, on the seventh day of February, 1900, at half past four o'clock in the afternoon of that day, for the purpose of voting upon a proposition that the said Company be forthwith dissolved.
Dated January 4th, 1900.
CHAS. HUTWELKER, Secy.

Peoria & Eastern Railway Co.
Stockholders' Meeting.
The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Peoria & Eastern Railway Co. for the election of Directors, and for such other business as may come before the meeting, will be held at Danville, Illinois, on Wednesday, February 14th, 1900, at 11 o'clock A. M.
The stock transfer books will close February 1st, 1900, at 3 o'clock P. M. and reopen at 10 o'clock A. M. February 15th, 1900.
J. C. DAVIE, Secretary.

THE PEOPLES GAS LIGHT & COKE CO.
(of Chicago).
The annual meeting of the Stockholders of The Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company will be held at the office of the Company in Chicago, Adams Street and Michigan Avenue, on Saturday, February 10, 1900, at 11 o'clock A. M. The transfer books will close, in New York, in accordance with the by-laws, at 3 o'clock P. M. on Friday, January 19th, and will reopen at 10 o'clock A. M. Tuesday, February 13th, 1900.
C. K. G. BILLINGS, President.

New York, January 23d, 1900.
THE ANNUAL MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS of the LAFLIN & RAND POWDER COMPANY will be held at No. 99 Cedar Street, New York City, on TUESDAY, February 13th, 1900, at 2:30 o'clock P. M. for the election of Trustees of the company for the ensuing year, and the transaction of such other business as may legally come before them. A. W. HIGGINS, Secretary.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE AMERICAN Institute, February 1st, at 19 West 44th St., at 8 o'clock P. M. DAVID PETTIGREW, Secretary.

ACTION TO ANNUL A TRANSFER.

Defendants Are ex-Gov. Waller of Connecticut and Alfred R. Page.
The trial was begun yesterday in the Supreme Court, Special Term, Part VI., before Justice Bischoff, of the action brought by Joseph W. Pullar, through his attorneys, Benjamin & Loeser, for the annulment of a contract by which he transferred property valued at $50,000 to ex-Gov. Thomas M. Waller of Connecticut and Alfred R. Page, at the Imperial Hotel, on the night of Oct. 14, 1897. It is alleged by the complainant that he was incompetent from the excessive use of stimulants at the time the transfer was made; that the defendants knew it, and that they threatened him with prosecution for alleged bigamy if he failed to sign the papers. He had inherited the property from a woman whom he had married several years before, although at the time he had, it is said, a wife living, from whom he had never been divorced. A peculiar feature of the case is that he is now living with the latter woman at 162 West Ninety-sixth Street, and she sat by his side in one corner of the courtroom during the proceedings yesterday.
The entire day was taken up with the examination of James T. Farrell of Hartford, a relative of the dead woman, who was present at the signing of the contract. He confirmed Gov. Waller's published statement that Pullar seemed in the full possession of his faculties and that he had taken only one glass of beer during the conference, although he took more with the rest of the party after the papers had been signed. Mr. Farrell testified that, although he had frequently met Pullar and had known him to drink beer and whisky, he had only seen him intoxicated once. He said that the real Mrs. Pullar had called upon him in Hartford and had urged him to prosecute her husband for his alleged bigamy, but Mr. Farrell said that neither before nor after the signing of the contract had any of the heirs considered such a step, though they had decided that if a compromise could not be effected that they would try to break the will leaving so much property to Pullar, on the ground that the woman had made it not knowing he was married to another at the time. The case will be continued to-day.

THE FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks firm.

STOCK TRANSACTIONS.

	Shares.
Jan. 22	260,253
To date this year	7,360,285
Corresponding date last year	16,715,606

BOND TRANSACTIONS.

Jan. 22	$3,175,100
To date this year	$33,657,000
Corresponding date last year	$104,695,540

Money rate: Collateral loans on call, 3@4 per cent.; at three months, 4@4½ per cent.; at six months, 4½@5 per cent. Commercial paper, sixty to ninety days, 4½@5 per cent.

***

Net changes in stocks of one-half of 1 per cent. or more were:

Stocks Advanced.

Am. Car & Fdy. pf..	½	Cont. Tob. pf.	1½
American Ice	1½	Glucose Sugar	1¾
Am. Cotton Oil pf.	1¼	Int. Paper pf.	½
Am. Dist. Tel.	2½	Manhattan	½
Am. Linseed pf.	1	Met. Street Ry.	1½
Am. Malt pf.	1	Nat. Biscuit	1½
Am. Spirits	½	N. Y. Air Brake	4
Am. Sugar Ref.	⅝	N. Y. C. & St. L. 1st pf.	3⅝
Am. Sugar R. pf.	3½	Norf. & West. pf.	⅝
Am. Smelt. & Ref.	½	Ontario Mining	½
Am. Steel Hoop pf.	½	Peop. Gas Chi.	1
Am. Tobacco	⅝	Reading 1st pf.	⅝
Ann Arbor pf.	1	Rep. Steel	½
Brook. Rap. Tr.	2	Rep. Steel pf.	2
Canada South	⅞	St. L. Southwest pf.	1½
Chi., M. & St. P.	½	Third Ave.	4
Chi. Term. T. pf.	2¼	U. S. Leather	⅝
C., C., C. & St. L.	¾	U. S. Rubber pf.	1
Clev., Lor. & W.	1½
Cont. Tobacco	½

Stocks Declined.

Am. Tin Plate	⅝	Gen. Electric	1
Chi. Gt. West pf. B.	½	Nat. Steel pf.	½
Chi. Gt. West pf B.	½	Pressed Steel Car	½
Des M. & Ft. D.	½

***

Net changes in bonds of 1 per cent. or more were:

Bonds Advanced.

Am. Dock & Imp. 5s.	1	Iowa Cent. 1st	1½
Brook. Union El. 1st.	1¼	Kana. & Mich. 4s	2
Cent. of N. J. gen.	1	Lacledе Gas 1st.	1
C. & N. W. g. 7s rest	1¼	N. Y., Sus. & W. gen.	3
C., L. & W. 1st	1	Tenn., C. & I. De. 6s	1
Erie 1st con. 7s	2

Bonds Declined.

Det. City Gas 5s	1½	N. Y. Gas, El. L., H. & P. purchase money 4s	1½
W., D. M. Div. 4s	1

MARKET CONDITIONS.

Though yesterday's stock market was dull, it was strong. All day long the speculators waited for South African news, counting confidently upon reports of British victories, and advices which came from financial authorities in London encouraged optimism, though of tangible foundation for British success nothing was actually provided. Some buying of our stocks for foreign account was in evidence, though not in large volume.

***

In banking circles improved sentiment rules, there being now anticipation of continuing ease in funds for some time to come. This pertains not to call loans merely, but also to arrangements for accommodation on time. The only qualifying element in the money market situation is shown in the disposition of the banks to make closer scrutiny of collateral, trust stocks being under suspicion.

According to New York bankers it is not here merely that too much assistance has been provided for trust stock flotation, it being pointed out that at practically every financial centre of the country there have been collateral uses made of raw industrial issues. This is said to be especially true as to banks in some parts of New England and in Pennsylvania and Illinois. It is not so much that loans have been made on trust stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, or even dealt in on the Wall Street curb, as it is that local securities at Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Chicago, Boston, and Providence have been largely accepted for collateral. In out-of-town cities the matter of the value of collateral figures less in banking estimates than the character of the borrower who signs the obligation; and to this rule are more or less attributed those congestive evidences which have recently been showing in out-of-town Exchanges.

***

The coming of Candidate Bryan to New York does not this time disturb Wall Street. Four years ago his advent threatened almost a panic. Now it figures among the lighter jest in Stock Exchange flippancy. Free silver at present protrudes no thorns, and market values are not at all in a shiver over impending 16 to 1 oratory. Politics is not among the current disturbances of Wall Street sentiment.

DEALING IN LEATHER.

The dealing in Leather common yesterday was on a larger scale than for some days past, the tape at one time within less than five minutes recording sales approximating 10,000 shares at prices ranging from 17¾ to 18⅜. It looked as if the bears were endeavoring to break the price by offering the stock in big blocks, but if that was the purpose it failed, for the price held consistently firm, all the stock offered was readily bought, and the close marked a net gain of ⅝ points.

Insiders continue to insist that the Rockefeller and other strong interests will have representation on the Board of Directors and in the direct management of the company when reorganization is effected.

BROOKLYN RAPID TRANSIT.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit was heavily traded in yesterday, and at one time the quotation touched as high as 73, with the close at 72⅝. During the day the Street was flooded with the oft-heard stories that Vanderbilt and other substantial interests would have representation on the Directorate at the annual meeting this week. No official verification of these reports could be obtained, present Directors contenting themselves with mysterious looks and knowing smiles, and saying merely that time would tell whether there was much or little in the rumors.

TALKING OF A DIVIDEND.

In relation to the affairs of Norfolk and Western, a dispatch from Philadelphia was put out on the Street yesterday to the effect that it was "generally understood that the Directors of the company will meet some time this month and declare the regular semi-annual dividend on the preferred stock." As a matter of fact, the regular meeting should not be held until about Feb. 10, but it is now intimated that the declaration of the semi-annual dividend may be anticipated by several weeks.

SUGAR'S FRACTIONAL ADVANCE.

Though there was more or less activity in Sugar Trust stock yesterday, the variations in the quotations were inconsequential, the net change for the day marking only a fractional gain. There was no news in respect to the property, and the dealing in the stock was practically confined to traders.

ASSURE LARGER PROFITS.

The steel stocks were strong yesterday, not only in sympathy with the rest of the market, but because of the good trade outlook and the knowledge that most of the companies, having gotten off their old contracts, made when prices were lower, are now working on the new contracts which assure considerably larger profits.

BULL POOL AGAIN BUYS.

The bull pool which, for the last few days has been operating in Missouri Pacific, continued its buying yesterday, with the result that the stock showed sustained strength. It is said a short interest of the stock at 44 was covered. As on previous days, other Gould stocks were favorably affected by the buying.

INSIDE SUPPORT.

Stock Exchange houses, supposed to be acting for inside interests, were yesterday heavy buyers of Southern Pacific shares; and the Street hears that the upward movement in the stock which, for some time, has been contemplated, is now to be begun.

MORE BOND BUYING.

There was a continued demand for bonds yesterday, especialy of good railroad bonds, and quotations were generally better. This bond demand has helped the general tone of the market, which yesterday was substantially stronger, and has caused investment buying of established dividend-paying securities.

LONDON AGAIN A SELLER.

In spite of the fact that the news from South Africa was generally of a hopeful kind, London yesterday was a seller rather than a buyer. It is said that this selling may be expected now for some time, the London market real

OUTSIDE SECURITIES.

Trading in the market for outside securities yesterday was scarcely more active than on the days of last week, when total transactions aggregated so small an amount. There was, however, somewhat greater strength than marked the opening of the previous week, and here and there appeared buying of an excellent character that seemed to indicate favorable developments in particular issues, which may later be extended to the general list. Standard Oil continued to show significant strength, and some other issues also were in good demand, with no disposition shown to let stocks go at figures which have been brought to a fairly low level by the last two weeks of extreme dullness, accompanied by intermittent selling. Though some of the changes for the day were on the side of net losses, a larger number were found among advances, some of which were substantial.

STANDARD OIL was traded in to the extent of nearly 500 shares, the greater part of which changed hands in large lots. Buying of the stock was of the same character as has marked the trading in this issue for a number of weeks past, and it is reliably stated that practically all the stock bought recently has found its way to the hands of persons very closely connected with the company. Reports of private sales of the stock are had which indicate that insiders are anxious to procure the stock and in some cases round lots, of as much as 100 shares, have been taken considerably above the quoted market. About half of the stock that sold yesterday changed hands at 500. This is record price for the stock, as it is equivalent to something like 502¾ for the old stock. Nothing of a very definite character has yet been heard explaining this notable strength, but the character of the buying is looked upon as very significant, and it seems to be generally believed that there will shortly be an extra distribution of some kind on the stock of sufficient importance to lead to a very considerable increase over the present price. Very large advances are freely predicted in some quarters, while, on the other hand, a disposition is shown to sell the stock on account of the very large advance it has recently enjoyed. It is reported that much of the stock that has changed hands recently has been sold by persons who held the stock at very low figures. On account of most of the trading yesterday being in large lots, the stock did not fluctuate much, the highest sale of the day being made at 500 and the closing bid being 499, a net gain of 1 point.

DISTILLING OF AMERICA advanced sharply on relatively few sales, and ended the day with a considerable net gain in both the common and preferred stocks. Sales in the latter were made as high as 23½, and it closed at 23¼ bid, showing an advance of 2½ points over Saturday's final price. The common stock showed a net gain of 1 point, selling as high as 7¼ and closing at 7 bid. Buying in the stocks appeared to be for insiders. There was larger demand for the preferred stock than has appeared for several weeks.

NEW AMSTERDAM GAS was very dull. Little or no change appeared in the stocks, and the bond issue, which was the only one of the three which showed any activity, sold down to 94½, and at the close was offered at 94¼.

AMALGAMATED COPPER was traded in to the extent of only 100 shares. This sale was made at 83½, and the stock closed at 82¾ bid, showing a quarter-point loss.

CALIFORNIA COPPER was bought, seemingly by insiders, from 3¼ up to 3⅝, and to the extent of 600 or 700 shares. It closed at 3⅜ bid, and showed a fractional net gain.

ST. LOUIS STREET RAILWAYS subscriptions were very strong, as a result of last week's announcement of a 15 per cent. distribution on these subscriptions. They sold in small lots at 132½ and 132, and showed a net gain of 3⅝ points.

BAY STATE GAS was traded in to the extent of probably 5,000 shares or more. It sold up to 1⅞ and closed at 1¾ bid, against 1⅝ bid on Saturday.

ELECTRIC VEHICLE sold at 46, and remained offered at that figure. The preferred stock was offered at 80, without a bid.

Closing quotations were as follows:

ACTIVE SECURITIES.

Gas Companies.

	Bid.	Asked.
Bay State Gas	1¾	1⅞
New Amsterdam	92	93
New Amsterdam pf	47	50
New Amsterdam 5s, with interest	..	94¼

Industrials.

American Agricultural Chemical	31¼	33
American Agricultural Chemical pf	78	78
American Bicycle	15	17
American Bicycle pf	43	45
American Bicycle bonds	..	92½
American Woolen Goods	23	23½
American Woolen Goods pf., ex div.	78¾	79½
Cast-Iron Pipe	8	9
Cast-Iron Pipe pf	42½	44½
Distilling Company of America	..	7¾
Distilling Company of America pf	23¼	24¼
Electric Axle Light & Power	45	48
Electric Boat	18	20
Electric Boat pf	21	30
Havana Commercial	21	..
Havana Commercial pf	60½	..
International Pump	15½	18
International Pump pf. ex div.	62	64½
National Gramophone	56	60
National Salt	47	48
National Salt pf	78	80
National Tube	43	43¾
National Tube pf	91½	93
Otis Elevator	22	25
Otis Elevator pf	86	89
Royal Baking Powder pf	94	96½
Rubber Goods Mfg.	27	29
Rubber Goods Mfg. pf	79	80
Sloss-Sheffield	28	30
Sloss-Sheffield pf	67	69
Standard Oil of New Jersey	490	500
U. S. Pneumatic Horse Collar	..	½

Miscellaneous.

Amalgamated Copper	82¾	83½
American Air Power	35	50
American Cotton	..	50
Arizona Land	10	10½
Asphalt Company of America	12	13
British Columbia Copper	10	10⅝
California Copper	3⅜	3⅝
Central Fireworks	12	15
Central Fireworks pf	58	70
Chicago & Alton bds. (new)	105	106
Chicago & Alton 3s, (new)	93	96
Electric Vehicle	..	46
Electric Vehicle pf	..	80
*Electro-Pneumatic, assessment paid	1	1¼
Flemington Coal & Coke	20	22
General Carriage	6	6½
Illinois Transportation	2½	3
*Markeen Copper	5	7
Mexican 5s	97½	98½
New York Transportation	1¾	1¾
New England Transportation	6½	7
Pittsburg, Bessemer & Lake Erie	18¾	19½
St. Louis subs.	132	133
Retsof	25	30
Retsof bonds	..	84
Storage Power	12¾	13¼
Superior and Boston Copper	½	3-16
Tennessee Copper	13¾	15
Trust Company of America	197	199
Virginia Coal, Iron & Coke	24	25½
Virginia Coal, Iron & Coke bonds	59	62

*Selling dollars per share. Par value, $10.

LESS ACTIVE SECURITIES.

Street Railways.

	Bid.	Asked.
Broadway & Seventh Avenue	220	240
Broadway & Seventh Avenue 1st	104	105
Broadway & Seventh Avenue 2d	109½	111½
Broadway Surface 1st 5s	117	118
Broadway Surface 2d 5s	104	105
Brooklyn City Railroad	235	237
Brooklyn, Bath & West End 5s	100	102
Central Park, N. & E. River	108	..
Central Park, N. & E. River 7s	106	108
Columbus Railway	20	24
Columbus Railway pf	80	86
Con. Traction of N. J.	58	60
Con. Traction of N. J. 5s	106	108
Eighth Avenue Railroad	375	400
Eighth Avenue Railroad, (new)	85	87
42d St., Man. & St. Nicholas Av.	68	75
42d St., Man. & St. Nicholas Av. 1st	115	117
42d St., Man. & St. Nicholas Av. 2d	88	90
Nassau Electric 4s	87	90
Nassau Electric 5s	108	112
New Orleans Traction	27	28
New Orleans Traction pf	100	102
Ninth Avenue Railroad	190	205
North Jersey Street Railway	27	29
North Jersey Street Railway 4s	88	89
Orange & Passaic Valley bonds	103	104
Steinway Railway Co. 6 p. c. 1st	117	118
Second Avenue Railroad consols	115½	117
Sixth Avenue Railroad	200	210
Syracuse Rapid Transit	13	16
Syracuse Rapid Transit pf	25	35
Union Railway 1st 5s	115	117
Union Railway stock	190	200
United Traction, Providence	108	111
Worcester (Mass.) Traction pf	30	31½
Worcester (Mass.) Traction bf	105	106½

Gas Companies.

Buffalo (N. Y.) stock	4	7
Buffalo (N. Y.) 1st, with interest	72	75
Central Union 5s, guaranteed	100	103
Consolidated Gas of Newark	..	55
Consolidated Gas of Newark bonds	..	103
Consolidated Gas of N. J.	21¾	23½
Consolidated Gas bonds of N. J.	87½	89½
Consumers' Gas (Jersey City) bonds	102	105
Denver Gas	38	40
Denver Gas 5s	..	82
Essex & Hudson Gas	35	40
Fort Wayne Gas	38	45
Fort Wayne Gas 6s	60	64
Indianapolis Gas	100	105
Indianapolis Gas bonds	101	103
Lafayette Gas Co.	40	45
Lafayette Gas Co., 1st 6s	60	65
Logansport & Wabash Valley Gas	38	43
Logansport & Wabash Valley Gas 6s	60	65
Mutual Gas of New York	275	280
Madison (Wis.) stock	91	93
New England Gas & Coke	19½	20½
New England Gas & Coke bonds	72½	73
N. Y. & E. R. Gas Co., 1st	108	112
N. Y. & E. R. Gas Co. con	106	109
N. Y. Suburban Gas Co. con	102½	103½
North Hudson L., H. & P. Co.	55	56
North Hud. L., H. & P. Co. bonds	107	109
Ohio & Indiana	38	45
Ohio & Indiana 1st 6s	60	65
St. Joseph, (Mo.)	40	46
St. Joseph (Mo.) 5s	96	98
St. Paul Gas stock	54	58
St. Paul Gas bonds	86	89
Standard Gas, New York	100	..
Standard Gas, New York, pf	125	..
Standard Gas 1st	115	117
Syracuse Gas stock	..	15
Syracuse Gas 1st 5 per cent. bonds	85	90
Western Gas	99	101
Western Gas 1st 5s, with interest	102	105

Ferry Companies.

Brooklyn Ferry	24	26
Brooklyn Ferry 5s	88½	89½
Hoboken Ferry, (new)	85	88
Hoboken Ferry con. 5s	93	94
Metropolitan Ferry 5s	108	110
Union Ferry	39	40
Union Ferry bonds	100	100⅝

Industrials.

American Typefounders'	51	53
Barney & Smith	10	13½
Barney & Smith pf	99	105
Barney & Smith bonds	108	108
Consolidated Rubber Tire	7½	..
Consolidated Rubber Tire pf	30	35
Cramps' Shipyard	79	81
General Chemical	89	..
General Chemical pf	97	100
Hudson River Telephone	116	119
Lorillard Company pf	..	108
Standard Coupler	40	43
Trenton Potteries	8	10
Trenton Potteries pf	45	55
Union Typewriter	23	24
Union Typewriter 1st pf	110	113
Union Typewriter 2d pf	120	122
Worthington Pump pf	98	100

Miscellaneous.

American Bank Note	47	50
Central & South American Tel	105	105½
Iron Steamboat	..	3
Iron steamboat bonds	59	60

BULLION AND MINING.

Silver bullion certificates were quoted on the Stock Exchange at 59½@60½. There were no sales.

Bar silver was quoted in London at 27 9-16d per ounce, and in New York at 59¾c. Mexican silver dollars at 47½c.

On the Consolidated Exchange 500 shares of Argentum Juanita sold at .23, 1,000 Creede and Cripple Creek at .11½, 1,000 Elkton at $1.15, 1,000 Golden Age at .05½, 300 Isabella at $1.25, 300 Jackpot at .60, 100 Mollie Gibson at .22, 500 Mount Rosa at .65, seller 10; 100 Ontario at $8.62½, 2,000 Pharmacist at .15, and 500 Work at .31.

***

Closing bids for mining stocks on the Consolidated Exchange were as follows:

Alice	.40	Phoenix G. M. Co.	.07
Adams Consolidated	.20	Potosi	.75
Belcher	.08	Quicksilver	.01¾
Best & Belcher	.07	Quicksilver pf.	.07½
Breece	1.45	Savage	.15
Brunswick Con.	.32	Sierra Nevada	.48
Caledonia, B. H.	.50	Standard	2.50
Chollar	.25	Small Hopes	1.00
Crown Point	.10	Victor	1.00
Chrysolite	.05	Argentum Juanita	.20
Con. Cal. & Va	1.50	Alturo	.20
Com. T. Co. stock	.03	Anaconda	.42
Com. T. Co. bonds	.02	Cripple Creek Cons.	.15
Com. T. Co. scrip	.05	Creede & Crip. Ck.	.10
Crescent	.17	Croesus	.01
Catalpa	.22	Golden Fleece	.20
Dunkin	.12	Isabella	1.25
Deadwood Terra	.55	Mollie Gibson	.20
Eureka Consol	.15	Mount Rosa	.60
Father De Smet	.08	Pharmacist	.14¾
Gould & Curry	.25	Portland	7.20
Hale & Norcross	.35	Specimen	.10
Homestake	50.00	Union	.42
Horn Silver	1.00	Work	.31
Iron Silver	.54	Damon	.27
Kingston & Pemb	.45	Elkton	1.15
La Crosse	.14	Findley	.13½
Leadville Con.	.07	Garfield	.14½
Little Chief	.17	Jackpot	.28
Mexican	.30	Pinnacle	.25
Moulton	.20	Tornado	.49
Ontario	.08¾	Ala. Fdy. No. 2	17.30
Ophir	.08	Ala. Fdy. No. 3	.15
Occidental	.15	Ala. Fdy. No. 4	.15
Plymouth	.08	Grey Forge	.15

BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—In the stock market today weakness and strength were exhibited at one and the same time, making in all an irregular market, which was neither hot nor cold. Boston and Montana opened 2 points up at 272, and advanced to 279, reacting to 273 on buying by brokers who represent the old crowd in this specialty. It was rumored that they were "gunning for shorts." Fitchburg preferred lost 9 points to 110 on the breaking off of the lease negotiations between that road and the Boston and Maine. The stock of the latter was unchanged at 190½. Arcadian developed weakness, and lost from 18¼ to 16, the announcement of the closing down of one head of stamps doubtless being sufficient cause for the selling. American Zinc was firmer and gained ¼ to 16. Calumet and Hecla lost 5 to 735. Butte and Boston was quoted at 45 bid, 50 asked. Tamarack advanced 1 to 170.

At the Clearing House 6 per cent. was quoted again as the going rate, but no loans at that figure were reported. New York funds sold at par and 5 cents premium. On call money rules from 4 to 5 per cent. Time money is easily obtainable at 4½@5 per cent. for four to six months, according to collateral, and the best run of business names pass from 4½ to 5 per cent.

Closing bid and asked:

Mining Stocks.

	Bid.	Asked.		Bid.	Asked.
Adventure	6	6½	Old Colony	4	5
Allouez	2¾	3	Old Dom	17¾	18
Arcadian	½	16¾	Osceola	68	70
Arnold	3½	4½	Parrot	40¼	41
Ash Bed	30	50	Pioneer	1½	2¼
Atlantic	24½	25½	Quincy	130	136
Baltic	17	18	Rhode Island	4½	4¾
Bos. & C. C.	20	40	Santa Fé	5¼	5½
Boston & M.	275	276	Santa Ysabel	7½	8
Butte & Bos.	45	50	Shoe	30¼	31½
Cal. & Hecla	730	737	Tamarack	181	182
Centennial	16	17	Utah Cons	26½	28
Franklin	14¼	14½	Washington	1½	1½
Humboldt	1	1½	White Knob	10	15
Isle Royale	25	27	Winona	4	5
Mohawk	14	15	Wolverine	39	41

Railroad Stocks.

Boston & A	240	Cen. Mass. pf.	65
Boston & L.	242	Fitchburg pf.	110
Boston & M.	199	N. Y. & N. E. 6s	110½
Boston & P.	300	N. Y. & N. E. 5s	114¾
Boston El.	97	W. End St.	92½
Boston Gas 5s	80
Central Mass. pf	11

Miscellaneous Stocks.

Am. Bell Tel.	330	Mexican Tel.	3¾
Chi. Stk. Yds.	133	N. Eng. Tel.	135
Dom. Coal	41¼	Old Col.	19
Dom. Coal pf.	115	Pullman	190
Erie Tel.	103	Westing. El.	40¼

*Ex dividend.

CHICAGO QUOTATIONS.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—Linseed preferred, which opened at 54⅞, advanced a point, but declined to 54¾ and closed at 54⅞. Biscuit preferred ranged from 92½ to 93, opening and closing at the latter. Metropolitan preferred opened at 77, but sold mostly from 76¼ to 76⅞, closing at the latter. Of the bonds $30,000 sold at 95¾@95½.

	High.	Low.	Close.
230 Linseed	14⅞	14½	14½
507 Linseed pf	55	54¾	54¾
55 Radiator pf	104¾	104¾	104¾
10 Chic. Consol. Trac	40¼	40¼	40¼
115 Chicago Telephone	215	215	215
25 Chi. Union Trac. pf	75½	75	75
52 Diamond Match	122¼	122	122
225 Lake Street Elevated	13	12⅞	12¾
300 Lake Street El. ctfs	12½	11⅞	12
258 Metropolitan El. pf	77	76½	76½
280 National Biscuit	37½	37¼	37¼
103 National Biscuit pf	93	92½	93
10 North Chicago	225	225	225
50 South Side Elevated	100¼	100½	100½
25 West Chicago	110¼	110	110½
100 Western Stone	32	32	32

PHILADELPHIA PRICES.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 22.—Trading tonational limits. There was some selling of Philadelphia Electric by politicians, who expect to get in on the ground floor of the new telephone company. The prices went off ½ as did United Gas. Welsbach Light moved up 1, to 44, while General Electric Automobile advanced to 5½. Philadelphia and Erie was marked up 1, to 25; then receded 1¾, to 23¼. Elsewhere changes were insignificant.

The close was steady at these bid and asked prices:

	Bid.	Asked.		Bid.	Asked.
Cambria	21⅝	21⅞	Phila. Trac.	96¾	97
Choctaw	33	34	Union Trac.	38½	38⅝
Elec. Co., Am.	12¾	12⅞	Un. Gas & Imp.	154	154½
Lehigh Val.	24¾	25	Welsb. Light	43	45
Marsden	12½	12⅝	W. N. Y. & P.	7⅛	7¼

The Arlington Copper Mine.

At the office of C. Emory Stevens, 39 Broadway, it was said yesterday that nothing was known there as to his prospective selection as Treasurer of the company which is to work the old copper mine at Arlington, N. J. This mine has been idle for years, and it is understood that a Boston syndicate is now to take it in hand. Mr. Stevens is in the South at present, and will probably not return for several days.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

Complete Transactions in Stocks—Monday, Jan. 22, 1900.

Closing Bid.	Closing Asked.	Sales.		First.	High.	Low.	Last.	Net Change.
13¼	13½	120	Am. Car & Foundry	13	13	13	13	+ ⅛
90	90¾	562	Am. Car & Found. pf.	90	90½	90	90½	+ ½
37⅜	38	1,010	American Ice	36⅞	38⅛	36½	37½	+ 1⅛
34	34¼	440	American Cotton Oil	33½	33¾	33½	33⅝	+ ⅛
92½	94	300	Am. Cotton Oil pf.	92½	93½	92½	93½	+ 1½
30	33	400	American District Tel.	32	32½	32	32½	+ 2½
14⅜	14⅝	460	American Linseed	14¼	14⅜	14¼	14⅜	+ ⅛
54⅜	55	306	Am. Linseed pf.	55	55	55	55	+ 1
27½	28	100	Am. Malting Co. pf.	28	28	28	28	+ 1
2¼	3½	100	American Spirits Mfg.	..	3¼	..	3½	+ ½
47⅝	48	4,245	American Steel & Wire	48½	49⅝	48	48	− ⅛
90	90½	220	Am. Steel & Wire pf.	90½	90½	90½	90½	.....
118	118½	27,030	Am. Sugar Ref. Co.	118	119¼	117½	118½	+ ⅝
113	115	100	Am. Sugar Ref. Co. pf.	114¼	114¾	114¼	114¾	+ ⅜
39	39¼	1,020	Am. Smelt. & Ref.	39	39¼	39	39¼	+ ⅛
89	89½	410	Am. Smelt. & Ref. pf.	89¼	89½	89	89	+ ⅛
28⅝	29½	200	American Tin Plate	29¾	29¾	29¼	29¼	− ⅜
100½	100⅝	9,640	American Tobacco	100	101	100	100⅞	+ ⅜
42	42½	100	Am. Steel Hoop	42	42	42	42	.....
80	81	100	Am. Steel Hoop pf.	81	81	81	81	− ½
44	46	214	Ann Arbor pf.	44½	45	44½	45	+ 1
19⅛	20⅛	520	At., T. & S. F.	19⅞	19⅞	19⅞	19⅞	− ⅛
61	61¼	4,015	At., T. & S. F. pf.	61	61¾	60¾	61⅛	+ ⅛
40¼	40⅝	400	Anaconda Copper	40¼	40¾	40	40⅜	+ ⅛
58¾	58⅞	800	Baltimore & Ohio	58⅝	58¾	58½	58⅝	+ ⅛
75	75¼	380	Baltimore & Ohio pf.	75	75¾	75	75½	− ⅛
72½	72⅝	43,128	Brooklyn Rapid Tran.	70¾	73	70¼	72⅝	+2
15¼	15½	1,710	Brunswick City	14⅝	15¼	14⅝	15	+ ⅛
49⅞	50½	100	Canada Southern	49¾	49¾	49¾	49¾	+ ⅛
93⅜	93¾	200	Canadian Pacific	93¾	93¾	93¾	93¾	+ ⅛
30	30⅛	1,670	Chesapeake & Ohio	30	30¼	30	30¼	− ⅛
30	40	100	Chicago Con. Trac.	30½	39½	39½	39½	.....
122⅜	122⅞	6,277	Chi., Bur. & Quincy	122½	123½	122½	122⅞	+ ⅜
88	92	200	Chicago & Eastern Ill.	88½	88½	88½	88½	−1½
13¼	13⅜	1,220	Chicago Great West	13¼	13⅜	13¼	13¼	.....
75½	75½	210	Chi. Gr. West. pf. A.	75⅜	75⅝	75⅜	75⅝	+ ⅛
37⅞	38	400	Chi. Gr. West. pf. B	38½	38⅞	38	38	− ⅛
15½	16⅜	100	Chi., Ind. & Louis.	16	16	16	16	.....
118⅞	119	5,265	Chi., Mil. & St. Paul	118¾	119¼	118⅝	119	+ ⅛
170	172	20	Chi., Mil. & St. P. pf.	171½	171½	171½	171½	.....
161	162	10	Chicago & Northw.	162½	162¼	162¼	162¼	−1
106⅛	107	2,508	Chi., R. I. & Pac.	106¾	107	106¾	106¾	+ ¼
10½	11	200	Chicago Term. Trans.	10¼	10½	10¼	10½	.....
34½	36	210	Chi. Term. Trans. pf.	34¾	34¾	34¾	34¾	+2½
61	61¾	300	C., C., C. & St. L.	61¼	61¾	61¼	61¾	+ ⅜
16⅞	17½	100	Cleve., Lor. & Wheel.	17½	17½	17½	17½	+1½
50	53	20	Cleve., Lor. & W. pf.	49⅜	49⅜	49⅜	49⅜	.....
43¼	43½	300	Colorado Fuel & Iron.	43	43¾	43	43⅝	+ ⅛
5⅞	5½	10	Colorado Southern	5⅞	5⅞	5⅞	5⅞	.....
43¼	44	100	Col. Southern 1st pf.	43¼	43½	43¼	43½	.....
15	16	143	Col. Southern 2d pf.	15½	15½	15½	15½	− ⅜
186	188	10	Consolidated Gas	186	186	186	186	.....
32½	33	1,480	Continental Tobacco	32½	33¼	32½	33	+ ⅛
82⅞	89½	150	Continental Tobac. pf.	82½	83½	82½	80½	+1½
176	177	200	Del., Lack. & West.	176	176½	176	170¼	.....
69¾	69⅞	210	Denver & R. G. pf.	69⅝	69⅝	69⅝	69⅝	+ ⅛
14½	15½	200	D. M. & Ft. Dodge	14½	14½	14½	14½	− ⅛
13½	13¾	25	Dul., S. S. & At. pf.	13½	13½	13½	13¾	.....
..	..	175	Erie Tel. & Tel., rts.	1	1	1	1	.....
51⅝	51⅞	3,245	Federal Steel	51⅝	52	51¼	51⅝	+ ⅛
73⅞	74¼	300	Federal Steel pf.	74	74	74	74	.....
122	123	200	General Electric	122	122	122	122	.....
1,265			Glucose Sugar Ref.	50¾	51⅞	50¾	51⅞	+ ⅝
168	168½	150	Great Northern pf.	168	166	166	166	.....
60	60½	150	Hocking Valley pf.	60¼	60¾	60¼	60¾	+ ¼
08	..	10	Homestake	70	70	70	70	.....
114	114¼	1,120	Illinois Central	114	114	114	114	.....
67	67½	370	Internat. Paper pf.	67	67¾	67	67½	+ ⅛
21	23	100	Iowa Pac. Western	22½	22½	22½	22½	+ ⅛
80⅞	81¼	1,765	Louisville & Nashville	81⅛	81⅝	81	81¼	+ ⅛
93	94	4,810	Manhattan Con	93	94¼	93	93⅝	+ ⅛
163½	164	4,700	Met. Street Railway	163½	166¾	163	166	+1⅝
12⅜	12⅝	3,413	Mexican Central	12⅜	12⅝	12⅜	12⅝	+ ⅛
4¼	4¾	780	Mexican National ctfs.	4¼	4¾	4¼	4¼	+ ¼
104	104	63	Michigan Central	104	104	104	104	.....
43¼	44¼	24,970	Missouri Pacific	43¼	44¼	43	43⅜	+ ⅛
114¼	114¾	110	National Biscuit Co.	114¼	114¾	114¼	114¾	+3¼
39	39¼	1,020	Nat. Biscuit Co. pf.	39	39¼	39	39¼	+ ⅛
89	89½	410	Nat. Smelt. & Ref. pf.	89¼	89½	89	89	+ ⅛
28⅝	29½	200	American Tin Plate	29¾	29¾	29¼	29¼	− ⅜
100½	100⅝	9,640	American Tobacco	100	101	100	100⅞	+ ⅜
42	42½	100	Am. Steel Hoop	42	42	42	42	.....
80	81	100	Am. Steel Hoop pf.	81	81	81	81	− ½
44	46	214	Ann Arbor pf.	44½	45	44½	45	+1
19⅛	20⅛	529	At., T. & S. F.	19⅞	19⅞	19⅞	19⅞	− ⅛
61	61¼	4,015	At., T. & S. F. pf.	61	61¾	60¾	61⅛	+ ⅛
40¼	40⅝	400	Anaconda Copper	40¼	40¾	40	40⅜	+ ⅛
58¾	58⅞	800	Baltimore & Ohio	58⅝	58¾	58½	58⅝	+ ⅛
75	75¼	380	Baltimore & Ohio pf.	75	75¾	75	75½	− ⅛
72½	72⅝	43,128	Brooklyn Rapid Tran.	70¾	73	70¼	72⅝	+2
15¼	15½	1,710	Brunswick City	14⅝	15¼	14⅝	15	+ ⅛
49⅞	50½	100	Canada Southern	49¾	49¾	49¾	49¾	+ ⅛
93⅜	93¾	200	Canadian Pacific	93¾	93¾	93¾	93¾	+ ⅛
30	30⅛	1,670	Chesapeake & Ohio	30	30¼	30	30¼	− ⅛
30	40	100	Chicago Con. Trac.	30½	39½	39½	39½	.....
122⅜	122⅞	6,277	Chi., Bur. & Quincy	122½	123½	122½	122⅞	+ ⅜
88	92	200	Chicago & Eastern Ill.	88½	88½	88½	88½	−1½
13¼	13⅜	1,220	Chicago Great West	13¼	13⅜	13¼	13¼	.....
75½	75½	210	Chi. Gr. West. pf. A.	75⅜	75⅝	75⅜	75⅝	+ ⅛
37⅞	38	400	Chi. Gr. West. pf. B	38½	38⅞	38	38	− ⅛
15½	16⅜	100	Chi., Ind. & Louis.	16	16	16	16	.....
118⅞	119	5,265	Chi., Mil. & St. Paul	118¾	119¼	118⅝	119	+ ⅛
170	172	20	Chi., Mil. & St. P. pf.	171½	171½	171½	171½	.....
161	162	10	Chicago & Northw.	162½	162¼	162¼	162¼	−1
106⅛	107	2,508	Chi., R. I. & Pac.	106¾	107	106¾	106¾	+ ¼
10½	11	200	Chicago Term. Trans.	10¼	10½	10¼	10½	.....
34½	36	210	Chi. Term. Trans. pf.	34¾	34¾	34¾	34¾	+2½
61	61¾	300	C., C., C. & St. L.	61¼	61¾	61¼	61¾	+ ⅜
16⅞	17½	100	Cleve., Lor. & Wheel.	17½	17½	17½	17½	+1½
50	53	20	Cleve., Lor. & W. pf.	49⅜	49⅜	49⅜	49⅜	.....
43¼	43½	300	Colorado Fuel & Iron.	43	43¾	43	43⅝	+ ⅛
5⅞	5½	10	Colorado Southern	5⅞	5⅞	5⅞	5⅞	.....
43¼	44	100	Col. Southern 1st pf.	43¼	43½	43¼	43½	.....
15	16	143	Col. Southern 2d pf.	15½	15½	15½	15½	− ⅜
186	188	10	Consolidated Gas	186	186	186	186	.....
32½	33	1,480	Continental Tobacco	32½	33¼	32½	33	+ ⅛

RATTLESNAKE BIT PROFESSOR.

But Dr. Kelly of Johns Hopkins University Continued Lecture After Sucking the Wounded Finger.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 22.—Dr. Howard A. Kelly, Professor of Gynecology in the Medical School of the Johns Hopkins University, was bitten on the third finger of the left hand by a large rattlesnake to-night. He was exhibiting the snake to a number of students in the course of a lecture.

Upon perceiving that the teeth of the reptile had penetrated his flesh, the lecturer coolly remarked to his horrified audience: "It is nothing, gentlemen, it is nothing," and placing the injured member in his mouth he sucked it for a minute and then continued to talk for over an hour. Before leaving for his home he expressed the opinion that the poison had not taken effect.

Dr. Kelly has been making a study of snakes for a number of years, and he anticipates publishing in the near future a complete work on the reptiles of North America. He has a large collection of snakes, procured in various sections of the country, including the rarest species known to naturalists. He has been bitten several times, but never before by a rattler.

In exhibiting the rattler Dr. Kelly took it out of a cotton sack and pinned its head down with a cane. Seizing it by the neck, he held it up to the view of the students. He then placed the reptile back in the bag, but as soon as he removed his grip the snake struck, sending its fangs through the sack and into the flesh.

Dr. Kelly said late to-night that he thought little poison could have gotten into his system, as the snake bit him through the cotton bagging. He will, however, be careful in exhibiting his "pets" in the future.

LITTLE SCHOOL GIRL ABDUCTED.

Ten-Year-Old Child Taken from the Street by Unknown Man.

Isabella Hunt, a ten-year-old girl, described as a pretty child, with dark eyes, hair, and complexion, was abducted yesterday morning while on her way to school, in North Moore Street, from the home of her grandparents, Thomas and Isabella Heaver of 276 West Broadway.

The father of the girl, Carlos R. Hunt, of 306 Grand Avenue, Chicago, from whom she had been receiving letters, is suspected by the grandparents of having taken her away. Some schoolgirls said that they had seen Isabella being led up West Broadway by a man whose description tallied with that of her father.

The child's father and mother separated some time ago. The mother is now living at 120 Wilmot Avenue, Chicago. The little girl was sent here on a visit six weeks ago. Mrs. Heaver said that Hunt could have had the child if he had called for her openly. A telegram was sent to Hunt's address in Chicago asking for information.

TO FORECLOSE A CHICAGO ROAD.

Eastern Bondholders Will Force Lake Street Elevated Lawsuit.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—The Tribune to-morrow will say:

"William Ziegler of New York, ex-Minister to Spain Stewart L. Woodford, and the other original mortgage bondholders of the Lake Street Elevated Railroad are about to take a final step in the four years' legal fight that has been going on between Mr. Ziegler and the road and endeavor to get an order from the United States Court for the sale of the road.

"Within the next two weeks, as soon as Judge Grosscup returns to Chicago, a motion to that effect will be made by Mr. Ziegler's attorneys, or the attorneys for the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, trustee for the mortgage bondholders.

"It is expected that, in view of last week's decision of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, holding the Ziegler bonds valid the motion will be acted on favorably. The decision, lawyers say, has placed the Lake Street Elevated where it will be compelled either to buy back the $800,000 worth of bonds held by Mr. Ziegler, Mr. Woodford, and others, or, if the action for foreclosure is supported, submit to a sale of the road.

"Information obtained yesterday was that Mr. Ziegler and the other bondholders will insist on receiving face value for their bonds and $200,000 back interest, which means that the company will be mulcted of $1,000,000.

"It is supposed Mr. Yerkes, President Louderback, and the other owners of the Lake Street Elevated will pay the price asked rather than have the road sold."

TWELFTH REGIMENT SHOOTING.

Pistol practice was held last night by the field and staff of the Twelfth Regiment. Thirteen officers participated, nine of them qualifying as marksmen. Lieut. Downs, with a total of 44, made the best score of the evening. Last night being drill night at the armory, the first competition for the Leonard Cup, in which teams of seven men from the various companies will meet, was postponed until next Monday night. Following are the scores:

	50 Yds.	75 Yds.	Total.
Col. Dyer	15	31
Lieut. Col. Selter	23	19	42
Major Ward	16	17	33
Major Bueck	20	19	39
Capt. Thomas	20	16	36
Capt. Stebbins	18	16	34
Lieut. Smith	15	16	31
Lieut. Raborg	16	15	31
Lieut. Downs	22	22	44

JILTED WOMAN TAKES POISON.

Unhappy over the approaching marriage to another of the man to whom she had once been engaged, Amelia Senigelska, thirty-eight years old, committed suicide by taking strychnine Sunday night. She was found dead in bed yesterday morning by her sister, Mrs. Anna Papsky of 45½ Humboldt Street, Brooklyn, with whom she had lived.

Amelia Senigelska had come to this country a year ago from Poland to marry Boniface Commisky, a tailor, twenty-six years old, who now lives at Wythe Avenue and North Sixth Street. Commisky was boarding with Mrs. Papsky at that time, and had fallen in love with a picture of Miss Senigelska which hung in the Papsky home. He begged Mrs. Papsky to send for her sister, saying that he would marry her as soon as she arrived in America.

Mrs. Papsky finally wrote to her sister as Commisky desired and the girl immediately gave up a Government clerkship in Poland to come to America. Commisky met her at the pier. He wanted the marriage to take place at once. Miss Senigelska, however, feared that the disparity in their ages might be a cause of regret to him after their marriage, and insisted on waiting until sure of his love.

She put him off from time to time until nearly a year had gone by. Finally Commisky grew tired of waiting. Sunday he announced his engagement to another woman who was willing to marry him at once.

The woman who had come from Poland in response to his letter said nothing. Sunday afternoon she went for a long walk alone. To her sister, who found her gazing at her portrait on the wall before retiring Sunday night, she said: "That picture has caused me much unhappiness, my dear."

American Marries a Japanese.

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 22.—Gov. Nash has received word from Korea that his stepson, David W. Deshler, has married a Japanese lady of high rank. David Deshler, who is about twenty-eight years old, went to Yokohama about five years ago and embarked in the banking business. He has visited his old home two or three times, and on the occasion of his last visit exhibited a photograph of his Japanese sweetheart. He went to Korea from Japan. None of the cablegrams give the wife's name. Mr. Deshler is a nephew of W. G. Deshler.

$60,000 Fire in Providence.

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 22.—Fire in the Old Star Building, at Dyer and Custom House Streets, to-night did damage roughly estimated at $60,000, mostly covered by insurance. Snow & Farnham, printers, lost $20,000, and the rest is divided between the Providence Blank Book Company, the Providence Tube Company, and the Butler Exchange Company. The last-named company owned the building.

Danger of a Water Famine Over.

All danger of a water famine in Brooklyn for the Winter, at least, it is believed, has been averted. The rain of Friday and Saturday has had the effect of filling up the ponds and streams of Long Island, and the amount of water in storage at Hempstead and elsewhere has greatly increased. The water in reserve at Ridgewood and Mount Prospect yesterday was nearly 200,000,000 gallons.

CHICKERINGS' NEW MOVE.

Agency for Their Pianos Transferred to Mr Wanamaker and Old Hall to be Closed.

It is announced that on or before May 1 the salesroom which has been maintained for many years by Chickering & Sons at Fifth Avenue and Eighteenth Street will be closed, and the agency for the Chickering pianos in this city transferred to John Wanamaker. The latter has had charge of the Philadelphia agency of that company for about a year and a half, and the manufacturers have found the arrangement beneficial to their trade, it is stated.

In recent years there has been a general tendency on the part of piano concerns to place their goods on sale in department stores and do away with the agencies they formerly maintained in various cities. It is not unlikely that Chickering & Sons will make the same arrangement in other cities that they have done in New York and Philadelphia. Mr. Wanamaker has acquired no interest in the Chickering business further than that of agent, and the corporation of Chickering & Sons will continue its business as heretofore, the headquarters and factory of the company being located in Boston.

The company was founded in Boston in 1823 by Jonas Chickering, and was continued by his three sons, Thomas, Charles F., and George H. Chickering, all of whom are now dead, having left no male descendants. Thomas and George H. were in charge of the business at Boston. Thomas died some time before George H., whose death occurred in November last. The other brother, Charles F., came to this city about fifty years ago, and established the branch house, which continued under his management until his death about ten years ago.

Upon the death of George H. Chickering, who was President of the company, Charles H. W. Foster, who had been Secretary, became President. George L. Nichols, a lawyer, of the firm of Masten & Nichols at 49 Wall Street, is Vice President, and Charles H. Eddy Treasurer of the company.

The Chickering Company began business in this city on Broadway, and afterward moved to Fourteenth Street. Twenty-five years ago Chickering Hall was built, at Fifth Avenue and Eighteenth Street. The building was erected on land owned by the Sidney Mason estate, under a lease of twenty-five years, which expires May 1 next.

It was said yesterday at the Chickering warerooms that one reason for transferring the agency to the Wanamaker store was that the lease of the land upon which Chickering Hall stands could not be renewed, and it would have been necessary, in any event, to move to some other location. Chickering Hall, with the land upon which it stands, will revert to the Mason estate. It is reported that within a short time the hall will be torn down and a large office building erected on its site, there being a great demand in that locality for offices and studios. This report could not be confirmed, as J. Herbert Carpenter, the agent of the Mason estate, was absent from the city.

The building, as a place of amusement, is less valuable than it was formerly. Since the erection of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel many of the smaller entertainments, such as were formerly given in Chickering Hall, have been given in that hotel. Entertainments of a more popular character have found a home in Carnegie Hall.

Chickering Hall was opened to the public on Monday, Nov. 15, 1875, Von Bulow, the celebrated pianist, giving a recital. Since that time many of the most celebrated musicians of the last quarter of the century have appeared there.

KILLED IN BIG BUILDING.

Fall or Blow Caused Warren's Fractured Skull, Coroner's Physician Says—Son Asks for Valuables.

The body of Peter Warren, sixty years old, an ironworker employed on the new eight-story building, 145 and 147 Fifth Avenue, was found lying on the second floor of the structure yesterday afternoon by William Bisslein of 2,216 Fifth Avenue, the Superintendent. Warren's skull was crushed.

The man had been working on the top floor all morning with the rest of the employes, and at noon was left on that floor alone, the others going to lunch. When it was time to resume work Warren was not seen. Shortly before 4 o'clock Superintendent Bisslein investigated and found the body of the man.

The police of the West Thirtieth Street station were notified and an investigation was made. The police believe that the man fell through a hatchway from the eighth floor to the place where he was found. The men were on the best of terms, and there was no cause for any trouble among them.

Coroner's Physician Williams viewed the body. He said death was caused by the fractured skull. A blow with a blunt instrument or a fall could have caused the fracture, he said. He gave a permit for the removal of the body.

Frederick Warren, the dead man's son, visited the West Thirtieth Street Police Station soon after 9 o'clock last night and asked to be shown his father's body. After he had seen it, he asked Sergt. Conboy where the valuables were. The Sergeant replied that no valuables had been found.

Warren said that his father usually carried with him from $50 to $100 and sometimes more. He also carried a gold watch.

The building in which the man was killed is being erected by Park & Tilford.

COL. A. C. SMITH RETIRED.

Major Case to Take Charge of the Twenty-third Temporarily.

The application of Col. Alexis C. Smith of the Twenty-third Regiment, Brooklyn, to be placed on the retired list has been granted. An order relieving him from the command of the regiment has been received from the Adjutant General's office in Albany. Col. Smith has served as a commissioned officer in the regiment for nineteen years.

Pending the selection of a successor to Col. Smith, Major David K. Case, the ranking field officer, will be in command of the regiment. Col. William Cary Sanger is said to be the choice of the officers for the Colonelcy. He intends to go abroad, it is said, however, and may not care to take the command.

American Railway Ties in China.

SEATTLE, Washington, Jan. 22.—A copy of The Japan Herald received here to-day says that an American company is supplying ties on a wholesale scale for the North China Railway. The price of the American tie is 93 cents, all sen delivered at North China ports, about 20 sen cheaper than Japanese goods.

Cowperthwaits' Employes' Ball.

The final arrangements for the ball of the employes of Cowperthwait & Sons have been completed. It will be held on Wednesday evening at Arlington Hall. The grand march will be led at 10 o'clock P. M. by Walter H. Higgins, Floor Manager, and Mrs. Higgins.

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Another Lot in the Orphan Asylum Block Sold—Other Dealings—No Business at Auction.

The Barney-Sheldon syndicate has sold, through Collins & Collins, to William H. S. Wood, the lot, 20 by 100.5, on the south side of Fifty-second Street, 100 feet west of Madison Avenue, adjoining the lot recently sold to Robert Olyphant. Henry Lane Eno is the buyer of the thirty-foot lot on the Fifty-first Street side of the orphan asylum block, 192.6 feet east of Fifth Avenue. Charles T. Barney said yesterday that about fourteen out of the syndicate's original purchase of twenty-six lots had been resold. There remain five lots on the Fifth Avenue front, with two adjoining lots on Fifty-second Street, a single lot at the easterly end of the Fifty-second Street front, and about five lots on Fifty-first Street.

Warren & Skillin have sold to a client, for about $50,000, the two five-story flats, with stores, 2,899 and 2,901 Eighth Avenue.

Edward P. Hamilton & Co. have sold for Augustus C. Bechstein the building 300 West Street, now occupied by the Seaman's Christian Association.

The three-story brownstone-front dwelling 48 East One Hundred and Thirty-third Street, 20 by 100, which was offered at auction last week by William M. Ryan, has been sold at private sale. The property belonged to the Van Reed estate.

Peter Axelrad has sold for J. Solomon to B. Auerbach the five-story flat 429 East Eighty-first Street.

There were no sales at auction scheduled for yesterday.

To-day's Auction Sales.

The following sales at auction are down for to-day at 111 Broadway:

By James L. Wells, foreclosure sale, Robert O'Byrne, referee, 3,780 and 3,782 Vanderbilt Avenue East, 280 feet south of One Hundred and Seventy-first Street, 20 and 15, respectively, by 150.5, two three-story frame flats. Due on judgment, on 3,760, $4,901; on 3,782, $3,791.

By James L. Wells, public auction sale, 100 and 102 East One Hundred and Tenth Street, southeast corner of Park Avenue, 39.9½ by 75, two four-story brick and brownstone flats, with stores. To be sold as one parcel, subject to a mortgage for $16,000.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., foreclosure sale, Charles S. Davison, referee, 55 to 61 East One Hundred and Eighteenth Street, north side, 90 feet east of Madison Avenue, 120 by 100.11, four five-story brick flats. Due on judgment, $14,971; subject to another mortgage for $28,000.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., foreclosure sale, Frederick G. Wetterau, referee, 19 Leroy Street, north side, about 325 feet west of Bleecker Street, five-story brick tenement, with three-story brick tenement at the rear. Due on judgment, $5,672.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., foreclosure sale, Francis V. S. Oliver, referee, 26 East One Hundred and Twenty-ninth Street, south side, 310 feet east of Fifth Avenue, 25 by 99.11, three-story frame dwelling. Due on judgment, $3,828.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., foreclosure sale, Emanuel S. Cohn, referee, Lot 7 on the map of the Kingsland estate at Morris Heights, being on the northeast side of Tremont Avenue, 37.6 by 138.10 and irregular. Due on judgment, $4,313.

THE BUILDING DEPARTMENT.

List of Plans Filed for New Structures and Alterations.

Nos. 637 and 639 Water Street, for a three-story brick factory, 71.7 by 67; J. Kramer of 274 Henry Street, owner; Charles Rentz, architect; cost, $17,000.

Hunt's Point Road, northeast corner of Lafayette Avenue, for a two and one-half-story frame dwelling, 37 by 37; J. A. Dunn of 206 Broadway, owner; W. J. King, architect; cost, $6,000.

Alterations.

No. 252 Sixth Avenue, to a two-story brick store and offices; Henry Nassoit of 107 West Sixteenth Street, owner; E. W. Gries, architect; cost, $1,800.

Nos. 128 and 130 Bleecker Street, to a five-story brick factory; Margaret Zborowski of 16 Exchange Place, owner; F. W. Maher, architect; cost, $125.

Nos. 208 and 210 Wooster Street, to a five-story brick factory; H. L. Morris, owner; F. W. Maher of 150 Nassau Street, architect; cost, $150.

Nos. 33 and 33½ Division Street, to a three-story brick store and dwelling; Marie Thompson, premises, owner; M. Bernstein, architect; cost, $500.

First Avenue, southeast corner of Twenty-third Street, to two five-story brick tenements, with stores; M. H. Robinson, Plainfield, N. J., owner; H. W. Nelson of 314 East Twenty-first Street, architect; cost, $250.

Recorded Real Estate Transfers.

Monday, Jan. 22.

AMSTERDAM AV, n e corner of 95th St, 72.11x40.4; David Christie to Alice L. Christie $1

BEACH AV, w s, 142.7 ft s of 156th St, 75x86.5x78.5x54.7; Joseph Malo and another to Pietro Anzolone 48,750

BROAD ST, 111 and 23 Front St; Edward B. Teichman and others to the Teichman & Potter Company 80,000

BROADWAY, e s, 25.6 ft s of 95th St, 24.9x100; Maurice Sichel to Edward Mitchell 29,250

BROOK AV, s e corner of 165th St, 36.7x103.8x34.6x105.11; Amy Quigley to Annie M. Durning 100

CHAMBERS ST, 71 and 73, 54.11x irregular; Kate G. Moore to N. J. Phillips.. 25,000

COGAN'S ALLEY, or Lane, Riverdale, n e corner of land of Mary Tracey, 104.4 ft e of Riverdale Av, 22.3x100x24x98; James I. Mulligan and another, individually and as executors, to Thomas F. Mulligan 1

FREDERICK ST, e s, 100 ft n of Jacob St, 50x87.6; John M. Stoddard, referee, to Philip Stacom 3,140

HIGH BRIDGE ROAD, n w s, 87.8 ft s w of King's Bridge Road, runs s w 44.11x s w 5x n w 100.7x n e 1.8x n e 42.3x s e 106.6; William S. Buchanan to James E. Nichols, trustee 1

JEROME AV, s e s, 200 ft n of Walnut St, 61.7x14.2x50x50.11; Jacob Gruber and others to Charlton W. Grane 800

LEROY ST, 47, 25x90; Helene Vaubel to Frances Marx 1

LEWIS ST, s w corner of 6th St, 20.4x 65x irregular; Jacob Bier to Richard A. and John J. Heatherton 160

MADISON AV, 2,093, 25x96; William S. Buchanan to James E. Nichols, trustee.. 1

MARION AV, s, Clarence Rivers St, both proposed, 50x125x irregular; James H. Young to Margaret Young 1

MONROE ST, n s, 175 ft w of Jackson St, 25x½ block; Monroe St, n s, 200.8 ft w of Jackson St, 25.1x½ block; Monroe St, n s, 253.5x½ block; Joseph Freedman to Jonas Freedman 1,000

NELSON AV, n s, 50 ft e of Seton Av, 25x100; Land Company "C" of Edenwald to Helene Rassmussen 400

NELSON AV, n s, 25 ft e of Seton Av, 25x100; Land Company "C" of Edenwald to Sophie F. Jensen 400

OLIVER ST, 74, e s, 20.2x100.6x25.3x100.6; Flora Mirks to Thomas Farese 1

PLEASANT AV, w s, 40 ft s from n of Lot 32, map No. 1 of Olinville, 27.6x 100; George Kitts to Elizabeth C. O'Brien 2,700

ROGERS PLACE, w s, 233.9 ft n of Westchester Road, or Av, 25x74; Peter Ewing and others to William Laing 980

RUTGERS ST, n e corner of Henry St, 25x104.6; Michael Fay and others to David and Joseph Ravitch 73,230

TELLER AV, n w s, 533.10 ft n e of 169th St, 50x100; Ephraim B. Levy to Mary A. Kendrick 100

TREMONT AV, n e s, 43.3 ft w of Daly Av, 36.5x98x irregular; Leopold Hutter and wife to George E. Poulson 100

WEST ST, e s, Lot 55, map of 9th Ward Corporations, City of New York, 22.3x 47.3x21.5x83.2; Augustus C. Bechstein to Dorman T. Warren 1

ZULETTE AV, n s, 6 of Mapes Av, 75x100; Lots 184, 186, and 192, map of lots of W. A. and H. C. Mapes; Elizabeth W. Gwynne to George Bonavia 9,450

3D AV, n e corner of Grove St, 50x85; Marie B. Denicke, individually and as executrix, to Isaiah Honigman 19,000

8TH AV, 2,899 and 2,901, w s, 49.11x100; Francis M. Marks and wife to Kate G. Moore 100

5?TH ST, s s, 114.9 ft w of Avenue C, 24.4x 96.2; Franz Schilp to Carrie Finlowitz.. 26,500

14TH ST, n s, 130.6 ft w of Avenue D, 50.2x100.8, Unionport; Michael Darcy to Mary C. Law ..... Exchange

19TH ST, s s, Lot 35, map of 82 lots, 18th and 19th Sts, Wakefield, 25x114; Martin J. Keogh to Thomas Gavin 350

24TH ST, s s, 60 ft w of 4th Av, 20x49.4; Jefferson M. Levy to Nathaniel R. Norton 25,250

40TH ST, 316 East, 25x98.9; John Schweitzer to Christian Bohm 18,000

49TH ST, n s, 205.8 ft w of 9th Av, 19.4x 100.5; James N. Emlich, as executor, to Peter J. McGovern 7,150

85TH ST, n s, 135.7 ft w of Park Av, 25x 102.2; and title to strip 0.7x102.2, adjoining; Dorothea T. S. Pope and others, executors, &c., to Charles Gulden 12,000

85TH ST, n s, 135.7 ft w of Park Av, 25x 102.2; and title to strip, 0.7x102.2, adjoining; Dorothea T. S. Pope and others, heirs, &c., to Charles Gulden, quit claim.

85TH ST, n s, 115.8 ft w of Park Av, 19.7. x102.2; William Lesser to Thercse Neiman, correction deed 100

100TH ST, n s, 175 ft e of Amsterdam Av, 25x100.11; Sarah F. and George Kraemer to Thomas Cunningham 1

117TH ST, 244 East, 25x100.11; C. Francluyn Reglid to John Shea and wife 9,000

117TH ST, n s, 275 ft e of 8th Av, 50x 100.11; Mary E. Towle to John J. Timmins 19,000

120TH ST, 317 West, 16.8x99.11; Franklyn Paddock, referee, to Daniel S. Miller 10,000

133D ST, s s, 380 ft w of Amsterdam Av, 17.6x99.11; Flora Glassman and another to Herman Scheideberg 1

138TH ST, n s, 208 ft w of Boulevard, 16.6x99.11; George J. Law to Robert B. Upham 1

Recorded Leases.

BULL, Charles H., to Christian Muhl; Courtlandt Av, 525, 5 years $900

PRICHARD, Jessie, to Lena Schultz and another; 86th St, 68 East, 1 year..... 3,000

RATNER, Lottie, to George A. Gortikow; Pike St, n e corner of Monroe St, 5 years ..... $900 to 1,020

SEEVERS, A. H., to Sigmund Petschek; 125th St, 80 East, 5 years..... $900 to 1,200

TRUSTEES OF SAILOR SNUG HARBOR to Mary A. Walter, Clinton Place, s s, 75.2 ft e of University Place, 25.1x109.10 x25x108.2, 21 years 825

Recorded Mortgages.

BERTINE, Edward D., to Theodore M. Bertine; 136th St, s s, 150 ft e of Willis Av, demand 1,000

BONAVIA, George, to Abigail J. Purdy; Lot 184, on Zulett Av, s s, e of Mapes Av, 3 years 2,500

BONAVIA, George, to Abigail J. Purdy; Lot 186, map of W. A. and H. C. Mapes, 3 years 2,500

BONAVIA, George, to Abigail J. Purdy; Lot 192, map of W. A. and H. C. Mapes, 3 years 2,500

BONAVIA, George, to James V. Lawrence and another; Lots 184, 186, and 192, map of W. A. and H. C. Mapes, 1 year 1,675

BRAND, Max, to William Dann, King's Bridge Road; widened, s w corner of 192d St, or Primrose St, extends to Valentine Av and 192d St, 3 years 6,000

BURR, Cornelia K. and others, to Jeremiah J. Campion; 30th St, 185.9 ft e of 9th Av, 1 year 2,000

DONNELLY, Kate, to Title Guarantee and Trust Company; 519 West 158th St, 1 year 1,000

DREYER, Louisa, to E. and M. Schaefer Brewing Company; 109th St, 259 West, demand 2,000

FARESE, Thomas, to Henry De F. and Alice D. Weekes, 74 Oliver St, installments 23,000

FAY, Michael, and others to Bertha Tim; 7 Hester St, 5 years 32,500

FAY, Michael, and others to Jennie E. Schaefer and another; 5 Hester St, 5 years 32,500

FAY, Michael, and others to John A. McCarthy and others, trustees; 5 and 7 Hester St; 7th St, s s, 250 ft w of Avenue A; Rivington St, s e corner of Lewis St; Cannon St, s e corner of Stanton St; 311 Delancey St, and 84½ Lewis St, 1 year 53,000

FISHER, George A., to Philadelphia Savings Fund Society of Philadelphia, Penn.; 10th Av, n e corner of 54th St, 5 years.. 35,000

FIWLOWITZ, Carrie, to Franz Schilp; 5th St, s s, 114.9 ft w of Avenue C, 4 years.. 9,000

FREEDMAN, Joseph, and wife to David Fainberg; Monroe St, n s, 175, 200.8, and 253 ft w of Jackson St, demand.... 19,000

GRIESLER, Samuel and Wife, to Simon Cohn; 174 Canal St, 3 years..... 6,000

GULDNER, Philip F., to George Ehret; 1,409 Broadway, saloon lease, demand... 7,600

HECHT, Ferdinand, and Simon Uhlfelder to United States Trust Company, executor, &c.; Crotona Av, s e corner of 170th St, due as per obligation 4,000

HERTER, Rosamond, to John J. Schmidt; 54th St, n s, 167 ft e of Lexington Av, 2 years 5,000

HONIGMAN, Isaiah, to Mary B. Denicke; 3d Av, n e corner of Grove St, 3 years.. 15,000

JOHNSON, Serena, to W. Saunders Davies; Grove Av, e s, 320.6 ft s of Wall St, 3 years 3,000

KENDRICK, Mary A., to Isaac S. Clark; Teller Av, n w s, 538.10 ft n e of 169th St, demand 3,500

MAIO, Joseph, and Vito Marcantonio to Austin B. Fletcher and another, trustees, &c.; Beach Av, w s, 142.7 ft s of 156th St, 3 years 9,500

MAIO, Joseph, and Vito Marcantonio to Austin B. Fletcher and another, trustees, &c.; Beach Av, w s, 142.7 ft s of 156th St, 3 years 11,000

MAIO, Joseph, and Vito Marcantonio to Austin B. Fletcher and another, trustees, &c.; Beach Av, w s, 192.7 ft s of 156th St, 3 years 12,000

MAIO, Joseph, and Vito Marcantonio to T. Channon Press; Beach Av, w s, 142.7 ft s of 156th St, demand 1,050

MAIO, Joseph, and Vito Marcantonio to George B. Christman and another; Beach Av, w s, 142.7 ft s of 156th St, demand. 2,000

MUNDAY, Peter, to George W. Van Slyck; Grand Av, n e corner of Prospect Av, 2 years 1,500

OGDEN, Alice L., to Adolph M. Bendheim; 865 West 135th St, 1 year..... 1,500

OGDEN, Alice L., to David McClure and another, trustees; 865 West 135th St, 3 years 10,500

O'BRIEN, Elizabeth C. and John, to Grace L. Hoffman; Pleasant Av, w s, 40 ft s from n s of Lot 52, map No. 1 of Olinville, 3 years 2,000

PHILIPS, Naphtali J., to American Mortgage Company; Batavia Av, n s, at n e s of New Chambers St, 1 year.... 15,000

PHILIPS, Naphtali J., to American Mortgage Company; Batavia Av, n s, at n e s of New Chambers St, 1 year.... 2,000

PIERSOL, George W., to New York Savings Bank; 115th St, n s, 200 ft e of 8th Av, 3 years 14,000

RENNER, Otto and wife, to Michael and Norah Moloney; 170 East 122d St, 5 years 16,000

SCHOLZ, Franziska, to Bowery Savings Bank; 1,411 Park Av, 2 years..... 8,000

SEILER, Rosie, to Mollie Arnold; 3d St, n s, 189 ft e of Avenue C, demand..... 1,000

SHEA, John, and wife to William A. Hanisch; 244 East 117th St, 3 years..... 7,000

SMITH, John, to Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank; 1,085 Park Av, 1 year..... 16,000

SMITH, John, to Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank; 1,087 Park Av, 1 year..... 16,000

SMITH, John, to New York Security and Trust Company; 1,085 Park Av, 5 years. 4,000

SMITH, John, to New York Security and Trust Company; 1,087 Park Av, 5 years. 4,000

STACOM, Philip, to Andrew J. Dalton; Frederick St, e s, 100 ft n of Jacob St, ½ year 2,500

TIMMINS, John J., to Margaret T. Martin; 117th St, n s, 325 ft e of 8th Av, 3 years 40,000

TURNEY, Lucy, to Newbury D. Lawton; Grove Av, e s, 353.10 ft s of Wall St, 1 year 300

TURNEY, Lucy, to Charles F. Nield; Grove Av, e s, 353.10 ft s of Wall St, 3 years 3,200

ZIMMERMANN, George F., to George Ehret; 20 East 13th St, saloon lease, demand 2,500

Assignments of Mortgages.

BAKER, Seward, to William J. Arnow, guardian, &c. 646

BOYD, Mary E., to Eleanor B. Newborn, rerecorded 1,506

BROCK, Ross, to William F. Bantje..... 2,150

BROWN, Sarah M., to Mary F. Myers.... $135

DAVIS, Lemuel W., as administrator, to Caroline Schade 1,374

DE FOREST, James G., trustee, to the Orphan Asylum Society of the City of New York 12,000

ELSWORTH, Ada S., to J. Allen Townsend 12,000

HARTFIELD, William, to Harris D. Colt and another 2,000

LAWTON, Newbury D., to Joseph L. Hewlett 3,000

McDOWELL, Thomas P., to Peter McDowell, assigns two mortgages..... 100

ROUSE, Callman to Nathan Willinsky... Nom.

ROSENBLUM, Jacob C., to Max S. and Jacob B. Grifenhagen 500

ROSENBLUM, Jacob C., to Max S. and Jacob B. Grifenhagen 500

SILVERMAN, Abraham, to Rose Gilman.

TITLE GUARANTEE AND TRUST COMPANY to William C. Wood 9,000

Mechanics' Liens.

BEACH AV, w s, 142.6 ft s of 156th St, 75x96.6; Thompson & Cammack against Joseph Malo and Vito Marcantonio, owners and contractors $416

BEDFORD ST, 72 and 74; White, Van Glahn & Co. against Louis A. Jaffer and Gottlieb M. Karpas, owners and contractors 123

BLEECKER ST, s e corner of Jones St, 27x80; Herman Richter & Son against Mordecai S. Kauffman and Amelia Glass, owners and contractors 1,020

CHERRY ST, 196; Raphael Lagosta against George Kahn and Hyman Rosenbloom, owners and contractors..... 4,080

FRONT ST, 178; Westinghouse, Church, Kerr & Co. against Daniel Winant, owner; Rassbach Engineering Company, contractor 694

MADISON ST, 133 to 137; Bornstein Brothers against Morris Abelman, owner and contractor 510

MADISON ST, 270 to 276; Joseph and John Ruff against Joseph Brass and Louis Frank, owners and contractors..... 1,800

MANHATTAN AV, n s, extends from 117th to 118th St, 196x120x—x70; John R. Smith against William G. Van Riper, owner; the Hyne Construction Company, contractor 9,750

MORRIS AV, n e corner of 150th St, 43x 70; Thomas O'Brien against William P. Kirk, owner; the Collins Building and Construction Company, owner and contractor 50

WATER ST, 161 and 163; Archibald Campbell against Lichtenstein Brothers, owners; Robert G. Kenny, contractor... 5,027

5TH AV, w s, 49.11 ft s of 133d St, 50x 110; Joseph E. Gallagher against Thomas J. Jenkins, owner and contractor..... 2,044

7TH AV, n e corner of 138th St, 190.10x 175; John J. McCarthy against Dorothea Welbel, owner; Peter Muller, lessee; Michael J. Donelan, contractor..... 585

27TH ST, 33 and 35 East; Candee & Smith against R. H. Spalding, owner; Thomas Brennan, contractor..... 492

108TH ST, n s, 100 ft w of Central Park West, 100x100; 25 ft w of 9th Av, 19.4x 100.5; James N. Emlich, as executor, to Finagan Brothers, contractors..... 200

127TH ST, n s, 215 ft e of 4th Av, 44x99.11; Joseph E. Gallagher against Thomas J. Jenkins, owner and contractor..... 139

Lis Pendens.

BEACH AV, w s, 142.6 ft s of 156th St, 54.7x 78.5x96.5x75; William J. Brandt against Joseph Malo and others, (foreclosure of mechanic's lien;) attorney, B. J. Kelly.

BOND ST, 12; Grosvenor S. Hubbard, trustee, &c., against John G. Norris, (foreclosure of mortgage;) attorney, G. S. Hubbard.

DELANCEY ST, 274 East, 25x100.11; C. Franclyn Reglid to John Shea and wife.....

117TH ST, n s, 275 ft e of 8th Av, 50x 100.11; Mary E. Towle to John J. Timmins .....

120TH ST, 317 West, 16.8x99.11; Franklyn Paddock, referee, to Daniel S. Miller .....

TINTON AV, w s, 75 ft n of Cedar Place, 50x135 x irregular; Marguerite Agnew and others, by guardian, &c., against James Agnew, individually and as administrator, &c., (partition;) attorney, T. J. L. McManus.

28TH ST, n s, 350 ft w of 8th Av, 25x98.9; Mary L. Shear against John D. Quackenbos, individually and as executor, and others, (partition;) attorney, C. A. Clark.

59TH ST, 336 East; Department of Buildings against Herman Pepper, (violations of building laws;) attorney, E. Otterburg.

69TH ST, 318 East; Emily S. Arnold against Louis Lask and others, (foreclosure of mortgage;) attorneys, Crane & Lockwood.

134TH ST, s s, 436.8 ft e of Willis Av, 17.6x100; Mary E. Brann against Adolph Herzog and others, (foreclosure of mortgage;) attorney, J. H. Hildreth.

163D ST, s s, 200 ft e of Amsterdam Av, 100x 112.6; Anna N. Rogers against John H. Styles, Jr., and others, trustees, &c., (foreclosure of mortgage;) attorneys, Merrill & Rogers.

CALENDARS AND DECISIONS.

FEDERAL COURTS.

United States Supreme Court.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Supreme Court of the United States:

36—Chew Hing Lung & Co., petitioners, vs. John H. Wise, Collector of Customs for the Port of San Francisco. On a writ of certiorari to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit.—Judgment of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals reversed, with costs, and the judgment of the Circuit Court of the United States of the Northern District of California affirmed and cause remanded to the said Circuit Court. Opinion by Justice Peckham.

33—Harry W. Dickerman, trustee, &c., et al., petitioners, vs. the Northern Trust Company et al., trustees. On a writ of certiorari to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit.—Decree affirmed, with costs, and cause remanded to the Circuit Court of the United States for the Northern District of Illinois. Opinion by Justice Brown. Justice Shiras and Justice Peckham concurred in the result.

131—Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway Company, appellant, vs. William H. Tompkins et al., &c. Appeal from the Circuit Court of the United States for the District of South Dakota.—Decree reversed, with costs, and cause remanded with directions to refer the case to some competent master to report fully the facts, and to proceed upon such report as equity shall require. Opinion by Justice Brewer.

281—Robert Rae, Jr., et ux., plaintiffs in error, vs. the Homestead Loan and Guarantee Company.—In error to the Supreme Court of the State of Illinois. Dismissed for the want of jurisdiction. Opinion by Chief Justice Fuller.

The Chief Justice announced the following orders of the court:

176—Edward B. Wesley, appellant, vs. Howard P. Eelb.—Leave granted William A. Barber to file brief as amicus curiae.

360—Charles F. Champion, appellant, vs. John C. Ames, United States Marshal.—Motion to advance granted and cause assigned for argument Oct. 15 next.

490—Clarence Murphy, plaintiff in error, vs. The Commonwealth of Massachusetts.—Motion to advance granted and cause assigned for argument Feb. 26 after the cases already set down for that day.

494—The McCord Lumber Company and others, petitioners, vs. Frank L. Doyle.—Petition for a writ of certiorari to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit denied.

7 Original—State of Missouri, complainant, vs. The State of Illinois et al.—Motion for leave to file bill of complaint granted and subpoena

PIE FAMINE IN BROOKLYN.

Bulk of Yesterday's Supply Destroyed by the Fall of an Oven Roof.

Brooklyn was visited by a pie famine yesterday, and the Harolds and Reginalds employed in the office buildings about the Borough Hall, the high school girls, and pie eaters generally were depressed in spirit all day.

The famine was brought about by a calamity which occurred at the American Pie Bakery, at 211 Sands Street, early yesterday morning. The bakers were engaged in getting out the Monday morning edition of pie, which has a large circulation in Brooklyn. The archfiend who has charge of the mincepie bureau had just placed the product of his morning's fell labors in the big oven, and was turning away with a diabolical grin, when the arched brick roof of the oven fell in with a crash, and 3,000 pies—plum, peach, lemon, merangue, and the insidious mince—were entombed in tons of wreckage. Not a pie was saved.

Live coals thrown out upon the floor started a fire, and the bakers fled for their lives, leaving the pies to their fate. The firemen came and worked valiantly to save what pies had not already been eaten by the flames. The damage was about $700.

The news of the catastrophe spread rapidly throughout Brooklyn, and was discussed with great excitement at quick lunch counters all day.

THE COMMERCIAL WORLD

CASH PRICES FOR STAPLES.

Wheat, No. 2 red ..... .74¾
Corn, No. 2 mixed ..... .40¾
Oats, No. 2 mixed ..... .29½
Flour, Minnesota patents $3.90
Cotton, middling ..... .07⅜
Coffee, No. 7 Rio ..... .08¼
Sugar, granulated 5.15
Molasses, O. K. prime ..... .38
Beef, family 12.75
Beef hams 22.25
Tallow, prime ..... .05⅝
Pork, mess 10.75
Hogs, dressed, 160 lb ..... .00¼
Lard, prime 6.25
Iron, Northern, No. 1 foundry 23.00
Butter, Western creamery ..... .25

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—No. 3 Spring wheat, 59@60¾c; No. 2 red, 67@68c; No. 2 corn, 31½@31⅝c; No. 2 oats, 23@23½c; No. 2 white, 26¼c; No. 3 white, 25½c; No. 2 rye, 54c; No. 2 barley, 39@44c; No. 1 flaxseed and Northwest, $1.50; prime timothy seed, $2.60; mess pork, per barrel, $9.25@$10.67½; lard, per 100 lb, $5.82½@5.92½; short ribs, sides, (loose,) $5.50@$5.85; dry salted shoulders, (boxed,) 5½@5¾c; short clear sides, (boxed,) $5.92@$6.02½; whisky, distillers' finished goods, per gallon, $1.23½; sugars, cut loaf, unchanged; clover seed, contract grade, $6.35.

COTTON.—The cotton market started out with a great exhibition of strength and decidedly more spirit than has been manifested in weeks. All news seemed to be bullish news and all orders seemed to be buying orders. But as the session progressed, smaller holders became skeptical, or were unable to realize the alluring profits to be had at their beck and call. Demand from outside sources gradually tapered off and much of the initial enthusiasm was lost. By midday most of this rise had been wiped out. In the early afternoon trading, a slump at a standstill and fluctuations were limited to a bare 2 points. Still later the market picked up somewhat as to speculation and stiffened on a spurt of general demand, Liverpool leading in the latter class of business. The Liverpool stocks were alarmingly low, with crop estimates steadily suffering adverse revisions. The official dispatches from Southern markets reported advances of 1-16 to ⅛c at most points. Recent success has undoubtedly had the effect of creating most arbitrary ideas among holders in the crop centre and developments of the immediate future in that section will undoubtedly have a very important, if not a dominating influence upon the speculative markets of this country and Europe. The crop movement continues on a scale such as would justify a general whittling away of crop estimates. Predictions for a total output of 9,750,000 bales are now by no means scarce, although the same persons talked of 9,500,000 to 11,000,000 bales last Summer. The market closed steady, net unchanged to 3 points higher. Southern spot markets middling quoted, as we officially reported by wire as follows: New Orleans, 7 9-16c; Mobile, 7⅝c; Savannah, 7 7-16c; Wilmington, 7½c; Norfolk, 7 13-16c; Baltimore, 7⅞c; Augusta, 7 9-16@7⅝c; St. Louis, 7 9-16c; Memphis, 7 9-16c.

Contract prices ranged as follows:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
January	7.66	7.67	7.57	7.58@7.60
February	7.50	7.58	7.49	7.51@7.52
March	7.57	7.59	7.49	7.52@7.53
April	7.56	7.57	7.48	7.50@7.52
May	7.57	7.57	7.47	7.51@
June	7.56	7.58	7.48	7.51@7.52
July	7.57	7.59	7.50	7.52@7.53
August	7.53	7.55	7.46	7.49@7.50
September	6.95	6.95	6.89	6.90@6.91
October	6.78	6.80	6.73	6.74@6.75
November	6.74	6.74	6.70	6.70@6.71
December	6.75	6.75	6.75	6.70@6.71

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 22.—Spot cotton, irregular; sales, 12,000 bales; speculation and export, 1,000 bales. Americans, 11,000 bales; receipts, 11,000 bales; American, 11,000 bales; middling upland, 4 11-16d; futures opened strong, 2@3 points higher; closed quiet, 1@2½ points net advance. January, 4.33s; January-February, 4.28s¾; February-March, 4.24½d; March-April, 4.21s; April-May, 4.17d; May-June, 4.14d; June-July, 4.11d; July-August, 4.09½d; August-September, 4.03½d; September-October, 3.56s; October-November, 3.49s; November-December, 3.45½d. Manchester —Yarns quiet and firm; cloths, good inquiry.

FUTURES.

NEW YORK PRICES.

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
Wheat—
May	73¾	73 5-16	72¾	72¾
July	73½	73 7-16	72¾	72⅝
Corn—
May	35 11-16	39 11-16	39 5-16	39⅝

CHICAGO PRICES.

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
Wheat—
May	66¾	67⅛	66⅜	66⅝
July	67¼	68	67⅛	67⅜
Corn—
May	33⅝	33½	33	33
July	34⅛	34⅛	33 11-16	33⅝
Oats—
May	23⅝	23¾	23⅛	23½
July	23	23	22⅝	22⅝

BREADSTUFFS.—WHEAT—Stimulated by very strong cables the wheat market started out about ½c higher than Saturday, and for fully half the session was very strong with an active trade and an advance in May to 73 5-16c. During the afternoon, however, an increasing disposition to sell on the bulge caused a reaction of ½c, and the market closed unsettled at ⅝c net advance. The cables which inspired the first up turn here were in the most bullish vein in a long time, representing 16@17½d net advance at Liverpool and from 35 to 55 points rise at Paris. The latter was, perhaps, the most important consideration, as it supplemented continual advances of the last few days, following extremely bad crop reports, which private cables said were growing worse daily. From India also came reports of serious famine conditions, suggesting the idea that wheat may have to be imported in the near future. When backed by fairly good buying for European account, this news gave an impetus to bull sentiment such as it has not experienced in some weeks. The failure of foreign houses to extend their buying into local cash circles tended to overcome these strong factors late in the day, and it was this feature which started the final liquidating movement. Active speculation in markets during the early part of the session, it would undoubtedly have been even more vigorous but for the extraordinary interest manifested on all sides in the proposed gratuity amendments which were up for a vote. The visible supply was a bull influence, if anything, as it increased 21,000 bushels, whereas half a million bushels increase had been expected. Total visible supply figures were 56,563,000 bushels compared with 28,273,000 bushels last year.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 22.—Wheat, in store, No. 1 Northern, January, 62½c; May, 64c; July, 65⅜c; on track, No. 1 hard, 65¼c; No. 1 Northern, 63¾c; No. 2 Northern, 61¾c.

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 22.—Wheat, No. 1 Northern, 65¼@66c; No. 2 Northern, 63@64½c. Rye, No. 1, 55¾@56c. Barley, No. 2, 46c; sample, 36@42½c.

DULUTH, Jan. 22.—Wheat, No. 1 hard, cash, 65⅝c; No. 1 Northern, cash, 63¾c; May, 65⅞c; July, 67c; No. 2 Northern, 61¾c; No. 3 Spring, 57⅞c.

TOLEDO, Jan. 22.—Wheat—No. 2 cash, 69c bid; May, 71¼c. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 32c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 24½c. Rye—No sales.

CORN—No. 2 corn closed 40¼c for both elevator and delivered, and 40¾c, free on board, afloat. No. 2 oats closed 29½c; No. 3 oats, 29c; No. 2 white, 31¾c; No. 3 white, 31c; track, mixed, 29½@30¼c; track, white, 31½@35c; No. 2 white, clips, 32c.

RYE—No. 1 Western, 61c, free on board, afloat; No. 2 Western, 60¾c, free on board, afloat; State rye, 56@56c, cost, insurance, and freight, New York car lots.

BARLEY—Feeding, 43½@47¼c, cost, insurance, and freight, New York; malting, 50@53c, cost, insurance, and freight, New York.

FLOUR AND MEAL—Spring patents, $3.75@$4; Winter straights, $3.35@3.45; Winter patents, $3.50@3.80; Spring clears, $2.75@3; extra No. 1 Winter, $2.70@2.85; extra No. 2 Winter, $2.55@2.65; no grade, $17.75@18 per ton, to arrive. BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—$2.15. RYE FLOUR—Fair to good, $3.15@3.25; choice to fancy, $3.30@3.50. CORN MEAL—Kiln dried, $2.15@2.25, as to brand. BAG MEAL—Fine white and yellow, 85@90c; coarse, 79@82c. FEED—Spring bran, spot, $17; sacks, to arrive, 200 lb, $17.50@17.75; coarse Winter bran, $17@18.50, latter white; middling, $16@18.50; city feed, $17@17.50; hominy, chop, $15.75@16; oil meal, $26.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 22.—Flour—First patents, $3.45@3.55; second patents, $3.20@3.35; first clears, $2.60; second clears, $1.85@1.90. Bran—In bulk, $11@11.50.

PROVISIONS.—PORK—Mess, $10.50@11; family, $12.25@12.75; short clear, $11.50@12.50. BEEF—Mess, $10.50; family, $12.50@13; packet, $11@11.50; extra India mess, $21@22; beef hams, $22@22.50. DRESSED HOGS—Bacons, 5⅞c; 180-lb, 5¾c; 160-lb, 6¼c; pigs, 6¾c. CUT MEATS—Smoking bellies, 6¾@7c; 10-lb, 6¼@6½c; 12-lb, 6c; 14-lb, 5¾c; pickled shoulders, 5¾@6c; pickled hams, 9@9¼c; Western greens, 8¾@8¾c; city greens, 8¼@8¾c. TALLOW—City, 5¾c; country, 5¾@5¾c. LARD—$6.25; city lard, $5.70; refined lard, South America, $6.05; Continent, $6.45; Brazil, kegs, $7.80; compound, city, $5.87½@6; Western, $5.87½@6. STEARINE—Oleo, 7¼c; city lard stearine, 7¾c.

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 22.—Closing: Beef—Extra India mess, 81s 3d; prime mess, 75s. Pork—Prime mess, Western, 56s 3d. Hams—Short cut, 14 to 16 lb, 45s. Bacon—Cumberland cut, 28 to 30 lb, 33s; short rib, 18 to 22 lb, 33s 6d; long clear middles, light, 30 to 35 lb, 34s; long clear middles, heavy, 35 to 40 lb, 33s 6d; short clear backs, 16 to 18 lb, 33s; clear bellies, 14 to 16 lb, 39s. Shoulders—Square, 12 to 14 lb, 33s 6d. Lard—Prime Western, in tierces, 30s 6d; American, refined, in pails, 32s. Butter nominal. Cheese—American, finest white, 57s 6d; American, finest colored, 59s. Tallow—Prime city, 27s 6d; American, refined, in pails, 27s 9d. Cottonseed oil—Hull refined, February-April, 21s 3d. Turpentine—Spirits, 39s 6d. Resin—Common, 4s 6d. Petroleum—Refined, 7⅞d. Linseed oil, 24s.

COFFEE.—Outside speculation seems to have been withdrawn from Brazil coffee futures. Consumers on the recent advance are reported to have stocked up pretty well. The demand, as a whole, is materially less active than it has been at any time since the late advance set in. It is asserted that the situation is menaced by speculative long interests awaiting a favorable opportunity for liquidation. The market opened yesterday barely steady, at unchanged prices to a decline of 10 points. Throughout the session business was slow. Sales on the opening call were but 2,500 bags. The total sales were only 23,750 bags. In the afternoon the market ruled active, with unloading as the leading feature. Weakness was pronounced. At the close the market was barely steady in tone, 15@25 points net lower.

Contract prices ranged as follows:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
January				6.80@6.90
February	7.00	7.00	7.00	6.85@6.90
March	6.95	6.95	6.90	6.90@6.95
April	7.05	7.05	7.05	6.95@7.00
May	7.20	7.20	7.05	7.00@7.05
June				7.05@7.10
July	7.25	7.30	7.15	7.10@7.15
August				7.15@7.25
September	7.40	7.40	7.25	7.25@7.30
October	7.30	7.35	7.25	7.25@7.30
November	7.25	7.25	7.25	7.25@7.30
December	7.50	7.50	7.40	7.35@7.40

FOREIGN MARKETS.—Santos—Good average Santos, 9$200; receipts, 13,000 bags; stock, 55,000 bags. Hamburg—Market opened unchanged; at 2:30 P. M., ¼ pfennig net higher; sales, 23,000 bags. Havre—Market opened irregular, ⅛@¼f higher; at 12 m., unchanged; at 3 P. M., irregular; December unchanged, other months ¼f higher; at 5:30 P. M., ¼f lower; sales, 37,000 bags. January, 44.00; February, 44.00; March, 44.50; April, 45.00; May, 45.25; June, 45.50; July, 45.75; August, 46.25; September, 46.50; October, 46.75; November, 47.00; December, 47.25. Rio—No cable; receipts, 17,000 bags.

SUGAR.—Centrifugal, 4⅝c; muscovado, 3 15-16c; molasses, 3 11-16c.

METALS.—Iron, Northern, No. 1 foundry, $23; iron, Southern, No. 2 soft, $20.75; steel rails, $38; pig iron warrants, nominal; lake copper, ingot, $16.50@17; Exchange, $16.25; lead, $4.72½; spelter, $4.65; brokers' price for lead, $4.72½, and for spelter, $4.65.

OILS.—Petroleum, barrels, $9.90, and in bulk, $7.25; Philadelphia, barrels, $9.85, and in bulk, $7.20; refined, cases, New York, $11; deodorized naphtha, $11.15. Cottonseed Oil—Prime, crude, barrels, 33c; prime Summer yellow, 36½c; off Summer yellow, nominal; butter grades, 37@38c; prime white, 38@39c; prime Winter yellow, 38@39c. Linseed—American, raw, 53@54c; American, boiled, 56@56c; Calcutta, raw, 65c; lard oil, 50c.

NAVAL STORES.—Tar, regulars, $1.85; tar oil, barrels, $3.90. Spirits of turpentine, 53@53¼c. Resin—Common to good, strained, $1.62½@$1.65; E, $1.70; F, $1.75; G, $1.80; H, $1.95; I, $2.05; K, $2.20; M, $2.50; N, $3; W G, $3.60; W W, $4.10.

WILMINGTON, Jan. 22.—Spirits of turpentine, 50¼@51c. Resin, $1.20@$1.25. Crude turpentine, $1.60@$1.90. Tar, $1.25.

SAVANNAH, Jan. 22.—Spirits of turpentine, 50¼c; resin, unchanged.

CHARLESTON, Jan. 22.—Turpentine, 50c. Resin unchanged.

LIVE STOCK.—BEEVES—Steers, $4.80@$5.55; stags and oxen, $3.15@3.85; bulls, $2.75@$4.50; cows, $2@$4. CALVES—Veals, $5@$8.50; little calves, $4@$4.50; barnyard stock, $2.50@$3.62½; city dressed veals, 9@12¼c per lb. SHEEP AND LAMBS—Sheep, $3.25@$3.15; culls, $3; lambs $6@$6.90; Canada lambs, $6@$6.65; culls, $4.50@$5.50. HOGS—$4.85@$5; Western pigs, $4.70@$4.85; State pigs, $4.90@$5.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

New York City.

MECHANICAL ORGUINETTE COMPANY.—Deputy Sheriff Roberts received an execution from Kings County yesterday against the Mechanical Orguinette Company for $25,389 in favor of Annie E. Wilson, as administratrix of Henry Wilson. No address was given to the Sheriff. The company formerly had an office in this city. It is said the claim is for royalties

Out of Town.

CHARLES H. BOHANNAN.—Charles H. Bohannan of Chicago filed a petition in bankruptcy yesterday. His indebtedness is $74,000, contracted when he was in the carriage manufacturing business.

A. DEICHES.—A. Deiches of Norfolk, Va., surviving partner of the firm of Heyman & Co., and Heyman & Deiches of Lincoln, Neb., yesterday filed a petition in bankruptcy. Liabilities, $83,160; assets none.

B. L. DUKE.—Deputy Sheriff Murray has received an attachment for $923 against Brody L. Duke of Durham, N. C., in favor of J. S. Bache & Co. of this city for balance due on stock transactions to June 25, 1898. The attachment was served on the American Tobacco Company.

LYONS POTTERY.—The Lyons Pottery of Lyons, N. Y., one of the oldest in the State, has been closed by Sheriff Wheeler, under chattel mortgages held by the Lyons National Bank. The pottery has an average annual output of 750,000 gallons of stoneware, and was established in 1825 by N. Clark & Co. It was purchased by Jacob Fisher, the present owner, in 1878, and was rebuilt in 1889. The Lyons National Bank has mortgages covering the entire plant, machinery and stock, besides which there are unsatisfied judgments held by employes for wages.

JOHN P. SQUIRE & CO.—Horatio G. Curtis, H. L. Burrage, and A. L. Ripley, as a committee of creditors of the John P. Squire Corporation of Boston, have issued a report, in which they say, in part: "The business of John P. Squire & Co. has been carried on by the assignee, and it has been possible to make such reductions in expenses that not only has the property been conserved, but it has been increased; and it is believed that the figures on Feb. 1 will show a profit from operations. A considerable time must elapse before it will be possible to present a statement to the creditors. This must be done before any plan of settlement can be matured. There are also legal formalities to be complied with which will require some ninety days to carry through."

PETITIONS IN BANKRUPTCY.

A. & H. ROZINSKI.—Schedules of A. & H. Rozinski, cloak manufacturers at 371 Canal Street, show liabilities, $5,190, and assets, $755.

MARIA ULRICH.—Marie Ulrich, saleslady, residing at 11 Division Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities $2,275 and no assets. She formerly did business as Maria Seyler in the millinery line.

ISAAC WEIL.—Schedules of Isaac Weil, department store at 2,735 Third Avenue, show liabilities, $62,420, and assets, $18,790, consisting of stock, $18,352; accounts, $238, and cash, $200. There are 475 creditors.

M. E. YOUNG.—Max E. Young residing at 64 West One Hundred and Eighteenth Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities $18,201 and assets $1,075. He was of Young Bros., who dissolved in 1884.

IGNATZ SCHNITZLER.—Schedules of Ignatz Schnitzler, restaurant keeper of 19 West Houston Street, show liabilities, $14,378, and no assets except a life insurance policy of $10,000, which has been assigned for a loan of $750.

S. M. JOHNSON.—Samuel M. Johnson, dealer in tobacco and cigars at 162 Broadway, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities $8,815 and assets $3,771, consisting of stock in trade $1,500, store fixtures $1,000, book accounts $1,271.

S. D. ROBERSON.—Samuel D. Roberson, creameryman and milk dealer at Bullville, Orange County, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities $5,055 and assets $13,131, consisting of real estate $700, notes $7,795, accounts $3,840, cans, wagons, &c., $770, cash $20.

GOLDMAN, BALK & GOLDMAN.—Louis Goldman, Max Goldman, and Benjamin Balk, composing the firm of Goldman, Balk & Goldman, dealers in men's furnishing goods at 275 Eighth Avenue, have filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities $3,184 and assets $1,300 in stock and fixtures. The business was started a year ago.

MARIE HERSCHMAN.—Marie Herschman, doing business as Mary Herschman, dealer in varieties, toys, &c., at 2,238 and 2,279 Third Avenue, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities $19,738, due to 190 creditors and assets $7,393, consisting of stock in trade $6,625, fixtures $150, cash $618. She is the wife of Adolph Herschman, who started the business in 1890.

E. SMITH.—Edward Smith, residing at 501 West One Hundred and Fortieth Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities $254,519 and no assets. Of the liabilities $229,400 are secured by bond and mortgage, the largest cerditors being Julius Lippmann and others, $227,500. Of the unsecured liabilities sixty-four claims are in judgment. He was formerly of Smith & Menken, builders, who dissolved in 1890.

W. HELLER.—A petition in involuntary bankruptcy has been filed against William Heller, manufacturer of traveling bags, at 548 Broadway, by the following creditors: C. L. & R. E. Smith of Newark, $204; H. Holm & Stumpf of Harrison, N. J., $570 and A. E. & H. E. Dodge of Lynn, Mass., $427. They allege that on Jan. 6 he transferred his stock to the Chemical National Bank to give it a preference. His liabilities are reported to be $10,000. He is about eighty years old, and has been in business fifty years.

Receiver for Rents.

Justice Beekman of the Supreme Court has appointed Frederick Southack receiver of the rents of 9 to 13 Maiden Lane, on the application of Frederick Ayer, in a suit brought against Frank N. Gill to foreclose a second mortgage of $233,000, on which the interest due Dec. 12, it is alleged, has not been paid. It was also stated that the interest on the first mortgage, amounting to $12,000, due Dec. 12, was not paid. The first mortgage is for $600,000, and there is a third or creditors' mortgage for over $75,000.

Judgments.

The following judgments were filed yesterday, the first name being that of the debtor:

ASHLEY ENGINEERING COMPANY—The India Rubber and Gutta Percha Insulating Company	$887
ALLEGRO, Michael—Ludwig Bauman and others	114
BYRNE, George A.—New York Telephone Company	37
BOES, Henry J.—A. P. Dienst & Co.	91
CRAIG, Walter E.—Elizabeth Betz	419
CLARKE, James, and John Selfridge—R. Scommodau	27
DEUTSCH, Max, and Herman Seifert—H. J. Hindes	133
FRANK, Christopher—D. M. Herring and another	76
FRANKEL, Max—Betty Frankel	61
FLOYD, Steve W.—R. Mittelstaedt	30
FLOECKHER, Walter—F. G. Lloyd and others	125
GRONARD, J. M.—W. S. Schutz	90
GETZOFF, Betsy—The City of New York, Corporation	106
GRUFT, Hyman and Tone—H. B. Scharmann & Sons	1,725
GLIIESPIE, Howard R.—John E. Dietz	110
GERMAN-AMERICAN INSURANCE COMPANY of New York—John A. Falk and another	607
HEBROW, James—American Rubber Tire Company	90
HOYT, H. Wilson—New York Telephone Company	66
HENRY, John—William L. Conway	30
HERBERT, Alexander—Fannie Sachs and another	262
IMPERATO, Luigi—J. & M. Haffen	1,026
JONES, De Witt C.—I. P. Hubbard	283
KELLEHER, Nora—H. B. Claflin Company	44
KIERNAN, Frank—The Tribune Association	146
KREISER, Samuel—John C. Gabler	198
LOEWENTHAL, Daniel—The Mutual Bank	188
MOEBUS, Sophie, and Margaret Wagner—J. Hoetzel	331
MURRAY, John H.—L. L. Braumfeld and another	19
MOTLEY, Julia—S. C. Boehm and others	514
McMILLAN, Andrew—J. A. Rennie	151
McCOWAN, John G.—W. E. Thorn	931
MECHANICAL ORGUINETTE COMPANY—Annie E. Wilson, administratrix, &c.	25,389
McCONACHIE, Mary—D. Blendermann & Brother	164
McDONALD, William W. and Emma D.—R. D. Pierce	473
PELL, Samuel O.—C. J. Franklin	35
PANTON, Irene L.—Hugh Gutty	292
PHYFE, Harry E.—H. B. De Voe	573
RUBENSTEIN, Rubin—Celia Hack	39
SOLOTAR, Jacob, and Louis Salke—L. Levy	144
STEDEKER, Samuel—S. W. Johnson, as President	89
SMITH, Thomas—Peerless Rubber Manufacturing Company	27
SCHWARZ, Samuel L.—H. Silberfeld and another	421
SELAH, Howard A.—The J. Jones & Son Company	65
SCHWARZ, Olga—J. F. Schmitt	634
SMITH, Sarah—G. Hamburger	61
THE MANHATTAN RAILWAY COMPANY and New York Elevated Railroad Company—William K. Thorn and others.	346
THE MANHATTAN RAILWAY COMPANY and New York Elevated Railroad Company—Valentine Hammann	167
THIELE, Paul—Hartig Standard Gas Engine Company	390
THE CITY OF NEW YORK—John Auer	223
THE CITY OF NEW YORK—George Hillard	1,026
THE CITY OF NEW YORK—W. H. Dodd.	70
THE MANHATTAN RAILWAY COMPANY and Metropolitan Elevated Railway Company—Mary Cawley	167
THE MANHATTAN RAILWAY COMPANY and Metropolitan Elevated Railway Company—William K. Thorn and others.	526
THE MANHATTAN RAILWAY COMPANY and Metropolitan Elevated Railway Company—Jantzen and another	167
THE MANHATTAN RAILWAY COMPANY and Metropolitan Elevated Railway Company—William Pilgrim	187
WEISS, William S.—Best & Co.	127
WILLMANN, John—E. Zobel	157
WALLAS, Charles H.—Isaac Schiff and another	54
WHITEHEAD, John C.—Homer Lee	236
WOLF, Meyer—L. Levy	144
ZETSCHE, Louis—C. S. Lester	138

BANKRUPTCY NOTICES.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of WILLIAM F. BOOTHE, Bankrupt.—In Bankruptcy.

To the creditors of William F. Boothe of the County of New York, and district aforesaid, a bankrupt:

Notice is hereby given that on the 15th day of January, A. D. 1900, the said William F. Boothe was duly adjudicated bankrupt; and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at the office of Nathaniel A. Prentiss, referee in bankruptcy, 120 Broadway, New York City, on the seventh day of February, A. D. 1900, at two o'clock in the afternoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a Trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

NATHANIEL A. PRENTISS,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

January 22d, 1900.

NO. 2,047.—IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE United States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of RUSSELL P. HOYT, bankrupt.

To the creditors of Russell P. Hoyt of the City and County of New York and district aforesaid, a bankrupt:

Notice is hereby given that on the 18th day of January, A. D. 1900, the said Russell P. Hoyt was duly adjudicated bankrupt, and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at the office of Theodor Aub, Referee, No. 149 Broadway, in the City and County of New York, on the 16th day of February, A. D. 1900, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

THEODOR AUB,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

New York, January 22d, 1900.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE Southern District of New York.—ISAAC JOHNSON, bankrupt.

Notice is hereby given that Isaac Johnson, bankrupt, has filed his petition, dated January 18, 1900, praying for a discharge from all his debts in bankruptcy, and that all creditors and other persons are ordered to attend at the hearing upon said petition before the Hon. Addison Brown, United States District Judge, in the United States Court House and Post Office Building, in the City and County of New York, on Wednesday, February 7th, 1900, at 10:30 A. M., and then and there show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted, and also attend the examination of the bankrupt thereon.

NATHANIEL S. SMITH,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

New York, January 22, 1900.

NO. 2,027.—IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE United States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of SAMUEL KLANG, Bankrupt.—In Bankruptcy.

To the creditors of Samuel Klang of the County of New York, and district aforesaid, a bankrupt:

Notice is hereby given that on the 15th day of January, A. D. 1900, the said Samuel Klang was duly adjudicated bankrupt; and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at the office of John J. Townsend, referee, No. 45 Cedar Street, in New York City on the 9th day of February, A. D. 1900, at 12 o'clock noon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a Trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

JOHN J. TOWNSEND,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

January 22d, 1900.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of LUIZ KLEIN, Bankrupt.—No. 1,375.

To the creditors of Luiz Klein of the City of New York, County and State of New York, bankrupt.

Notice is hereby given that on the 18th day of August, A. D. 1899, the said Luiz Klein of the City of New York, County and State of New York, was duly adjudicated bankrupt; and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at my office, Number 346 Broadway, in the City of New York, County and State of New York, on the first day of February, A. D. 1900, at 10:30 o'clock in the forenoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a Trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

SEAMAN MILLER,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

Dated New York, January 20th, 1900.

NO. 1,965.—IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE United States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of GEORGE J. D. MAYNE, bankrupt.—In Bankruptcy.

To the creditors of George J. D. Mayne of the City and County of New York and district aforesaid, a bankrupt:

Notice is hereby given that on the 20th day of December, A. D. 1900, the said George J. D. Mayne, was duly adjudicated bankrupt, and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at the office of Nathaniel S. Smith, No. 302 Broadway, New York City, on the second day of February, A. D. 1900, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a Trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

NATHANIEL S. SMITH,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

New York, January 22, 1900.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of PETER H. McARDLE, Bankrupt.—In Bankruptcy.

To the creditors of Peter H. McArdle of the County of New York, and district aforesaid, a bankrupt:

Notice is hereby given that on the 17th day of January, A. D. 1900, the said Peter H. McArdle was duly adjudicated bankrupt; and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at the office of Nathaniel A. Prentiss, referee in bankruptcy, 120 Broadway, New York City, on the 7th day of February, A. D. 1900, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a Trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

NATHANIEL A. PRENTISS,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

January 22d, 1900.

BANKRUPTCY NOTICES.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of BENJAMIN SHAPIRO and SAMUEL GOODSTEIN, individually and as partners of the firm known as Shapiro & Goodstein, Bankrupts.—No. 2,016.

To the creditors of Benjamin Shapiro and Samuel Goodstein of the City of New York, individually and as partners of the firm known as Shapiro & Goodstein, bankrupts.

Notice is hereby given that on the 11th day of January, A. D. 1900, the said Benjamin Shapiro and Samuel Goodstein of the City of New York, individually and as partners of the firm known as Shapiro & Goodstein, were duly adjudicated bankrupts; and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at my office, Number 346 Broadway, in the City of New York, County and State of New York, on the eighth day of February, A. D. 1900, at 10:30 o'clock in the forenoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a Trustee, examine the bankrupts, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

SEAMAN MILLER,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

Dated New York, January 15th, 1900.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of JOSEPH SCHNAPMAN, bankrupt.—No. 2,037.

To the creditors of Joseph Schnapman of the City of New York, County and State of New York, bankrupt.

Notice is hereby given that on the 16th day of January, A. D. 1900, the said Joseph Schnapman of the City of New York, County and State of New York, was duly adjudicated bankrupt; and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at my office, Number 346 Broadway, in the City of New York, County and State of New York, on the first day of February, A. D. 1900, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

SEAMAN MILLER,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

Dated New York, January 19th, 1900.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the Southern District of New York.—In Bankruptcy.—In the matter of HENRY SOBOL, bankrupt.—No. 1,958.

To the creditors of Henry Sobol of the City of New York, County and State of New York, bankrupt.

Notice is hereby given that on the 29th day of December, A. D. 1899, the said Henry Sobol of the City of New York, County and State of New York, was duly adjudicated bankrupt; and that the first meeting of creditors will be held at my office, Number 346 Broadway, in the City of New York, County and State of New York, on the first day of February, A. D. 1900, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a trustee, examine the bankrupt and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

SEAMAN MILLER,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

Dated New York, January 19th, 1900.

LEGAL NOTICES.

AT A SPECIAL TERM, PART I., OF THE Supreme Court, held at the Court House, in the Borough of Manhattan of the City of New York, on the 6th day of October, 1899.—Present: Hon. Henry M. Bookstaver, Justice.—In the matter of the application of the Directors of the Riverside Building and Loan Association for a voluntary dissolution.

On reading and filing the petition of Marshall W. Scriven, William W. Bridgeman, William M. Judge, Eugene L. Lockwood, Frank T. Brown, John M. Sweeney, and John A. Anderson, as Directors of the Riverside Building and Loan Association, a corporation created under the laws of the State of New York, having its principal office located in the Borough of Manhattan of the City of New York, and the affidavits thereto annexed, verified by the petitioners on the 11th day of October, 1899, with due proof of service of a copy of said petition and schedules, and a copy of this order and notice of application therefor on Honorable John C. Davies, Attorney General for the State of New York, and on motion of William Langdon, attorney for the petitioners, it is ORDERED, That all persons interested in the said corporation show cause before M. Clelland Milnor, Esq., counsellor at law, who is hereby appointed referee for that purpose, at his office, No. 329 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan of the City of New York, on the 31st day of January, 1900, at two o'clock in the afternoon of that day, why the said corporation should not be dissolved; and it is further ORDERED, That a copy of this order be published at least once in each of the three weeks immediately preceding the time hereinbefore fixed for showing cause in The New York Times, printed in the City of New York, and also in The New York Law Journal, published in the City and County of New York. Enter,

H. W. BS.,
J. S. C.

To the Creditors, Shareholders, and all other persons interested in the Riverside Building and Loan Association:

Take notice, that the foregoing is a copy of an order made in the above entitled proceeding, and duly entered and filed in the office of the Clerk of the City and County of New York, on October 23d, 1899.

WILLIAM LANGDON,
Attorney for Petitioners,
5 Be

Ladies' Jackets.

Entire remainder of winter stock.
Short Jackets, made of Kersey, Cheviot or unfinished Worsted.
Various fashionable models.
$10.00, $18.00 and $25.00 each;
Value $15.00 to $50.00

Misses' and Children's Reefers, "Gretchens" and Jackets.
$5.00, $7.50 and $10.00 each.

James McCreery & Co.,
Twenty-third Street.

Linen Dep't.

TABLE LINEN,
Heavy Bleached Scotch Damask.—2 yards wide.
$1.00 per yard,
Value $1.25.

Breakfast and Dinner Napkins to match,
$2.00 and $3.00 per dozen.
Odd Napkins, — breakfast and dinner size,
$1.60 and $2.50 per dozen,
Value $2.00 and $3.00.

TOWELS,
Huck,—heavy quality, hemmed,
$2.00 per doz.

Huck,—hemstitched, fancy weaves,
$3.00 per doz.

Huck or Bird-Eye,—Hemstitched, 23x48, Damask borders and ends,
$6.00 per doz.

Fine quality, hemstitched,—25x46, Damask ends,
$7.50 per doz.

Hand embroidered and hemstitched Squares, Scarfs, Tea-cloth and Centre Pieces.
At one-third to one-half former prices.

James McCreery & Co.,
Twenty-third Street.

Ladies' Kersey Jackets
(strictly Tailor-Made),
About Half Price.
$18, $20 & $25 Jackets,
$10.00.
$12 & $15 Jackets,
$7.50.
$9.50 & $10 Jackets,
$5.75.
13th St. Store Only.

Hackett, Carhart & Co.
Three BROADWAY Stores.
Cor. 13th St. Cor. Canal St. Near Chambers.

BIG TRADES FIGHT NEW FREIGHT RATES

Trunk Line Association Hears Protests Against the Classification.

SMALL SHIPPER SUFFERS MOST

New York Merchants Declare Railroads Need No Increase in Tariff—New England's Bitter Complaint.

The public hearing yesterday in the large meeting room of the Trunk Line Association to consider protests against the revised freight classification which went into effect the first of the year, called forth so large an attendance and so many protests, written and oral, that it was found impossible to conclude the hearing in a day and an adjournment was, late in the afternoon, taken until to-day, when further protests will be presented.

At yesterday's session, which began at 11 o'clock, several hundred merchants and shippers from many parts of the country were present and complaints were presented by dealers in dry goods, rope, pumice stone, bags, jute, soap, provisions, machinery, confectionery, hardware, starch, leather, oil—in fact, in nearly every commodity affected by the changed classification.

Commissioner J. T. Goddard, who called the meeting to order, said that it was a joint meeting of the Trunk Line Executive Committee and of the Official Classification Committee, and that complaints would be heard in the following order: First, from public organizations; second, from trade organizations, and third, from individual shippers.

SUMMARY OF COMPLAINTS.

William R. Corwine, representing the Merchants' Association of New York, was the first speaker and he read a long paper reviewing the difficulties between the shipper and the railway and trunk line companies as existing under the present classification. In summarizing, Mr. Corwine set forth the principal causes of complaint against the new schedule as follows:

"First—We believe that the reports of earnings made by railroads in their financial statements, in which it is shown that some of them have increased their annual dividends and that others, for the first time in many years, if not in their history, have declared dividends upon their common stock (the Directors setting forth that the outlook for the future is sufficient to justify this) show that the railroads are earning sufficient money to enable them to realize largely increased earnings, gross and net, for the immediate future, or for as long as the present period of prosperity may continue, which we hope will be indefinitely.

"Second—That the decreased cost of operation of railroads, as set forth in their reports and in the reports of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, and the tendency to lower the cost of transportation rather than to increase it, is sufficient to overcome the claim of the necessity for more money due to the advanced prices of articles entering into the construction and maintenance of railroads, and that the reasonable prospects of future decreased costs of operation of railroad properties will place railroads in a still better position financially without any increase in freight charges being made necessary to add to their incomes.

HURTS SMALL SHIPPERS.

"Third—That the theory, which has resulted in the widening of the difference between carload lots and less than carload lots, is wrong, in that it lessens the area of distribution, hurts the small shipper and the small buyer, and should not be allowed to stand.

"Fourth—That the method of reclassifying dry goods is unjust in that it tends to a discrimination and to complications, and that, if it be found necessary thus to simplify classification in these lines, instead of the present classification standing, all dry goods should be placed in the second class.

"Fifth—That the new schedule works an injustice to the shippers in practically prohibiting the use of wood pulp packing boxes by a large class of shippers to whom they are of great benefit, and thus adds to the burden and expense of such shippers, and therefore should not be allowed to stand.

"Sixth—That the rule of the new classification, which reads as follows: 'Shipments of property combined into packages by forwarding agents, claiming to act as shippers, will only be accepted when the names of individual shippers and final consignees, as well as the character and contents of each package, are declared to the receiving agents, and such property will be waybilled as separate shipments, and freight charged accordingly,' will work a great hardship to jobbers and packing houses as well as to small merchants, and should be rescinded altogether."

PROTEST OF GROCERS.

F. G. Langley then filed a schedule of complaints against "Classification No. 20," relative to the carload and less than carload lots, saying that he represented the grocery trade which did not object to the increase of rates providing they were made uniform. As it was, the "less than carload" classification took from the local jobbing trade a heretofore profitable territory.

Clinton White, Chairman of the Transportation Committee of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, as the representative of the New England shippers, read a protest in which he declared that the continuance of the new classification without revision would mean a loss of business not only to merchants but to the railroads as well. He said:

"I believe our merchants very generally agree that some increase in rates is reasonable. They are very firmly of the opinion, however, that an increase of from 20 to 45 per cent. on certain individual articles is a very unfair and inequitable method of securing an increase of revenue which should be distributed over the entire list of commodities subject to transportation. In other words, they very earnestly protest against being singled out to bear this burden and against the unfair discrimination that is made by the changes in favor of the large shipper as against the smaller—the trust as against the individual.

NEW ENGLAND AROUSED.

"In almost every complaint that we have received, and we have received a great number, the disproportionate advance on less than carloads as against carloads is the thing complained of. This latter discrimination bears with especial hardship on New England. Our section is made up largely of small producers and distributors, and while an enormous business is done the distribution of the product is on the whole carried on in comparatively small quantities. Moreover, we are remote from the great consuming sections, and the business is carried on with increasing difficulty in competition with the local producers who are springing up all over those sections.

"Among the parties from whom complaints have been filed with us are representatives of the following trades: Coffee, fish, canned goods, starch, soaps, brewers, distillers, crockery and glass ware, fertilizers, and granite cutters."

F. B. Thurber, representing the National Board of Trade, who followed, said that it is less trouble and expense to carry in full carloads than in less than carloads, and the shipper of carloads or multiples thereof presses harder for advantages than the small shipper, and naturally gets an undue advantage. Mr. Thurber, continuing, said:

"The average railroad executive is apt to forget that he is performing a semi-public function, and that the vote of the small shipper had as much to do with conferring the franchises under which railroads exist as that of the large shipper. The railroads of this country get about half what those of other countries do for the same service, but this, to a great extent, inures to the benefit of a few rather than to the many, and there is room for reform, to the advantage alike of railroads and the public."

MUST NOT DISCRIMINATE.

Simon Sterne of the Board of Trade and Transportation, the next speaker, said that his organization conceded the right of the railways to increase their revenues by raising the tariff if they were to participate in the general prosperity now prevailing, but he said they must not discriminate against the smaller shippers. The speaker declared the present classification gave the larger shipper undue advantages over the smaller merchant.

A. M. Compton, representing the National Association of Chicago, said that, in addition to representing the National Merchants' Association, he represented the three largest dry goods shippers in the United States. Mr. Compton took up the classification as affecting the dry goods business, and said that in many of the trades goods could not be handled at even a reasonable profit under the present classification. If enforced, it would drive the piece goods trade to the West and South and away from the mills of New England and New York, he said, much to the loss of the Eastern manufacturers.

Thomas Morris, representing the pork packers and provision dealers of Cincinnati, then took up the classification and spoke of the injustice done to the smaller class of packers who did not own their cars and were known as "small dealers."

J. Jones Fernley of Philadelphia, Secretary and Treasurer of the National Hardware Association, said that the present classification worked a hardship both upon the hardware manufacturer and the jobber. He thought that hardware, as it occupied small space, should be rated fourth class, instead of third class, as now exists.

SOAP INDUSTRY'S COMPLAINT.

C. A. Jennings of the American Cotton Oil Company, who represented the soap industry of the United States, protested against the classification on behalf of his industry.

Following the noon recess, J. M. McDonald of Cincinnati, M. B. Kelly of the Philadelphia Trades Union, and L. A. Hanson, representing the Merchants' Association of St. Louis, spoke in the order named. Mr. Hanson spoke along the same lines as did Mr. Gates of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association of Chicago and Mr. Cavanagh of the National Association of Agricultural Implements and Vehicles. The latter declared that 75 per cent. of the factories represented in his association shipped in broken carloads.

Joseph J. Ward of Chicago, representing the grocery and hardware interests, said the present schedule was not fair to New York distributors or the small dealers of Chicago. New York did not desire any subsidies from the railways in the way of increasing this difference. The present schedule is advantageous to the large retailers in the small towns who can compete then with the jobber on his own grounds.

Henry A. Locke of Boston, representing the Boston leather interests, saw in the present classification an opportunity to induce rate cutting, and said that the new rates acted as a discrimination against Boston, the home of the leather market, in favor of Milwaukee and other Western cities.

MANY TRADES AFFECTED.

Other complaints were heard from Hugh R. Knox of the National Starch Manufacturing Company, who said that if the new rates were persisted in, they would drive the starch trade west of the Mississippi; R. J. Wardell, a manufacturer of pumice stone; D. S. Servoss of the National Enameling and Stamping Company; W. E. Smyth, a hardware manufacturer; C. M. Stacy of the Huyler Cocoa Company, Charles E. Borden of the Eastern Cordage Manufacturing Company, R. H. Moses, representing the wholesale candy manufacturers; J. A. Lenville, representing the Threshers' Manufacturers' Association; J. Sellers, representing manufacturers of agricultural implements in Springfield, Ohio; representatives of the Philadelphia and the Baltimore Oil Dealers' Associations, and W. Brown of Cleveland, representing the independent oil shippers.

Mr. Brown stated it as his opinion that if the present oil rates were maintained, they would drive the small operators out of existence, for the reason that unless they could ship cheaply n less than carload lots, it would prejudice them materially—in fact, probably drive them out of business and give the Standard Oil Company a complete grasp of the business.

At this point the meeting adjourned until 10:30 o'clock to-day.

Chicagoans Come Here to Protest.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—Representatives of the Chicago industries most affected by the advance in freight rates between the Atlantic seaboard and this city, which went into effect Jan. 1, will appear before the Classification Committee of the Central Freight Association in New York to-day and protest against the advance.

Inspector Quinlan Resigns.

John J. Quinlan, for many years Supervising Inspector of the Immigration Service at this port, has tendered his resignation, to take effect on the 1st of February. There was a rumor current at the Barge Office yesterday that Mr. Quinlan's resignation had been demanded by the Secretary of the Treasury because he had, as alleged, violated civil service rules. Mr. Quinlan, when seen at his residence, 122 East Eighty-sixth Street, last evening by a reporter for THE NEW YORK TIMES emphatically denied that his resignation had been asked for. He said that he had tendered his resignation for the reason that he intended to go in business for himself.

"Step lively."
That's the order we give to a crowd of almost 12,000 shoes.
Some from our own stock, slightly travel-stained — soles soiled by tryings-on, linings soiled by goings-out, on approval; enamel, patent and russet leather, a few Bluchers and skating shoes—were $5.
Others, rare chance outsidders, $5 patent leathers—button and lace; and $3.50 to $4.50, russet leather and black calfskin—mostly lace.
They all march to the quick-step tune of $2.25.

ROGERS, PEET & Co.
350 Broadway, cor. Leonard.
569 Broadway, cor. Prince.
Thirty-second and Broadway.

Registered Trade Mark.

1900 Washable Dress Goods

At "The Linen Store."

We now offer for inspection and sale an extensive assortment of the choicer grades of imported washable fabrics for the coming spring and summer.

MATERIALS FOR
Waists and Gowns
Bicycle and Golf Suits
Graduation Dresses
Church and Calling Gowns
Outing Costumes
for Mountains and Seaside.

An examination of this offering is cordially invited.

James McCutcheon & Co.
14 West 23d Street.

Exhibition of Cotton Fabrics for Spring.

Sheer or heavy materials, introducing new weaves, designs and colors.
The floral patterns are exquisitely arranged, colored and hand-printed. Those interspersed with conventional figures are exceedingly novel in effect.
Mousselines de Soie,—corded or plain weave.
Fine corded Batiste. Printed Organdie.
Embroidered Swiss. Dotted and striped Zephyrs.
Cotton and silk Grenadines.

Fine sheer Dimities,—30 inches wide,—floral and line stripes,—pin head and polka dots.
Delicate colors, black and white or grey and white.
25 cents per yard.

Shirtings,—suitable for waists,—one yard wide,—white figures or stripes on delft or pale blue, pink or heliotrope ground.
12½ cents per yard.

JAMES McCREERY & CO.,
Broadway and 11th St.

BLANKETS.
Fine Eastern and California wool,—full, double bed size,
$3.00, $4.00 and $5.00 per pair;
Value $4.00 to $6.50
Extra size, $7.50 per pair;
Value $9.50

BED SPREADS.
Crochet,—full size
75c., $1.15 and $1.40;
Value 95 cents to $1.75
Marseilles,
$1.50 and $2.00.
Marseilles,—satin finish
$2.00 and $3.25.
Value $2.50 and $3.75

COMFORTERS.
500,—Silkoline,—various designs and colors.
$1.00;
Value $1.50

This department has been transferred to the basement.

JAMES McCREERY & CO.,
Broadway and 11th St.

JANUARY SALE OF WOOLEN DRESS GOODS.

Nine hundred yards Imported Novelty fabric,—basket weave.
Raised, black silk, figure designs, on red, gray, sage or castor grounds.
95 cents per yard;
Former price, $2.25

Challie Foulards,—fine quality,—silk warp.
White dots and figures on national or navy blue grounds.
48 cents per yard.

JAMES McCREERY & CO.,
Broadway and 11th St.

GLOVES.

2 Clasp, pique sewn, street gloves. Colors: tans, gold, tabac, red, brown, black or white.
Fine quality and finish.
$1.00 per pair;
Value, $1.50

JAMES McCREERY & CO.,
Broadway & 11th St.

FLINT'S FINE FURNITURE

WOOD SCULPTURES IN GOTHIC.

There existed a school of wood sculpture which reached a splendid development toward the end of the fifteenth century. Flanders was the centre, and examples of its best designs are in our Flemish pieces.
Here are quaint chests, for instance, of solid wood, carved, with slightly recessed panels. Others, sculptured in bold relief, with the spirited fiends and dragons which the Gothic artist so loved to portray. The naïveté of the carvings shows that he believed in what he represented. Chairs in correct designs for $6.50, many other odd pieces reduced.
To get an effective touch of interesting oddity, you must

"BUY OF THE MAKER"

GEO. C. FLINT CO.
43 45 AND 47 WEST 23RD ST
NEAR BROADWAY.
FACTORY 154 AND 156 WEST 19TH STREET

AMUSEMENTS.

CARNEGIE HALL.
Tuesday Evening, February 6th,
GALA CONCERT
The entire proceeds to be devoted to the
Dewey Arch Fund
Among the distinguished artists who have kindly volunteered their services are:
Madame Nordica and Madame Gadski, Mr. Edouard de Reszke and Mr. Evan Williams, and other soloists.
Mr. Emil Paur, Mr. Walter Damrosch, } Conductors.
The full chorus of the Oratorio Society and an orchestra of sixty
Prices: $3, $2, $1.50, and $1. Boxes, $50. Seats and boxes can be obtained at box office, Carnegie Hall, and Tyson's.

DALY'S B'way & 30th.....at 8:30
Matinées Wed. & Sat., 2:15.
Daniel Frohman's Company
LAST 2 WEEKS.
The Maneuvers of Jane
Monday, Feb. 5, the new play by John Oliver Hobbs, entitled,
THE AMBASSADOR.

LYCEUM 4th Av. & 23d St. At 8:30
Daniel Frohman...Mgr.
Matinées Thursday & Sat. 2.
Charles Frohman Presents
A NEW PARISIAN COMEDY, entitled
The Surprises of Love.
By Paul Belhaud and Michael Carre.
Cast includes: Elsie De Wolfe, H. Reeves Smith, Charles Abbott, Eric Hope, Charles Bowser, Clayton White, Frank Lea Short, Margaret Robinson, Olive May, Helen Keating, Ellen Gail, & others.

CARNEGIE HALL.
PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY of New York
EMIL PAUR.....Conductor
Fri., Jan. 26, at 2 P.M. Sat., Jan. 27, at 8:15 P.M.
SOLOIST: MME. SCHUMANN-HEINK.
Program: Overture "The Flying Dutchman," Wagner; "Ganymed," for Contralto and Orchestra, L. V. Saar; Symphony No. 4, B flat major, Beethoven; Songs by Schubert, Schumann, and Franz; Overture, "Prometheus," Goldmark.
Box office open daily from 9 to 5.

MENDELSSOHN HALL
Thursday evening, January 25th, at 8:15,
Mr. David Bispham's
REQUEST RECITAL
POPULAR PROGRAMME
Comprising songs most frequently asked for.
Res. seats $1.50. Now on sale at Schuberth's.

5th Ave THEATRE. B'way & 28th.
Evs. 8:15. Mats. Wed. & Sat.
The Latest Music: Comedy Success.
THREE LITTLE LAMBS

HARLEM OPERA HOUSE. MR. JOHN DREW in the Tyranny of Tears. 8:15 Sat. Mat.

AMUSEMENTS.

PADEREWSKI
and
ADAMOWSKI QUARTET.
Only Recital at Sherry's.
THIS (TUESDAY) AFTERNOON AT 4.
M. Paderewski will play Soli by Chopin, Liszt, and Paderewski.
GENERAL ADMISSION, $2.00.
RESERVED SEATS, $3.50.
Seats now at Tyson's, Schuberth's, all the principal hotels, and at the hall.
STEINWAY PIANO USED.

MENDELSSOHN HALL.
THIRD CONCERT TO-NIGHT AT 8:15.
THE KNEISEL QUARTET
OF BOSTON,
assisted by Mme. Szumowska, Piano.
Programme: HAYDN, Quartet D major, Op. 76, No. 5; FAURE, Sonata for Piano and Violin, A major; BEETHOVEN, Quartet, E minor, Op. 59, No. 2.
Tickets, $1.50, at Schuberth's, 23 Union Square.

CARNEGIE HALL.
TO-NIGHT AT 8:15.
Pittsburg Orchestra
Victor Herbert, Conductor. Soloist, MARIE BREMA
First N. Y. reappearance.
Seats, 75c. to $1.50. Boxes, $12 & $15. On sale at Schuberth's, Tyson's, Rullmann's and box office.

PROCTOR'S 23d ST. Cont. Perf. 15, 25, 50c. Marie Dressler
20 Min. in Shirtwaists
Sims & Graham, Leo Dervalto, Kenno, Welch, o'rs.

PALACE 58th St. & 3d Av. Cont. Perf. 15, 25, 50c. Montgomery & Stone
Duncan's Collies.
Halladay & Ward, McPhee & Hill, Moving Pictures, &c.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN.
OPEN 9 A. M. TO 11 P. M. ADM. 50c.
5th NATIONAL EXHIBITION of CYCLES, AUTOMOBILES AND ACCESSORIES.

Two Piano Recitals. MENDELSSOHN HALL, THUR. AFT., Jan. 25; WED. AFT., JAN. 31, at 3 o'clock.
Hambourg
Tickets, $1.50 & $1, at Schuberth's, 23 Union Sq.
Direction VICTOR THRANE. Knabe Piano Used.

CASINO! 2d TIME TONGT! 2 wks only! FIRST MATINEE TMRRW!
Geo. W. Lederer's London Co. in The Belle of N. Y.
Orig. Cast & Chorus of 2 years' run in London.

Knickerbocker. Evgs., 8:15. Mat. Sat., 2:15.
N. C. GOODWIN, MAXINE ELLIOTT
LAST 2 WEEKS OF THE COWBOY AND THE LADY.
Feb. 5—Mr. Goodwin-Miss Elliott (A New Play.)

REFRESHING SLEEP.
Horsford's Acid Phosphate
Quiets the nerves, relieves the tired and confused condition of the brain, and induces refreshing sleep.
Genuine bears name HORSFORD'S on wrapper.

Birds Mate now; breeding pairs, singer, according to voice, $2.00, $2.50, $5.00; female, $1.00. Holden's New Book on Birds; all about mating, food, care, and how to keep bird singing, with full price list of all birds and cages by mail, 25 cts., stamps. Song Restorer by mail, 25 cts. Free list all birds.
G. H. HOLDEN, 240 6th Ave., N. Y.

AMUSEMENTS.

PADEREWSKI
and
ADAMOWSKI QUARTET.
Only Recital at Sherry's.
THIS (TUESDAY) AFTERNOON AT 4.
M. Paderewski will play Soli by Chopin, Liszt, and Paderewski.
GENERAL ADMISSION, $2.00.
RESERVED SEATS, $3.50.
Seats now at Tyson's, Schuberth's, all the principal hotels, and at the hall.
STEINWAY PIANO USED.

MENDELSSOHN HALL.
THIRD CONCERT TO-NIGHT AT 8:15.
THE KNEISEL QUARTET
OF BOSTON,
assisted by Mme. Szumowska, Piano.
Programme: HAYDN, Quartet D major, Op. 76, No. 5; FAURE, Sonata for Piano and Violin, A major; BEETHOVEN, Quartet, E minor, Op. 59, No. 2.
Tickets, $1.50, at Schuberth's, 23 Union Square.

CARNEGIE HALL.
TO-NIGHT AT 8:15.
Pittsburg Orchestra
Victor Herbert, Conductor. Soloist, MARIE BREMA
First N. Y. reappearance.
Seats, 75c. to $1.50. Boxes, $12 & $15. On sale at Schuberth's, Tyson's, Rullmann's and box office.

PROCTOR'S 23d ST. Cont. Perf. 15, 25, 50c. Marie Dressler
20 Min. in Shirtwaists
Sims & Graham, Leo Dervalto, Kenno, Welch, o'rs.

PALACE 58th St. & 3d Av. Cont. Perf. 15, 25, 50c. Montgomery & Stone
Duncan's Collies.
Halladay & Ward, McPhee & Hill, Moving Pictures, &c.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN.
OPEN 9 A. M. TO 11 P. M. ADM. 50c.
5th NATIONAL EXHIBITION of CYCLES, AUTOMOBILES AND ACCESSORIES.

Two Piano Recitals. MENDELSSOHN HALL, THUR. AFT., Jan. 25; WED. AFT., JAN. 31, at 3 o'clock.
Hambourg
Tickets, $1.50 & $1, at Schuberth's, 23 Union Sq.
Direction VICTOR THRANE. Knabe Piano Used.

CASINO! 2d TIME TONGT! 2 wks only! FIRST MATINEE TMRRW!
Geo. W. Lederer's London Co. in The Belle of N. Y.
Orig. Cast & Chorus of 2 years' run in London.

Knickerbocker. Evgs., 8:15. Mat. Sat., 2:15.
N. C. GOODWIN, MAXINE ELLIOTT
LAST 2 WEEKS OF THE COWBOY AND THE LADY.
Feb. 5—Mr. Goodwin-Miss Elliott (A New Play.)

HEARN
West Fourteenth Street

Our Great White Sale

Good values have an eloquence all their own.
Such prices as quoted below for qualities represented need no words of praise. . . Customers know that what we promise we perform.

HERE ARE ATTRACTIONS
to forge new links in chain of Confidence that binds us to customers.

Imported Mohair Crepons firmly stitched back—absolutely rain-proof—variety of styles—regular value .59 cents..... .29

Blue-and-White Foulards
Polka Dot and fig'd—24 inch..... .69

All Silk Satin Brocades
White, cream and evening shades.... .69

French Flannel Waists
All best shades—lined thro'—dress sleeves—French back—value 3.00.... 1.98

Rainy Day Skirts
Double face cloth—(Oxford, tan and castor) finest tailor finish—12 row patch stitched hem—value 12.98.... 8.98

Persian Cloth Jackets
Kersey, stitched seams—new high collar—also Fine Kersey Jackets—Tan, Black and Castor—velvet collar—col'd and black satin lined—real value 11.00..... 6.98

Ladies' Capes
Persian Cloth—extra length—fur trim—also Golf Capes—doble face cloth—value six dollars..... 3.98

Girls' Long Coats
Plain and fancy cloth—worth $6.98 to $8.98..... 3.98

Boys' Suits
Double Breast and Sailor Blouse—7 to 16 years and 3 to 10 years—excellent styles—value $3 and $3.50. 1.98

Ladies' Corsets
Sateen and Brunelle Cloth—extra quality (suitable for stout figures)—also 4 and 5 hook for slim figures—strong boned—perfect fit—value 1.75..... .94

Fine Fancy Batistes
Beautiful quality—stripes, figures and dots on Navy, Pink, Cadet, Light Blue and White—32 inches wide—wholesale price 19 cts.; White Sale price.... .12½

Fancy Corded Ginghams
Stripes, Checks and Plaids in sixty styles and colorings—made for season 1900—not a piece of last year's goods among them—splendid texture—A1 colorings—some folks would make a great hurrah over them at 12½ cents—our price..... 8¾

Boston Sheets
54x90..... .33 81x90..... .47
63x90..... .37 90x99..... .53
72x90..... .43 90x99.....
The name "Boston" speaks for itself—being an old reliable make and heavy quality.

Boston Pillow Cases
42x36..... 9½ 50x36..... .12
45x36..... .11 54x36..... .13

Bobinet Curtains
Inserting and lace frill..... 1.98

Figured Chenille Portieres
Deep valance fringe—72 inches wide—a short while ago retailed at original price $20.00..... 10.98

All Wool Smyrna Rugs
Extra quality—30x60 inch..... 1.97

Japanese Silk Lambrequins
Gold embroidered—all colors—2½ yards long—value 1.25..... .99

White Goods
Satin Check and Plaid Nainsooks..... 6¾
India Linens and Victoria Lawns—27 to 40 inches wide..... 6¾

Mail Order Telephone—No. 2873—18th.

AMUSEMENTS.

EMPIRE THEATRE. B'way & 40th St. Evs. 8:20. Matinées Wednesday & Saturday.
"Another Empire success."—Charles Frohman.
EMPIRE THEATRE COMPANY in BROTHER OFFICERS.

Charles Frohman's Criterion Theatre B'way & 44th St. Evgs. 8:20. Matinées Wednesday and Saturday.
MAUDE ADAMS | The Little Minister.

GARRICK THEATRE. 35th St. & B'way. Evenings, 8 o'clock. Mats., 2:15.
3D MONTH. MATINÉES SATURDAY ONLY.
Wm. Gillette New Play. Sherlock Holmes.

MADISON SQ. THEATRE 24th St., nr. B'way Evgs., 8:30. Matinées, 2:15.
Last 2 Weeks. Matinées Wednesday & Saturday.
Greatest Hit This Season. WHEELS WITHIN WHEELS.
Feb. 5—Coralie & Co., Dressmakers.

GARDEN THEATRE. 27th St. & Madison Av. Evgs., 8:20. Matinée Saturday.
MRS. LANGTRY—THE DEGENERATES

CHICKERING HALL.
TO-NIGHT AT 8 P. M.
A. Henry Savage Landor.
Subject: In the Forbidden Land. Illustrated.
Thrilling story of his Journey in THIBET, Capture by the Lamas, Imprisonment, Torture, and ultimate release.
Tickets, $1.50, $1 and 75c. J. B. POND, Mgr.

WALLACK'S THE FIRST PERFORMANCE OF
OLGA NETHERSOLE in SAPHO will be on WEDNESDAY OR THURSDAY EVG.
☞ Positive announcement made Wednesday.
SEATS FOR MONDAY NIGHT WILL BE GOOD OPENING NIGHT.

AMERICAN 42ND & 8TH AVE CASTLE SQ. OPERA CO.
3d Season's Success in English.
The MAGIC MELODY ing Preced-
The Lyric Tragedy, AT THE LOWER HARBOUR
Eves., 8:15. 25c. to $1. Mats. Wed., Sat., 1,100 seats, 25c

THE NEW YORK. B'way, 44-45 Sts. This (Tues.) Eve.
First time of the big spectacle,
BROADWAY to TOKIO

NATIONAL ACADEMY OF DESIGN. 75TH ANNUAL EXHIBITION of OIL PAINTINGS at The Fine Arts Society, 215 West 57th St.
LAST WEEK. Open 10 A. M. to 6 P. M., and 8 P. M. to 10 P. M. Admission.....25c.

COMIQUE B'WAY & 28TH MATINEE TODAY 25 & 50 THE HOUSE THAT JACK BUILT.
GAY MASQUERADERS. 2 Burlesques and Vaudeville.
TOBASCOSCOPE—New Sensational Pictures.

KEITH'S Continuous Performance.
MINNIE SELIGMAN. LEROY AND CLAYTON.
Mr. and Mrs. ELLIS. CASE. LOUISE GUNNING. JOHN BOWKER: Transvaal Illustrated.

Koster & Bial's
Great Lafayette. Marion Manola, Marie Jensen, Ritchie, Binns & Binns, the 5 Cornalios Sisters, McNulty, Solaret, Others. Mat. To-morrow, 50c.

GERMAN SONG RECITAL BY
MME. SCHULTZE-WICHMANN,
Assisted by Mme. Lowe-Wichmann,
FRIDAY AFTERNOON, JAN. 26, 1900,
at 3 P. M., Knabe Hall, 5th Av. and 20th St.
Tickets $1.50, at Luckhardt & Belder.

MENDELSSOHN HALL, This Aft. 3 P. M.
MR. PERRY AVERILL,
With the assistance of
MISS ANNA OTTEN, Violinist.
MR. ORTEN BRADLEY, Pianist.
Res'd Seats, $1, at Schuberth's, L. M. Ruban, Mgr.

BROADWAY Theatre, 41st St. & B'way. Evs. at 8. Mats. Wed. & Sat. 2.
NEXT MATINEE WEDNESDAY AT 2.
THE GREAT SUCCESS, BEN-HUR

Hammerstein's 42d St., B'way & 7th Av. VICTORIA Evgs. 8:30. Sat. Mat. 2:15
Mat. Sat. Prices, 50, 75, $1.00
Jerome Sykes & Edna Wallace Hopper in CHRIS AND THE WONDERFUL LAMP

AMUSEMENTS.

METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE.
GRAND OPERA SEASON 1899-1900.
Under the direction of Mr. MAURICE GRAU.
To-morrow Ev'g, at 7:30, DIE MEISTERSINGER. Mmes. Emma Eames and Schumann-Heink; MM. Van Rooy, Bertram, Friedrichs, (début,) Breuer, and Dippel. Conductor, Paur.
Fri. Ev'g, Jan. 26, at 7:45, Double Bill—DON PASQUALE. Mme. Sembrich; MM. Scotti, Pini-Corsi, and Saligmac. Conductor, Mancinelli. Followed by CAVALLERIA RUSTICANA. Mmes. Calvé and Mantelli; MM. Campanari and Dippel. Conductor, Bevignani.
Sat. Aft., Jan. 27, at 2, TANNHAUSER. Mmes. Ternina, Olitzka, and Nordica; MM. Van Dyck, Bertram, and Plançon. Conductor, Paur.
Sat. Ev'g., Jan. 27, at 8, at Popular Prices, FAUST. Mmes. Emma Eames and Mantelli; MM. Saleza, Ocellier (début) and Pringle. Conductor, Bevignani.
Sun. Ev'g, Jan. 28, at 8:15, Grand Popular Concert.
Soloists: Mmes. Calvé (her only appearance at a Sunday concert) and Schumann-Heink; MM. Salignac and Plançon, together with the Met. Op. House Orchestra. Conductor, Paur. Special prices for this concert, 75c, $1.00, $1.50, and $2.00. General admission, 50c. Boxes as usual.
WEBER PIANOS USED.

CARNEGIE HALL.
Thursday Afternoon, Feb. 1, at 3:30.
SONG RECITAL
by Madame
NORDICA
and Madame
SCHUMANN-HEINK
Tickets $2.50, $2, & $1. Boxes $50 & $30. Now on sale at Schuberth's and Box Office.

THE DEWEY MATINEE TO-DAY. VICTORIA BURLESQUERS.
East 14th St. "A High Ball." Caicedo, The Nawns.

14th St. Theatre, nr. 6th Av. Mats. Wed. & Sat.
LAST WEEK of the best of all our plays,
THE VILLAGE POSTMASTER.
Next week—CHAUNCEY OLCOTT.

MANHATTAN Theatre, 33d & B'way. Evs. 8:15. Sat. Mat. ANNA HELD in PAPA'S WIFE.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC. 14th St. & Irving Pl. Always Crowded. "WAY DOWN EAST."
Prices, 25, 50, 75, $1. Mats. Wed. & Sat. 2. Eve. 8:10.

BIJOU. B'way & 30th St. Evs. 8:15. Mat. Sat. only.
MAY IRWIN Phone 2224 Mad. Sq. IN SISTER MARY
BEST ORCHESTRA SEATS ONLY $1.50.

WORLD IN WAX. CINEMATOGRAPH.
EDEN MUSEE
NEW GROUPS. CHARMING MUSIC

Weber & Fields' MUSIC HALL, B'way & 30 St. Matinées Tues. & Sat.
Whirl-I-Gig & BARBARA FIDGETY

Murray HILL THEATRE, 42d St. & Lex. Av.
Matinee Every Day, 25c.
THIS WEEK—NEVER AGAIN.

HERALD SQ. Thea. Evs. 8:20. Mats. Wed. & Sat.
DAVID BELASCO presents his new triumph, Naughty Anthony

GRAND OPERA HOUSE. A STRANGER in a STRANGE LAND
Popular Prices! Wed. Mat., 25c. & 50c.

IRVING PLACE THEATRE TO-NIGHT.
Benefit & Farewell 2 new one-act plays & 2d act Blitzmaedel.

HUBER'S 14TH ST. MUSEUM. 10c. to all. Moore's New Orleans Minstrels.

LECTURES.

ANNOUNCEMENT.
To demonstrate the great superiority of the modern method over the old methods still so much in vogue, a lecture will be given in this institution Tuesday, January 30th, at 8 P. M. All are invited! The lecture is to be followed by the Free February Course in German every Tuesday and Friday evening at 8 o'clock. (No tuition fee.) All are welcome to join! Over 770 students were taught by the instructors of this institution from Oct. 1 to Dec. 31, 1899, and over one thousand from October, 1898, to June, 1899.
STERN'S
School of Languages of N. Y. City, 27 E. 44th St.

DAILY, ONE CENT. SUNDAY, THREE CENTS.

"All the News That's Fit to Print."

The New York Times.

THE WEATHER.
Partly cloudy, much colder, southwesterly winds.

COPYRIGHT, 1900, BY THE NEW YORK TIMES COMPANY.

VOL. XLIX...NO. 15,614. NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 24, 1900.—FOURTEEN PAGES. ONE CENT In Greater New York and Jersey City. Elsewhere, TWO CENTS.

THE NEWS CONDENSED.

Stocks heavy.

Cash wheat, No. 2 red, 75¼c; cash corn, No. 2 mixed, 40⅝c; cash cotton, 7⅞c.

NEW YORK LEGISLATURE.—In the Senate the only business was the introduction of a few bills. In the Assembly there was some debate on the bill to issue liquor licenses to the Wagner Palace Car Company, after which, at 11:30 o'clock, the Assembly adjourned. Strong opposition to the proposed distribution of free coal to the poor was developed at the public hearing. Arguments were made before the Senate committee on the Ford, Grady, and McCarren School bills.—Page 8.

CONGRESS.—The committee reports in the Quay case were submitted to the Senate yesterday. Mr. Burrows of Michigan voted in committee with the Democrats in opposition to the seating of the Pennsylvanian. Mr. Tayler of Ohio and Mr. Littlefield of Maine addressed the House yesterday in support of the majority and minority reports, respectively, in the Roberts case. The latter was allowed an hour and a half to present his own defense. Senator Ross yesterday spoke on the government of the Philippines, advocating the establishment of a separate department to care for colonial dependencies.—Pages 3 and 5.

FOREIGN.—Gen. Buller telegraphed the British War Office last night that Gen. Warren was occupying the positions he took two days ago. He hesitated to attack the strong position in his front, and Gen. Buller announced his intention to try to seize at night a position commanding the Boer flank. Mr. Montagu White, the Transvaal agent at London, had a long conference yesterday with Secretary Hay. Ambassador and Mrs. White, with other Americans, yesterday attended the first Court promenade at Berlin. Arguments against the Franco-American reciprocity treaty were heard in Paris yesterday. The relatives of Ruskin have refused the offer of a grave in Westminster Abbey. Assumptionist Fathers are on trial in Paris.—Pages 1 and 6.

Page 1.

Weather Forecaster Henry A. Hazen died yesterday in Washington from the effects of a bicycle collision.

Samuel Scott Slater (Rep.) defeated Leon W. Goldrich (Dem.) by 852 votes in the special election for Member of Assembly in the Thirty-first District.

Page 2.

The attorney for Abram Kling went to Albany to confer with Gov. Roosevelt and made public a letter to Superintendent Milburn demanding immediate action.

Page 3.

Count Boni de Castellane made an early morning visit to the Gould offices and spent the afternoon with the Countess in making calls. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Gould called on the couple at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Page 4.

The testimony given by Roland B. Molineux before the Coroner was admitted as evidence in the trial yesterday. Mr. Osborne promises to rest the case of the prosecution to-day.

Mrs. Mary Haskell of Needham, Mass., was fatally hurt Monday night by a burglar at the home of her sister, in Franklinville, N. J.

Page 6.

It is said that the Mazet committee counsel fees will be $10,000 each for Frank Moss and John Proctor Clarke, and $5,000 for Mr. Laimbeer. Mr. Moss has not been consulted on the subject.

Corporation Counsel Whalen approved the charter amendment regarding the issue of rapid transit bonds, after a few verbal changes had been made, and the measure will be taken to Albany to-day.

Page 8.

John H. Stephens of Mariner's Harbor, S. I., was attacked by two highwaymen yesterday and seriously hurt. He was robbed of $100 and a gold watch and chain.

Page 11.

Bonds of the City of New York to the amount of $5,568,483.90, bearing 3½ per cent. interest, were sold yesterday by Controller Coler.

Page 14.

Charges relating to the disposition of the contents of a pocketbook found on the street have been made against Policeman Milton H. Teator by Thomas Flashlan, a messenger boy.

Amusements.—Page 7.
Arrivals at Hotels and Out-of-Town Buyers.—Page 2.
Business Troubles.—Page 13.
Court Calendars.—Page 12.
Insurance Notes.—Page 11.
Losses by Fire.—Page 2.
Legal Notes.—Page 8.
Markets.—Page 13.
Marine Intelligence and Foreign Mails.—Page 9.
New Corporations.—Page 10.
Railroads.—Page 11.
Real Estate.—Page 12.
Society.—Page 7.
United Service.—Page 5.
Weather Report.—Page 2.
Yesterday's Fires.—Page 2.

ICE CUTTERS FIND HUMAN BODY.

A Hand Frozen in the Ice Leads to the Discovery.

Special to The New York Times.

DANBURY, Conn., Jan. 23.—One of a number of men who were cutting ice near Litchfield yesterday found the hand of a human being upon the surface of the ice of the small lake from which the ice was being harvested. It was frozen in the ice and was covered with snow, but when the latter was cleared away the body of the owner of the hand was seen in the water below.

The ice was quickly chopped away and the body lifted to the surface. It was that of a man between thirty and thirty-five years old and was badly decomposed. Papers found in the pockets identified the man as John Prue of Bridgeport. No such person was known about Litchfield.

FLED FROM HIS FRIENDS.

Connecticut Man Left Home Because He Feared the Insane Asylum.

Special to The New York Times.

NORWALK, Conn., Jan. 23.—No trace of W. Palmer, who has been missing from his home in South Norwalk for the past two weeks, has been secured. The police are positive that he is alive and in hiding, suffering from a delusion that his friends are seeking to put him in an insane asylum. This was his great dread during an illness of grip he had some weeks ago when he complained of trouble with his head.

This belief is strengthened by the fact that the day before he disappeared he consulted a lawyer and asked if he could be incarcerated in an asylum without a trial. These facts have just been made known to the family. Mr. Palmer is in good bodily health and perfectly able to work.

ELECTRICITY STOPS FIREMEN.

Blaze in a Brooklyn Elevated Motor Car Causes a Small Panic.

A half dozen Brooklyn firemen were thrown to the pavement last night by an electric shock communicated from the third rail of the Fifth Avenue Elevated Road through the stream of water which they were playing on a burning motor car on the structure above them. No one was hurt, but the momentarily abandoned stream played havoc with neighboring windows and the crowd of spectators present. Many panes of glass were shattered by the force of the hose stream, and every one within range was drenched.

As Motor Car No. 258, with three coaches, drew up at the Flatbush Avenue station, the passengers were startled by a shot of flame, which shot up from the motor box. A small panic ensued in the effort of every one to get out of the car first, but order was restored by the efforts of employes, and all escaped to the station platform in safety. In the meantime an alarm of fire had been sent in. When the firemen arrived the car was ablaze. A big crowd had been attracted by the light to the square below. On account of the troublesome third rail it was difficult to play an effective stream, and the fire was not extinguished until the car was almost destroyed. Traffic was delayed for an hour. The company estimates the loss on the car at $5,000.

Most Superb Day Train in the World.
The "Royal Limited" leaves New York, South Ferry, and foot of Liberty St., daily 3 P. M.; arrives Washington 8 P. M. Splendid Dining and Café Car Service.—Adv.

BOERS HOLDING WARREN IN CHECK

British Commander Finds It Difficult to Advance.

STRONG POSITION FACES HIM

Heavy Artillery Duel Is Maintained for Two Days.

Gen. Buller Telegraphs that He Had Planned an Important Flanking Movement for Last Night.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The following dispatch from Gen. Buller, dated at Spearman's Camp, Jan. 23, was posted to-night:

"Warren holds the position he gained two days ago. In front of him, at about 1,400 yards, is the enemy's position, west of Spion's Kop.

"It is on higher ground than Warren's position, so it is impossible to see into it properly.

"It can only be approached over bare, open slopes, and the ridges held by Warren are so steep that guns cannot be placed on them.

"But we are shelling the enemy's position with howitzers and field artillery, placed on lower ground, behind infantry.

"The enemy is replying with Creusot and other artillery. In this duel the advantage rests with us, as we appear to be searching his trenches, and his artillery fire is not causing us much loss.

"An attempt will be made to-night to seize Spion Kop, the salient of which forms the left of the enemy's position facing Trichard's Drift, and which divides it from the position facing Potgieter's Drift.

"It has considerable command over all the enemy's entrenchments."

Gen. Buller also reports that the wounded Jan. 20 included:

Second Lancashires—Capts. Dod, Whyte, and Ormond, and Lieut. Campbell.

York and Lancaster Regiment—Lieuts. Halford and Duckworth.

West Surreys—Capts. Raitt (since dead) and Warden, and Lieuts. Smith and Wedd.

Staff Capt. Dallas.

The Daily Chronicle publishes the following from Ladysmith:

"Yesterday we could see British shells bursting close to the Boer camp on the plateau this side of Potgieter's Drift, but the camp still remains in position there to-day.

Dispatches from Boer sources describe the renewal of the bombardment of Ladysmith as more heavy than any previous firing and as intended to discourage a sortie, symptoms of preparations for egress from the town having been observed from the Boer positions.

From Gen. Buller's dispatch it would seem that his great turning movement, of which so much had been expected, has come to a standstill. His carefully worded message, after a silence of two days, reads like an apology and an explanation.

His plans apparently have reached their development. He declines to send his infantry against formidable positions by daylight and discloses his purpose to assault the Spion Kop Heights during the night. This appears to be the key to the Boer defenses. If he takes it, and thus commands the adjacent country, an important and possibly a decisive step will be accomplished.

His dispatch reached the War Office rather early in the night and was the subject of a prolonged conference between Lord Lansdowne, Mr. Balfour, and several staff officials. A determination appears to have been reached not to give out the messages during the night, but toward 2 A. M. copies of the dispatch were made for distribution among the newspaper offices. These arrived too late for extended comment.

The Morning Post and The Standard touch lightly upon the unpleasant features of the dispatch, and take hope from the projected night attack, but, all things considered, the dispatch looks like preparation for worse news.

Political considerations, both foreign and domestic, press upon the military authorities the necessity of speedily accomplishing something. These authorities may be persuaded to urge Gen. Buller to attempt his great operation without adequate preparation. This impression, whether true or not, is abroad.

Apparently, Lord Roberts has nothing whatever to do with Buller's operation. Buller and the War Office communicate with each other direct. Buller's scheme was conceived before Lord Roberts arrived at Cape Town, and its execution was begun on the day he landed. The fact that the judgment of Lord Roberts has not been brought to bear upon the movement does not add to public confidence.

The Times, commenting editorially upon Gen. Buller's dispatch, says:

"It can but tend to increase the severe strain from which the nation is suffering. We must await the result of his attempt to seize the formidable Boer position with courage and coolness. His success may be decisive; but the danger of the attempt is evidently great. The intense excitement of the besieged in Ladysmith may be imagined."

"Gen. Warren is moving with commendable, indeed imperative, caution; but it must not be forgotten that delay, however caused, must tell in many respects in favor of the enemy. The Boers have, it is true, fallen back when hard pressed, but they have gained time to bring up men, guns, ammunition, and supplies to the position they have selected for their principal stand, and to intrench it in thorough fashion, the fashion they understand so well. Until that position has been taken and its defenders routed and badly cut up, the relief of Ladysmith cannot be considered secure.."

BOER STORY OF THE FIGHTING.

BOER HEAD LAAGER, Ladysmith, Monday, Jan. 22.—A battle has been raging along the Olivier's Hoek Road since Saturday between the Boers under Pretorius and 6,000 British. The fighting is in full swing at Spion's Kop. The Boers under Botha and Cronje have been sent thither.

The British elsewhere are only making a reconnoissance of the Boer positions.

President Steyn was under fire at the foremost position of the Free Staters.

The quarters of Gens. White and Hunter were smashed this morning by a shot from "Long Tom." It is not known whether any of the occupants of the building were killed.

The British now occupy three positions along the Tugela River. Their naval guns have been firing steel-pointed armor-piercing shells.

The three British positions are the old Chieveley Camp, nearest Colenso; the central position at Swartzkop Drift, where they hold both banks of the river, and a point higher up in the direction of Zunckles, where they have bridged the river and established an immense commissariat. On the summit of the terraces at Swartzkop they have placed five naval guns, and have brought the field artillery across the river to a small kopje on the northern bank, whence they keep up an incessant and terrific cannonade on the Boer trenches.

Since the beginning of the week communication with the different positions has been kept up under the ordeal of this cannonade, the casualties resulting from this being heavier than those that occurred at Colenso. One of the shells from the naval guns killed a father and son, Free Staters, who were chatting at the time. Strangely, neither had any visible wounds.

Reports being received that 2,000 British cavalry were attempting to outflank us along the Drakensberg Ridge, a strong patrol was sent to reconnoitre. Mistaking the signals, the scouts and patrol proceeded to a kopje, whence a terrific rifle fire and Maxim gun fire suddenly opened.

The Boers lost fourteen men killed and twenty wounded. The British loss was probably insignificant.

The bombardment of the Boer position from Swartzkop has been heavy, chiefly from a battery brought across the river. On Saturday afternoon the cannonade became exceedingly brisk, and under cover thereof the infantry advanced in three lines to a second row of little kopjes, which they occupied at nightfall, but later they retired to their old position.

During the night a score of shells were fired by the British and a balloon was sent up to spy out the Boer positions.

It was expected that there would be no further action till to-day. Yesterday afternoon, however, signs were discerned of an intended movement in the British northern camp.

When the heat, which was more frightful than any yet experienced, had worn off, the British cannon started in full force, and their infantry advanced in extended order.

Gens. Botha and Cronje held the high hills over which the road to Ladysmith passed. When the Mauser fire opened a pandemonium of sound filled the air. The vindictive crash of lyddite shells, the sharp volleys of Lee-Metfords, and the whiplike crack of Mausers were interspersed with the boom of the Boer Maxims. The battle ended with darkness, but not without evidences of execution among the British that were manifest at sunrise.

Field Cornet Ernst Emilio was killed; nor did the Generals escape unscathed.

At the central position Swartzkop, where the other road to Ladysmith crosses the hills, the British advanced from low kopjes on the banks of the Tugela unmolested. Then they entered the zone of Mauser fire, and, although their naval guns kept up the usual terrible racket, the advance was stopped and the British had to count out their dead and wounded.

Commandant Viljoen and two burghers were knocked senseless by an explosion of lyddite, but Commandant Viljoen recovered. Field Cornet Heilbron was wounded, and on refusing to surrender, was shot.

The British loss was probably insignificant. They complain that sporting Mausers were found on the field, and soft-nosed bullets, with Lee-Metfords. The Boers admit that sporting Mausers were occasionally found, but they deny the charge respecting expansive bullets. Not a shot was fired by the Boers with cannon or rifle at the Swartzkop position this side the river.

One thousand infantry and a battery advanced yesterday to the second row of low hills between the Republicans and the river. Heavy cannonading proceeded at a range of 2,000 yards, but the Federals maintained the silence of death. This must have puzzled the British, as the advance was stopped, and this morning they had retired to their old positions.

The sixty-ninth birthday of Gen. Joubert was celebrated Friday by Gen. Botha reconnoitring in force toward the Drakensberg Mountains and turning the British advance after a short engagement. Gen. Joubert accompanied President Steyn to the Free State laagers south of Ladysmith. The President was in high spirits. He proposes to make a tour of all the laagers.

Ladysmith sent up many colored rockets Friday night.

PRETORIA, Jan. 21.—A dispatch from Colesberg, Cape Colony, says the British attacked the Boer positions there at 10 o'clock this morning. There was heavy fighting, but the result is not known. According to the latest accounts, the Boers were holding their positions.

A dispatch from Colenso of Thursday, Jan. 18, says a patrol of 200 men under Field Cornet Opperman, while scouting, was surrounded, but succeeded in fighting its way back. It is reported that four men were killed and thirty were wounded and made prisoners.

RELIEF IS NEARING MAFEKING.

GABERONES, Bechuanaland, Jan. 17, (via Lorenzo Marques, Jan. 23.)—A reconnoitring force this morning found the Boers on the Basuto Hill, which the British, supported by an armored train, occupied. Later to-day the cyclist scouts reconnoitred the Boer main laager, ten miles south of Fort Gaberones. They describe it as large and strongly intrenched.

There is increased activity in the Boers' position at Crocodile Pools, but, with the exception of a couple of shells, Col. Plumer's outposts have not heard from them to-day.

MAFEKING, Jan. 10, (via Beira, Jan. 18.)—Since the artillery attack of Jan. 3 the Boers have not fired so many shells at this place. Natives report that the Boer chief gunner is wounded, that five men were killed, and that their breastworks were damaged during the recent engagement.

Commandant Erasmus and his friends are reported to have departed, and the Boer forces in this vicinity are apparently fewer in number. Their estimated strength is 2,000 men.

PORTUGUESE SOIL IS INVADED.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—Mail advices from Lisbon say:

"It has been officially notified to the Government here from Lorenzo Marques that the Boers have committed a breach of neutrality by crossing Portuguese territory from Umballa to Rhodesia. A force of artillery has been sent there from Lorenzo Marques, and the Governor there has demanded reinforcements from here.

"Everything is being carried out with all possible secrecy, but I am informed on good authority that a portion of the troops have already started for Lorenzo Marques, and that others will follow immediately."

The correspondent in question adds: "I am sending a cable with this letter, but I fear it will be suppressed."

The editor of The Daily Mail appends this note: "The telegram was suppressed."

Umballa is north of Inhambane, which is a few miles above Cabe das Correntes, (Cape Wilberforce,) and the movement apparently indicates that the Boers are engaged in gun-running and men-importing through Rhodesia, or that, perhaps, they are planning to take Col. Plumer in the flank.

ROSEBERY ON WAR'S LESSONS.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—At the opening of the new Town Hall at Chatham to-day, Lord Rosebery, referring to the war, said:

"In such a war we must have bad moments. But I trust that, in the providence of God, we are striking a balance of the evils Great Britain has undergone and the good derived, and I do not think the balance is much against Great Britain."

Continuing, Lord Rosebery said:

"I was never so proud of my country as during the week following the battle of the Tugela River, when party politics disappeared absolutely and gave way to a passionate resolve to pour out the last shilling and the last man to assist the country in

Continued on Page 3.

A GIFT FROM MR. ROCKEFELLER.

Chicago University Will Be the Recipient of $50,000 More.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—As a result of the recent acquisition of the Gurley paleontological collection, John D. Rockefeller will give the University of Chicago $50,000. The Gurley specimens include 700,000 Mississippi Valley fossils.

The collection was valued at $125,000, and its gatherer agreed to contribute $50,000 of the sum, the rest being paid by the college. This amount will be duplicated by Mr. Rockefeller, who will allow the $50,000 to count in the completion of the $1,000,000 which was to be raised by the institution in order that it might receive a similar sum from the Standard Oil magnate.

PULLMAN'S $10,000 FEE.

His Estate Claims that Amount for His Attendance at One Meeting.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Robert T. Lincoln and Norman B. Ream, executors of the estate of the late George M. Pullman, to-day filed their second additional inventory in the estate. It consisted of one item numbered 235 and considered good. It was as follows:

"Union Pacific, Denver and Gulf Railway Reorganization Committee: Proportion of fee for services of George M. Pullman as a member of said committee, fee for himself having attended one meeting and for Mr. Ream, his successor, fixed at $20,000, of which Mr. Ream allots one-half to the estate."

Probate Court officials who saw the entry were of the opinion that $10,000 pay for attending a meeting of any kind was remuneration of which few men even dreamed.

PIPE WORKS IN BIRMINGHAM.

New Company Incorporated—Buys an Idle Stove Plant.

Special to The New York Times.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 23.—The Birmingham Pipe and Casting Company was incorporated to-day by E. A. Abrams and H. K. Spencer of Chester, Ill., and J. F. Hatcher of Columbus, Ohio, with a capital of $55,000. E. W. Abrams was elected President and F. E. Glenn of St. Charles, Ill., Secretary.

This company has purchased the long-idle plant of the Baxter Stove Works, including a block of ground in the city limits, a number of sheet-iron buildings, engine, boiler, cupola, &c., and will convert the property into a soil pipe plant, employing 150 hands and consuming forty tons of pig iron a day.

The men interested operate hollow-ware works at Chester, Ill.; Columbus, Ohio, and other points, and will add the manufacture of iron kettles, &c., to the Birmingham plant later on. The new plant will be in operation by May.

CHEAPER GAS FOR HAVERHILL.

Commission Fixes the Price at 80 Cents, Beginning Feb. 1.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Jan. 23.—The Gas Commission this morning made its decision in the Haverhill case, in which, after reviewing the hearing, it orders that the price of gas in that city be cut from $1 to 80 cents from and after Feb. 1. In the decision the Commissioners say: "In addition to the payment of an average dividend of about 8 per cent. the company has accumulated a surplus invested in its plant, estimated to represent $275,000."

The board goes on to say that the obvious purpose and tendency of the Gas Securities Company are to capitalize the company's surplus. To pay interest upon the new bonds will annually require a sum greater by more than 60 per cent. than the highest regular dividends ever paid by the gas company. The existence of this burden is a virtual declaration of a purpose in the Gas Securities Company practically to take out of the gaslight company that portion of the profits which the management has been accustomed to reserve within the corporation for the joint benefit of the company and its consumers.

"In view of these facts," says the commission, "there is no reason to believe that the former policy of the company in the treatment of profits will be continued, but there is ample reason to assume that it will turn over to the Gas Securities Company until its notes are satisfied whatever provision for contingencies may be included in the price. To such a policy consumers ought not to be asked to contribute."

WESTERN EDUCATOR ILL.

Dr. Von Holst of Chicago University Will Go to Europe.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—The health of Dr. Herman E. Von Holst, head of the department of history at the University of Chicago, is so shattered that he has given his private library to the university, and will go to Europe, to stay indefinitely. Dr. Von Holst has been afflicted with nervous trouble for a year or more. He spent the last vacation at his Summer home in Oconomowoc, but did not improve, and in the Fall, instead of giving his courses at the university, went into a sanitarium at Oconomowoc. Prof. Turner of Wisconsin has been conducting his seminary and Prof. Schwill carrying on his other work.

The Board of Trustees at a meeting yesterday received a letter from Dr. Von Holst, in which he offered as a gift to the institution his library of about 3,000 volumes. It is especially rich in American history, a subject on which the educator is a recognized authority. The only condition of the present is that if on his return from Europe he has recovered sufficiently to be able to resume his labors he may withdraw any books he desires at any time.

As to the prospect that Dr. Von Holst will again be able to take up his tasks, Dr. T. W. Goodspeed, Secretary of the board, said: "We cannot tell, we can only hope."

NO HOME FOR HER UNDER LAW.

Novel Case Confronts New Jersey Board of Children's Guardians.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 23.—The State Board of Children's Guardians laid before Gov. Voorhees to-day a novel case which confronts it in Hudson County. The law contains a provision to the effect that children shall only be placed in the care of families who profess the same religious faith as the parents of the children.

In framing the law it was not expected any unusual faith would be found, but there is in the Hudson County Almshouse a child whose parents were members of the Mohammedan faith. The little one was born in West Hoboken, and unless a change in the law is made there seems to be no provision under it by which a home for the child outside of the Almshouse can be found, as no suitable family can be found in this State.

$1,000 FOR SAVING A WOMAN.

Husband Offered that Amount, but Rescuer Had to Sue for It.

KOKOMO, Ind., Jan. 23.—David Rutherford was awarded a judgment of $1,000 in the Circuit Court against David Hiley for saving the latter's wife from drowning.

During a flood last Spring, Hiley and his wife were swept off a bridge by a torrent. Hiley reached land and offered $1,000 for the rescue of his wife. Rutherford, after a long struggle, brought the woman to shore, but Hiley, who is a wealthy farmer, refused to pay the reward. Rutherford sued, and the jury allowed him the full amount.

Twenty-four Hours to Chicago.
The Lake Shore Limited—most comfortable train in the world—every day at 5:30 P. M. from Grand Central Station, by New York Central.—Adv.

SLATER IS ASSEMBLYMAN

Republican Wins by 852 Votes in the Thirty-first District.

Defeats Goldrich, the Democratic Nominee, Reversing the Result of the November Election.

The special election for Member of Assembly in the Thirty-first District turned defeat into victory for the Republicans. Samuel Scott Slater received a majority of 852 votes.

The election was called by proclamation of Gov. Roosevelt, in consequence of the death of Assemblyman-elect Edwin C. Stone, (Dem.,) who at the election in November received 5,624 votes, against 5,562 cast for Mr. Slater. There was a number of defective ballots, and some trouble occurred over the election district returns. As a consequence, Mr. Slater filed a protest and preparations were made by both parties for a contest. The Democratic leader of the district is Isaac A. Hopper, who defeated Charles Welde last Fall; while the Republican leader is Silas Croft, Surveyor of the Port. As the fight was about to begin Mr. Stone died. Mr. Slater then declared that he would not make a contest for the seat and demanded a special election. This was ordered, and a day was set for the registration of new voters. The number of new voters who registered was 719, while the names of 13,103 who had registered last Fall were continued on the lists.

The Democrats placed in nomination Leon W. Goldrich, and the Republicans again nominated Mr. Slater. Both candidates made a house-to-house canvass. The polls opened at 6 o'clock yesterday morning and closed at 5 P. M. Before 9 A. M. the majority of the vote had been cast, the Republicans especially turning out early in force. There was no trouble of any kind throughout the day. When the returns began to come in at 6 o'clock it was soon evident that Mr. Slater would have a comfortable majority. By 7 o'clock Slater's election was assured, and the Republicans gathered at the Central Republican Club, One Hundred and Twenty-seventh Street and Lenox Avenue, and forming a parade marched through the district headed by a brass band. The following telegram was received by Assemblyman-elect Slater from his opponent:

Accept my heartiest congratulations for your beautiful victory. LEON W. GOLDRICH.

The following table shows the vote cast by election districts yesterday, and at the November election:

Election District.	Slater. Rep. Jan. 23.	Goldrich. Dem. Jan. 23.	Slater. Rep. Nov. 7.	Stone. Dem. Nov. 7.
1	127	65	158	115
2	116	162	103	82
3	116	146	138	166
4	120	131	151	199
5	116	200	137	243
6	189	204	191	261
7	153	161	207	213
8	177	112	164	170
9	102	78	171	119
10	117	143	161	159
11	137	188	178	312
12	119	172	138	230
13	139	83	175	102
14	168	118	170	156
15	149	102	145	140
16	116	101	141	147
17	131	77	150	100
18	157	86	181	149
19	104	138	128	164
21	127	113	126	169
22	161	104	158	171
23	124	34	127	58
24	131	78	154	92
25	95	61	117	107
26	162	143	168	168
27	184	106	166	176
28	130	61	157	89
29	167	91	187	149
30	188	92	201	145
31	118	92	132	123
32	119	69	101	120
33	129	77	138	124
34	156	124	191	180
35	115	97	99	141
36	135	92	138	140
Total	4,870	4,018	5,562	5,624

Leader Croft, when interviewed on the result, said: "There were fully 3,000 votes in the district that were not cast to-day. Mr. Slater labored under certain conditions last Fall that were unfavorable to him. This time, however, we had a straight fight, and I had no doubt of the result from the start."

There was much cutting among the Democrats, and some of them declared themselves openly for Slater.

ELKINS FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

The Senator Is Being Mentioned for the Nomination—He Is in Doubt About Running.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Stephen B. Elkins has been "boomed" for Vice President. The mention of his name for that office, and the assertion that Senator Hanna has a most kindly feeling for the Senator from West Virginia, but thinks that he is better fitted for the floor of the Senate than he is to preside over that body, has been publicly made. That Mr. Elkins has heard of the proposition that he seek the nomination there is no doubt, as he is reported as not knowing what to do about it.

Mr. Elkins is said to have declared that he does not quite answer the requirements made a few days ago by his colleague, Senator Scott, for "a good Western man" for the office. But his intimacy with the President, which is as close as that of Senator Hanna, is referred to as pointing him out as likely to be a most acceptable running mate and associate after the election, if his party should win with him on the ticket.

The friends of Senator Elkins admit that his identification with corporations may serve to render him less advantageous as a candidate than if he were not so prominently connected with them. But it is also maintained that this would be an element of strength, assuring the corporations of a friend and protector if Mr. Elkins was chosen to preside over the Senate.

One consideration that would weigh, it is said, with Mr. Elkins, in deciding whether he would run for Vice President is the fact that if he does not become Vice President he is about to enter upon a struggle to be re-elected Senator, compared with which all his prior struggles will seem tame and uninteresting. The Democrats came very close to getting a majority of the Legislature in the last election.

Mr. Elkins has twice carried the State, both times under adverse circumstances, and he does not enjoy the prospect of trying it again with the possibility of defeat. If he can get the nomination for Vice President he will expect to carry West Virginia. He is not so confident of being able to carry it for Senator.

FUSION IN MICHIGAN.

Silver Republicans and Populists to Take Name of Democrats.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 23.—According to Secretary Charles S. Hampton of the Democratic State Central Committee the tripartite name under which the anti-Republicans have worked will be abandoned this year, and Democrats, Silver Republicans, and Populists will unite under the name of Democrats.

It is considered a useless expense to keep up three separate organizations. It is expected, Mr. Hampton says, that each of the three organizations will call separate conventions, but the three will meet at the same place and on the same day.

ONE GOEBEL LEADER DESERTS.

Ex-Judge Morton Can See No Ground for the Contest.

LEXINGTON, Ky. Jan. 23.—Judge J. R. Morton, one of the leading supporters of Goebel in Central Kentucky, will say to-morrow in a card that he has carefully examined the evidence of the contestants for seats of the Republicans and concluded that "the evidence offered by the contestants altogether fails to support the right or claim of contestants to the offices they seek. Their claim under the evidence, in my judgment, is without foundation in law or in morals."

He further says the course the Democrats are pursuing will plunge the party into "a gulf of disaster if not of dishonor."

HANNA HIRES MORE OFFICES.

The New Rooms in Cleveland May Be the McKinley Headquarters.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Jan. 23.—The entire sixth floor of the big Perry-Payne Building on Superior Street, in which Senator Hanna's offices are located, have been leased by the Senator, and the last of the recent tenants moved to another floor today. An extra rear corridor not accessible from the stairways and elevators is being constructed. The offices are being wired for desk telephones, and an independent exchange for both local and long distance telephone service will be put in.

This is taken to indicate that the Perry-Payne Building will be the McKinley headquarters before the Republican National Convention and possibly one of the Republican National headquarters thereafter.

HENRY ALLEN HAZEN DEAD.

Weather Forecaster Succumbs to Injuries Received in Bicycle Collision with a Negro.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Henry Allen Hazen, one of the chief forecasters of the Weather Bureau, died here to-night as the result of injuries received last night by a bicycle collision with a negro pedestrian. His skull was badly fractured, and he continued unconscious up to the time of his death.

Prof. Hazen was born in Serur, India, fifty years ago, his father being at that time a missionary. The professor was graduated from Dartmouth in 1871, and then was connected with the scientific department of Yale for nine years. He joined the United States Signal Service, now the Weather Bureau, May 1, 1881.

Among the scientific devices produced by Prof. Hazen are the sling psychrometer and the thermometer shelter. He also established tables for reduction of barometric readings to sea level, and was the author of numerous meteorological papers.

Prof. Hazen was a bachelor and resided with a sister and two nephews.

NEW TELEPHONE COMPANY.

Incorporated in New Jersey with a Capital of $5,000,000.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 23.—The Excelsior Telephone, Telegraph and Subways Company was incorporated here to-day with a capital of $5,000,000. The company is formed to do a general telephone and telegraph business, and to erect poles and wires and construct underground conduits. The incorporators are Richard White, New York; John Scott and C. N. King, Jersey City.

Silas B. Dutcher, President of the People's Telephone Corporation, and Joseph S. Auerbach, counsel for the Knickerbocker Telephone and Telegraph Company, both denied any knowledge last night of this newly incorporated concern or its incorporators. The People's and Knickerbocker Companies have been carrying on negotiations for a good while, looking toward a merger.

ALABAMA COAL CONTRACTS.

Southern Pacific to Take 150,000 Tons at New Orleans.

Special to The New York Times.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 23.—The Southern Railway is now loading a six-thousand-ton tow of Walker County Alabama coal from its tipples at Greenville on its barges to be taken down the Mississippi River to New Orleans for use by the Southern Pacific. The Alabama Block Coal Company, a syndicate representing the Virginia and Alabama Coal Company, Southern Coal Company, Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Iron Company, and the Deer Creek Coal Company, has secured a contract with the Southern Pacific for 150,000 tons of Walker County coal deliverable through the year by the river route. The contract was secured through B. D. Wood & Co. of New Orleans, La. Besides this contract the Walker operators have orders from sugar planters south of Greenville for 100,000 tons, which assures 250,000 tons business this year, against 75,000 tons last year and 35,000 tons the year before, on a market heretofore supplied entirely by Pennsylvania. The Southern Railway is doubling its river carrying facilities to handle the business.

CAUGHT 11 COONS NAPPING.

Maine Farmer Found Animals in a Dead Tree Trunk.

Special to The New York Times.

BANGOR, Me., Jan. 22.—Farmer George Brown of Chesterville went into the woods the other day to get dry fuel, and he got a better load than he expected. He saw a giant pine stub, or dead trunk, on the edge of an icy marsh, cut it down, and began to chop it into lengths. Soon he felt his axe strike something soft as it broke through the shell of the stub. Thinking that there might be a bear inside, Brown proceeded cautiously, using wooden wedges to split the stub apart.

When the hollow, dry log fell in halves, there in the cavity lay eight fat coons, snugly housed away for the Winter. Further up in the trunk were two more coons, while in the stump was a fifty-pounder—the biggest and fattest of the lot. Brown thus got, besides a cord of dry wood, over 200 pounds of coon meat and eleven coon skins, and ever since that day he has quit all other work and goes about in the woods looking for more hollow stubs with coons in them.

The best time to find these snug harbors for coons is just after a snowstorm, when the warm breath of the coons melts bare spots in the snow on the tree trunks, thus betraying their presence.

MRS. PALMER MAY GO TO PARIS.

Senator Allison Says France Has Made No Objection.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Senator Allison said to-day that there was no understanding between this country and France which would prevent Mrs. Potter Palmer representing the United States at the Paris Exposition. He said the official reporter was in error in quoting him as saying in his remarks yesterday that the French Government had decided against women representatives.

What he had said was that the French had stood out against a distinctly woman's exposition. The misunderstanding was in the substitution of the word "representation" for "exposition."

Rush for Steamer Accommodations.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Steamship lines are trying to discourage organized private excursions to Paris for the exposition, and the promoters of these schemes are having trouble because steamship companies refuse to make special rates. The demand here for accommodations on the American, French, and German lines is unprecedented.

Gave $500,000 in Christmas Presents.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Information has just been made public that Col. Isaac L. Elwood gave each of his five grown children a check for $100,000 at breakfast Christmas day at his home, in De Kalb, Ill. The five children are William L., Perry, Puss Elwood Mayo, Mary Elwood Lewis, and Jessie Elwood Ray.

The Talk of the Town is the unprecedented importation of 109,303 cases G. H. Mumm's Extra Dry in 1899, or 72,495 cases more than any other brand, accounted for by the maintenance of the highest standard of quality. Their 1895 vintage now being imported equals its best predecessors.—Adv.

W. J. BRYAN DINES AT THE DEMOCRATIC CLUB

President Keller Entertains the Nebraskan Informally.

GENERAL RECEPTION FOLLOWS

The Presidential Candidate Meets Many Members of the Party—Cheers on His Entrance.

The dinner given by John W. Keller, President of the Democratic Club, in honor of William J. Bryan, took place in the main dining room of the clubhouse last night.

Mr. Bryan went from the Hoffman House in a carriage with ex-Gov. Hogg of Texas and James S. Oliver, and reached the clubhouse precisely at 7 o'clock, the appointed hour. At that time the lower floors of the house were comparatively empty, though every table in the dining room was occupied. As Mr. Bryan entered the house he was met by Mr. Keller and the other men who were to be guests at the dinner not consider Mr. Bryan to be a good Democrat. Among other questions Democrats would like him to express himself on are whether he is for or against protection and whether he is for or against subsidies. He has never opened his mouth on either.

"Apropos of our letter to Mr. Keller, I understood that a large number of those who oppose his course in the matter of this dinner were to have signed it, and I cannot imagine how it got into the hands of the press before it reached him."

Register Isaac Fromme said the dinner would cause no dissension in the club. "It is a private affair," he added, "on the part of Mr. Keller. I want to say this, however, that the Democratic Club is practically unanimous for Mr. Bryan. The members are regular, and will support the regular ticket. You will see that the club will be crowded to-night, and that the members will all press forward to take Mr. Bryan by the hand. These kickers have no weight at all."

Tax Commissioner Sheehy said: "Those men who signed the letter to Mr. Keller do not represent the club by any means. They represent themselves only. There is no division over this dinner affair. Mr. Keller has a perfect right to invite Mr. Bryan to the club to a private dinner given by himself, and it in no way is a club affair. It is unnecessary to make so much over so small a matter."

Sheriff Grell said the affair was like viewing a mole hill as a mountain. "The least said about it the better," he said. "There has been too much said already. It would be absurd to say that any dissension will arise from Mr. Bryan going to the club. Mr. Bryan comes here as a citizen of Nebraska, so far as the club is concerned, and Mr. Keller invites him as his guest at a private dinner. It cannot be an official dinner, because no official action has been taken by the Governors. There can be no offense justly taken by any member of the club. Mr. Roosevelt and his friends who signed the letter to President Keller represent no one but themselves. I have not heard a single discordant note otherwise."

City Chamberlain Patrick Keenan said there ought not, in his opinion, to be any friction whatever. "All there is to it," he went on, "is that Mr. Keller dines Mr. Bryan in a private and purely social capacity, the same as any gentleman might do. It matters not whether Mr. Bryan is a Presidential candidate or whether he is not. He goes there as a guest. Mr. Roosevelt M. Fox, and Mr. Doyle represent no one's sentiment in the club except their own in this matter so far as I know."

VIEWS OF GOLD DEMOCRATS.

Democrats not connected with the club were not disposed to criticise Mr. Keller's action, which they regarded as purely personal, but they had something to say about Mr. Bryan's assertion that "many of the gold Democrats have become reconciled to the Chicago platform, and many more will return to us, either because they now favor that platform or because of the new issues which have arisen and which will be incorporated in the platform of 1900."

Said Edward M. Shepard: "I do not know of any gold Democrats who are becoming reconciled to the free-silver proposition. The gold Democrats sincerely hope that Mr. Bryan and those who agree with him, however sincere and intelligent their devotion to free silver may be, will see that at present that cause cannot get a hearing with any real chance of success, and that the true thing for all Democrats to do is to unite upon the issues on which they do agree—that is to say, to oppose the anti-Democratic foreign policy of this Administration, to oppose the present protective system, and all other special privileges to special classes. Upon such a platform all Democrats could stand, and the free-silver cause, if it have the vitality its friends believe it has, can be renewed in 1904."

John De Witt Warner observed: "All Democrats are desirous to find the man who will unite us next Fall and defeat Mr. McKinley. I don't indorse free silver, yet as between Mr. Bryan and Mr. McKinley, I infinitely prefer Mr. Bryan. Indications have lately been growing that the abject committal of the Administration to the interests of a self-seeking coterie, such as that headed by Hanna, will unite the majority of our voters against the Republican Party as compared with any probable alternative, just as a few years since the betrayal of tariff reform and the Sugar Trust scandals united them against the Democrats without stopping to care who were to succeed them. I certainly hope for a Democratic platform much more inspiring than was that of Chicago four years ago, but unless there is such a development of depravity as I cannot anticipate I expect to take great pleasure in voting against Mr. McKinley and in favor of some Democrat who will be elected.

FREE SILVER NOT A DANGER.

"So far as free silver is concerned, while I consider it tomfoolery, I believe the country to be no more in danger from it than from the Anti-Vaccination Society. Most Democrats doubtless would vote for Bryan or some other equally clean Democrat. Some doubtless might be deterred from doing so were free silver made prominent, and of independent voters many or few would doubtless be attracted according as our platform met their ideals.

"Personally I know of but few men in any party who are really worried about the free-silver issue. It is mainly kept alive by Republican politicians, who, having shaken three Presidents out of the bloody shirt, seem to think there are two yet due them from free silver.

"I don't think the people will be fooled that way. The very ones who are making the most noise about free silver are those who, when it was a real issue, didn't dare open their mouths. They are simply using it as a red herring to draw across the trail. The men who really fought against free silver when it was dangerous are pretty likely to fight against the things that are dangerous now, and in this fight I see no reason why Democrats should not stand solid.

"The planks upon which I believe they would stand solid would be anti-imperialism, free trade, the repeal of all laws favoring special privileges to any class, and the absolute withdrawal of the Government from interference with the currency of the country except as it does in the Post Office, to facilitate and safeguard such expedients as commerce of its own accord shall favor, and hold every man to whatever contract he shall have made."

Ex-Senator Jacob A. Cantor said he did not believe the action of Mr. Keller or any courtesy extended to Mr. Bryan by any other Democrat would affect one way or the other the differences which now exist in the Democratic Party. "I believe the party ought to get back to its old conservative lines," he added. "Until it does, I propose to let politics alone and attend, as I have for some time been doing, strictly to my private business."

NEW JERSEY DEATH DAMAGES.

Proposed Amendment to Law Killing "Pecuniary Loss" Clause.

A bill intended to remedy the defects in the law concerning the recovery of damages for the death of persons resulting from "neglect or wrongful acts, or default," has been drawn by Assemblyman George G. Tennant of Hudson County, N. J. The bill is intended to apply in such cases as that of Abraham Lincoln Graham of Jersey City, who sued the Consolidated Traction Company for $10,000 damages for the death of his son. Verdicts of $5,000 given by three juries were set aside by the courts.

Supreme Court Justice Gummere, in setting aside one verdict, ruled that under the laws damages can be secured only for the pecuniary loss actually sustained, and not for sentimental injuries. The Court allowed but $1 damages. The fourth and last trial resulted in a verdict of $2,000.

Mr. Tennant's bill gives the right to recover to the widow or widower, or to the next of kin, damages for the loss and suffering, and not for the pecuniary loss as heretofore.

HEBREW LOAN ASSOCIATION.

President Zinsler Reports $101,800 Put Out During 1899.

The eighth annual meeting of the Hebrew Free Loan Association was held last evening at the Educational Alliance. The Rev. Dr. L. Zinsler, President of the association, in his report stated that $101,800 was loaned during 1899, and that the loans had been distributed among 5,554 persons. During the eight years of the association's existence, he said that 15,224 families had been relieved of the necessity of applying for charity. The total loaning capital of the association at present is $30,700.

Dr. Zinsler announced the election of the following Directors: M. Alemikoff, Jacob Cohen, A. Goldberg, L. Helle, William Mettzner, B. Margolies, Isidor Platt, H. Reiken, J. Rabinowitz, J. Spector, M. Wessel, and the Rev. Dr. Zinsler.

Addresses were delivered by Jacob H. Schiff, one of the largest contributors, and by the Rev. Dr. S. Schulman and the Rev. Dr. Stephen S. Wise. Dr. Schulman said in part: "It is significant that what is called modern scientific charity has only in the last decade reached the conception, which the Jewish religion has always held in regard to charity. The work of this association does not degrade, but uplifts. The strong who have succeeded must help the weak and puny, and the grandest charity is her which lends."

BRYAN AND HIS VISITORS

Presidential Aspirant's Busy Day at the Hoffman House.

CHICAGO PLATFORM MEN SPLIT

Some of Them Resent an Effort to Prevent Party Strife—Views on Trusts and the Philippines.

William Jennings Bryan put in another busy day at his apartments in the Hoffman House yesterday. From early in the morning until late in the evening a constant stream of callers, including personal friends and political admirers, surged through his room. For several hours he was in consultation with representatives of the Chicago Platform Democracy. At the end of this conference it was admitted by some of the conferrees that Mr. Bryan had so impressed upon them the necessity for harmonious work by all the Democrats of this State that it had been practically decided to drop all efforts to send a contesting delegation to the National Convention. In other words, the Chicago Platform people were "called off" by Mr. Bryan.

The expected harmony, however, was not obtained, for after the conference a group of the Chicago Platform men gathered in one of the corridors of the hotel and indulged in an angry discussion over the events of the day. Then it was remarked by one of the members of the organization that Mr. Bryan's visit had caused a split in the Chicago Platform Democracy.

The first meeting with the Chicago Platform men took place early in the morning, when Mr. Bryan took breakfast in the public café with Dr. G. W. Thompson, Chairman of the Executive Committee; James R. Brown, President of the State Committee; Henry A. Goulden, its Treasurer; Louis B. Parsons, H. C. S. Stimson, Samuel Seabury, and John S. Crosby, representing the Chicago Platform Democracy; Philo S. Bennett, and Edward F. Dunn of Binghamton. During the meal, according to one of those present, there was a long talk on National issues, in which Mr. Bryan assured his visitors that the Chicago platform would be ratified by the next National Convention, and that vigorous planks denouncing trusts and imperialism would be added to it. The matter of a contesting delegation was touched upon, it was said, but Mr. Bryan gave no encouragement to the idea. It was practically agreed that nothing should be done to disrupt the party in this State. After the breakfast Mr. Brown said:

WILL HOLD A CONVENTION.

"We shall hold a convention, according to our programme, and it will depend upon that convention whether or not we send a contesting delegation to the next National Convention. It cannot be said that we consulted with Mr. Bryan. We were there simply to express our views, and we did it. We told him that we thought we should have a contesting delegation, but he had nothing to say in reply. He is entirely neutral in the matter and is willing to let us use our own judgment about making a fight against the regular organization.

"We had intended to hold our convention in March, but the date is subject to change. At any rate, we shall wait to see what the regular organization does at its primaries. Even if it should declare in favor of the Chicago platform, much will depend upon the manner of men they select for delegates. Mr. Bryan cannot mix up in local troubles. He has a hard enough row to hoe as it is. One thing is certain, if the men who voted for the Republican money bill are renominated for Congress we shall certainly place an opposing ticket in the field."

It is evident from talks had with other members of the Chicago Platform Democracy that Mr. Brown, who had called on Mr. Bryan on Monday, had set the matter before him in his own way, and that as a result he was endeavoring to prevent his organization from going into the fight for delegates to the National Convention. Mr. Brown, when asked about this, declined to talk.

While Mr. Bryan was at luncheon the State Committee of the Chicago Platform Democracy, which had been called together in pursuance of a resolution adopted last Friday night, gathered together in the hotel corridor. In the party were Mr. Brown, Dr. G. W. Thompson, Dr. G. R. Thompson, W. H. Gogeret, R. J. Malloy, F. N. Neale, J. W. Hughes, S. S. Monand, Samuel Everett, J. J. McMillan, Martin Dammary, G. D. Gardiner, S. J. Levy, W. J. Mullen, J. F. Ryan, P. S. Bennett, and L. S. Bedford, all of New York; J. S. Corbin of Goveurneur, J. W. F. Ruttenber and Joseph F. Reilly of Newburg, William Brittagam of Queens County, H. J. Bishop of Suffolk, E. L. Ryder of Sing Sing, E. M. Ealliser of Westchester, W. E. Ryan and J. M. Nolan of Rochester, and Calvin E. Keach of Troy. When Mr. Bryan re-entered his apartments James S. Oliver, Sergeant at Arms of the Democratic National Committee, said: "Members of the delegation, please stand forward."

"No, no," exclaimed Mr. Brown, "this is no delegation. These men come here as individuals." At this remark the members of the party appeared to be greatly surprised, but when Mr. Bryan came forward and began to greet them and shake hands with them they forgot their astonishment.

ANGRY TALK IN A CORRIDOR.

When the last one of the party had shaken hands they withdrew in a body to the corridor, where they talked for a half hour. Few of them were willing to talk for publication, but it was apparent that they felt that Mr. Bryan's visit had done a great deal to damage their chances for becoming a factor in the ensuing campaign. There was a great deal of angry talk about the way Mr. Brown had acted, and some of them were for openly repudiating what he had done. Finally, the party drifted out of the hotel, with the exception of Dr. G. W. Thompson and Mr. Brown, who remained for some time, but did not make another attempt to see Mr. Bryan.

Mr. Bryan was inclined to be uncommunicative yesterday, especially in regard to the speech he made at the dinner which he attended on Monday night. When asked if he had been correctly quoted as saying, "If these principles can be carried out under another leader I will be willing to step aside," he replied:

"Yes, I have taken that position at all times. I am working for principles, and any notion that my happiness depends on holding public office is a mistaken one. The only trouble is that too often my remarks are only partially quoted, or that the matter which precedes them is omitted. This was the case on Monday night. I had been introduced as the candidate of the Democratic Party for President, and what I said was merely a reiteration of former statements which I have made."

When he said this, Mr. Bryan had just come from a conference at which Frank Campbell, Chairman of the State Democratic Committee; Elliot Danforth, Chairman of the Executive Committee of that body; John A. Mason, Senator Thomas F. Grady, and Dr. J. H. Girdner were present. Mr. Bryan was asked if he had discussed with these men the local situation or means of promoting harmony in the party.

"No," he said, "I do not talk local politics with anybody. I was merely telling them what I thought was right."

Later in the afternoon Mr. Bryan met the reporters. The representative of a Western paper inquired of him "What is your remedy for the trust problem?"

Mr. Bryan did not hesitate a moment in formulating his reply, but said: "I believe that Congress should regulate corporations, or trusts, by means of a license to be issued to every corporation organized in one State before it shall be allowed to do business outside of that State. The conditions upon which such license should be issued are two, and they would make monopolies impossible: First, that the corporation shall have no water in its stock; second, that it has not in the past and is not at present intending to monopolize any branch of business or the product of any merchandise. This license would have revoked upon the first violation of its conditions. I would further secure obedience by compelling reports to be published regularly.

STATE POWER NOT SUFFICIENT.

"While each State exercises all the power it now has, the power is not a complete remedy, because if the people of one State shut out the monopoly, the monopoly still has forty-four States in which to operate. If this action by Congress should be taken, the corporation is confined to one State until it is shown not to be a monopoly. I believe this plan works along the line of the least resistance because every honest corporation would help enforce the remedy."

Mr. Bryan repeated what he had said on Monday regarding the Philippine question, and said that he felt sure that if the Filipinos could become convinced of the honesty of the intentions of the United States the war would cease in a very short time. When asked why, in his opinion, the Filipinos had declined to be satisfied with President McKinley's message to them, Mr. Bryan replied:

"The message was so much like the proclamation made by Queen Victoria when she assumed the title of Empress of India that the Filipinos could not see any promise of independence in it. The difference between self-government and foreign domination is that in self-government the people take care of themselves, and in the case of foreign domination they have to depend upon the wisdom and benevolence of outsiders. If the outsider combines omniscience and unselfishness he may confer blessings upon those whom he governs, but we have not found any human being yet who combines those qualities. Mr. Hanna comes nearest to it in the Republican estimation, but he is too busy with his Senatorial labors to devote himself to the Filipinos."

After luncheon Mr. Bryan went driving for an hour or so, and then returned to his rooms, where he met several representatives of the Greater New York Italian-American Democratic Union, who assured him that they had supported him in 1896, and would be only too happy to vote for him in 1900. Mr. Bryan thanked his visitors.

Among the callers on Mr. Bryan were Bernard D. O'Connell, whose card said that he was "Distributor of 'Coin on Money, Trusts, and Imperialism' in the East"; W. D. Upshaw of Macon, Ga., who wrote on his card: "Dear Mr. Bryan, will be glad to see you only two minutes"; E. S. Decker, who wrote, "I am an admirer and supporter of yours, and my home is in Scranton, Penn."; W. J. Stallnecker of Yonkers, who was formerly a member of Congress; John Risley, ex-Minister to Denmark; Edward Spencer Pratt, ex-United States Consul at Singapore; J. C. Truman of Binghamton, ex-Chairman of the Democratic State Executiv Committee, and Gustav Augerstin of Washington.

FORTUNE TELLER'S VISIT.

Late in the afternoon a palmist and fortune teller, who had called several times for the purpose of taking Mr. Bryan's horoscope from the lines of his hand, was admitted to Mr. Bryan's room. James S. Oliver, who introduced the man to Mr. Bryan, informed the later of the man's mission, and Mr. Bryan, with a laugh, consented to go through the operation. He laid his right hand upon the black disk which the palmist carried, and the latter agreed to send him a written outline of his future.

One of the last callers on Mr. Bryan before he went to the Democratic Club was Col. James Jones, Superintendent of the Aquarium, who talked to him earnestly for about five minutes. After he left Mr. Bryan's presence, Col. Jones was asked what was the nature of his conversation. "I gave him some good advice," he said. "I told him that unless he dropped silver entirely he wouldn't have one vote in sixteen. He didn't take it seriously, but it's all right, and he'll find out next Fall if he runs again."

Mr. Bryan will start this morning at 10 o'clock for Stamford and New Haven, Conn., in each of which places he will make a speech this afternoon. This evening he will speak in St. Peter's Hall, Jersey City.

BRYAN'S FRIENDS ARE WORRIED

Fear that Democrats of This City May Induce Him to Abandon 16 to 1.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—W. J. Bryan's friends here are much worried about the trouble that discordant Democrats are causing the leader of 1896. While he is absent in New York, it is found that some of them are fretting lest he shall be affected by the very general desire expressed by some of the newspapers which wish to follow him in 1900 that he shall surrender the 16-to-1 policy and depend upon other issues to carry him into the White House.

It is to little purpose that these Democrats are told that a silver candidate on a 16-to-1 platform cannot carry the State of New York. Said one of them:

"If Col. Bryan is led into abandoning the free-silver idea, he might as well shut up shop. In the South and West it is still as potent an issue as it was four years ago. Let the party drop it in order to carry the State of New York, and away would go Bryan's hope of carrying the silver States of the West. He can and will carry every Southern State, anyway, whether he stands for free silver or leaves it out of the platform.

"The Bryan managers are depending to a great extent upon getting the Irish and Germans together for Bryan by arousing opposition to imperialism and identifying the Democratic Party with sympathy for the Boers. The sympathy meeting held here on Sunday night was largely a meeting of Irish sympathizers with Krüger's cause, and the only Republican speaker of note was Senator Mason of Illinois. Democrats ran it, and considered it a very satisfactory test of popular feeling, to be followed up in the effort to renew interest in Democratic campaigning.

"There is some uncertainty among the leading Bryan Democrats here, which is shared with those elsewhere, as to the principal issue to be selected. Mr. Bryan's definitions of imperialism do not yet strike the exacting politicians as being quite clear enough to push with zeal. Some of the Democrats who have tried to follow Bryan admit that they do not follow him sympathetically.

"The meeting of the National Committee in February is looked forward to with interest, both by Bryan Democrats and those who hope for better things. One prominent Democrat, who has never been in sympathy with Bryan or his doctrines, declared today that he had no interest in the quibbles that are dividing the party.

"It is irretrievably broken," he said. "It cannot be patched together. Hereafter there will be two parties, but one of them will not be Democratic Party. They will be very much alike. One will be conservative, the other radical, in supporting practically the same issues."

BRYAN'S WORK IN THE EAST.

If He Came Seeking Campaign Funds, It Is Said He Is Likely to be Disappointed.

Men of political acumen who have observed the doings of Mr. Bryan since his arrival in this city and noted the quality of his callers seem to unite in the opinion that if one of his objects in coming East was to raise a substantial campaign fund he will return to Nebraska disappointed. That is, they say, he will be disappointed as to immediate results, but possibly may be buoyed up by promises that when political activity is in full swing something in the way of campaign money may come out of the masses in the East to promote his election providing he becomes the Presidential nominee.

It has been noted before that none of the moneyed Democrats in New York has called upon Mr. Bryan, and it is said he did not expect them to do so. A few party men, who are not intense admirers of Mr. Bryan's policy, have discussed the question of a campaign fund in New York, and generally agreed that whatever is to come in this line must be produced in small contributions. So far it is believed that if the Presidential candidate has tried to raise money he has not met with success.

What he may do now or at some future time here was outlined last night in a story told of a speech made by him at Des Moines, Iowa, last September, the day before the State Convention. Mr. Bryan got the Chairmen of the County Campaign Committees of the State together and advised them regarding ways and means of raising money to carry on that campaign. Mr. Bryan, in effect, told them he did not expect that the corporations or the rich men would contribute enough to liquidate a fair-sized printing bill, and that whatever was raised would have to come from the common people—the farmers and workingmen of the State. "I suggest," Mr. Bryan said to the Chairmen, "that we gather a fund by starting in to raise money from these voters by dollar subscriptions. The rich men and corporations we cannot count upon."

This plain, said a Western man who is stopping at the Hoffman House, did not meet with unqualified success. A large part of the farmer population, instead of producing the dollar, seemed to resent it as a personal insult if the Campaign Committees in their respective counties did not send vehicles to take them to the polls.

The suggestion was made that Mr. Bryan may have outlined this dollar plan to the Chicago Platform Democracy men who have called upon him since his arrival, with a view to having it promulgated among his followers in the East. So far there has been an utter lack of campaign fund talk among those who have talked with the candidate.

BRYAN'S VISIT TO NEW JERSEY.

Resolution to Welcome Him Goes to the Public Health Committee.

TRENTON, Jan. 23.—Mr. Garrison (Rep.) of Morris introduced a resolution in the House to-day tendering the freedom of the State to William Jennings Bryan, who is to speak in Jersey City to-morrow night. Messrs. Benny and Abbett resented what they termed the ridicule the resolution contained.

The resolution was referred to the Committee on Public Health.

Mr. Bryan to Speak for Charity.

William Jennings Bryan will speak for charity on Monday evening, Feb. 5, at Carnegie Hall under the auspices of Winfield Scott Hancock Post, No. 259, Grand Army of the Republic. The proceeds of the lecture will be devoted to the relief fund of the post. Mr. Bryan told a committee of the organization that called upon him yesterday that, while his address would be non-partisan, he would touch upon the subjects of imperialism and trusts.

Bryan to Plead the Boers' Cause.

At the meeting last evening of the committee which is making arrangements for a demonstration next Monday evening in favor of the Boers, Chairman Van Hoesen announced that William J. Bryan had expressed regret at his inability to be present Monday evening, adding that he would speak at a meeting in this city on Feb. 6 in vindication of the position of the Boers in their war with England.

PRICE HAS LOCATED MILLER.

Late Tenderloin Commander Knows Where Franklin Syndicate Man Is —An Indictment Found.

William F. Miller, who conducted the 520 per cent. Franklin Syndicate in Brooklyn, has been located in Canada, and is under surveillance. This information was given out by the Brooklyn authorities last night.

The honor of locating Miller is credited to Capt. James K. Price, recently transferred from the Tenderloin Precinct to take charge of the Brooklyn Detective Bureau.

Miller was indicted on Nov. 24, in conjunction with his assistant, Cecil Leslie, whose whereabouts are unknown, for conspiracy in obtaining money through fraud and misrepresentation.

This offense is not extraditable, and yesterday a new indictment was found against Miller for embezzlement. The new indictment will be presented to Judge Aspinall, in the County Court, on Friday, when extradition papers will be ready.

DONKEY LEADS A LONG CHASE.

"Dewey," Born on the Day of the Battle of Manila Bay, Enjoys a Brief Period of Freedom.

Born on the morning that the American Admiral steamed into Manila Bay, Dewey, a shaggy, slate-colored donkey, has persistently made life miserable for his hostler since, one month old, he stumbled off the Greenpoint Ferry, and was lodged in the stable at the rear of Roll & Held's carriage repairing shop near the foot of East Twenty-fifth Street. Dewey was sent as a mascot to Henry Blauveit of East Twenty-seventh Street by a Long Island relative. His antics have long been the talk of the neighborhood, but his escapade yesterday furnished more excitement than the district had experienced for many days.

Dewey enjoys the freedom of the barn, restrained only by a gate that in the daytime bars the outside doorway. To overcome this obstacle and enjoy the freedom that a Yankee donkey, born on such a day, and bearing such a name, should claim by right, has been with him the object of long cogitation. His opportunity came yesterday noon when the hostler, William Fraser, in entering the barn to feed the horses, forgot to close the gate. With a dash and a bray Dewey was out into the open and soon gained the street, and headed eastward for the river. By this time Fraser had reached the sidewalk, and was in pursuit. Twenty-fifth Street soon filled with workmen from the neighboring shops, startled from their midday luncheon by the braying of the delighted animal. Many joined Fraser in the chase.

At the foot of the street Dewey brought up against the closed gateway to Candee & Smith's lumber docks. A narrow lane between the lumber piles led from Twenty-fifth to Twenty-sixth Street, and toward this opening Dewey whirled. When he reached the other end three workmen who had been seated on blocks of wood in the lane, peacefully eating, picked themselves up, brushed the sawdust off their clothes, and gathered together their luncheon pails and the scattered fragments of food. No one was hurt.

Dewey's pursuers were by this time rushing through the lane, while Dewey had just turned into First Avenue from Twenty-sixth Street and was headed north. Then the chase began in earnest. Laborers, boys, and girls on their way from school, casual passers-by, and policemen joined in the pursuit. Fraser and the original pursuers were left far in the rear.

At Thirtieth Street Dewey was a block ahead of his would-be captors. A bunch of green bananas at a fruit stand caught his eye. With a bound and a long bray he reached the sidewalk and brought up short at the stand. Half in alarm, the Italian fruit dealer waved his arms in rejection of the unusual customer. The throng of pursuers, led by Fraser, who had by this time forged to the front, was rapidly drawing near. Dewey whisked about and went at them full tilt. As rapidly as they had gathered in pursuit, they now scattered, stumbling over one another in their haste. A clear path was ahead of him, and he clattered south almost as briskly as he had led the chase northward.

At Twenty-sixth Street Dewey was far ahead of his pursuers and his gallop relapsed into a jog. He trotted down Twenty-sixth Street until opposite the gate to Bellevue Hospital and then entered the hospital yard. Chased from this haven, he again took to the street, and, after a few undetermined capers, headed for the lumber yard where he had left the workmen sprawling.

Here he lost his bearings. He was cornered between lumber piles by several men and finally led off to his barn in disgrace by the exhausted Fraser, who had by this time arrived.

DISPUTE OVER WOMAN'S ARREST.

Prisoner Says She Is Respectable and Husband Corroborates Her.

Among the prisoners in the Jefferson Market Police Court yesterday morning was a woman charged with loitering in Broadway by Detective Binning of the West Thirtieth Street Police Station, who said she was Mrs. Louise Monnal, twenty-six years old, of 222 West Forty-eighth Street. She was well dressed, and wore a pair of neat gold-rimmed eyeglasses.

To Magistrate Hogan she insisted she was respectable and said she had kept a boarding house at the address she gave for several years. Eugene L. Monnal, her husband, corroborated her story and produced a lease to the property made out in her name, and Magistrate Hogan discharged her, saying:

"If the policeman had what he thought to be reasonable grounds for making the arrest, you will probably be here again, and the ends of justice will not be long delayed; if you were wronged, I am sorry for your arrest."

A young man at the house in West Forty-eighth Street, who said he was a lodger there, last evening said Mrs. Monnal's story was true, and that she and her husband had gone out to see if they could get no redress for her sufferings. The police of the West Forty-seventh Street Station, in which precinct the premises are located, said they knew nothing against the house or its occupants.

Detective Binning, however, insisted that he had made no mistake. He had never seen the woman before, he said, and so was very careful. He had seen her accost three different men at 11 o'clock Monday night, he said, and had overheard enough of the conversation to warrant him in taking her into custody.

Telephone Service in Manhattan may be had for FIVE DOLLARS A MONTH

And Upward, According to Class of Line and Use of the Service.

Telephone service puts the whole organization of a great city at your fingers' ends, day and night.

NEW YORK TELEPHONE COMPANY,
115 West 38th St. 952 Broadway. 15 Dey St.

KLING'S ATTORNEY DEMANDS ACTION

Wants Proceedings Taken Against State Trust Company.

CONFERS WITH GOV. ROOSEVELT

He Alleges that W. C. Whitney and R. A. C. Smith are Criminally Liable.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 23.—Charles P. Bacon, attorney for Abram Kling, appeared here today and conferred with Gov. Roosevelt. He brought copies of a letter which he says was sent by him to Frederick D. Kilburn, Superintendent of Banks. In this letter, which he made public, he reiterates the charge of criminal action against the State Trust Company. He alleges that William C. Whitney and R. A. C. Smith violated the law in being Directors and individually being interested in a loan. He demands that immediate proceedings be taken against them and that the Superintendent at once take charge of the trust company. The letter follows:

"Sir: On Jan. 11 I placed in the hands of the Governor the verified petition of Abram Kling asking for an examination by you of the affairs of the State Trust Company of New York City.

"The petition contained a recital of facts, which, if true, charged in effect that crimes had been committed by Directors and officers of that company. It was given to the Governor in order that he might cause an examination to be made. If the facts set forth in the petition were found to be substantially true, the petition was to be filed by him with you.

"On the morning of the 12th the examination was made. Later in the day the petition came into your hands. I have since learned that you have made another examination of the affairs of the company in person. I am informed that the examiner appointed by the Governor, Gen. Avery D. Andrews, has made a report upon the condition of the affairs of the company as found by him on the morning of the 13th, which has been in your hands for a week or more.

"Mr. Kling in his petition asked that, in case the examination disclosed the facts set forth by him to be substantially correct, that you report such facts to the Attorney General of the State and request such prosecutions to be instituted against the officers and Directors of the State Trust Company, and such actions to be brought against the company as the law in such cases requires.

"Neither Mr. Kling nor myself has, up to the present time of writing, received any information from you as to whether the facts charged were true. No communication whatever has been received. I think I have a right to believe from the action of the Governor in filing the petition with you, that the facts set forth were found to be correct in substance. I desire to call your attention to the laws of the State. Section 156 of the banking law in regard to trust companies declares:

No loans shall be made by any such corporation, directly or indirectly, to any Director or officer thereof.

Section 606 of the Penal Code reads as follows:

Every Director of a moneyed corporation who willfully does any act as such Director which is expressly forbidden by law, or willfully omits to perform any duty imposed upon him as such Director by law is guilty of a misdemeanor, if no other punishment is prescribed by law.

"The general corporation law of the State in Section 6 says:

A moneyed corporation is a corporation formed under or subject to the banking or the insurance law.

Section 15 of the Penal Code reads as follows:

A person convicted of a crime declared to be a misdemeanor for which no other punishment is specially prescribed by this code, or by any other statutory provision in force at the time of the conviction and sentence, is punishable by imprisonment in a penitentiary or county jail, for not more than one year, or by a fine of not more than $500, or by both.

"Mr. Kling has charged, among other things, that $2,000,000 was loaned to an employe of one of the Directors of the State Trust Company for the use and benefit of William C. Whitney, Thomas F. Ryan, and Peter A. B. Widener, three of the Directors in the State Trust Company. In a public interview Mr. Whitney has admitted that he was directly interested in this loan, and the other Directors have not denied it.

"Mr. Kling further charged that R. A. C. Smith, another Director of the company, was indirectly interested in loans aggregating nearly $1,000,000. Mr. Smith has denied this.

"I desire to call your attention to the fact that if a crime has been committed, the evidence of the crime is now and has been ever since the 12th inst. in the possession and under the control of the men who committed it. This does not seem to me to be a proper condition of affairs. I hereby ask and demand that you take immediate possession of the books and papers of the State Trust Company and remain in control of them.

"I ask and demand that you give to me a copy of the report of the examination made by Gen. Andrews. I also ask and demand that you send a copy of Gen. Andrews's report to the Attorney General of the State and request such prosecutions to be instituted against the officers and Directors of the State Trust Company, and that he bring such actions against the State Trust Company as the law in such cases requires.

"If you do not immediately act in this matter, I will at once institute proceedings in behalf of Mr. Kling before the Attorney General.

CHARLES P. BACON."

Superintendent Kilburn, when seen to-night, said he had not received any letter from Mr. Bacon, and when informed of its contents, he declined to make any comments until he had received the original letter. It is thought here that this is an attempt to force Mr. Kilburn to resign his office. Superintendent Kilburn is understood to be personally friendly to Superintendent Payn.

THE WEATHER.

LOCAL FORECAST.—Partly cloudy, much colder, northwesterly winds.

The cold wave which occupied Manitoba Monday night has extended over the northern lake region and the St. Lawrence Valley, with minimum temperature 20 degrees below zero at White River, Ontario. In the Central, Southern, and Western States the temperatures continue above the seasonal average. Snow flurries have occurred in the northern lake region and the northern Rocky Mountain districts, and rain is reported in the North Pacific Coast States, elsewhere fair weather has prevailed. During the next twenty-four hours the cold wave will overspread northern New York and northern New England, causing a fall in temperature of about thirty degrees in that region. In the upper lake region the temperature will rise with increasing cloudiness. In the Northwestern States the temperature will fall decidedly by to-night. Over the central and southern districts no marked changes in weather or temperature are indicated. By Thursday rain or snow and warmer weather may be expected from the eastern lake region over the North Atlantic States. Cold wave signals are displayed in Northern New England and Northern and Western New York. Along the North Atlantic Coast the winds will be brisk from west to northwest; on the Middle Atlantic Coast fresh northerly winds will shift to northeasterly; on the South Atlantic Coast light to fresh east to northeast winds will prevail. Storm signals are displayed from Sandy Hook to Eastport.

The record of temperature for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from THE NEW YORK TIMES'S thermometer and from the thermometer of the Weather Bureau, is as follows:

	—Weather Bureau— 1899.	TIMES. 1900.	TIMES. 1900.
3 A. M.	34	38	40
6 A. M.	33	37	39
9 A. M.	34	37	41
12 M.	34	46	48
3 P. M.	38	50	53
6 P. M.	37	49	50
9 P. M.	38	45	47
12 P. M.	36	40	42

THE TIMES'S thermometer is 6 feet above the street level; that of the Weather Bureau is 285 feet above the street level.

Average temperatures yesterday were as follows:

Printing House Square	45
Weather Bureau	42¾
Corresponding date, 1899	35½
Corresponding date for last twenty-five years	29

The maximum temperature yesterday was 52 degrees at 3 P. M. and the minimum 37 degrees at 8 A. M. The humidity at 8 A. M. was 79 per cent. and at 8 P. M. 58 per cent. The barometer read at 8 A. M. 30.03 and at 8 P. M. 29.98.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Ehrich Bros.,
Sixth Ave. & 23d St.

Sample Tea Gown Clearing.

Manufacturers' samples of TEA GOWNS, made Watteau back, full front, trimmed with insertion, lapel over shoulder, sleeve and belt trimmed to match, lined throughout. Also FLANNEL GOWNS, made tight back, loose front, trimmed with black braid.

Real Value, 5.00. Clearing Price, 2.98.

CASHMERE TEA GOWNS in all the new shades, made Watteau back, full front, some with large sailor collar or ruffle around yoke, prettily trimmed with braid; others with lace insertion or satin ribbon sleeve and belt trimmed to match. Also EIDERDOWN BATH ROBES bound with satin ribbon, finished with girdle.

Real Value, 6.50. At 3.98.

TEA GOWNS in China silks, crepons, French flannels and high grade cashmeres, some made with yoke lapel over shoulder, elaborately trimmed with ecru lace and black velvet; others made loose front, shirred at neck, trimmed with satin ribbon insertion and ruffles, finished with belt or ribbon to tie. Also IMPORTED BLANKET BATH ROBES with hood

Real Value, 12.00. At 6.98.

Gloves---Another Purchase, 10,200 Pairs This Time.

Another week of unrivalled Glove selling. None of this lot should bring less than 1.50, and values range as high as 3.00.

Kid and suede for women and misses; some in white with white or black embroidered backs. Street lengths: also extra lengths for evening wear.

Your Choice Now at 59c.

Suits and Coats Reduced.

These items from the Cloak and Suit Store. A few very wantable garments that must not remain here. It's worth your while to see them.

TAILOR-MADE SUITS that were 50.00, now 30.00
TAILOR-MADE COATS that were 18.50, now . . . 10.00
AUTOMOBILE COATS that were 35.00, now 20.00
NEWMARKETS that were 40.00, now 22.50
NEAR SEAL COATS that were 65.00 and 70.00, now . . 40.00

AT THE HOTELS.

FIFTH AVENUE.—Gen. H. S. Hawkins, United States Army.

GILSEY.—Capt. John Burns, Port Hudson, Mich.

GRAND.—R. L. Michie, United States Army.

HOLLAND.—Prof. J. B. Harrison, British Guiana.

ARRIVAL OF BUYERS.

Chamberlain-Johnson-Du Bois Company, Atlanta, Ga.; C. J. Bloodworth, cloaks, suits, and waists; Hotel Cadillac.

White, Z. L., & Co., Columbus, Ohio; T. E. Taylor, dress goods; Broadway Central Hotel.

Spaulding, J. A., & Co., Detroit, Mich.; J. J. Frasier, dry goods; Hotel Rivers.

Coons, J. S., & Co., Wilkesbarre, Penn.; J. S. Coons, dry goods; M. F. Long, piece goods; Hotel Marlborough.

Cohen Company, The, Richmond, Va.; S. Cohen, dry goods, 45 Lispenard Street; Hotel Marlborough.

Long & Riddick, Nashville, Tenn.; J. R. Riddick, dry goods; 64 Leonard Street; Hotel Marlborough.

Jones Dry Goods Company, Kansas City, Mo.; J. M. Arthur, domestics; Broadway Central Hotel.

Fordyce, G. L., & Co., Youngstown, Ohio; E. L. Morgan, domestics, 52 Franklin Street; St. Denis Hotel.

Farwell, J. V.,

QUAY REPORTS SUBMITTED

Mr. Burrows Is the Only Republican to Oppose Him.

BOTH SIDES CITE PRECEDENTS

Majority Basis Its Conclusions on the Constitution, Which Is Also Appealed To by the Majority.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—At the opening of to-day's session of the Senate Mr. Turley (Dem., Tenn.,) reported from the Committee on Privileges and Elections a resolution on the case of former Senator Quay. The resolution follows:

"That Matthew S. Quay is not entitled to take his seat in this body as a Senator from the State of Pennsylvania."

That resolution was the judgment of the majority of the committee. Mr. Turley called attention to the resolution of the minority of the committee, which was that Mr. Quay was entitled to a seat in the Senate. Both resolutions were accompanied by reports in their support.

The majority report, opposing the seating of Mr. Quay, was signed by Senators Caffery, (Dem., La.,) Pettus, (Dem., Ala.,) Turley, (Dem., Tenn.,) Harris, (Pop., Kan.,) and Burrows, (Rep., Mich.) The minority report bears the signatures of Senators Hoar, (Rep., Mass.,) Chandler, (Rep., N. H.,) Pritchard, (Rep., N. C.,) and McComas, (Rep., Md.,) and advocates giving the seat to Mr. Quay.

The majority report first reviews the circumstances under which Mr. Quay's appointment was made, including the failure of the Pennsylvania Legislature to elect a Senator.

After discussing at length the circumstances under which the Constitution was framed, the majority announces its conclusion as follows:

We think that the framers of the Constitution never contemplated nor intended to provide for a case where a State, by its own deliberate act, should deprive its Legislature of the power to fill an entire term at its beginning. In our opinion, they never intended to give the Executive of a State the power to fill an entire term by original appointment, unless, possibly, in a case where the Legislature had chosen and the person elected had refused to accept or died before qualification. In other words, we conclude that the power of appointment was not to be exercised unless the vacancy occurred in the recess of the Legislature and was occasioned by some casuality like death or resignation.

The report then quotes numerous precedents, beginning with that of Kensey Johns of Delaware, in 1794, and closing with the case of Henry W. Corbett of Oregon, 1898. It then ends as follows:

The statement of these cases and precedents shows that from the beginning of the Government down to the present time the Senate has never recognized the right of a State Executive to make a temporary appointment where the vacancy happened or occurred during a session of the Legislature. It shows, further, that for seventy-five years the Senate has refused to recognize the right of a State Executive to make a temporary appointment, even where the vacancy happened or occurred during a recess of the Legislature, if the Legislature, either before or after it occurred and prior to the date of the appointment, had had an opportunity to fill it.

The fundamental principle thus established is that if the Legislature, either before or after the happening of a vacancy, has had an opportunity to fill it, then there is no power in the State Executive to appoint. The result is fatal to the claims of Mr. Quay. No danger nor evil has resulted to the Government from the enforcement of this principle.

We therefore submit that the Senate, for its own honor and dignity, should stand by its previous solemn and deliberate decisions.

The minority report takes the opposite view. Quoting Section 3, Article I., of the Constitution, the minority says that the failure of the Governor to call the Legislature together to elect a Senator does not act to deprive the Governor of the power of appointment. Referring to the Constitutional provision, the question is asked:

Does the language of the Constitution of the United States mean just what the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania says: "In case of a vacancy in the office of United States Senator in a recess between sessions," or does it mean that the vacancy must be one which comes by chance, so that it does not apply at all to the case of a vacancy at the beginning of a term, which does not come by chance, but is foreseen and inevitable?

This question is answered as follows:

If the words have the former meaning, then all distinctions between cases where a Legislature has been in session and those where a Legislature has not been in session, between vacancies at the beginning of a term and vacancies beginning after the term itself has begun and the office for that term once filled are without importance. We think that the former is the true meaning of the Constitution. We think that it was the intent of the Constitution to provide as far as possible that every State should have two Senators.

First. The Constitutional Convention hesitated between conferring the power of appointing Senators upon the Executive and the Legislature of the State in the beginning. Like the Legislature, the Executive of the State was supposed to represent the will of the people. Under the Constitutional arrangements then existing, he appointed all State officers and appointed Judges, who held their office for life. So there is no reason to suppose that they considered the Executive an unfit instrument for such appointment. And they settled the question by giving the power of permanent appointment to the Legislature, and of temporary appointment to the Executive.

Second. We can conceive no reason likely to have influenced the framers of the Constitution for making a distinction between cases of vacancy occurring in one way or at one time and vacancies occurring in any other way or at any other time. The office of Senator may be at any time of infinite importance to the interests of a State. Upon a single vote may often depend, and sometimes has depended, the fate of measures which would bring prosperity or misery into every workshop and almost every family in Pennsylvania. We do not believe that when the Constitution was enacted it would have occurred to anybody that, if a Senator died within a week of the adjournment of the Legislature, or at a time when there were three parties in the Legislature who could not agree, or at a time when the two houses who formerly made an election by concurrent vote were of ways of thinking in politics so different that they could not be reconciled, that the State must remain unrepresented until a new Legislature should be chosen.

They meant, as we believe, that for the interest of the State and the interest of the whole country the Senate should always be full, so far as they could devise a Constitutional mechanism to accomplish that purpose.

CALIFORNIA MAY NOW ELECT.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 23.—Gov. Henry T. Gage to-day issued a proclamation calling for an extra session of the Legislature to convene Jan. 29, for the purpose of electing a United States Senator to succeed Stephen H. White. The last session failed to elect a successor to Senator White, owing to a prolonged deadlock.

The membership is overwhelmingly Republican.

THE GOVERNMENT OF COLONIES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—In the Senate to-day, in accordance with previous notice, Mr. Ross (Rep., Vt.,) claimed the recognition of the Chair to deliver a speech on the Philippine question. The text of his argument was a resolution introduced by him several days ago, declaring that the provisions of the Constitution do not, unaided by act of Congress, extend over Puerto Rico and the Philippines; that the United States takes sovereignty over Puerto Rico and the Philippines, unrestricted by the provisions of the Constitution, and that the successful discharge of this duty demands the establishment of a separate department of the Government to take charge of all outlying dependencies of the United States and the passage of a general law making appointments therein non-political.

"There are those who earnestly urge that Congress should make a declaration that the Nation holds Puerto Rico and the Philippine Islands under the same undefined duty as applies to Cuba. In my judgment, such a course is beset with complications and difficulties. By adopting it the Nation would court these, and invite the inhabitants of the islands to engender perplexing questions and entanglements.

Mr. Ross argued that the people of the islands manifestly were not prepared to enter upon the administration of such a government as the people of this country had. He urged, therefore, that the first step to be taken by Congress in the discharge of its duty to the islanders was to create a department of the government charged with the duty of looking to the interests of the islands and of supplying accurate information to Congress with reference to them. They should not, as now, be left in charge of departments overloaded and overworked.

The second step, he added, is to remove all civil appointments in the island from the realm of politics.

CONFLICT OVER TREATIES.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Two very different reports about the reciprocity treaties now pending in the Senate are in circulation here. One is that the Senate Finance Committee has given notice to the Committee on Foreign Relations that it will be useless to attempt to ratify these treaties before submitting them to the Finance Committee, in order that it may be ascertained whether the terms of the conventions are fully in harmony with the principles and policy of the Republican Party.

It is evident that a strong protection interest has been at work in the Finance Committee against the treaties. Senator Atkins denounces the idea of reciprocity, and declares that he will fight the treaties to the bitter end. The reports go further and say that the President has manifested decided indifference to the fate of the agreements that he has sent to the Senate and publicly recommended for approval.

On the other hand, it is asserted, with what appears to be good authority, that the President has talked with many members of both houses of Congress to urge them to act favorably upon the reciprocity treaties with as little delay as possible. He is reported to have declared that Congress cannot now repudiate the course its legislation provided for, and which has been followed in negotiating these reciprocal treaties. He has also pointed out the fact, known to all who have followed the negotiations, that many of the points gained have been secured only after protracted dispute, frequently after earnest solicitation. That there is a conflict between the President and the Senate in this matter is admitted.

PUBLIC BUILDING FOR BROOKLYN.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Mr. Driggs of New York to-day introduced a bill appropriating $30,000 for the purchase of a site and the construction of a building for Post Office uses in the Twenty-ninth Ward of Brooklyn, comprising the old town of Flatbush. The Post Office pays rent for the building now occupied as a sub-station in that ward, and Mr. Driggs believes it would be for the best interests of the Government to construct a suitable structure, which would in time pay for itself.

Mr. Driggs believes that after the proposition is fully considered by the Post Office authorities and Public Building Committees of Congress it will receive their hearty sanction.

Wants Boutwell's Speech Printed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—In the Senate to-day Mr. Jones (Dem., Ark.,) asked that a speech recently delivered in this city by ex-Gov. Boutwell of Massachusetts on the Philippines, be printed as a public document, but Mr. Aldrich objected to the publication of such documents to be used for political effect. Mr. Jones said he could accomplish his object by reading the speech, and Mr. Aldrich said that would have to be done.

CONGRESSIONAL NOTES.

Mr. Boutell (Rep., Ill.) yesterday introduced a bill in the House to remove the tax on proprietary medicines.

Representative Cochran (Dem., Mo.,) has introduced a bill for a Constitutional amendment authorizing an income tax.

Representative Knox (Rep., Mass.,) has introduced a bill for the taking up and recoinage of the Hawaiian silver coins.

A resolution was introduced in the House yesterday by Mr. Levy, (Dem., N. Y.,) asking the Secretary of War for an itemized account of all receipts and expenditures in Cuba.

A bill was introduced yesterday in the House by Mr. Broussard, (Dem., La.,) for surveys of an inland water route along the margin of the Gulf of Mexico, connecting the Mississippi and Rio Grande Rivers and other waterways.

The Senate yesterday adopted the resolution offered by Mr. Allen, (Pop., Neb.,) calling upon the Secretary of the Treasury for the correspondence and the substance of all verbal communications which he has had with officials of the National City Bank of New York concerning the transfer of the old Custom House to the National City Bank.

The Senate yesterday adopted three resolutions introduced by Mr. Caffrey, (Dem., La.,) calling upon the President for correspondence with Great Britain concerning the Clayton-Bulwer treaty; the correspondence with the Colombian Government as to the Panama Canal, and the correspondence with the new Panama Canal Company of France.

In the Senate yesterday Mr. McEnery (Dem., La.,) spoke in opposition to the resolution of Mr. Pritchard (Rep., N. C.,) relating to the proposed amendment to the Constitution of North Carolina. The speech was devoted to a defense of the action of certain Southern States in enacting laws to prevent negro domination in politics. He reviewed the situation and spoke of the beneficial results of white supremacy. He said the regulation of the suffrage in Louisiana did not affect the negro alone, but a large number of persons who had emigrated to New Orleans since the civil war.

YALE JUNIOR PROMENADE.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 23.—The final function of Yale's social week, the climax of the Yale junior promenade, was held to-night in the Second Regiment Armory. Besides the students and graduates present, there was a big delegation of the University Faculty in attendance with wives and daughters.

The concert preceding the promenade began shortly after 9 o'clock. About 9:30 o'clock the grand march began, the members of the Promenade Committee leading. Supper was served during intermission at midnight.

JEWELERS AT DINNER.

The Jewelers' Association and Board of Trade held its first annual dinner last evening in the Waldorf-Astoria. Five hundred guests and members were present. President A. K. Sloan presided, and among those at the guest table were Lieut. Gov. Woodruff, Dean C. Worcester, John S. Wise, John R. Van Wormer, and the Rev. Dr. George E. Strobridge.

Mr. Worcester, who was a member of the Philippine Commission, spoke on "Our Newest Possessions." He said he lived on the islands for four years. "I was told," he continued, "by some young men who had traveled through the islands that they met many tribes that were distinctly capable of self-government. I don't know where they met them. If they traveled in the northern portion and met these intelligent citizens then they must have peculiar ideas of what constitutes self-government."

Mr. Worcester paid a glowing tribute to the late Gen. Lawton, and said no braver soldier ever lived than he, that he worked all day taking a town and all night protecting its citizens.

"I was dining with Gen. Lawton one day," he said, "when a little band of native musicians came to serenade us. The Filipino is a born musician, and I took the leader into the house and whistled for him the air of 'The Star Spangled Banner.' He took the notes down, and in a half hour had taught it to his players so that they played it very creditably.

"The next Sunday the General and I attended church, where a native priest held services. I was touched to hear, during the mass, the strains of 'The Star Spangled Banner' played as sacred music and a part of the service. The priest told me it would always be played as a part of the services so long as he remained in that church."

Judge F. F. Guild Resigns.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 23.—Frederick F. Guild to-day tendered to the Government his resignation as District Court Judge in Newark. Judge Guild desires more time for his private law practice.

YESTERDAY'S FIRES.

(From 12 o'clock Monday night until 12 o'clock Tuesday night.)

12:30 A. M.—166 East One Hundred and Thirty-second Street, Smith & Lawlor; damage, $10.

12:50 A. M.—96 Mercer Street, C. H. Meyers Brothers; damage, $3,000.

8:20 A. M.—12 Market Street, Feltz & Ederman; damage, $200.

10:20 A. M.—53 Front Street, Henry Adams; damage, $2,000.

10:55 A. M.—14 Stanton Street, Isaac Kaubet; damage, $10.

11:20 A. M.—346 Pleasant Avenue, William Anderson; damage slight.

12:10 P. M.—355 Hudson Street, P. Corthy; damage, $15.

1:05 P. M.—70 Henry Street; owner unknown; no damage.

1:20 P. M.—23 Scammel Street, Jacob Weislander; damage, $5.

4:10 P. M.—446 East Eighty-fourth Street, William Snyder; damage, $25.

4:25 P. M.—Pier 17, North River, New York Central Railroad; damage, $150.

4:30 P. M.—119 East Seventy-third Street, Joseph Dugan; no damage.

4:50 P. M.—110 Ninth Avenue, owner unknown; no damage.

5 P. M.—212 West Twenty-seventh Street, J. S. Farrell; damage, $10.

5:20 P. M.—9 East Thirty-first Street, Mrs. De Forest; no damage.

5:30 P. M.—140 Essex Street, Soloman Keppler; damage, $100.

LOSSES BY FIRE.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Fire in Edward Fitzgerald's trunk factory, at Wells and Division Streets, caused a loss of $70,000 to-day.

CUBA, N. Y., Jan. 23.—The Bates manufacturing plant was destroyed by fire late last night. Fifty men are thrown out of employment. The loss on buildings and machinery will reach $50,000, with insurance $20,000.

GREEN TO SUCCEED PAYN?

Binghamton's ex-Mayor May Be Insurance Commissioner.

SAYS HE IS CONSIDERING IT

Admits Gov. Roosevelt Has Spoken to Him and that He Is Awaiting Developments.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 23.—The question of who will succeed Louis F. Payn as Superintendent of Insurance and the time when Gov. Roosevelt will send a nomination to the Senate is the all absorbing topic here tonight. The situation is full of doubt, and the air is filled with rumors. The Governor declines to discuss the matter, and no one seems to know what he intends to do.

That he is determined to replace Mr. Payn cannot be doubted, but when he intends to begin the battle is the question, and it would be foolish to attempt predictions. It is said that the Governor may send in a name to-morrow and again it is suggested that nothing may be done until next week. Those who are close to the Governor say they do not believe he has come to a final decision in the matter, but there was a report to-day which was received with considerable credence that George E. Greeng, ex-Mayor of Binghamton, had been practically agreed upon. The name of Charles S. Phipps of Queens was also discussed.

Chairman Odell of the Republican State Committee was expected here this evening, but he has not arrived, and now it is said he will be here to-morrow. Many Senators called at the Ten Eyck, where Mr. Odell makes his headquarters when in Albany, apparently to see him before making up their minds what to do. It has been said that Mr. Odell will bring the name of the man selected by Senator Platt, and his arrival, therefore, is looked forward to with eagerness, as it is expected that he will be able to clear the situation.

There is also another story that the Governor will go to New York for another talk with Senator Platt before he decides what to do. Senator Ellsworth, who has been absent from the Senate since last Friday, arrived here to-night. He said he had no idea of what would happen. Mr. Ellsworth waited to see Mr. Odell and was evidently disappointed when the latter failed to arrive.

Mr. Payn was asked to-day if there was any truth in the report that he had in his possession a letter which Gov. Roosevelt wrote in 1884 which would put the latter in a peculiar political position. Superintendent Payn answered:

"I have not. The story is not true. The existence of a letter of this character was conceived in the mind of the man who wrote a story of that character. Neither I nor any of my friends so stated. I do not carry things up my sleeves. I do not fight in that fashion."

The impression is gaining ground among Republican politicians that Gov. Roosevelt will certainly be successful in the fight he is waging against Payn. State Senators Higgins and Stranahan were in the city yesterday, and each of them expressed a belief that Payn will be defeated.

George E. Green, ex-Mayor of Binghamton, who is being mentioned as a possible successor to Payn, was at the Waldorf-Astoria yesterday. He said:

"It is true that Gov. Rodsevelt has spoken to me concerning the position. If I am satisfied that my appointment will be satisfactory to the organization and that it will be confirmed by the Senate, I shall willingly accept the place."

Mr Green has been President of the State League of Republican Clubs, and is a member of the Canal Advisory Board appointed by Gov. Roosevelt.

Before leaving for his home in Newburg yesterday, Chairman Odell of the Republican State Committee said there was no change in the situation. He will go to Albany to-day.

DOINGS OF THE CASTELLANES.

The Count Makes an Early Morning Visit to the Gould Offices—Theatre Party at Night.

Count Boni de Castellane may not have slept well on Monday night, after learning upon his arrival from France that certain Paris newspapers had accused him of speculating on the Bourse, gambling, pawning yachts, and failing in his financial ventures, or perhaps he is an early riser by choice and habit. At any rate, he succeeded in taking breakfast at the Waldorf-Astoria yesterday morning, making an elaborate toilet, and getting down into the business district by 9:30 o'clock. He appeared there resplendent in a high hat and a long overcoat lined and trimmed with the yellowest of fur, a gray business suit, a gorgeous Ascot tie, tan shoes, and blood-red gloves. He was armed with a heavy walking stick—an implement perfectly adapted for caning editors of the Boulevard des Capucines.

The Count went to the offices of the Missouri Pacific Railway, on the fifth floor of the Western Union Building, where George J. Gould has his private office, and inquired for Mr. Phillips, who has charge of many matters connected with the Gould estate. He did not inquire for his brother-in-law. The office boy looked him over carefully and then escorted him into Mr. Phillips's waiting room and left him there without comment.

Twenty minutes later the office boy strolled back into the Count's presence. "Ain't in yet. Gets down at 'leven," remarked the boy. A little later the lad met Mr. Mallett. Mr. Gould's secretary, in the hall, and, jerking his thumb in the direction of Mr. Phillips's door, said: "He's in there—the Count."

Mr. Mallett then informed the visitor that Mr. Phillips was not due before 11 o'clock, whereupon the Count departed, promising to call again. He then went down stairs, entered a coupe, and disappeared.

The Count had rejoined the Countess at the Waldorf-Astoria by 10:30 o'clock, when they were called upon by Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Gould. The call lasted for some time, after which the Count and Countess had luncheon.

After luncheon the Count and Countess, the latter attired in an exquisite walking gown, went for a walk. They strolled up Fifth Avenue to the Park, attracting much attention on the way. They were back in their hotel before 5 o'clock, and a little later set out for a small reception and tea given in their honor by Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Gould at their residence, 720 Fifth Avenue. This was over with in time for the Count and Countess to go to the Lyceum Theatre, where, with a box party including Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Smith, they witnessed the performance of "The Surprises of Love." After the performance the members of the party were the guests of Edmund Randolph at a little supper at the Royalton.

DE RODAYS STANDS HIS GROUND.

Editor of Figaro Sends a Message to Count Boni de Castellane.

PARIS, Jan. 24.—5:40 A. M.—The Figaro publishes this morning a dispatch which M. Pierre de Rodays, its editor, has sent to Count Boni de Castellane, in the course of which he says:

"Your denials and threats will change nothing of the facts, which are now notorious in Paris."

PROF. DAVID E. HUGHES DEAD.

English Electrical Inventor Was Educated in Kentucky.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Prof. David Edward Hughes, inventor of the Hughes Printing Telegraph Instrument, now in use on all important Continental lines in Europe and on all submarine lines between England and the Continent, is dead.

Prof. Hughes was born in London May 16, 1831, and was educated at Bardstown College, Kentucky. He was the inventor of the induction balance, and the discoverer of the microphone, now almost universally used as transmitter to the telephone. He was the author of numerous papers upon electricity and magnetism.

Another Wireless Telegraphy Patent.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 23.—Signor Guarini has patented an apparatus which is apparently an improvement upon Signor Marconi's method of wireless telegraphy. It will be tested between Brussels and London. He talks of wireless communication between London and New York as "well within the range of probability."

BOERS HOLDING WARREN IN CHECK

Continued from Page 1.

her hour of need. Whatever foreigners may say, they have not got to the bottom of Old England yet. This test of the character of the British people will alone counterbalance our losses. The reverses of the war have taught the country that the Empire is a united Empire. The war will be cheap if it teaches the nation that it has lived too much from hand to mouth and that it must place things on a scentific or methodical basis. In commerce, education and war Great Britain is not methodical and not scientific. The task ahead is the greatest which ever lay before a nation, and will occupy the present Government and many future Governments. But it will have to be faced. The country has yet to bring the war to a triumphant conclusion. When that is done, it must set to work and put the Empire on a business footing, and strive to make it realize the British ideal of an Empire, without menace, without oppression—a model State ruled by institutions and inhabited by a model race."

INTERVENTION IDEA GROWING.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—From Vienna comes the statement that the idea of the intervention of European powers is gaining adherents in influential quarters.

The Daily Mail correspondent regards the signs as unmistakable, and mentions especially suggestions printed in the Austro-Hungarian Foreign Office journals.

Boers to Expel British Subjects.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The correspondent of The Times at Lorenzo Marques, telegraphing Tuesday, says: "The wholesale expulsion of British subjects now remaining in the Transvaal is expected next week."

BOER AGENT VISITS MR. HAY.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Montagu White, Consul General of the South African Republic, in London, called at the State Department this afternoon, and had a conference with Secretary Hay. He did not appear in an official capacity.

There was an utter absence of formality about Mr. White's visit. No appointment had been made, so far as could be learned, and the presentation of his card was the first notice that the Secretary had from anything but newspaper sources that Mr. White was in Washington. Nevertheless, the visitor was admitted at once, and spent nearly an hour in close conversation with Secretary Hay.

At the beginning he put himself on a safe footing by informing the Secretary that he had no credentials and no official character whatever. He frankly admitted, however, that he was in the United States for the purpose of aiding his countrymen to enlist the sympathy of the American people. The Secretary was much interested in Mr. White's statements, as was shown by the fact he accorded him an hour's audience in the busiest moments of the day, without interruption. The subject of the conversation was the state of affairs in the Transvaal, and no statement of what passed beyond that was obtainable.

STEAMER BERMUDA IS ENJOINED

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23.—A special five-day injunction restraining the steamer Bermuda, which acquired some reputation as a filibuster during the Spanish war, from leaving this port, was granted to-day by Judge Pennypacker, in Common Pleas Court.

The application for the injunction was made by Robert S. Gamble of Kingston, Jamaica, a subject of Great Britain, who alleges that he has information that the vessel is to carry articles contraband of war to South Africa for the Boers.

For some time past it has been rumored that the famous filibuster was about to engage in the same business again, but those connected with the vessel made emphatic denials that such a move was contemplated.

BOERS MAKE THEIR OWN PLANS.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The Cape Town correspondent of The Times, telegraphing Monday, says:

"In view of the exaggerated ideas current that the Boers have been largely helped by foreign military advisers, it is worth while quoting the statement of a gentleman who has just arrived from Delagoa Bay.

"He says that the Boers are at a loss to know what to do, and that the advice tendered them, being based upon opposing ideas of tactics, is valueless, and only leads, when adopted, to loss of life. It appears that during Gen. Joubert's illness Gen. Schalk Burger wired to Dr. Leyds to send men able to shoot straight and experts to make explosives and to work mines, but not useless advisers."

"From what I saw myself of the Boer forces at the outbreak of the war, I know that the Boers have a profound distrust and contempt for European military methods, and, with the exception of Commandant Albrecht, they have practically no foreign officers, even in the artillery.

"The Transvaalers, however, acknowledge that they have learned several useful tactical devices from the Free Staters, especially in making intrenchments in least-expected places, and at the foot of kopjes instead of only on ridges."

CAPE DUTCH AID THE BOERS.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—A correspondent at Sterkstroom, telegraphing Monday, says:

"Many Dutch colonists, although ostensibly loyal, really sympathize with the Boers and keep them posted regarding all British movements. They discharge rockets and make other probable signals to the enemy. A general rising, however, is no longer feared."

A dispatch from Pietermaritzburg, dated Jan. 23, says:

"The latest arrivals from Johannesburg say that the Boer methods are working ruin to the mines. The Boers pick out the rich ore, leaving the cost of further developments to the shareholders. Stores are being robbed wholesale. The safe deposit vaults under the Stock Exchange have been broken open, and jewelry and plate left by refugees have been extracted.

"Grass is growing in the streets, and cattle are grazing in fashionable thoroughfares. There are still about two thousand Uitlanders in the Transvaal.

"A letter received here from Harrismith relates that three Britishers were shot in the market square for refusing to go to the front when commandeered."

Ex-Consul Macrum Is in Paris.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—Mr. Charles E. Macrum, former United States Consul at Pretoria, arrived here to-day. He declined to be interviewed.

Received by American Women.

CAPE TOWN, Jan. 23.—The American women resident here held a reception at the Mount Nelson Hotel to-day. Lady Churchill and the entire staff of the American hospital ship Maine, Col. Stowe, the United States Consul, and other prominent Americans were present. The Governor, Sir Alfred Milner, proposes to visit the Maine, whose arrival here has aroused great interest.

DISCUSS TRANSVAAL SITUATION.

Englishmen and an American Before Political Science Academy.

At a meeting of the Academy of Political Science, held in the Columbia University Library Building last evening, the subject, "The Present Situation in the Transvaal," was discussed. Two of the speakers—an Englishman and an American—took the part of Great Britain in the existing conflict. A third speaker, an Englishman, spoke in favor of the Boers.

The room was crowded. President Seth Low of the university presided. The first speaker was Sydney Brooks of London. His remarks were, for the greater part, a repetition of the arguments he has previously made in this city in support of the British case. He was followed by J. M. Martin, an ex-member of the London County Council.

Mr. Martin said there was absolutely nothing to prove that a power of the strength of Great Britain was justified in absorbing the little Boer republics. The whole of the present trouble could be traced directly to the Jameson raid, he said, which was one of the blackest blots on the history of Great Britain, and to the attitude of Mr. Chamberlain, who showed and had admitted that he believed, months before hostilities began, war to be inevitable.

Thomas G. Shearman followed Mr. Martin. He remarked that many so-called Americans asserted that neither Englishmen nor Americans had any right to enter upon territory occupied by other people. They said that if Americans or Englishmen did not like the Boer Government they could stay at home. Such a doctrine was false to every American principle.

"Of all delusions," said Mr. Shearman, "the most absurd is this idea that anything labelled a republic is worthy of our sympathy, while everything labelled a monarchy is evil. South America is full of republics, which are all really military despotisms. Our sympathies should be with the cause which represents equal rights, no matter how labelled. The question at issue in the South African conflict is very simple. It is whether the earth belongs to the whole human race or whether God has assigned it in small sections—here to the Boers, there to the British, somewhere else to another people. Great Britain stands everywhere for the absolute equality of all white races."

For the Pro-Boer Meeting.

The New York Committee for the Relief of the United Republics of South Africa, which is making preparations for a pro-Boer mass meeting in the Grand Central Palace next Monday evening, met last night at the Morton House.

Letters were read from a large number of persons who have consented to allow the use of their names as Vice Presidents. Edward Lauterbach and S. G. Bogert sent notes of sympathy with checks toward the expenses of the meeting. Timothy J. Campbell made a vigorous attack upon England, suggesting that the hose be turned on the British lion, and his name was added to the list of Vice Presidents.

WOUNDED ON OPERA STAGE.

Herr Brugeman Badly Hurt in Duel Scene at Germania Theatre.

Herr Brugeman, who was singing Zamiel in the opera "Die Freischütz" at the Germania Theatre last night, was dangerously wounded by accident during the duel scene by Herr Veron, who played Caspar. Herr Veron's foil slipped Herr Brugeman's guard and pierced the latter's jugular vein.

The curtain was at once rung down, and the wounded man removed to the dressing room. But for the prompt attention of a physician from the audience, who volunteered his services, Herr Brugeman would probably have bled to death. He was removed to his home after the wound had been dressed, and the opera was continued with the omission of Herr Brugeman's part. His condition late last night was serious.

CONNECTICUT BANKS FAIL.

Private Concerns in Thompsonville and Hazardville Suspend.

THOMPSONVILLE, Conn., Jan. 23.—The doors of the private banking house of R. D. & Robert E. Spencer of this place were closed this morning. Simultaneously comes the information that the doors of the Robert E. Spencer banking house of Hazardville, Conn., were also closed this morning. The two banks are closely connected, and a sensation has been caused by the statement that bankruptcy proceedings are pending.

It is said that withdrawals since Dec. 15, amounting to $10,000, caused the suspension.

The Hazardville notice stated that that bank would be closed owing to the suspension of the Thompsonville bank. It was added that the Hazardville depositors would be paid 100 cents on the dollar. The Thompsonville bank was established in September, 1887; the Hazardville bank in February, 1898.

WOMAN ARRESTS HER HUSBAND.

Finds Him in a Saloon When He Should Have Been at Home.

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 23.—"This is my husband, and I've arrested him, and want him locked up for intoxication," said a woman last night as she led a man before the desk Sergeant in the Third Precinct Station House. The woman said the man was George Adams of Harrison.

According to Mrs. Adams, she found her husband in a saloon in this city when he should have been at home. She threatened to have him arrested, she said, and he promised to accompany her to the station if she did not call an officer.

The Sergeant advised the couple to go home. Mrs. Adams was willing. Her husband, however, wanted to stay and make a complaint against his wife. He became noisy, and was locked up.

Judge Schalk this morning fined him $2.50. Mrs. Adams paid the fine.

NEW JERSEY LEGISLATURE.

Committee Wanted to Investigate State Industrial School.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 23.—Assemblyman Abbott introduced in the House to-day a resolution for the appointment by the Speaker of a special committee of five to investigate the management of the State Industrial School for Girls. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Girls' Industrial Schools.

The House passed the bill admitting soldiers of the Spanish-American war to the Soldiers' Home.

The Governor sent to the Senate the name of John Relistab for County Judge of Mercer County. Judge Relistab is the present District Court Judge of Trenton.

The Republican Senators held a caucus and agreed with the House caucus in the matter of a Supervisor of Bills. The law will be repealed and each body will have its own Supervisor, and the rules will be changed to admit of the use of printed bills.

Favorable report was made in the Senate of the bill to grant a pension of $100 a month to Walter English, whose hands were shot off while he was firing a salute to Admiral Dewey.

Prohibition Convention Called.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—The following call for the National Prohibition Convention, signed by Oliver W. Stewart, Chairman, and William T. Wardwell, Secretary, was issued today: "The National Convention of the Prohibition Party to nominate candidates for President and Vice President of the United States and to transact such other business as may properly come before it is hereby called to meet at the Coliseum, in the City of Chicago, at 10 o'clock A. M., on Wednesday, June 27, 1900."

Mrs. Edward F. Croker Ill.

Mrs. Edward F. Croker, wife of Chief Croker of the Fire Department, is ill at her home, 327 West Twenty-eighth Street, with pneumonia. Chief Croker said at midnight last night that his wife was better, and that it was thought she would recover, as the critical period of her illness had been passed.

Plague Bacillus Found on Rats.

ADELAIDE, Australia, Jan. 23.—The bacillus of the bubonic plague has been found on dead rats in a place where a plague patient was isolated. The Australian colonies have declared Adelaide an infected port.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

ANNUAL STATEMENT
OF
The Manhattan Life
Insurance Company of New York.
HENRY B. STOKES, President.

INCOME IN 1899.		DISBURSEMENTS IN 1899.
Premiums	$1,952,975.25	Total payments to policy-holders	$1,651,122.08
Interest, rents and other receipts	754,463.32	Other Disbursements	718,176.24
	$2,707,438.57		$2,369,298.32

Assets Dec. 31st, 1899, $15,803,962.37.
LIABILITIES.

Reserve on Policies in Force	$13,961,201.00
All other Liabilities	216,020.12	$14,177,221.12
Surplus, December 31, 1899		$1,626,741.25
Total Paid Policy-holders since Organization		over $45,300,000.00

THE ABOVE STATEMENT SHOWS AN INCREASE IN EVERY ACCOUNT.
Increase in Assets — Increase in Insurance in Force
Increase in Surplus — Increase in Payments to Policy-holders
Increase in Reserve — Increase in New Insurance Written

One Sale in January. BYCK BROS MEN'S OUTFITTERS. One Sale in July.

Bargains for Particular Men.

We mean by this head-line that the Byck clothes are genuinely high grade, correctly fashioned garments, and that our half-yearly clearance sales affords a money-saving opportunity for men who consider quality first.

14th Half-Yearly Clearance Sale
Begins To-Day at 8 o'Clock.

THE BYCK OVERCOATS have been regularly selling at $12.$15, $16.50, $18, $20, $22, $25, $27.50, $30, $40, and $45. They are now divided into five lots, prices
9.80 12.70 15.40 19.65 24.90
They include a variety of cloths, lengths and styles to suit every taste.

THE BYCK SUITS are reduced in the same proportion, the regular prices running from 12.50 to 30.00 and the clearance sale prices
8.90 11.60 13.85 16.90

TROUSERS We have always paid particular attention to the selection of fine patterns for Trousers and to their proper shaping and making. $5, $6, $7, $8, and $9. Trousers during sale,
3.20 4.35 and 5.40

Our clothes for evening wear and semi-dress occasions are sold largely to men who do not need to study close economy, but who find our productions actually superior to the work of the average custom-tailor.

Dress Suits — From $25, $30, $35, and $40 to 21.85 and 28.30
Tuxedo Coats — From $15, $18, and $20 to 11.60 and 14 10
Prince Albert Coats and Vests — From $20, $25, $27.50, $30, $35, and $40, to 15.20, 19.40 and 23.60
Cutaway, Coats and Vests — Priced regularly from $12.50 to $25.00, 9.20, 11.90, 15.60

ALL SHOES, HATS AND FURNISHINGS SHOW THE SAME REDUCTIONS. OUR ENTIRE STOCK IS INCLUDED IN THIS FOURTEENTH HALF-YEARLY CLEARING SALE.

DOWNTOWN: Southwest Corner Fulton and Nassau Sts. BYCK BROS UPTOWN: 158-164 East 125th St., Nr. 3d Av. (Open Evenings.)

THE TASTE OF "APENTA"
is preferable to that of other Purgative Waters. More gentle in action. Does not cause crampy pains.

THE HOSPITALS of EUROPE and the UNITED STATES use Apenta regularly. It is recommended by the leading Physicians of the World.

The Name of the APOLLINARIS CO., Ld., London, on the label is a guarantee of uniformity and superiority.

WHISKY IN SOLDIERS' HOME.

More Used in Bath than in Any Similar Institution.

ALBANY, Jan. 25.—State Controller William J. Morgan has been giving special attention of late to the very large amount of liquors consumed in the hospital at the Soldiers' Home at Bath. It appears that from three to six times as much liquor was being consumed in the hospital at Bath as in the hospitals connected with other soldiers and sailors' homes throughout the country.

Formerly three barrels a month were called for, and during each of five months of the past year two barrels were allowed. Dr. Burleson, the physician in charge at the hospital, testified that the liquor supplied was not half enough.

BURIED MAN SAVED; WIFE DIES.

Man Was Covered with Debris of a Three-Story Building.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Jan. 23.—Frank Carpenter, after being buried under the débris of a three-story brick building to-day, was rescued, but his wife died from the excitement caused by waiting for the firemen to get him from the ruins.

Carpenter was buried in the cellar with two heavy joists pinning him down, one across his chest and another across his abdomen. Above him were tons of brick, stone, and ironwork, and an overhanging wall, but he was finally rescued, and will live. His wife was notified of her husband's predicament, and she went into hysterics. When Carpenter was brought home the excitement killed her.

Invite the President to Come Here.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—A delegation including Morris K. Jesup, Col. John J. McCook, and William Henry Grant of New York City called on President McKinley this afternoon to extend an invitation from the Executive Committee of the Ecumenical Conference on Foreign Missions to attend one of the sessions of that conference, to be held in New York in April. The President received the committee very cordially, but could not give the members any definite assurance that he

WANAMAKER'S WANAMAKER'S WANAMAKER'S WANAMAKER'S

Manufacturers Ask Us to Buy Less

MUSLIN UNDERWEAR is costing more. So much more that the makers hope we will not compel them to ship in all we bargained for.

Garments that we bought for $4.50 a dozen are not to be had under $5.50 to-day, and in many cases prices have risen a third, or even as much as half—so that $10 goods are costing about $15.

How do you think the real smart makers are getting around the advance? They are skimping sizes—night gowns shorter or narrower, or both, saving maybe ten yards of muslin in a dozen gowns; flounces are skimped, saving as much as a yard of embroidery on a petticoat. And, maybe worst of all, garments are being made of print cloth, which can scarcely be classed as muslin.

As to the higher prices, we must pay them with the rest as a rule.

As to skimped garments, we will not have them at any price. But with higher prices already established; with some delay in even forced delivery of our long-ago purchases, we shall sell, to-day and for the little while the lots hold out—

Muslin Underwear at Least Prices Known

And this includes as well, the sacques and wrappers and waists, counted with the underwear, though of other fabrics than muslin and linen.

Gowns

38c—Muslin; yoke of fine plaits and embroidery insertion; lawn ruffle on neck and sleeves. Not more than 3 to a buyer.

50c—Muslin; square neck; yoke of fine plaits; row of embroidery; lawn ruffle on neck and sleeves.

65c—Muslin; pointed yoke of fine plaits and rows of embroidery insertion; neck and sleeves trimmed with embroidery.

85c—Muslin; large collar and sleeves trimmed with fine embroidery; small plaits and ribbon bow at neck.

$1—Muslin; square neck; yoke of all-over embroidery; neck and sleeves trimmed with embroidery; yoke run with ribbon.

Drawers

10c—Muslin; deep hem and 3 small plaits. Some at 15c, of cambric or muslin; and another style at 18c. Not more than 3 of any of these to a buyer.

25c—Muslin; deep ruffle of cambric with fine plaits.

35c—Muslin; deep ruffle of embroidery; fine plaits above.

Eiderdown Robes

$2—Of solid colored eiderdown; full front, fitted back; large collar bound with satin, closing with frogs and girdle; value $3.

$3.50—Ripple eiderdown in solid colors; full front, fitted back; front closing with frogs and girdle; value $5.

Petticoats

35c—Muslin; deep ruffle of cambric, with small plaits. Not more than 3 to a buyer.

50c—Muslin; deep ruffle with hem and fine plaits.

65c—Mulin; deep ruffle of lawn edged with neat embroidery.

75c—Muslin; deep umbrella ruffle; hem and cluster of fine plaits.

$1—Muslin; deep umbrella ruffle of lawn; deep ruffle of embroidery; dust ruffle of lawn.

House Dresses

$1—Of figured or striped chintz; pointed yoke front and back, plaited back, full front; yoke and collar trimmed with braid.

House Dresses

$1.50—Of fancy striped percale; full front yoke back, with 3 plaits; yoke collar, sleeves and plaits down front piped with white cording.

$1.75—Of fancy figured percale; yoke front and back; full front, plaited back; collar, yoke and sleeves trimmed with cording.

Flannelette Kimonos

$2.50—Solid colors, blue or pink; yoke back and front; panels of fancy colored flannelette in front.

$2.75—In fancy stripes; loose front; back gathered at waist; gathered ruffle of white flannelette on collar and bretelles; cuffs also of white flannelette; with sash.

The New Shirt Waists===Show Days

Silk Waists. American made, but confidentially the model garments came from Paris—we shall have the Paris Waists presently—more elaborate than these as a rule, but you know they are expensive—why, even the eighteen we have left (and they are the only waists in the store not brand new) are $10 to $41.25 at the reduced prices—they were $15 to $65.

Well, the new ones. Some have yoke; some the plain French back—pretty, but a trying style; others are plaited or shirred. Some regular bodices; some the easier styles we usually class as shirt waists. $5 to $18.50.

The new Cotton Waists are even more varied in style—and the selection depends largely on one's figure. To be sure, the sleeves must be considered—either a laundered or turn-back cuff, if the waist is to be worn with a tailor-made suit; otherwise you'll be apt to take the flare cuff. The cotton waists start at 50c and run to $17.50, but this latter is really a combination of lace and ribbon.

Second floor, Fourth avenue.

Gold-filled Toilet Articles and Novelties All useful pieces, all pretty, and all guaranteed for 20 years' wear. And this incentive: Prices a full third less than regular. Here's a bargain or two in every line:

Match Boxes, $1.50	Cigarette Cases, $2.40
Cigar Jars, $2.40	Smokers' Knife, 80c
Table Cigar Cutters, 80c
Shaving Brushes, 60c
8-piece Manicure Sets, in leather case, $4.25
3-piece Manicure Sets, in leather case, $1.65
Nail Brushes, 40c	Stocking Darners, 50c
Puff Boxes, $1.65	Bon-Bon Boxes, $1.50

The China Sale===Last Notice

This Trade Sale of China and Glass is, of course, limited by the quantities at command. The selling has reached twice the daily estimate, and many lots that we expected to last for the week are apt to be closed out to-day.

In addition to the Trade Sale lots, which, as a rule, were entirely new things, we shall sell to-day (on the Main Aisle)—

Very Elegant Lamps at Reduced Prices

These include fifty handsome Reception Lamps, left from the big holiday lots. Were $45 to $100 yesterday. These shall be $30.

And other groups are marked this way—

$4 for lamps worth $6 to $10 $6 for lamps worth $8.50 to $15

$9 for lamps worth $15 to $25.

Separate China Pieces in Groups

A Group at 25c—

French and Austrian china and English porcelain. Actual values are $6 to $9 a dozen—a fair proportion at the latter figure. All are attractively decorated in colors and gold. The tables hold bread-and-butter, tea, and course plates, after-dinner cups and saucers.

A Group at 50c—

This is all French china—breakfast plates, dinner plates, comports, bon-bon dishes, olive dishes, tea cups and saucers, inkwells. The lowest valuation on the least expensive kind is $8.50 a dozen—that for the breakfast plates. Other pieces in this lot are worth $10 and $12 a dozen.

A Group at 75c—

A collection of elegant French plates, made up almost entirely of Haviland's goods. These are breakfast, dinner, tea and soup plates, all of which are full $1.50 values.

A Group at $1—

All plates—dinner, breakfast, tea and soup. The same make and quality as those reduced to 75c, but these have costlier decorations. They are easily worth $1.50 each.

Dinner Sets

$6—English porcelain; 109 pieces; underglaze decorations. This quality cannot be bought from the manufacturers to-day at this price.

$8.50—English porcelain; 100 pieces; 3 styles of decoration. The wholesale price is higher.

$15—American porcelain; 113 pieces; fine border decoration and gold; value $20.

$15—Austrian china; 101 pieces; all handles gilded; an especially good value.

$20—English porcelain; 145 pieces; blue underglaze decoration; value $27.50.

And these sets of French china—

125 pieces, $125; value $200.

124 pieces, $65; value $95.

113 pieces, $45; value $60.

Dinner Sets

Also some French china sets at $20 that are worth $27.50; and some at $25, worth $35. The dinner sets are conveniently arranged in the China Store, Basement.

Cut Glass

Richly cut—American, the best. All in new, desirable designs. This list shows savings—present prices compared with regular valuation:

Jelly Plates, $3; worth $4.

Flower Vases, 18-in., $7.50, worth $10; 14-in., $3.50, worth $5; 12-in., $2.75, worth $3.75.

Salad Bowls, 8-inch, $3.50.

Celery Trays, $4—we need to charge $6.50 regularly.

Tumblers, $6.75 a dozen instead of $10.

Vases, 16-in., $4.50 instead of $6.

Bric-a-Brac

Exceptionally good values in Teplitz vases and figures, and Sevres mounted vases, in exquisite designs and decorations.

Teplitz vases, 85c, instead of $1.25; $2.50, instead of $3.50; $4.50, instead of $6.50.

Sevres vases at $27.50, instead of $40; at $35, instead of $50; $40, instead of $60.

Finest Plates

There have been exceptionally noteworthy offerings in fine plates here, never a more attractive one than this. These are plates of finest quality, in exquisite decorations. Most of them have been selling at $4 and $5 each—some even higher. Price, $2 each.

Toilet Sets

They were bought as "seconds"—said to be imperfect. They are practically as good as those rated perfect, for the blemishes are hard to find. In two modern shapes, all complete 12-piece sets, all with fine decorations of flowers and gold, on tinted grounds. One kind at $4.50 is the quality that sells regularly for $7. The other at $6 is the usual $12 kind.

An Upheaval of Upholstery

There's been a turning-over of the stocks. Odd lots, small quantities, some goods that were fondled too dearly by contemplating purchasers, are all brought to the front. Reductions in prices are made all along the line. Most of the offering is of wholly good, desirable stuffs—particularly true of the lace curtains, the shades and the canopies. They're without a single fault—except, insufficient in quantity. And that fault creates opportunities for savings such as these—

Lace Curtains—

In Irish Point Curtains there is good picking among 2 and 3-pair lots—many of these at about half original prices. Reductions, too, in the larger quantities. One kind 3 attractive patterns at $4.50 a pair instead of $6.75. Another quality at $5 a pair—they were $7.75. And others at $7 that were about 50 per cent. more.

Among the Ruffled Muslin Curtains are some at 95c a pair—good $1.25 values—and others at $1.15 that were considered moderate at $1.50.

Crepe and Madras Curtains—Light, both in weight and color. In stained glass effects; suitable for library and dining-room. $5.50 kinds are now $3.75; $16 kinds now $12. Some in-between-kinds at like reductions.

Bed Sets—

These are mostly Irish Point, white and ivory. For the white, prices are now $4.25 to $8.75. They were $5.75 to $11.50. For the ivory, choose now at $4.25 to $11 for kinds that were $5.75 to $15.50.

Here's a lot of Nottingham laces, for decorative purposes. They've been handled, and show some little evidences of it—not much. Half prices.

Window Shades—

Opaque shades, in various good colors, made up of remnant pieces, at 35c each. They're easily worth double.

Prices throughout these stocks of shades are particularly moderate, and should interest builders as well as housekeepers. We want builders and owners of large office buildings to learn the savings offered here, on large orders, for strictly best materials.

Cosey Corner Canopies—

Putting these up now at greatly reduced charges. Canopies comprise the frames, hangings, draperies, tassels, spears and lantern. One style at $25 that formerly cost $35. Another at $40, instead of $50. Still another at $53, for which the previous moderate charge was $62. Specimens of these various styles are on view in the Oriental Room, Third floor, Fourth ave.

Down Cushions—

There's a group of pillows with coverings of East India prints, that are selling at $1.15 each. Formerly $1.75. Another group with Bagdad and Damascus coverings; in various striped patterns, at $1.35 each. They are worth at least $2.25.

More About the Linen Sale

Cotton is mixed with linen to cheapen it. If you buy cotton-mixed linens unknowingly you are swindled; if you buy such stuff knowingly, you are readier than we would be to take chances, and are content with "anything that'll do."

All-flax linens—no cotton or tow—pure linens first, last and all the time, at Wanamaker's.

And this is true of handkerchiefs as of household linens.

This statement needs no qualifying—there are no exceptions: linen is linen at our stores, but you've fingers enough on one hand to count all the true linen stores in America. Maybe you needn't even use your thumb.

And yet, linens are cheapest at Wanamaker's—where there is no risk—cheapest for the every-day things; cheapest for the really elegant weaves.

Special Prices This Week

Not because certain weeks or days have any bearing on prices, but because these goods came to us far under value—and the saving is yours.

Table Cloths—

$2—Fine bleached Irish damask; 3 yards long; were $2.40; 3½ yds. long, $2.25.

$6.75—Flemish double satin damask; 2x3 yards or 2½ yards square; were $9.

Napkins—

95c doz.—German bleached; sewed fringes; 17 in.; were $1.25.

$1.50 doz.—Scotch bleached; 20 in.; were $1.75.

$2.25 doz.—German gras bleached; 24 in.; were $2.75.

$3 doz.—Flemish double satin damask; bleached; 22 in.; were $3.75.

$4 doz.—Irish bleached; extra heavy; 26 in.; were $5.

Bed Linen—

$1.50 each—Hemstitched linen sheets, 3-4 bed size; were $1.75. Full size, $1.75; were $2.

28c each—Hemstitched linen pillow cases; 20x36 in.; were 38c.

Towels—

10c each—Fringed huckaback, bleached, 18 x38 in.; were 15c.

10c each—Bleached honeycomb bath towels, all cotton, 18x36 in.; were 12½c.

15c each—Damask bordered huckaback, 20x 44 in.; were 25c.

19c each—Old Bleach huckaback, fringed, 20 x39 in.; were 25c.

25c each—Hemstitched huckaback, very heavy, 26x45 in.; were 35c.

25c each—Snow-white bath towels, Turkish cotton; were 35c.

Toweling—

5c yd.—Bleached twilled, all linen, 16 in. wide; was 8c.

6 1-4c yd.—Brown or bleached plain crash, 20 in. wide. Also bleached, twilled, 16 in. wide. Were 10c. yard.

12½c yd.—Checked glass toweling, 18 in.; was 18c. Also 20 in. bleached twilled crash.

Fourth avenue side.

50c Cotton-and-Silk Foulards at 25c

Spic and span from the mills—some altogether new designs; more are stand-bys. What's in a name? Much, it seems—for out of the same mill door these fabrics are going at great rate under a popularized name at just double our price.

We sold nine thousand yards on Monday—probably as many yesterday (it takes a little while to make up the record).

One woman bought eight dress lengths—as different as aster and chrysanthemum. There are two hundred styles.

Rotunda.

Men's Shirts to Order

We believe our workers have the knack and skill to make perfect-fitting shirts for any normally shaped man. If there is the least shortcoming, consider the loss ours.

That's half the battle.

Then the materials. As to them, we know that we bring over more exclusive and elegant fabrics than come to any other one shirt maker. Five hundred and forty-four styles are shown this "Opening Day." Charvet of Paris leads the Old World in the charm of the fabrics he has woven. We have his weaver working for us as well.

Beal & Inman of Old Bond Street, London, are probably the next in shirt fame, but they have close seconds in dear old Lonnon town, and we have their combined findings-out.

White Shirts, $1.50 to $12—the latter made of batiste-chiffon, of threads so fine that the loom-room air is kept moist and the shuttles work under water. After the web is woven it is strong enough—and luxurious.

Percale Shirts, $3 Linen Batiste Shirts, $10 Madras Shirts, $3.50

Cheviot Shirts, $3.50 Thread-and-Silk Shirts, $12 Silk-and-linen Shirts, $12

The more particular you are, the more you'll appreciate the things we have gathered.

Ninth street side.

Men's Suits at $10

Double-breasted Sack-coat Suits of black cheviot, for $10.

It was a possible thing six months ago. It is possible only by the accident of trade to-day. Skimped? Not a bit of it. The coat is satin faced clear out to the button-holes.

A good many, but not enough. All sizes.

Second floor, Fourth avenue

Traveling Trunks from Paris

In talking of trunks, the other day, we said that the man who made them best lived in Paris. Louis Vuitton is the man and he has made us his American agents. The trunks will only be bought by those of you who absolutely will have the best.

Every convenience that a Frenchman can conjure is put into these traveling wardrobes. $41 to $84.

Fifth floor

Some Fifth Floor Attractions—The sale of Men's, Women's and Children's Gloves continues—kidskin and other sorts; Women's Mercerized Cotton Waists in various good colors, at $1; 75c Seersucker Petticoats, at 50c; Dress Good Remnants, at almost trifling prices; Corsets at 45c and 65c; exceptionally good values in Women's Muslin Underwear, the medium and least expensive kinds; Club Vellum Writing Paper.

Formerly A. T. Stewart & Co., JOHN WANAMAKER Broadway, Fourth Ave., Ninth and Tenth Sts.

THE FIGHT FOR MOLINEUX

His Testimony Before the Coroner Admitted in Evidence.

Mr. Osborne Promises to Finish Today and Mr. Weeks May Make His Opening Address.

From the progress made in the trial yesterday of Roland B. Molineux there appeared to be more than usual justification for the announcement made by Assistant District Attorney Osborne that he would rest the case of the people to-day. His failure to finish his case heretofore, when promised, he has attributed to the developing of additional evidence and to the time consumed in cross-examination by Mr. Weeks.

Nearly all of the forenoon session yesterday was devoted to the question of admitting as evidence the testimony given by Molineux at the Coroner's inquest. This was eventually admitted, and the rest of the morning and all of the afternoon session was devoted to the reading of that testimony, which was not finished when court adjourned.

This will be finished this morning, and then Mr. Hagan and Dr. Fraser, who have been making ink tests, will be summoned. Detective McCafferty will be called also once more, and unless some witness not yet named by the prosecution is brought into the trial, the case of the people will rest. There was a rumor current that the prosecution had a new witness, who would be sprung as a surprise, but this was denied by one of Mr. Osborne's assistants.

Mr. Osborne expects to finish his side of the case by the end of this morning's session, and it is believed Mr. Weeks will make his opening address this afternoon. No line on the course of the defense has yet been made known.

During yesterday's session a number of clergymen were in attendance, among them Bishop Cheshire of North Carolina, who sat for a time beside the Assistant District Attorney. Justice Jerome was a spectator for a time, also, in the afternoon, sitting on the bench with Recorder Goff.

Molineux and his father paid close attention to the reading of the Coroner's minutes. Once, at the close of the day, Harry Cornish came within range of the prisoner's vision, and Molineux regarded him with a contemptuous smile. During part of the afternoon Molineux played tit-tat-toe with Mr. Carvalho, who sat beside him, and he seemed greatly pleased when he caught the writing expert.

The day's proceedings began with the recalling of Coroner Hart for cross-examination of Mr. Weeks, from whom he sought to get an admission that Cornish, who had been a witness at the Coroner's inquest the day before Molineux was, had accused Molineux of complicity in the crime. The Court ruled out any answers giving the testimony of Cornish and Mr. Weeks sought by devious ways to show the correctness of his contention that Molineux's testimony before the Coroner should not be admitted.

Mr. Weeks sought to prove by the Coroner that Molineux was under a charge when called as a witness; that he was under strong suspicion; that his writing had been the subject of examination, and that the Coroner's physician had made some report on the cause of death before the inquest. Nearly all the questions designed to bring out information along these lines were excluded.

The Recorder ruled that reports made before the examination of Molineux did not become official until brought out at the inquest. Thus Dr. Weston, the Coroner's physician, had not officially reported until he took the stand at the inquest, which was after Molineux had testified.

Before the final decision was reached, excluding Cornish's testimony, Mr. Baker, the Coroner's stenographer, was called, and Mr. Weeks sought to have him read from the minutes.

"On the 9th of February," began Mr. Weeks, "did not Mr. Cornish take the stand and testify as follows—"

Mr. Osborne interrupted with an objection and asked that the Court see the testimony which Mr. Weeks proposed to introduce in his question before it was heard by the jury. This course was followed. Mr. Weeks asking that if it was excluded the language of the full question should appear in the records.

The Recorder declined to say what his ruling as to the record would be. After a glance at the testimony under discussion he sent for legal citations on the points at issue. While engaged studying them Mr. Weeks and Mr. Osborne got into one of their arguments, and the Recorder looked up and said:

"Will you gentlemen please retire?"

"We were only talking law, your Honor," replied Mr. Osborne.

"Yes, I know you were only talking," remarked the Recorder.

The Recorder next sent for Coroner Hart, who had left the room, and asked him if he could say whether, before Molineux was put on the stand, any competent witness had testified as to the cause of Mrs. Adams's death.

"Harry Cornish was on the stand—" began the Coroner, when the Recorder interrupted him, saying:

"He is not a competent witness."

Mr. Weeks asked, "Had any information been offered to you, and was there any information in your office, upon which those proceedings of the Coroner's court were based?"

Mr. Osborne objected and was sustained.

Mr. Weeks—This inquisition conducted by you was in connection with the death of Mrs. Adams?"

"Yes."

"What was the reason for the delay from Dec. 28 to Feb. 9?"

"There was no specific reason."

"Did you not delay the proceedings until you could get a report from Dr. Witthaus?"

The question was excluded. It was decided that the Cornish testimony could go on the record to show the considerations on which the Recorder had based his refusal to admit the question embodying it, to be presented to the jury.

Mr. Weeks then started in to ask the same question again, when the Recorder sternly reprimanded him, saying, "You put the Court in a false position. I hereby revoke all rulings in reference to the whole matter, as if no question on this point had been asked, objected to, or overruled."

The outcome of all this discussion was that the Cornish testimony was ruled out and the Molineux testimony was permitted to be read, Mr. Weeks's objection being overruled and Mr. Weeks taking an exception.

Mr. Osborne read the testimony while the stenographer held his shorthand notes for comparison, and Mr. Weeks followed with his own copy of the minutes. The Recorder said he could not pass upon the materiality of the testimony until he had heard it.

Only a part of the testimony regarding Barnet was read, but that read included the portion relating to the time when Miss Chesebrough lived at 251 West Seventy-fifth Street, when Molineux took Barnet to see her, and that also touching on the relationship between Barnet and Miss Chesebrough, which Molineux said was not of a character to cause him any jealousy.

Held Responsible for Rain's Work.

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 23.—Edward A. Slocum was fined $5 and costs in a police court to-day. Slocum has billboards in different places in the city. Saturday night's storm washed a lot of theatrical posters from the boards and scattered the paper about the streets. Mayor Mack made a complaint against Slocum, alleging that he was responsible for the littering of the streets with paper in violation of an ordinance. Slocum said he should not be held responsible for the work of the rain.

Glanders Attacks Horses at Catskill.

CATSKILL, Jan. 23.—Glanders has developed in a bunch of work horses at Smith Landing, owned by the Consolidated Ice Company. By the order of a veterinary surgeon, fourteen were put to death yesterday and to-day, and it is apprehended that it will be necessary to kill the whole lot—some seventy.

Kills Himself with Fire.

ITHACA, Jan. 23.—Ora Freeman, thirty-five years old, a citizen of Etna, committed suicide to-day by setting himself on fire. He had been sick for some time and had suffered financial losses. His nurse left him at 3 o'clock, and on hearing a noise shortly afterward returned, to find that the sick man had shut himself in a closet and set his clothes on fire. Death was partly due to suffocation.

CASTORIA.

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

FILIPINOS HOOT FRIARS.

Significant Demonstration at a Reception Given by Archbishop Chapelle.

MANILA, Jan. 24.—Archbishop Chapelle, Papal Delegate to the Philippines, gave a reception yesterday to the Catholic clergy and laymen for the purpose of conciliating the opposing factions.

Many prominent Filipinos attended, with a view of making a demonstration against the friars. They hooted Archbishop Nozaleda and every friar who appeared, crying, "Fuera Nozaleda!" and "Fuera Frailes!"

On the other hand, Gen. Otis, who attended with his staff, was cheered.

Mgr. Chapelle made a speech, asking for toleration and patience and promising a satisfactory settlement of the questions in dispute. He rebuked the newspapers for meddling with matters which, he said, they did not understand.

PHILIPPINE CASUALTIES.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Gen. Otis has cabled the War Department the following list of casualties:

Killed in Action—Vigan, Luzon, Dec. 4, Thirty-third Infantry, A, Arthur Wright; B, Lawrence L. Spencer, Sergeant; Frederick J. Bell, Sergeant; Alfred Wachs, Corporal; D, Dave Puckett; E, James Bennett, William Branden; L, Norman M. Fry, Sergeant; near Santa Nicolas, Nov. 19, Third Cavalry, A, Irving H. Palmer; Jan. 18, Forty-fifth Infantry, F, Frank Carr.

Wounded in Action—Vigan, Dec. 4, Thirty-third Infantry, B, James R. Montgomery, musician; E, Fred Loyea; K, William H. Bostwick; M, John Patterson; Tangadan Mountain, Dec. 4, Third Cavalry, D, Hubert Muggy; K, Frank J. Kaiser; near Binan, Jan. 7, Fourteenth Infantry, William C. Geiger, First Lieutenant; near Lemeri, Jan. 18, Forty-sixth Infantry, N, William Boose; Jan. 19, C, Albert Nelson; H, John Lenehen; near Santa Tomas, Nov. 19, Third Cavalry, Charles J. Grace.

AMERICANS TAKE DESERTED TOWN.

Occupy Santa Cruz, Where Insurgents Were Said to Be.

MANILA, Jan. 23—9:50 A. M.—The Americans have occupied Santa Cruz, on Laguna de Bay, Laguna Province. It was reported many insurgents were concentrated there, but the town was found deserted.

Manila Military Order Changed.

MANILA, Jan. 23.—The military regulation requiring the streets to be cleared of natives at 8:30 o'clock P. M. has been changed to 10 o'clock.

No More Men for the Philippines.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—Word has been received from the War Department that no more enlisted men of the volunteer regiments will be sent to Manila. All those who for sickness or other causes are here awaiting transportation will be discharged from the service.

TO REPAIR THE CONSTITUTION.

Bill to Recommission the Old Frigate Reported Favorably.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Senator Tillman, from the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs, to-day reported favorably the bill authorizing the Secretary of the Navy to permit the repair of the old United States frigate Constitution and to recommission it.

The bill as originally introduced authorized the frigate's use only as a training ship, but as reported it carries an amendment giving the Secretary of the Navy discretion to allow its use as "a naval museum and floating monument to the glory of American sailors," to be stationed at the Washington Navy Yard or elsewhere, as the Secretary of the Navy may determine.

NEW ARMY HAT REGULATION.

Men Must Wear Campaign Head Gear in Its Original Shape.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—No more may the private soldier knock two or, three, or even four, dents into his campaign hat, or pin up a flap of the brim on one side to give him a rakish air. A regulation just issued from the War Department reads:

"The wearing of these hats in any other than their original shape is prohibited."

The original shape, in the case of the campaign hat, is on the Alpine order, a shape that experience has proved to be the most becoming to the average soldier's head. The privates have been used to shaping their hats through the denting process so as to indicate the command to which they belonged, and it is expected that they will not like this order.

Gets an Appointment in Cuba.

Special to The New York Times.

GENEVA, N. Y., Jan. 23.—Donald E. Richardson of Geneva has received an appointment of Deputy Collector of Port of Guantanamo, Cuba. He sails the first of next week. The office carries with it a salary of $1,800 a year. The Custom House officer at Guantanamo, Capt. E. A. Ellis, United States Army, is also from Geneva.

FOR A CITY LIGHTING PLANT.

Yonkers Taking Steps to Fight the Whitney Syndicate.

YONKERS, N. Y., Jan. 23.—The Board of Aldermen of this city last night directed the Committee on Street Lighting to immediately investigate the cost and practicability of the city establishing a lighting plant and furnishing lights for street use and for commercial purposes. The project has the unanimous backing of the Aldermen, and in his last annual message Mayor Sutherland strongly urged the establishment of such a plant.

Yonkers now pays about $80,000 for street lighting. The local company which did the work has passed into the hands of the Whitney syndicate and proposes to abandon the local generating station and supply Yonkers from the big power house in the Bronx. The connections for this have been made, but are not yet in use.

When the power from the Bronx is turned on it will be needful for every user of electric power in this city to take out the present motors and substitute new ones, as the kind of power transmitted will be different from that now in use.

The franchise under which the company is operating here expires in July next, and it is thought that some steps can be taken to have the city do its own lighting before that time. The Mayor and Aldermen say it would be better for the city to remain in darkness for a time than to surrender to the trust.

The city authorities and citizens are preparing for a big fight in Albany. It will be needful to obtain a special law, and it is expected that the company will vigorously oppose it.

BLISSVILLE SEES A GHOST.

New Palace Car of Jacob Beetem Glides Over the Highways.

Blissville, in Queens Borough, has been enjoying a ghost sensation for several days. A great white mass shining with fire, supposedly of infernal origin, has been seen gliding along the highways.

The ghost is genuine and very substantial. It cost a pile of money and belongs to Jacob Beetem, Vice President and general manager of the New York and Queens County Electric Road.

It is a palace car for his personal use in getting over the many miles of trackage of his road. It is painted white and gold and is brilliantly illuminated. It is numbered 500 and is said to be one of the finest trolley cars in existence.

Died After Daughter's Funeral.

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 23.—Peter J. Baer, a carpenter, of 362 Central Avenue, died suddenly yesterday afternoon. He had just come home from the funeral of his daughter Lillian, who had died on Friday.

Victory for Union Railway.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Jan. 23.—Justice Smith decided to-day that the New York, Westchester and Connecticut Traction Company had no rights in the town of East Chester or the village of Bronxville. This gives the Union Railway Company the right to proceed and complete its road from Mount Vernon to White Plains, a part of which, from Scarsdale to White Plains, is already built and in operation.

Kingston Man Found Dead.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Jan. 23.—The body of Franklin Fredericks, a wealthy brick manufacturer, was found this morning at Steep Rocks, near this city. His neck was broken. His horse ran away last night while Mr. Fredericks was driving home and threw him from the wagon. The horse was found dead, also with its neck broken.

CAREY & SIDES

56-58 4TH AVE., COR. NINTH ST.

MEN'S and BOYS' CLOTHING ON CREDIT.

READY MADE AND TO ORDER.

A system that is universally used by Governments and all large contractors; the same that is adopted in the financing of the thirty-five million dollar Rapid Transit Contract is the principle we employ in our "NO-EXTRA CHARGE" CREDIT system. TIME and MERCHANDISE are the main factors. Money is an after consideration—"Look into" our CREDIT SYSTEM before making your purchases elsewhere.

WEEKLY AND MONTHLY PAYMENTS.

Ready-Made Suits and Overcoats, $10, $12, $15 to $25, TO ORDER, $16, $20, $25, and $30. Boys' Suits, $3 to $12. Men's Hats. Tuxedo and Full Dress Suits, silk lined, to order, $30, $35, $40, $45, and $50.

WATCHES AND JEWELRY.

Write for terms and particulars.

OPEN SATURDAYS UNTIL 10:30; MONDAYS, 9.

OUR NEW POMPADOUR WIGS for LADIES

Perfect in every detail—light and comfortable—absolutely true to nature—complete satisfaction to wearer without that feeling of trepidation that every observer knows you are wearing one.

We have a Special DEPARTMENT for GENTLEMEN'S WIGS & TOUPEES

A specialist for examination of the scalp is in attendance.

L. SHAW,

Established 38 Years,

54 W. 14th St., next to Macy's, N. Y.

Kennedy

12 CORTLANDT ST.

Colored Shirts.

A Lot of Dollar Shirts at 49c.

They are odd lots of Madras and Percale—all sizes.

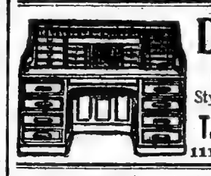
Wide End Scarfs, 35c were 75c

FANCY SHIRTS $1.49 EACH.

Newest spring patterns, made like custom shirts, open front and back (separate cuffs included.)

HIGH CLASS TAILORING at Moderate Prices. Fit Guaranteed.

Nicoll. 771 BROADWAY, 145-147 BOWERY.



DESKS.

Great Variety of Style and Price.

T. G. SELLEW, 111 Fulton St., N.Y.

International "Wun Wing" NEW CREATION Armor Brand

SAME LOWER "WING-LO"

DYING FROM BURGLAR'S BLOW.

Mrs. Haskell Assaulted at the Home of Her Sister, Who Is Also Seriously Hurt.

FRANKLINVILLE, N. J., Jan. 23.—Mrs. Mary Haskell of Needham, Mass., is dying here as a result of injuries she received last night at the hands of a burglar who entered the home of her sister, Mrs. Ellen Dennett. Mrs. Dennett is a widow and lives alone. She is credited with having considerable money about the house at all times. The burglar is supposed not to have known that Mrs. Haskell had come here to visit her sister, and expected to find Mrs. Dennett alone as usual.

The man entered the house about 11:30 o'clock. Both women were in bed. He went to the bed where Mrs. Dennett was and took her by the throat, and warned her that any outcry would cause her instant death. It is believed it was his intention to force her by threats or torture to tell where her money was.

The noise awakened Mrs. Haskell, and she jumped out of bed and attacked the man. He struggled with her and released Mrs. Dennett. The burglar finally grabbed a piece of wood which lay beside the fireplace and struck Mrs. Haskell upon the head. She fell unconscious.

Mrs. Dennett had meanwhile run from the house. The man followed her with the stick, and as she ran hit her a number of times on the head, cutting the scalp. He followed her to the doorstep of a neighbor's house and then fled. The neighbor found Mrs. Dennett lying on the steps covered with blood, and then hastened to her house, where he found Mrs. Haskell on the floor.

A posse of farmers searched the neighboring country, but failed to catch any one. A suspect was arrested to-day, but was let go, for lack of evidence.

Mrs. Haskell is fifty-eight years of age. Her skull is fractured and she cannot live. Mrs. Dennett is ten years older than her sister. Her injuries are serious, but she may live. The burglar did not succeed in stealing anything.

THE GERRY SOCIETY CASE.

Court Withholds Official Decision Pending Motion for Reargument.

ALBANY, Jan. 23.—Chief Judge Parker of the Court of Appeals has signed an order withholding the remittitur, an official decision, in the case of the State Board of Charities against the New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, pending the filing of motion papers by the counsel of the board requesting a reargument of the case.

The board desires to have it understood that its proceedings in this case are not to compel the society to submit to the board's "control," as has been reported, but simply to require the society to permit an inspection of its work, and to file an annual report of its receipts and expenditures with the board.

ROBERTS CASE IN DEBATE

Congress Discusses the Status of the Utah Member-Elect.

MR. TAYLER FOR THE MAJORITY

Mr. Littlefield Advocates the Minority Report, While Roberts Pleads His Own Cause—Speeches Applauded.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—This has been an oratorical field to-day over the case of Brigham H. Roberts, the Mormon Representative from Utah. The galleries were packed to suffocation, chiefly with women, and the spectators, after listening attentively to the arguments of Mr. Tayler (Rep., Ohio.) and Mr. Littlefield (Rep., Me.,) for the adoption of the majority and minority reports, respectively, of the special committee that investigated the case, remained long after nightfall to hear the impassioned words of the accused as he faced the House, like an animal at bay, knowing that every hand was raised against him.

Mr. Roberts was very adroit in the handling of his case, and at times exceedingly dramatic. Taking advantage of the issue raised by the division in the committee as to the method of ousting him, he appropriated to himself the argument of the minority that he was constitutionally entitled to be sworn in, and the arguments of the majority that, once sworn in, he could not be expelled. He defended the action of the Mormons in fighting the authority of the United States for years, because, he said, they believed that sentiment would change, and dramatically stated that in those days he had rather have his flesh hewn from his bones than to have renounced his religious tenets.

He concluded with an eloquent peroration, in which he said he had never been conscious of a shameful act, and if he was sent forth he would go with head erect and undaunted brow.

Strange to say most of the applause he won was from women. But while they appeared to be his only partisans, other women manifested their bitter hostility by hissing him at every opportunity. The speech made to-day by Mr. Littlefield, who succeeds the late Mr. Dingley, in defense of the minority proposition to seat and then expel Mr. Roberts was a masterful effort and stamped him as one of the coming men in the House. The manner in which he tore some of the arguments of the majority into shreds jumped him into the front rank of debaters in the House. The speech made a deep impression. In fact, it is predicted to-night by many members that the majority resolution for exclusion cannot now carry. Mr. Lacey (Rep., Iowa,) has a proposition which he will submit, to expel Mr. Roberts by a two-thirds vote without seating him, which will have supporters, and this may lead to a compromise proposition.

Miss Roberts, daughter of Mr. Roberts, was in the reserved gallery throughout the debate to-day.

The debate will close next Thursday at 4:30.

When the majority resolutions to exclude Roberts and the minority resolutions to permit him to be sworn in and then expelled were laid before the House without any agreement as to a vote, Mr. Tayler opened in support of the majority resolutions. He spoke clearly and with great earnestness. When he began Mr. Roberts changed his position to one near the centre aisle on the Democratic side, where he could hear with more ease.

MR. TAYLER SPEAKS.

Mr. Tayler said:

"Chief Justice Waite, in the Reynolds case in 1878, speaking of the claim that polygamy was a religious practice, said: 'To permit this would be in effect to permit every citizen to become a law unto himself. Government could exist only in name under such circumstances.' And Justice Matthews, in the Ramsey case in 1884, declared in substance that all political influence ought to be withdrawn from those who are practically hostile to the establishment of a free, self-governing commonwealth founded on the idea of a family as consisting in and springing from the union for life of one man and one woman in the holy estate of matrimony.

"If we are to attach any importance to those fundamental declarations of the highest court, we must declare—no matter what moral question may be involved—that this case presents, in bold relief, a question of governmental life, the basis of which is law.

"This is a representative Government; it springs from the people; from the people who make the law, and their representatives are such because they are believers in the law and subject to the law. Many may entertain opinions as to the unwisdom of certain laws and hope that these may be erased from the statute books, but in the very nature of things they cannot stand for defiance of law. And as they cannot stand for defiance of any law, how much the more must they stand as respecters of and obedient to such laws as have proceeded from the people, at the people's initiative, and sustained by the deliberate and intelligent approval of substantially all the people.

"Now and then we have a law which springs from the united voice of a united people as the expression of civilizing force, in which practically all of them believed and which is necessary to the existence of that civilizing force. Of the more than seventy-five millions of American citizens all but the merest handful believe, and believe with a mighty fervor, in the kind of commonwealth which Justice Matthews declares is founded on the marriage relation existing for life between one man and one woman. That idea has been for many years crystallized in solemn and deliberate law, whose principles and form have been approved by the highest judicial authority.

"Such laws make imperative demand for universal respect and obedience, and the duty of such respect and obedience presses most urgently upon a representative of the people in a law-making body.

FUNDAMENTAL PROPOSITIONS.

"These propositions are fundamental and self-evident. They lie at the root of things. They are the bedrock upon which written Constitutions rest; they precede Constitutions; Constitutions assume their pre-existence and their perpetual existence; they are institutional.

"If the Federal Constitution had explicitly declared that all persons should be eligible for Representative in Congress who denied that the Constitution was the supreme law of the land, that instrument and the Government it sought to create would not have endured a single day. It follows that if such specific declaration could not have been made, it cannot be implied. Neither the presence nor absence of certain words in the instrument can imply a certain meaning if it is impossible that such meaning could have been expressed.

"If the claimant to this seat is eligible, he is eligible because the Constitution so makes him, either by its express language or by necessary implication. The words 'necessary implication' mean that if the framers of the Constitution had had in mind the particular exigency to which the words are applied they would, if the proposition was approved, have written into the Constitution the words which are 'necessarily implied.'

"The Constitution says, 'this Constitution and the laws of the United States, which shall be made in pursuance thereof, shall be the supreme law of the land.'

"If the member-elect from Utah is eligible to be a Representative in Congress, then, for the purpose of this case, we must read into the Constitution other words so that it would read, 'no person shall be a Representative in Congress unless he shall have attained to the age of twenty-five years, and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not when elected be an inhabitant of that State in which he shall be chosen; provided that no person shall be ineligible to a seat as such Representative, who, in form and substance, in word and act, in life and practice, defies the Constitution and the laws, and denies their validity and supremacy.'

"It matters not whether this proviso be attached to the clause referred to or to some other. It must be written into the Constitution somewhere if the claimant is eligible, and my friends on the other side of the question will not deny it.

"Thus stands the case then: If the minority be right, the framers of the Constitution, if they had foreseen the Roberts incident, with its defiance of the Constitution and the law, and its denial of the validity and supremacy as to him, would have said, Brigham H. Roberts is eligible and must be seated if elected.

"I say that no such provision could have been adopted, and if it could not cannot be implied.

MORALITY OF THE QUESTION.

"Much is said about the moral side of this question. Doubtless it has such a side, and if that were the only consideration before us this might take the same action it will take. But I do not here and now, in the face of the great fundamental fact of disobedience to law plus audacious defiance of it, care to assert the moral ground.

"Mr. Speaker, I do not hesitate to submit this proposition to the candid judgment of this House and before the bar of history. I am profoundly convinced that it is right, and that history will so declare it; the House can no more safely part with this power than it can part with any other power it possesses. This touches its very vitality. If it loses it, it is in certain conceivable instances absolutely without power.

"But we are told that it is a power that may be abused. What power does the House possess that it has not at some time abused? What branch of the Government is it that, having power, has not at some time abused it? What man, what body of men, clothed with a little brief authority, has been free from an unwise abuse of that authority? And shall they therefore be shorn of power?

"It is a mighty question. It is a question of governmental life—it is not to be lightly dealt with or inconsiderately answered.

"The case of Roberts sinks into insignificance in its presence. I should assert what I here assert, with precisely the same solemnity if the right of expulsion after admission was absolutely clear. If we do not exclude this man, we strike down one of the most vital and necessary powers that belong to a great legislative body.

'Let not such a thing be done. If it is not, we may be sure that never again, while the spirit of civilization dominates this Republic, will any defiant violator of law under color of religion or any other claim, whether polygamist or murderer, knock for admission at the door of the American Congress."

Mr. Tayler was emphatic in his assertion that exclusion was in harmony with precedent; expulsion in violation of it. He amplified the three grounds for Mr. Roberts's exclusion—First, because of his violation of the Edmunds act; second, because he was living in open, flagrant, and notorious violation of the statutes of the Congress he seeks to enter, and, third, because his election was a violation of the compact by which Utah was admitted into the Union.

There were no demonstrations throughout Mr. Tayler's speech, but at the conclusion he was vigorously applauded.

SPEECH OF MR. LITTLEFIELD.

Mr. Littlefield, (Rep., Me.,) on behalf of the minority of the committee, then arose in support of the minority's plan of seating and then expelling Mr. Roberts.

Mr. Littlefield, tall and stalwart, has a commanding presence, and made a deep impression upon the House in this, his maiden speech. He conceded at the outset the integrity, honesty, and ability of the majority of the committee, but he could not concede its judgment. There was no disagreement as to the fact that Mr. Roberts was a polygamist and should not be a member of the House. The only issue between the majority and minority was as to whether he should be excluded or expelled. The Constitutional qualifications, age, and inhabitancy, Mr. Littlefield argued, could not be added to. If they could, and the House now excluded a member because he was guilty of polygamous practices, next year it might exclude for adultery or because a member was an attorney for a trust or an octopus or for any other reason. The right of a member to his seat was a Constitutional right.

He took issue with the majority as to the power of the House to expel a member for acts committed before his entrance into the House, citing case after case in support of his contention. First, he went back to the case of John Wilkes, the famous English champion of free speech, who was three times excluded and twice expelled from the House of Commons, the second time for an act for which he had been sent to prison five years before. He quoted from the Junius letters, the denunciation of the "damnable doctrine that a single House of Parliament could alter, suspend, or abrogate the law of the land." The fight for liberty of press and speech was supported by this doctrine, and he defied the majority to add to the Constitutional qualifications of members in the light of these historic instances. He went back to the Constitutional debates to prove that Congress could not add to the qualifications of members negatively stated in the Constitution.

After depicting the conditions that surrounded the framing of this provision of the Constitution, and quoting the words of Madison, Hamilton, and Jefferson, he asked triumphantly who there was who should shatter the crucible of history which surrounded it or the declaration of the men who framed it. Who would undertake to impeach the integrity of the men who were present at the dawn of our history.

Mr. Littlefield said it had been the purpose of the minority to present the facts and authorities on both sides of the contention in order that the House could intelligently determine whether the position of the minority was well grounded.

TAYLER'S STATEMENTS RIDICULED.

Some of the precedents cited by Mr. Tayler were ridiculed by Mr. Littlefield. He also challenged Mr. Tayler's authorities. Mr. Littlefield said that the majority were driven back to support their contention for additional qualifications upon the general welfare clause of the Constitution. He won the first burst of applause while ridiculing the attempt of the majority to dispose of Justice Story's opinion by stating that he had not sought to give his own ideas, but only the ideas of others. They would, said Mr. Littlefield, make him the "Boswell of the Constitution." [Great laughter.]

Mr. Littlefield said the minority stood with Burke, the statesman of the eighteenth century; with Jefferson, Madison, Hamilton, Gouverneur Morris, and the men who framed the Constitution; with the decisions of the courts of Maryland, Montana, and Virginia; with the opinions of Story, Cooley, Cushing, John Randolph Tucker, and Webster. He then challenged Mr. Tayler's statement that no precedent existed against exclusion, citing the case of Benjamin Stark in the Senate in 1862, who was charged with disloyalty, yet who was seated by the Senate without prejudice to subsequent action against him.

The majority, he pointed out, had cited this case, but had not informed the House of this fact.

"I believe," said Mr. Littlefield, concluding his comment on this particular case, "that Mr. Roberts has a full Constitutional right to a seat in this House."

The applause which swept over the floor in response to this statement extended to the galleries, many of the ladies there present participating.

The Whitemore case, which occurred immediately after the war, Mr. Littlefield said, was a poor precedent. The passions of the war had not cooled, and he believed the action of the House in excluding him at that time on the ground of selling cadetships was unwarranted and ill advised. It should not be quoted here in cold blood in time of peace. Besides, Mr. Littlefield urged, there was no reason why precedents should be slavishly followed. He referred to the manner in which ex-Speaker Reed had overturned the precedents of a century, paying a tribute to him as "the man of iron who had converted the House from an unorganized mob into an instrument which registered the will of the people."

Mr. Littlefield then turned to the consideration of the proposition that if the House had a right to add to the qualifications of a member, the disqualifications imposed by the Edmunds act did not apply to Mr. Roberts, because a member of Congress was not an officer "under the United States" within the meaning of the statute. He then attacked the proposition of the majority that Mr. Roberts had violated the compact between Utah and the United States. He asked where the authority for the statement that there was an understanding between a State and the United States came from. Eloquently he declared that the idea of a compact between the States had been the father of secession, blotted out by the lives of half a million of men.

ARGUMENT IS CONCLUDED.

Mr. Littlefield's defense of the proposition of the minority that the House had a right to expel Mr. Roberts concluded his argument. He aroused a great deal of enthusiasm when he recalled the difficult position in which ex-Speaker Reed had been placed in the last Congress when Gen. Wheeler returned from the Spanish war covered with laurels to resume his seat in the House, and the difficult task of Speaker Henderson, then Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary, who was obliged to report against Gen. Wheeler. No more patriotic sentiment permitted them to override the plain dictates of their duty.

That action, Mr. Littlefield said, was eternally to their credit. Proceeding, he pointed out the unquestioned right of either house to expel a member for any cause deemed sufficient. This power was unquestioned, and before it was exercised Mr. Roberts should be sworn in.

"We state upon our consciences and oaths," said he, "that he should have the full benefit of the fundamental law of the land." [Great applause.]

Mr. Littlefield closed rather abruptly. Mr. Tayler then renewed his request for an agreement for a vote at 4:30 on Thursday.

Mr. Crumpacker (Rep., Ind.,) objected.

ROBERTS DEFENDS HIMSELF.

Upon the request of Mr. Tayler, Mr. Roberts was then given one and a half hours in which to present his side of the case. Standing in the side aisle near the centre of the House, he opened his speech. His words were scarcely audible first, but his voice grew louder as he proceeded. He appeared quite at ease and spoke without evidence of temper. The two arguments just presented, he began, made it appear that there was a difference of opinion as to the method of procedure in the case of the "member from Utah." From his standpoint he could agree with neither view presented.

"I find myself in the position," said he, "where I might say with propriety, 'A plague on both your houses,' since both propose my undoing." [Laughter.]

But, he continued, the situation was not altogether without its advantage. He was convinced with the minority that the House had no right to exclude him, and with the majority that, once admitted, he could not be expelled.

"Between the two," said he, "matters fall out about as I would have them, and substantial justice will be done." [Renewed laughter.]

Mr. Roberts gave notice that he should appropriate the arguments of the majority against expulsion and those of the minority against exclusion.

His Constitutional qualifications were admitted by both the majority and minority of the committee, and he declared that the members of the House, if they had regard to the Constitution of their country, would call him back to the bar from which he had been improperly turned away. He warned the House that nations fell because they departed from their traditions. If a nation indulged in Constitutional immorality, it died as did the individual who was guilty of physical immorality. He beseeched the House not to yield to the clamor of unthinking people.

What was the emergency for this proposed departure from the Constitution? A man who had married in the sanctity of the church a plurality of wives had been elected to Congress. The cry had gone up that the American home was endangered, and these extraordinary proceedings had been inaugurated against him.

POLYGAMY IS DEFENDED.

"For a few moments," said Mr. Roberts, "I want to pay attention to the nature of this crime, not with a view of showing that the American people have not the right to establish monogamy as a system of marriage that shall prevail, and not for the purpose of defending polygamy either; for in the early debate that took place with reference to this case on the floor of the House I then declared that I am not here to represent polygamy, nor to defend it. We have long ago passed that stage, and the thing is out of the realm of discussion.

"I do not wish my remarks construed as a defense of polygamy, but I do want to call attention to the nature of this crime in order that we may ascertain whether it is so awful in its aspect as to warrant a more lawless act than polygamy itself in order to rebuke a man who has been elected to the House of Representatives. Take the Jewish people, who were made the depository of God's revelation to humanity. You will not find the crime of polygamy referred to among that people as of the character that it is described here in the report of the committee. Evidently it is malum prohibitum. It is not malum in se. If it were, you would not find the jury law enforcing it under some circumstances, regulating it under other circumstances, and men after God's own heart sustaining those relations which are supposed to justify you in closing the doors from the member from Utah. If you go to the teachings of the Great Master, whom, I take it, we all revere, although He denounced every crime, every sin that man can commit, you will find no word of His in condemnation of the conduct of the patriarchs or of the law as it was given to Moses and ancient Israel.

HE QUOTES FROM LUTHER.

"Last week, when taking a walk in the resident portion of your city, I passed a magnificent heroic statue of stern old Martin Luther, than whom the nations of Western Europe and America owe no man more than they do to him for the religious and civil liberty that they now possess—the founder of Protestant Christendom. And that man, upon this subject that is here so much denounced, declared in the early days of Protestant Christendom when he was informed that his disciple Carlstadt was teaching polygamy: 'I indeed must confess that I cannot protest, when one takes many wives, for it does not contradict the Scriptures.'

"And again in his letter to Philip, the Landgrave of Hesse, remarking upon the fact that Philip had taken a second wife, his first wife being still living, he said: 'In matters of matrimony, the laws of Moses are not revoked or contradicted by the Gospels.'

"Yet we built monuments to Luther notwithstanding his toleration and defense of that form of marriage. Now I say all these things, not for the purpose of arguing here upon the rights of polygamy, but I do say what I have here remarked for the purpose of fixing it in the minds of members that it is merely a crime because prohibited by law. I say that the United States had the right to make that law if it wished to. The States have the right to make it. Utah had the right to make it the law of that State, and has done so. Consequently it is outside the realm of discussion further than in this incidental way."

Mr. Roberts then explained the Mormon belief in polygamy, and said the Church thought their creed on this point came within the Constitutional inhibition against laws prohibiting the free exercise of religious belief. He then continued:

"In 1876, desiring to put the matter to a test and not to be under the odium of violating the Constitution or the laws of the country, and being confident that the courts would sustain the views that they had had, the Mormon Church itself furnished a case, furnished the evidence and witnesses, and brought that case before the courts, carrying it from one court to another, until in 1878 the law against this form of marriage was sustained.

DECISION OF THE COURTS.

"It has been recited as the chief offense both of the people and of the member from Utah that, notwithstanding this decision, the people still continued to maintain the righteousness of that institution. The inference seems to be that as soon as the decision of the Supreme Court was rendered those people should have dropped their hands and instantly conformed to the law of the land. Limited, indeed, must have been the reading of that man who would suppose that controversies of this character would be so easily disposed of and that a great religious conviction would be immediately given up on the decision of a court. Worthy of all respect as the Supreme Court of the United States unquestionably is, and held in high esteem, amounting almost to veneration, by my people, still, we could not forget the fact that the court was still human and liable to fallibilities. We could not forget the fact that this Supreme Court of ours, high and exalted as it is, frequently reverses itself. We remember that it had sustained the constitutionality of the fugitive slave law and that its decisions had been overturned by the people by revolutions in tenements as well as revolutions in arms. I see upon the floor of this House a man belonging to a race who, if absolute submissiveness to the decision of the Supreme Court was to be the last of controversy, would have been but a piece of goods and chattels in this country instead of being a member of a House of Representatives.

"We thought," said Mr. Roberts, "there might spring up a sentiment which would lead to a reversal of opinion."

But it did not come, and Mr. Roberts, with arms outstretched, appealed to the country not to be too hard on the people of Utah.

DROVE WOMEN INTO EXILE.

He described the condition that existed in Utah in 1882 as a reign of terror. The Federal courts were being used, he said, to drive women into exile. A man was brought before the court. He was told that he need not go to prison if he would give up polygamy.

"But then," said Mr. Roberts, dramatically, "I felt it would have been deserting the cause of God to have agreed."

A scattering wave of applause passed over the galleries at this utterance, but it was quickly drowned with hisses

"I had rather had my flesh hewn from my limbs than to have been untrue to my people. It was this feeling that was the incentive to the lawlessness such as it was."

But, he continued, the time came when the Mormons of Utah were obliged to submit, and they did submit. Since then there had been not a single plural marriage in Utah. The plural relations had been broken up in many cases. Death had kindly solved the problem for some, and the heartaches it left for some made them wish the same end had come to them.

He insisted that the compact with the United States had been observed, that polygamy had practically ceased, that the Mormon Church had given up polygamy in good faith. Mr. Roberts said he had been in public life for twenty years and was not driven to the defense of his moral character. He was not here representing the Mormon Church. He had received a greater number of votes from Gentiles than Mormons.

"You can neither exclude nor expel me," said Mr. Roberts in conclusion. "I will cling so hard to the pillars of liberty that you shall not drag me from them without bringing down the whole temple. [Applause and hisses.]

"I have lived with a good conscience until this day and am sensible of no act of shame upon my part. You can brand me with shame and send me forth, but I shall leave with head erect and brow undaunted and walk the earth as angels walk the clouds. If you violate the Constitution, all the shame will be with you."

There was a great outburst in the galleries when Mr. Roberts concluded. Many of the ladies in the galleries were especially demonstrative.

At 5:35 the House adjourned until 11 o'clock to-morrow.

LITTLEFIELD IS A SURPRISE.

Maine's New Representative Makes a Strong Impression.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Washington is talking to-night about the impression made to-day in the House by Representative Littlefield of Maine in his speech this afternoon on the Roberts case. Suddenly, without any preparatory puffing or preliminary announcement, a new man, a man of brains and force of character, clear headed, with an argument that both sides enjoyed and both sides applauded when he had finished, after talking more than two hours, has appeared.

Mr. Littlefield is a man of less than fifty years of age, tall, strong, erect, with a fine presence and a good voice, which does not easily tire. The test of his power to hold an audience was shown in the close attention given to him by floor and galleries and the repeated applause with which his points were greeted. When he had concluded and the applause of Democrats and Republicans was ringing through the House, it was the general verdict that Maine had sent a worthy successor to Mr. Dingley, and that if his first appearance was indicative of his future it was one of very great promise, and that Maine and the country would be the better off for his coming to Congress.

SHIP SUBSIDY BILL MAY FAIL.

All House Democrats and Some Republicans Oppose the Measure.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The Shipping bill, which is still before the Senate Committee on Commerce, and which is also being considered in a committee of the House, begins to be talked about by its advocates as if there might be some doubt about getting it through the House. In the Senate it is assumed that it will have little difficulty. Still, the Commerce Committee has learned enough of public sentiment to lead it to modify the bill so as to increase the subsidies to small vessels, the complaint having been made that the bill would chiefly benefit the owners of a few lines sailing large ships.

The subsidy people are confident that they will be able to overcome the opposition of the advocates of discriminating duties and those who favor paying bounties on cargoes of American ships. To impose the discriminating duties upon foreign ships would call for the abrogation of more than thirty treaties. Mr. Elkins has favored this plan, including the abrogation of the treaties.

A Democratic member of the House who has been looking up the chances for the passage of the Payne-Hanna bill in the House says that it cannot be passed easily.

"The Democratic side is solidly opposed to it," he said. "The Republican majority is about thirteen. From all I can learn there are some Republicans who will not vote for the measure. If all Republicans are opposed to it, it will be in grave doubt. If ten oppose it, it will be beaten. The impression prevails that it will benefit only a few lines, and the Democrats do not feel like pouring money into the pockets of a few lines that have been getting rich out of the war and hope now to be still further benefited by a subsidy bill the expense of which no man can safely predict."

WANTS OLD WAR CLAIMS PAID.

Senator Tillman Desires Action on Bill to Amend Former Act.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Senator Tillman (Dem., S. C.,) to-day called up a bill to revive and amend an act to provide for the collection of abandoned property and the prevention of frauds in insurrectionary districts within the United States. Mr. Tillman asked Mr. Davis (Rep., Minn.,) to make an explanation of the measure.

Mr. Davis said the claims were not only just, but it was the bounden duty of Congress to provide for their payment. In answer to an inquiry from Mr. Hale, (Rep., Me.,) Mr. Davis replied that the claims covered captured and abandoned cotton.

Mr. Hale—Why, that will amount to $90,000,000 or $100,000,000.

To this Mr. Davis dissented, saying that under court decisions the claims for captured and abandoned cotton would aggregate about $9,000,000. This money was in the Treasury, and had been held by the United States for twenty years for those to whom the courts had adjudged it to belong. He said that the payment of the claims was as clear an act of justice as ever was presented.

"The bill is not," said he, "a sluiceway for the payment of all the claims which have been referred to by Mr. Hale."

The bill was objected to, and it went over.

NEW TESTIMONY FAVORS CLARK.

Witnesses Assert that No Money Was Paid for Their Votes.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—At to-day's investigation before the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections of the charges of bribery in the Montana Senatorial fight a number of letters were read and identified as those written by Dr. Ector of Missoula. They contained little of importance.

State Senator B. R. Mackay, Republican, from Custer County, Mon., said he had been approached once or twice and asked to vote for Clark. Among those who had come to see him was Senator Phillips, who said he could get $15,000 for his vote. He had declined to enter into any agreement of the kind.

The next witness was B. J. Fine, a Democratic member of the Legislature from Madison County, who said he had never received any money from Mr. Clark or any of his representatives for his vote for Mr. Clark for United States Senator, nor for any promise to vote for him.

The last witness of the day was Mr. David G. Brown, a Democrat, who has been Collector of Customs for Montana and Idaho for the past seven years. He said that he was a friend of Senator Clark, but that he had never spent any money in the Senator's behalf. He denied emphatically that $20,000 had been placed to his credit in the bank at Fort Benton last January, for the benefit of Mr. J. L. Truscatt, a member of the Legislature.

THE UNITED SERVICE.

Army.

Capt. John K. Waring, Second Infantry, having been found by an Army Retiring Board physically incapacitated for active service by reason of disability incident to the service, is relieved from active service as a Major of infantry from Nov. 15, 1899.

Major Robert J. Gibson, Surgeon, is detailed as a member of the Examining Board convened at San Francisco, vice Capt. William O. Owen, Assistant Surgeon, who is relieved.

The resignation by Capt. George McK. Williamson, Assistant Quartermaster, of his commission as First Lieutenant of cavalry (Ninth Regiment) only, has been accepted to take effect Dec. 13, 1899.

Major Charles B. Thompson, Quartermaster United States Volunteers and Acting Chief Commissary of the Department of Texas, will proceed to Corpus Christi and Galveston, Texas, for the purpose of making suitable arrangements to supply the post of Fort Brown with fresh vegetables and other articles of perishable subsistence stores.

The following-named officers are relieved from duty as members of the Board of Ordnance and Fortifications: Capt. Joseph E. Kuhn, Corps of Engineers, and Capt. Charles B. Wheeler, Ordnance Department.

The following-named officers are detailed as members of the Board of Ordnance and Fortifications: Brig. Gen. John M. Wilson, Chief of Engineers; Brig. Gen. Adelbert R. Buffington, Chief of Ordnance, and Col. John I. Rodgers, Fifth Artillery.

The following assignments to regiments of officers recently promoted are made: Col. Charles W. Miner, (promoted from Lieutenant Colonel, Sixth Infantry, to the Sixth Infantry, to date from Dec. 15, 1899, vice Kellogg, appointed Brigadier General; Col. James M. J. Sanno (promoted from Lieutenant Colonel, Fourth Infantry,) to the Eighteenth Infantry, to date from Dec. 18, 1899, vice Carpenter, appointed Brigadier General; Lieut. Col. Charles L. Davis (promoted from Major, Eleventh Infantry,) to the Sixth Infantry, to date from Dec. 15, 1899, vice Miner, promoted. (He will remain on duty as at present assigned until further orders.) Lieut. Col. Frank D. Baldwin (promoted from Major, Third Infantry,) to the Fourth Infantry, to date from Dec. 18, 1899, vice Sanno, promoted.

The retirement from active service Jan. 21 of Brig. Gen. Thomas M. Anderson, by operation of law, is announced.

Navy.

Lieut. Commander J. M. Helm is detached from duty as Inspector in charge of the Fifteenth Lighthouse District, Feb. 15, and will continue duty as Inspector in charge of the Sixteenth Lighthouse District.

Lieut. Commander U. R. Harris is ordered to duty as Inspector in charge of the Fifteenth Lighthouse District, Feb. 15.

Movements of Government Vessels.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The Machias has sailed from San Juan for La Guayra.

The Scorpion has arrived at Colon.

The Adams has arrived at San Diego.

The Dolphin sailed to-day from Port of Spain for Washington.

The Kearsarge will be put in commission about Feb. 20.

The United States transport Kilpatrick has arrived at Norfolk.

Promotions in the Army and Navy.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The President to-day sent the following nominations to the Senate:

NAVY.

Lieutenant Commanders to be Commanders—William K. Kimball, William P. Day, J. C. Wilson.

Lieutenants to be Lieutenant Commanders—William S. Hogg, Robert I. Reid.

Passed Assistant Surgeon Hatton N. T. Harris, to be Surgeon.

MARINE CORPS.

Lieut. Col. Henry C. Cochrane, to be a Colonel; Major Allan C. Kelton, to be a Lieutenant Colonel; Capt. Lincoln Karmany, to be a Major.

To be Second Lieutenants in the Marine Corps—S. W. Patterson of Pennsylvania and Herbert J. Hirshinger of North Carolina.

ARMY.

Second Lieutenants to be First Lieutenants—Charles B. Drake, Fifth Cavalry; Charles McK. Saltzman, First Cavalry.

NAVAL PARADE FOR DEWEY.

Chicago Will Have a Miniature Fleet Sail Down the Canal.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—At a meeting to-day of the Reception Committee having in charge the arrangements for Admiral Dewey's visit to Chicago May 1, it was decided to proceed immediately with preparations for a naval parade on the sanitary canal between this city and Lockport. The proposition to make the canal a part of a water way from the lakes to the Gulf of Mexico will be given prominence in the arrangements.

It is proposed to have a fleet of small vessels, the number to be the same as that which Dewey commanded at Manila. The long stretch of level country on each side of the canal will afford unlimited space for spectators, and the committee believes that the people of Chicago and the West can, by means of the waterway parade, have a better opportunity of seeing the Admiral than in any other way.

Spite Fence in Perth Amboy.

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., Jan. 23.—Trouble between his wife and a neighbor prompted the erection of a fifteen-foot board fence on the line of Horace Crowell's property, on McClellan Street. The neighbor's house is on the line and Crowell's wife claims she is continually annoyed by its inmates. The fence shuts off all view from the other house, which is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bechtel.

Value is the magnet that draws you here. At our Remnant Sale it has proved a lucky magnet for many. All remnants regardless of their former prices. Suits formerly $20.00 to $40.00, now $14.00. Trousers formerly $5.00 to $10.00, now $4.00. About 250 overcoat lengths at $16.00. All fancy Vestings, silk trimmed, formerly $10.00 to $15.00, now $6.00. Full dress or tuxedo, silk lined throughout, $30.00. Money back for the asking.

ARNHEIM,

OUR ONLY STORE,

BROADWAY & 9TH STREET.

R. H. Macy & Co.'s Attractions Are Their Low Prices.

Macy's

Both Sides 14th St. from 13th to 15th 6th Ave.

Furniture---in Annex.

The rise didn't catch us. We were not napping. Knew prices were going to bound upward. They always do in times of prosperity. We bought largely before the advance. You're the gainer. If we hadn't acted at the vital moment this Furniture would now cost you from 15 to 25 per cent. more.

Chiffonieres, full size, solid oak, five deep drawers, $4.99.

Couches, full size, all-spring edge, four rows deep tufting, covered with velour in your choice of colorings, $9.99.

Sideboards, quartered oak, extra large size, full swell front, large pattern French plate mirror, $24.74.

Three-piece Parlor Suits, handsomely ornamented with French marqueterie, covered with satin damask in your choice of colors, $24.99.

Three-piece Bed Room Suits, solid oak, full swell quartered oak front dresser, large size pattern French plate mirror, $25.74.

Women's Shoes.

$6.24.

Made of fine Vici and French kidskin, cloth and kid tops, hand-turned and welted soles. These Shoes are equal to any we've ever seen at $8.00. We can safely recommend them because we know all about them.

Women's Shoes, box and kangaroo calf, full opera and mannish lasts, double soles, $4.00 value; at $2.99.

Women's Shoes, coltskin, mannish lasts double soles, $5.00 value; at $3.99.

Shoes and Slippers made to order at lowest prices.

R. H. Macy & Co.'s Attractions Are Their Low Prices.

Macy's

Both Sides 14th St. from 13th to 15th 6th Ave.

Cut Glass.

Our Cut Glass supremacy is not an accident. We went in to win. Laid the lines well and deep. The business is neither shallow nor superficial. Strong values all the time. We are not obliged to wait for the whims of manufacturers and jobbers to offer you bargains. They can't use our outlet to cover errors and mistakes of their own. Compare our regular prices with the special prices advertised elsewhere. That's the sure way of fixing leadership where it rightfully belongs—HERE.

"Straus" Cut Glass has prestige. It won first prize over all competition at the World's Fair. The same crystal beauty that achieved recognition then is still here in fine and resplendent variety. It is worth seeing—both from an artistic and economic stand-point.

Spite of showy arguments to the contrary, it is absolutely certain that so long as we are manufacturers, selling you Cut Glass without being forced to pay intermediate profits, our advantages over other retailers, who haven't the same facilities, cannot be overcome. There is no serious rivalry. We justly claim superiority while present conditions exist—and you spontaneously accord it.

Decorated Dinner Sets.

China. What to say? Nearly five decades of successful China selling—almost half a century of progressive retailing. The Macy tentative or experimental stage was passed before some of our contemporaries were out of their trade kilts. We have compassed the China business in all its details. It is just absurd for competitors to say they match our attractions. Nine times out of ten they say it without doing it, and the tenth time they make a strenuous effort and may do it—but for mere effect only. Can such processes create confidence? Well, hardly. Our bargains never cease. They are perennial—never ephemeral. Values like these are always in evidence:—

Dinner Sets; ornate underglaze decorations, as low as $5.87. Charming floral patterns, new shapes, as low as $7.87, and other Dinner Sets with fine old English decorations, as low as $9.87.

Limoges China Dinner Sets; ornamented in our own workshops with graceful floral schemes, gilt handles, 101 pieces. They are worth over $20.00 if others advertise the truth; our price is $14.63.

Austrian China Dinner Sets; yes, the decorations are pretty—sprays and gold edge. They are done in our Carlsbad shops and are thoroughly artistic, 101 pieces, usual $17.50 kind, at $13.87.

Haviland's China Dinner Sets; dainty spray decorations, handles gold stippled, 101 pieces. Dealers who call themselves authorities print that they are worth $25.00; our price $19.87.

Haviland's China Dinner Sets; exquisite flower studies, gilt handles, 113 pieces. These sets are very beautiful, but we are not sponsors for the statement made by others that they are worth $30.00; our price is $22.47.

The foregoing are only starters. Items and descriptions could be continued until the $287.43 Sets were reached. But that would take too long. Enough to say that there is relatively as much value in the $5.87 Sets as in the one at $287.43.

Open Stock Patterns.

The housewife who exercises forethought, who remembers the unavoidable domestic accidents and mischances—the crashes and tragedies at the table and the smashes in the dish-pan—will be interested in our open stock patterns. We show over thirty distinct styles. So easy to replace any article that may be broken.

German China Dinner Plates, petite bouquet, nosegay and garland decorations, gold edge, per dozen, $2.28.

Austrian China Dinner Plates, festoons of delicate sprays, gold edge, per dozen, $2.76. Austrian China Dinner Plates, superb gold lace borders, wonderfully beautiful, per dozen, $3.96.

Breakfast Plates, same effects as above, $2.83 per doz. Tea Plates, $2.76 and Bread and Butter Plates, $1.79.

Plates and Cups and Saucers.

19c. to 97c. Instead of 40c. to $2.25.

These fine Fancy Plates and Cups and Saucers have just been received from our French decorating shops at Limoges. They were sent on as specimens to let us know what our artists are doing—and for our criticism. They pleased us greatly. We had no suggestion to make. The samples will be sold at 19c. to 97c. each. They are the kind that usually sell at 40c. to $2.25.

China Toilet Sets.

Your particular attention is invited to a lot of handsomely decorated and gilt Sets, full size, including jar, at $3.97. They are advertised by others as being worth $7.00. Ours are and always have been $3.97.

$1.69 for China Toilet Sets, full size, printed decorations. With jar, $2.97.

Works of Art.

The exhibition of Mineral Paintings, Copper Enamels, and Ivory Miniatures is still going on in the China department. They are the things that only aesthetic and critical writers can describe. Entirely too splendid for the advertising pen. There are scores of ideal subjects—human, poetic, historic. Each one is a marvel of beauty. The collection is here for you to enjoy regardless of the usual business thought. But if you should care to buy, you'll find the prices extraordinarily low.

Embroideries.

Just in the nick of time. Spring sewing is about to start. These Embroideries couldn't have arrived at a happier time. Fine Nainsook and Swisses, excellent designs and wide margins.

Edgings, ½ and 1 in. patterns	5c	Insertings—1 in. patterns	7c
Edgings, 1 and 1½ in. patterns	7c	Insertings—1½ and 2 in. patterns	10c
Edgings, 2 in. patterns	9c	All-Overs, 22½ in. wide	69c
Edgings, 2½ in. patterns	11c	All-Overs, 22½ and 45 in. wide	89c
Edgings, 3 in. patterns	14c	All-Overs, 22½ and 45 in. wide	98c

Art Embroidery

10c.

Momie Linen Combing Towels, stamped for embroidering. Our regular price was 39c.

29c. for 75c. All-linen Table Covers, stamped for embroidering, 36 in. square; pink, blue, violet, olive, red, sage.

49c. for 80c. Covert Cloth Table Covers, 36 in. square, effectively embroidered,

The New York Times.

"All the News That's Fit to Print."

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.

NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, JAN. 24, 1900.

OFFICES:

NEW YORK:
Publication Office.....41 Park Row
All American District Telegraph Offices.
WASHINGTON.....515 Fourteenth St.
LONDON: Trafalgar Buildings, Trafalgar Sq., W.C.
SWITZERLAND, Geneva: P. Drehmann, Librairie Nouvelle, Rue du Mont Blanc.
GERMANY, Mainz: Saarsbach's News Agency, Agency for Germany and Austria.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:
BY MAIL, POSTAGE PAID.

DAILY, per Month	$0.50
DAILY, per Year	6.00
DAILY AND SUNDAY, per Year	7.50
SUNDAY, per Year	1.50
SATURDAY, with Review of Books and Art, per Year	1.00
MONDAY, with Financial Supplement, per Year	1.00
DAILY AND SUNDAY, per Month	0.65

For postage to foreign countries add 80 cents per month.

FOURTEEN PAGES.

MR. PLATT'S DILEMMA.

It is probably true, as the gossip of Albany has it, that PAYN has given Senator PLATT to understand that if he is driven from the Insurance Department by votes that the Senator can control, he will make the life of the Senator very uncomfortable. In the face of such a threat, the Senator may feel extremely puzzled. PAYN has wide experience in inside politics, a retentive memory, an uncontrollable temper, an active imagination, and no scruples. Once convinced that the Senator has gone back on him, and there is no limit to the ugly things he might say. Some of them might be true; some would doubtless be untrue, but the public would not be able to discriminate, and would not be very anxious to do so. Mr. PLATT'S reputation, acquired by painful as well as gainful experience in politics, is unfortunately not such that he would be able to defy a man like PAYN to do his worst. Nor has he accumulated such a competency in the way of affection, gratitude, and respect among the politicians of his party that he could be sure that they would be true to him when such a disaster seemed to offer a chance to unseat him from the throne he has so long occupied.

On the other hand, if PAYN compels him to take sides in the contest with the Governor, Senator PLATT cannot afford to make a fight on Gov. ROOSEVELT. He would be beaten, and beaten once for all. He would not only be beaten in the long run, but before the Senate. If he were to-morrow to espouse the cause of PAYN he could not prevent the appointment of a successor. The issue once made in the Senate, the force of public opinion would compel a majority to go with the Governor. It would be a plain contest between the preservation and the prostitution of the public service, and in such a contest, clearly determined, the course of the people is not open to doubt. The only man involved in this mattter who can regard its outcome with serenity is the Governor. He has set out to do right, with the aid of the party organization if possible, but to do it in any case, and the gates of 49 Broadway shall not prevail against him.

IT IS STILL THE ENEMY'S COUNTRY.

Nobody who was unfamiliar with New York politics would ever suspect from the appearance or the behavior of W. J. BRYAN that he was not meeting the flower of the local Democracy on the occasion of his present visit. He puts up at a hotel where the Democrats have established their headquarters in the great political contests of the past. There he receives the cards and the visits of many callers. With some he converses at breakfast or luncheon, or in the lobby of the hotel. To others, higher up in the councils of Bryanism, he accords the honor of a private and sometimes prolonged conference in his apartments. The crowds eye him curiously, the reporters are there all day, and the newspapers print columns about his goings and comings and his sayings.

Every exterior circumstance indicating the presence in New York of a very great man come here for consultation with the big leaders of the party is to be noted in this visit of W. J. BRYAN.

Yet the astounding fact is that since he set foot on the soil of Manhattan BRYAN has not been visited or consulted by any Democrat whose views on politics or any other subject would command hearing or respect among the intelligent people of the city. Not a leader, not one man of prominence in the old-time Democratic Party, has been near him or will go near him. He moves here in a strict society of little men, the very little men who like to put themselves to the fore upon occasions of public interest when the reporters are sure to take down many names in their notebooks; the little men who organize and operate little factions, the mere froth and spume of politics, some of it not altogether clean; and the grotesque horde of cranks and hare-brained fellows who hang around the outskirts of politics from vanity and the love of self-advertisement. None of these men who go to the Hoffman House to see BRYAN was ever heard of in New York politics until the rise of Bryanism. Hardly one of them has such standing in this community that well-informed men would be able to say what and who they are, what they do for a living, and what influence they possess.

If BRYAN ever thinks at all about such things, what on earth must he think of the intellectual and social quality of the New York Democracy, judging it, as he must, from the examples and specimens who daily seek his company? Probably he is pretty ignorant of the history of the Democratic Party, but he must know that in the campaigns of TILDEN, HANCOCK, and CLEVELAND a very different class of men surrounded the candidate whenever he visited New York, and that Democrats of National reputation and of high social and business or professional standing here were glad to give time and money and much hard work to the promotion of the success of the party. In the groups that throng his parlors and sit at his private council table does Mr. BRYAN see any men who are the peers of MANNING, WHITNEY, FLOWER, HILL, APGAR, TRACEY, MCCUNE, GRACE, FAIRCHILD, LAMONT, BANGS, MARBLE, STETSON, COOPER, and the elder BELMONT?

If BRYAN were a wise man and a loyal Democrat he would be appalled by this evidence of an organized conspiracy among the influential Democrats of New York to abstain from visiting him. He would instantly recognize the futility of running for the Presidency without the help of such Democrats and those whom they would represent and would forthwith betake himself to Nebraska. If he had any sense of humor among all his qualities of shallowness and insincerity he would be vastly amused by the appearance, the manners, the opinions, and particularly by the language of the crowd that comes to see him day after day. But he goes through his part of the farce with the solemnity of a performing jackass.

Nobody would ever guess from his looks or his language that BRYAN was not hobnobbing with the elect of this town. We pass by without comment the marked offishness of a great part of the chief men of Tammany. Their present indifference to BRYAN may be overcome by CROKER'S orders before the convention meets. But if the Colonel does not succeed in accomplishing the purpose of his mission here, which is understood to be the winning of Tammany's support, he will depart with a deepened impression that he is still, as he said he was in 1896, in the enemy's country.

SHIPS WITHOUT SUBSIDY.

Mr. JAMES J. HILL of the Great Northern Railroad is behaving in a most indecent manner toward the friends of the Hanna-Payne Subsidy bill. Instead of heading his private car for Washington to join the lobby that is shouting for the bill, he is making his plans to build several large and costly steamers for the China trade without the help of the Treasury. Listen to the man:

> I propose to build as many vessels as the trade with the Orient will justify, and that will be a great many. The natural market for the Pacific Coast is China, Japan, and the Philippines. The docks at Seattle are large enough to accommodate all the shipping for some time, but eventually other harbors will be used.
>
> It is too far from the Pacific Coast to the Eastern States to ship many of the products of the Northwest to the East. A market for grain in the Orient will give the farmers a higher price for their grain. The products of the iron mines, of the coal mines, and of the lumber regions in the Northwest can be sold at better advantage in the markets of the Orient than can be had in the East. It is not like forcing something on the market that the people do not want. They want everything we can take to them and we want their products. We shall have twenty-five steamships in this service within five years. The vessels will be of the largest size, with enormous carrying capacity and slow speed. Speed is not so much of an object as to be able to lay the goods down on the other side of the Pacific so that they compete with the native products.

Mr. HILL'S conduct tends to confirm the popular belief in the absurd old-fashioned doctrine that a ship ought to pay her way out of the business she does. It explodes all the arguments of the subsidy hunters and confounds the supporters of the proposition that $9,000,000 shall be appropriated out of the Federal Treasury to encourage the shipbuilding industry. He is going ahead to build his ships without waiting for a subsidy. What sort of a way is that to treat the gentlemen who had laid their plans to get a slice of the nine-million subsidy fund?

THE WAR.

Evidently there is "nothing proven" as yet, by the advance of Gen. BULLER'S forces, as to their ultimate success. What can be said with decisiveness is that the British have abandoned the tactics with which they began the campaign. These tactics proceeded from a contempt for the enemy which has cost them very dear. They consisted in charging stone walls. Each branch of the British force did this in turn, METHUEN at Modder River on the extreme left, GATACRE in the centre, and BULLER on the extreme right at Magersfontein. Each of these commanders has had his lesson, and has learned it. The British strategy at present seems to be modeled upon the obvious suggestion of the American Attaché who was shown the strength of the Boer position in front of the British lines, and who commented on the showing by asking "Isn't there any way around?"

Gen. BULLER is now trying to find a way around. Apparently he is trying to find two ways around, or, in other words, to outflank his enemy on both sides. The dispatches are not altogether clear on this head, but it seems that what WARREN'S column is attempting on one side CLERY'S is simultaneously attempting on the other. Meanwhile it is to be presumed that the central force, while abstaining from any direct attack, is within supporting distance of either.

This operation implies a considerable numerical superiority on the part of the assailants. This superiority should not only offset the disadvantage of the offensive, but the disadvantage also of the "exterior lines." Probably it does so. The event must show whether the Boers are actually driven out of their positions or whether they are falling back deliberately to positions where they expect to have the British at a still greater disadvantage. If the British can actually drive them out into the open there should not be much doubt about the result. For it is always to be borne in mind that, though the Boers have shown themselves to be the best militia in the world, they are still only militia, and in a pitched battle presumably incompetent to confront regular troops. Their skill has been shown in avoiding such conditions. In any event, it seems that a few days must now determine the relief of Ladysmith on the one hand or its fall on the other.

THE COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS AND THE TRUSTS.

We have received a considerable amount of literature in a convenient form for extensive circulation giving the arguments of the commercial travelers and hotel men with reference to trusts as an issue in the approaching Presidential campaign, and we published yesterday morning an enthusiastic letter from an official of the organization contributing this literature to the enlightenment of the voters.

We share the general liking for the members of the two classes alluded to. We appreciate their usefulness in the past, and the qualities of mind and heart that have aided in that usefulness and have served to make them an extremely popular element in the life of all parts of the country and on the roads connecting and traversing them. We are aware of the extent to which they conduct the social as well as the commercial exchanges of the land and leave not even the remotest corner of it destitute of the wares and the witticisms of the centres of production and invention. We might indeed speak of the two classes as one, so intimate is their connection and so nearly identical is the genial spirit that animates both. Nor are we indifferent to the influence that they are able at times to exert on the opinions and still more on the political action of their innumerable friends, clients, and traveling associates. It was a boast of GAMBETTA that all the aristocratic forces of France were helpless to resist him and his party as long as he retained the support of the "commis-voyageurs," the commercial travelers of that country, and he always cultivated their friendship and made them the agents of the tremendous republican propaganda which defeated the reaction under MACMAHON. In 1896 in the United States the commercial travelers, though not acting as a class, contributed largely to the triumph of sound money.

This year it seems that not only as individuals but as an organized class the commercial travelers and the hotel men are engaged in promoting the success of the Democratic Party as the only party that will undertake to suppress the trusts by law. We do not know how large a proportion of the members of the class are committed to this organization, but we venture to hope that it is not the majority, for, so far as we have been able to make out the motives of the movement, it is at once futile and inexpedient. The general feeling appears to be that the trusts should be suppressed because they dispense with the services of a considerable part of the traveling salesmen and tend to deprive the hotels of patronage. This seems to us a ground for political action that is not for the good of the people. It is the introduction into politics of class interests in a bad form, and is much the same as the opposition of the office seekers to the merit system.

On the other hand, it appears futile. If the trusts are in accord with the natural laws of commercial and industrial development, they cannot be suppressed by statutes and courts. If they are not, there is no necessity to suppress them. If business can be done better or more cheaply without so many agents, the number of agents will be reduced despite political action. But as a matter of fact, judging by history, every improvement in the processes of doing business, though it may change the nature of their service, increases the number of persons employed, because it increases the amount of business done. The trusts, so far as they are organizations for the more economical transaction of business, cannot be reasonably opposed simply because the demand for one class of work, which is more expensive, will be diminished. We might as well ask that railways be suppressed because it would give work to an enormously larger army of wagoners to do the same business. The trouble with that argument is that the business would not be done.

SEIZURES OF GERMAN SHIPS.

It is a pleasure to recognize that the German official procedures upon the seizure and detention of German ships by British cruisers have had nothing in common with the crassly ignorant talk of a large part of the German press upon the same subject. Count VON BUELOW'S statement in the Reichstag was quite unexceptionable, from the point of view both of international law and of international comity. The official proceedings since announced have been entirely in line with it. It is true that some of the remarks in the speech were calculated to make an instructed observer lift the eyebrows of astonishment, especially those in which the orator advised the British Navy to take pattern by the mild, pacific manners of the German Navy. Americans who recalled the conciliatory demeanor of Admiral VON DIEDERICHS and his officers in Manila Bay were especially entitled to make that expressive gesture. But naturally Britons did not recall so exactly the pleasing behavior which the Count commended to them as a model, and it was to Britons, so far as it was not to Germans, that he was particularly addressing his remarks.

And indeed we do not see that the German press has so much to reproach itself withal in this matter, as compared with the American. Not all the German newspapers behaved themselves absurdly over it, and a considerable part of the American press behaved itself with equal absurdity on far less provocation. Some of our own esteemed compatriots as well as contemporaries managed to pretend that it was an "insult to our flag" for Great Britain to take American flour, for which she was able and willing to pay, from British ships. To find a German parallel for this particular absurdity, we shall have to go back to the burst of indignation on the part of some uninformed Germans at the presumption of Admiral DEWEY in daring to suggest that a German flag might be flying over a Spanish torpedo boat, and his lèse-majesté remark that the emblem in question "could be bought anywhere for a dollar." Still it was by no means creditable to the popular education which constitutes one of the chief boasts of Germany that so many of her publicists should have jumped at the suggestion that it was an "insult to Germany" for a belligerent to stop and search a neutral mail steamer, if that steamer happened to be German.

The official tone and temper of the German Government being quite all that can be asked or desired by Great Britain, and the negotiations now proceeding, as it seems they are doing, in a spirit of comity, it may be expected that they will result in conclusions important as affecting some of the least settled parts of international law. There is reason to believe that the British cruisers were acting on no specific instructions in making the seizures, but only on the manual prepared for their use. It is evident, at least, that they had no specific information, but acted on vague suspicion, because in every case that has been brought to the test there has been proved to be no contraband on board. This is not only awkward for the British Government, but discreditable to it. It ought to have known, before a German ship sailed for Delagoa Bay, whether or not she had contraband men or contraband goods on board. That could have been very readily ascertained and all the resulting unpleasantness avoided. Now that the seizures have been made, Germany is entitled to call upon Great Britain for a statement of the doctrine, about both "occasional contraband" and "continuous voyage," by which Great Britain is willing to abide. It will not do for Great Britain to say that certain things are contraband or not, according as it is to her interest that they should or should not be. Such a challenge will induce the British Government to reflect that this is not the last or the greatest war in which the British Empire is likely to be engaged, and that it is her permanent interest that she ought to consult in the position she takes up now. That consideration will doubtless result in giving more fixity to certain doctrines of international law than they now possess.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

—No really good dog story was ever received with such chilling indifference from our readers as was that recently presented in this column about the suburban collie Leo, who every day signals by leaps and barks the moment when his master takes the train for home at the Grand Central Station, some fourteen miles away. Our expectation was that the tale would attract immediate attention, and a lot of it, but nothing of the kind happened, and the almost unbroken silence of our correspondents on the subject left us in painful doubt whether they regarded the claims made in behalf of Leo as too absurd for discussion, or whether the display by dogs of the power ascribed to him is so frequent as to be an uninteresting commonplace. Of these two possible solutions of the mystery we dismiss the second with scorn, as involving the confession of an ignorance about dogs too complete to be pardonable in anybody. As for the theory that the story was beyond belief, we can not only declare that the human testimony on which it rests is thoroughly good, but we are fortunately able to adduce a parallel tale, coming straight from the steps of a European throne, and bold, indeed, will he be who does not yield assent in circumstances like that. When, in 1870, the Prince Regent departed from Munich at the order of the King of Prussia, he left behind in the palace two hunting dogs between whom and himself there existed a strong friendship of long standing. Some months later, when the Regent returned, there were great popular demonstrations of joy as he passed along the streets, but while the people waited till they saw the Prince before they began to cheer, his two dogs, who were shut up in a remote part of the palace, manifested a consciousness of his approach while he was still a mile away, and from that moment until he came to release them from their sorrowful imprisonment, they continued to show the signs of excited, almost frantic, impatience. The meaning of this behavior was obvious to all the courtiers who beheld and heard it. The dogs were in telepathic communication with their master as soon as he came within a mile of them, and surely, if German hunting dogs can telepath a mile, fourteen are no great or incredible range for a Scotch collie.

—No light has yet been cast on the Macrum mystery. On the contrary, it seems to grow darker and darker as that remarkable product of our Consular system draws slowly closer to his native shores. To the reporters who approached him in Egypt, and later in Italy, we are told that he firmly refused to talk, and yet he has somehow given them, or some of them, the impression that underlying his refusal to remain at his post at a time when there were many and important things for him to do, and adequately explanatory of his departure and subsequent wanderings, is a state secret not now to be divulged. It is even rumored that he claims still to be in the employment of the American Government, and that as soon as his weighty and confidential mission is accomplished he will return to his apparently abandoned duties, heaped high with official commendation. On the other hand, the department at Washington disowns him utterly, says his conduct is incomprehensible to it, and to all outward appearances is entirely indifferent to his future acts or fate. It's really a very queer case. The theory that young MACRUM was alarmed by the near approach of war and sought safety in flight without regard to the consequences to his reputation as a man is not a theory easy of acceptance. In the first place, the average young American is not famous for timidity, and in the second, MACRUM bears a good name among his acquaintances, and they find it hard to believe that he is a coward, a traitor, or a fool. There is no known reason, either, why he should have been particularly sympathetic for the Boers as against the practically unanimous opinion of all the other Americans in South Africa. As for the present repudiation of him by the State Department, that would be more convincing if experience had not taught us that in international diplomacy the obligation to be frank is never recognized, and that to be veracious—not always, even in these latter days. That somebody is—well, lying, to be explicit, is clear enough. Who it is, or who they are, remains to be seen. The mystery cannot be kept up much longer.

INSPECTION OF PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The recent decision of the Court of Appeals in the case of the State Board of Charities versus the New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children is not of extreme importance so far as regards the nominal question involved, for, whether the State Board of Charities inspects or does not inspect the building of the society, the welfare of only a comparatively small number of persons will be affected in a small degree, if at all. There are two other aspects of the decision, however, which seem to me to be of very great importance to the people of the State of New York, and these have received so far too little attention from the public press.

The State Board of Charities was established in 1867 by Chapter 951 and was required by that law to visit "all the charitable and correctional institutions of the State, excepting prisons, receiving State aid." By Chapter 571, laws of 1873, the powers of the board were enlarged, and the board or any of its Commissioners was thereby authorized, whenever they deemed it expedient "to visit and inspect any charitable, eleemosynary, correctional, or reformatory institution in the State, excepting prisons, whether receiving State aid or maintained by municipalities or otherwise."

After the passage of this law the board exercised this power whenever in its opinion any institution in the State which had the care of dependent persons, whether men, women, or children, was suspected of not giving proper care to those dependent persons. During the twenty-five years from 1873 to 1898 the only important society, if I remember rightly, which protested against the right of the State Board to inspect was the New York Hospital, and this upon the ground that the charter granted by King George III. to that society protected it from inspection by a board created only by the State of New York. But the present decision now, after twenty-seven years, plainly declares that the State Board of Charities has the power to inspect only institutions which receive "public money for use or distribution as charity," and thus all institutions which do not receive public money are withdrawn from its supervision, and the dependent inmates are left without the protection which the State has afforded them for more than a quarter of a century.

This aspect of the decision which affects the welfare of thousands of dependent and helpless men, women, and children is certainly important enough to attract public attention were there no other. There is another aspect of this decision, however, which is still more grave, for it tends to undermine respect for the opinion of the majority of the Judges of the Court of Appeals, and that certainly would be a public calamity. As stated above, the law of 1867, establishing the State Board of Charities, did provide that it should inspect only institutions receiving State aid; but the law of 1873 swept away that restriction, giving it power, in its discretion, to inspect others, and Article VIII. of the Constitution of 1894 with the laws of 1895 (Chapter 771) and of 1896 (Chapter 546) made it the duty of the board to inspect all charitable institutions, for they provided that the State Board of Charities "shall visit and inspect all institutions, societies, and associations, whether State, county, municipal, incorporated, or not incorporated, private or otherwise, which are of a charitable, eleemosynary, reformatory or correctional character or design."

Now, in the face of this explicit statement of the Constitution and the laws that the State Board of Charities shall visit and inspect all institutions coming under the above description, Judge O'Brien states, and Judges Parker, Gray, and Bartlett concur, that "The powers of the board over charitable institutions originated in the abuses supposed to exist in the appropriation and expenditure of public money for charitable purposes," and after elaborating this view, proceeds: "The charity with which the State is concerned * * * consists in the distribution of relief or public aid, the fruit of taxation levied alike upon the willing and the unwilling. The right of visitation and regulation applies only to those institutions, public or private, through which the State fulfills this function. They alone are within the reason of the law, and, consequently, within its scope and operation. One of the most familiar rules of statutory construction is that general words must be limited to the particular purpose or end which the lawmakers had in view. They must be understood and applied in the special sense in which they are used by legislators. What may be called governmental charity, or charity based upon public taxation and administered by a system of statute law, is a very different thing from the charity that moved the good Samaritan and prompted the widow's mite. The power of visitation and regulation applies to those institutions administering charity of the former kind, in whole or in part, but not to those voluntarily engaged in some good work of the latter character. They are left by the State to manage their own affairs in their own way, or, at all events, are not within the jurisdiction of the State Board of Charities. That jurisdiction can then be defined by the application of a very just and simple test. If the particular institution, whether public or private, receives public money for use or distribution as charity and not for some other reason and some other purpose, that institution is subject to visitation by the board, but this system of State supervision does not extend to the efforts of private benevolence. That may flow in various channels not subject to State regulation, since the Government is in no way concerned with it."

Now, the opinion is quite correct, so far as the first sentence refers to the law of 1867 (Chapter 951) establishing the State Board of Charities—by that law the board was empowered to visit and inspect only institutions receiving "State aid," but what explanation is there of the fact that the decision is based on this law, which was in force only five years, and practically ignores its amendment twenty-seven years ago, by the law of 1873 (Chapter 571) empowering the board and its Commissioners to visit all institutions "receiving State aid, or maintained by municipalities or otherwise," and further ignores the Constitution of 1894 and the laws of 1895, (Chapter 771,) and of 1896, (Chapter 546,) making it the duty of the board to visit all institutions, enumerating even those "not incorporated," which certainly never received any "State aid"? It is no light matter that the confidence of the public in the intelligence of the majority of the Judges of its highest court should be put to such a test.

JOSEPHINE SHAW LOWELL.
New York, Jan. 22, 1900.

NUGGETS.

Not His Choice.

She—You're inclined to be stout, aren't you?

He (rather obese)—No, indeed. I simply can't help it.—Chicago News.

Envy.

It is said that Mr. Howells gets $10 a line for his poetry. "And just think of it," exclaimed one of the envious, "he can write a thousand lines a day!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Altruism.

"How did Sinclair Shabbs win that rich Boston girl?"

"He told her to think of all the luxuries she would be able to give him if she married him."—Chicago Record.

A Sufferer.

"Has the thirteen superstition had any influence in your life?"

"Influence? I'm the youngest in a large family, and I wish I had a dollar for every dinner I've had to eat off the sideboard."—Indianapolis Journal.

Aids to Memory.

"You don't get much chance to ride your wheel this weather."

"No."

"I guess you almost forget you have a wheel, eh?"

"Oh, no! I'm still paying the installments."—Philadelphia Press.

WITH HER LITTLE HAND IN HIS.

S. E. Kiser in Chicago Times-Herald.

He held her hand in his,
And she was passing fair;
She did not say him nay,
And no one else was there.

He said some words to her
That made her sigh, and they
Had never met before—
She did not draw away!

He looked into her eyes,
Her blushes went and came;
He talked to her of love,
And did not know her name.

He told her she was born
To shatter hearts, to rule;
He was a palmist, she
Was just a little fool.

RAPID TRANSIT AMENDMENT.

Corporation Counsel Approves It After a Few Changes.

Controller Coler, Commissioner George L. Rives, and Albert B. Boardman will go to Albany this morning with the proposed amendment to the charter, making it impossible for the Municipal Assembly to interfere in the issue of bonds for the building of the rapid transit railroad. They were to have gone yesterday with the amendment as approved by the Rapid Transit Commission last Saturday, but decided to wait another day and make a few verbal changes in the bill. One of the reasons for this step was the opposition to the proposed amendment manifested by Corporation Counsel Whalen. The new form was shown to Mr. Whalen yesterday, after it had received the Mayor's sanction, and he gave it his full approval.

The amendment now has the approval of all the city authorities except a few members of the Municipal Assembly, who consider that their prerogatives have been more or less infringed upon. An effort will be made to have the amendment passed at once in both houses of the Legislature.

McDONALD-RYAN PARTNERSHIP.

Rapid Transit Contractor Suing for Its Dissolution.

John B. McDonald, the contractor for the rapid transit railroad, has had a suit pending for over two years against Cornelius J. Ryan for a dissolution of their copartnership and an accounting, and for the appointment of a receiver. An application made on Mr. McDonald's behalf for judgment in his favor on the pleadings was denied yesterday by Justice Fitzgerald in Supreme Court, Special Term.

The partnership was formed in 1880. Mr. McDonald's complaint alleges that in July, 1895, he asked Mr. Ryan to consent to dissolve the partnership and to sell the assets, which he said largely exceeded the liabilities, but that the latter refused. The main assets of the company, Mr. McDonald says, are bonds of the Lyons Water Works Company, real estate in Baltimore, Greenwich, Ohio, and Rockford, Ill., together with certain machinery, besides the proceeds of machinery sold. Mr. Ryan in his answer asserts that in fact the firm has been dissolved since 1896, and that the principal assets have been in the possession of Mr. McDonald. He has always been willing, Mr. Ryan says, to dispose of the assets, but he has been unable to inspect the books of the firm, of which Mr. McDonald had possession. Justice Truax last December granted an order requiring Mr. McDonald to grant an inspection of the books, and the examination is now in progress.

For a Rapid Transit Celebration.

A resolution was passed yesterday by the Board of Aldermen calling for the appointment of a committee of five by both branches of the Municipal Assembly to confer with the Mayor and the Rapid Transit Commissioners with the object of providing for suitable ceremonies to mark the breaking of ground for the rapid transit tunnel. Messrs. Muh, Murphy, Marks, Holler, and Gaffner were appointed as the Aldermanic committee.

THE PULLAR WILL CASE.

Testimony Admitted Regarding the Drawing Up of the Document.

The suit against ex-Gov. Waller of Connecticut and others, brought by Joseph W. Pullar to annul a contract by which he transferred a $50,000 interest in the will of his wife to Mr. Waller and Alfred R. Page was continued yesterday before Justice Eschoff, in the Supreme Court. The plaintiff alleges that he was incompetent from the use of liquors when he signed the contract, and that the defendants used a threat to prosecute him for bigamy to force him to agree to the terms.

The greater part of the day was taken up in hearing the testimony of James T. Farrell of Hartford, Conn. Gen. Burnett, the counsel for the defense, brought out the circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. Pullar and her making of the will in her husband's favor as well as her legacy of $12,000 to Dr. Von Raitz of this city. This line of testimony was strongly objected to by counsel for the defense as irrelevant.

Gen. Burnett replied that it was relevant to bring up all the circumstances of the making of the will of Mrs. Pullar, and of her marriage to Pullar, because the complaint included an attack upon a "reputable member of the bar of New York and other reputable men as to their good faith."

Gen. Burnett's line of questioning was permitted by Justice Bischoff. Farrell testified that Mrs. Pullar had been removed from her home in New York to Stamford, Conn., just before her death, and that her relatives had known nothing of her serious condition until her death was announced. He also testified regarding the meeting at the Imperial Hotel of all the persons concerned, when the contract in question had been agreed to. He told of visiting the first wife of the plaintiff, and said that up to the time of the discovery of Pullar's alleged bigamous relations the heirs of the second Mrs. Pullar would have been satisfied to get the $10,000 they had been demanding.

Franklin A. Sage of Hartford, Conn., a law student, and George W. Gallinger, a lawyer, of this city, also testified concerning conferences regarding the settlement of Mrs. Pullar's estate. The latter admitted in cross-examination that he drew the will of the second Mrs. Pullar while he was counsel for Dr. Von Raitz. The case will be continued to-day.

THE MAZET COUNSEL FEES.

Three Lawyers to Receive $25,000—Mr. Moss Not Consulted.

Frank Moss admitted yesterday the truth of a report that he had not been consulted by the members of the Mazet committee regarding the fee he is to receive, and, although Mr. Moss did not say it, this omission is generally regarded as another evidence of the hostility of the Republican members of the committee toward him. Mr. Moss probably will receive $10,000, a similar amount will go to John Proctor Clarke, and $5,000 to Mr. Laimbeer.

Many persons are questioning the justice of paying $10,000 to Mr. Clarke, inasmuch as he attended few of the committee's sessions, leaving the bulk of the work to Mr. Moss and his staff. Mr. Moss would not say yesterday whether he thought $10,000 adequate compensation for his work. Recorder Goff received twice that sum for conducting the Lexow investigation, and did not consider it enough. Mr. Moss may yet have something to say to the committee regarding his fee. "Although I have not yet been consulted," he said, "I do not doubt that there will be a conference before we come to a settlement."

BRITISH STEAMER WRECKED.

Passengers of the Airlie Landed by American Supply Ship Culgoa.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—A dispatch has been received which says that the British steamer Airlie, Capt. Kock, from China ports via Hioga Dec. 27 for Sydney, is ashore on Chapman Island, in Torres Straits, north coast of Australia, and is probably a total wreck. The ship registers 1,492 tons and hails from London.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—A cablegram received at the Navy Department from Capt. Everet, commanding the United States supply ship Culgoa, which arrived at Cooktown, Australia, yesterday, states that he landed at that place the passengers and mail of the stranded steamer Airlie and would proceed to Sydney.

The officials of the Navy Department do not know how or under what conditions the Airlie was wrecked, and assume that Capt. Everet fell in with the passengers on his way from Manila to Sydney.

New Telephone Fire Alarm System.

Telephone connection between the Fire Department's central office and the fire-alarm signal boxes is being established rapidly, and the system will be soon in operation, in conjunction with the telegraph bureau, which will greatly facilitate the work of all chief officers of the department at large fires. Battalion Chiefs are required to report the size, extent, and progress of all fires by telephone immediately upon their arrival, and much valuable time is frequently lost in the search for public telephones. By means of a small pocket telephone, the invention of Superintendent Henry F. Blackwell, Jr., of the Fire Alarm Telegraph Bureau, this difficulty will be overcome.

Minister's Bride 41 Years His Junior.

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 23.—The Rev. A. L. Armstrong, seventy-four years of age, a Baptist minister well known in the vicinity of Dutch Neck, Mercer County, married this afternoon Miss Annie Rue, thirty-three years of age. Mr. Armstrong is strong and active.

STEAMER ARDENDHU SUNK

Rammed by the Herman Winter in Vineyard Sound.

TWO OF VESSEL'S CREW LOST

So Far as Can Be Learned Collision Was Due to a Misunderstanding of Whistle Signals.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., Jan. 23.—The Glasgow steamer Ardandhu, on her first trip on a new line from New London to Halifax and thence to Havana, was sunk by the Metropolitan liner Herman Winter, Boston for New York, off Robinson's Hole, Vineyard Sound, early this morning, and two men of a crew of thirty-one were lost. The Herman Winter made this port this morning with her bow badly stove in and carrying the twenty-nine survivors of the lost steamship.

The Glasgow vessel was struck about amidships on her starboard side by the Herman Winter's bow, and was cut half way through. She would have sunk immediately, but her watertight compartments kept her afloat for a time. The crew made a rush, and it was thought that all had succeeded in getting aboard the New York vessel, and it was not until there was time for consultation that it was found that two men were missing. The Ardandhu drifted toward the shore before she went down, and apparently she struck on the southwest end of Naushon Island and foundered stern first, her bow remaining out of water.

The officers and crew of the two steamers are exceedingly reticent as to the cause of the accident, but from facts gleaned from them, it is apparent that there was a misunderstanding of the signal whistle. It is claimed that when the steamers met, one whistle was blown by the Herman Winter, indicating that she would go to the right, leaving the Ardandhu on the port hand, but those in charge of the Ardandhu mistook the Winter's signal for two whistles, which would have indicated that she would pass the east-bound steamer to the left. This would have put the Ardandhu directly across the Winter's bow, and heading for the shore, in which position she was when the collision occurred.

The steamers hung together for a moment and then the Ardandhu settled away from the Herman Winter. It was evident that the Ardandhu had sustained serious injury, and the crew made a rush to escape. Apparently all of those on board the Glasgow steamer succeeded in reaching the Winter's deck. The latter vessel stood by for some time to ascertain the extent of her own injuries and to watch for signs of life on board the Ardandhu, which was sinking slowly, as the compartments filled.

At length, as nothing was seen on board the Ardandhu to indicate that any of the crew had been left behind, the Winter, finding that her bulkheads were keeping her free from water, started for Vineyard Haven to report the accident.

The Winter made good time to this port. On the way her bulkheads remained tight and practically no water worked aft. Her cargo of general merchandise was not damaged.

Capt. Dundas and the Boston Towboat Wrecking Company's agent visited the Ardandhu this afternoon and found that her bow had slid off the bank upon which it had apparently rested, and the ship now lies in an upright position in about ten fathoms of water, with the top of her masts and smokestack above water. As she is nearly in the track of vessels passing through Vineyard Sound, the wreck is exceedingly dangerous to navigation. The Merritt Wrecking Company has been engaged to work on her. Bales of hay have been washed out of the steamer, and are drifting in Vineyard Sound.

The Ardandhu was a comparatively new boat. She was built at Belfast, Ireland, in 1899. She was made of steel and was of 1,401 tons net register. The ship has had a somewhat unfortunate and checkered career. July 18, 1898, she left Kingston, Jamaica, and on the trip her steering gear and boilers became disabled, the ship caught fire, and she escaped a collision in a fog by about twenty feet. On Oct. 20 last in Boston Harbor the Ardandhu sunk a fishing schooner, the Two-Forty, four lives being lost from the schooner. For this she was libeled, and was released upon the filing of an eleven-thousand-dollar bond by her agents, for which they are now responsible.

At the office of the Munson Steamship Line, this city, the managing owners of the Ardandhu it was stated that the ship's cargo consisted of hay destined for Havana, for which port she was to complete loading at Halifax with potatoes, fish, and general merchandise. The steamer is worth from $250,000 to $300,000, and is fully insured. The other owners besides themselves are Clark & Service of Glasgow, Scotland.

GERMAN COURT FUNCTIONS.

Americans Attend the First Promenade of the Season.

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—The first Court promenade of the season, held at the castle to-night, was a splendid function. The members of the Diplomatic Corps, with their wives, many princely personages, and members of the Cabinet and of the Bundesrath, were present.

Emperor William and Empress Augusta Victoria headed the procession of Princes and moved to the Rittersaal, where they took their stand beside the throne. The guests then filed rapidly past to the strains of the Tannhäuser march. The Emperor who wore the uniform of a General of the Guard, looked serious. The Empress, in a gown of silver tissue, gave her hand to the wives of the Ambassadors.

The dress worn by Mrs. White, wife of the United States Ambassador, was of white satin Duchesse, with a green velvet train. Mrs. Jackson, wife of the Secretary of the United States Embassy, wore a dress of the same material, with a blue velvet train. Mrs. Beehler, wife of Lieut. Commander W. H. Beehler, United States Naval Attaché, wore a white satin dress, with brocade train. Mrs. Wurts was in cloth of gold under white gauze, with a purple velvet train.

The Americans presented for the first time were Lieut. Commander and Mrs. Beehler, Mr. and Mrs. Wurts, and Mr. Dodge.

The usual Court balls will be omitted, owing to the condition of the mother of the Empress, the Dowager Duchess of Schleswig-Holstein, which is said to be hopeless. For the same reason the gala opera, arranged for Saturday evening, will be abandoned.

RUSKIN'S LAST RESTING PLACE.

Relatives Decline Offer of a Grave in Westminster Abbey.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—The Dean of Westminster has offered a grave in Westminster Abbey for the body of John Ruskin. This honor, however, has been declined by Mr. Ruskin's relatives, who say, in their reply to Dr. Bradley, that it was the professor's own wish to be buried in Coniston Churchyard, where his body will be interred on Thursday.

Years ago Mr. Ruskin said: "If I die at Herne Hill, I wish to rest with my parents in Shirley Churchyard, but, if I die at Brantwood, I would prefer to rest in Coniston."

He added that if ever in his excursions among the Alps he should slip on a glacier and be killed, he would like to be left there with just snow enough to cover him.

Oppose Franco-American Reciprocity.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—The Commerce Committee of the Chamber of Deputies to-day began hearing the views of those opposed to the reciprocity treaty with the United States. Representatives of iron workers, iron smelters, tubing manufacturers, and manufacturers of railroad supplies were heard. They were all opposed to the treaty and demanded its rejection.

Assumptionist Fathers on Trial.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—In the trial of the twelve Assumptionist Fathers, which began here to-day before the Correctional Tribunal, on charges of having entered actively into the electoral campaign against the republic, the Public Prosecutor to-day demanded the dissolution of the Order of Assumptionists, contending that its continued existence was a menace to the social system in France.

German Treaty with Uruguay Revived

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—The Minister of Foreign Affairs, Count von Bülow, and the Minister of Uruguay have exchanged ratifications of the convention of June

DRAMATIC AND MUSICAL

Another Big Spectacle Produced at the New York Theatre.

MUSIC HEARD YESTERDAY

"Broadway to Tokio" Is Lively and Splendid—Paderewski Again—Gossip of the Stage.

"Broadway to Tokio," the new scenic and terpsichorean spectacle, a combination of operetta, burlesque, "vaudeville," and ballet, was produced with unmistakable success before a great crowd of spectators at the New York Theatre last night. The words, which are frequently amusing, were written by Louis Harrison and George V. Hobart, and the new music, which is lively and melodious, was composed by A. E. Sloane and Reginald De Koven. Max Freeman, in the technical slang of the hour, "staged" the piece, and the ballets, including the Revels of the Fireflies in Act I., and the gorgeous Japanese pageant in Act III., were designed by the veteran Marwig. No more beautiful or more gracefully executed saltatorial divertisements have been seen on our stage.

The story does not count for much, of course. It relates to the pursuit of Cleopatra's heart from New York to San Francisco, back again, and then to Japan, where it is finally recovered by the lady herself, whose mummy, minus the heart, has been revivified. This part is taken by Miss Fay Templeton, who is fond of impersonating revivified mummies of Cleopatra, evidently, as it was in such a rôle that she appeared at the music hall of Messrs. Weber & Fields last season.

But mummy or no mummy, with or without heart, Fay Templeton made an extraordinarily big hit last night. Her triumph was due partly to the good opportunities the not too restricted scheme of the piece gives her partly to her rich fund of humor, and her experienced skill, and largely to the sheer force of personality. Her imitation of La Fougere's singing (especially of an American "coon" song) was delightful for its exactness and its touch of original humor. She sang several other songs, including a new darky ditty, "Now I've Got Some Money, Well, I'm Comin' 'Round," which were scarcely less successful. Her "cake walk" with Otis Harlan called forth an uproar of approval.

Other individual hits were made by the solo dancers, Mlle. Fanchonette and the Sisters Mahr, who are comely as well as nimble and graceful; by Joseph Sparks and Josephine Sadler, as a loquacious Irishman and his Teutonic wife, in the old Harrigan manner; by Joseph Ott as a grave, elderly Mormon lured from his seven sociable wives by the wiles of dusky Egypt; by rattling and cheerful Mr. Harlan and alert, voluble Mr. Martinetti; by Idalene Cotton and Nick Long in their burlesque of "Camille" in choice Italian a la Duse; by Alice Judson, the pretty singer of some of Mr. Sloane's prettiest tunes.

The principal dance music is De Koven's. Sloane's melodies are bright and taking, and many of them will have great vogue. "The Lovelorn Lily" and a Barcarole are particularly good. The choristers sing very well, but the orchestra was not in good form last night.

The first of the ballets has for its background a Dodge'e expansive view of the Golden Gate under changing light effects. With its flashing incandescent lights and the fanciful dresses, it fairly rivals the Orchid dance in "The Man in the Moon." The Japanese background for the later and even more elaborate Cherry Blossom Ballet was painted by Ernest Albert. Hoyt's deck of a Pacific mail steamship and Dodge's Longacre Square by night are also good scenic pictures.

The action begins in the repair shop of the Eden Musée, and proceeds to the main hall, where the crowned heads of the world leave their pedestals to dance and sing in honor of Cleopatra.

There are some defects in "Broadway to Tokio." Some of its episodes could be spared. New "business," of course, can be put in at any time. But the show is never dull, and at least nine-tenths of it is pleasing to the eye and ear. The "specialties" are short, and the encore nuisance is not encouraged. There is much good fun. From first to last there is not one coarse or indecent word or action.

As there is a constant demand for ballet spectacle in this big town, such an honest and skillful attempt as this to supply the demand deserves the heartiest encouragement.

RICHARD MANSFIELD'S HENRY V.

Preparations for the Production Well Under Way.

Tangible results are being reached with Richard Mansfield's plans for his production of Shakespeare's "King Henry V.," which he will present next season. Yesterday Richard Marston showed him the scene model of the presence chamber, which will be the first scene of the first act of the version which Mr. Mansfield will present, and which he has made himself. The scene is a reproduction of Westminster Hall, London, the most ancient of the old buildings of the old palace.

It is expected that other scene models for the more elaborate and intricate settings will be finished in time to be taken to Mr. Mansfield in Washington at the end of next month, before he starts on his tour of the South. The costume plates are so far completed as to indicate that work on the dresses may be begun within ten days. The armor will come from abroad.

A. M. Palmer, manager for Mr. Mansfield, will attend to its selection when he goes to England and France in the early Spring to consult with Stephen Phillips, Emile Moreau, Edmond Rostand, Herman Merivale, and other dramatists who have plays under progress for Mr. Mansfield. The contract for the music will be given to one of the most prominent American composers, with whom it is expected negotiations will be closed this month.

C. E. EVANS TO APPEAR AGAIN.

To Have an Interest and a Part in "Naughty Anthony."

Charles E. Evans, proprietor of the Herald Square Theatre, has decided to return to the stage after an absence of three years, his last appearance being in a revival of "A Parlor Match." It is Mr. Evans's intention to appear in a company which will be organized to tour with "Naughty Anthony," presenting himself in the title rôle, now being played by Frank Worthing at the Herald Square Theatre.

David Belasco said yesterday that he had sold to Mr. Evans a half-interest in the road rights of "Naughty Anthony" for $20,000. It has also been definitely decided that the comedy is to continue at the Herald Square Theatre for the remainder of the season. Mr. Evans regards the new comedy as the most available material for affording him a rôle adapted to his particular line of work that has been produced since he made his appearance in the Hoyt farce.

Cast for Ada Rehan's Company.

Since Miss Ada Rehan has concluded to trust the managerial end of her forthcoming tour in the hands of Klaw & Erlanger, the latter have been industriously engaged in securing a competent company to support her. Yesterday they closed the contracts of those who will be identified with the organization. The cast includes Eugene Ormonde, George Clarke, White Whittlesey, Wilfred Clark, Charles Harbury, De Witt C. Jennings, Foster Lardner, George Warnock, N. S. Lewis, John Taylor, R. F. Russell, R. S. Pigott T. Hadaway, Clement Hopkins, Mabel Roebuck, Louise Draper, Margaret Owen, Marion Stuart, Virginia Navara, and Catherine Yeiser.

Matinee for Actors at the Garrick.

Charles Frohman and William Gillette yesterday tendered to the members of Mr. Frohman's companies and many prominent members of the theatrical profession a special matinée at the Garrick Theatre, of the melodrama, "Sherlock Holmes." It is safe to say that Mr. Frohman could have filled his theatre twice over from the numerous applications he received. Those who were fortunate enough to obtain seats tendered Mr. Gillette and his company a cordial reception, calling them before the footlights after each act. Among those who occupied the boxes were Mrs. Langtry, Frederick Kerr, Miss Lucie Milner, Nat C. Goodwin, Maxine Elliott, Miss Ethel Barrymore, Mr. and Mrs. John Drew, Daniel Frohman, Mary Mannering, Elizabeth Tyree, Mrs. Thomas Whiffen, and Miss Julia Marlowe. Occupying two orchestra stall seats among numerous other prominent members of the profession were Charles Frohman and Miss Maude Adams.

"Sapho" Postponed Again.

It has been decided to postpone Miss Olga Nethersole's appearance at Wallack's Theatre in "Sapho" until Monday next, when, it is expected, she will be fully restored to health. This course was decided upon after the receipt of a telegram yesterday from Louis Nethersole to her manager, Marcus Mayer, which stated that Dr. Magruder finds Miss Nethersole generally better, but very weak. He thinks that under the circumstances it will be absolutely impossible to begin her New York engagement this week and advises very strongly to postpone her opening until Monday, when there is every prospect of her being well.

Salvini's Stage Effects Sold.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 23.—The stage property of the late Alexander Salvini, originally worth over $30,000, was sold today by the administrator, for $1,759 to George Wahlemir, connected with a local scenic studio.

New Date for "The Countess Chiffon."

William A. Brady's new production, "The Countess Chiffon," in which Grace George, John Blair, and others are to appear at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, will be withheld until Feb. 6. The postponement is made to avoid conflicting with other new productions that have been announced.

MUSIC HEARD YESTERDAY.

First Concert of the Pittsburg Orchestra in This City at Carnegie Hall.

The Pittsburg Orchestra, Victor Herbert conductor, gave its first concert in this city at Carnegie Hall last night. The audience was one of moderate size and was cordial, though not enthusiastic, in its treatment of the performance. The programme consisted of Berlioz's "Carnival Romain" overture, Rameau's "Air de Telaire'" and "'Menuet Chanté," the E minor symphony of Tschaikowsky, Liszt's "Mephisto Waltz," six "Chansons à Danser" by Bruneau, and the vorspiel to Wagner's "Die Meistersinger." The soloist was Mme. Marie Brema, who made her first appearance here this season at this concert.

It was to be expected that sooner or later the Pittsburg Orchestra would come to this city for dress parade and review. The visit was welcome, and the orchestra will return home with a creditable record. The performance was not one to call forth expressions of ecstasy, and it is wholly improbable that its projectors expected it to do so. There was one to call for the conveyance of felicitations to the flourishing and enterprising city at the junction of the Allegheny and Monongahela Rivers. It is a happy thing for that city to possess so good an assembly of musicians, evidently inspired with ambition and seriousness of purpose and conducted with enthusiasm by so capable a musician as Mr. Herbert. With such an agency to labor for it the cause of good music has made progress in Pittsburg, and will make more.

It may be ingracious to comment on the present shortcomings of the orchestra and it certainly is ungrateful; yet such comment may be accepted merely as a suggestion as to ends yet to be reached. While the orchestra has made a considerable advance in the direction of a good ensemble, there is yet wanting a solid, rich homogeneity of tone, without which its utterance can never attain the highest nobility of instrumental speech. The strings can be improved in smoothness and sonority as well as in quality—in the latter particular especially in the 'cellos—and the brass will admit of much polish. The oboes, clarinets, and flutes are fairly good, but the bassoons have a poor tone. The attack of the whole orchestra yet lacks muscularity, and there are evidences of timidity in the treatment by the conductor of rests.

But when all is said and done, it is a more than ordinarily good orchestra, and has in it the promise of better things to come. Mr. Herbert has plainly worked hard with his men, and there could be no question that last night's programme had been carefully rehearsed. Mme. Brema was in good voice and sang her songs with spirit, but with her familiar want of discretion in the matter of tone production. The dance songs by Bruneau proved to be interesting trifles. They are attempts to reproduce the rhythm and mood of the old dances in vocal form, and are fairly successful, but by no means strikingly pleasing.

MR. AVERILL'S SONG RECITAL.

An Afternoon of Pleasant Music at Mendelssohn Hall.

Mr. Perry Averill, baritone, gave a song recital yesterday afternoon at Mendelssohn Hall. His audience was a large one, and he was heard with many evidences of pleasure. The programme was one of much merit. It consisted of Beethoven's "Adelaide," which Mr. Averill has made one of his most successful songs; von Eldlitz's cycle, "Elland," Victor Harris's "Alike for Those," (text from the Rubaiyat,) Edwin Cary's "The Captive Sunbeam," A. Goring Thompas's "Le Portrait." Fisher's "I Wait for Thee," Goring Thomas's "Le Bonheur et L'Amour" and "Si J'Etais Rol," Rubinstein's "Der Traum," Grieg's "Wiegenlied," Bungert's "Filina's Shoes," Costa's "Dis Carolo," and some scenes from Jens Hubay's "Violin Maker of Cremona."

This was certainly a list in which the familiar was reduced to the minimum. To get out of the beaten paths is a good thing for any singer in these days, for only the famous stars can hope to interest the general public with what is well known. Mr. Averill perhaps is not afraid of comparisons, no matter how odious they may be; but he is wise to sing songs which have their own interest. And when he sings them with as much taste, intelligence, clearness of enunciation, and nice quality of voice as he displayed yesterday afternoon, he deserves a double tribute of praise and gratitude. His recital was a genuinely pleasant entertainment, and the audience showed its appreciation of that fact. If it is necessary to specify anything in which the singing of Mr. Averill was heard to more than ordinarily good advantage, it was the "Helmlich Grüsse" of the cycle. But that is an exceptionally good song.

A POLISH CHAMBER CONCERT.

Mr. Paderewski and the Adamowski Quartet Heard at Sherry's.

The large ballroom at Sherry's was filled yesterday afternoon when Mr. Paderewski and the Adamowski Quartet gave a concert of chamber music. This joint appearance may be set down to the desire of the eminent Polish pianist to appear in the company of his compatriots, the Adamowski brothers, who form one-half of the quartet bearing their name. This is an amiable demonstration of brotherhood in a far land, and its results are very pleasing to those who have never seen Poland and have no no Polish sympathies except such as are irresistibly aroused by the performance of the Polish musicians. When one remembers that to the unhappy land we owe the de Reszkes, Paderewski, Sembrich, Joseph Hofmann, and a few others, we can easily see that the Poles are a great people in music.

The programme offered yesterday afternoon presented a string quartet by Roman Statkowski (another Pole) and Schumann's piano quartet, between which were placed a list of solo numbers for Mr. Paderewski. Not contented with his programme, he added something to it, so that the list as actually played consisted of the A flat ballade, a nocturne, a mazurka, (F sharp minor,) the "Butterfly" étude and the A flat valse of Chopin, the pianist's own "Cracovienne," and the sixth Hungarian rhapsody of Liszt. To these was added as an encore number the A minor barcarole of Rubinstein. The new quartet of Statkowski proved to be a pretty little work, of no great pretensions, clear in its part writing, melodious, especially in the second movement, and curiously free from nationalism of character. It was worth hearing, and it had the striking merit of being without the prolixity which is too common in the music of our time. It was charmingly played by the Adamowski Quartet, Mr. Paderewski was in his accustomed form, and played the piano numbers as only he can play them. The piano was a little too strong in the Schumann quartet, but otherwise it was played with fine spirit.

THE KNEISEL CONCERT.

People who make a point of attending the Kneisel concerts, and it is matter for public congratulation that there have come to be enough of them to make a "public," should make a point of hearing some other quartet once in a while. Then they would better appreciate their blessings. There are other quartets which have their points. But the harmony, the balance, the finish and precision that mark all the performances of this quartet are so unfailing that the hearer is prone to believe that they come by nature, instead of by hard as well as artistic work. Nothing could have exhibited the quartet to better advantage than the Haydn and the Beethoven numbers last night, wide apart spiritually and emotionally as they are, resembling each other in nothing but in being classics, perfect in their several kinds. From the daintiness with which the old-fashioned graces of Haydn are rendered one could never have inferred the power and passion that went to the playing of the Beethoven.

The contrast enhanced the effectiveness of each, and made this one of the most enjoyable of all the Kneisel concerts. Why the Fauré sonata should have been sandwiched between them, when there are sonatas for piano and violin that are on the same musical plane with the quartets, did not clearly appear. The sonata is a sound and scholarly and well made, and, as to the first two movements, a very nearly empty composition. The third "allegro vivo" is better, and comes nearest to giving the work a reason for being. Mme. Szumowska, who played the piano part, has before shown herself to be a sympathetic ensemble player, and in this work was more sympathetic than clear. She had the advantage of a more "grateful" part than that for the violin, with which Mr. Kneisel did his best; but he could not really endear the work to the audience.

The following is the programme:

Haydn.....Quartet in D major, Op. 76 No. 5
Fauré....Sonata for piano and violin in A major
Beethoven.....Quartet in E minor, Op. 59 No. 2

Mme. Melba a Grip Sufferer.

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—Mme. Melba has the grip, and the concert arranged for to-night was postponed.

Manhattan Life's Business.

The annual statement of the Manhattan Life Insurance Company of New York shows an increase in every account of the company, including assets, reserve, surplus, insurance in force, payments to policy holders, and new insurance written. The income for 1899 consisted of $1,952,975.25 in premiums, and $754,463.32 in interest, rents, and other receipts, a total of $2,707,438.57. The disbursements include $1,051,122.08 in payments to policy holders, and miscellaneous disbursements amounting to $718,176.24, a total of $2,769,298.32. The assets on Dec. 31 amounted to $15,803,962.37, and the total liabilities were $14,177,221.12, leaving a surplus of $1,626,741.25. The total amount paid to policy holders since the organization of the company exceeds $45,300,000.

WHAT IS DOING IN SOCIETY.

The mild and beautiful weather which has again been a feature of this January, as it was of the same month a year ago, continues, and were it not for the fear of a repetition of last Winter's experience, when February and March brought blizzards and a succession of cold waves, many of the plans for Southern and even for European trips, which have been and are being made, would be changed. Even as it is, many of the projected parties for the South, Cuba, and Puerto Rico are delayed in starting, and, although there will be a flight out of town when the curtain finally falls on the season, if the cold weather does not come, it is more likely to be to Lakewood, Old Point Comfort, and Washington than to Florida, California, and the West Indies. The social calendar as a rule is little affected by weather conditions, save in late Winter and early Spring, when the presence of mild weather or the opposite makes all the difference in the world with crowds of people. The avenue yesterday resembled more a day in late October or early November than late January, and people drove in open carriages and walked without wraps.

***

To-day will bring a number of small events, but nothing of marked importance. The third Wednesday cotillion will be danced this evening at Delmonico's, when Mr. Arthur Skelton Wily of Virginia will lead with Miss Heloise Beekman. The wedding of Mr. William A. Robinson and Miss Edwyna L. Lee, a niece of Mr. Henry Senff, will take place at St. George's Church at 4 o'clock this afternoon, and "at homes" will be given, among others, by Mrs. James M. Varnum, 87 Park Avenue; Mrs. Alexander T. Van Nest, 31 West Thirty-seventh Street; Mrs. Lewis F. Whitin and Miss Whitin of 9 West Fifty-sixth Street; Mrs. J. Fred Pierson of 20 West Fifty-second Street, and Mrs. Willard S. Brown of 105 East Thirty-fifth Street.

***

Yesterday brought the first of two afternoon receptions given by Mrs. Elbridge T. Gerry and the Misses Gerry at 2 East Sixty-first Street, the fourth of Miss Callender's and Miss De Forest's "Tuesday nights" with music, the fourth Fortnightly dance at the Astoria, the Tuesday evening Assembly at Delmonico's, a large luncheon given by Mrs. George Crocker, and a dance given by Mrs. R. Fulton Cutting at her residence, 24 East Sixty-seventh Street, for her niece, Miss Justine Cutting, daughter of Mr. Bayard Cutting, and to which the guests, mostly of the younger set, came from dinners given by Mrs. Lucius K. Wilmerding, Mrs. Bayard Cutting, Mrs. Frederic Kernochan, and others. The Lying-In Hospital Sewing Class met at Mrs. Richard Gambrill's, 30 Park Avenue, in the morning, and Paderewski played at the Adamowski subscription recital at Sherry's in the afternoon.

***

The Oceanic, which sails to-day for Liverpool, has booked among other passengers Mr. J. C. Adam, Mr. Balfour, Mr. and Mrs. C. Bradford, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Burden, Jr., Mrs. William F. Burden, Mrs. C. W. Chapin, Mr. and Mrs. Victor M. Clement, Mr. E. L. Corning, Mrs. Cowdin, Mr. L. W. Craven and Miss Craven, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dunstan, Mr and Mrs. Everett, Mr. William B. Fitts, Mr. Leigh Hunt, the Rev. A. H. Kellogg, Mr. Hamilton King, Mrs. D. P. Kingsford, Mr. J. P. Messervy, Mr. C. M. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Richard P. McCreery, Lady Reid, the Misses Reid, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Suydam, Miss Helen Suydam, Mr. G. Meade Tooker, Mr. R. W. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Max Vogrich, and Mr. and Mrs. A. N. White.

***

The New York, which sails to-day, has booked, among other passengers, Commander Joseph E. Craig, United States Navy, of Washington; Mr. H. Anderson, the Hon. Mrs. Eric Barrington of London, Mr. Casper S. Crowninshield of Washington, Mrs. G. Herbert, the Hon. George Keppel of London, Mrs. William F. King, Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Lawrence, the Hon. John G. Long, United States Consul General at Cairo, Egypt; Lieut. P. V. Mohun, United States Navy, Washington; Mrs. W. A. Slater, daughter, and son, of Boston, and Mr. S. O. Van Duzer.

***

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kelly are at Palm Beach, Fla., which place they will leave the last of the week, on the arrival from New York of their steam yacht Barracouta, for a cruise along the Cuban coast. Mr. Drummond of New York arrived yesterday at Jacksonville, Fla., with a party of guests on his steam yacht Sapphire. Mr. and Mrs. Louis K. Bell are at Jacksonville. At Jekyl Island Mr. Gordon McKay, with a party of friends, is due to-day.

***

The Teutonic, due to-day, is said to be bringing, among others, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Burnham, the Hon. Sydney French, Mr. Moreton Frewen, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Giddings of Baltimore, Dr. Edward S. Niles, and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Potter.

***

The musicale which Mrs. George Gould is to give at her Fifth Avenue residence on Feb. 10 is to be an extremely elaborate affair, at which some of the leading artists of the Metropolitan are to sing. This musicale was planned before it was definitely known that the Count and Countess de Castellane were to come over, and, while they will be among the guests at the affair, it is not generally understood that it was planned, as has been stated, especially in their honor.

***

Mrs. Fordyce Barker has sent out invitations to the wedding of her daughter, Miss Elizabeth C. Fordyce Barker, and Mr. Murray Witherbee Dodge at St. Thomas's Church at noon on Tuesday, Feb. 6. The breakfast which is to follow the ceremony will be given at the residence of the bride's grandfather, Mr. Samuel D. Babcock, 636 Fifth Avenue.

***

Mrs. George Crocker gave yesterday at her residence, 1 East Sixty-fourth Street, a luncheon of fifteen covers. The decorations were white and green. The centrepiece was composed of many branches of white lilac in a tall silver vase, and at each corner of the table there was a mound of green orchids touched with white embedded in maidenhair and other fine ferns. A band of colored minstrels played banjo and other music during the luncheon. Among Mrs. Crocker's guests were Mrs. Richard Irvin, Mrs. French, Mrs. Julian Davies, Mrs. Suydam, Mrs. Pearson, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Wilmerding, Mrs. Childs, Mrs. Hoffman, Mrs. Pell, Mrs. Edey, Mrs. Furniss, Mrs. Alexander, and Miss McAllister. On Feb. 10 Mrs. Crocker is to give a large dinner.

***

The fourth of the Tuesday nights with music was given last evening by Miss Callender and Miss De Forest at their beautiful apartment in the Tiffany Building. There were about 100 guests. The programme was more simple than at any of the preyolus musicales, and was rendered by the Kneisel Quartet and Mr. Alwin Schroeder, the 'cellist of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and Miss Ruth Katherine Heyman, the pianist. Mr. Victor Harris was, as usual, in charge of the music, and was the accompanist. The usual light collation was served.

***

There is much interest felt and expressed in musical and social circles in the recital to be given by Mmes. Nordica and Schumann-Heink in Carnegie Hall on the afternoon of Thursday, Feb. 1. Both these singers have won many friends in New York society, so most of the boxes have already been disposed of privately to people musically and socially prominent, while there is a good demand for seats. Mme. Nordica will give selections from McDowell, Hahn, Bachelet, Richard Strauss, &c., and Mme. Schumann-Heink will be heard in selections from Schubert, Schumann, Brahms, &c., while both singers will render several duets by Rubinstein and Mendelssohn. The afternoon should be a rarely enjoyable one to music lovers.

***

The Tuesday evening cotillion was danced at Delmonico's last night and was led by Mr. Henry D. Mills and Mr. F. Raymond Lefferts. There was a large attendance, chiefly of débutantes and young men. Among the débutantes present were Miss Grace Ballard, Miss Ethel Miller, Miss Fitch, Miss Grace Shirley, Miss Lucile Bacon, Miss Edith Hatch, and Miss Bertha Gilbert.

***

Mrs. R. Fulton Cutting gave a dinner dance at her residence, 24 East Sixty-seventh Street, last evening for her niece, Miss Justine Cutting, daughter of Mr. W. Bayard Cutting. Preceding the dance dinners were given by Mrs. Cutting, Mrs. Lucius Wilmerding, Mrs. Frederic Kernochan, and Mrs. Bayard Cutting, and the guests came from these dinners to the dance. They were for the most part of the younger set in society. Mrs. Cutting received in the library. Her gown was of gray satin, decorated with white lace. The cotillion began about 11 o'clock and lasted about an hour and a half, when supper was served. Mr. Worthington Whitehouse led with Miss Justine Cutting. There were some forty-eight couples in the cotillion. The favors were banners, parasols of different colors trimmed with artificial flowers, rhinestone buckles, small mirrors framed in tiny pink artificial roses, and pearl pencils, paper cutters, and strawberry-shaped satin pincushions. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hammond, (Miss Sloane,) Mr. and Mrs. Goodhue Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. Courtlandt Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. Frelinghuysen, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Auchmuty Tucker, (Miss Derby,) Miss Bend, Miss Clare Bryce, Miss Esther Hunt, the Misses Morton, Miss Elsie Bronson, Miss Emily Rogers, Miss Wood, Miss Clews, Miss Mary Crocker, Miss Haven, Miss Sloane, Miss Lila Sloane, Miss Evelyn Parsons, Miss Daisy Post, Miss Bishop, Miss Kernochan, Miss Marie Winthrop, Miss Charlotte Whiting, Miss Daisy Crocker, Miss Evelyn Burden, Miss Hare, Miss Marian Fish, Miss Fifi Potter, Miss Helen Lee, and the Messrs. Arden Robbins, Frank Harrison, Herman Kinicutt, David Bishop, Beekman Hoppin, Paul Grand d'Hauteville, William Cutting, Creighton Webb, Meredith Howland, Moncure Robinson, William Sloane, W. Hoyt, M. Morris, Alonzo Potter, James de W. Cutting, Thatcher Adams, the Messrs. Barney, Mr. Coffin, Mr. Pope, Mr. Ward, Mr. Tucker, Mr. Minturn, Henry Robbins, Barclay Kountze, Roger Winthrop, Craig Wadsworth, Gilbert Francklyn, Ogden Codman, Eliot Gregory, Cecil Baring, Mr. Kernochan, Reginald Ronalds, James Stevens, Milton Barger, Robert Van Cortlandt, J. Prentice, John Rogers, and Kenneth Robinson.

***

The fourth of the Fortnightly subscription dances took place last evening in the Astor gallery of the Astoria. Mrs. Lewis Livingston Delafield, Mrs. H. C. Loomis, Mrs. J. C. Jay, and other patronesses received the guests. Mr. Vail Stebbins led the cotillion. There were two favor figures, for which the favors were artificial flowers and fancy favors. There was an unusually large number of invited guests in attendance last evening. The dancing began at an early hour, and was over about 12:15, when a seated supper was served. Among the members present were Dr. Louis F. Bishop and Mrs. Bishop, Miss Edith Van C. Jay, Miss Angelin Schuyler Church, the Misses Atterbury, Miss Julia Delafield, Miss Dorothy Higginson, Miss Louise Gallatin, Miss Josephine Drexel, Miss Georgette Kidd, Miss May Roker, the Messrs. De Courcy Ireland, A. Monnell Sayre, H. R. Cameron, Robert Hoe, Jr., James Hurry, H. H. Armstead, and Mr. H. R. Cameron. Among the guests who attended the dance were Mr. William Bard Johnstone, Miss Daily, Miss Mary Daily, Miss Lucy Mathews, Mr. R. S. Robertson, Miss Edith Burke, Mr. Edward F. Burke, Mr. Simmons, Mrs. Benjamin S. Church, Mrs. Dix, Miss O'Connor, Mr. Harris Lindsley, Miss Bogert, Mr. Sheppard Homans, Miss Underwood, Miss Virginia Underwood, Mr. Ely, Mr. H. L. Dangerfield Servis, Mr. G. Whitefreid Beltz, Mr. Walter Church, Mr. Lawrence B. Elliman, and Mrs. Alfred Pell. The floor Committee was composed of Messrs. Beverley Bogert, G. Cyrel Cassels, Harry Cleveland, W. F. Dominick, De Witt C. Falls, Thomas B. Harrison, Augustus F. Ireland, Reginald Jaffray, Morris Kellogg, and Van T. Lindsley.

***

The wedding of Mr. Frederick Sherman Rook to Miss Katherine May Cargill, the actress who sang "Listen to the Band" in the "Runaway Girl," was not a matter of much surprise, as the engagement had been announced some weeks ago. Mr. Rook is the eldest son of Mrs. Edward F. Rook, who lives at Newport. His sister, Miss Edith Rook, is engaged to Mr. J. Nelson Howard of Newport. Mr. Frederick Rook has never been prominent in society. His bride before she went on the stage was educated in a fashionable convent, and numbers among her school friends many of the young women of the prominent Catholic set. She made her first appearance under the name of Yvette Violette at Hammerstein's in "Excelsior, Jr.," where she gave very clever imitations of Yvette Guilbert. She also appeared before the Midwinter Club, at Sherry's, two Winters ago, where she made a success by her singing of Yvette Guilbert's songs.

***

The American colony at Mentone was much interested in the christening party given at the Palais Carnolas by Mr. Edward Phelps Allis for his daughter Maude. The ceremony was performed by Pasteur Delapirre of the Huguenot Church. Mrs. Philip Allis, Sr., and Miss Maude Allis, who have gone to Mentone from America to pass the Winter, were present. Mrs. Allis wore black, and Miss Allis wore cream brocaded satin, with roses. Mrs. Philip Allis, Jr., the mother of the infant, was in grey silk and passementerie. Among those present were the Marquis and Marquise de Choiseul, (Miss Claire Couders,) in black; Mrs. Hearn, who wore buff; the Marquis and Marquise de Cambefort, Mrs. Percy Cochrane, in pale blue, trimmed with white braid; Capt. Le Jeune, and others. Mrs. Cochrane on the day following gave a large luncheon, and Mrs. Hearn a dinner.

***

Mrs. John Hadden of this city was registered at Nice last week. The Countess de Casa-Miranda (Christine Nilsson) has arrived at Monte Carlo with Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Bingham. Mrs. Hungerford is at Cannes, where there have been a few new American arrivals. Mr. and Mrs. Sheffield, Miss Stevenson, and Mr. Phelps are registered at Mentone. At Bordighera are Mrs. S. E. Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Martin of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Franklin Shaw. Mrs. and Miss Winslow of Boston have settled there for the Winter. Mrs. J. U. Thorndike and Miss Kate Staley are also among the Americans whose names appear on the weekly lists of guests. San Remo is looking up, and it has been mildly gay there, with a dance at the Hotel des Anglais. Mr. and Mrs. W. D. J. Barton, Mr. and Mrs. Parish, Mr. and Mrs. James Ransom, and Mr. Henry Squires are at San Remo.

***

Mr. and Mrs. Henry White are at Grasse for the Winter, but Mr. White makes frequent trips to and from London. Mrs. Henry White is improving slowly. Her daughter is with her. Mr. and Mrs. Cavendish Bentinck expect to go to the South of France and the Riviera shortly, and Mrs. Arthur Paget will leave England for a southern trip, as soon as the famous tableaus for the benefit of the Scots Guard Fund have taken place.

***

The weather is so delightful in the country that house parties from Friday to Monday are still greatly in vogue. Mr. and Mrs. George Gould had a large one, at which Maurice Farkoa sang, and there were other artists. Mr. and Mrs. Gould came up from Lakewood on Monday. Mr. William C. Whitney, and Sir Edward and Lady Colebrook are at Wheately each week end.

WHITE HOUSE RECEPTION RULES.

Bonnets Must Not Be Worn at Evening Gatherings.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—In connection with the announcement of the preparations for the White House reception to-morrow night there are printed to-night some admonitions bearing the imprint of semi-official approval for the guidance of some of those persons who venture to the receptions without having made necessary or proper inquiries. This announcement says that it may seem unnecessary information to those acquainted with the customs which are ordinarily followed to state that women should not wear bonnets at evening receptions at the White House. While this practice has grown less and less frequent of late years, there are always a few who transgress against the law of evening dress which implies an unbonneted head. Head coverings of whatever style they may be should be left with the other wraps in the receptacles provided for that purpose in the main vestibule. A violation of this rule only subjects the offender to unnecessary observation and criticism.

Precisely the same thing applies to men who do not follow the accepted fashions of dress and appear in other than evening clothes. Every offender in this regard helps to detract from the fitness and harmony, to say nothing of the brilliancy, of the most important of all the social functions. Notables or those who are apt to reach that class never run any risk by violations of accepted customs in dress or anything else. There was only one really great man in the memory of the present generation who did not favor the clawhammer coat and did not own one. But he never appeared at evening festivities.

MISS JUILLIARD ENGAGED.

Niece of New Yorker Will Marry a Central American in Paris.

Special to The New York Times.

CANTON, Ohio, Jan. 23.—According to a letter received here to-day from Paris, the engagement is announced of Miss Laura Corneille Juilliard and J. Tible Machado, Viscount of Montamah, Consul General of Guatemala and Secretary of the Embassy in London. Miss Juilliard is a Stark County, Ohio, girl, and is a niece of A. D. Juilliard of New York, who has given the bride-to-be a handsome dowry. The marriage will be solemnized in Paris at the Roman Catholice Church of Notre Dame des Victoires. Miss Juilliard has adopted the Catholic faith and was rechristened Agnes.

Señor Machado is a Central American by birth. He comes from a family of the old Spanish nobility. He owns large interests in Central American coffee plantations as well as a house in Mayfair, London, a house in Paris, and a Winter residence in the south of France.

E. R. Morse Buys Newport Property.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Jan. 23.—John H. Davis has sold his property on Bellevue Avenue, known as Rhua House, to E. Rollins Morse of Boston, who has been a cottager for several seasons. Mr. Morse has also purchased the Coles property adjoining. Work on elaborate improvements will begin at once.

A DAY'S WEDDINGS.

Chisholm—Card.

Stuart H. Chisholm and Mrs. Henry P. Card, both of Cleveland, were married at high noon yesterday at the Waldorf-Astoria. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Applegarth, pastor of the Second Baptist Church of Cleveland. The east room of the hotel, in which the wedding took place, was elaborately decorated for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Chisholm are both prominent in Cleveland society, and there is a tinge of romance in their affairs by reason of the fact that the bride had nursed Mr. Chisholm through a long and serious illness. Mr. Chisholm is prominent in the management of the affairs of the American Steel and Wire Company.

There were fifty-five guests at the wedding, the majority of whom came from Cleveland by special train. Among those who were present were Mr. and Mrs. Tom L. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Brush, Gen. and Mrs. Garretson, and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wade. Luncheon was served in the private dining room immediately after the ceremony.

The bride's costume was of white handmade Russian lace, a skirt of white satin, and headgear of the same material. Her ornaments were diamonds and a string of Oriental pearls three and a half feet long, a gift of the bridegroom. The couple will sail on the Augusta Victoria to-morrow for a three months' tour in Europe.

Allen—Palmer.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW LONDON, Jan. 23.—Dr. A. H. Allen and Miss Ida H. Palmer, daughter of Reuben Palmer, both of this city, were married here to-night at the residence of the bride's parents. The Rev. J. W. Bixler, pastor of the Second Congregational Church performed the ceremony. The wedding was a quiet home affair, with but a few close friends and the near relatives of both parties present, among those attending from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Tyler R. Palmer and Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Allen of New York and Miss Dr. Allen of Brooklyn.

ANDREW J. WHITE DEAD.

Injuries Sustained at Montreal Last Summer the Direct Cause—His Political Career.

Andrew J. White, the well-known politician, died yesterday at his home, at 6 Mount Morris Park West.

Mr. White was born in Brooklyn in 1845. Early in life he became identified with Tammany Hall, and upon the death of his father, Peter White, he succeeded to the contract for the removal and destruction of the city's offal. In 1881 Mayor Grace offered Mr. White an appointment as Police Justice. The latter's acceptance angered John Kelly, who then controlled Tammany, and Mr. White was expelled from the organization. He then joined the County Democracy and became one of its foremost men. With the death of that organization Mr. White again joined Tammany Hall, and on March 10, 1892, he was reappointed Police Justice by Mayor Hugh J. Grant, against whom he had unsuccessfully run as the County Democracy candidate for Sheriff in 1885.

Mr. White resigned as Police Justice in 1893 to accept the appointment of Dock Commissioner at the hands of Mayor Thomas F. Gilroy. Just prior to this time the Legislature had authorized a large appropriation—about $10,000,000—for the Department of Docks. The fact that Mr. White gave up an eight-thousand-dollar position for another paying $3,000 less per annum for a shorter term occasioned much comment and was inquired into by the Lexow committee.

Mr. White was removed from office by Mayor Strong in 1895, in accordance with the provisions of the Power of Removal act. At that time Mr. White was the Tammany leader in the Thirty-first District and a close friend of John C. Sheehan. This fact caused his displacement by Charles Welde, and it is generally believed that Mr. White had much to do with the defeat of Welde last year by Isaac A. Hopper, though he did not openly announce his support of the latter.

Mr. White was in robust health until last Summer, when, to mark the completion of the twenty-fifth year of his marriage, he took his family on a trip through the Eastern States and Canada. At Montreal he fell between the platforms of a railway

HEARING ON SCHOOL BILLS

Arguments at Albany Before the Senate Committee.

COLER'S MEASURE ATTACKED

The Controller Against All the Other Bills—McCarren Propositions Secure Most Support.

ALBANY, Jan. 23.—For three hours this afternoon the members of the Cities Committee of the Senate listened to arguments for and against the three emergency bills introduced in the Senate by Messrs. Ford, Grady, and McCarren to relieve the existing condition of affairs in Greater New York's schools, and especially the boroughs of Richmond and Queens. Senator White of Syracuse presided in the absence of Senator Stranahan.

There was a representative gathering of those interested in educational affairs in Greater New York, representatives from the Borough of Brooklyn being in the majority. Among those in attendance were W. H. Maxwell, City Superintendent of the schools of New York; Horace E. Dresser, member of the Board of Education and the Central Board; C. E. Robertson, President of the Brooklyn Board of Education, and a member of the Central Board; James J. McCabe, President of the Principals' Association of Brooklyn; Mrs. Emma F. Pettingill, President of the High School Association of Brooklyn; Miss Grace Strachan, President of a branch of the Principals' Association of Brooklyn; Dr. Edward P. Cromwell, James M. Edsall, and other members of the Brooklyn Teachers' Association; Superintendent of Schools H. R. Yetman, J. J. Driscoll, President of the Teachers' Association of Richmond; Principal M. D. Quinn and Attorney W. C. Foster, representing the Teachers' Association of Queens; Charles C. Burlingham, a Commissioner from Manhattan and the Bronx, and ex-Commissioner John G. Apgar.

Of the three bills considered, that of Senator McCarren had the majority of followers. During last night and to-day over 2,000 telegrams were received by the Chairman of the committee favoring the McCarren bill.

Senator Ford's bill, which provides for the immediate payment of arrearages of salaries in the Boroughs of Queens and Richmond by the issuing of revenue bonds, was first considered. A brief prepared by Controller Coler in opposition to the bills of Senators Ford and McCarren was read by Senator Ahearn and submitted to the committee. It was quite lengthy and was in part as follows:

"The objection to be urged against all the emergency bills except Senator Grady's is that they are vicious examples of mandatory legislation. It can be shown beyond any possible doubt that permissive legislation is all that is required.

"The claim has been made that the Board of Estimate and Apportionment did not during the year 1899 appropriate sufficient money for educational purposes. This claim is without the slightest basis of truth. The fact of the matter is that the total amount of appropriations for educational purposes is sufficient to satisfy all known claims for teachers' salaries and other liabilities which have arisen during the year 1899. The sole difficulty has been with the vicious system of so-called apportionment of the general school fund directed by Section 1,065 of the charter, which takes away from certain School Boards money which they do require, and gives that money to other School Boards which do not require it. It seems to me that the mere statement of such a result should entail the condemnation of any provision of law.

"Senator Grady's bill obviates this difficulty. It places the general school fund on precisely the same basis as the appropriations for all the other departments of the City Government and enables the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to supply deficiencies therein by transfers from appropriations in which surpluses exist. The issue of revenue bonds for this purpose is entirely unnecessary."

Mr. Quinn of Queens County objected to the bill of Senator Ford because it does not legalize certain actions of the Queens County Borough Board. He had no other objection to the Ford bill except that it leaves the matter of the payment of the teachers at the discretion of the present powers. He said the trouble rested with the Board of Apportionment in not giving them money enough to run the schools. He also objected to the bill of Senator Grady.

Mr. Burlingham of Manhattan and the Bronx advocated the adoption of the Ford bill. He said it did not interfere with home rule and that the issue of revenue bonds presents a practical method of getting money at once.

"Do you believe the school question has reached a point where mandatory legislation is necessary?" he was asked, and in reply said:

"I believe it has reached a point where a permanent solution of the difficulty is necessary, and my solution is to cut down to the minimum the powers of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment and let the Borough Boards manage their own affairs."

Superintendent Maxwell was another advocate of Senator Ford's bill. He said:

"The pay given to the teachers in Queens and Richmond is lower than that paid in the Boroughs of Manhattan, Bronx, or Brooklyn. I think that any legislation adopted that will immediately relieve the teachers in Queens and Richmond will be welcomed by all the cities in New York State. The refusal to pay the teachers has been a disgrace in the eyes of the country."

Superintendent Maxwell added that Senator Ford's bill was permissive and will accomplish the results at which it is aimed. "The Board of Estimate and Apportionment has declined to issue bonds because it has no authority. I am in favor of mandatory legislation; if the board will not issue bonds under permissive legislation, then make it mandatory.

"Controller Coler's bill under the guise of meeting a temporary emergency introduces a most radical change in the charter provisions and in the administration of schools. What will Mr. Coler's bill do? They propose to abolish Section 1,065 of the charter, and the first effect of the bill will be to deprive the Borough of Queens of a total appropriation of $63,277.92. Not a single borough in the whole City of New York that has not been cut off so much that there will be no unexpended balance remaining, but in nearly every case there will be a deficiency in 1900. A simple, plain measure is wanted for the relief in Richmond and Queens, then take up the entire educational matter, fix things permanently, and it will be satisfactory to the citizens of New York." Superintendent Maxwell also opposed the bill of Senator McCarren because he claimed it does an injustice to Brooklyn.

Ex-Commissioner John J. Apgar of New York also spoke in opposition to Senator McCarren's measure. Horace E. Dresser favored the bill. He maintained that the measure was not a violation of home rule, but that it allowed the borough boards to carry out the schedule of salaries they had made.

Mr. Robertson favored the McCarren bill, because, he said, it equalized the salaries of teachers not affected by the Ahearn law, and he voiced the sentiments of 3,600 teachers in Brooklyn who heartily approved of the measure. Prof. McCabe said that there was scarcely a teacher in Brooklyn who was opposed to it.

Mr. Burlingham argued against the Coler-Grady bill, characterizing it not as an emergency bill, but a bill which, taking advantage of an emergency, undertakes to make a radical change in school affairs and in the whole City Government.

Assemblyman Cyrus Cole of Queens County was next heard. He said that he favored the Coler bill because the Controller had assured him personally that he had sufficient funds on hand to pay the salaries due the teachers in Queens and Richmond. Assistant Corporation Counsel Creamer, who was the last one heard, argued in favor of the bill.

A hearing will be given on three other school measures, the centralization, decentralization, and finance bills on Tuesday next.

To Validate School Certificates.

ALBANY, Jan. 23.—Mr. Wissell has introduced in the Assembly a bill to validate all certificates issued to school teachers in the different boroughs of New York prior to the consolidation. It provides that licenses granted by the School Superintendents, seat certificates issued by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, normal school diplomas, and School Commissioners' certificates of the first grade granted since 1894 by the School Commissioners of Queens and Richmond unless revoked by the State Superintendent shall be recognized by the City Superintendent of Schools and the Board of Examiners of New York City, and shall entitle the holders to appointment or promotion in the schools without further examination.

LEGISLATURE'S PROCEEDINGS.

The Senate.

ALBANY, Jan. 23.—The Senate met this morning, with Senator Raines presiding, and adjourned in half an hour, to meet to-morrow morning. No business was transacted other than the introduction of several bills.

The Assembly.

ALBANY, Jan. 23.—In the Assembly to-day the minority attacked the bill of Mr. Apgar, on the order of second reading, which will permit the Pullman Palace Car Company to traffic in liquor on board its cars in this State.

Mr. Green of New York, who moved to strike out the enacting clause, styled it as another grab of the corporations, which would permit the company to conduct buffet cars at a less tax rate than saloon keepers in New York carry on their business. Mr. Rogers of Broome, who explained the provisions of the bill, said it was simple enough. The Wagner Palace Car Company had been merged with the Pullman Palace Car company. As the law now stands the latter company was precluded from making application for a liquor certificate, as it was a common carrier and was a foreign corporation. Mr. Apgar's amendment would remove the present obstacles by permitting the issuance of a certificate.

Mr. Trainor thought that the bill should be considered seriously, and in order to give it the attention its importance warranted it should go over to a future day.

Messrs. Harburger and Hyman spoke against the bill, which was advanced to third reading.

At 11:30 o'clock the Assembly adjourned until Wednesday at 11 A. M.

HEARING ON DRUG CLERKS' BILL.

Assembly Committee Listens to Those Who Favor the Measure.

ALBANY, Jan. 23.—The contest which was carried on bitterly here last Winter against Mr. Maher's bill to shorten the hours of labor of New York City drug clerks and pharmacists, was renewed to-day before the Committee on Labor and Industries of the Assembly. A telegram was received from ex-Assemblyman Robert Mazet of New York City, asking for an adjournment on behalf of the opposition for two weeks. This was granted, but Chairman Costello decided to hear those in favor of the bill who were present. These included E. Thimme, C. F. Dohr, and John Gallagher, representing the Druggists' League for Shorter Hours; Maurice Zeitlin, Henry Brody, and Benjamin Halpin of the Drug Clerks' Circle, and John J. O'Hanlon of the Legislative Committee of the State Workingmen's Federation.

Mr. Thimme, who was the first speaker, said that the labor, reform, and religious organizations of New York City, together with the press of the State looked favorably upon the bill, together with 150 organizations of the great city. The other speakers argued in the same vein, urging the committee to report the bill favorably.

OPPOSITION TO FREE COAL BILL.

Representatives of Charity Organizations Argue Against It.

ALBANY, Jan. 23.—Those in opposition to Mr. Harburger's bill appropriating $25,000 for free distribution of coal among the poor of New York City were given a hearing to-day before the Cities Committee of the Assembly.

The speakers in opposition included Edward T. Devine, General Secretary of the Charity Organization Society of New York City; William J. Nichols, General Secretary of the Brooklyn Bureau of Charities; Frank Tucker, General Agent of the New York Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor; the Rev. Mr. Kerr, rector of the Protestant Episcopal City Mission of New York, and Homer Folks, General Secretary of the New York State Charities Aid Association.

The line of argument against the bill was that it was unnecessary, because all the aid necessary was furnished through the medium of private charitable and benevolent institutions of the city, and that it had a demoralizing effect for the poor to receive public aid, thereby enrolling them and branding them as public paupers.

In reply to his opponents, Mr. Hamburger styled them "sham reformers," who, he said, had come up to Albany in their own interests, only representing their own organizations and trying to show that they alone were doing the most good.

A STATE PRINTING OFFICE.

Assembly Bill Provides for Appointment of a State Printer.

ALBANY, Jan. 23.—Assemblyman Frisbie has introduced a bill for the establishment of a State Printing Office, and to create the office of Superintendent of State Printing, said appointment to be made by the Governor. The State Printer is to hold office for five years, and may be removed by a two-thirds vote of the Legislature.

In case the Superintendent is convicted of collusion to defraud the State he shall be subject to imprisonment in the State Prison for not less than two years nor more than five years and to pay a fine of not more than $3,000.

A Home for the Aged.

ALBANY, Jan. 23.—A bill introduced by Assemblyman Harburger provides for the establishment of a home for the aged of both sexes, residents of New York, Kings, Queens, Suffolk, Richmond, Westchester, Nassau, and Rockland Counties. Dependents over sixty years old shall be eligible for entrance. An appropriation of $100,000 is made for the purchase of land, erection and equipment of buildings, and temporary maintenance of the inmates.

Guard Rails on Elevated Tracks.

ALBANY, Jan. 23.—Mr. Guider to-day introduced a bill to compel all elevated railroads in New York to place a guard rail with a platform the entire length of the system, the platform to extend at least three feet from the outer rail and the guard to be placed at least four feet high from the platform. All elevated systems operated by steam power shall place drip pans underneath the structures at the intersection of all streets and avenues.

Palisades Bill Introduced.

ALBANY, Jan. 23.—Assemblyman Apgar of Westchester to-day introduced the bill of the Palisades Commission for the preservation of the Palisades, which appropriates $250,000 to be paid to the United States in consideration of the acquisition of such lands.

Other Senate Bills.

ALBANY, Jan. 23.—The following bills were introduced in the Senate to-day:

Senator FORD—Fixing the salary of the stenographers to the Justices of the Appellate Division of the First Judicial Department at $3,000, payable in monthly installments.

Senator FORD—Requiring that warrants in summary proceedings for the dispossession of a tenant shall be served by a Marshal of the Municipal Court appointed for the judicial district in which the court having jurisdiction is held. Any other person who shall serve such a warrant shall by guilty of a misdemeanor.

Senator FORD—Authorizing the Police Commissioners of New York City to investigate the legality of the appointment of Solomon Cohen as a member of the department and to reinstate him at their discretion.

Senator ELSBERG—Giving to the Park Commissioners of New York power to regulate the erections and projections on and to determine the line for curb and the surface construction of all streets within any park, square, or public place in their jurisdiction.

Senator MARSHALL—An act to modify the exterior pier head line along the shores of the Borough of Brooklyn so as to make it conform to the line approved by the Secretary of War Nov. 17, 1897, upon the report of the New York Harbor Board.

Senator WAGNER—An amendment to the liquor tax law doing away with that portion which defines a hotel as a place in which there shall be at least ten furnished rooms for occupancy.

In the Assembly.

ALBANY, Jan. 23.—The following bills were introduced in the Assembly to-day:

Mr. FISKE—Providing that bottles collected on dumps or by bottle exchanges must be cleaned with hot water and soap before being used, and making it the duty of the local Boards of Health to enforce the provisions of this act.

Mr. BRADLEY—Allowing baseball and football to be played on any inclosed grounds in cities of the first class between 1 and 6 P. M. on Sundays.

Mr. BURNETT—Amending the domestic relations law so as to allow an orphan asylum or charitable institution to place children for adoption with some suitable person by an indenture in writing. The child must have been absolutely surrendered to the custody of the institution for a year preceding.

Mr. GRAHAM—Providing a confidential clerk to each of the Supreme Court Justices of the Appellate Division in the Second Department. Each clerk is to receive a salary of $2,000 a year, which is to be paid by the county.

Mr. WEEKES—Changing the Board of Claims into a court with jurisdiction to hear claims against the State without waiting for certification of such claims by the Legislature.

Mr. WEEKES—Requiring Loan Commissioners of the United States Deposit Fund to record mortgages made by them in the City of New York.

Mr. HILL—Amending the jury law so as to exempt proprietors, editors, and reporters of daily and weekly newspapers, and editors and correspondents of The Associated Press from duty.

Mr. WISSELL—Making the amendment to the New York charter passed last year relative to the construction of sewers in Brooklyn, and the payment of the expense by local assessment upon the property benefited, applicable to all the boroughs of the city.

Mr. NELSON—Providing for a Board of Pharmacy for New York, to examine all applicants for licenses or registration. It shall be unlawful for any person unless a registered pharmacist to prepare or dispense a prescription or a physician's prescription, or to dispense or sell at retail poisons or medicines, or to supervise or have charge of any pharmacy or store.

Mr. PHILLIPS—Providing that loan contracts made with a building and loan association, and all contracts for building loans, either with or without the sale of land, shall be filed in the County Clerk's office of the county where made, and properly indexed according to the borrower's name.

Mr. BRENNAN—Providing that hereafter the eleven City Magistrates of the Second Division of New York City shall be elected instead of appointed by the Mayor. The terms of office of the incumbents are extended from May 1, 1901, to Jan. 1, 1902.

Mr. DAVIS—Removing the limit on the appropriation of $2,500,000 for the erection of a public library in Bryant Park, New York City.

Mr. HARBURGER—Amending the Greater New York charter by providing that it shall be the duty of the proprietor, owner, agent, manager, or lessee of every hotel, which shall have accommodations for 100 guests or more, to provide on the outside of such building or buildings fire escapes or means of escape in case of fire.

Mr. HARBURGER—Providing for the licensing of persons by the State Controller who desire to engage in the business of loaning money on estates and legacies or purchasing the same, and requiring the procurer of each license to pay a fee of $1,000, and give bonds in the sum of $20,000.

Mr. BURNETT—Providing for the acquisition of lands in cities for the erection of Post Offices and other Government offices. Under its provisions the Government is authorized to acquire by condemnation, gift, or purchase land not exceeding two acres in extent.

INFORMATION ON BIRDS WANTED

State Museum Asks Co-operation of Those Interested.

ALBANY, Jan. 23.—The New York State Museum has issued a statement to those interested in ornithology. It requests the co-operation of those interested in securing information to be incorporated in a bulletin on the birds of New York.

The information desired consists of complete lists of the birds found in the various sections of the State, with notes on the comparative abundance of the different species, dates of arrival, time of nesting, singing period, facts relating to local distribution, effect of storms and severe weather on bird life, and the wet and dry season on the reproduction of species; notes on the food of birds at different seasons of the year and under different conditions, to determine the comparative benefit and injury done through the destruction of insects, &c.

WILL OF MRS. MARIE EICHLER.

Numerous Charitable Bequests and Legacies — Bulk of the Estate Goes to Two Nephews.

The will of Mrs. Marie Eichler of this city, the owner of the Eichler brewery, was offered for probate yesterday to the Surrogate of New York County by Ashbel P. Fitch, representing the executors, John C. Heintz and Jacob Seigel.

Mrs. Eichler, who died Dec. 14 last, left no children, and the beneficiaries under her will are mainly her nephews and nieces and those of her deceased husband, John Eichler. The estate is estimated to be worth at least $3,000,000.

To the Mayor and Council of Göllheim, Germany, Mrs. Eichler bequeaths $1,250 for the John and Marie Eichler Fund in that city; to the Home for Incurables, in this city, $2,000; to the Wartburg Orphans' Farm School of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, in the State of New York, $1,000; to the German Hospital and Dispensary, $3,000; to her executors in trust for the Training School for Nurses connected with the German Hospital and Dispensary, $1,000; to St. John's Lutheran Church, in East One Hundred and Sixty-ninth Street, $2,000; to St. Joseph's Home for Consumptives, in East One Hundred and Forty-third Street, $1,000; to the Lebanon Hospital, at Westchester Avenue and One Hundred and Fiftieth Street, $1,000; to the Mayor and Council of the City of Rothenburg-an-der-Tauber, in Germany, $4,000, in trust for the support and maintenance of the school at that place known as The John and Marie Eichler Kindergarten.

She also gives to every person employed by the John Eichler Brewing Company or in her own employment legacies as follows: Those employed for five years or more, $200; to those employed for four years and less than five years, $100; to those employed for three years and less than four years, $50, and to every other person so employed $25.

To her five nieces in this city and to a nephew Mrs. Eichler gives the silver and furnishings in her home, at One Hundred and Sixty-ninth Street and Fulton Avenue.

To her nephew, Jacob Seigel, she bequeaths the house and land at One Hundred and Sixty-ninth Street and Fulton Avenue, providing that within two years he shall pay to his sister, Minna Endemann, $25,000. Mr. Seigel also receives 225 shares of the capital stock of the John Eichler Brewing Company on the condition that within two years he shall pay to his sister, Minna Endemann, $75,000, and to the testator's sister and her four daughters $15,000 each.

To another nephew, John C. Heintz, Mrs. Eichler bequeaths 225 shares of the brewing company's capital stock. This bequest is on the condition, however, that within two years Heintz shall pay to his mother and four sisters $20,000 each. He must also set aside a trust fund of $30,000 for the benefit of Louisa V. Heintz, the daughter of the testator's nephew, Louis J. Heintz. Mr. Heintz also receives 75 more shares of the stock of the brewing company, provided that within two years he pays to Jacob Seigel the sum of $50,000 and to the testator's sister, Charlotte Ott, $25,000.

To Minna Endemann, a niece the testator bequeaths 35 shares of the capital stock of the brewing company, provided that within two years she shall pay to Margarethe Uhl $25,000. To the latter the testatrix also bequeaths $50,000 outright.

To her nephew, William Uhl, who lives in Germany, Mrs. Eichler leaves $100,000, and to each of the following nephews and nieces of her husband, all of whom live in Germany, she gives $75,000—Margarethe Hoffmann, Elsie Goldbrunner, Heinrich Hoffmann, Carl Hoffmann, Heinrich Berg, Sophie Glueck, and Fritz Rothberg. The residue of the estate is to be divided equally between Jacob Seigel and John C. Heintz.

The citation is not made returnable until March 20 next, for the reason that it will be necessary to serve it on the beneficiaries in Germany.

ALLEGED WORTHLESS CHECKS.

J. H. Maldon Charged with Drawing on an Exhausted Bank Account.

John H. Maldon, twenty-six years old, was held on two charges of passing worthless checks by Magistrate Hogan, in the Jefferson Market Police Court yesterday afternoon. He was committed, in default of bail, pending an examination to-morrow morning.

The complainants against Maldon are Samuel W. Martin, a restaurant keeper at Fortieth Street and Broadway, and Frederick Pitney, a livery stable keeper, who lives at the Metropolitan Hotel. Upon each of these complainants Maldon, it is alleged, passed checks for $20, which were returned marked "No funds." Maldon was arrested at the Grenoble Hotel, where he has been living for some time.

The police say that within the last month Maldon has passed fully twenty-five checks, for sums ranging from $20 to $100. It is said that Maldon, who was formerly a railroad clerk, inherited $20,000 two years ago from his father, who was a wealthy merchant in Vermont. He deposited most of the money in the Lincoln National Bank. Within a year, the police say, he had drawn and spent the whole amount, but he continued to draw checks on the bank as though possessed of unlimited means.

Fined for Befouling the Harbor.

Albert Randall, Captain of a tugboat, and Cornelius Brown, master of a dumping scow, who were recently convicted on complaint of Lieut. Commander John C. Frémont, United States Navy, Supervisor of New York Harbor, of dumping a scow loaded with cellar refuse in the East River off Fortieth Street, were yesterday fined $250 each by Judge Thomas, in the Criminal Branch of the United States Circuit Court. An appeal will be taken.

HEARD ABOUT TOWN.

"There was a time under Col. Hain," said the man who spends many hours a day traveling on the elevated roads, "when there was a sort of military discipline among the guards and conductors on the roads, and when it was a rarity to see a drunken man traveling in the cars. That discipline seems to have gone to the dogs now, however, and it is getting so that these nuisances are common in the extreme, especially on the Third Avenue line. A couple of days ago a man deliberately smoked a cigar stump he carried in his hand after he had taken his seat, and the big bully refused to desist after being spoken to by a number of passengers who were annoyed by the stench of the smoke in the close car. When the guard was spoken to all he did was to shrug his shoulders and ask: 'what can I do about it?' It is the same when a passenger protests because a lot of drunken loafers are admitted to the cars, much to the annoyance of men as well as women. Discipline is wholly relaxed, it seems, else the ticket sellers would refuse to sell tickets to these drunken brutes, just as they used to do when Col. Hain was so strict about these matters. They are little things, perhaps, but they go to show why the present management of the roads is so unpopular with many people."

***

"A peculiar combination that has struck me several times when I have been wandering about in the vicinity of Longacre Square," remarked the pedestrian who keeps his eyes open for the odd things of city life, "is the restaurant and undertaker's shop near Forty-third Street. Of course they are not exactly together, for the restaurant is one of those partially underground affairs, where one gets a cheap and a quick lunch. The undertaker's shop is on the floor above it. I should imagine getting a lunch there would be a gruesome sort of pleasure, particularly if they happened to be cracking ice in the undertaker's preparatory to packing the body of some unfortunate. Both affairs are of the open-all-night sort, but I presume the patrons are the sort of people to whom the incongruity of the situation does not appeal."

***

"People who frequently ask, as Shakespeare once did, 'What's in a name?' would have found a ready answer if they had sprung the question on the late James Pyle," said a man who was acquainted with him in the early years of his business life. Mr. Pyle's fortune, as is well known, was mainly accumulated through the manufacture of a washing powder. "Mr. Pyle had every faith in that powder of his," went on this friend, "but he had the hardest kind of work in introducing it because he could not find a proper name for it. Three separate times he engaged in the manufacture of the thing, only to meet with failure in his attempts to make the public take to it. Finally some one suggested to him the name of 'Pearline,' and after long thought that name was adopted and one more trial was made. Now, the powder remained exactly the same as it had always been, but when it was put out with this new name attached, presto! there came a change in the fortune of the maker, and the stuff began to sell until he was actually pressed for facilities with which to fill his orders. No one can tell why that name should have caught the public fancy so completely when others that seemed to be equally as good failed, even though as well advertised. There is the simple fact, and it was the name rather than the goods that made the fortune of the maker. There are hundreds of patent remedies and goods with merits that have failed solely because they did not have a name that happened to catch the public fancy, as any one familiar with the trade will tell you. The name is everything."

***

Strawberries from Florida came into the market with such a rush at the end of last week as to glut the market. The result was that the surplus supply had to be sold for what it would fetch, and the fruit got into the hands of the hawkers and was selling on the streets at 25 cents a basket yesterday, the baskets being of the sort that are ordinarily called quarts. Men who have been in the fruit trade for many years say that this is the first time that strawberries have ever been hawked about the streets of New York in the month of January.

***

"Men make a great fuss about what they have to endure while hanging to the straps of the surface cars," remarked a woman to one of a party that was accompanying her to the theatre last evening, "but I think we ladies have an even better cause of complaint of which men never think, and for which some of that sex are responsible. I am a sufferer from the annoyance this very minute." Then she stretched out one of her white-gloved hands for the inspection of her companion and disclosed a dirty mark across the back of the white kid that completely ruined its appearance. "How was it done? Why, by that man hanging to the strap right there. His overcoat, which has brushed across the glove and ruined it, is simply filthy, and as he swayed to the motion of the car it rubbed across the back of my glove before I had a chance to dodge it. I wonder why in the world men will be so shiftless and neglect to properly dust their clothes before they go out of doors with them!" This observing woman had solved a mystery for the members of her party, all of whom had had gloves soiled while riding in the cars and had never been able to find how it happened.

***

Pitifully small specimens of new potatoes from the Bermudas have appeared in the markets, much to the delight of the lovers of the tuber fresh from the ground. The big hotels and restaurants manage to get most of those of good size and fair flavor, but the average man who tries to buy them gets potatoes about the size of English walnuts, and decidedly tasteless. New potatoes of good size and quality will be here next month, say the dealers in these vegetables.

***

Hotel men are gossiping as to the future of the Victoria Hotel, which, it was stated, was to be remodeled and run by Theodore F. Walton, of more or less meteoric fame. It is talked about town that the plan to make Mr. Walton manager has miscarried in some way, and that he will not be the man selected to try and restore its popularity the once fashionable hostelry. One rumor has it that the manager will be a man from Philadelphia, who has been successful with an ultra-fashionable hotel there, while another places a Chicago man as the prospective manager. Still another rumor is that the manager will be a gentleman who has all through his hotel life been identified with the management of hotels at Summer and Winter resorts, and has had no metropolitan experience. All the hotel men are speculating as to the future of this caravansary, but none seems able to put his finger on the man who will try his fortunes in the establishment that was at one time one of the best-paying hotels in the city. It is generally considered to be a bit too far down town to ever again have the vogue it once had, yet no hotel man wants to see too able a rival at the head of affairs there, as it is a site that is convenient, and might be made a thorn in the side of the hotels further up town, in the hands of the right party.

***

Horsemen are talking about a bet that has been made as to the winner of the Kentucky Futurity, to be trotted in October next. The wager was made just before the close of 1899, the parties to it being Col. E. M. Graves, a Democratic politician of Connecticut, and owner of the three-year-old colt Altoaline, and Welch had been asked by W. W. O'Brien what sort of a chance he thought the colt would have to win the race, and he said it would probably be about 10,000 to 1 against his doing so. Thereupon O'Brien, who is a friend of the Colonel, and a sporty sort of a fellow, went to Graves and began chaffing him about his colt. Before they got through with it, O'Brien wagered $10,000 against $250 that Graves's horse would not win the race. The money was deposited, and the winner will get the whole, with whatever of interest it may earn before the bet is decided. Fred Hyde is to handle and train the colt.

***

That they teach something besides "the three R's" at the public school at the corner of Amsterdam Avenue and One Hundred and Fourth Street is shown by incidents that are of daily occurrence about there. Diagonally across the way from the school is a home for blind men. Inmates of the institution constantly wander about the streets for a breath of fresh air in good weather, sometimes alone and sometimes in couples, with no one with good eyes to guide them. When these afflicted men go out for their daily strolls about the time that the children are going to or coming from school, the little ones will leave their companions or their play, go to the blind men, take them by the hand, and lead them across the streets, and get them started for their walks all right. Then the children scamper away for their play. Which goes to show that the children are brought up in the right sort of way by their teachers, to whom at least a share of the praise is due. Such thoughtfulness is not natural to children.

LEGAL NOTES.

NEW QUESTION IN ELEVATED RAILROAD SUITS.—A new phase of the elevated railroad litigation in this city, differing in a marked degree from former cases in relation to the rights of abutting owners, has been passed upon by the Court of Appeals. In 1875 a ground lease was executed for fifty-seven years, divided into two periods, on unimproved property on the north side of Forty-second Street and on the east side of Depew Place, which separates those premises from the Grand Central Railroad station. The lease provided that at the expiration of the first period the rental for the second period might be fixed by arbitrators, who should "determine what would be a reasonable yearly rent for the piece of ground hereby demised during the next succeeding period of twenty-one years," which was accordingly done. The elevated railroad was erected in front of the premises during the first period of the term. The parties having been unable to agree in 1890 as to the rental to be paid from that date, the arbitrators who were appointed fixed the rental for the future term of twenty-one years upon all the demised premises at $15,000 a year. J. Frederick Kernochan, as trustee, brought suit to restrain the Manhattan Railway from maintaining or operating its road in East Forty-second Street, and to recover damages which plaintiff sustained to his abutting property, which was part of the middle portion of the plot subject to the ground lease referred to. The Special Term of the Supreme Court fixed the damages from loss of rental value since May 1, 1890, to the date of the trial at $5,666.66, and the value of the easement taken at $20,666.66. This decision, which was unanimously affirmed by the Appellate Division, is now sustained by the Court of Appeals, in an opinion by Judge Gray, Chief Judge Parker not sitting, and Judge O'Brien dissenting. It was contended on behalf of the railroad that the tenants, or lessees, were the only persons entitled to recover for any damage occasioned by its trespass during the continuance of their lease, and that therefore the award to the plaintiff of rental damages was erroneous. The Court of Appeals holds there is no principle of law that limits the number of actions which may be brought against a wrongdoer by those who have suffered from his acts. If the wrong is one committed upon the rights of the lessor of property by an injury done to the reversion, he may have his remedy. If it is one which diminishes the enjoyment of the tenant of the possession of the premises leased, he also may have his remedy. Neither litigant is the representative of the other in an action of trespass. The Court holds that it would be presumed that the arbitrators, in fixing the rental for the second period, took into account the presence of the road. In such a case the lessor might maintain an action against the company for damages caused by the reduced rental, as fixed by the arbitrators, in consequence of the road in front of the premises; and he might also recover the fee damages represented by the injury to the reversion, upon the theory that the structure was a permanent one and would remain in the street beyond the term of the lease.

***

DAMAGES FOR PROSPECTIVE PROFITS.—The referee in a suit brought by Charles Jones and another against the City of New York for breach of contract gave the plaintiffs judgment for the value of their services and materials down to the time when they ceased work, but refused damages for loss of profits on work not then done. The referee found as a fact that the plaintiffs had performed the contract on their part, until Deputy Controller Daly refused to pay an instalment of $4,535.51 for which a certificate had been made by the proper officers entitling the plaintiffs to payment; that in refusing payment the Deputy Controller said: "The contract was invalid, and that no other or further payments would or could be made thereunder." On appeal by the plaintiff, the First Appellate Division, in an opinion by Justice Barrett, has reversed the judgment, holding that allowance should have been made for loss of profits. A refusal to pay based upon the asserted invalidity of the contract went to the root of the contract, and was equivalent to an abandonment of it in its entirety. Under such circumstances the contractor was entitled to recover prospective profits.

***

PERSONAL SERVICES TO A DECEDENT.—Carrie Kuhn brought a proceeding under section 2,718 of the Code of Civil Procedure to recover for personal services rendered to Rosa Raab, deceased, the latter's executor, Charles Herrlich, having rejected her claim. The referee appointed to hear and determine the matter found that the services specified in the claim were rendered upon the understanding that Mrs. Raab would compensate Mrs. Kuhn for them. The Appellate Division, by Justice Barrett, has affirmed judgment entered upon the referee's report, except as to an allowance of costs against the executor. No certificate having been given that the payment of the claim was unreasonably resisted or neglected, it was held that no costs should be allowed. Besides, Mrs. Kuhn's original demand as presented to the executor was doubtful, and had been reduced from $1,300 to $992.50.

CAPT. DINSMORE'S TROUBLES.

Says the Sunlight of His Existence Went Out Entirely When His Third Wife Left Him.

The suit of Capt. John Dinsmore of Bayonne against Peter Rosenthal of 86 East Eighty-first Street, Bayonne, for damages for the alienation of the affections of Dinsmore's wife, occupied the attention of Judge Nevins and an audience that filled the court room of the Hudson County Circuit Court, Jersey City, yesterday. Capt. Dinsmore is about seventy years old. He served as a Captain in a Maine regiment in the civil war. His wife is many years his junior.

Capt. Dinsmore testified that he had been married twice before when he married Rosetti McPherson, his last wife. She left him May 7, 1896, three days after their marriage. Afterward he learned that she was keeping house for Rosenthal.

Capt. Dinsmore said he was born in Rome, N. Y., but he was not sure about the year. His memory was failing fast. "I have had so many troubles of late," he said, "and an old musket wound on the head pains me."

"Then your mind, body, and heart are affected by Rosenthal's conduct," said his counsel, Mr. Anderson.

"Yes, when she left me the sunlight of my existence went out."

On cross-examination by ex-Judge Hudspeth, Capt. Dinsmore said the sunlight had disappeared from his life twice before when his former wives died. "The rays came back, but now all is darkness," he added.

Capt. Dinsmore admitted that he had twice caused warrants to be issued for his wife's arrest because of his jealousy. One of the warrants was for his wife and Louis Kellogg. Kellogg and a woman were arrested, but to the surprise of Dinsmore the woman was not his wife.

Mrs. Dinsmore testified that she left her husband because of his abuse. She said she was obliged to work as a housekeeper to make a living. In November, after she had left Dinsmore she was sick and went to a hospital in Bayonne. Capt. Dinsmore went to the hospital and, looking at her through a window, shook his fist at her and said: "I'll get even with you yet."

Capt. Dinsmore gave her earrings, she said, which were imitations of diamonds and worth about 15 cents. The gold watch he gave her turned black.

"I say it was a gold watch," shouted Capt. Dinsmore.

Mrs. Dinsmore said that when she left the Captain she left everything that was "no good" behind. She didn't have the jewelry for this reason.

Rosenthal denied that he had induced Mrs. Dinsmore to leave her husband. Out of sympathy for her he had given her a position as janitress in one of his flats. His wife visited the flat once and then accused him of harboring Mrs. Dinsmore. "My wife brought suit against me for separate maintenance," said Rosenthal. "But we finally settled the matter, and I am now living happily with her."

Mrs. Ahearn, a sister of Mrs. Dinsmore, testified that the Captain and her sister boarded with her for a while, but the Captain never paid for their board.

Mrs. Dinsmore passed near her husband during the trial to speak to a lawyer.

"Perjurer!" said the Captain in a stage whisper.

"Go smother yourself, you old fool!" was the wife's answer.

The case will go on to-day.

Well-Known Blairstown Man Killed.

BELVIDERE, N. J., Jan. 23.—John Burke, a well-known citizen of Blairstown, met his death to-day by falling or being pushed from the second floor of a vacant building. He had been in company with a lot of fellows, and they had been drinking. Afterward they went to this building, and while there the accident occurred. Burke's friends are of the opinion that he was foully dealt with.

Significant . . .

That in all leading Hotels, Clubs, and Restaurants, in select Dining-circles everywhere, and in leading Hospitals—

Londonderry Lithia Water

Is found to be the popular Water for Table or Medicinal use.

Absolutely pure and Undefiled.

STILL OR CARBONATED, as desired.

Sold everywhere
At all Hotels and Clubs

Old Saratoga Whiskey

HOME LIFE INSURANCE BUILDING, 256 BROADWAY, NEW YORK
Sold by ACKER, MERRALL & CONDIT.

FRENCH REPUBLIC PROPERTY.

VICHY CELESTINS

A Natural Mineral Water
FOR
GOUT, RHEUMATISM, TORPID LIVER, DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION.

There is but one VICHY water, and that is the natural mineral water from the celebrated Vichy Springs, France.

VICHY is bottled at the Springs, under direct supervision of the French government, which guarantees genuineness and purity.

Known for centuries, and recommended by the highest medical authorities.

SO-CALLED VICHY—IN SYPHONS IS NOT VICHY.

Vichy Agency, 220 Broadway.

A Double Fabric

gives a healthful warmth.

Kotedsilk

is a new double fabric—pure silk on the finest cotton. The garments for men and women are attractive in color, perfect in fit and finish, non-irritating.

No need of packing them in camphor for the Summer; lay them in any drawer—moths won't eat them.

KOTEDSILK
TRADE MARK REGISTERED

On Every Garment.
KOTEDSILK UNDERWEAR CO., MILLBURY, MASS.,
And All Leading Stores.

ROBBED BY HIGHWAYMEN.

Staten Island Man Assaulted and His Money and Watch Taken.

John H. Stephens, twenty-five years of age, of Mariner's Harbor, S. I., while on his way home early yesterday morning was attacked by two highwaymen. He was seriously injured and robbed of $100 in cash and his gold watch and chain.

De Forest Belving, who lives on Van Pelt Avenue, was passing a vacant lot along Springfield Avenue when he discovered Stephens lying

BOARDERS WANTED.

51ST ST., 63 WEST.—Large and small rooms, with first-class board.

74TH ST., 25 WEST.—Desirable, sunny rooms, with board; references.

55TH ST., 50 WEST.—Small fourth-story sunny room; references; refinement.

PIANOS.

Established 1854.

GABLER

PIANOS.

To Rent or for Sale on Easy Terms. 214 to 224 EAST 23D STREET.

PIANO WANTED.

WILL PAY CASH FOR GOOD UPRIGHT. STATE MAKE, NUMBER, AND LOWEST PRICE. M. P., BOX 102 N. Y. TIMES OFFICE.

THE OPERA PIANO

New and elegant designs, also several slightly used WRITE FOR BARGAIN LIST.

Warerooms, Broadway, Cor. 47th St

INSTRUCTION.

FOR SELF-SUPPORTING YOUNG WOMEN CLASSES.

ART: Manual training, design, Modeling, Wood carving, Tadd system.

FREE HAND drawing, photo retouching, photo color, crayon, water color, sketch class.

BUSINESS TRAINING, Writing, Arithmetic, Typewriting.

TRAINING of attendants on the sick.

SEWING, graded system. DRESSMAKING, with or without chart. MILLINERY, embroidery.

Apply YOUNG WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN ASS'N, 7 East 15th St. 9 A. M. to 5 P. M. 7 to 9 P. M. Saturday afternoons and evenings excepted.

LANGUAGES.

The Berlitz School of Languages, 1,122 Broadway, New York. 73 Court St., B'klyn. Special advantages for Visitors to Paris Exposition.

INSTRUCTION—BUSINESS COLLEGES.

MODERN BUSINESS CONDITIONS DEmand young blood thoroughly conversant with those conditions. The PACKARD SCHOOL keeps in closest touch with the most advanced thought on all commercial lines. Enter now. The PACKARD COMMERCIAL SCHOOL, 101 E. 23d St.

WINTER RESORTS.

VIRGINIA HOT SPRINGS. ON CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RY. A DISTINCTIVE HEALTH RESORT, combining a perfect Fall climate, an elevation of 2,500 feet, picturesque mountain surroundings, and HOTEL OF THE HIGHEST CLASS.

The fine course of the Virginia Hot Springs Golf Club adjoins the hotel. Through compartment cars from New York; Excursion tickets at C. & O. Offices, 362 and 1,354 Broadway, and offices Pennsylvania R. R., New York; also offices N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R., throughout New England.

FRED STERRY, Manager. Hot Springs, Bath Co., Va.

THE LAKEWOOD

Lakewood, New Jersey.

M. C. WENTWORTH of Wentworth Hall, Jackson, White Mts., N. H., Lessee and Manager.

JAMES N. BERRY, formerly of Laurel-in-the-Pines, Assistant Manager.

SPORTING GOODS.

GOLF SCHOOL.

INDOOR LESSONS BY

PATRICK BROS.

An inspection of our Hand Made Clubs, Caddy Bags, Requisites, and Novelties is invited.

CLUBS DUPLICATED.

OLD BALLS REMODELED OR EXCHANGED.

We Ask You to "Try a Patrick Golf Club."

OUR SPECIAL GOLF BALLS,

$2.50 Doz.

'Phone, 2649 38th St. 3 East 86th St., City.

DRY GOODS.

THE DUCHESS AND ALBERT GLOVES FIT to perfection, wear longer than any other gloves, cost less. JAMMES, 4 West 27th St., near 5th Av.

SITUATIONS WANTED—FEMALES.

Chambermaids.

CHAMBERMAID—HOUSEWORK.—By young French couple; wife chambermaid; good seamstress; husband general housework and waiting; best reference. M., 116 West 26th St., ground floor.

CHAMBERMAID.—By respectable woman as first-class chambermaid in a private family; first-class reference; no objection to go to the country. Can be seen, or address, for two days, at 22 Varick St.

CHAMBERMAID.—As chambermaid in a private family; best city reference. 318 East 32d St.

Cooks.

COOK.—By a first-class cook; English; French in many branches; excellent bread, pastry; also soup, entrees, and desserts; good city reference. M. V., Box 138, Times Office.

COOK—BUTLER.—By French couple; wife good cook; husband butler; city reference. 116 West 26th St., ground floor.

COOK.—By the day; respectable woman; willing to clean; references. Carthar, 1,056 3d Av., two flights.

COOK.—By good cook; for small family; city references. 201 Lexington Av.

Dressmakers.

DRESSMAKER, &c.—By first-class children's dress and cloak maker; years with Thurn, 5th Av.; reduced prices during January; will call at ladies' residences for measurement. Mrs. Williams, 147 East 39th St.

DRESSMAKER.—By experienced dressmaker by day; first-class references; reduced rates for February. C. L., 844 3d Av.

Governesses.

GOVERNESS.—By a refined German girl as nursery governess; willing to travel; has first-class reference. Call afternoon, 130 West 83d St.

Housekeepers.

HOUSEKEEPER.—By respectable young woman as working housekeeper in bachelor's or widower's home; understands cooking, marketing; capable of taking full charge; highest personal reference. E. W., Box 281, 1,269 Broadway.

Lady's Maids.

LADY'S MAID.—French hairdresser; first-class seamstress; one lady preferred; best reference. M. M., Box 283 1,269 Broadway.

MAID.—Assist with chambermork; six years' reference from last employer. Call Wednesday at 8 East 57th St.

Seamstresses.

SEAMSTRESS.—By a thoroughly competent seamstress; does all kinds of family sewing, finishing dresses, repairing, alterations; also curtains and cushions. Hood, 186 West 101st St.

Miscellaneous.

ACCOUNTANT.—By first-class accountant; few hours' evening engagement in a confidential capacity; highest references. Security, Box 280 Times Up-town Office, 1,260 Broadway.

STENOGRAPHER and TYPEWRITER.—(Calligraph;) experienced; salary, $9. S., Box 163 Times Office.

UPHOLSTRESS.—Curtains, Portieres, and all kinds of fancy articles, done; city or country; best references. Mme. Thiercel, 70 West 142d St.

SITUATIONS WANTED—MALES.

Coachmen.

COACHMAN.—By young man; first-class family coachman; strictly sober; economical; careful, stylish driver; 10 years' reference from last employer. J. M., 114 East 66th St., private stable.

Useful Men.

USEFUL MAN.—As useful man around private house; no waiting; sleep home; Protestant. William McMahon, 224 West 18th St.

HELP WANTED—FEMALES.

WANTED—Competent German cook in small private family. Call between 8 and 2 o'clock, 110 West 57th St. Car fare paid.

HELP WANTED—MALES.

BOY WANTED IN DRY GOODS COMMISSION house; a chance for advancement if capable; must be of good family. Address F. O., Box 1,986.

WANTED—Machinists, turners, and fitters for general machine work; Germans preferred. Call, 325 Bowery.

IN THE BOWLING ALLEYS.

In the North Side National League last night, the North New York, Belvidere, and Knickerbocker teams each won and lost a game. The Knickerbockers made the best average of the night and should have won two games. The team, however, missed a number of easy spares in the second game. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

North New York—Luhrman, 163; Cyreaks, 145; Meyer, 201; Stelloh, 164; Kroos, 174. Total, 867.
Belvidere—Hotaling, 156; Newkirk, 194; Hunken, 169; Rehbein, 156; Lockwood, 141. Total, 815.

SECOND GAME.

Belvidere—Hotaling, 161; Newkirk, 164; Hunken, 163; Rehbein, 192; Lockwood, 182. Total, 862.
Knickerbocker—Snyder, 151; Le Forest, 161; Engelking, 177; Loehr, 182; Meyer, 158. Total, 829.

THIRD GAME.

Knickerbocker—Snyder, 168; Le Forest, 182; Engelking, 196; Loehr, 186; Meyer, 180. Total, 855.
North New York—Luhrman, 161; Cyreaks, 178; Meyer, 142; Stelloh, 168; Kroos, 189. Total, 838.

The Lancashire Company won two close games in the Fire Insurance League at Reid's alleys last night. In the second game its team won from the Queen representatives by 22 pins. The third game proved the best of the tourney, the Lancashire team winning from the Underwriters by 1 pin. The Queen bowlers won the first game from the Underwriters. Scores:

—FIRST GAME.

Queen—Doubleday, 132; Rea, 112; Provost, 146; Galloway, 152; Burdick, 132. Total, 674.
Underwriters'—Clark, 127; Bates, 97; Enderley, 129; Bock, 106; Block, 152. Total, 611.

SECOND GAME.

Queen—Doubleday, 184; Rea, 148; Provost, 143; Galloway, 135; Burdick, 122. Total, 732.
Lancashire—Haeflein, 156; Marks, 115; E. S. Munroe, 129; R. A. Munroe, 175; Wannemacher, 170. Total, 754.

THIRD GAME.

Lancashire—Haeflein, 135; Marks, 122; E. S. Munroe, 102; R. A. Munroe, 170; Wannemacher, 139. Total, 668.
Underwriters'—Clark, 118; Rasmussen, 142; Enderley, 145; Bates, 97; Block, 165. Total, 667.

The Empires bowled two good scores in the Columbia League last night, defeating the Columbias and Boulevards. The tournament will close to-morrow night. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Empire—Shiman, 170; Howell, 177; Linden, 185; Young, 134; Arnold, 189. Total, 875.
Columbia—Johansmeyer, 149; Le Beau, 211; Koster, 157; Hall, 163; Guillaume, 170. Total, 850.

SECOND GAME.

Columbia—Johansmeyer, 198; Le Beau, 190; Koster, 157; Hall, 97; Guillaume, 171. Total, 813.
Boulevard—Dumble, 179; Howard, 143; Fuller, 112; Knaus, 161; Vetter, 171. Total, 766.

THIRD GAME.

Empire—Shiman, 173; Howell, 178; Sohl, 192; Young, 166; Arnold, 149. Total, 858.
Boulevard—Dumble, 167; Howard, 146; Fuller, 161; Knaus, 141; Vetter, 150. Total, 765.

The Eleventh Ward Bank did not respond with a complete team in the Bank Clerks' League at Reid's alleys last night. Only three members of the team were present. The Chemical National Bank bowlers won two games. They made a splendid showing in their game with Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Chemical National—G. Whitehead, 185; Wray, 129; E. Whitehead, 105; Hoyt, 139; E. Smith, 154. Total, 653.
Eleventh Ward—Ewing, 98; Nestell, 139; Mehling, 170. Total, 407.

SECOND GAME.

Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co.—Smith, 111; Sacker, 107; Watson, 171; Wagner, 124; Hill, 170. Total, 743.
Eleventh Ward—Ewing, 101; Nestell, 99; Mehling, 132. Total, 332.

THIRD GAME.

Chemical National—G. Whitehead, 194; Wray, 179; E. Whitehead, 167; Hoyt, 113; E. Smith, 204. Total, 857.
Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co.—Smith, 90; Sacker, 101; Watson, 151; Wagner, 153; Hill, 168. Total, 723.

Each of the competing teams in the Harlem League last night won and lost a game. The Morris Wheelmen rolled far below their average in the first game, and were beaten by the Friendships. In the second game the Morris Wheelmen bowled well, defeating the Grove Hills by a score of 907 to 883. The Grove Hills were victors in the third game. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Morris Wheelmen—MacDonald, 160; Thompson, 158; O'Neill, 157; Schwager, 137; Gibson, 189. Total, 796.
Friendship—Hart, 174; Gerhardt, 155; Jarchow, 179; McDowell, 153; Botts, 177. Total, 830.

SECOND GAME.

Morris Wheelmen—Gibson, 196; Thompson, 169; O'Neill, 160; Schwager, 168; MacDonald, 214. Total, 907.
Grove Hill—Potts, 135; Robitzek, 176; Sowel, 163; Voigt, 188; Schleiger, 201. Total, 883.

THIRD GAME.

Grove Hill—Potts, 193; Robitzek, 183; Sowel, 179; Voigt, 170; Schleiger, 175. Total, 850.
Friendship—Hart, 174; Gerhardt, 154; Jarchow, 161; McDowell, 121; Botts, 104. Total, 808.

The Independent, Clio, and Freundshaft Clubs bowled yesterday in the tournament of the Brooklyn Arlington Ladies' League. Clio Club won two games and the Independent Club won and lost. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Independent—Mrs. Sharpe, 117; Mrs. Dieden, 114; Mrs. Kieselback, 103; Mrs. Blohm, 84; Mrs. Vondran, 113. Total, 531.
Freundschaft—Mrs. Rust, 74; Mrs. Baist, 102; Mrs. Feldman, 124; Mrs. Hustedt, 63; Mrs. Brunjes, 98. Total, 461.

SECOND GAME.

Clio—Mrs. Steltz, 107; Mrs. Fink, 137; Mrs. Koffler, 154; Mrs. Jacob, 160; Mrs. Jud, 134. Total, 692.
Freundschaft—Mrs. Rust, 86; Mrs. Baist, 98; Mrs. Feldman, 78; Mrs. Hustedt, 89; Mrs. Brunjes, 113. Total, 444.

THIRD GAME.

Clio—Mrs. Steltz, 101; Mrs. Fink, 110; Mrs. Koffler, 124; Mrs. Jacob, 129; Mrs. Jud, 158. Total, 628.
Independent—Mrs. Sharpe, 101; Mrs. Dieden, 107; Mrs. Kieselback, 100; Mrs. Blohm, 124; Mrs. Vondran, 140. Total, 572.

The Alcos scored two easy victories in the Arlington National tourney last night. The Manhattan team were victorious in one game, and the Holschens were beaten in two games. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Manhattan—Wiltse, 130; Thode, 157; White, 157; Steinmetz, 153; Witt, 148. Total, 745.
Holschen—Martin, 120; Luhrs, 143; Hauschild, 125; Hay, 153; Jantzen, 143. Total, 684.

SECOND GAME.

Alco—Dewes, 145; F. Klucken, 154; Jackson, 120; Rossbach, 163; A. Klucken, 158. Total, 740.
Holschen—Martin, 158; Luhrs, 118; Hauschild, 122; Hay, 131; Jantzen, 127. Total, 656.

THIRD GAME.

Alco—Dewes, 193; F. Klucken, 149; Jackson, 200; Rossbach, 151; A. Klucken, 185. Total, 878.
Manhattan—Wiltse, 141; Thode, 130; White, 152; Steinmetz, 146; Witt, 154. Total, 723.

Only one score of 800 was turned out in Section No. 2 of the United Bowling Clubs tournament at the Arcade alleys last night. The Gothams made 831 in the second game, defeating the Auranias. In the previous game the Gothams failed to roll up to the 700 mark, and were easily beaten by the Cyclones. The latter defeated the Auranias in the final game. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Cyclone—A. Boettjer, 165; Miller, 144; Setzer, 151; C. Boettjer, 142; Prior, 118. Total, 720.
Gotham—Sowade, 121; Young, 143; Kappel, 106; King, 143; Lehmann, 106. Total, 679.

SECOND GAME.

Gotham—Sowade, 139; Young, 137; Kappel, 201; King, 220; Lehmann, 134. Total, 831.
Aurania—Steil, 136; Eckhardt, 141; Laig, 114; Krug, 153; Muller, 109. Total, 713.

THIRD GAME.

Cyclone—A. Boettjer, 203; Miller, 180; Setzer, 139; C. Boettjer, 141; Prior, 133. Total, 796.
Aurania—Steil, 136; Eckhardt, 122; Laig, 163; Krug, 182; Muller, 165. Total, 720.

Only four players of the Indian Cycle Club put in an appearance in the first game in the Associated Cycle Clubs of Long Island tournament, Class A, last night, on the Elephant Club alleys. Nassau Wheelmen had, therefore, no trouble in winning the first game. Orient Wheelmen won the next two games. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Nassau Wheelmen—C. Teare, 125; Hughes, 142; Nichols, 110; T. Teare, 122; Sparks, 145. Total, 644.
Indian Cycle Club—Littman, 162; Flegenheimer, 113; Herbst, 140. Total, 415.

SECOND GAME.

Orient Wheelmen—Mullins, 181; Burrows, 160; Moller, 155; Smith, 107; Meht, 167. Total, 820.
Indian Cycle Club—Littman, 132; Flegenheimer, 95; Lampe, 82; Leaventhall, 113; Herbst, 134. Total, 556.

THIRD GAME.

Orient Wheelmen—Mullins, 159; Burrows, 166; Moller, 135; Smith, 160; Meht, 146. Total, 765.
Nassau Wheelmen—C. Teare, 164; Hughes, 150; Nichols, 122; T. Teare, 117; Sparks, 181. Total, 734.

Welcome Council moved out of last place last night in the Brooklyn Royal Arcanum tournament by defeating Ridgewood Council. Gramercy Council is now the tail-ender. Fort Greene Council won two games and Ridgewood Council lost twice. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Fort Greene Council—Wallace, 145; Horton, 117; Snow, 130; Diehl, 161; Otis, 160. Total, 722.
Ridgewood Council—Van Wyck, 123; Lister, 118; Lewis, 117; Brown, 128; Mayer, 150. Total, 636.

SECOND GAME.

Welcome Council—H. Wyant, 180; F. Wydnt, 144; Roscoe, 114; Grosch, 170; Peters, 196. Total, 804.
Ridgewood Council—Van Wyck, 136; Lister, 115; Lewis, 132; Brown, 102; Mayer, 125. Total, 610.

THIRD GAME.

Fort Greene Council—Snow, 169; Wallace, 168; Horton, 164; Diehl, 188; Otis, 180. Total, 859.
Welcome Council—H. Wyant, 121; F. Wyant, 140; Roscoe, 129; Grosch, 189; Peters, 126. Total, 705.

The Doolittle team of Hoboken carried off the honors in the American National Tourney last night, defeating the Lotus and Monarch teams. Scores:

FIRST GAME.

Doolittle—Wright, 189; Apmann, 198; Connolly, 157; Duke, 168; Coffman, 170. Total, 882.
Lotus—W. Gerdes, 179; Warmuth, 164; Modersohn, 135; Rehm, 165; Boemmermann, 158. Total, 796.

SECOND GAME.

Monarch—Krominga, 182; Walters, 213; Keppler, 168; Cadieu, 164; Maass, 181. Total, 908.
Lotus—W. Gerdes, 200; Warmuth, 160; Modersohn, 182; Rehm, 206; Boemmermann, 134. Total, 882.

THIRD GAME.

Doolittle—Wright, 188; Apmann, 155; Duke, 188; Gray, 172; Coffman, 134. Total, 837.
Monarch—Krominga, 140; Walters, 151; Keppler, 172; Cadieu, 162; Maass, 188. Total, 813.

Tournament Games To-day.

North Side National League—Hooker, Rosedale, Central.
Athletic League—Roseville A. A. vs. Jersey City Club, at Jersey City.
Archdiocesan Union—Holy Cross No. 1, Leo, Harlem Catholic Club.
Morning Newspaper League—The Herald vs. The Tribune.
Royal Arcanum League—New York No. 2, Stanley, Colonial.
American National—Empire, Germania, Fidelia.
Arlington National—Homestead, Amity, Linwood.
Life Insurance League—Germania, Metropolitan, Mutual Benefit of Newark.
Harlem League—Cyclone, Audubon, Boulevard.
Brooklyn Royal Arcanum League—Fraternity, Fulton, Peirce.
Brooklyn Royal Arcanum Sub League—Brooklyn, Fern, Lefferts.

AT THE BICYCLE SHOW.

The Count and Countess de Castellane Among the Visitors.

Madison Square Garden was thronged yesterday with visitors to the automobile and bicycle exhibition. Among the distinguished visitors were the Count and Countess de Castellane, Miss Helen Gould, and other members of the Gould family. There was excellent music by Prof. D'Aquin's band of fifty pieces. A visitor who attracted much attention was Arthur A. Zimmerman, the ex-champion bicycle rider.

Undoubtedly the greatest interest centres in the exhibit of automobiles. The sales of automobiles and the orders placed for vehicles are said to greatly exceed expectation. Among the purchasers yesterday were T. B. Lasher of New Haven and Peter Doelger of this city. What might be termed a mechanical horse can be seen at one of the stands. It is a device to take the place of front wheels, and is adaptable to any carriage. The gasoline motor of the other machinery may be placed within this apparatus, and a simple method permits its adjustment to any style of vehicle. It is a French invention.

SCHAEFER THE WINNER.

He Makes 3,000 at Billiards to 1,412 by Morningstar.

Jacob Schaefer reduced Ora Morningstar's lead in their billiard match yesterday afternoon, at the former's academy, and won the game last night by 88 points. The men started the game Jan. 15, and since that time Schaefer has attempted to play 400 points a day to Morningstar's 200, his final total being 3,000 to Morningstar's 1,412. Schaefer, who had been playing in poor form for the last two or three days, recovered his stroke and finished the afternoon session with an unfinished run of 168, made by deft nursing. In the evening he added 29 more to this, making a total of 194. His opponent played his usual steady game. Schaefer made an average of 18 138-159 for the match, while Morningstar made 8 140-159. The score last night:

Schaefer—3 42 2 45 194 40 14 16 42 53 1 2 1. Total, 461. Average, 35 6-13. Grand total, 3,000. Grand average, 18 138-159.
Morningstar—1 13 17 7 19 2 0 1 5 0 8 11 28. Total, 112. Average, 9 4-12. Grand total, 1,412. Grand average, 8 140-159.

GEORGE LOW WINS AT GOLF.

Special to The New York Times.

MAGNOLIA SPRINGS, Fla., Jan. 23.—Play between George Low and Harry Rawlings in the first eighteen holes of the finals for first prize was much closer than expected. At the end of the first round Low was ahead by one hole, five of the second nine holes were halved, and Low could only bring his score to one up; in fact, neither was ahead more than one hole until the last round. At the close of the third round the count was even, the tenth and eleventh holes went to Low, the twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth, and fifteenth were halved, and Low captured the sixteenth, making him the winner of the $100 purse, in a well-fought battle over thirty-six holes.

In the race for the consolation cup, Isaac Brereton met Barnett, and Servos played Col. Gillespie. After the start Barnett was called to Jacksonville by telegram, thus defaulting to his opponent, Brereton. Servos defeated Gillespie by four up and three to play. Brereton gave Servos a close rub in the finals on the sixteenth hole. Brereton was one up, but Servos got the last two in three each, capturing the purse of $25 by one up.

After the driving contest to-morrow the players will leave for Tampa, where a tournament opens Thursday.

Golf at St. Augustine.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Jan. 23.—In a challenge game on the Country Club links this afternoon Clayton Dixon of the University of Pennsylvania team defeated F. L. Champlin of the Chicago Athletic Club by 3 up, the winner giving the Western player a handicap of 18.

San Francisco Races.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—Oakland results:

FIRST RACE.—Five furlongs, selling. Momentum, 144 pounds, (Jenkins,) 3 to 1, won; Duke of York II., 141, (Thorpe,) 12 to 1, second; Strongoli, 141, (Conley,) 3 to 1, third. Time—1:02. Mainstay, Storm King, Almoner, Tammany, Shellac, and Jael also ran. Greyhurst was left at the post.

SECOND RACE.—Futurity course, maidens, selling. Redwald, 110 pounds, (Spencer,) 5 to 2, won; J. V. Hays, 108, (E. Jones,) 6 to 1, second; Coming Event, 103, (Kiley,) 6 to 1, third. Time—1:12⅘. Hipponax, Bernadetta, Sinuoso, Beautiful Bill, Miss Vera, Caesar Young, Leipzig, and Tom Sharkey also ran.

THIRD RACE.—Six furlongs, selling. Revanna, 102 pounds, (Jenkins,) 5 to 2, won; Tiburon, 99, (Ross,) 8 to 5, second; Good Hope, 98, (T. Walsh,) 2 to 1, third. Time—1:13⅘. Pompino, Melkarth, Brown Prince, and Poor Lands also ran.

FOURTH RACE.—Seven furlongs, selling. Gauntlet, 103 pounds, (Bullman,) even, won; Montallade, 109, (T. Walsh,) 3 to 1, second; White Comb, 109, (E. Jones,) 5 to 1, third. Time—1:27⅘. Yule, Alicia, Hohenlohe, Terrens, Dr. Marks, and Lost Girl also ran.

FIFTH RACE.—One mile, selling. Silver Tone, 105, (Bullman,) 6 to 1, won; Wyoming, 106, (T. Walsh,) 2 to 1, second; Torbio, 106, (Jenkins,) 8 to 1, third. Time—1:40⅘. Horton, Don Luis, Merry Boy, and Rachael C. also ran.

SIXTH RACE.—Six furlongs. Sly, 115 pounds, (Bullman,) 8 to 1, won; Afamada, 107, (T. Walsh,) 8 to 5, second; Snips, 98, (Henry,) 100 to 1, third. Time—1:13. Harry Thoburn, Amasa, and High Hoe also ran.

Seventh Regiment Shooting.

The shooting in the Edward Kemp and the Col. Emmons Clark trophy matches last night at the Seventh Regiment Armory was done by the teams from Company F. The best scores were made by Sergt. C. L. Comfort and Lieut. T. C. Wisnall, who each made 47 in the ten trials allowed them. The score in the Kemp match, while fairly good, is under that of Company B. As the scores stand a substitution of the seven first men in the Clark match for the seven last men in the Kemp would have placed the Company F men in the lead for the Kemp Trophy. The full score for the Kemp Trophy was 1,048 and the total score of both teams 1,996.

A Trophy for Hurling Clubs.

At an open house of the Greater New York Irish Athletic Club last night James R. Keane presented a cup to be known as the "Keane Gaelic Hurling Trophy." The cup is more than two feet in height and rests on an ebony base. Several hurling clubs have already been formed to compete for the trophy. Celtic Park, at Laurel Hill, Long Island City, is being put in shape, and as soon as suitable weather arrives games will be held there on Sundays. The cup will be held only by a team winning two years in succession.

Hockey Game in Brooklyn.

The Skating Club of Brooklyn hockey team and the team of the First Naval Battalion of Manhattan played a league championship match last night at the Clermont Avenue Rink, Brooklyn. The sailors were defeated in a hotly contested game by 4 goals to 2.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

New York City.

JAMES CLARKE.—James Clarke, builder, of 223 West Thirty-sixth Street, made an assignment yesterday to Patrick A. Geoghegan, without preference. Two mechanics' liens were recently filed against James Clarke on buildings at 257 and 259 West Thirty-sixth Street.

EDWARD N. COOK.—Judgment for $19,864 was entered yesterday against Edward N. Cook in favor of Theodore W. Myers & Co., stock brokers, for balance due for money advanced in stock operations. They alleged that on June 23, 1898, they expended $48,000 in taking up for his account 400 shares of stock of the Eastern Elevator Company and 300 shares of Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company, and afterward they received $30,000 for the St. Paul stock. He was served with the summons at 40 West Eighty-seventh Street.

B. GOLDBERG & SONS.—Deputy Sheriff Radley has received an attachment against B. Goldberg & Sons, manufacturers of clothing at 121 to 125 East Broadway, for $398 in favor of Louis Rosenberg for merchandise sold to the firm. The attachment was obtained on the ground that they had disposed of their property. It was alleged that since Dec. 23 they have been systematically disposing of their property; that their place of business is closed up, and that they refused to pay the amount due to Mr. Rosenberg. The partnership was composed of B. Goldberg and three sons, who had been in business together about a year. The senior partner was previously a contracting tailor. The Sheriff served the attachment on a storage warehouse, where it was thought there might be some goods in storage. The trade estimates the firm's liabilities at $5,000.

Out of Town.

GUSTAVE F. MILLER.—Gustave F. Miller, a real estate dealer at Buffalo, has been adjudged a bankrupt. His liabilities are given as $72,651.10, and he has no assets. Most of his debts are on notes and bonds issued to local houses.

NORTHCOTT WARMING AND VENTILATING COMPANY.—Former County Clerk Charles A. Pulford has been appointed receiver of the Northcott Warming and Ventilating Company at Elmira, N. Y. The petition of the company for voluntary dissolution has been granted by Justice Lyon of Binghamton. The company at one time old an extensive business in all parts of the United States, and was the successor of the Smead & Northcott Company.

PETITIONS IN BANKRUPTCY.

E. C. VAN HOUTEN.—Edward C. Van Houten of South Nyack, has filed a petition in bankruptcy here, with liabilities $9,608 and no assets.

HERBERT E. DENNISON.—Herbert E. Dennison of Boston, salesman, filed a petition in bankruptcy there, with liabilities of $174,215 and assets of $1,336.

JOSEPH SPELLY.—Joseph Spelly, manager, at Newburg, has filed a petition in bankruptcy here, with liabilities of $1,119 to two creditors for whisky and rent, and no assets.

EDWARD W. DODGE.—Among the petitions in bankruptcy filed yesterday at Boston was that of Edward W. Dodge of Everett, clerk, with liabilities of $180,442 and assets of $220.

A. HAMMEL.—Adolph Hammel, residing at Suffern, N. Y., has filed a petition in bankruptcy here, with liabilities $4,743 and no assets except a burial plot at Paterson, N. J., valued at $150.

W. J. HOLMES.—William J. Holmes of Lowerre Station has filed a petition in bankruptcy here, with liabilities $21,109 and no assets. He was formerly a hay merchant at 404 Eleventh Avenue, this city, and made an assignment on March 6, 1896. The assets realized $24,000, and creditors were paid a dividend of 48 per cent.

JOAQUIN LLERA.—Joaquin Llera, export commission merchant at 106 Wall Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities $39,995 and no assets. Mr. Llera has been in the Cuban trade since 1870, and made an assignment on Sept. 15, 1894, to Samuel E. Duffey, the schedules showing nominal assets $26,835. The largest creditors are Coro Quesada & Co., $14,048.

D. HIRSCHBERG & BROTHER.—A meeting of the creditors of D. Hirschberg & Brother, importers of fancy goods at 450 Broadway, was held yesterday of the office of Referee in Bankruptcy Stanley W. Dexter, at 71 Broadway, and Albert Sanders was elected trustee. He was appointed receiver in this case in November last. The liabilities are $100,658 and nominal assets $56,400.

NORMAN H. EVANS.—Norman H. Evans, who resides in Brooklyn, and in business at Tarrytown, has filed a petition in bankruptcy here, with liabilities of $19,243 and no assets. He was formerly a manufacturer of silk hats from 1883 to 1893 as Miller & Evans, at 56 Prince Street, and in June, 1893, he gave a bill of sale of the business to Frederick H. Evans to secure the latter for $6,791, and the assets realized $424.

H. W. BRACKETT.—Henry W. Brackett, residing at 123 West Forty-fourth Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities $27,260 and no assets. The debts were contracted in the past eight years in this city, Boston, and Chicago. Among the creditors are the Auditorium Hotel Company of Chicago, $676, for rent of rooms, and the Commercial Loan and Trust Company of Chicago $5,000 secured by 2,100 shares of stock of the American Fire Extinguishing Company, and Bruce & Marine of this city, $2,927, balance due on stock transactions. Mr. Brackett was formerly in business in Chicago, and was principally interested in the American Fire Extinguishing Company.

IGNATZ NICHTHAUSER.—Ignatz Nichthauser, furrier at 32 West Houston Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy to have the firm composed of himself and Abraham Vorzimmer, under the style of Ignatz Nichthauser declared bankrupt. The firm's liabilities are $3,971, and he alleges that Mr. Vorzimmer has liabilities of $650, and refuses to join in the petition; also that the latter has kept himself concealed and absent from the place of business since Jan. 6, and has concealed or removed, or permitted to be concealed or removed, a large amount of property belonging to the firm. Mr. Nichthauser estimates the assets at $2,846, consisting of merchandise $2,200, fixtures $100, accounts $546.

Sheriff in Industrial Exchange.

The Industrial Exchange went out of business yesterday when the Sheriff took possession of the effects to satisfy a judgment of $14 in favor of the General Electric Company. The Exchange occupied quarters on the ground floor of the New Street side of the Edison Building. It had its origin in the new Mining Exchange, which started after the old Mining Exchange came to grief some four or five years ago.

Judgments.

The following judgments were filed yesterday, the first name being that of the debtor:

ADAMSON, Samuel J.—A. Bracco	$138
ATKINS, Joseph—M. Ginsberg	61
AUBREY, Charles W., and Ezra Goodspeed—F. H. Leggett and others	136
BIDDISCOMB,, Alice M., administratrix—A. J. Cameron and another, costs	111
BLUMENTHAL, Babette — Manhattan Brick and Terra Cotta Company	726
BRAY, James—Greenwich Insurance Company of New York, costs	24
BUHRER, Oscar—A. Jacob	34
BROWNE, Helen E.—E. Worth	253
BOYNTON, George R.—R. F. Knoedler and others	225
BOYNTON, George R.—Thomas A. Wilmurt, Jr., and another	101
COOK, Edward N.—Theodore W. Myers and another	19,864
CLOUGH, Obediah A.—George W. Carson	742
CAVANATO, James C.—Max Mosson and another	121
CORIELL, E. Edward—Peter Barry	324
CRAWFORD, George—John Goodwin	131
DIAMOND, Louis—Adams Brothers Company	264
EBERLE, William H.—James Barker	103
FARQUHAR, John B.—New Commercial Club of New York	118
GUNDN, Clement—John L. Hamilton and others	101
HACKETT, Mary—J. J. Bellman, executor, &c.	36
HEIMSOTH, Louis, administratrix, &c.—Henry Elias Brewing Company	9,589
HUMPHREY, George L.—Sadie C. Humphrey, costs	168
HORTON, John W., and William M. Bump—F. H. Leggett and others	63
JACOBS, Michael, and Cornelius H. Tallman—M. Bloom	513
JUCHEM, Philip—Jay C. Guggenheimer	278
KAPLAN, Abraham J.—G. W. Archer, trustee	183
KALMAN, Harry—Jacob Pirk	32
LOHMAN, Henry G.—F. W. Meeker and others	562
LUTZ, Louis—Eichler Brewing Company	129
LAUGHLIN, George H.—F. McCarton	1,026
MILLER, Isaac—L. Rosenberg	283
MOOREHOUSE, George H.—J. Wanamaker and others	78
METZ, Otto—C. C. Orr and others	509
MARTIN, William—U. T. Hungerford Brass and Copper Company	511
MACK, Jane—Charles D. Durkee & Co	37
MAGNUSSON, Theodore—Aspell & Co	92
McFADDEN, Samuel—H. F. Campbell and others, costs	132
McQUADE, Francis P.—M. L. Jardine	166
NAEGLI, Charles—Ronald F. Knoedler and others	135
PICKHARDT, Emilie H.—M. Cecil	36,827
PORTER, Mary F.—Acker, Merrall & Condit	101
PASSMAN, Nathan—F. Ecker	67
PITHMAN, Julia A. — Frederick Beiermeister and others	648
PITHMAN, Julia A.—May Orloff	93
REISS, William—John Blumers	146
ROBISON, Alasco C.—W. J. Overocker and another	339
STEARNS, Oscar H.—F. J. Dixon	95
STETSON, George H.—G. H. K. White	199
SHULDINER, David—B. J. Ludwig	1,488
SCOTT, James E.—L. B. Darling Fertilizer Company	261
SMITH, George P.—The Bryant Building Company	163
THE MAYOR, &c.—Peter Moebus, administrator	321
THE MAYOR, &c.—James Milliken and another, executors, &c	176
THE MAYOR, &c.—C. F. Mairs and another	2,585
THE MANHATTAN RAILWAY COMPANY and Metropolitan Elevated Railway Company—Josephine Schmid	646
THE MANHATTAN RAILWAY COMPANY and Metropolitan Elevated Railway Company—Theophilus Blum and others	330
THE MANHATTAN RAILWAY COMPANY and Metropolitan Elevated Railway Company—Henry Dorzbacher	610
THE MANHATTAN RAILWAY COMPANY and Metropolitan Elevated Railway Company—Henry Dorzbacher	567
THE MANHATTAN RAILWAY COMPANY and Metropolitan Elevated Railway Company—Jacob Kohlweiler and another	178
MIXER ICE MACHINE COMPANY—Thomas G. Patterson	213
THE DEGNON-McLEAN CONSTRUCTION Company—Mendel Samuel and others	371
METROPOLITAN STREET RAILWAY Company—Anna M. Harrison	204
THE MANHATTAN RAILWAY COMPANY—Harriet R. McKim, costs	124
THE MANHATTAN RAILWAY COMPANY—T. B. Winthrop	124
THE MANHATTAN RAILWAY COMPANY—I. P. Kernochan, as trustee	124
THE MANHATTAN RAILWAY COMPANY and New York Elevated Railway Company—William H. Rowe	476
THE CITY OF NEW YORK—C. Phelps	68
THE CITY OF NEW YORK—M. R. Vedder	68
ELBERON HOTEL AND COTTAGE Company—Edison Electric Illuminating Company of New York	178
WESTCHESTER ELECTRIC RAILROAD Company—See & Theiss Marble Company	515
WALTERS, Annie M.—M. Straus	545
WAGNER, Albert—G. A. Spalding	131
WAGNER, William C.—John

FINANCIAL DIRECTORY.

Chemical National Bank
270 Broadway.

National Bank of Commerce
CAP. AND SUR. $5,500,000.
31 Nassau St.

Hanover National Bank
Capital $1,000,000. Surplus and profits, $2,500,000.
9 and 11 Nassau St.

The Nassau Bank
Corner Beekman and Nassau Streets.

Central National Bank
620 Broadway.

Phenix National Bank
40 Wall Street.

Continental Trust Company
30 Broad St.

Colonial Trust Company
CAPITAL & SURPLUS, $1,500,000.
ST. PAUL B'LD'G.
222 B'way.

Washington Trust Company
Stewart Building, 280 Broadway.

PHILADELPHIA.
Fourth Street National Bank
Capital, $1,500,000. Surplus, $1,500,000.

BANKERS' CARDS.

Spencer Trask & Co.
BANKERS
27 & 29 Pine Street, New York.

Transact a general banking business; act as Fiscal Agents for corporations, and negotiate security issues of railroads and other companies. Execute commission orders and deal in
INVESTMENT SECURITIES.
Members New York Stock Exchange.
Branch Office: 65 State St., Albany.

The Corn Exchange Bank,
William and Beaver Sts., New York.
WILLIAM A. NASH, President.

Capital and Surplus . .	$3,000,000.00
Deposits	20,000,000.00

BRANCHES:
Broadway Branch, Astor Place Bank.
Broadway & Spring St. Astor Place.
Hudson River Bank. Queens County Bank.
12d St. & Columbus Ave. Borough of Queens.

36 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK.

Fisk & Robinson
BANKERS
Investment Securities
HARVEY EDWARD FISK,
GEORGE H. ROBINSON.
Member New York Stock Exchange.

Hurlbutt, Hatch & Co.,
BANKERS.
MEMBERS NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE,
71 Broadway, N. Y. City.
STOCKS and BONDS bought and sold for cash or on margin.
Interest allowed on deposits subject to check. Telephone No. 1239 Cortlandt.

Redmond, Kerr & Co.
BANKERS,
41 WALL ST., N. Y.
Members N. Y. Stock Exchange.
Transact a general banking business. Receive deposits subject to draft. Dividends and interest collected and remitted. Act as Fiscal Agent for and negotiate and issue loans of railroads, street railways, gas companies, etc. Securities bought and sold on commission.
DEAL IN
High-Grade Investment Securities.
Lists of current offerings sent on application.
PHILADELPHIA CORRESPONDENTS,
GRAHAM, KERR & CO.

N. Y. & N. J. TELEPHONE "RIGHTS"
BOUGHT AND SOLD.
Geo. H. PRENTISS & Co.
37 William St., New York. 298 Montague St., Brooklyn.

Vermilye & Co.,
BANKERS,
New York and Boston.

A. J. DE KANTSTEIN & CO.
Members Consolidated Stock Exchange.
30 West 23d St.
STOCKS and BONDS bought and sold for cash and carried on margin.
SPECIAL LADIES' DEPARTMENT.
DAILY MARKET LETTER ON APPLICATION.
CORRESPONDENCE INVITED.

Chester B. Lawrence, Jr.,
Member Consolidated Stock Exchange.
STOCKS, BONDS, GRAIN, COTTON.
Branch Offices.
1,300 BROADWAY, CORNER 34TH ST.
621 BROADWAY, CORNER HOUSTON ST.
MAIN OFFICES, 32 & 34 BROADWAY.

FINANCIAL.

TO THE HOLDERS OF
Chicago & Grand Trunk Railway Co.
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS.

Default having been made in the principal of the above bonds, which became due on the first day of January, 1900, and foreclosure proceedings having been begun in pursuance of a plan of reorganization, formulated by the Company, under which plan the security of the bonds is seriously impaired:

At the request of a large number of holders of these bonds, resident in England, who have deposited their bonds under the Bondholders' Protective Agreement, dated December 21, 1899, the undersigned have agreed to represent the interests of the bondholders.

Holders of bonds in the United States can become parties to this agreement by depositing their bonds with the Central Trust Company of New York City, under said Protective Agreement, copies of which may be obtained from the Trust Company or at our office. Prompt deposit of the bonds is advisable.

Simon Borg & Company,
20 Nassau Street.
New York, January 5th, 1900.

Haskins & Sells,
Certified Public Accountants,
NO. 30 BROAD ST., NEW YORK.

FINANCIAL.

International Zinc Co., Ltd.
SHARES ADVANCE JAN. 25TH TO 85c.

Purchasers at present price,

75c. Per Share,

secure 16% on their investment and the regular monthly dividend, payable Feb. 1st to all shareholders of record Jan. 25th.

Applications for stock at 75c. per share must bear date not later than Thursday, Jan. 25th, 1900.

Such applications, accompanied by remittance, will be received at either of the following offices of the fiscal agents,

JOSHUA BROWN & CO., Bankers,
89 State St., Boston.
45 and 47 Wall St., New York.
421 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.
409 The Rookery, Chicago.

REDEMPTION OF
Duluth, Missabe, & Northern Railway Co.
First Consolidated Mortgage Bonds, dated Jan. 1, 1893.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that Seventy-five (75) of the First Consolidated Mortgage Bonds of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway Company were this day drawn for redemption in accordance with the requirements of Article Five of the Trust Mortgage, numbered as follows, viz.:

1256	1514	1933	2413	2951	3274
1203	1516	1946	2440	2953	3391
1272	1545	1950	2463	2992	3403
1312	1674	1990	2499	3015	3432
1333	1709	2037	2525	3017	3437
1347	1725	2068	2577	3054	3447
1379	1743	2097	2585	3089	3466
1414	1828	2156	2592	3102	3485
1432	1833	2235	2599	3107	3486
1433	1856	2329	2601	3174	3489
1494	1885	2330	2656	3187
1498	1904	2336	2674	3215
1501	1911	2361	2751	3269

All future interest of any of the bonds so designated ceases February 2d, 1900, in accordance with the terms of the mortgage.

CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK,
Trustee.
By G. SHERMAN, Vice-President,
New York, January 22d, 1900.

We, the undersigned, hereby certify that the seventy-five bonds were designated by lot in our presence, as above stated.

FRED. C. RANDALL,
With Central Trust Company of New York.
E. V. CARY,
of Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway Company.
FRANK B. SMIDT,
Notary Public, New York County.

In accordance with the foregoing certificate, said mentioned bonds will be paid at this office on or after the 2d of February, 1900, at 105 per centum and interest, say $1,055.17 per bond.

CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK,
Trustee.
By G. SHERMAN, Vice-President.

REDEMPTION NOTICE NO. 6.
RICHMOND AND DANVILLE RAILROAD COMPANY.
EQUIPMENT MORTGAGE BONDS, DATED SEPTEMBER 3, 1889.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that forty-five (45) Equipment Mortgage Bonds of the Richmond and Danville Railroad Company were this day drawn for the Sinking Fund, in accordance with the requirements of Article Three of the Trust Mortgage numbered as follows, viz.:

38	237	380	577	721	834	1120
63	240	387	606	744	845	1179
102	272	393	612	747	901	1193
113	319	412	640	767	910	1198
166	332	414	642	777	923	1207
178	363	428	693	801	1116	1327
231	374	558

All future interest of any of the bonds so designated ceases with the coupons due March 1st, 1900, in accordance with the terms of the mortgage.

CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK,
By E. F. HYDE. 2d Vice President.
New York, December 6th, 1899.

We, the undersigned, hereby certify that the forty-five (45) bonds were designated by lot in our presence, as above stated.

FRED C. RANDALL,
With Central Trust Co. of New York.
R. D. LANKFORD,
With Richmond & Danville R. R. Co.
FRANK B. SMIDT,
Notary Public, N. Y. Co.

In accordance with the foregoing certificate, said mentioned bonds, and the coupons therefrom maturing March 1, 1900, will be paid at this office on or after the 1st day of March, 1900, at par.
Central Trust Company of New York, Trustee.
By E. F. HYDE,
2d Vice President.

MORTON TRUST COMPANY,
38 Nassau St., New York.
Capital & Surplus—$2,500,000

LEVI P. MORTON.....President
EDWARD J. BERWIND..Vice-President.
JAMES K. CORBIÈRE....Second Vice-Pres.
WM. REDMOND CROSS..Secretary

DIRECTORS.

James W. Alexander,	James N. Jarvie,
John Jacob Astor,	Aug. D. Juilliard,
George F. Baker,	Joseph Larocque,
Edward J. Berwind,	D. O. Mills,
Frederic Cromwell,	Levi P. Morton,
Henry M. Flagler,	Richard A. McCurdy,
G. G. Haven,	W. G. Oakman,
Jos. C. Hendrix,	John Sloane,
Abram S. Hewitt,	William C. Whitney,
	A. Wolff.

Central Realty Bond and Trust Company,
59 TO 65 LIBERTY ST., NEW YORK.
Capital and Surplus, $1,500,000.
Allows interest on deposits subject to check and transacts all Trust Company business.
EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE:
Frederic P. Olcott, James Stillman,
Augustus D. Juilliard, James N. Jarvie,
Frederick Southack, Hugh J. Grant,
Henry Morgenthau.

N. Y. SECURITY & TRUST CO.
46 WALL STREET, NEW YORK.
Capital and Surplus . . . $3,000,000
CHARLES S. FAIRCHILD, President.
Wm. L. Strong, 1st V.P.; Abram M. Hyatt, 2d V.P.; Osborn W. Bright, Sec.; Zelah Van Loan, Asst. Sec.

The Trust Co. of America,
149 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Capital and Surplus, $5,000,000.
ASHBEL P. FITCH.....President.
WILLIAM H. LEUPP, Vice-President. WILLIAM BARBOUR, Vice-President.
RAYMOND J. CHATRY, Secretary. HENRY S. MANNING, Vice-President.
ALBERT L. RANISTER, Treasurer. LAWRENCE O. MURRAY, Trust Officer.

BROWN BROTHERS & CO.,
NO. 59 WALL ST.,
ISSUE COMMERCIAL AND TRAVELERS' CREDITS, AVAILABLE IN ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

Outside Securities a Specialty.
DAVID PFEIFFER, 18 Wall St.

FINANCIAL.

LOUIS MESIER, Auctioneer.
REGULAR AUCTION SALE OF
STOCKS AND BONDS
By ADRIAN H. MULLER & SON.
WEDNESDAY, JAN. 24th, 1900.
At 12½ o'clock, at the N. Y. Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway.
(By order of the Central Trust Co., Executor.)
112 shs. Central Fire Works Co. Pfd.
9 shs. Lawyers' Mtge. Insurance Co.
$500 Montauk Club, B'klyn, 2d Mtge. 5 p. c. Bond.
60 shs. Bedford Riding Academy.
500 shs. Camden Land Co. of Maine.
32 shs. Thomas A. Edison Polyform Co.
10 shs. Brooklyn Turkish Bath Co.
10 shs. Lawyers' Title Insurance Co.
(By order of Executors.)
100 shs. Gansevoort Bank.
5 shs. 12th Ward Bank.
50 shs. State Trust Co.
100 shs. Long Island R. R. Co.
60 shs. Col., Hock. Valley & Toledo R. R. common.
8 shs. Col., Hock. Valley & Toledo R. R. Pfd.
(By order of Administratrix.)
10 shs. Dobbs Ferry Bank.
50 shs. Bemis Car Box Co.
400 shs. American Pneumatic Tool Co.
(By order of Trustees.)
38 shs. Old Dominion Steamship Co.
25 shs. State Trust Co.
20 shs. Pacific Fire Ins. Co.
20 shs. Continental Fire Ins. Co.
(For Account of Whom it may Concern.)
16 shs. Woodcliff Land Improvement Co.
50 shs. City Trust Co.
150 shs. North American Trust Co.
6 shs. Importers' and Traders' Nat'l Bank.
5 shs. National Park Bank.
25 shs. Bank of Manhattan Co.
15 shs. State Trust Co.
5 shs. National Union Bank.
34 shs. American Exchange Nat'l Bank.
58 shs. Phenix National Bank.
32 shs. Yellow Pine Pfd.
$200 New York Athletic Club 6 p. c. Bds., 1903.
$200 New York Athletic Club 2d 5 p. c. Bds., 1910.
15 shs. Metropolitan Plate Glass Ins. Co.
100 shs. Troy Steel Co. (hyp'd.)
12 shs. Bank of Metropolis.
14 shs. Merchants' Nat'l Bank.
7 shs. Bank of America.
60 shs. North American Trust Co.
2 shs. New York Life Ins. and Trust Co.
10 shs. Lawyers' Title Ins. Co.
10 shs. State Trust Co.
40 shs. Merchants' Nat'l Bank.
50 shs. Westchester Trust Co.
$18,000 Vicks., Shrev. & Pacific R. R. 1st assenting 6 p. c. Bds., 1920.
$4,000 Peo., Dec. & Evans. R. R. 2d 5 p. c. bds., 1926.
$20,000 Sav., Fla. & West. R. R. 1st 6 p. c. bds., 1934.
$7,500 Brooklyn City R. R. 1st consld. 5 p. c. Bds., 1941.
50 shs. Mechanics' Bank of B'klyn.
5 shs. Lawyers' Surety Co.
35 shs. Importers' and Traders' Nat'l Bank.
25 shs. National Park Bank.
40 shs. Bank of America.
63 shs. American Surety Co.
10 shs. Nat'l Union Bank.
25 shs. North American Trust Co.
50 shs. Standard Coal & Iron Co.
20 shs. Morning Star Consld. Mining Co.
200 shs. Armstrong Real Estate & Impt. Co.
97½ shs. Empire State Phosphate Co.
300 shs. San Diego Land & Town Co., pfd.
500 shs. San Diego Land & Town Co., common.
500 shs. Denver Union Water Co., pfd.
50 shs. Forest Hotel Co., Lakewood, N. J.
81 shs. International Express Co.
25 shs. State Trust Co.
10 shs. Hanover Nat'l Bank.
32 shs. Nat'l Park Bank.
100 shs. North American Trust Co.
25 shs. Nat'l Bank of Commerce.
3 shs. American Exchange Nat'l Bank.
20 shs. Trust Co. of New York.
10 shs. Trust Co. of America.
8 shs. Farmers' Loan and Trust Co.
6 shs. Lawyers' Mtge. Ins. Co.
100 shs. Bankers' Trust Co.
7 shs. Madison (Wis.) Gas and Elec. Co.
$11,000 Washington Trac. and Elec. Co. Coll. Trust 4½ p. c. Bds., 1949.
10 shs. Trust Co. of America.
50 shs. Trust Co. of America.
500 shs. Yellow Pine Co., common (Hypd.)
59 shs. Celluloid Co.
6 shs. Nat'l Park Bank.
70 shs. Empire Steel and Iron Co., Pfd.
70 shs. Empire Steel and Iron Co., common.
$2,000 Lotos Club 2d Mtge. 6 p. c. Bds., 1902.
5 shs. United States Trust Co.
10 shs. Farmers' Loan & Trust Co.
5 shs. State Trust Co.
10 shs. Leather Manftr's Nat'l Bank.
15 shs. Home Insurance Co.
300 shs. Jos. Ladue Gold Mining & Devl'p Co., Pfd.
4 shs. Phenix Insurance Co. of B'klyn.
50 shs. Butchers' & Drovers' Bank.
25 shs. State Trust Co.
100 shs. Gray National Telautograph Co.
15 shs. Produce Exchange Trust Co.
50 shs. National Park Bank.
2 shs. Bankers' Trust Co.
50 shs. Colonial Trust Co.
25 shs. Westchester Trust Co.
80 shs. Traders' Fire Ins. Co.
25 shs. Trust Co. of America.
25 shs. Trust Co. of America.

OFFICE OF
The Atlantic Mutual Insurance Company,
New York, January 23d, 1900.

The Trustees, in Conformity with the Charter of the Company, submit the following statement of its affairs on the 31st of December, 1899:

Premiums on Marine Risks from 1st January, 1899, to 31st December, 1899	$3,166,420.39
Premiums on Policies not marked off 1st January, 1899	967,555.24
Total Marine Premiums	$4,133,975.63
Premiums marked off from 1st January, 1899, to 31st December, 1899	$3,305,179.38
Losses paid during the same period (less salvages, &c.)	$2,276,089.06
Returns of Premiums and expenses	$484,206.77

The Company has the following Assets, viz.:

United States and State of New York Stock, City, Bank, and other Stocks	$5,483,944.00
Loans secured by Stocks and special deposits in Banks and Trust Company	2,395,500.00
Real Estate and Claims due the Company, estimated at	1,125,000.00
Premium Notes and Bills Receivable	1,005,756.77
Cash in the hands of European Bankers to pay losses under policies payable in foreign countries	147,790.55
Cash in Bank	266,130.29
Amount	$10,424,130.61

Six per cent. interest on the outstanding certificates of profits will be paid to the holders thereof, or their legal representatives, on and after Tuesday, the sixth of February next.

The outstanding certificates of the issue of 1894 will be redeemed and paid to the holders thereof, or their legal representatives, on and after Tuesday, the sixth of February next, from which date all interest thereon will cease. The certificates to be produced at the time of payment, and canceled.

A dividend of forty per cent. is declared on the net earned premiums of the Company for the year ending 31st December, 1899, for which certificates will be issued on and after Tuesday, the first of May next.

By order of the Board,
J. H. CHAPMAN, Secretary.

TRUSTEES.

Gustav Amsinck,	Clifford A. Hand,
Vernon H. Brown,	John D. Hewlett,
Waldron P. Brown,	Charles D. Leverich,
William B. Boulton,	Leander N. Lovell,
Francis M. Bacon,	W. H. H. Moore,
George Coppell,	Charles H. Marshall,
Joseph H. Chapman,	George H. Macy,
James G. De Forest,	Levi P. Morton,
William E. Dodge,	Frederic A. Parsons,
James H. Dunham,	George W. Quintard,
Everett Frazar,	John L. Riker,
Ewald Fleitmann,	A. A. Raven,
Edward Floyd-Jones,	Gustav H. Schwab,
Horace Gray,	William C. Sturges.
Anson W. Hard,

A. A. RAVEN, President.
F. A. PARSONS, Vice Pres't.
CORNELIUS ELDERT, 2d Vice Pres't.
THEO. P. JOHNSON, 3d Vice Pres't.

NATIONAL CITY BANK
NEW STOCK.
A LIMITED AMOUNT FOR SALE IN LOTS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

LADD, WOOD & KING,
Members N. Y. Stock Exchange
AND
Dealers in Investment Securities,
31 PINE ST., N. Y.

FINANCIAL.

U. S. PNEUMATIC HORSE COLLAR CO.

are open for negotiations regarding
VALUABLE STATE RIGHTS and EUROPEAN PATENTS ON ROYALTY BASIS.

The company is now prepared to fill orders for their improved collar.

AS PROOF OF THEIR MERIT they have been thoroughly TESTED, ACCEPTED, and INDORSED by the Best-equipped FIRE DEPARTMENTS in the UNITED STATES, and

Orders for the following cities are now being filled, viz.:
New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Buffalo, Milwaukee, Providence, New Haven, and others of lesser note.

HUNDREDS OF TESTIMONIALS from veterinary surgeons and others indorse their humane application to the horse and their practical result in general use.

Over 10 millions of Horse Collars in use in this country alone.

Agents wanted. Address
Main Office,
52 Broadway, New York.
Branch, 21 Palace Arcade, Buffalo.
Factories { 10 Clinton St., Brooklyn, N. Y., 108 Greenwich St.

DIVIDENDS.

The Colorado & Southern Railway Co.,
New York, January 11th, 1900.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors held this day there was declared from the net earnings for the calendar year 1899 a dividend of two per cent. on the first preferred stock of this Company, payable to the holders of record of the first preferred stock on February 14th, 1900. For the purpose of such dividend the transfer books of this Company will be closed at three P. M. on January 31st, and will be reopened at ten A. M. on February 15th, 1900.

The Colorado & Southern Railway Co.,
By HARRY BRONNER, Assistant Secretary.

28 Broad Street, New York, January 11th, 1900.

The transfer books of the Voting Trustees for the First Preferred Stock of the Colorado & Southern Railway Company will be closed at three P. M. on January 31st, 1900, and will reopen at ten A. M. on February 15th, 1900. On February 14th, 1900, the Voting Trustees will be prepared to distribute the above Dividend of two per cent., when received by them, at the office of Messrs. Hallgarten & Co., among the parties entitled thereto as same appear of record on their books when closed as above.

HALLGARTEN & CO.,
Agents for Voting Trustees.

Oregon Short Line Railway Company
First Mortgage 6% Bonds.

Coupons due February 1, 1900, from the abovementioned bonds will be paid at maturity on presentation at the office of the Treasurer of the Oregon Short Line Railroad Company, No. 120 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

Temporary receipts will be issued for packages of coupons left for verification on and after Thursday, January 25, 1900.

Oregon Short Line Railroad Company,
FREDERIC V. S. CROSBY, Treasurer.

The Colorado Fuel & Iron Co.,
Denver, Colorado, January 17, 1900.

Preferred Stock Dividends Nos. 7 & 8.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors, held this day, the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That a dividend of eight per cent. (8%) be declared upon the Preferred Stock of the Colorado Fuel & Iron Company for the year ending June 30th, 1898, such dividend to be payable February 15th, 1900, in cash, to the stockholders of record January 26th, 1900. Transfer Books to be closed from January 26th, 1900, to February 15th, 1900, inclusive.

Be it further Resolved, That the Directors indorse the policy of continuing the declaration of dividends upon the Preferred Stock at short intervals as the earnings of the company warrant, until all the arrears have been paid in cash.

JOHN L. JEROME, Treasurer.

International Zinc Co., Limited
DIVIDEND NOTICE.

Joplin, Mo., Jan. 18, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Directors of this company this day have declared the regular monthly dividend of 1% on the outstanding capital stock of this company, payable Feb. 1st to shareholders of record Jan. 25th. The transfer books will be closed from Jan. 25th to Feb. 2d.

J. B. CARMICHAEL,
Secretary and Treasurer.

Louisiana & Missouri River Railroad Co.
First Mortgage 7% Bonds.

Coupons due February 1, 1900, from the abovementioned bonds will be paid at maturity on presentation at the office of the Assistant Treasurer of The Chicago & Alton Railroad Co., No. 120 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

Temporary receipts will be issued for packages of coupons left for verification on and after Thursday, January 25, 1900.

The Chicago & Alton Railroad Co.
FREDERIC V. S. CROSBY, Ass't Treasurer.

The Lawyers' Title Insurance Company of New York,
37 & 39 Liberty St. and 44½ & 46 Maiden Lane.
NEW YORK, Jan. 10, 1900.

The Board of Directors of this company has this day declared a dividend of 2½ Per Cent., and an extra dividend of One-Half Per Cent, payable at the company's offices on Feb. 1, 1900. The transfer books will be closed at 3 P. M. on Tuesday, January 16, 1900, and will remain closed until after the meeting.

JOHN DUER, Treasurer.

Office of Phenix Insurance Company,
Brooklyn, N. Y., January 22, 1900.
87TH DIVIDEND.

The Board of Directors have this day declared the semi-annual dividend of five per cent., (5%,) payable on demand, at their branch office, No. 47 Cedar Street, New York City, to stockholders of record on this date.

WM. A. WRIGHT, Secretary.

The Procter & Gamble Company.
Cincinnati, Ohio, January 16, 1900.

The Directors of this Company have this day declared a semi annual dividend of SIX PER CENT. on the Common Stock of the Company, payable on and after February 15th. The transfer books will be closed from Feb. 1st to Feb. 15th, inclusive.

D. R. GAMBLE, Sec'y.

Pacific Bank.
No. 470 Broadway, New York.
Jan. 23, 1900.

The Board of Directors have this day declared a quarterly dividend of 2%, payable on and after Feburary 1 next. The transfer books will be closed to Feb'y 1, 1900.

S. C. MERWIN, Cashier.

The Colorado & Southern Railway Co.,
Coupon No. 2, due February 1st, 1900, from the First Mortgage Bonds of the above company will be paid on and after that date at the Central Trust Co., 54 Wall Street, New York.

The Colorado & Southern Railway Co.
By HARRY BRONNER, Asst. Treas.

Mexican Mineral Railway Company.
Coupons of the First Mortgage Bonds of this Company, due February 1st, 1900, will be paid on and after that date on presentation at the office of the Compnay, No. 27 William St.

C. J. NOURSE, Jr., Treasurer.
January 17th, 1900.

Pacific Fire Insurance Company.
Ninety-fifth Dividend.

A semi-annual Dividend of Five Per Cent. (5%) is payable on demand at the office of the Company, No. 32 Pine Street, New York.

GEORGE JEREMIAH, Secretary.
New York, January 18, 1900.

MEETINGS AND ELECTIONS.

OFFICE OF
Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company.
Brooklyn, January 2, 1900.

The annual meeting of the Stockholders of Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company for the election of thirteen (13) Directors for the ensuing year, and three (3) Inspectors of election to serve at the next succeeding annual meeting, and for the purpose of transacting other business as may be duly brought before the meeting, will be held at twelve o'clock noon, on FRIDAY, JANUARY 26, 1900, at the office of the company, 168 Montague Street, Borough of Brooklyn, New York City. The polls will remain open for one hour. The transfer books will be closed at 3 P. M. on Tuesday, January 16, 1900, and will remain closed until after the meeting.

T. S. WILLIAMS, Secretary.

Notice to the Stockholders of The Victoria Coffee Mills:

Please take notice that a meeting of the Stockholders of The Victoria Coffee Mills will be held at the office of the Counsel of the Company, Frederick Beltz, Room 136, No. 111 Broadway, in the City of New York, on Wednesday, January 31, 1900, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, to take action upon the unanimous resolution of the Board of Directors in relation to the voluntary dissolution of said Company.—Dated New York, December 30, 1899.

EDWARD B. McSHEEHY,
ARCHIBALD McNIOLL,
ALEXANDER McELWEE,
GEORGE W. BAILY,
Board of Directors.

THE PEOPLES GAS LIGHT & COKE CO.
(of Chicago).

The annual meeting of the Stockholders of The Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company will be held at the office of the Company in Chicago, Adams Street and Michigan Avenue, on Saturday, February 10, 1900, at 11 o'clock A. M. The transfer books will close, in New York, in accordance with the by-laws, at 3 o'clock P. M. on Friday, January 19th, and will reopen at 10 o'clock A. M. Tuesday, February 13th, 1900.

C. K. G. BILLINGS, President.

THE FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks heavy.

STOCK TRANSACTIONS.

	Shares.
Jan. 23	311,083
To date this year	7,671,368
Corresponding date last year	18,085,174

BOND TRANSACTIONS.

Jan. 23	$2,098,500
To date this year	$35,756,100
Corresponding date last year	$111,126,040

Money rate: Collateral loans on call, 2@3½ per cent.; at three months, 4@4½ per cent.; at six months, 4½@5 per cent. Commercial paper, sixty to ninety days, 4½@5 per cent.

***

Net changes in stocks of one-half of 1 per cent. or more were:

Stocks Advanced.

Am. Ice	¾	Glucose S. pf	1½
Am. Cotton Oil pf	¾	Int. Silver	¾
Brunswick	⅝	Iowa Cent. pf	½
Chi. G. W. pf., B	½	Nat. Lead pf	½
Cleve., L. & W. pf	1½	Nat. Steel pf	¾
Consol. Gas	3	Peoria & East	1
General Electric	1	Pressed S. Car pf	⅝
Glucose Sugar	⅛	Third Avenue	¾

Stocks Declined.

Am. Dist. Tel	1½	National Steel	1
Am. Malt. pf	1	N. J. Central	1⅛
Am. Smelt. & Ref	1⅝	N. Y. Central	1
Am. Steel & W	1¼	N. Y., O. & W	½
Am. Sugar Ref	2¼	Norf. & West	⅛
Am. Steel Hoop pf	1	Norf. & West. pf	1
Am. Tobacco	1½	North. Amer.	⅝
Anaconda Copper	1	Northern Pacific	1½
At., T. & S. F.	⅛	North. Pacific pf	⅞
At., T. & S. F. pf	1	Pacific Mail	1½
Balt. & Ohio	1½	Penn. R. R.	1⅛
Balt. & Ohio pf	1⅝	Penn. Sub. R.	½
B'klyn Rapid Tr.	2½	People's Gas, Chi.	1⅝
Ches. & Ohio	⅝	Pullman Co.	⅞
Chi., B. & Q.	1½	Reading 1st pf	¾
Chi., Ind. & L. pf	2	Rep. Steel	¾
Chi., M. & St. P.	1½	St. L. & W. pf	1¼
Chi., R. I. & Pac.	¾	Southern Pacific	½
C., C., C. & St. L.	1¼	Southern Ry. pf	1⅛
Col. Fuel & Iron	1½	Tenn. Coal & Iron	1¼
Col. So. 1st pf	½	Texas & Pacific	½
Cont. Tobacco	¾	Un. Bag & Paper	1⅝
Federal Steel	1⅝	Union Pacific	1½
Louis. & Nash	1⅞	Union Pacific pf	½
Manhattan	¾	U. S. Leather	2
Missouri Pacific	¾	U. S. Leather pf	½
National Lead	½

***

Net changes in bonds of 1 per cent. or more were:

Bonds Advanced.

E. T., Va. & Ga. con. 5s	1½	Stand. R. & T. 6s	1
Kanawha & Mich. 4s	1	Tenn., C. & I., Birm. 6s	3¾

Bonds Declined.

Chi. Term. Tr. 4s	1	Tol., St. L. & K. C. 1st	2
Met. St. Ry. 5s	1

MARKET CONDITIONS.

Total transactions on the Stock Exchange still make relatively small figures. The public continues to hold aloof and Stock Exchange business is confined almost exclusively to the professional transactions of room traders. Among such speculators sensationalism is the one factor sought for; and so it is that extraordinary tales touching South African war affairs get attention and are counted as influence.

Yesterday morning Wall Street was filled with "special dispatches," ostensibly from London, representing that Gen. Buller's forces had made further important progress and that one section of the British army had actually entered Ladysmith. Just how this accomplishment—even if true—would be of help to Third Avenue Railroad stock or Republic Steel shares or to Brunswick Land issues was not disclosed; but none the less the "news" was hailed with gusto and quotations were lifted on account of it.

***

Of business conditions only good reports come. In every trade circle confidence is not only the ruling element, but enthusiasm is warranted by returns recorded. Commercially and industrially the country makes forward steps every day.

In money market conditions no changes of consequence appear. Every indication seems to point to continuing ease in call funds for a long time to come, though there is the uncertainty of British exigencies; and it may be that London operations may force quick change to harder rates here. In the time money market bankers generally are predicting a firm 5½ and 6 per cent. rate throughout the rest of the Winter and into the Spring.

***

Commission house business continues nil. Commission house brokers change not at all from their attitude of advising customers to wait.

STILL LOSING MONEY.

The dealing in Sugar yesterday was quite heavy, considering the listless tone of the market, and the tendency of the quotation was clearly downward. From 118½ the price steadily declined to 115¾, with the close 116, marking a net loss of 2¼ points.

Probably the weakness was due to the fact that evidences multiply that the trade war is not only still on, but that, notwithstanding the recent advances in prices on every sale of sugar made the companies are losing money. This is made clear by a statement to THE NEW YORK TIMES made by a member of the firm of B. H. Howell, Son & Co., representing the Mollenhauer and the National refineries, which have been closed down for an indefinite period. Discussing this closing, this member said:

"We are simply not selling any sugar—that is, as little as possible. We have enough on hand to fill orders for some time, and when the supply is exhausted we shall start up again. But we are not anxious to sell, as at present prices every sale means a loss. And therefore to the Sugar Trust, which is selling far more than we are, the loss is greater. In other words, the more sugar the trust sells the more money it loses—and that is not idle talk, either. As for any settlement of the war, none is in sight."

PHENOMENAL EARNINGS.

The excellent condition of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company and the continued increased earnings were well shown in a statement of earnings issued by the company yesterday, showing for the month of December a net surplus of $255,570, as compared with $27,040 a year ago—an increase of $228,530, while as compared with November, 1899, the figures show an increase of $16,530.

For the fiscal year the net surplus was $1,304,380, and the increase $1,081,230.

The December surplus of the company is the largest for any one month during the year, and is all the more remarkable because, as is pointed out, December operations are always restricted by the holidays.

BROOKLYN RAPID TRANSIT.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit, opening strong, turned weak after the first hour's trading yesterday, and gradually declined until it marked a loss of over 3 points from the high price. Traders were sellers, and it is said caught some stop orders on the fall. Some 15,000 shares changed hands between 72 and 73.

There was again no definite news in respect to developments at the coming meeting; but talk of Standard Oil being represented in the Directorate continued. In this connection Mr. D. O. Mills said yesterday: "I am a large stockholder of the company, but I do not expect to go on the Board of Directors."

PARTING COMPANY.

The three local traction stocks—Manhattan, Metropolitan, and Third Avenue—which for some time moved apparently in sympathy with one another, seem to have parted company. On Monday both Metropolitan and Manhattan scored net gains, while Third Avenue's closing price marked the same figure as on Saturday. Yesterday both Manhattan and Metropolitan declined, the former ¾ and the latter ⅛, while Third Avenue, dealt in to the extent of over 10,000 shares, bettered itself by a full point.

TWO GAS STOCKS.

Consolidated Gas, which on the previous day was not dealt in, was one of the few stocks which yesterday scored an advance, the appreciation being 3 points on sales of about 900 shares. Talk of impending deals, involving not alone electric and gas light companies, but also various street railways, aided in the upward movement.

People's Gas, on the other hand, declined 1⅝ points, on rumors of unfavorable developments in Chicago and rather indefinite talk of opposition, legislative and otherwise.

POOL COMES TO GRIEF.

The bull pool which has been operating lately in American Tobacco and bidding the price up on talk of forthcoming dividends came to grief yesterday. On sales of about 20,000 shares the quotation, which at one time touched 101½, steadily declined, and finally closed at 98⅝, a net loss for the day of 1⅞ points. There was apparently no more justification for the decline than there had been for the recent sudden upward movement.

LEATHER GOES DOWN.

Leather Trust common stock was under pressure yesterday, and showed a further decline, due principally to the sale of two blocks of 5,000 shares each. There appeared to be little support, and it was intimated not only that insiders were working for a decline, but that a further drive would be made at the stock to-day.

THE CLEARWATER TRUCE.

As had been predicted by President Mellen of the Northern Pacific, the truce, in respect to the Clearwater situation, between the Union Pacific Railroad Company and the Oregon Navigation Company will be continued indefinitely. The date for the expiration of the truce under which the companies have been acting for some time was Feb. 5, but, as a result of informal conferences lately held, the continuation of the present amicable state of affairs has been satisfactorily arranged for.

In this connection it is worth noting that Northern Pacific, as appears from a published statement of earnings, made in the second week of January $84,750 more than in the same week last year. The total figures for the week were $445,820.

TO ACT ON A DIVIDEND.

The statement yesterday that Norfolk and Western would anticipate by several weeks the declaration of its regular half-yearly dividend on the preferred

OUTSIDE SECURITIES.

No increase in activity appeared in the market for outside securities yesterday, but some improvement in prices resulted from the day's trading. Again, Standard Oil was the stock that attracted most attention, but other issues to some extent shared its strength and ended the day with substantial net gains. In many cases quotations remained unchanged, the amount of trading being so small that relatively few stocks were affected. The strength which the market showed seemed to indicate that no apprehension is felt as to the course the market is likely to follow when activity is sufficiently increased to bring about any marked movement in the general list. Practically the only unfavorable characteristic of the market at present is its extreme dullness, for only here and there does selling pressure appear and advances are very readily recorded on a slight increasing demand.

DISTILLING OF AMERICA advanced over half a point in the common stock and about a point in the preferred. The steadiness of these issues seems to indicate that developments in regard to the company's affairs, particularly in regard to the character of the report to be made by the committee now investigating the company's affairs, is awaited with a feeling of considerable confidence. Not so much has been heard within the last few days of the unfavorable surmises which helped so much to bring about the recent declines in the stock, and now the more or less general feeling seems to be that the report will furnish no ground for further declines in the stock. Naturally, the nature of that report is still a matter of supposition, but intimations from sources that appear to be well informed are to the effect that it will be of a favorable character. Speaking generally, officers of the company say that its affairs are in a most satisfactory condition, and that its business promises satisfactory returns on the company's stock. The common stock sold up to 7⅞, and the preferred stock to 24½.

STANDARD OIL sold up to 502 and closed at 501 bid, showing a net gain of 2 points. Transactions in the stock amounted probably to 500 shares, and as on the previous days, insiders appeared to be by far the largest buyers. Rumor has it that a stock dividend may be declared in the near future. In any event, it is felt that some development of a very favorable nature is indicated by the large buying for insiders which has brought the stock up to its present high level.

NEW AMSTERDAM GAS common sold up to 23¾ and closed at 23 bid, showing a net gain of 1 point. A half lot of the preferred stock sold at 49¼, but the stock was later offered under this figure, and it closed unchanged for the day at 47 bid. In neither issue was the trading large. Transactions in much larger amount were made in the bonds, which were traded in to the extent of nearly $100,000. They were somewhat weak, selling from 94½ down to 94, and closing at 93½ bid, offered at 94¼. The weakness of the bonds was viewed with some surprise, in view of the strength in the stock and of the character of the buying the bonds, which was said to be by persons very closely connected with the management of the company.

RUBBER GOODS was notably strong at the close, advancing more than 2 points in the common, and a full point in the preferred. The latter sold as high as 80 and closed at 79½ bid, while the preferred stock ended the day at 29¼ bid, against 27 bid on the previous day. Very little of either issue was offered at the close. The strength of the stocks was attributed to the excellent reports in regard to the company's business, the demand for the company's goods being in excess of its manufacturing capacity.

HAVANA COMMERCIAL preferred sold in a small lot at 62½, and closed at 61 bid, a fractional net gain.

Closing quotations were as follows:

ACTIVE SECURITIES.

Gas Companies.

	Bid.	Asked.
Bay State Gas	1⅝	1¾
New Amsterdam	23	24
New Amsterdam pf	47	49
New Amsterdam 5s, with interest	93½	94¼

Industrials.

American Agricultural Chemical	31¾	33
American Agricultural Chemical pf	76	78
American Bicycle	15	17
American Bicycle pf	43	45
American Bicycle bonds	..	92½
American Woolen Goods	23	24
American Woolen Goods pf., ex div.	78½	79½
Cast-Iron Pipe	8	9
Cast-Iron Pipe pf	42½	44½
Distilling Company of America	7	8
Distilling Company of America pf	23	23⅞
Electric Axle Light & Power	4¼	4½
Electric Boat	15	20
Electric Boat pf	..	30
Havana Commercial	21	..
Havana Commercial pf	61	..
International Pump	16	17
International Pump pf., ex div	62½	63½
National Gramophone	56	58
National Salt	43¼	48
National Salt pf	78½	79½
National Tube	42	44
National Tube pf	91½	93
Otis Elevator	22	25
Otis Elevator pf	86	89
Royal Baking Powder pf	94	95½
Rubber Goods Mfg.	29¼	31
Rubber Goods Mfg. pf	79½	82
Sloss-Sheffield	28	30
Sloss-Sheffield pf	67	69
Standard Oil of New Jersey	501	501½
U. S. Pneumatic Horse Collar	⅛	⅝

Miscellaneous.

Amalgamated Copper	82¼	83
American Air Power	35	50
American Cotton	..	50
Arizona Lead	10	10½
Asphalt Company of America	12	13
British Columbia Copper	10	10⅝
California Copper	3	3½
Central Fireworks	12	15
Central Fireworks pf	53	58
Chicago & Alton sub	105	107
Chicago & Alton 3s, (new)	94	..
Electric Vehicle	40	50
Electric Vehicle pf	..	80
*Electro-Pneumatic, assessment paid	1	1¼
Flemington Coal & Coke	20	22
General Carriage	5¾	6¼
Illinois Transportation	2½	3
*Mackeen Copper	5	7
Mexican 5s	97¼	98½
New York Transportation	94	98
New England Transportation	6½	6¾
Pittsburg, Bessemer & Lake Erie	102	104½
St. Louis subs	131	132
Retsof	25	30
Retsof bonds	80	84
Storage Power	11½	12½
Superior and Boston Copper	⅛	3-16
Tennessee Copper	15	15¾
Trust Company of America	197	199
Virginia Coal, Iron & Coke	24	25½
Virginia Coal, Iron & Coke bonds	59	62

*Selling dollars per share. Par value, $10.

LESS ACTIVE SECURITIES.

Street Railways.

	Bid.	Asked.
Broadway & Seventh Avenue	220	240
Broadway & Seventh Avenue 1st	104	105
Broadway & Seventh Avenue 2d	109½	111½
Broadway Surface 1st 5s	117	118
Broadway Surface 2d	103	104
Brooklyn City Railroad	235	237
Brooklyn, Bath & West End 5s	100	102
Central Park, N. & E. River	193	..
Central Park, N. & E. River 7s	106	108
Columbus Railway	20	24
Columbus Railway pf	58	60
Con. Traction of N. J.	66	68
Con. Traction of N. J. 5s	106	108
Eighth Avenue Railroad	375	400
Kings County Elevated 4s, (new)	85	87
42d St., Man. & St. Nicholas Av.	68	75
42d St., Man. & St. Nicholas Av. 1st	115	117
42d St., Man. & St. Nicholas Av. 2d	88	90
Nassau Electric 4s	87	90
Nassau Electric 5s	108	112
New Orleans Traction	27	28
New Orleans Traction pf	100	102
Ninth Avenue Railroad	190	205
North Jersey Street Railway	..	25½
North Jersey Street Railway 4s	86	89
Orange & Passaic Valley bonds	103	104
Steinway Railway Co. 6 p. c. 1st	117	118
Second Avenue Railroad consols	115½	117
Sixth Avenue Railroad	200	210
Syracuse Rapid Transit	13	16
Syracuse Rapid Transit pf	25	35
Union Railway 1st 5s	115	117
Union Railway stock	190	200
United Traction, Providence	108	111
Worcester (Mass.) Traction pf	30	31¼
Worcester (Mass.) Traction pf	105	106½

Gas Companies.

Buffalo (N. Y.) stock	4	7
Buffalo (N. Y.) 1st, with interest	72	75
Central Union 5s, guaranteed	100	103
Consolidated Gas of Newark	50	55
Consolidated Gas of Newark bonds	..	103
Consolidated Gas of N. J.	21¾	23½
Consolidated Gas bonds of N. J.	87½	89½
Consumers' Gas (Jersey City) bonds	102	105
Denver Gas	38	40
Denver Gas 5s	..	82
Essex & Hudson Gas	35	40
Fort Wayne Gas	38	45
Fort Wayne Gas 6s	90	94
Indianapolis Gas	100	105
Indianapolis Gas bonds	101	103
Lafayette Gas Co	40	45
Lafayette Gas Co. 1st 6s	60	65
Logansport & Wabash Valley Gas	38	42
Logansport & Wabash Valley Gas 6s	60	65
Mutual Gas of New York	275	290
Madison (Wis.) stock	81	83
New England Gas & Coke	19½	20½
New England Gas & Coke bonds	72½	75
N. Y. & E. R. Gas Co., 1st	102	112
N. Y. & E. R. Gas Co. con	106	109
N. Y. Suburban Gas Co. con	102½	103½
North Hudson L., H. & P. Co	55	58
North Hud. L., H. & P. Co. bonds	107	109
Ohio & Indiana	38	45
Ohio & Indiana 1st 6s	60	65
St. Joseph, (Mo.)	40	46
St. Joseph (Mo.) 5s	96	98
St. Paul Gas stock	84	88
St. Paul Gas bonds	86	89
Standard Gas, New York	100	..
Standard Gas, New York, pf	125	..

BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Jan. 23.—In the market to-day the selling of long Arcadian continued, and it brought a further shrinkage of 3 points in its market value to 13¼. Arcadian was not the only soft spot. The whole group of coppers showed more or less of weakness. Montana was back to 270. Butte sold at 47 and 48. Osceola was down to 67½. Centennial to 15, Quincy to 135, Old Dominion to 17, Utah from 27½ to 25, Parrot below 40, Baltic to 17. The selling increased somewhat during the last hour, and the last prices as a rule were the lowest of the day.

In the general market New England Gas and Coke was off to 19; the 5s sold at 73. The selling of Sugar and Chicago, Burlington and Quincy reached good proportions and attracted considerable attention. The closing came unsettled and weak.

The feature of the market for the time being is the break in the Clearing House rate from 6 to 5 and 4 per cent. The 6 per cent. rate has been maintained for several months, but of late it had been more nominal than real, and the open quotation of a lower figure was therefore a matter of no surprise. Even at the reduced rates, little money was loaned. New York funds sold at par and 5 cents premium.

Closing bid and asked:

Mining Stocks.

	Bid.	Asked.		Bid.	Asked.
Adventure	6	6½	Old Colony	4	5
Allouez	2½	3	Old Dom	17½	17¾
Arcadian	13	14	Osceola	67½	68½
Arnold	5	..	Parrot	39½	40
Ash Bed	.50	.51½	Pioneer	1½	2½
Atlantic	25	26	Quincy	132	135
Baltic	17	18	Rhode Island	4½	4¾
Bos. & Cr.	.20	40	Santa Fé	5¼	5½
Bos. & Mont.	270	273	Santa Ysabel	6⅞	7
Butte & Bos.	45	50	Shoe	30	31
Cal. & Hecla	735	740	Tamarack	175	180
Centennial	15	16	Utah Cons	24	25
Franklin	14	14½	Washington	1⅛	1¼
Humboldt	1	2	White Knob	14	15
Isle Royale	21	22	Winona	4	4¾
Mohawk	14	15	Wolverine	38½	39½

Railroad Stocks.

Boston & A	239		Cen. M. pf.	60	65
Boston & L.	242	..	Fitchburg pf.	115	..
Boston & M.	196	199	N. Y. & N. E. 6s	118½	..
Boston & P.	800	..	N. Y. & N. E. 7s	114¾	..
Boston El.	95	..	West End	92½	93
Boston Gas 5s	80	..
Cent. Mass.	10	12

Miscellaneous Stocks.

Am. Bell Tel.	330	331	Mexican Tel.	3	3¼
Chi. Stk. Yds.	133½	135	N. Eng. Tel.	135	140
Dom. Coal	41½	42½	U. S. Oil	19	20
Dom. Coal pf	115	116	Westing. El.	40¼	..
Erie Tel.	.103	104½	West. El. pf.	..	63

CHICAGO QUOTATIONS.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Business continues on a narrow range. Biscuit common reached 37, after opening at 36⅞. It closed at 36⅞. The preferred sold at 93¼@92¾. Metropolitan preferred opened at 76¾ and closed at 76. The bonds brought 95½@95¾.

Sales.	High.	Low.	Close.
443 Linseed	14½	14½	14½
1,317 Linseed pf	54⅞	54¼	54⅝
5 Radiator pf	104¾	104¾	104¾
50 Strawboard	31½	31½	31½
60 Chi. Union Trac. pf	75¼	75	75
82 City Railway	275	275	275
848 Lake St. Elevated	12¾	12	12¾
1,195 Lake St. El. ctfs	11	10¼	10¾
525 Metropolitan El. pf	76¾	76	76
560 National Biscuit	37	36¾	36⅞
22 National Biscuit pf	93¼	92¾	92¾
70 National Carbon pf	83	82½	82½
1 North Chicago	220	220	220
10 Union Loop	100	100	100
118 West Chicago	111¼	110¾	111

PHILADELPHIA PRICES.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23.—Trading today was about as uninteresting as it well could be. Many stocks were not dealt in at all, while in the rest sales were few and far between. Prices generally were motionless, but where there was any display of urgency in the selling low quotations were made. Marsden, Philadelphia Electric, and Asphalt were inclined to be weak, although their recessions were limited to small fractions. Elsewhere the changes were too unimportant to be noticed.

The close was about steady at these bid and asked prices:

	Bid.	Asked.		Bid.	Asked.
Cambria	21¾	21⅞	Union Trac.	38	38¼
Choctaw	34	..	U. Gas & I.	153½	154½
El. Co. of A.	12½	12⅝	Welsbach Lt.	42	45
Marsden	12¼	12½	W. N.Y.& P.	6⅞	7
Phila. Trac.	96¾	97

MINING STOCK QUOTATIONS.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—The official closing quotations for mining stocks to-day and Monday were as follows:

	Tuesday.	Monday.
Alta	.02	.02
Alpha Con.	.02	.02
Andes	.07	.07
Belcher	.11	.11
Best & Belcher	.27	.26
Billion	.04	.04
Caledonia	.49	.50
Challenge Con.	.19	.19
Chollar	.27	.27
Confidence	.65	.65
Con. Cal. & Va.	1.60	1.65
Con. Imperial	.01	.01
Crown Point	.12	.12
Gould & Curry	.23	.24
Hale & Norcross	.40	.40
Julia	.02	.02
Justice	.03	.02
Kentucky Con.	.02	.03
Lady Washington Con.	.02	.02
Mexican	.33	.35
Occidental Con.	.18	.18
Ophir	.69	.71
Overman	.06	.06
Potosi	.32	.31
Savage	.17	.17
Sag Belcher	.02	.02
Sierra Nevada	.49	.49
Standard	2.50	2.35
Syndicate	.05	.05
St. Louis	.07	.07
Union Con.	.30	.31
Utah Con.	.04	.04
Yellow Jacket	.23	.23
Silver bars	.60	.59
Mexican dollars	47¾@48¼	47¾@48¼
Drafts, sight	12½	12½
Telegraph	.15	.15

Special to The New York Times.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Jan. 23.—Gardner & Co. report closing quotations as follows:

	Tuesday. Bid.	Asked.	Monday. Bid.	Asked.
Acacia	38¾	39	40	40½
Alamo	15	16½	15½	16
Anaconda	40	41	42	42½
Anchoria	80	85	80	85
Argentum	21	22	20	20½
Bankers'	13½	13¾	13½	13¾
Battle	33	33½	32¾	33⅜
Blue Bell	12	12½	12½	13½
Coin	257½	265	250	260
Columbine	20¼	20½	20	20⅝
Consolidated	16	16½	16	16½
Damon	28¾	29¼	29½	29⅝
Elkton	118	119½	119½	119⅞
El Paso	34	35½	34¾	35
Findlay	14½	14¾	14¾	15
Fleece	29	31	29	31
Garfield	15⅞	16	15¾	16
Gilton	28	29½	29	30
Gould	32⅜	33½	32½	33½
Isabella	129¾	130¼	130½	130⅞
Independence	56	57	55½	56
Jackpot	59½	60	59	60
Kipg	100	103	98	101
Moon Anchor	69½	71	69½	70
Matoa	28	30	26	30
National	11¼	11⅝	11⅝	11⅞
Ophir	62½	65	57	62
Pharmacist Con	14½	14½	14⅜	14⅝
Pinnacle	26	29½	26⅝	27
Portland	237	240	237½	240
Raven	83	83½	83⅜	84½
Rawlings	29¾	30½	30	31
Rosa	62¼	65	61½	65
Sovereign	13½	14	13½	14
Tornado	45⅝	47	47½	48½
Union	44	44½	44⅜	44⅞
Vindicator	150	160	150	160
Work	29¾	30¼	30½	30⅝
Zenobia	22	22½	21⅞	23

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

Complete Transactions in Stocks—Tuesday, Jan. 23, 1900.

Closing Bid.	Closing Asked.	Sales.		First.	High.	Low.	Last.	Net Change.
38½	39	2,032	American Ice	37½	38¾	37½	38½	+ ⅝
73	75	13	American Ice pf	73	73	73	73	..
60	60⅛	280	Am. Car & Found. pf	60¼	60½	60¼	60¼	− ¼
33½	34	600	American Cotton Oil	33⅝	34¼	33⅝	33¾	..
94	95	200	Am. Cotton Oil pf	94	94¼	94	94¼	+ ¾
30	33	200	American District Tel	32	32	32	32	−1½
13½	14¼	195	American Linseed	14⅜	14⅜	14⅜	14⅜	− ¼
54½	55	430	Am. Linseed pf	54⅜	55	54⅜	54⅜	− ¼
27	28	100	Am. Malting Co. pf	27	27	27	27	−1
37½	37¾	1,050	Am. Smelt. & Ref	39	39	37⅝	37⅝	−1⅝
88	89	185	Am. Smelt. & Ref. pf	89	89	89	89	..
46⅝	46¾	4,820	Am. Steel & Wire	48	48	46¾	46¾	−1¼
90	90½	350	Am. Steel & Wire pf	90½	90½	90½	90½	− ¼
115⅞	116	33,320	Am. Sugar Ref. Co	117⅝	118½	115⅝	116	−2¼
92	96	50	Am. Tel. & Cable Co	96	96	96	96	..
42	42½	100	Am. Steel Hoop	42¼	42¼	42¼	42¼	+ ¼
79½	81	150	Am. Steel Hoop pf	80	80	80	80	−1
98½	98¾	20,754	American Tobacco	100¾	101¾	98½	98⅝	−1⅞
39½	39⅝	250	Anaconda Copper	39¾	39¾	39¾	39¾	− ⅞
10	10½	200	At., T. & S. F	19⅝	19¼	19	19	− ⅞
60⅛	60¼	7,070	At., T. & S. F. pf	60¼	61	60¼	60¼	−1
56⅝	57	6,545	Baltimore & Ohio	58½	58½	56⅜	56⅜	−1½
73¾	74	2,030	Baltimore & Ohio pf	74⅝	74⅝	73¾	73¾	−1⅝
70¼	70½	42,295	Brooklyn Rapid Tran	72½	73¾	70½	70½	−2⅛
145½	147	100	Brooklyn Union Gas	146	146	146	146	..
15¼	15¾	2,025	Brunswick City	15⅝	16	15	15⅞	+ ⅛
92	100	90	Buf., Roch. & Pitts. pf	99	100	99	100	..
49	50	200	Canada Southern	49⅞	49⅞	49¼	49½	− ⅜
93⅝	93¼	600	Canadian Pacific	93⅜	93¾	93¼	93½	− ⅞
29⅜	29½	2,770	Chesapeake & Ohio	30¼	30¼	29½	29½	− ⅝
38	40	100	Chicago Con. Traction	39½	39½	39½	39½	− ½
121½	121¾	5,895	Chi., Bur. & Quincy	122⅝	122⅝	121¼	121⅜	−1½
13¼	13⅜	2,480	Chicago Great West	13½	13⅝	13¼	13⅜	+ ⅛
75⅜	76	450	Chi. Gr. West. pf., A	75½	75¾	75½	75⅝	+ ⅜
38¼	38½	445	Chi. Gr. West. pf., B	38½	39	38¼	38½	+ ⅛
15	16¼	100	Chi., Ind. & Louis	16⅜	16⅜	16⅜	16⅜	+ ⅜
45	45½	100	Chi., Ind. & Louis, pf	46	46	46	46	−2
117½	117⅝	7,460	Chi., Mil. & St. Paul	118⅞	118⅞	117½	117½	−1½
170	172	10	Chi., Mil. & St. P. pf	170	170	170	170	..
159¾	161½	240	Chicago & Northw	161	161	161	161	− ¼
..	..	45	Chicago & Northw. pf	190	190	190	190	..
106	106⅛	1,212	Chi., R. I. & Pac	107	107	106	106	− ⅜
10½	11	300	Chicago Term. Trans	11	11	11	11	+ ¼
34	36	750	Chi. Term. Trans. pf	35	36	35	35	+ ½
60½	61	560	C., C., C. & St. L	61	61	60¼	60½	−1¼
105	108	30	C., C., C. & St. L. pf	108¼	108¼	108¼	108¼	..
53	54	400	Cleve., Lor. & W. pf	51	53	51	53	+1½
41⅜	42	1,185	Colorado Fuel & Iron	43	43	41½	41½	−1⅝
22½	23¼	400	Colorado Midland pf	23	23½	23	23½	− ⅛
5¼	5½	200	Colorado Southern	5⅝	5⅝	5⅝	5⅝	− ⅛
43	43½	250	Col. Southern 1st pf	43	43	43	43	− ⅛
15	15½	200	Col. Southern 2d pf	15	15	15	15	− ⅛
189	190¼	926	Consolidated Gas	188	191½	188	190	+3
32¼	32¾	1,905	Continental Tobacco	32⅝	33	32¼	32½	− ⅜
84	86¼	300	Continental Tobac. pf	86¾	86¾	86¾	86¾	+ ⅛
114	115	200	Delaware & Hudson	116	116	115¾	115¾	+ ¼
17	18	150	Denver & R. G.	18	18	18	18	..
12⅜	13½	200	Dul., S. S. & At. pf	13¼	13¼	13¼	13¼	+ ¼
32¼	32¾	300	Erie 1st pf	32⅝	32⅝	32¾	32¾	..
..	..	300	Erie Tel. & Tel., rts	1	1	1	1	..
41¼	43	10	Evans, & T. H.	43	43	43	43	..
50	50⅛	4,480	Federal Steel	51⅞	51⅝	50	50	−1⅝
73½	74	85	Federal Steel pf	74	74	74	74	..
122½	123¼	250	General Electric	123	123	123	123	+ ¼
52¼	53	3,340	Glucose Sugar Ref	52	53⅜	52	52⅝	+ ⅛
99⅜	100	315	Glucose Sugar Ref. pf	98⅝	100	98⅝	100	+1½
59⅛	60½	132	Hocking Valley pf	59⅞	59⅞	59⅞	59⅞	− ⅛
113⅛	114	1,086	Illinois Central	114	114½	114	114½	+ ¼
67⅜	68¼	770	International Paper pf	67½	67⅝	67¼	67¼	+ ⅛
9	10	200	International Silver	9¼	9¾	9¼	9¾	+ ⅛
50½	52	225	Iowa Central pf	51	51	51	51	+ ⅛
12	13	262	Kanawha & Michigan	12⅜	12⅜	12⅜	12⅜	+ ⅛
8⅜	9	100	K. C., P. & G., t. r	8⅝	8⅝	8⅝	8⅝	+ ⅛
73½	80	300	Laclede Gas	79½	79½	79½	79½	+ ⅛
70⅜	79½	5,283	Louisville & Nashville	81	81	79¼	79¼	−1⅞
64,553	93	1,000	Manhattan Con	94	94⅞	93	93	− ⅝
165⅞	166	6,985	Met. Street Railway	166	168¼	165¼	165⅞	+ ⅛
11⅞	12¼	750	Mexican Central	12⅛	12⅜	12	12	+ ⅛
..	..	430	Mexican National ctfs	4⅛	4⅛	4	4	− ¼
..	..	100	M., S. P. & S. S. M	16⅜	16⅜	16⅜	16⅜	..
15,500	..	..	Missouri Pacific	43⅜	43⅞	42⅝	42⅝	− ¾
..	..	25	National Biscuit Co	37¼	37¼	37¼	37¼	..
..	..	300	National Lead Co	26	26	26	26	− ½
..	..	130	National Lead Co. pf	105½	105½	105½	105½	+ ½
..	..	425	National Steel	42	42	41½	41½	−1
..	..	270	National Steel pf	92¼	92⅜	92¼	92¾	+ ⅜
..	..	200	New Jersey Central	116⅜	116⅜	116⅝	116⅝	−1⅛
..	..	2,190	New York Central	133⅜	133⅞	133	133	−1
..	..	1,000	N. Y., Ont. & West	21⅞	22	21½	21½	− ½
..	..	3,625	Norfolk & Western	25¼	25¼	24½	24½	− ⅞
..	..	1,356	Norfolk & West. pf	70⅜	70⅜	70	70	−1
..	..	114	North American	13⅜	13⅜	13⅜	13⅜	− ⅞
..	..	1,975	Northern Pacific	51⅜	51⅝	50⅜	50⅜	−1⅝
..	..	1,080	Northern Pacific pf	74⅜	74⅝	73½	73½	− ⅞
..	..	200	Ontario Mining	8⅝	8⅝	8⅝	8⅝	− ⅛
..	..	1,625	Pacific Mail	44¼	44¼	42⅝	42⅝	−1½
..	..	1,866	Pennsylvania R. R	129¼	129⅝	128⅝	128⅝	−1⅛
..	..	150	Penn. R. R., sub. r	127½	127½	127¼	127¼	− ⅝
..	..	3,795	People's Gas, Chicago	105¼	105¼	103½	103⅝	−1⅝
..	..	335	Peo., Dec. & Evans	2½	2½	2½	2½	..
..	..	200	Peoria & Eastern	6½	6½	6½	6½	+1
..	..	540	Pressed Steel Car	56½	56⅝	56¼	56¼	− ⅛
..	..	100	Pressed Steel Car pf	88	88	88	88	− ⅛
..	..	130	Pullman Company	189	189	189	189	− ⅝
..	..	1,500	Reading 1st pf	51½	51½	50½	50½	− ⅜
..	..	100	Reading 2d pf	28	28	28	28	+ ⅛
..	..	720	Republic Iron & Steel	21⅜	21⅜	20¾	20¾	− ⅛
..	..	300	St. J. & G. I	6	6	6	6	− ⅛
..	..	280	St. L. & San Fran	9¼	9¼	9¼	9¼	..
..	..	310	St. L. & S. F. 2d pf	33	33	32½	32⅞	− ⅜
..	..	700	St. Louis Southw	12	12	11½	11⅝	− ¼
..	..	825	St. Louis Southw. pf	28½	28½	27½	27½	−1¼
..	..	10,770	Southern Pacific	38⅜	38⅝	37⅜	37⅝	− ½
..	..	1,400	Southern Railway	11⅝	11⅝	11⅜	11⅜	..
..	..	854	Southern Railway pf	54½	54⅞	53⅞	53⅞	−1½
..	..	185	Standard R. & T	9¼	9¼	9¼	9¼	+ ⅛
..	..	575	Tenn. Coal & Iron	84¾	84¾	84	84½	−1¼
..	..	500	Texas Pacific	16	16	15½	15½	− ½
116¼	116½	10,164	Third Avenue	117	118	116½	116¾	+ ⅜
..	..	30	Twin City R. T. pf	137½	137½	137½	137½	..
21¼	22	100	Union Bag & Paper	22	22	22	22	− ½
71	100	100	Union Bag & Paper pf	75½	75½	75½	75⅛	+ ⅛
46¾	47	9,385	Union Pacific	47¼	47¼	46¼	46⅝	−1⅝
75⅝	75⅞	3,810	Union Pacific pf	75⅝	75⅝	75	75	− ⅞
47	49	10	United States Express	48	48	48	48	..
15⅝	15¾	39,725	United States Leather	17⅛	17⅝	15⅝	15¾	−2
75½	76	1,080	U. S. Leather pf	75½	78½	75½	75½	− ½
40¾	40¾	10	United States Rubber	40½	40½	40½	40½	..
101¼	102¼	10	U. S. Rubber pf	102¾	102¾	102¾	102¾	..
7½	7¾	200	Wabash	7⅝	7⅝	7⅝	7⅝	+ ⅛
20¾	21¼	100	Wabash pf	21⅜	21⅜	21⅜	21⅜	+ ⅛
120	126	25	Wells-F

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Upper Broadway Corner Sold for Improvement—Other Dealings by Brokers and at Auction.

Charles E. Schuyler & Co. have sold for Le Grand K. Pettit the southeast corner of Broadway and One Hundred and Second Street, 75 by 100, to a builder, who will erect thereon a seven-story apartment house.

Schuyler & Co. have also sold for John McSweeney the two five-story flats 3,130 and 3,132 Broadway, just south of One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street, each 32.6 by 65 by 75.

Herbert A. Sherman, in conjunction with Bryan L. Kennelly, has sold for Charles T. Harbeck, as executor, for $27,500, the four-story dwelling, 135 West Seventieth Street, 20 by 80 by 100, to Jesse C. Bennett, for his own occupancy.

It is reported that William B. Franke has bought the plot at the northwest corner of West End Avenue and Seventy-ninth Street. The owner of record of this property is Thomas H. O'Connor. Mr. Franke recently sold his Monticello apartment house, at the northeast corner of West End Avenue and Seventy-ninth Street, to ex-Mayor Abram S. Hewitt.

Russell Sage has sold to Joseph Hamershlag, for an expressed consideration of $1,000, the northwest corner of Central Park West and Sixty-seventh Street, 25.5 by 100. Mr. Hamershlag gives a mortgage to Mr. Sage for $30,000, payable in three years.

The Church of St. Aloysius yesterday took title to the property 209 to 217 West One Hundred and Thirty-second Street, from Christian Schmitt and others. The consideration for the five lots averaged about $12,000 per lot. The church obtained a mortgage from the Mutual Life Insurance Company for $45,000 on the property, payable in one year.

Charles R. Faruolo & Co. have leased for Elias Kempner to J. Pasquale and A. Palazzo the six-story tenements 517 and 519 East Fourteenth Street, for five years and three months, at an annual rental of $4,320.

The Realty Corporation of New York City took title yesterday to the Hoe tract, included by Westchester Avenue, the Southern Boulevard, and the Bronx River. The purchasers gave back a five-year mortgage on the property for $495,000.

Results at Auction.

Yesterday's offerings in the Trinity Building Salesroom resulted as follows:

By James L. Wells.

3,760 and 3,762 Vanderbilt Avenue East, 20 and 15, respectively, by 150.5, two three-story frame flats; foreclosure sale, to J. C. Barr..... $8,000

By Peter F. Meyer & Co.

55 to 61 East One Hundred and Eighteenth Street, 120 by 100.11, four five-story brick flats; foreclosure sale, to the plaintiffs, Isaac M. Berinstein and others..... 48,500

19 Leroy Street, 25 by 90, five-story brick tenement, with three-story brick tenement at the rear; foreclosure sale, to William Brewster 11,000

26 East One Hundred and Twenty-ninth Street, 25 by 99.11, three-story frame dwelling; foreclosure sale, to the plaintiff, Laura Le Conteulx..... 10,375

To-day's Auction Sales.

The following sales at auction are down for to-day at 111 Broadway:

By Bryan L. Kennelly, public auction sale, 6 Park Place, south side, 122.7 feet west of Broadway, 25.1 by 81.9 and irregular, five-story brownstone-front building, with a two-story extension covering the lot.

By Bryan L. Kennelly, executor's sale, 30 West Forty-sixth Street, south side, 408 feet west of Fifth Avenue, 20 by 100.5, four-story brownstone-front dwelling.

By Bryan L. Kennelly, public auction sale, 256 West One Hundred and Thirteenth Street, south side, 325 feet east of Eighth Avenue, 17 by 100.11, three-story brick dwelling.

By William M. Ryan, foreclosure sale, Messmore Kendall, referee, Lorillard Street, northwest side, 176.3 feet east of Third Avenue, 50 by 100, vacant. Due on judgment, $900.

By William Kennelly, foreclosure sale, George H. Hart, referee, 135 West Eighty-third Street, north side, 325 feet west of Columbus Avenue, 25 by 102.2, five-story stone-front flat. Due on judgment, $8,778; subject to another mortgage for $22,000.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., partition sale, Edward Jacobs, referee, 652 Broadway, east side, about 57 feet south of Bond Street, 29 by 130, extending through to Cross Lane, five-story stone-front building.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., foreclosure sale, Charles Putzel, referee, 230 and 232 West One Hundred and Twenty-second Street, south side, 353 feet east of Eighth Avenue, each 34 by 100.11, two five-story brick flats. Due on judgment, on 230 $5,796; on 232, $5,824; subject to other mortgages, on each, for $35,000.

By Peter F. Meyer & Co., sale by order of the Sheriff, 116 West Seventy-ninth Street, south side, 125 feet west of Columbus Avenue, 25 by 102.2, four-story stone-front dwelling; all title and interest of Charles L. Bucki on May 29, 1895.

By John T. Boyd, foreclosure sale, Sylvester B. H. Ward, referee, 62 Grand Street, north side, 160 feet west of Wooster Street, 25 by 100, seven-story brick building. Due on judgment, $56,936.

THE BUILDING DEPARTMENT.

The only plans filed yesterday were for the following alterations:

No. 146 Grand Street, to a five-story brick and stone school; city, owner; C. B. J. Snyder, architect; cost, $3,200.

No. 61 West End Avenue, to a five-story brick tenement, with store; William Stubenbord of 219 West Thirty-eighth Street, owner; Werner & Windolph, architects; cost, $5,000.

Thirty-ninth Street, northwest corner of Eighth Avenue, to a four-story brick tenement and store; H. and M. King of 601 Eighth Avenue, owners; H. P. Knowles, architect; cost, $4,500.

Twenty-second Street, northeast corner of Second Avenue, to a five-story brick factory; Ottenburg Brothers, owners; C. A. French of 406 West Fifty-second Street, architect; cost, $1,000.

One Hundred and Seventy-seventh Street, northeast corner of Third Avenue, to a four-story brick store and meeting rooms; J. P. Friedhoff, owner; Kurtzer & Rohl, architects; cost, $1,500.

No. 184 South Street, to a five-story brick warehouse; W. J. Mathison of 182 Front Street, owner; G. P. Chappell, architect; cost, $2,500.

No. 311 Bowery, to a four-story brick tenement and store; Morris Hertz of 7 First Street, owner; D. N. B. Sturgis, architect; cost, $250.

Central Park West, Seventy-first to Seventy-second Street, to a twelve-story brick and stone hotel; Jacob Rothschild of 58 West Fourteenth Street, owner; Harding & Gooch, architects; cost, $500.

TWO BROADWAY LEASES.

Butchers and Drovers' Bank Secures New Quarters.

The National Butchers and Drovers' Bank, which recently sold its building at the northwest corner of the Bowery and Grand Street to the Bowery Bank, has leased the ground floor, consisting of about 4,800 square feet, in the building now being erected by Robert Hoe at the northwest corner of Broadway and Third Street. The bank will take possession of its new quarters as soon as the building is ready for occupancy, which will probably be about May 1. The lease is for a long term of years.

The ground floor of the building at the northeast corner of Broadway and Houston Street has been leased for a term of years to John Miles, the wholesale milliner. Both leases were negotiated through Julius Friend.

New Factory for Greenpoint.

Through the efforts of the Greenpoint Board of Trade the firm of Vogeley & Lackman, manufacturers of plate-glass mirrors, now having a factory on West Broadway, will move its plant to Greenpoint. The firm has purchased a plot of ground at Union Avenue and Withers Street, fronting 172 feet on each street. The firm will erect a three-story brick factory building, at a cost of $15,000. The firm employs about 150 hands.

Recorded Real Estate Transfers.

Tuesday, Jan. 23.

AMSTERDAM AV, s w corner of 179th St, 25x100; John Shea to Mary Shea..... 100

ARTHUR AV, e s, 275 ft n of Bayard St, 50x87.6; Augustus S. Nicholson and another to Alida McIlroy, quit claim..... 1

BERGEN AV, n w s, 153.8 ft s w of Brook Av, 38.10x39.3x19, gore; George Keller, Sr., to Barbara Keller..... 1

BRINCKERHOFF ST, n s, Lot 1,048, map of Lefferts Park, 26x132.11x25x143; James Demucci to Maria Toscano..... 700

BROOK AV, w s, 151 ft s of 168th St, 75.2x80, new lines; Chase Mellen, referee, to Charles Unangst..... 1,000

BROOME ST, 508 and 510, 41.10x irregular; George V. N. Baldwin to Walter L. Johnson 1

CANNON ST, 83 and 85, w s, 40x82; Isaac Cohn to Wolf Ballelsen, ½ part..... 1

CENTRAL PARK WEST, n w corner of 67th St, 25.5x100; Russell Sage to Joseph Hamershlag 1,000

CONVENT AV, n w corner of 133d St, —x100.1x200x100; Michael Hicks to Rosannah T. Hicks..... 1

DIVISION ST, 15, 12.6x½ block; Harris Mandelbaum and another to Israel D. Schlochetzky 1

EAGLE AV, w s, 78.8 ft n of Westchester Av, 25x97.1x25.1x94.10; Edward D. Bertine to Theodore M. Bertine..... 1

ELDRIDGE ST, e s, 103 ft s of Rivington St, 23x½ block; Charles Hartmann and another, executors and trustees, to Joseph Polstein 79,000

ELMWOOD PLACE, s s, 100 ft w of Clinton Av, 25x122.11x25x122.4; Ella J. Breckenridge to John L. Brower..... 1

LOTS 13, 14, and 15, map of 156 lots of Charles A. Stadler; Chase Mellen, referee, to Charles Unangst..... 500

LOT 23, map of 300 lots of the McGraw estate; James C. de la Mare, referee, to Christina Pott..... 3,750

NILES ST, s s, 175 ft w of Bainbridge Av, runs 122.2 ft to Mosholu Parkway x w 25.2x n 124.5 to Niles St x e 10.3x e 15.11; Edmund Hayes to Barber Asphalt Paving Company 1

PARK AV, e s, 240 ft s of 171st St, 40x150; Edward D. Bertine to Patrick H. Brown 1

PROSPECT AV, e s, 188.11 ft n of Westchester Av, 80.5x85.4x irregular; Daniel Farrell to Peter McDowell..... 1

PROSPECT AV, e s, 162 ft n of Westchester Av, 26.11x65.5x28.5x56.3; Daniel Farrell to Charles W. McDowell..... 100

PLOT begins 100 ft e of Union Av, and 136.3 ft s of 168th St, runs s 78.8s s e 64s n 80.5x w 64 ft; Thomas Farley to Elizabeth T. Bell..... 500

RIVERSIDE DRIVE, OR AV, e s, 925 ft n of 122d St, 25x86; James D. Putnam to Francis M. Jencks..... 1

ST. ANN'S AV, n w corner of 156th St, 105x84.7x90.11x153; Morris Neufeld and another to Julius G. Miller..... 1

SEDGWICK AV, w s, Lot 1, map of property of Lewis G. Morris, 25x100; Emily Sammis to Estelle L. Biggert..... 1

TINTON AV, 816, 16.9x110; Catharine McClusky to Sarah McDonald, 1-5 part..... 1

TINTON AV, 815, 16.9x110; Sarah McDonald to Bernhard Petzold..... 1

TINTON AV, 815, 16.9x100; Margaret Costello and others to Sarah McDonald..... 1

TINTON AV, w s, 147.9 ft n of 168th St, 184x110; Matilda P. White, as executrix, to Robert W. Todd..... 25,000

WATER ST, 149, 20.8x—x20x—; Henry Rosenwald and another, executors, &c., to Joseph E. and Alexander E. Hoffman 1

WATER ST, 143 and 145, 41.2x irregular; Henry Rosenwald and another, executors, &c., to Emma Rosenwald..... 1

WATER ST, 390 and 390½, 20.6x80.2x20.4x60.2; Margaret Foley to Bernard Golden.

WESTCHESTER AV, s e corner of Westchester to Hunt's Point Road or Southern Boulevard, runs n e — x e — to Bronx River x s — x w 140x s w 1.021x s e to s s of Franklin Av x n w 685.7 to Southern Boulevard x n — to beginning; Mary S. Hoe to Real Estate Corporation of New York City..... 1,000

1ST AV, e s, 100 ft s of 2d St, 45x100, map of Olinville; James H. Biggam to Abigail J. Purdy 1

1ST AV, e s, 75.8 ft s of 93d St, 25x94; Myer Hellman to Henry J. Lippe... 1

7TH AV, w s, 25 ft n of 132d St, 49.11x100; George W. Eggers to Thomas O'Gara..... 100

5TH ST, 739 East, 23x97; Louis Cohen to Esther Alexander Weiss and another.....

11TH ST, s s, 242.9 ft e of Avenue B, 0.3x94.8; Adolph Wexler to Harris Goldberg, quit claim..... 1

11TH ST, n s, Lot 301, map of Unionport, 100x108; Catherine Van Winkle, individually and as executrix, to Catharine E. Allison 50

11TH ST, n s, Lot 301, map of Unionport, 100x108; William T. Van Winkle and another to Catharine E. Allison.... 1

14TH ST, s s, 91.6 ft e of 2d Av, 19.6x103.3x irregular; Betty Leventritt to Mary Katz..... 1

16TH ST, 220 West, 25x103.3; Ray Karpas to Huda Wittner..... 1

26TH ST, n s, 527 ft w of 10th Av, 48x98.9; Simon Heron to Albert Blechner.. 1,572

35TH ST, n s, 294.9 ft w of 7th Av, 21.1x98.9; 35th St, n s, 505.3 ft e of 8th Av, 21.7x98.9; Thomas O'Gara to George W. Eggers 100

36TH ST, n s, 201.5 ft e of 8th Av, 33.8x98.9; James Clarke to Patrick Geoghegan

52D ST, n s, 275 ft w of 10th Av, 25x100.5; John J. Jones, executor and trustee, and another to Meyer Solomon..... 15,450

52D ST, n s, 275 ft w of 10th Av, 25x100.5; Meyer Solomon to Kate Jordan..... 1

66TH ST, s s, 100 ft e of 5th Av, 20x100.5; Henry Rosenwald and another, executors, &c., to Mathilda Veith..... 1

70TH ST, n s, 300.6 ft w of 3d Av, 15.6x100.5; Daniel A. Moran to Mary L. Moran 1

72D ST, s s, 125 ft e of West End Av, 25x112.2; Lydia R. Coffin to William F. Ingamells 1

80TH ST, n s, 225 ft e of 1st Av, 25x102.2; Sylvester L. H. Ward, referee, to Rachel Redelsheimer..... 2,850

96TH ST, n s, 141 ft e of Columbus Av, 21x100.11; Eugene H. Pomeroy, referee, to Mary H. Myer, trustee..... 17,000

104TH ST, s s, 125 ft e of 2d Av, 25x100.11; Antonio Caggiano to Teresa Ferro, ½ part..... 5,000

112TH ST, s s, 150 ft w of 8th Av, 50x100.11; Frederick W. Meyer to James H. Cassidy 26,250

118TH ST, n s, 90 ft e of Madison Av, 120x100.11; Charles D. Davison, referee, to Isaac M. Bernstein..... 20,000

118TH ST, s s, 400 ft e of 8th Av, 34 ft to St. Nicholas Av x30.2x49.0x25.11; John J. Keegan to the Catholic Church of St. Thomas 1

119TH ST, s s, 307 ft w of Lenox Av, 18x100.11; Daniel O'Connell, referee, &c., to Michael Feeney 16,600

119TH ST, s s, 289 ft w of Lenox Av, 18x100.11; Daniel O'Connell, referee, &c., to Michael Feeney 16,625

120TH ST, s s, 100 ft e of 2d Av, 19.5x100.11; John G. Maeder to Lydia Maeder. 1

132D ST, 211 West, 16.8x99.11; Christian Schmitt to the Church of St. Aloysius.. 12,000

132D ST, 213 West, 16.8x99.11; Anna Kuhse to the Church of St. Aloysius.... 11,800

132D ST, 215 West, 16.8x99.11; Johannes Just to the Church of St. Aloysius..... 11,800

132D ST, 215 West; Mary Costello to the Church of St. Aloysius..... 1

132D ST, 217 West, 16.8x99.11; Herman Just to the Church of St. Aloysius..... 11,800

132D ST, 209 West, 16.8x99.11; Alice Fitzgerald to the Church of St. Aloysius.... 11,750

132D ST, n s, 183 ft w of 7th Av, 16.8x99.11; Katharine Farrelly and another to the Church of St. Aloysius..... 12,000

135TH ST, n s, 179.8 ft e of Southern Boulevard, 33.11x75; Edward D. Bertine to Thomas J. McGuire 1

136TH ST, s s, 180 ft e of Willis Av, 15x100; Edward D. Bertine to Theodore M. Bertine 1

136TH ST, s s, 150 ft e of Willis Av, 15x100; Edward D. Bertine to Theodore M. Bertine 1

Recorded Leases.

DODD, MEAD & CO. to James W. Bell, Son & Co.; 5th Av, n w corner of 35th St, 10½ years..... $5,000 5,500

FAY, Michael, and another to Morris Geib and another; 104 Cannon St, s e corner of Stanton St, 5 years..... 960

FARRELL, Patrick, to John F. Farrell; 80 Cherry St, 5 years..... 2,400

HEYZER, Sarah M., to Samuel Abrahams; 256 6th Av, 3½ years..... $3,000 3,600

SMITH, John V., to Jacob I. Alter; 239 Stanton St, s w corner of Willett St, 3 years $1,320

TOWNSHEND, John, to Valentine Gies; Park Av, w s, 75.8 ft n of 109th St, 25.3x80, 2½ years 540

UNDERHILL, John Q., to John McGinnis; 140 Park Row, 9 11-12 years, $3,500, 5,500

Recorded Mortgages.

ALLISON, Catherine E., to George McCurrach; 1st Av, e s, Lot 1,157, map of Wakefield, 1 year 350

BACHRACH, Louis, to Mary L. Reed, guardian, &c.; 518 East 11th St, 5 years.

BANNEN, John, to St. Lawrence University of Canton, N. Y.; St. Ann's Av, n w corner of 148th St, 3 years..... 25,000

BIGGERT, Estelle L., to American Baptist Home Mission Society; Sedgwick Av, w s, Lot 7, map of property of Louis G. Morris, 1 year 2,700

BRODERICK, Michael J., to John Hardy; Morris Av, e s, 50 ft s of 158th St, 1 year 1,500

BRYAN, Annie V., to City Trust Company; 122 West 83d St, 5 years..... 13,000

BRYAN, Annie V., to Margaret R. Bateman; Amsterdam Av, e s, 70.4 ft n of 74th St, 1 year 4,000

CALL, William, to Sarah A. Purdy; 132 West 76th St, 3 years..... 18,000

CASS, John, to William Marshall and another; Fordham Av, n w s, 540 ft from King's Bridge Road, 1-3 year..... 1,000

CASSIDY, James H., to Frederick W. Meyer; 112th St, s s, 150 ft e of 8th Av, 1 year 13,250

CASSIDY, James H., to Frederick W. Meyer; 112th St, s s, 150 ft e of 8th Av, 1 year..... 1,500

CASSIDY, James H., to Germania Life Insurance Company; 112th St, s s, 150 ft e of 8th Av, 1 year..... 41,500

CHURCH OF ST. ALOYSIUS OF THE City of New York to the Mutual Life Insurance Company; 209 to 219 West 132d St, 1 year..... 45,000

CLEMENT, Anna M., to Henry Roemer; 142d St, n s, 314.4 ft e of Boulevard, 3 years..... 14,000

DONOHUE, Philip F., to Cecilia A. Murphy; Anthony Av, n w corner of Travers St, ½ part; also Jerome Av, n e corner of Travers St, ½ part, 3 years. 5,000

EGGERS, George W., to Julius Wolff; 35th St, n s, 294.9 ft w of 7th Av; also 36th St, n s, 505.3 ft e of 8th Av, 3 years 20,000

EYMER, Bertha and John L., to Marie C. Wintjen; White Plains Road, w corner of Kossuth Av, 2 years..... 1,000

FEENEY, Michael, to Sarah A. Purdy; 119th St, s s, 307 ft w of Lenox Av, 3 years 14,000

FEENEY, Michael, to Arthur Schwarzenbach; 119th St, s s, 289 ft w of Lenox Av, 3 years..... 14,000

FERRO, Joseph, and wife to Antonio Caggiano; 104th St, s s, 125 ft e of 2d Av, 2 years 1,000

GEHRIG, Anton J., and wife to Frederick and Catharine Dillemuth; 156th St, n s, 150.11 ft w of Elton Av, 3 years..... 600

HAMERSHLAG, Joseph, to Russell Sage; Central Park West, n w corner of 67th St, 3 years 30,000

HART, Nathan S., to Rosetta Hart; 348 West 16th St, 1 year 7,500

HEFFERMAN, James J., to Elizabeth L. Fowler; 120 West 68th St, 3 years..... 14,000

HOHL, Charles, to Philip Lahn and wife; Union Av, w s, 28 ft n of 166th St, 3 years..... 5,000

HOHL, Charles, to Philip Lahn and wife; Union Av, w s, 68 ft n of 166th St, 3 years 5,000

HOHL, Charles, to Philip Lahn and wife; Union Av, w s, 48 ft n of 166th St, 3 years..... 4,500

INGAMELLS, William F., to Washington Life Insurance Company; 258 West 72d St, 5 years..... 60,000

JORDAN, Kate, to Meyer Solomon; 52d St, n s, 275 ft w of 10th Av, 1 year..... 2,000

KATZ, Mary, to Betty Leventritt; 14th St, s s, 91.6 ft e of 2d Av, 1 year..... 7,500

KEMPF, Lillie H. and Otto J., to Equitable Life Assurance Society; 117 West 124th St, 2 years..... 8,000

KIGHT, Alonzo H., to Edward and Henry Hirsh; Central Park West, w s, 50.5 ft n of 66th St, secures advances..... 21,500

LANE, Elizabeth, to Sallie Greenthal; 226 West 37th St, 4 years..... 2,500

LEE, Eucheris A., to F. & M. Schaefer Brewing Company; 140 Park Row, saloon lease, demand..... 2,500

McDOWELL, Charles W., to Peter McDowell; Prospect Av, widened, e s, 162 ft n of Westchester Av, widened, demand 2,000

MISHKIND, Isidor, to Samuel Kahn; Madison St, s s, 104.6 ft e of Rutgers St, 2½ years..... 8,500

O'BRIEN, Mary S., and Agnes B. Colahan to Bowery Savings Bank; 221 and 223 East 35th St..... 3,000

PETZOLD, Bernhard, to Harlem Savings Bank; Tinton Av, w s, 141.8 ft n of Cedar St, 1 year..... 2,250

POLSTEIN, Joseph, to Henry F. C. Rahe; 180 Eldridge St, 1 year..... 15,000

POLSTEIN, Joseph, to American Mortgage Company; 178 Eldridge St, 1 year..... 13,000

POLSTEIN, Joseph, to American Mortgage Company; 178 Eldridge St, 1 year..... 2,000

POMEROY, Clara T., to the Bowery Savings Bank; 40 Fulton St, 1 year..... 5,000

REAL ESTATE CORPORATION OF NEW York City to Mary S. Hoe; Westchester Av, s e corner of Southern Boulevard, extends to Bronx River, &c., 5 years.. 495,000

ROBERTSON, John, and William Gammie to Frank and William F. Dunning, trustees, &c.; Prospect Av, n w corner of Ritter Place, 286.7 ft Jennings St, 3½ years 18,000

SCHLACHETZKY, Israel D., to Harris Mandelbaum and another; 15 Division St, installments 1,000

SOLOMON, Meyer, to Terence Jacobson; 52d St, n s, 275 ft w of 10th Av, 1 year 12,000

TODD, Robert W., to Matilda P. and James W. White, executors, &c.; Tinton Av, w s, 147.10 ft n of 168th St, 3 years. 20,000

WALLACE, Robert, to John Duer, trustee, &c.; 103d St, s s, 118 ft e of West End Av, 3 years 22,000

WALLACE, Robert, to John Duer, trustee, &c.; 103d St, s s, 136 ft e of West End Av, 3 years 22,250

WALLACE, Robert, to John Duer, trustee, &c.; 103d St, s s, 189 ft e of West End Av, 3 years 19,250

WALLACE, Robert, to Frances J. Gasquet and another, trustees; 103d St, s s, 154 ft e of West End Av, 3 years..... 22,000

WALLACE, Robert, to Sarah A. Jarvis, trustee, &c.; 103d St, s s, 100 ft e of West End Av, 3 years 22,000

WALLACE, Robert, to Peter Moller, Jr., and others, trustees; 103d St, s s, 172 ft e of West End Av, 3 years..... 20,000

WALLACE, Robert, to Joseph Hamershlag and another; 103d St, s s, 100 ft e of West End Av, ½ year 10,500

WOLFF, Etta, to Frederick Hinners; 132d St, n s, 210 ft e of Lenox Av, 3 years... 500

Assignments of Mortgages.

ADELSON, Thomas, and another to Sender Jarmulowsky..... Nom.

CLINCHY, Arthur H., to Robert B. Johnson, trustee $3,000

COIT, Emily E., guardian, to Clarence A. Eustaphine ..... Nom.

CRIMMINS, John D., to Mutual Life Insurance Company 70,000

DICKERSON, John S., and another, trustees, to United States Trust Company.. Nom.

ELSWORTH, Ada S., to Charlotte Le H. Ferry 8,000

ERNST-MARX-NATHAN COMPANY to Title Guarantee and Trust Company.... 19,250

FRIEDRICH, Charles H., trustee, to Montrose R. Richard ..... Nom.

HAGAN, Caroline A., to Isabella Greacen, re-recorded..... 5,200

HASSENFRATZ, Louis, to Elizabeth Hassenfratz..... 1,600

JOHNSON, Robert B., trustee, to the Park Mortgage Company 3,000

MURPHY, Joseph, Jr., to John C. Barth.. Nom.

ROSENWALD, Henry, and another, trustees, to Matilda Veith..... Nom.

ROSENWALD, Henry, and another, trustees, to Matilda Veith..... Nom.

ROSENWALD, Henry, and another, trustees, to Emma Rosenwald..... Nom.

SCHUSTER, Ludwig D., to Margaretha Schuster 1,000

SUTPHEN, John L., executor, &c., to L. Irving Reichner, executor, &c..... 15,000

SUTPHEN, John, executor, &c., to L. Irving Reicher, executor, &c..... 65,000

THE METROPOLITAN IMPROVEMENT Company to Frederick M. Peyser, trustee

THE NORTHERN BUILDING SAVING and Loan Association to Margaret E. Waters 2,250

THE CITY MORTGAGE COMPANY to Henry W. Ford, trustee..... 100

THE LAWYERS' MORTGAGE INSURance Company to Thomas Morrissey..... 5,000

TITLE GUARANTEE AND TRUST Company to James R. Willets and another, trustees, &c..... 8,000

TITLE GUARANTEE AND TRUST COMpany to North River Savings Bank..... 20,000

TITLE GUARANTEE AND TRUST COMpany to General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen 10,000

WANDELL, Caroline, to Josephine Van Boskerck 15,000

Mechanics' Liens.

BLEECKER ST, s e corner of Jones St, 27x80; Rider-Ericsson Engine Company against Mordecai S. Kauffman and Amelia Glass, owners and contractors... 212

GOERCK ST, 23 and 25; Hyman Delinsky against Pauline Aronowitz, owner and contractor 100

MANHATTAN AV, e s, extends from 117th to 118th St, 201.10x100; New York Architectural Terra Cotta Company against the Hyne Construction Company, owner and contractor 2,440

MONROE ST, n s, 175 ft w of Jackson St, 75x100; Bornstein Brothers against Joseph Freedman, owner and contractor. 300

MONROE ST, n s, 175 ft w of Jackson St, 75x100; Wiedbusch & Schwartz against Joseph Freedman, owner; Joseph Freedman, owner and contractor 1,550

MONROE ST, 255 to 259; Rider-Ericsson Engine Company against Jonas Freedman, owner; Joseph Freedman, owner and contractor..... 637

WEST END AV, 148; Ralph H. Reid against Henry R. Hinckley and J. M. Knox, owners; Walker & Dean, contractors 49

3D AV, w s, 100.2 ft s of 173d St, 50x95.8; Ferdinando Alfenito against Elias Feldman, owner and contractor..... 200

5TH AV, w s, 50 ft n of 13d St, 50x100; Steel Mantel Company against Thomas J. Jenkins, owner and contractor 17TH ST, 319 West; Tobias & Aronson against Sarah C. or Mrs. John Quinn, owner and contractor..... 15

25TH ST, 425 and 427 West; Robert G. Kenny against John and Henry Hencken, owners and contractors..... 4,579

93D ST, 24 East; George Alexander against Henry D. and Gismond D. Greenwald, owners; F. Klingman & Co., contractors 675

113TH ST, s s, 200 ft w of 1st Av, 150x100; Rudolph Werner against David Cohen, owner and contractor..... 125

113TH ST, n s, 270 ft w of 3d Av, 75x100; Josepho Marckato and others against Meyer Bookstaver and others, owners and contractors..... 300

149TH ST, s s, 170 ft e of Morris Av, 50x106.6; the Legate Stone Company against Enrichetta and Maria Biondi, owners; Biondi Brothers, contractors .. 118

163D ST, s s, 200 ft e of Amsterdam Av, 100x100; the New Jersey Adamant Manufacturing Company against John H. Styles, owner and contractor..... 282

BUILDING LOAN CONTRACT UNDER CHAPTER 418, LAWS OF 1897.

112TH ST, s s, 150 ft w of 8th Av, 50x100.11; Frederick W. Meyer, with James H. Cassidy, 11 payments..... $30,000

Lis Pendens.

HILLSIDE ST, s e s, at n e s of Plot 145, map of 128 acres of the Isaac Dyckman estate, known as Fort George property, 108x209.9 to 11th Av x 152.9x312.6; the Batavia and New York Wood Working Company against Jennie M. Tompkins and others, (foreclosure of mortgage;) attorneys, McKelvey & Mattocks.

LOTS 109 and 110, map of 330 lots at Woodlawn Heights, Twenty-fourth Ward, 40x100; Ellen Blackburn against Charles W. Furber and others, (foreclosure of mortgage;) attorney, J. J. Brady.

ORCHARD ST, 15; Department of Buildings against Kate Friedman and another, (violation of building laws;) attorney, E. Otterbourg.

WHITE PLAINS ROAD, s w corner of 6th St, 114x105; Ignatius E. Dickert against Josephine M. O'Brien and others, (partition;) attorney, J. W. Bartram.

7TH AV, 311 to 317; the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States against Thomas S. Godwin and others, (foreclosure of mortgage;) attorneys, Olcott & Mestere.

11TH ST, 327 to 331 East; also 213 and 176 2d Av; Marie Kunzemann, individually and as executrix, against Jacob Kunzemann and others, (action to recover possession, &c.;) attorney, A. Palmeri.

41ST ST, s s, 269 ft e of 2d Av, 16x98.9; Amasa W. Saltus against Abraham Frankel and others, (foreclosure of mortgage;) attorney, F. S. Wait.

107TH ST, s s, 200 ft w of 3d Av, 25x100.5; William C. Wood against Carl Roedelsperger and others, (foreclosure of mortgage;) attorney, M. E. Haviland.

60TH ST, n s, 325 ft e of 11th Av, 25x100.5; Cecilia Hollmann against Margaret Mooney and others, (foreclosure of mortgage;) attorney, C. A. Clark.

90TH ST, s s, 137.6 ft e of 9th Av, 18.9x100.8; Francis O. De Luze and another, executors, &c., against Maggie E. Forster and another, (foreclosure of mortgage;) attorney, B. M. Whitlock.

12TH ST, n s, 150 ft e of 8th Av, 28x99.11; Eleventh Ward Bank against George Finck and others, (foreclosure of mortgage;) attorney, G. S. P. Stillman.

FEDERAL COURTS.

United States Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Supreme Court of the United States.

96—William Wheeler Hubbell, appellant, vs. the United States.—Leave granted to file supplemental brief herein on motion of William Wheeler Hubbell in propria persona.

12—The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, petitioner, vs. Nellie Phinney, executrix, &c.—Argument continued by Julien T. Davies for the petitioner, by Stanton Warburton for the respondent, and concluded by Julien T. Davies for the petitioner. Leave granted to counsel to file additional briefs within one week.

113—Samuel Castner, Jr., et al., petitioners, vs. W. H. Coffman, doing business as the Pocahontas Coke and Coal Company, &c.—Argument commenced by Arthur Briesen for the petitioners.

Call for Wednesday: 113, 114, 117, 118, 119, 120, 121, (and 408,) 123, 124, 125.

Calendars for Wednesday, Jan. 24.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT OF APPEALS—Wallace, Lacombe, and Shipman, JJ.—Court opens in Room 124 Post Office Building at 10:30 A. M.

94—Cons. Fastener Co. vs. Hays.
92—Cons. Fastener Co. vs. Bradt.
11—Wales vs. Waterbury Mfg. Co.
41—Schiff vs. United States.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT—Brown, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. in Room 66 Post Office Building. In bankruptcy.

1626—In re N. Y. City District Water Supply Co.
1927—In re Upper N. Y. City Water Co.
1930—In re Moritz Bauer Discharges.
1435—Lawrence Marston
1817—Samuel Ritter.
1805—George S. Harral.
1333—William H. Bemlah.
1824—Agnes J. Leland.
1715—Harris Zimmerman.
1828—W. C. Romaine.
1731—Julius Schaumberger.
1811—Henry H. Elting.
1482—Joseph T. Mott.
1783—Isaac Windholz.
1780—John B. Pasca.
1760—Leopold Weiss.
1638—Perkins D. Fisher.
1800—Adolph Blitz.
1831—Joseph K. Emmet.
1243—Wise & Helm.
1630—Nicolas Bute.
Discharges under objection.
1755—Morris Becker.
1744—Garret D. Quackenbush.
Adjourned cases.
411—Schmetz & Schwerdt.
289—Albert B. Hilton.
1468—Charles A. Tinker.
1563—Victor A. Wilder.
257—Max Peller.
Adjourned motion.
1625—Louis Lowensohn.

STATE COURTS.

Court of Appeals.

People ex rel. Ward vs. Drake et al., Board of Public Works of Buffalo; in re statement of account of Gabriel, executor; in re separate application of McGreivey et al., for writ of certiorari to review action of Saratoga County Treasurer, &c.; in re separate applications of Matthews et al., to review action of Washington County Treasurer, &c.; People ex rel. Brooks, respondent, vs. Dillon, Mayor of New Rochelle; People ex rel. Moyers, respondent, vs. Dillon; People ex rel. Conovey, respondent, vs. Kearney.—Orders affirmed, with costs.

In re will of Lampson, deceased.—Judgment affirmed, with costs, to respondent, payable out of the estate.

The Second National Bank of Elmira, appellant, vs. Weston, executor.—Judgment reversed, new trial granted, costs to abide the event.

In re general assignment of Talmage et al., individually and as copartners.—Judgment and order affirmed, with costs.

People ex rel. American Banknote Company, appellant, vs. Morgan, Controller.—Judgment and order affirmed, with costs, on the ground that the Superintendent of Public Works has no power to make the contract with the relator.

In re application for removal of Rupp and another from office of Police Commissioner of Buffalo.—Appeal dismissed.

In re application to substitute Sargent as attorney; Berkley, respondent, vs. New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company.—Appeal dismissed, without costs.

To-day's calendar: 231, 234, 923, 349, 217, 235, 950, 238.

New York Calendars—This Day.

SUPREME COURT—Appellate Division—Recess.

SUPREME COURT—Appellate Term—For the hearing of appeals from City Court and Municipal Courts.—Recess.

SUPREME COURT—Special Term—Part I.—Andrews, J.—Opens at 10:30 A. M. Litigated motions.

1—Kerke vs. Lederer.
2—In re Hull.
3—Smith vs. Creamer.
4—Hees vs. Dougan.
5—Bush vs. Bush.
6—Werner vs. Franklin Nat. Bank.
7—Burton vs. Patterson
8—Gargan vs. York.
9—Daly vs. same.
10—Arfken vs. same.
11—Allen vs. same.
12—Armstrong vs. same.
13—Butler vs. same.
14—Began vs. same.
15—Berkley vs. same.
16—Brady vs. same.
17—Cronin vs. same.
18—Campbell vs. same.
19—Collins vs. same.
20—Chandler vs. same.
21—Capper vs. same.
22—Deevy vs. same.
23—Davis vs. same.
24—Driscoll vs. same.
25—Farley vs. same.
26—Flay vs. same.
27—Frazee vs. same.
28—Firneisen vs. same.
29—Faurot vs. same.
30—Funston vs. same.
31—Grabe vs. same.
32—Frauville vs. same.
33—Gallagher vs. same.
34—Hennessy vs. same.
35—Herlihy vs. same.
36—Kiernan vs. same.
37—Kenny vs. same.
38—Lang vs. same.
39—Lesson vs. same.
40—Meehan vs. same.
41—Mahoney vs. same.
42—Moody vs. same.
43—Milburn vs. same.
44—Millmore vs. same.
45—Mengoni vs. same.
46—Murphy vs. same.
47—Murray vs. same.
48—Mulcare vs. same.
49—Moore vs. same.
50—McDonough vs. same.
51—McCarthy vs. same.
52—McManus vs. same.
53—Oppenheim vs. same.
54—Powell vs. same.
55—O'Rorke vs. same.
56—Pollock vs. same.
57—Petrosino vs. same.
58—Powell vs. same.
59—Pepperted vs. same.
60—Rinders vs. same.
61—Rheaume vs. same.
62—Reith vs. same.
63—Rein vs. same.
64—Snyder vs. same.
65—Strausky vs. same.
66—Sullivan vs. same.
67—Taylor vs. same.
68—Thompson v

THE COMMERCIAL WORLD

CASH PRICES FOR STAPLES.

Wheat, No. 2 red	75¼
Corn, No. 2 mixed	40⅝
Oats, No. 2 mixed	29¼
Flour, Minnesota patents	$3.90
Cotton, middling	07⅞
Coffee, No. 7 Rio	08¼
Sugar, granulated	5.15
Molasses, O. K. prime	.38
Beef, family	12.75
Beef, hams	21.75
Tallow, prime	05¼
Pork, mess	10.75
Hogs, dressed, 160-lb.	06¾
Lard, prime	6.25
Iron, Northern, No. 1 foundry	23.00
Butter, Western creamery	.25

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—No. 3 Spring wheat, 60¾@64c; No. 2 red, 67@68c; No. 2 corn, 32½c; No. 2 white, 24¼@25½c; No. 2 rye, 55¾c; No. 2 barley, 38½c; No. 1 flaxseed, $1.50; prime timothy seed, $2.60; mess pork, per barrel, $9.52½@9.65; lard, per 100-lb, $5.80@5.90; short ribs sides, (loose,) $5.55@5.95; clover, contract grade, $6.35.

COTTON.—Those members of the trade who had counted upon broadening speculation and enhanced prices were doomed to disappointment yesterday. The movement was a sluggish professional business, with more sluggish fluctuation in values. The wind was nearly all taken from the bulls' sails by unfavorable advices from the English market. When the market opened, but little resistance was made to half-hearted efforts on the part of the more prominent shorts to liquidate long cotton. First sales revealed a decline of 1@3 points, and all through the morning the breach between Monday's closing figures and prevailing quotations gradually widened. Later in the day there were brief periods of stability, during which prices rebounded a point or two, but as a whole, the market was not a successful one from whatever quarter viewed. Receipts at the ports of late have been gradually creeping up to a formidable volume as compared with those of a year ago, and, although this increase was ascribed by amateur statisticians as merely the result of the forward movement of recent purchases by exporters, it gave rise to rumors that cotton had been extensively held back until the present time, and that from now on a heavier movement should be expected. The attitude of spot holders in the South toward American and European buyers remains the same. In all instances outside quotations are demanded, and every concession on the part of sellers is followed by a further rise in asking rates. Southern spot markets, middling quoted, were officially reported by wire as follows: New Orleans, 7⅝c; Mobile, 7¼c; Savannah, 7⅛c; Charleston, 7¾c; Wilmington, 7¼c; Baltimore, 7¾c; Augusta, 7 9-16c; Memphis, 7 9-16c; St. Louis, 7 9-16c.

Contract prices ranged as follows:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
January	....	....	....	6.85@6.95
February	....	....	....	6.90@6.95
March	6.80	6.90	6.80	6.95@7.00
April	....	....	....	7.00@7.10
May	6.90	7.15	6.90	7.10@7.15
June	....	....	....	7.15@7.20
July	7.05	7.20	7.05	7.20@7.25
August	....	....	....	7.25@7.30
September	7.20	7.35	7.20	7.30@7.35
October	7.20	7.30	7.20	7.35@7.40
November	....	....	....	7.35@7.45
December	7.50	7.50	7.50	7.45@7.50

FOREIGN MARKETS.—Santos, Good average Santos, 9⅝00; receipts, 14,000 bags, two days; stock, 544,000 bags. Hamburg—Market opened ¾ pfennig lower; at 2:30 P. M., ¾@1¼ pfennig net lower; sales, 16,000 bags. Havre—Market opened irregular, ½@⅝f lower; at 12 M., declined ⅛f; at 3 P. M., unchanged; at 5:30 P. M., unchanged on near months, and ⅛f higher on far months; sales, 37,000 bags. January, 43; February, 43.25; March, 43.50; April, 44; May, 44.25; June, 44.50; July, 45; August, 45.30; September, 46.75; October, 46; November, 46.26; December, 46.25. Rio—No. 7 Rio, 10@07⅝; exchange, 7 20-32d; receipts, 21,000 bags, two days; cleared for the United States, 13,000 bags; cleared for Europe, nothing; stock, 180,000 bags.

SUGAR.—Centrifugal, 4⅝c; muscovado, 3 15-16c; molasses, 3 11-16c.

METALS.—Iron—Northern, No. 1 foundry $23; Southern, No. 2 soft, $20.75; steel rails, $36; pig iron, warrants, nominal; lake copper, ingot, $16.50; tin, $27.50; exchange lead, $4.72½; spelter, $4.75; brokers' price for lead, $4.72½, and for spelter, $4.75.

OILS.—Petroleum, barrels, $9.90, and in bulk, $7.25; Philadelphia, barrels, $9.85, and in bulk, $7.20; refined, cases, New York, $11.10; deodorized naphtha, $11.25. Cottonseed Oil—Prime crude, barrels, 33c; prime Summer yellow, 35@36c; off Summer yellow, nominal; butter grades, 37@38c; prime white, 38@39c; prime Winter yellow, 38@39c. Linseed—American, raw, 53@54c; American, boiled, 55@56c; Calcutta, raw, 65c; boiled oil, 66c.

NAVAL STORES.—Tar, regulars, $1.85; tar oil, barrels, $3.90; spirits of turpentine, 53@53¼c. Resin—Common to good, strained, $1.62½@1.65; E, $1.70; F, $1.75; G, $1.80; H, $1.95; I, $2.05; K, $2.20; M, $2.50; N, $3; W G, $3.60; W W, $4.10.

SAVANNAH, Jan. 23.—Spirits of turpentine, 51c. Resin—A, B, C and D, $1.25; E, $1.30; F, $1.35@1.37½; G, $1.45; H, $1.70@1.75; I, $1.90; K, $2; M, $2.25; N, $2.65; W G, $3.15; W W, $3.65.

WILMINGTON, Jan. 23.—Spirits of turpentine, 50@50½c. Resin unchanged. Crude turpentine, $1.60@2.90. Tar, $1.25.

CHARLESTON, Jan. 23.—Turpentine, 50c. Resin unchanged.

LIVE STOCK.—BEEVES—There was no trading. CALVES—Veals, $6@$8.50; little calves, $4; fed calves, $4; city dressed veals, 9@12¾c per lb. SHEEP AND LAMBS—Sheep, $3.50@$4.75; medium to choice lambs, $6.50@$7; Canada lambs, $6.70. HOGS—$4.85@$5; pigs, $4.75@$4.90; State pigs, $5.

FUTURES.

NEW YORK PRICES.

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
Wheat—
May	72 9-16	73¼	72 9-16	73¼
July	72⅝	73⅝	72⅝	73⅝
Corn—
May	39 3-16	39⅝	39⅛	39⅝

CHICAGO PRICES.

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
Wheat—
May	66⅝	67 1-16	66⅜	67
July	67¼	67⅞	67 3-16	67⅝
Corn—
May	33	33¼	32⅞	33¼
July	33⅜	33⅞	33⅜	33⅞
Oats—
May	23⅜	23½	23¼	23½
July	22½	22 9-16	22½	22¾

BREADSTUFFS.—WHEAT—The net results of yesterday's wheat market were advances of ⅛@⅞c, with closing prices at the best point of the day and equal to the highest point attained on Monday. A stronger tone seemed to prevail than on the previous day, as there were fewer reactions, while the support came from several quarters and was well sustained throughout. So quickly were these declines recovered that they made little impression upon the minds of traders, and the bull element was disposed to look upon the day's developments as rather favorable. The chief influence of strength came from the same source as that of Monday; that is, the French markets, which made another gain of 20@40 points, making an advance since last Thursday equal to 5c per bushel. Crop accounts from France were of the usual bullish nature and generally accepted as the cause for continued strength. Early in the day unfavorable weather reports from the West proved to be of considerable influence on the market and led to some St. Louis buying. Foreign houses also took a little wheat, and scalpers bought on further advices of decrease of 1,254,000 bushels was noted in world's stocks, according to Bradstreet's, of which 1,900,000 bushels were made in European supplies. The Liverpool market showed ¾d loss at one time early in the day, but so far recovered that less prices were only ¼d under the previous night. Receipts at all interior points were 306,000 bushels, against 638,000 bushels a year ago.

DULUTH, Jan. 23.—Wheat—No. 1 hard, cash, 65¾c; No. 1 Northern, cash, 64⅜c; May, 66⅜c; July, 67⅝c; No. 2 Northern, 61⅞c; No. 3 Spring, 58⅝c.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 23.—Wheat—In store: No. 1 Northern, January, 63½c; May, 64⅜c; July, 65¾c. On track: No. 1 hard, 65⅝c; No. 1 Northern, 64⅛c; No. 2 Northern, 62¼c.

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 23.—Wheat—No. 1 Northern, 65¾@66c; No. 2 Northern, 65½@66c. Rye—No. 1, 55½@56c. Barley—No. 2, 46c; sample, 84½@44½c.

CORN—No. 2 corn, 40c for both elevator and delivered, and 40⅝c, free on board, afloat.

OATS—No. 2 oats, 29¼@29½c; No. 2 white, 31½c; No. 3 white, 31c; track mixed, 29@30c; track white, 31@35c; No. 2 white clips, 32c.

RYE—No. 1 Western, 61c, free on board, afloat; No. 2 Western, 60½c, free on board, afloat; State rye, 55@56c, cost, insurance, and freight, New York, car lots.

BARLEY—Feeding, 43½@47½c, cost, insurance, and freight, New York; malting, 50@53c, cost, insurance, and freight, New York.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 23.—Flour and bran unchanged.

FLOUR AND MEAL—Spring patents, $3.75@$4; Winter straights, $3.35@$3.45; Winter patents, $3.50@$3.80; Spring clears, $2.75@$3; extra No. 2, $2.35@$2.50; extra No. 1 Winter, $2.50@$2.65; rye, $2.60@$2.65; no grade, $18@$18.25 per ton, to arrive. BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—$2.15. RYE FLOUR—Fair to good, $3.15@$3.25; choice to fancy, $3.30@$3.50. CORNMEAL—Kiln-dried, $2.15@$2.25, as to brand. BAG MEAL—Fine, white and yellow, 85@90c; coarse, 75@82c. BRAN—In bulk, on spot, $17; sacks, to arrive, 200 lb, $17.50@$17.75; coarse Winter bran, $17@$18.50, latter white; middlings, $16@$18.50; city feed, $17.50@$18; hominy chop, $15.75@$16; oil meal, $26.

PROVISIONS.—PORK—Mess, $10.50@$11; family, $13@$18.50; short clear, $11.50@$12.50. BEEF—Mess, $10.50; family, $12.50@$13; packet, $11@$11.50; extra India mess, $21@$23; beef hams, $21.50@$22. DRESSED HOGS—Bacons, 6¼c; 180 lb, 6¼c; 160 lb, 6¼c; pigs, 6¾c. CUTMEATS—Smoking bellies, 6¾@7c; 10 lb, 6¼@6¼c; 12 lb, 6@6¼c; 14 lb, 5¾c; pickled shoulders, 6c; pickled hams, 9@9½c; Western greens, 8¾@9c; city greens, 9¾@9¾c. TALLOW—City, 5¼c; country, 5¼@5½c. LARD—$6.25; city lard, $5.75; refined lard, South America, $6.65; Continent, $6.45; Brazil, kegs, $7.80; compound, city, 5¾@6c; Western, 5¾@6c. STEARINE—Oleo, 7¼c asked; city lard stearine, 7½c.

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 23.—Closing: Beef—Extra India mess, 80s; prime mess 73s 9d. Pork—Prime mess, Western, 56s 8d. Hams—Short cut, 14 to 16 lb, 46s. Bacon—Cumberland cut, 20 to 30 lb, 32s 6d; short rib, 18 to 22 lb, 32s 6d; long clear middles, light, 30 to 35 lb, 34s; long clear middles, heavy, 35 to 40 lb, 33s 6d; short clear backs, 16 to 18 lb, 33s; clear bellies, 14 to 16 lb, 32s. Shoulders—Square, 12 to 14 lb, 33s. Lard—Prime Western, in tierces, 30s 6d; American refined, in pails, 32s 3d. Butter—Finest United States and good, nominal. Cheese—American finest, white, 57s 6d; American finest, colored, 58s. Tallow—Prime city, 27s 6d; Australian, in London, 27s 9d. Cottonseed Oil—Hull, refined, 21s 3d. Turpentine—Spirits, 39s 6d. Resin—Common, 4s 6d. Petroleum—Refined, 7¾d. Linseed Oil—24s.

COFFEE.—The outlook when the market opened yesterday morning was not a cheerful one either as regards the volume of speculation or the movement of prices. The European markets were seen to have broken heavily—considerably more than our decline of last night justified—and the crop movement in Brazil far exceeded expectations of the most hopeful bear. Coupled with these factors was an abnormally small movement from American warehouses, while demand for the spot article seemed to have run its course, at least for the time being. Prices declined 5@10 points at the opening, and during the forenoon the market showed feeble recuperative power. In the early afternoon, however, there was a decided change for the better in the general undercurrent of sentiment and tone of the market. At the close the market was firm in tone, with prices 5@10 points net higher. Total sales were 25,000 bags.

Contract prices ranged as follows:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
January	....	....	....	6.85@6.95
February	....	....	....	6.90@6.95
March	6.80	6.90	6.80	6.95@7.00
April	....	....	....	7.00@7.10
May	6.90	7.15	6.90	7.10@7.15
June	....	....	....	7.15@7.20
July	7.05	7.20	7.05	7.20@7.25
August	....	....	....	7.25@7.30
September	7.20	7.35	7.20	7.30@7.35
October	7.20	7.30	7.20	7.35@7.40
November	....	....	....	7.35@7.45
December	7.50	7.50	7.50	7.45@7.50

FOREIGN MARKETS.—Santos, Good average Santos, 9⅝00; receipts, 14,000 bags, two days; stock, 544,000 bags. Hamburg—Market opened ¾ pfennig lower; at 2:30 P. M., ¾@1¼ pfennig net lower; sales, 16,000 bags. Havre—Market opened irregular, ½@⅝f lower; at 12 M., declined ⅛f; at 3 P. M., unchanged; at 5:30 P. M., unchanged on near months, and ⅛f higher on far months; sales, 37,000 bags. January, 43; February, 43.25; March, 43.50; April, 44; May, 44.25; June, 44.50; July, 45; August, 45.30; September, 46.75; October, 46; November, 46.26; December, 46.25. Rio—No. 7 Rio, 10@07⅝; exchange, 7 20-32d; receipts, 21,000 bags, two days; cleared for the United States, 13,000 bags; cleared for Europe, nothing; stock, 180,000 bags.

SUGAR.—Centrifugal, 4⅝c; muscovado, 3 15-16c; molasses, 3 11-16c.

METALS.—Iron—Northern, No. 1 foundry $23; Southern, No. 2 soft, $20.75; steel rails, $36; pig iron, warrants, nominal; lake copper, ingot, $16.50; tin, $27.50; exchange lead, $4.72½; spelter, $4.75; brokers' price for lead, $4.72½, and for spelter, $4.75.

OILS.—Petroleum, barrels, $9.90, and in bulk, $7.25; Philadelphia, barrels, $9.85, and in bulk, $7.20; refined, cases, New York, $11.10; deodorized naphtha, $11.25. Cottonseed Oil—Prime crude, barrels, 33c; prime Summer yellow, 35@36c; off Summer yellow, nominal; butter grades, 37@38c; prime white, 38@39c; prime Winter yellow, 38@39c. Linseed—American, raw, 53@54c; American, boiled, 55@56c; Calcutta, raw, 65c; boiled oil, 66c.

NAVAL STORES.—Tar, regulars, $1.85; tar oil, barrels, $3.90; spirits of turpentine, 53@53¼c. Resin—Common to good, strained, $1.62½@1.65; E, $1.70; F, $1.75; G, $1.80; H, $1.95; I, $2.05; K, $2.20; M, $2.50; N, $3; W G, $3.60; W W, $4.10.

SAVANNAH, Jan. 23.—Spirits of turpentine, 51c. Resin—A, B, C and D, $1.25; E, $1.30; F, $1.35@1.37½; G, $1.45; H, $1.70@1.75; I, $1.90; K, $2; M, $2.25; N, $2.65; W G, $3.15; W W, $3.65.

WILMINGTON, Jan. 23.—Spirits of turpentine, 50@50½c. Resin unchanged. Crude turpentine, $1.60@2.90. Tar, $1.25.

CHARLESTON, Jan. 23.—Turpentine, 50c. Resin unchanged.

LIVE STOCK.—BEEVES—There was no trading. CALVES—Veals, $6@$8.50; little calves, $4; fed calves, $4; city dressed veals, 9@12¾c per lb. SHEEP AND LAMBS—Sheep, $3.50@$4.75; medium to choice lambs, $6.50@$7; Canada lambs, $6.70. HOGS—$4.85@$5; pigs, $4.75@$4.90; State pigs, $5.

SURROGATE NOTICES.

CARDWELL, SOPHIA.—The people of the State of New York, by the grace of God free and independent.—To ROBERT HEWITT, send greeting:

You are hereby cited and required personally to be and appear before our Surrogate of the County of New York, at the Surrogate's Court of said county, held at the County Court House, in the City of New York, on the twentieth (20th) day of February, 1900, at half-past ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to show cause why a decree should not be made awarding Letters of Administration of the goods, chattels, and credits which were of Sophia Cardwell, deceased, to Tillie Cardwell or to such other person or persons having a prior right as may be entitled thereto.

In testimony whereof we have caused the seal of the Surrogates' Court of the said County of New York to be hereunto affixed.

[L. S.] Witness, Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of our said county, at the City of New York, the 9th day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine.

J. FAIRFAX McLAUGHLIN, Clerk of the Surrogates' Court.

d13-1aw6wW&j24

BAILEY, DEBORAH ANN.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against DEBORAH ANN BAILEY, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscribers, at their place of transacting business, at the office of Willis Benet, 141 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, on or before the 7th day of March, 1900.—Dated New York, the 6th day of September, 1899. CHARLES BENNER, WILLIAM H. BAILEY, WILLIAM E. FROST, Executors. WILLIS BENNER, Attorney for Executors, 141 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York. s6-1aw6mW

DIECKMANN, CARL.—The People of the State of New York, by the grace of God free and independent, to HENRY A. DIECKMANN, Marie Dieckmann, Victor Dieckmann, and Ina Walz, and to all persons interested in the estate of CARL DIECKMANN, late of the County of New York, deceased, as creditors, legatees, next of kin or otherwise, send greeting:

You and each of you are hereby cited and required personally to be and appear before our Surrogate of the County of New York, at the Surrogates' Court of said county, held at the County Court House, in the City of New York, on the 16th day of February, 1900, at half-past ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend a judicial settlement of the account of proceedings of William Engelhardt, as executor of the last will and testament of said deceased, and such of you as are hereby cited, as are under the age of twenty-one years, are required to appear by your guardian, if you have one, or if you have none, to appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for you in the proceeding.

In testimony whereof, we have caused the seal of the Surrogates' Court of the said County of New York to be hereunto affixed.

[L. S.] Witness, Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of our said county, at the City of New York, the 15th day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine.

J. FAIRFAX McLAUGHLIN, Clerk of the Surrogates' Court.

GEO. B. & ED. GOLDSCHMIDT, Attorneys for Executor, 30 Broadway, New York. d27-1awTuW

ENGLE, ROBERT S.—The people of the State of New York, by the grace of God free and independent, to Agnes I. Gardner, Madame La Countess de Chevigne, Julia Tuck, Mary E. Merrihew, John J. Merrihew, Helen G. Stoddard, Sarah E. Homer, Fannie Thomas, Mary Lyons, Caroline Woolsey, Nellie B. Woolsey, Frank Richardson, Henry H. Rogers, William S. Engle, and to all other persons whose names and whose places of residence are unknown to the petitioner and cannot after diligent inquiry be ascertained, the heirs-at-law and next of kin of ROBERT S. ENGLE, late of the County of New York, deceased, send greeting:

Whereas, Susan A. Engle of the City of New York, has lately applied to the Surrogate's Court of our County of New York, to have a certain instrument in writing, relating to both real and personal property, duly proved as the last will and testament of Robert S. Engle, late of the County of New York, deceased, therefore you and each of you are cited to appear before the Surrogate of our County of New York, at his office in the County of New York, on the 30th day of January, one thousand and nine hundred, at half-past ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend the probate of the said last will and testament.

And such of you as are hereby cited, as are under the age of twenty-one years, are required to appear by your guardian, if you have one, or if you have none, to appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for you in the proceeding.

In testimony whereof we have caused the seal of the Surrogate's Court of the said County of New York to be hereunto affixed.

[L. S.] Witness, Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of our said County of New York, at said county, the 21st day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine.

J. FAIRFAX McLAUGHLIN, Clerk of the Surrogate's Court.

ja10-1aw6wW

GIGLIO, SILVESTRO.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Abner C. Thomas, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against SILVESTRO GIGLIO, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscriber, at her place of transacting business, No. 93 Nassau Street, in the City of New York, on or before the 23d day of August next.—Dated New York, the 23d day of January, 1900. PROVIDENCE GIGLIO, Executrix. ABEL CROOK, Attorney for Executrix, 93 Nassau Street, New York City. ja24-1aw6mW

SURROGATE NOTICES.

FITZGERALD, MARY A.—The People of the State of New York, by the grace of God free and independent, to THOMAS HODNETT, Richard Hodnett, Patrick Hodnett, and William Hodnett, the heirs and next of kin of MARY A. FITZGERALD, deceased, send greeting:

Whereas, John E. FitzGerald of the City of New York has lately applied to the Surrogate's Court of our County of New York, to have a certain instrument in writing, relating to both real and personal property, duly proved as the last will and testament of Mary A. FitzGerald, late of the County of New York, deceased, Therefore, you and each of you are cited to appear before the Surrogate of our County of New York, at his office in the County of New York, on the 18th day of February, one thousand nine hundred, at half-past ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend the probate of the said last will and testament.

And such of you as are hereby cited as are under the age of twenty-one years are required to appear by your guardian, if you have one, or if you have none, to appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for you in the proceeding.

In testimony whereof, we have caused the seal of the Surrogate's Court of the said County of New York to be hereunto affixed. Witness, Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of our said county, at the City of New York, the 9th day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine.

J. FAIRFAX McLAUGHLIN, Clerk of the Surrogates' Court.

d13-1aw6wW&j24

BAILEY, DEBORAH ANN.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against DEBORAH ANN BAILEY, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscribers, at their place of transacting business, at the office of Willis Benet, 141 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, on or before the 7th day of March, 1900.—Dated New York, the 6th day of September, 1899. CHARLES BENNER, WILLIAM H. BAILEY, WILLIAM E. FROST, Executors. WILLIS BENNER, Attorney for Executors, 141 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York. s6-1aw6mW

DIECKMANN, CARL.—The People of the State of New York, by the grace of God free and independent, to HENRY A. DIECKMANN, Marie Dieckmann, Victor Dieckmann, and Ina Walz, and to all persons interested in the estate of CARL DIECKMANN, late of the County of New York, deceased, as creditors, legatees, next of kin or otherwise, send greeting:

You and each of you are hereby cited and required personally to be and appear before our Surrogate of the County of New York, at the Surrogates' Court of said county, held at the County Court House, in the City of New York, on the 16th day of February, 1900, at half-past ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend a judicial settlement of the account of proceedings of William Engelhardt, as executor of the last will and testament of said deceased, and such of you as are hereby cited, as are under the age of twenty-one years, are required to appear by your guardian, if you have one, or if you have none, to appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for you in the proceeding.

In testimony whereof, we have caused the seal of the Surrogates' Court of the said County of New York to be hereunto affixed.

[L. S.] Witness, Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of our said county, at the County of New York, the 15th day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine.

J. FAIRFAX McLAUGHLIN, Clerk of the Surrogates' Court.

GEO. B. & ED. GOLDSCHMIDT, Attorneys for Executor, 30 Broadway, New York. d27-1awTuW

ENGLE, ROBERT S.—The people of the State of New York, by the grace of God free and independent, to Agnes I. Gardner, Madame La Countess de Chevigne, Julia Tuck, Mary E. Merrihew, John J. Merrihew, Helen G. Stoddard, Sarah E. Homer, Fannie Thomas, Mary Lyons, Caroline Woolsey, Nellie B. Woolsey, Frank Richardson, Henry H. Rogers, William S. Engle, and to all other persons whose names and whose places of residence are unknown to the petitioner and cannot after diligent inquiry be ascertained, the heirs-at-law and next of kin of ROBERT S. ENGLE, late of the County of New York, deceased, send greeting:

Whereas, Susan A. Engle of the City of New York, has lately applied to the Surrogate's Court of our County of New York, to have a certain instrument in writing, relating to both real and personal property, duly proved as the last will and testament of Robert S. Engle, late of the County of New York, deceased, therefore you and each of you are cited to appear before the Surrogate of our County of New York, at his office in the County of New York, on the 30th day of January, one thousand and nine hundred, at half-past ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend the probate of the said last will and testament.

And such of you as are hereby cited, as are under the age of twenty-one years, are required to appear by your guardian, if you have one, or if you have none, to appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for you in the proceeding.

In testimony whereof, we have caused the seal of the Surrogate's Court of the said County of New York to be hereunto affixed.

[L. S.] Witness, Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of our said County of New York, at said county, the 21st day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine.

J. FAIRFAX McLAUGHLIN, Clerk of the Surrogate's Court.

ja10-1aw6wW

GIGLIO, SILVESTRO.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Abner C. Thomas, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against SILVESTRO GIGLIO, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscriber, at her place of transacting business, No. 93 Nassau Street, in the City of New York, on or before the 23d day of August next.—Dated New York, the 23d day of January, 1900. PROVIDENCE GIGLIO, Executrix. ABEL CROOK, Attorney for Executrix, 93 Nassau Street, New York City. ja24-1aw6mW

REFEREES' NOTICES.

FRIES, JOHN CHARLES.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against JOHN CHARLES FRIES, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscribers, at their place of transacting business, at the office of Jno. Alex. Beall, their attorney, No. 150 Broadway, in the City of New York, Borough of Manhattan, on or before the first day of May, 1900.—Dated New York, the 26th day of October, 1899. LOUISA FRIES, LOUIS and ROSENSTEIN, Executors. JNO. ALEX. BEALL, Attorney for Executors, 150 Broadway, City of New York, Borough of Manhattan. o25-1aw6mW

GREMMLER, JOSEPH.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against JOSEPH GREMMLER, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same with vouchers thereof to the subscribers at their place of transacting business, the office of Coleman & Donohue, No. 203 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, on or before the 23d day of February, 1900, next.—Dated New York, the 15th day of August, 1899. CHARLES HEPS and LOUIS RUPP, Executors. COLEMAN & DONOHUE, Attorneys for Executors, 203 Broadway, N. Y. C.

HAINES, HARRIET A.—The People of the State of New York, by the grace of God free and independent.—To Rebecca Rylie, Pemella Snedeker, Emma Heerbrandt, Jennet Hilton, Ida Kassendieck Brunner, Ada Kassendieck, Emma Lansing, John Hawkins, Mary Hawkins Westerfield, George Hawkins, William Hawkins, Clara Hawkins, Addaline Pullis, Emeline Fountain, and Henrietta Tracy, the heirs and next of kin of Harriet A. Haines, deceased, send greeting:

Whereas, Simeon W. O'Donnel of the City of New York has lately applied to the Surrogate's Court of our County of New York to have a certain instrument in writing, relating to both real and personal property, duly proved as the last will and testament of Harriet A. Haines, late of the County of New York, deceased, therefore you and each of you are cited to appear before the Surrogate of our County of New York, at his office in the County of New York, on the 5th day of March, one thousand nine hundred at half-past ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend the probate of the said last will and testament.

And such of you as are hereby cited as are under the age of twenty-one years are required to appear by your guardian, if you have one, or if you have none, to appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for you in the proceeding.

In testimony whereof, we have caused the seal of the Surrogate's Court of the said County of New York to be hereunto affixed. Witness, Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of the said County of New York, at the City of New York, the 15th day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine.

J. FAIRFAX McLAUGHLIN, Clerk of the Surrogates' Court.

GEO. B. & ED. GOLDSCHMIDT, Attorneys for Executor, 30 Broadway, New York. d27-1awTuW

ENGLE, ROBERT S.—The people of the State of New York, by the grace of God free and independent, to Agnes I. Gardner, Madame La Countess de Chevigne, Julia Tuck, Mary E. Merrihew, John J. Merrihew, Helen G. Stoddard, Sarah E. Homer, Fannie Thomas, Mary Lyons, Caroline Woolsey, Nellie B. Woolsey, Frank Richardson, Henry H. Rogers, William S. Engle, and to all other persons whose names and whose places of residence are unknown to the petitioner and cannot after diligent inquiry be ascertained, the heirs-at-law and next of kin of ROBERT S. ENGLE, late of the County of New York, deceased, send greeting:

Whereas, Susan A. Engle of the City of New York, has lately applied to the Surrogate's Court of our County of New York, to have a certain instrument in writing, relating to both real and personal property, duly proved as the last will and testament of Robert S. Engle, late of the County of New York, deceased, therefore you and each of you are cited to appear before the Surrogate of our County of New York, at his office in the County of New York, on the 30th day of January, one thousand and nine hundred, at half-past ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend the probate of the said last will and testament.

And such of you as are hereby cited, as are under the age of twenty-one years, are required to appear by your guardian, if you have one, or if you have none, to appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for you in the proceeding.

In testimony whereof, we have caused the seal of the Surrogate's Court of the said County of New York to be hereunto affixed.

[L. S.] Witness, Hon. Frank T. Fitzgerald, a Surrogate of our said County of New York, at said county, the 21st day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine.

J. FAIRFAX McLAUGHLIN, Clerk of the Surrogate's Court.

ja10-1aw6wW

GIGLIO, SILVESTRO.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Abner C. Thomas, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against SILVESTRO GIGLIO, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscriber, at her place of transacting business, No. 93 Nassau Street, in the City of New York, on or before the 23d day of August next.—Dated New York, the 23d day of January, 1900. PROVIDENCE GIGLIO, Executrix. ABEL CROOK, Attorney for Executrix, 93 Nassau Street, New York City. ja24-1aw6mW

REFEREES' NOTICES.

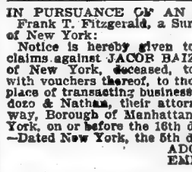
SUPREME COURT, NEW YORK COUNTY.—ARNOLD L. SCHEUER (STEPHEN PERRY STURGES, substituted as plaintiff,) against CHARLES BROWN and others, defendants.—In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale made and entered in the above entitled action dated August 30th, 1899, I will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, by Peter P. Meyer, Auctioneer, at the New York Salesrooms, Hannifed, No. 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 16th day of February, 1900, at twelve o'clock noon, the lands and premises in the said judgment mentioned and therein described as follows: All that certain lot, piece, or parcel of land, with the buildings and improvements thereon erected, situate, lying, and being in the Thirteenth Ward of the City of New York, and bounded and described as follows, viz.: Beginning at a point on the southerly side of Rivington Street, distant twenty-four feet and two inches easterly from the southeasterly corner of Rivington and Goerck Streets; from thence running easterly along the southerly side of Rivington Street thirty-seven feet and five inches; thence southerly and parallel with Goerck Street seventy-five feet; thence westerly and parallel with Rivington Street thirty-seven feet and six inches, and thence northerly and again parallel with Goerck Street seventy-five feet to the point or place of beginning.—Dated New York, January 22nd, 1900. WILLIAM F. GRELL, Sheriff.

LOUIS LEAVITT, Deputy Sheriff.

ROBY & TAYLOR, Plaintiff's Attorneys, 40 Wall Street, Manhattan, New York City.

The following is a diagram of the property to be sold:

Rivington Street.



The approximate amount of liens or charges to satisfy which the above described property is sold is $7,928.09-100, with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent. per annum from August 30, 1899, together with costs and allowance amounting to $474.25, with interest thereon and the expenses of the sale. That the approximate amount of taxes, assessments, and other liens which are to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money or paid by the Sheriff is nothing.—Dated January 22, 1900. WILLIAM F. GRELL, Sheriff.

LOUIS LEAVITT, Deputy Sheriff.

j24-2aw2wW&F&f14

REFEREES' NOTICES.

NEW YORK SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF New York.—GEORGE RAUCHFUSS, plaintiff, against LOTTIE M. FOWLER, ELLEN BYRNES, and others, defendants.

In pursuance of an interlocutory judgment of partition and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action bearing date the 18th day of December, 1899, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 24th day of January, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by Peter F. Meyer, auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

All that certain lot, piece, or parcel of land, with the building and improvements thereon erected, situate, lying, and being in the Twenty-second Ward of the Borough of Manhattan, and City of New York, and located in Section Four, on Block 1,234, on the land map of the City of New York, and bounded and described as follows, viz.: Beginning at a point on the northerly side of Eighty-third Street, distant three hundred and twenty-five feet westerly from the corner formed by the intersection of the northerly side of Eighty-third Street with the westerly side of Columbus (formerly Ninth) Av

BOY ACCUSES A POLICEMAN

Messenger's Charge Against Teator Under Investigation.

Story of the Alleged Finding of a Pocketbook and Division of Its Contents.

Milton H. Teator, a policeman connected with the Mercer Street Station, Capt. Chapman's command, was transferred to the East Twenty-second Street Station by order of Chief Devery last Saturday night, "for the good of the service." This is the usual information vouchsafed to the public when the Chief decides on transfers. In this instance it appears, according to Inspector Thompson, that the patrolman's conduct is still under investigation, although he continues to wear the uniform of the department and was on post yesterday afternoon.

The circumstances leading up to Teator's transfer occurred on Monday of last week in Fourteenth Street, where he was then on duty, and the charges on which he was brought before the Inspector last Thursday were made by Thomas Flashlan, a messenger boy in the employ of the American District Messenger Company's branch office in the Morton House. Just what Flashlan told to the Inspector could not be learned from that official. The boy, however, when seen at the office yesterday, said, in the presence of Manager Montgomery, that the story as set forth below was exactly the one he told to Capt. Chapman and to Inspector Thompson, with the exception of the alleged subornation practiced on him in the corridor of Police Headquarters.

On Monday, Jan. 15, in the forenoon, Flashlan said, he was out on a messenger call. While returning to the office, and as he was passing along Fourteenth Street, between Broadway and University Place, he saw a woman kick a pocketbook that she had either dropped or that had been lying on the walk. The boy darted forward and picked up the purse. He had no more than done so when a "barker" employed by a dental concern in the vicinity grabbed him, and, taking the pocketbook from him, passed it to Policeman Teator, who was standing by. Flashlan had had time to peep into the pocketbook and saw that it contained a goodly roll of bills. As soon as Teator got hold of the purse the boy said he jumped on a car going east on Fourteenth Street. Flashlan said he followed the car and asked the policeman what he had done with the pocketbook.

"I gave it to the lady it belonged to," was, according to the boy, the reply of the policeman.

Flashlan said he then went to the office, reported on his call, and obtained permission of the manager to go out to see a policeman on the corner. He found Teator, he said, in conversation with the employe of the dental establishment, and demanded to know to whom he had given the pocketbook. The boy said that Teator then pulled the pocketbook from his hip pocket, and, passing it to the "barker," told the latter to go into the hallway, take the money out, and give the messenger 75 cents. The man did as he was bid, and gave the messenger a dollar bill to get changed. When Flashlan came back he gave a twenty-five-cent piece to the dental man, and Teator, he said, then handed him the pocketbook, which was empty, and told him to throw it into the sewer.

"And did you do it?" the boy was asked.

"Yes, I did it because the cop told me," said he.

Flashlan said he then reported the facts to Manager Montgomery, who sent him at once to Capt. Chapman. The latter made out a complaint, which was sent to Inspector Thompson at Headquarters, and a few days later the boy was told to appear and tell his story before the Inspector. In relation to this he told the following story:

"I was told to go to 300 Mulberry Street and see Inspector Thompson. When I got to the place there were a lot of policemen standing in the hallway down stairs, and as soon as I came in several of them took me to one side and told me the most when I was brought up before the Inspector and the policeman was pointed out to me I must say that I was not sure he was the man. The whole thing frightened me, and I didn't know what to do, but I was told several times that I must say this. When I went up to the Inspector's office there were several policemen in the outer office, and they told me the same thing, but more quietly. Then I went in and told the story as I have told it here, to the Inspector. Teator was sitting in the room, and Inspector Thompson said to me, 'Is this the man?'"

"What did you say?" he was asked.

"I said I was not sure. Then I was told that I could go, and that's the last I heard of the thing."

Inspector Thompson was seen at Headquarters and asked about the affair. "The boy," he said, "told several different stories; but I won't talk of the case while it is under investigation." Chief Devery also refused to say anything about the matter.

Flashlan's story of being approached in the corridor of Headquarters is not a new experience. Chiefs Conlin and McCullagh several times issued orders that on trial days the corridors should be kept clear of policemen, it having come to their ears that friends of the accused policemen had sent witnesses away, telling them that the cases had been postponed. When the cases were afterward called and the witnesses did not appear the complaints were dismissed.

Hundreds have been cured of dangerous Lung and Throat troubles with JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT. For names, residences, and dates, see Jayne's Medical Almanac. Free, at your druggist. —Adv.

COLLARS.

2,000 dozen,—4 ply linen.
Eighteen varieties of shape, including the fashionable high "turn over," "Military," "lap," "space," and Standard models.
Round or square corners.
These are the standard 15 cent Collars,—taken from regular stock.
$1.25 per dozen.
65 cents per half dozen.
Sold during the sale, by the dozen and half dozen only.

JAMES McCREERY & CO.,
Broadway and 11th St.

$3.00
Monarch Pats
The Patent Leather Shoe That Won't Break Thro'
Don't Pay $3.00 for This Shoe.
WE ARE SELLING THEM AT
$2.45
All Styles. All Widths.
BYCK BROS
DOWNTOWN STORE ONLY,
S. W. Corner Fulton and Nassau Sts.

ROYAL
Baking Powder

Made from most highly refined ingredients and free from alum and ammonia.

Royal Baking Powder may cost a little more per can, but it insures perfect, wholesome food. In fact, it is more economical in the end, because it goes further in leavening and never spoils the food.

Royal Baking Powder used always in making the biscuit and cake saves both health and money.

The low-grade, cheap powders contain alum and lime, and injuriously affect the stomach and kidneys.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 100 WILLIAM ST., NEW YORK.

YING HONG'S BODY COMING HERE

Dead Man Said to Have Been the Wealthiest Chinese in America.

The body of Ying Hong, Grand Master of the Chinese Order of Lun Gee Tong in the United States and Canada, is on its way to this city from Toronto, where he died Saturday. The body will lie in state at the New York headquarters of the society, at 16 Pell Street, until Friday, when the funeral will be celebrated with a great feast.

According to New York representatives of the society, the dead Grand Master was the wealthiest Chinese in America and the proprietor of laundries all over the country. The society rooms on Pell Street have been decorated with red bunting in preparation for the funeral services, and are dim with the smoke of incense burning in honor of the dead man.

MAGISTRATE POOL INJURED.

His Head Cut by a Trolley Car on Amsterdam Avenue.

Magistrate Pool, who, in the customary shifting of Magistrates, has had ten days' freedom from court duties, goes to the Harlem Court this morning. He will carry with him a lively recollection and visible marks of an encounter with an Amsterdam Avenue trolley car. The marks consist of a cut over the right eye, requiring three stitches to close it, and a consequent court-plaster disfigurement. The recollection is about as follows:

Monday morning the Magistrate started from his home to come down town. He has always avoided trolley cars, both as destroyers of man and agencies of transportation, and he says of them, "You never know when you are going to sit down or get on or off." So, as was his custom, he started for the Eighty-first Street elevated station to take a Sixth Avenue train. It was necessary for him to cross Amsterdam Avenue. The Magistrat e let a northbound surface car pass him before crossing, and then, seeing none approaching from the opposite direction, he stepped out into the middle of the avenue. Just as he was about to step from the south track a car running swiftly struck him. He was insensible for a moment, but soon revived in a near-by drug store. Yesterday Magistrate Pool was able to be about.

Lecture on "The Castled Rhine."

Garrett P. Serviss will deliver the fifth lecture in the course on "Romance of Travel and History" at the Berkeley Lyceum, 19 West Forty-fourth Street, this morning at 11 o'clock. His subject will be "The Castled Rhine." He will give a description of the Rhine from its source to the ocean, together with the legends concerning the points along its banks.

The bargain-pot is still boiling.
Plenty of fuel on hand to keep it hot.
Men's shoes: Black Calfskin, Russet, Vici Kid, Button, Blucher, Lace, High Skating.
Most of them were $4.50 and $5.
Take pot-luck at $2.25.

ROGERS, PEET & Co.
350 Broadway, cor. Leonard.
569 Broadway, cor. Prince.
Thirty-second and Broadway.

BARS OUT DIPHTHERIA PATIENTS

S. R. Smith Infirmary Has an Outbreak of Erysipelas to Cope With.

There was a meeting of the medical staff of the S. R. Smith Infirmary at New Brighton, S. I., yesterday, and at its conclusion it was announced that for the present no more diphtheria patients could be taken at the contagious disease wing of the institution. This action was not taken because of the wing being crowded, but because the wing is needed for other uses.

Several cases of erysipelas have broken out in one of the wards of the institution. It was decided that ordinary methods were not equal to the task of stamping it out, so it was arranged to remove all the patients to the contagious disease wing and keep them under observation and treatment there. Meanwhile the ward will be thoroughly overhauled and the walls torn out and replaced.

The hospital cases of diphtheria occurring in the borough will now have to be brought to Manhattan or Brooklyn for treatment.

Fire Captains Retired.

Capt. George W. Van Cott of Engine Company No. 134, of Brooklyn, and Capt. Andrew Gaffney of Engine Company No. 9, in East Broadway, Manhattan, were placed on the retired list yesterday. Capt. Van Cott was retired on the certificate of the Brooklyn fire surgeons, having been on the sick list for more than a year. Capt. Gaffney was retired on his own application, having served more than twenty years on the force. Both men will receive pensions of $1,000.

UPRIGHT BOILER EXPLODES.

Building in Front Street Damaged and an Engineer Injured.

A large upright boiler on the second floor of the five-story building at 53 Front Street exploded yesterday morning, breaking nearly all the windows in the building, tearing a large hole in the floor, and injuring Charles Williams, the engineer of the building. Williams, who was taken to the Hudson Street Hospital, lives at 6 St. Edwards Street, Brokolyn. Several other men on the same floor were cut and injured slightly by flying fragments of glass and iron. Williams was standing near the boiler when the explosion occurred. The beams of the ceiling of the second floor were twisted and bent by the force of the explosion, but a Building Inspector who examined the structure decided that it was safe.

Henry Adams, dealer in molasses and syrups, occupies the building. His loss is about $1,000. The damage to the building was about the same amount.

$20,000 for an Aggrieved Husband.

Frederick C. Hinkle obtained a verdict for $20,000 in the Supreme Court yesterday in his suit against John C. Hayes to recover $50,000 damages for the alienation of the affections of his former wife. The suit, which was tried before Justice Gildersleeve, was a sequel to the divorce suit brought by Mr. Hinkle against his wife, a year ago, in which Mr. Hayes was named as co-respondent. Mr. Hinkle is a traveling salesman, while Mr. Hayes is a Wall Street broker. Soon after Hinkle obtained his decree of divorce Hayes and Mrs. Hinkle were married.

Silk.

15,000 yards Fancy Taffetas and Novelty Silks,—including corded and fancy weaves,—stripes, plaids and checks.
Various textures,—suitable for shirtwaists, trimmings or gowns.
75 cents, $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50 per yard;
Formerly $1.25 to $3.50 per yard.

Black Satin Brocade,—floral and conventional figures,
75 cents per yard;
Formerly $1.25.

James McCreery & Co.,
Twenty-third Street.

Sale.
Ladies' Shirt Waists.
Second Floor.

100 dozen. Made of imported Madras, fancy Piques, Embroidered, hemstitched Lawn, Sateen Broche, novelty French Percale, fancy white Madras and Madapolam.
Various handsome designs,—stripes or detached figures. Tailor-made.
$2.00 each;
Usual prices, $3.50, $4.00 and $6.50.

James McCreery & Co.,
Twenty-third Street.

FLINT'S FINE FURNITURE
CONSTRUCTION—THAT'S IT.

That makes your old pieces heirlooms and in our new pieces that will make them heirlooms, too. Construction is paramount and is the part you see least. We would like to point this out to you, so come in and see many odd pieces reduced this month, especially in bedroom and dining room furniture. Yet if none of these will fit, and you have a corner that is contrary, we will gladly furnish a design and estimate specially low just now. Either way—from the floor or made to order, you can get CONSTRUCTION, when you

"BUY OF THE MAKER"
GEO. C. FLINT CO.
43 45 AND 47 WEST 23D ST
NEAR BROADWAY.
FACTORY 154 AND 156 WEST 19TH STREET

AMUSEMENTS.

Koster & Bial's
Great Lafayette, Marion Manola, Marie Jansen, Ritchie, Binns & Binns, the 5 Cornallos Sisters, McNulty, Solaret, Others. Mat. TO-DAY, 50c.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC. 14th St. & Irving Pl. Always Crowded. "WAY DOWN EAST." Prices, 25, 50, 75, $1. Mats. To-day & Sat. 2. Ev. 8:10.

Great Sale of Laces! | Great Sale of Laces! | Great Sale of Laces!

O'Neill's.

Beginning To-Day, Wednesday,
A Great Three Days' Sale of
Laces, Nets and Flouncings
At Less Than Fifty Cents on the Dollar.

We have been preparing for this sale since the first of the year and have gathered the largest stock ever offered at any special sale in New York—not old, out-of-date trash, but new, fresh goods, suitable for Garments, Gowns and Trimmings. We quote below a few of the prices—no doubt they will interest you, but that is not all we want. We want you to be convinced, to come to this sale beginning to-day and see for yourself the great values we offer. We promise you you will not be disappointed.

Chantilly, Spanish, Spanish Guipure, Llama, Cluny, Oriental, Duchesse, Renaissance, Point de Paris, Point d'Alencon and Point Gaze Laces, mostly in match sets,
Formerly 18c. to 75c. yard,
7c. to 25c. yard.

Silk Chantilly, La Tosca and Russian Drapery Nets, Plain, Figured and Chenille Dotted, in Black, Cream and Colors, 45 inches wide,
Worth 1.50 to 2.50 yard,
65c. and 95c. yard.

Very fine Black All-Silk Chantilly Lace Drapery Nets, latest designs and made of the best silk, 45 inches wide,
Cost to import 3.50 yard,
1.48.

Chantilly, Spanish and Spanish Guipure Silk Lace Flouncings in Black, White and Cream, 45 and 48 inches wide,
Import price 1.45 to 2.50 yard,
65c. yard.

Black Spangled and Beaded Nets, 27 inches wide,
Former prices 1.75 and 2.00 yard,
75c. yard.

Cluny Lace, All-Over Net, in White, Cream and Butter, 27 inches wide,
Regular value 85c. yard,
48c. yard.

Renaissance, Duchesse and Point de Paris All-Over Nets, in White, Cream and Butter, 27 inches wide,
Regular price 1.75 yard,
85c. yard.

Point Applique, Chantilly, Marquise, Escurial and Gramont Codet Laces, 8 and 10 inches wide, Black, White and Butter,
Cost to import 3.25 and 3.90 yard,
1.23 and 1.48 yard.

Real Irish Lace Revers, with Collars in White and Butter,
Formerly 1.98,
48c. each.

Black Escurial and Marquise Lace Capes, with and without spangles,
Former price 3.50 to 7.00,
1.98 each.

Orders by Mail Will Receive Prompt Attention.
H. O'NEILL & CO., 6th Ave., 20th to 21st St.

The Liverpool and London and Globe
Insurance Company

52d Annual Statement United States Branch—Statement 31st Dec., 1899.

REAL ESTATE	$1,855,750.00
U. S. GOVERNMENT 4 PER CENT. BONDS	2,320,656.25
STATE AND CITY BONDS	352,981.25
BOND AND MORTGAGE LOANS	3,307,350.00
BANK BALANCES AND ALL OTHER ASSETS	1,590,590.79
Total Assets	$9,427,328.29
UNEARNED PREMIUMS AND ALL OTHER LIABILITIES	4,776,050.60
Surplus	$4,651,277.69

DIRECTORS IN NEW YORK.
CHARLES H. MARSHALL, Chairman
JOHN CROSBY BROWN, JAMES E. PULSFORD, JOHN A. STEWART, EDMUND D. RANDOLPH,
HENRY W. EATON, Resident Manager. GEORGE W. HOYT, Deputy Manager. JNO. J. MARTIN, Agency Superintendent

A $2.00 Madras Pajama,
we sell at
$1.15.
A special for this week.
Hackett, Carhart & Co.
Three BROADWAY Stores. Cor. 13th St. Cor. Canal St. Near Chambers.

AMUSEMENTS.

PROCTOR'S 23d ST. Cont. Perf. 15, 25, 50c. Marie Dressler 20 Min. in Shirtwaists Sims & Graham, Leo Dervalto, Kenno, Welch, o'rs.
PALACE 58th St. & 3d Av. Cont. Perf. 15, 25, 50c. Montgomery & Stone Duncan's Collies. Halladay & Ward, McPhee & Hill, Moving Pictures, &c.
MADISON SQUARE GARDEN. OPEN 9 A. M. TO 11 P. M. ADM. 50c. 5th NATIONAL EXHIBITION of CYCLES, AUTOMOBILES AND ACCESSORIES.
AMERICAN "ADMIRABLY PUT ON."—Times. CASTLE SQ. OPERA CO. AT 9:15. in THE MAGIC MELODY AT THE LOWER HARBOUR Evs. 8:15. 25c. to $1. MAT. TO-DAY. 1,100 seats, 25c
WALLACK'S THE FIRST PERFORMANCE OF OLGA NETHERSOLE in SAPHO will be on MONDAY, JAN. 29TH. Seats for Jan. 22 will be good opening night. Other seats must be exchanged. Box Office open 9 A. M. to 9 P. M. Seats on sale 6 weeks in advance.
COMIQUE TAINT TODAY TAINT TOMORROW GAY MASQUERADERS. 2 Burlesques and Vaudeville. Tobascoscope—New Sensational Moving Pictures.
CASINO! 1st Matinee To-day (Wed.) Geo. W. Lederer's Famous London Co. in The Belle of N. Y. Orig. Cast & Chorus of 2 years' run in London.
BROADWAY Theatre. 41st St. & B'way. Evs. at 8. Mats. Wed. & Sat. 2. MATINEE TO-DAY AT 2. THE GREAT SUCCESS, BEN-HUR
GRAND OPERA HOUSE. MATINEE TO-DAY, 25 & 50c. A STRANGER in a STRANGE LAND

AMUSEMENTS.

DALY'S B'way & 30th.....at 8:30 Matinées Wed. & Sat., 2:15. Daniel Frohman's Company LAST 2 WEEKS. The Maneuvers of Jane
Monday, Feb. 5, the new play by John Oliver Hobbes, entitled. THE AMBASSADOR.
LYCEUM 4th Av. & 23d.....at 8:30 Daniel Frohman.....Manager Matinées Thursday & Sat. "The most original play that N. Y. has had to laugh over this season. Something entirely new."—World. "It aroused the audience, and was refreshingly original."—Sun. CHARLES FROHMAN PRESENTS The Surprises of Love
Elsie de Wolfe, H. Reeves Smith, Eric Hope, W. Erskine, Chas. Bowser, Olive May, Margaret Robinson, Helen Keating, and others.
EMPIRE THEATRE. B'way & 40th St. Evs. 8:20. Matinées To-day & Saturday. "Another Empire success."—Charles Frohman. EMPIRE THEATRE COMPANY in BROTHER OFFICERS.
Charles Frohman's Criterion Theatre B'way & 44th St. Ev'gs, 8:20. Matinées To-day and Saturday. MAUDE ADAMS | The Little Minister.
GARRICK THEATRE. 35th St. & B'way. Evenings, 8 o'clock. Mats., 2:15. 3D MONTH. MATINEES SATURDAY ONLY. Wm. Gillette In His New Play, Sherlock Holmes.
MADISON SQ. THEATRE 24th St., nr. B'way Evgs., 8:30. Matinées, 2:15. Last 2 Weeks. Matinées To-day & Saturday. Greatest Hit This Season. WHEELS WITHIN WHEELS. Feb. 5—Coralie & Co., Dressmakers.
GARDEN THEATRE. 27th St. & Madison Av. Evgs., 8:20. Matinée Saturday. MRS. LANGTRY—THE DEGENERATES
5th Av. THEATRE. B'way & 28th. Evs. 8:15. Mats. To-day & Sat. LAST WEEK BUT ONE. THREE LITTLE LAMBS
Knickerbocker. N. C. GOODWIN MAXINE ELLIOTT Evgs., 8:15. Mat. Sat., 2:15. LAST 2 WEEKS OF THE COWBOY AND THE LADY. Feb. 5—Mr. Goodwin-Miss Elliott (A New Play.)
NATIONAL ACADEMY OF DESIGN. LAST WEEK. 75TH ANNUAL EXHIBITION of OIL PAINTINGS at The Fine Arts Society, 215 West 57th St. Open 10 A. M. to 6 P. M., and 8 P. M. to 10 P. M. Admission .....25c.
Hammerstein's 42d St., B'way & 7th Av VICTORIA Evgs, 8:30. Sat. Mat. 2:15. Mat. Sat. Prices, 50, 75, $1.00 Jerome Sykes & Edna Wallace Hopper CHRIS AND THE WONDERFUL LAMP
KEITH'S Continuous Performance. MINNIE SELIGMAN. LeROY AND CLAYTON. Mr. and Mrs. ELLIS. CASE. LOUISE GUNNING. JOHN BOWKER: Transvaal Illustrated.
THE DEWEY MATINEE TO-D..Y. VICTORIA BURLESQUERS, East 14th St. "A High Ball." Calceda, The Nawns.
THE NEW YORK. B'way, 44-45 Sts. Evs. 8. Mat. Sat. The New Magnificent Spectacle, BROADWAY to TOKIO. 600 People.

AMUSEMENTS.

METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE.
GRAND OPERA SEASON 1899-1900.
Under the direction of Mr. MAURICE GRAU.
To-night, at 7:30, DIE MEISTERSINGER. Mmes. Emma Eames and Schumann-Heink; MM. Van Rooy, Bertram, Friedrichs, (début,) Breuer, and Dippel. Conductor, Paur.
Fri. Ev'g, Jan. 26, at 7:45, Double Bill—DON PASQUALE. Mme. Sembrich; MM. Scotti, Pini-Corsi, and Saligmac. Conductor, Mancinelli. Followed by CAVALLERIA RUSTICANA. Mmes. Calvé and Mantelli; MM. Campanari and Dippel. Conductor, Bevignani.
Sat. Aft., Jan. 27, at 2, TANNHAUSER. Mmes. Ternina, Olitzka, and Nordica; MM. Van Dyck, Bertram, and Plançon. Conductor, Paur.
Sat. Ev'g., Jan. 27, at 8, at Popular Prices, FAUST. Mmes. Emma Eames and Mancelli; MM. Saleza, Oceller (début) and Pringle. Conductor, Bevignani.
Sun. Ev'g, Jan. 28, at 8:15, Grand Popular Concert. Soloists: Mmes. Calvé (her only appearance at a Sunday concert) and Schumann-Heink; MM. Saignac and Plançon, together with the Met. Op. House Orchestra. Conductor, Paur. Special prices for this concert, 75c, $1.00, $1.50, and $2.00. General admission, 50c. Boxes as usual.
Mon. Ev'g, Jan. 29, at 8, LE NOZZE DI FIGARO. Mmes. Eames, De Lussan, and Sembrich; MM. Ed. de Reszke, Pini-Corsi, and Campanari. Conductor, Mancinelli.
Wed. Ev'g, Jan. 31, at 7:45, DIE WALKUERE. Mmes. Gadski, Schumann-Heink, and Ternina; MM. Van Dyck, Pringle, and Bertram. Conductor, Paur.
WEBER PIANOS USED.

CARNEGIE HALL.
Tuesday Evening, February 6th,
GALA CONCERT
The entire proceeds to be devoted to the
Dewey Arch Fund
Among the distinguished artists who have kindly volunteered their services are:
Madame Nordica and Madame Gadski, Mr. Edouard de Reszke and Mr. Evan Williams, and other soloists.
Mr. Emil Paur, Mr. Walter Damrosch, } Conductors.
The full chorus of the Oratorio Society and an orchestra of sixty.
Prices: $3, $2, $1.50, and $1. Boxes, $50. Seats and boxes can be obtained at box office, Carnegie Hall, and Tyson's.

CARNEGIE HALL.
Thursday Afternoon, Feb. 1, at 3:30.
SONG RECITAL
by Madame
NORDICA
and Madame
SCHUMANN-HEINK
Tickets $2.50, $2, & $1. Boxes $50 & $30. Now on sale at Schuberth's and Box Office.

MENDELSSOHN HALL
To-morrow, Thursday Ev'g, at 8:15,
Mr. David Bispham's
REQUEST RECITAL
POPULAR PROGRAMME | Comprising songs most frequently asked for.
Res. seats $1.50. Now on sale at Schuberth's.

CARNEGIE HALL.
PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY of New York
EMIL PAUR .....Conductor
Fri., Jan. 26, at 2 P.M. Sat., Jan. 27, at 8:15 P.M.
SOLOIST: MME. SCHUMANN-HEINK.
Program: Overture, "The Flying Dutchman," Wagner; "Ganymed," for Contralto and Orchestra, L. V. Saar; Symphony No. 4, B flat major, Beethoven; Songs by Schubert, Schumann, and Franz; Overture, "Prometheus," Goldmark.
Box office open daily from 9 to 5.

Two Piano Recitals | MENDELSSOHN HALL | THUR. AFT., Jan. 25; WED. AFT., JAN. 31, at 3 o'clock. Hambourg
Tickets, $1.50 & $1, at Schuberth's, 23 Union Sq. Direction VICTOR THRANE. Knabe Piano Used.

THE CHARITY BALL
for the Nursery and Child's Hospital, will take place on Thursday evening, Feb. 1, at the WALDORF-ASTORIA.
Boxes from 11 to 1 at 2 East 35th St. Tickets at 16 West 11th St. and 19 West 35th St.

14th St. Theatre, nr. 6th Av. Mats. Wed. & Sat. LAST WEEK of the best of all rural plays, THE VILLAGE POSTMASTER. Next week—CHAUNCEY OLCOTT.

Weber & Fields' MUSIC HALL, Matinées B'way & 30 St., Tues. & Sat. Whirl-I-Gig & BARBARA FIDGETY

MANHATTAN Theatre, 33d & B'y. Ev. 8:15. Sat. Mat. ANNA HELD in PAPA'S WIFE.

WORLD IN WAX. CINEMATOGRAPH. EDEN MUSEE NEW GROUPS. CHARMING MUSIC

BIJOU. B'way & 30th St. Ev. 8:15. Mat. Sat. only. Phone 2224 Mad. Sq. MAY IRWIN IN SISTER MARY BEST ORCHESTRA SEATS ONLY $1.50.

Murray HILL THEATRE. 42d St. & Lex. Av. Matinee Every Day, 25c. THIS WEEK—NEVER AGAIN.

HARLEM OPERA HOUSE. MR. JOHN DREW In the Tyranny of Tears. 8:15 Sat. Mat.

IRVING PLACE THEATRE. Mat. Sat. To-night, LIEDERKRANZ, Two Happy Days. Thursday, "IM WEISSEN ROESSL."

HERALD SQ. Thea. Evs. 8:20. Mats. To-day & Sat DAVID BELASCO presents his new triumph, Naughty Anthony

HUBER'S 14TH ST. MUSEUM. 10c. to all. Moore's New Orleans Minstrels.

DAILY, ONE CENT. SUNDAY, THREE CENTS.

"All the News That's Fit to Print."

The New York Times.

THE WEATHER. Rain and warmer; high east to south winds.

COPYRIGHT, 1900, BY THE NEW YORK TIMES COMPANY.

VOL. XLIX...NO. 15,615. NEW YORK, THURSDAY, JANUARY 25, 1900.—FOURTEEN PAGES. ONE CENT In Greater New York? Elsewhere, and Jersey City. TWO CENTS.

THE NEWS CONDENSED.

Stocks firm.

Cash wheat, No. 2 red, 75½c; cash corn, No. 2 mixed, 40⅝c; cash cotton, 7⅛c.

NEW YORK LEGISLATURE.—A resolution was presented in the Senate asking Congress to pass a law regulating the importation of dairy products into one State from another. It was tabled. A similar resolution in the Assembly was also tabled. Two minor bills were passed by the Assembly. A public hearing for the advocates of the repeal of the "Horton law" was held by the Codes Committee. Those favorable to the law will be heard Feb. 7. President Low of Columbia has written to the Senate committee opposing the Coler-Grady School bill.—Page 8.

CONGRESS.—In the debate in the House yesterday in the Roberts case Representative Landis of Indiana delivered a scathing arraignment of polygamy. Senator Platt of Connecticut yesterday introduced a bill fixing the tariff on imports from Puerto Rico at 80 per cent. of the present rates. Mr. Pettigrew arraigned the Administration for its treaty with the Sultan of Sulu. The Senate refused to recede from its disagreement with the House on the pension bill. The House passed a bill abolishing the free zone in Mexico.—Page 5.

FOREIGN.—Extreme anxiety was felt in London yesterday over the absence of news from Gen. Buller, who had telegraphed that he would attempt to seize Spion Kop Tuesday night. No word was received as to the success or failure of the proposed movement. Cecil Rhodes is amusing himself at Kimberley by firing a cannon, made in the town, at the Boers. The latest dispatches from the correspondents with Gen. Buller say the British had forced a portion of the Boer army to retire from a kopje after a severe fight in which the British casualties were small. There were turbulent scenes in the French Chamber of Deputies yesterday. The Correctional Tribunal imposed a nominal fine on the Assumptionist fathers on trial and decreed the dissolution of the order. A Constantinople correspondent writes that the growth of American commerce in Turkey is threatening French industries. Unless the Empress's mother dies, the festivities at the German Court will continue. The plague has broken out in Argentina.—Pages 1 and 7.

Page 1.

Private Sinclair Kuhn of the Seventy-first was bayoneted by accident at a review of the regiment by Gen. Hawkins.

The anti-trust conference will meet in Chicago Feb. 12 for a two days' session. Several New Yorkers will speak.

Louis F. Payn is beaten in his fight for the Insurance Superintendency. Mr. Platt will select his successor by agreement with Gov. Roosevelt.

The Executive Council of Massachusetts yesterday approved the proposition to sell 50,000 shares of Fitchburg common stock to the Boston and Maine for $5,000,000 in 3 per cent. gold bonds.

One woman is dead and two others are in Roosevelt Hospital suffering from severe burns as the result of a fire yesterday afternoon at 415 West Fifty-seventh Street.

The impression prevails in Washington that Ex-Consul Macrum will prove to be an envoy from President Krüger, and no surprise would be shown at the State Department if it turned out that he had changed his allegiance.

Page 2.

The Molineux trial was adjourned yesterday because of the illness of a juror.

Page 3.

President Johnston of the State Trust Company yesterday made a statement regarding the $2,000,000 syndicate loan, which he says has been paid.

Stephen M. Griswold, at the annual dinner of Group VII. of the New York State Bankers' Association, uttered a note of warning to bankers in view of the possible nomination and election of Bryan.

Page 4.

A heated discussion and criticism of City Superintendent of Schools Maxwell followed the presentation of a communication from him in regard to teachers' salaries to the Board of Education yesterday.

Page 7.

The Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences has secured the option for the purchase of the Tissot collection of paintings illustrating the life of Christ.

Henry W. Ranger, the landscape artist, has brought a charge of criminal libel against David C. Preyer, editor and publisher. Mr. Preyer was arrested and paroled.

Page 8.

Archbishop Corrigan has appointed the Rev. William Livingston to succeed Dr. McGlynn as pastor of the Church of St. Mary at Newburg, N. Y.

The report of the State Commissioner of Excise for the year ended Sept. 30, 1899, shows total collections of $12,643,593. There has been an increase in criminal convictions for violation of the law and a decrease in the number of arrests for drunkenness.

Page 9.

A sword and silver service were yesterday presented to Commander Wainwright at Washington.

Page 12.

In answer to a Wall Street report that the Carnegie Company has the contract to furnish the contractor, John B. McDonald, the steel for the rapid transit tunnel, Mr. McDonald said yesterday that he had no transactions with the Carnegie Company.

Page 14.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday affirmed the decision of Judge Lacombe in dismissing the habeas corpus proceedings in the Carter case.

Amusements.—Page 7.
Arrivals at Hotels and Out-of-Town Buyers.—Page 2.
Business Troubles.—Page 13.
Court Calendars.—Page 12.
Insurance Notes.—Page 9.
Losses by Fire.—Page 2.
Legal Notes.—Page 8.
Markets.—Page 13.
Marine Intelligence and Foreign Mails.—Page 3.
New Corporations.—Page 9.
Railroads.—Page 8.
Real Estate—Page 12.
Society.—Page 7.
United Service.—Page 5.
Weather Report.—Page 2.
Yesterday's Fires.—Page 2.

JESUITS REPLY TO DR. ELIOT.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Jan. 24.—A local paper to-day published an interview with President Eliot of Harvard, in which he reiterated the statement which he made in a recent magazine article that the Jesuit colleges teach to-day the same as they did 200 years ago; that they had made no progress, and that with the exception of Georgetown University, their graduates were not admitted to the Harvard Law School without examination. The Rev. W. G. Read Mullan, President of Boston College, said to-night:

"All the statements made by President Eliot relative to the curriculum of Jesuit colleges in this country have already been refuted by the Rev. Timothy Brosnahan, S. J., of Woodstock College, in Maryland, and the paper which he had published on the subject shows President Eliot to be badly at fault not only in his so-called facts but in his conclusions.

"Dr. Eliot says that we have been in correspondence lately regarding the points which he discussed. We are in correspondence, but the purpose of my letters is to get a definite statement of the ground of the Harvard Law School's action in excluding Boston College from the Law School's list of privileged colleges. I have been for five months trying to get this statement from him, but up to this time have failed.

"Regarding our standard of studies I have no hesitancy in saying that our course of studies produces as sound and thorough results as the course in any college of the country. Harvard College seems to be unwilling to consider what evidence I am able to show in support of this statement, and it is to this that I object.

"The articles of Father Brosnahan, to which I referred, has been pronounced by a certain member of the Harvard Faculty, whose name I must withhold, as being a splendid statement of views, for which, says he, 'I am at present fighting, and for which I shall continue to fight so long as I am a professor at Harvard University.'"

Mrs. Edward F. Croker Better.

Mrs. Edward F. Croker, wife of Chief Croker of the Fire Department, who is ill at her home, 327 West Twenty-eighth Street, was said to be better last night.

MEETS DEATH AT A FIRE

Woman Killed in a Fifty-seventh Street Boarding House Blaze.

TWO OTHERS BADLY BURNED

Panic-Stricken Inmates Carried Down Stairs Through Flame and Smoke by Firemen.

One woman is dead and two others are in Roosevelt Hospital suffering from severe burns as the result of a fire which started yesterday afternoon in a boarding house kept by Mrs. Anna Smith at 415 West Fifty-seventh Street. The victim was Natalie Miles, nineteen years old, who succumbed to her injuries last night in the hospital. The others are her sister Helen, twenty-five, burned about the arms, hands, and face, and Anna Holland, twenty-one years old, burned about the face and neck and suffering from shock.

On the east of the house which was partially destroyed is a four-story and basement apartment house of the same style of architecture, and on the west is the Central Catholic Apostolic Church. On the parlor floor lived Mrs. E. J. Lord, her granddaughter, Miss Potter, and Mrs. Smith, the landlady. The second floor was occupied by Dr. and Mrs. H. R. Stiles and B. Price. The third floor had for its tenants John W. Miles, his daughters, Helen and Natalie, and his son, Russell; Anton Metz, and Miss Anna Holland.

On the fourth floor were the rooms of Ada Smith, daughter of the landlady, and John Quinn, secretary to Gen. Benjamin F. Tracy. At the time of the discovery of the fire Miss Florence Frost, whose home is in the Windermere apartment house, opposite, was visiting the Miles family.

The blaze originated on the parlor floor, and was caused, it was reported, by a lighted wax taper coming in contact with a portière. In a moment the parlor was a mass of flames, and almost before the people in the house could be informed of their danger both smoke and fire made their way up the staircase. Smoke pouring from some of the windows attracted the attention of a passerby, and he turned in an alarm. As soon as the first detachment of firemen reached the scene a second alarm was sent in.

The tenants in the house became panic-stricken, and only a few of them managed to get to the street by the main stairway. Most of them ran to windows prepared to jump. Some were restrained from doing so by others in the house behind them, and the firemen quickly ran up ladders.

At the windows on the second floor were Dr. and Mrs. Stiles and Ada Davidson, a servant. These were helped out of the windows to the coping and were lifted into windows of the apartment house adjoining on the east, where they were cared for, uninjured but suffering from shock.

Fireman Thomas Mulvey of Engine Company No. 40, ran into the burning house and made his way to the third floor. There, groping about in the smoke, he found Miss Helen Miles overcome by smoke, with her hair burning. He picked her up in his arms, and, despite the smoke in the halls, managed to get her down to the street by the stairway, where she was placed in an ambulance and sent to the hospital. As Mulvey reached the outer air with his burden he fell fainting to the ground, but soon revived and resumed his work.

Natalie Miles was found in her apartments by Fireman Lawrence O'Brien of Hook and Ladder Company No. 21, and was also taken down to the street by the stairway with her face, arms, and shoulders badly burned. Miss Anna Holland was found by Fireman Burns of Hook and Ladder Company No. 21 about to jump from a rear window. Her face and hands were burned, and he took her to the street by the main stairway.

Miss Frost made a rush for a rear window as soon as the alarm was given and climbed out. She caught hold of a blind and was found hanging there by a fireman just as she was about to drop to the ground from exhaustion. She was pulled in and taken down the stairs, said to have been not much the worse for her experience.

Several of the tenants in the house who were partially affected by the smoke went into a drug store and were treated there. It was considered fortunate by Chief Croker that the fire was not accompanied by more serious consequences. He praised the work of the firemen in rescuing the inmates of the house by means of ladders and otherwise.

The blaze was witnessed by a great gathering of excited spectators who came from the dwellings and apartment houses in the vicinity. As the firemen helped one tenant after another out of the burning building the crowd shouted its approval of their work.

The house is owned by Francis H. Macy, who leases it to Mrs. Smith, and the total damage is estimated by the police at $5,000. Mr. Quinn, who had a valuable library on the fourth floor, was one of the heaviest losers.

Fatally Burned by an Exploding Lamp

Mrs. Catherine Tyne of 277 Monroe Street was fatally burned last night from the explosion of an oil lamp she was carrying, and died soon after her removal to Gouverneur Hospital. Thomas Maher, another tenant in the house, had his hands badly scorched while extinguishing Mrs. Tyne's blazing clothing.

CAPT. EDWARD TOBIN DEAD.

One of the Brave Firemen Overcome at West Fifty-ninth Street Fire—Pneumonia Followed Exposure.

Capt. Edward Tobin of Engine Company No. 23, in West Fifty-eighth Street, died in Roosevelt Hospital last night at 11 o'clock.

Capt. Tobin was one of the many firemen overcome by smoke in the fire at 310 West Fifty-ninth Street two weeks ago. With them he was brought to the hospital. The shock of the exposure and his advanced years together brought on pneumonia and it caused his death.

Capt. Tobin was forty-six years old. He leaves a wife and seven sons. His boys range from seven to twenty-one years of age. The entire family were at his deathbed. Their grief was profound and pitiful. The boys fairly worshipped their father.

The Captain was until two months ago in command of the company at Fire Headquarters. He was appointed to the department twenty-five years ago, and was one of the best-known and popular firemen in the city.

REPORTS ON THE HOLLAND BOAT.

Majority of Naval Board Does Not Favor a Purchase.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Secretary Long to-day received from the Board on Naval Construction two reports on the Holland submarine boat. The Holland Company had offered to sell the Holland to the Government for $165,000, to embody certain improvements in her and sell her for $170,000, or finally to build two new and larger boats for $170,000 each.

Four of the members of the board united in a majority report favoring the rejection of the propositions, based on the fact that the company is now a delinquent in the use of the submarine boat Plunger, on account of which the Government has already paid $99,716, with no likelihood of her completion in the near future. If the company makes satisfactory settlement for the Plunger, then the board will be willing to build one of the larger boats, but not to purchase the Holland.

The Chief Constructor, Admiral Hichborn, submits a minority report, declaring that the majority did not give sufficient credit and encouragement to the enterprise of the company. He declares that the results obtained with the Holland were very satisfactory, and that, in view of the small cost of submarine boats, the Government should accept the Holland and order two larger boats.

Finest Trains and Shortest Line to Chicago and St. Louis via Pennsylvania Railroad, the Standard Railroad of America.—Adv.

CROKER TO REMAIN INACTIVE.

A New York Democrat Says He Will Take No Part in Ante-Convention Councils.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—"Mr. Croker," said a New York Democrat to-night, "will not take part in any of the controversies about Bryan or the platform for 1900.

"I am informed that he will remain abroad until after the National Convention, possibly until just before the election of 1900."

BAYONETED AT A REVIEW.

Charge of the Seventy-first, in the Presence of Gen. Hawkins, Marred by Strange Mischance.

One of the strangest accidents ever recorded in the local National Guard was the one that befell a soldier in the ranks of the Seventy-first Regiment while that command was being reviewed Tuesday night at its armory by Brig. Gen. H. S. Hawkins, United States Army, retired.

The regiment was going through the manual of arms. Round after round of applause greeted the quick, sharp movements of the men, and Gen. Hawkins, who commanded them at San Juan, smiled his pleasure at their military precision. The men were not altogether without nervousness, as they were performing before one of the largest "houses" that even that armory famed for crushing crowds had ever held, and their old brigade commander.

Perhaps it was that his presence made the rear rank man behind Private Sinclair Kuhn of Company C imagine that Spanish bullets were whizzing by and made his arm unsteady, but certain it is that as the regiment stood at a right shoulder the Colonel gave the command: "Charge, bayonets!" and Private Kuhn felt a fierce jab in his neck, that swung him nearly off his feet. In the forest of bayonets that glittered in the movement not more than a passing thought was given by anyone to the reeling of the soldier, who, however, quickly regained his equilibrium and came to the charge. The bayonet of the rifle of the rear ranker had caught him full in the neck and wanted only a little more to have penetrated the jugular vein. Kuhn bore up bravely although the pain was intense, but finally left the floor in such a condition of weakness that his wound had to be dressed under the direction of Surgeon E. T. T. Marsh.

Such an accident has not occurred in years, and some officers said they had never even heard of its happening before. Surgeon Marsh said that he expected nothing serious would result from the injury to Private Kuhn, although he had a narrow escape from a much severer wound.

WOULD SELL FITCHBURG STOCK

Massachusetts Proposes to Part with 50,000 Shares of Stock for $5,000,000 in Gold Bonds.

BOSTON, Jan. 24.—A proposition submitted by Gov. Crane to the Executive Council to exchange the 50,000 shares of the common stock of the Fitchburg Railroad held by the State for $5,000,000 in fifty-year 3 per cent. gold bonds of the Boston and Maine Railroad, was unanimously approved this afternoon. The Governor's action was the result of negotiations which have been pending between the officials of the Boston and Maine Road and the Executive for the past two days, and removes the opposition of the State to the proposed lease of the Fitchburg Railroad to the Boston and Maine, which was abandoned last week on account of the State's attitude.

This action was taken as assuring the lease of the Fitchburg to the Boston and Maine, as the transfer to the Boston and Maine stockholders a controlling interest in the Fitchburg. The vote of the council approving the exchange was taken with this provision:

"That the lease of the property of the Fitchburg Railroad as proposed be ratified by the Legislature during the present session, and that such sale of the common stock be also ratified by the Legislature during its present session."

In view of the proposed lease of the Boston and Albany to the New York Central, which is also before the Legislature for approval, the action of the Governor and council to-day is generally regarded as a shrewd business move. Although there is some doubt whether the selling of the stock is contrary to the act of the Legislature passed seven years ago, which contemplated keeping the stock in the possession of the Commonwealth, and not giving it up to a rival road, yet under the act of 1893 the stock and bonds of the road are put under the direction and control of a committee consisting of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Treasurer, and Receiver General, who shall in all cases in which said securities have a voting power at any meeting of said corporation, determine how and what way such voting power should be exercised.

In brief, the State Trustees, backed by the Governor and council, have succeeded in obtaining par for stock which only a week ago was quoted at 30, and have substituted for a non-dividend-paying security bonds paying a yearly interest at 3 per cent. Comment at the State House this afternoon after the Governor's action was known seemed to indicate that the ratification of the sale and lease would not be made without opposition. It is known that the New York Central not a long time ago attempted to gain control of the Fitchburg Railroad, and it was intimated this afternoon that the Boston and Albany interests might oppose the Fitchburg-Boston and Maine lease.

It was announced to-night by President Tuttle of the Boston and Maine that an opportunity similar to that offered to the State of Massachusetts would be given the minority stockholders upon the same basis and within the same period.

Dr. W. Seward Webb of the Fitchburg Directory gave out a statement, in which he said he was absolutely opposed to the lease of the road to the Boston and Maine, believing that the former should remain independent. At the same time, he would favor extending it into the larger towns in New Hampshire now under the control of the Boston and Maine. He denied having made an offer for the Fitchburg.

YALE WILL GET $150,000.

Court of Appeals Decides Against Contestants of Lampson Will.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 24.—By a decision of the Court of Appeals yesterday Yale College will receive $150,000 bequeathed by William Lampson of Le Roy.

The heirs contested the will upon the ground that under its original charter Yale was not allowed to exact compensation for tuition, and was therefore a benevolent or charitable institution, and claimed that the bequest was invalid under the laws of 1848. The court affirmed the decision of the lower court, which granted a decree probating the will.

W. Bourke Cockran to Speak at Yale.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 24.—Dean Francis Wayland of the Yale Law School announced this afternoon that the speaker for the commencement exercises next June would be W. Bourke Cockran of New York City. His acceptance of the invitation to deliver the annual address to the seniors of Yale Law School was received to-day.

Export Duty on Canadian Nickel.

Special to The New York Times.

OTTAWA, Ontario, Jan. 24.—A sub-committee of the Cabinet has been appointed to consider the question of putting an export duty on nickel. The members of the committee are Sir Richard Cartwright, Sir Louis Davies, W. S. Fielding, A. G. Blair, and William Paterson. A meeting of the committee was held in the office of the Minister of Trade and Commerce this afternoon.

The cry for Dominion legislation in the way of an export duty on nickel has been gradually dying away. However, a number of prominent men are still of the opinion that it would be a wise thing to enact an export duty, and strong representations have been made to the Government in that direction. It was to deal with these that to-day's meeting was held. Just what will be done has not yet been decided upon.

LOUIS F. PAYN IS BEATEN

Gov. Roosevelt Wins Fight for Insurance Superintendency.

PLATT TO SUGGEST A MAN

No Nomination to be Sent in Until Next Week—Democrats May Make Trouble.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 24.—Louis F. Payn has been beaten in his fight to retain his place as State Superintendent of Insurance. For the first time since the fight began his friends are disheartened, and they no longer claim that Mr. Payn will finally balk the Governor's attempt to place another man at the head of the Insurance Department.

Interest centres now in the man who will be named to succeed Mr. Payn, but, so far as can be learned, the Governor has not finally decided on him. He has several names under consideration, but even his closest friends have been unable to ascertain who his favorite is. It is thought that the nominee will be an organization Republican, one thoroughly acceptable to Senator Platt and his lieutenants. The announcement made by several Senators, known to be loyal to the State machine, that they will vote to confirm the Governor's nomination is taken to mean that the Governor has agreed to take the man selected by Senator Platt, and that the organization Senators will now be in line.

It is known that it is the Governor's intention to delay making a nomination until after the weekly recess, and unless something unexpected happens he will not send a name to the Senate before next Monday night. Chairman Odell of the Republican State Committee did not arrive to-day, although he was expected. It is said that he will be here to-morrow to talk the matter over with the Governor.

It is believed that Mr. Odell will present the name of the organization candidate to the Governor, who said to-night that he did not expect to go to New York at the end of the week for another conference with Senator Platt, although he admitted that something might develop which would make such a trip necessary.

The Governor is well satisfied with the situation, and in conversation with the newspaper men this evening said:

"I cannot tell you anything, although I would like to, but I want to say that things are coming my way."

This is the nearest that the Governor has come to making a public announcement that he felt certain of victory over Superintendent Payn.

One of the stories heard to-night is a reiteration of the report of a few days ago that Senator Platt and Mr. Payn have reached an understanding by which the Insurance Superintendent will retire from the contest just as soon as the Governor agrees to accept the man named by the organization. Color is given to this report by the attitude of Republicans in the Senate who are known to be personally friendly to Mr. Payn, and who, while they will not be quoted, admit privately that they will vote in accordance with the wishes of the organization.

A canvass of the Republican Senators to-day revealed that with the exception of Henry S. Ambler of Chatham, who represents Mr. Payn's home district, they are either pledged to the Governor or will vote according to the dictates of the organization. Those who have announced their loyalty to the Governor are Senators Armstrong of Rochester, White of Syracuse, Ford and Elsberg of New York, Coggeshall of Waterville, Malby of Ogdensburg, Brown of Watertown, Humphrey of Warsaw, Davis of Lancaster, Higgins of Olean, Stranahan of Fulton, Ellsworth of Lockport, and Marshall and Davis of Brooklyn.

This will give the Governor fourteen votes in the caucus, enough to control it. Senators Sherwood of Hornellsville, Brackett of Saratoga, Chatfield of Auisable Forks, Feeter of Little Falls, Goodsell of Highland Falls, Johnson of Owego, Raines of Canandaigua, Krum of Schoharie, Parsons of Rochester, Wilcox of Auburn, Willis of Tyrone, and Thornton of Monticello, twelve in all, refuse to be quoted, but it is understood that they will abide by the wishes of Senator Platt, although several of them have had close personal relations with Mr. Payn for many years.

Senator Coggeshall expressed the feelings of many of his colleagues to-night when he said that, while he was a personal friend of Mr. Payn, he regarded the interests of his party as being paramount to those of any individual member of it, and as Mr. Payn's term is about to expire, he believed the Governor should be permitted to name his choice for the office, and that he would vote to confirm the nomination of any competent Republican.

Senator Platt has twelve votes in the Senate which it is understood he can depend on to carry out his wishes. With Democratic aid he could defeat the Governor's wishes, but it is believed that he has decided not to oppose the Chief Executive. The course of the Democratic Senators, with the exception of Mr. Sullivan of New York, who has come out for Mr. Payn, has been one of "wait and see what will happen." Senator Plunkitt of New York said to-night:

"We have not decided on anything. We are playing politics, and will do what we think will best serve the Democratic party. I like Mr. Payn and served in the Legislature with Gov Roosevelt, but I am here to look after the Democratic Party in political matters, and that is the policy of every Democrat in the Senate."

It is said that if the Democrats see that the Governor's nominee is bound to win with Republican votes they will vote for confirmation, but if they can cause trouble for the Republicans by voting against the Governor and preventing confirmation, they will do so, with a view of starting factional warfare in the Republican ranks.

The names most prominently mentioned to-night in connection with the Insurance Superintendency are those of ex-Mayor Green of Binghamton, Francis Hendricks of Syracuse, and ex-Senator Davies of Ulster.

Politicians in the city are strongly of the belief that Gov. Roosevelt will certainly win in his fight against Superintendent Louis F. Payn.

Chairman Odell left town on Tuesday ostensibly to go to his home in Newburg, but report has it that he will spend considerable time at the State capital in the hope of arriving at a satisfactory solution of the Roosevelt-Payn controversy.

THE MASCOT PIG IN COURT.

Sagasta, Who Came Over on the Olympia, the Bone of Contention.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Jan. 24.—The ownership of Sagasta, the pig which figured extensively last Fall as the mascot of Admiral Dewey's flagship Olympia, is in question, and one of the courts is busying itself with the momentous question.

When Sagasta was a tiny mite he was purchased by Boatswain Olaf Olsen of the Olympia in a small town near Cavite. For a time Olsen had the pig with him on a captured Spanish gunboat, but when he brought it with him on board the Olympia it quickly won the affections of the crew and was named in honor of Spain's Prime Minister.

Boatswain Olsen, after the ship went out of commission, made a contract with a local dry goods firm to furnish the pig for exhibition purposes at $25 per week. It appears that one Andrew Olsen, a boarding-house keeper, claiming that Olaf gave him the pig, has collected $50 on this account. Olaf denies this, and has brought Andrew, who, by the way, is not related to him, before the courts to have his title cleared.

No Expense Has Been Spared

to make the Pennsylvania Limited the finest train in the world. Leaves New York every morning for Chicago, Cincinnati, and St. Louis via Pennsylvania Railroad.—Adv.

IS EX-CONSUL MACRUM KRUEGER'S ENVOY?

Believed in Washington that He Has Changed His Allegiance.

MAY BE A TRANSVAAL CITIZEN

State Department Repudiates the ex-Consul at Pretoria, but Will Pay His Traveling Expenses.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The arrival of ex-Consul Charles E. Macrum in Washington from Pretoria is expected to solve some puzzling questions. It is admitted about the State Department that there will be no surprise if it should turn out that he has become a citizen of the Transvaal and that he left Pretoria for the purpose of reaching the United States as a consular or diplomatic representative of President Krüger.

It is recalled at the department that when Macrum was about to leave the Transvaal he was sent for by President Krüger and asked to undertake a mission to the United States, the object of which was then reported to be to secure the friendly mediation of the United States between Great Britain and the Transvaal. Just about that time he was requested to take charge of the interests in the Transvaal of the British subjects remaining there after war had broken out and to protect the prisoners who might fall into Boer hands. His failure to do so, and the lack of explanation as to his reasons for not accepting the trust, would be accounted for if it were discovered that he had accepted citizenship and so disqualified himself from acting in the capacity in which he was asked to serve. The department is under the impression that he comes as a messenger, and has announced that it has no control over him. The suspicion that he has transferred his allegiance is strengthened by the report that he is wearing a Transvaal flag in his lapel, instead of an American flag.

The question may arise in Macrum's case, as it has arisen in the case of Mr. Montagu White, whether he can be accepted diplomatically. The relations of Great Britain and the Transvaal immediately come in view, and they cannot easily be disregarded while the two countries are at war. Having repudiated Mr. Macrum in a very official statement, this makes two rejected American citizens—if Macrum has not expatriated himself—as the department has been at great trouble to repudiate Assistant Secretary of the Interior Webster Davis, who has chosen to spend a leave of absence from his post in the disturbed section of South Africa. Macrum has been three times repudiated. He will be paid his salary on his way home, but the fact that he is to receive the usual travel pay cannot be referred to to prove that he is still a Consul.

KIPLING PARODIED BY A BOER.

Transvaal Secretary of State Hits Off His "Recessional."

LONDON, Jan. 25.—F. W. Reitz, the Transvaal State Secretary, has written a parody upon Kipling's "Recessional" It is entitled "Progressional," and is dedicated to "Mudyard Pipling." The first stanza follows:

Gods of the Jingo, brass and gold,
Lords of the world, by right Divine,
Under whose baneful sway they hold
Dominion over mine and thine—
Such lords as these have made them rotten.
They have forgotten. They have forgotten.

SECRETARY LONG RE-ELECTED.

Again President of Massachusetts Total Abstinence Society.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Jan. 24.—John D. Long, Secretary of the Navy, is still at the head of the Massachusetts Total Abstinence Society. At the annual meeting, held to-day, he was re-elected President. The Vice Presidents are William Claflin, the Rev. Dr. A. H. Plumb, M. H. Cushing, the Rev. Dr. Dorchester, B. B. Johnson, the Rev. Dr. L. B. Bates, E. H. Haskell, D. I. Robinson, I. N. Nutter, H. H. Faxon, Dr. Reuben Greene, the Rev. B. W. F. Mallalieu, and Lucius Clapp.

The Rev. Alfred Noon was re-elected Secretary, Benjamin R. Jewell Treasurer, and Miss Eva Brown, Clerk of the Corporation.

PUSHING THE WOODRUFF BOOM.

W. B. Atterbury of Brooklyn Says the Party Is for Him.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Walter B. Atterbury, the official head of the Republican Party in Kings County, came to Washington to-day to confer with Census Director Merriam. Mr. Atterbury talked politics at the Arlington to-night, and seemed serenely confident of Lieut. Gov. Woodruff's nomination for Vice President.

"The only delegates thus far elected," said he, "are those chosen in Florida, and five out of the six are for Mr. Woodruff. I think you will hear a similar story as other elections of delegates are held. Now, as to New York State. One can never prophesy about what may happen in the course of two or three months, but if the delegates were elected to-morrow there would be a unanimous delegation for Woodruff. It isn't machine-made enthusiasm, either. The rank and file of the party in New York are for him.

"Of course this surprises the people who look upon Mr. Woodruff as a light-weight and they are likely to be more surprised as time goes on. He is a remarkably able and forceful man, and he never has failed in anything he has undertaken. He is not making any effort to secure the nomination, but public sentiment is for him."

Funeral of John P. Stockton.

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 24.—The funeral of John P. Stockton, ex-Attorney General of New Jersey, was held here this afternoon in Trinity Episcopal Church. The body lay in state this morning at Morven, the former home of Mr. Stockton. The pallbearers were ex-Senator James Smith, Newark; Attorney General Griffin, Camden; Judge Gray, Wilmington, Del.; Benjamin F. Lee, Trenton; Charles H. Jones, Philadelphia; Judge Dixon, Hackensack; Judge Ludlow, New Brunswick, and Vice Chancellor Stevens, Orange. Among others present were Gov. Foster M. Voorhees, Judge Garretson, Judge Thomas H. Henry, and Adjt. Gen. W. W. Stryker, Trenton. The interment was in Princeton Cemetery.

EMIL PRESSLER'S BODY FOUND?

Relatives of Missing Brooklynite Believe They Have Located It in a Nebraska Cemetery.

Special to The New York Times.

OMAHA, Jan. 24.—In the Sidney (Neb.) Cemetery has been found the body of Emil Pressler, a Brooklyn business man, for whom a search has been going on for more than a year.

Jan. 9, 1899, the Union Pacific overland train went into the ditch at Sunol. Among the killed who had been so badly disfigured as to be but a charred mass was a passenger found under the sleeper. It was thought to be the body of a tramp. Several months later the local police and Union Pacific officers received inquiries from Oscar Pfeiffel of 222 Keap Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., uncle of Emil Pressler, who so mysteriously disappeared in January while en route from New York to Honolulu.

Pressler's trunks arrived in San Francisco, but letters of credit for a large sum on banks in that city were never presented. He had written a letter to his mother, dated Jan. 9, "one day out of Chicago," and mailed it on the train. This would place the passenger somewhere in Central Nebraska, some distance this side of the wreck. The ticket used by the missing man was canceled to Cheyenne. This would be the case even if the passenger had not reached Cheyenne. The balance of the ticket has never turned up.

A letter received to-day from the relatives of Pressler by the Union Pacific officials asks that the body in the unmarked grave at Sidney be shipped to New York, as their investigation leads them to the belief that it is that of the missing man.

THE ANTI-TRUST CONFERENCE.

Large Attendance Expected in Chicago Feb. 12—The New York Speakers and Their Subjects.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—The National anti-trust two-day conference will be had at Central Music Hall, Feb. 12. A large attendance is expected. Delegates from many States and societies have been appointed, and others will be named before the conference begins. M. L. Lockwood, Chairman of the Executive Committee, will preside.

The New York speakers and their respective subjects, where selections have been made, are: F. M. Thorn, Orchard Park, N. Y., "A Hook for the Trust Leviathan"; Edward W. Bemis, Mount Vernon, N. Y., "Immediate Measures, Or First Steps"; Amasa Thornton, New York City, "The Closing Door of Opportunity—How to Keep It Open"; Edward B. Kennings, New York City, and Alexander Del Mar of New York.

Next Tuesday night a meeting will be held at the Auditorium. J. S. Crosby of New York, John P. Altgeld, and others will speak on this occasion.

In issuing the call for the conference the Executive Committee says:

"We are entering upon a period the most critical in the history of the Nation. Monopoly has pressed into its service and enlisted in defense of those privileges upon which its tyranny is based the strongest and ablest among that class of educated men who, at every similar crisis in the world's history, have prostituted their God-given talents to obscure the perceptions and misguide the noble impulses of the people.

"The people, if they can be brought to act unitedly and act now, have still the power to arrest the encroachments of monopoly and privilege upon their liberties."

FOR THE HOBART MEMORIAL.

President McKinley Sends a Check for One Hundred Dollars.

PATERSON, N. J., Jan. 24.—The fund for the Hobart monument passed the $5,000 mark to-day by the addition of $255 that was received by L. A. Piaget, Treasurer. The amounts contributed were: President McKinley, $100; J. E. Barbour, $100; Knipscher & Maas, $30, and J. W. Cleveland, $25. The President sent his check to William Barbour, who forwarded it to Mr. Piaget, with the following letter:

New York, Jan. 23, 1900.

Dear Mr. Piaget: Inclosed please find check for $100 toward the Hobart Memorial Fund, from President McKinley, whose address for the next five years will be, Executive Mansion, Washington, D. C. Yours very truly,

WILLIAM BARBOUR.

TRAMP TAKES PIANIST'S PLACE.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Jan. 24.—The regular pianist of the Market Street Mission failed to appear at the services last night, and Superintendent Ironside called upon some one in the audience to come forward and take his place. No one responded for a time, but finally a rough-looking tramp, who had sought shelter in the mission, volunteered. His playing was the feature of the evening.

At the conclusion of the services Superintendent Ironside ascertained that the wayfarer was a graduate of the New York Conservatory of Music, and spoke several languages. The stranger has held the position of organist in prominent churches. Drink, however, caused his downfall.

Superintendent Ironside secured the man's promise to remain here for a few days, and efforts to reform him will be made.

AFTER DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Kansas City is to make a strong push here to have the Democratic National Convention sent to that city. A committee is ready to come here about Feb. 15, to set forth the many advantages possessed by Kansas City over all other localities, and it is understood that every inducement that any other place is likely to offer will be met by Kansas City. The people of that city have made up their minds to win if promises can gain the convention. Next to Kansas City the strongest impression seems to have been made by Milwaukee, and much favor is expressed for it. The great advantage of Kansas City over Milwaukee is said to be abundant telegraphic facilities and convenience of access by many railroad lines.

If New York is seriously intent upon having the convention, it has not yet made its anxiety apparent here. Some of the Democrats who read every day the admonition to Bryan not to give up the sixteen to one idea, fear that if the convention goes to New York, the influences there will tend to the rejection of the free silver plank that Bryan insists must be held on to and which the incurable free silver men demand shall be one of the chief planks in the platform.

Bryan is said to favor Milwaukee. The only explanation made is that it is unnecessary to hold the convention in a Democratic city if there is anything to be gained by addressing a locality where the party hopes to gain strength. Bryan would much rather have the convention in a Republican State than in a Democratic one. The Democrats, he supposes, he will hold, anyhow; the recruits must be picked up from the enemy.

GUGGENHEIMER URGES NEW YORK.

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—"New York wants the National Democratic Convention and will go after it," said Randolph Guggenheimer, President of the City Council of Greater New York, who arrived in Chicago to-day on a trip throughout the West and Mexico.

He continued:

"In my opinion, it would be good politics on the part of Mr. Bryan to have the convention held in New York, as it would to a great extent tend to consolidate the disaffected Democrats of the East. Bryan can undoubtedly place the convention where he wants it. There is already $150,000 practically assured for the convention if it comes to New York, and that is more than any other city will give."

Little Water in Chicago's Old Canal.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—Water in the river fell three feet at Bridgeport to-day, and as a result it was impossible to operate the pumps. The further result is that navigation in the old canal has been stopped. While every effort on the part of the city will be made to restore the artificial flow in the old canal, it was said a crisis in its affairs had been reached, and the use of the upper end of it as a navigable watercourse was at an end.

EXTREME ANXIETY FELT IN LONDON

News Awaited of Buller's Attempt to Seize Spion Kop.

CROWDS BESIEGE WAR OFFICE

Recognized that Success Must Be Bought at Great Cost.

Conjectures and Forecasts of All Sorts Take the Place of Actual News from the Scene of Action.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—The assemblage in Pall Mall outside the War Office and those privileged to wait in the lobbies reluctantly dispersed at midnight, after the final word that nothing more would be announced and after a day and night of extreme anxiety. The morning papers went to press with conjectures and forecasts of all sorts, striving to guess out something from Spion Kop, which Gen. Buller said he would attempt to seize Tuesday night.

Topography maps show that the Kreuz Zeitung says the movement to relieve Ladysmith has failed, rendering the British line of retreat endangered.

ARRAIGNS BRITAIN'S POLICY.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—John Morley, addressing his constituents this evening at Forfar, made but little reference to the present aspects of the war in South Africa, confining himself chiefly to a renewal of his indictment of the "policy which led to hostilities."

He ridiculed "the notion that a few Boer successes entitle the Transvaal to be described as a first class military power," and declared that "the fact of the Boers sending the ultimatum no more disposed of all other questions than the defiance of the American colonists in throwing the tea into Boston Harbor disposed of all the questions of the war of American independence."

"It is quite certain," continued Mr. Morley, "that had the Government appreciated the temper of the Transvaal people and foreseen what was coming—what we all know in these black, gloomy days—there would have been no war. It is dreadful, but true, that a want of decent foresight and decent information led the Government to stumble into war in the dark. Lord Salisbury's menacing speech of July 28, if applied to a great power, could only have meant war. It was absurd, if the Government really believed in a Dutch conspiracy, to spend time in negotiations regarding the franchise. This conspiracy was an afterthought of the Government, conjured up to mask a hideous and ghastly blunder."

In conclusion Mr. Morley declined to commit himself as to what would happen in the future; but he warned his hearers not to be duped by the idea that the Boers after defeat would settle down quietly.

With reference to the point at which the conflict would come to an end, Mr. Morley observed:

"Something depends on a chance, which I hope is remote, but is certainly not invisible, of our being called off to meet dangers in other quarters."

PRAISE FOR MAHAN'S ADVICE.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—Commenting on Capt. Mahan's attitude, The St. James's Gazette to-day remarks:

"His advice is good and needed in America. While strict neutrality is maintained in the official world and good will for England is felt by the better informed, it is simply misleading the public of this country to suggest, as some correspondents are doing, that antagonism to England is confined to a negligible majority of Americans. The sympathy of America, as a whole, is as a matter of fact no more with England at this moment than was our popular sympathy with them at the outbreak of the war with Spain, and the contrast of official and popular attitudes is no less marked in the United States than it is in Germany."

FEVER ATTACKS THE BOERS.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—A correspondent of The Times at Modder River, telegraphing Tuesday, says:

"The reports of deserters agree that the situation of the Boers at Magersfontein is becoming unbearable, because the camp is unsanitary, enteric fever is spreading, and vegetables are wanting. On the other hand, the health of the British camp is satisfactory, although the ground has been exhausted by the long encampment, and the crees have been cut down by insect pests and dust storms."

BOERS THREATEN PROPERTY.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—The correspondent of The Times at Lorenzo Marques, telegraphing yesterday, and dealing with "the lawlessness of the low class of Boers who are getting beyond the control of the Government and the better class of officials who are honestly desirous of protecting life and property," says:

"My informants are convinced that the only way to save the Rand from the fury of the rabble is to cut off the retreat of the Boers in the direction of Johannesburg. The hot-bloods among the Boers are convinced that the war is due to the capitalists, and that the only revenge possible is to dynamite the mines."

The Cape Town correspondent of The Times, telegraphing Tuesday, says:

"The Bondites are preparing to seize the first decisive British victory or the invasion of Republican territory as the signal for a violent peace agitation. They will accompany their appeal to magnanimity by covertly hinting that they are unable to restrain the Dutch colonists from rising."

CECIL RHODES HELPS TO FIGHT.

KIMBERLEY, Tuesday, Jan. 23.—The bombardments have ceased, but the Boers are perpetually engaged in sniping. "Long Cecil" is doing excellent work, and Cecil Rhodes has personally fired several shells from the gun.

MODDER RIVER, Jan. 23.—A heliograph message from Kimberley says the Boers vigorously renewed the bombardment today.

Transvaal Passengers Are Stopped.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—A dispatch to The Daily Mail from Lorenzo Marques, dated Wednesday says: "This morning all passengers booked for the Transvaal were stopped by Government order, with the exception of the members of the Russian Ambulance Corps, who proceeded by special train."

German Bark Wagner Released.

BERLIN, Jan. 24.—The German bark Hans Wagner, stopped on Dec. 19 in South African waters by the British gunboat Fearless and ordered to go to Port Elizabeth to unload, after leaving the contraband specified by the British authorities, has proceeded on her way to Delagoa Bay, being the last of the seized German vessels to be released.

Many Sign Petition to Mr. McKinley.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 24.—Nearly 100,000 signatures have been appended to the address, promoted by M. Lejeune and other members of the Universal Peace Society, asking President McKinley to mediate, which will be forwarded to Washington in the course of a fortnight.

TO REDUCE CAPITAL STOCK.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—A special meeting of the stockholders of the Illinois Electric Vehicle Transportation Company will be held soon at which the stockholders will be asked to approve a resolution reducing the capital stock from $25,000,000 to $2,500,000.

This will mean a reduction in the face value of the shares from $100 each to $10 each. As $5 per share has already been paid in, the shares will be 50 per cent. paid after the decrease in the capital stock has been effected, instead of 5 per cent. as at present.

KILLED BY SMOKING OPIUM.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 24.—May Bibehaus, aged nineteen years, died in a hospital to-day from the effects of opium smoking, and seven persons were arrested pending the Coroner's investigation.

The girl, whose parents are respectable, recently made the acquaintance of Harry Parker, who is said to have lured her to a house in the vicinity of Chinatown last night. While there she was induced to smoke opium. Shortly afterward she became violently ill, and early to-day was removed to the hospital, where death ensued. Besides Parker, the police have arrested Mrs. George White, keeper of the house; Frank Reynolds, Frank Gregg, Harry Reese, and George White, inmates.

At the inquest it developed that a young man named Hugh Kennedy met the girl and took her to Parker's room, in the den. Reynolds, Parker, and Kennedy were committed without bail pending an autopsy. The others were released on their own recognizance, except Reese, who was exonerated and discharged from custody.

West Point Entertainment Revived.

WEST POINT, Jan. 24.—The cadets have received permission to hold their one hundredth night entertainment in Memorial Hall Feb. 17. The one hundredth night hop will be given a week later. It is two years since an entertainment of this character was given here, and the officers thought the affair would be forgotten. The cadets cherish their old customs, however, especially when they afford an opportunity to lampoon the tactical officers. This entertainment was formerly one of the greatest events in cadet life.

Ship Architect Killed by a Fall.

CAMDEN, N. J., Jan. 24.—By missing his footing on a plank to-day John W. Mattix, a well-known ship architect, who was superintending some work at the Morris & Mathis shipbuilding plant, at Cooper's Point, fell into the Delaware River. He broke through the ice, but managed to secure hold of a piece of wood and keep his head above water until he was dragged out. He died soon afterward, however, from concussion and shock.

ROADS ABOLISH COMMISSIONS.

Eighty-seven Systems Send Out an Order to Go Into Effect Feb. 1—Further Action Anticipated.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—In the face of assertions that the policies of the railroads of the country are not dictated by two or three syndicates working in harmony, what seemed to be evidence of the excellence and strength of the combination appeared today. Two joint notices, representing eighty-seven railroad systems, were sent out from Chicago to 13,000 coupon ticket agents in the United States, Canada, and Mexico advising them that on Feb. 1 these companies would cease paying any commissions, side cuts, or other forms of gratuity or allowance for the sale of their tickets.

Assuming that the coupon ticket agents average $50 a month in commissions, the action of the railroads will mean a loss of more than $500,000 monthly to the agents affected. About 150,000 of the 180,000 miles of railway in the United States are covered in the new agreement.

The opinion among observers of railway matters is that the discontinuance of commissions is but a forerunner of more drastic action to bring all the transportation companies in one big pool and forever do away with competition of any kind. The discharge of traveling passenger and freight agents and solicitors is the next move looked for.

TO EXTEND THE KANSAS MIDLAND.

New Line Will Be Built from Wichita to Denison.

Special to The New York Times.

WICHITA, Kan., Jan. 24.—A. L. Wolff of the Kansas Midland Road to-day telegraphed the company's attorneys in this city from St. Louis that the Directors of the road had authorized the extension of the line from this city to Denison, Texas. The line will run southeast from this city through the McAlester (Indian Territory) coal fields, and from there to Denison.

Receiver Wolff has been working for the extension of the line for over two years, and has spent several months in Holland interesting the present bondholders of the road in the proposition. Work, it is said, will be commenced as soon as the material can be obtained.

The cost of the line, with equipment, is placed at about $300,000.

AN OFFER TO DAVID WARFIELD.

David Belasco Proposes to Star Him in a New Play.

David Belasco has made a flattering offer to David Warfield, the comedian, to star him in a new play at the expiration of his contract with Weber & Fields, which has one more year to run. Mr. Belasco has been watching for some time the advancement Mr. Warfield has made in his particular style of acting. Recently he decided that if suitable arrangements could be effected he would prepare a play and present Mr. Warfield in it.

At a conference recently between the playwright and the comedian it was decided to drop the negotiations during the existence of Mr. Warfield's present contract. It is said, however, that Mr. Warfield has promised to take up Mr. Belasco's proposition later, and that in all probability it will result in the comedian becoming a star under Mr. Belasco's management.

SKELETONS AT THE NAVY YARD.

Supposed Remains of British Prison Ship Victims Dug Up.

Workmen employed in digging a cellar for an extension to Storehouse No. 33 in the Brooklyn Navy Yard yesterday unearthed two skeletons, supposed to be those of victims of the British prison ships, which lay in the water near by during the American Revolution. The bones were dug up by Charles Steeger of 85 Bleecker Street and James Johnson of 247 Ryerson Street, who were engaged in the work of excavation.

Capt. Wildes, Captain of the yard, was informed of the find, which caused not a little excitement at the yard. Capt. Wildes visited the place and had the bones gathered up and placed in a box. All the bones were very badly decayed, and it was with difficulty that they were removed. The skeletons were found about four feet below the surface. That they are those of two American patriots, who were among the many who died aboard the British prison ships, is the general belief at the yard. Capt. Wildes has not decided yet as to what disposition to make of them. It is thought likely that more may be unearthed by the workmen engaged in digging the cellar.

Many of the patriots who died aboard the prison ships in the days of the Revolution were buried on the shores of Wallabout Bay. Shortly after the navy yard was established a number of skeletons were dug up there. These bones were placed in a vault near the yard, but were later transferred to Fort Greene, where they now lie.

RIDING FEATS AT DURLAND'S.

Mr. Whittal Worsts ex-Rough Rider Knoblauch in a Wrestling Bout.

It was a gala occasion at Durland's Riding Academy last night, and fully 1,000 people applauded the showing of the riders who participated in the fourteen numbers that made up the programme. The proceeds were divided among the various instructors. Col. A. H. Stoerzer, senior riding master of the academy, was in charge of the entertainment, which included wrestling on horseback by Messrs. Knoblauch and Whittal, a quadrille in which Miss A. Rozell, Miss M. Graham, Mrs. E. Keyes, and Mrs. E. S. Beach, and Messrs. Marshall Clapp, J. M. Bowman, O. W. Stiegler, and Carl Stoerger participated; a melee of rough riding, aptly called "Donnybrook Fair"; an exhibition of tandem riding in which Mrs. John Gerken, Mrs. Joseph Turl, Mrs. A. Turner, Mrs. E. Keyes, Miss R. Seibel, Miss O. W. Stiegler, and Messrs. John Gerken, Joseph Turl, A. Turner, J. I. D. Bristol, W. Trevor, and O. W. Stiegler participated.

A novelty race proved interesting as well as amusing and the military drill in uniform by the riding masters, in which the evolutions of German hussars, German uhlans, English dragoons, French dragoons, American light cavalry, and rough riders were the principal features.

The wrestling bout on horseback was the most exciting event. It brought to the Academy a large number of stockbrokers, for on the floor of the Stock Exchange, Charles Knoblauch, who was one of Roosevelt's Rough Riders during the Spanish-American war, is considered invincible. The brokers were willing to wager all sorts of sums that their favorite would win, especially since he had weight very much in his favor. Under the rules of the contest it was permissible for a contestant to scramble or vault on the back of his opponent's horse, and it was this that brought about the defeat of Mr. Knoblauch. His opponent, Mr. Whittal, caught him off guard, and quickly brought him to the ground.

The jeu de barre contest was won after an exciting chase for the ribbon by Marshall Clapp. Among those present were Edwin Gould, John A. McCall, Mr. and Mrs. John I. D. Bristol, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Turner, Park Commissioner and Mrs. George C. Clausen, Gen. and Mrs. Howard Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. H. Irwin, William L. Beadleston, Mr. and Mrs. George Baker, S. F. Adams, Perry Tiffany, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Good, ex-Mayor and Mrs. Hugh J. Grant, Samuel Walter Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. John Gerken, Mr. and Mrs. S. Morrell, Miss E. T. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. W. Kotman, John R. Hegeman, John H. Starin, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Carmichael, and M. T. Myron.

Lumber Trade Association Dines.

The annual banquet of the New York Lumber Trade Association was held in the Astor Gallery of the Waldorf-Astoria last night. Charles L. Adams, President of the association, acted as toastmaster. There was an excellent musical and vaudeville programme. Among the guests were John N. Scatcherd, President of the National Wholesale Lumber Dealers' Association; John P. Leo, Pendennis White, J. C. Orr, Richard S. White, Wilson Godfrey, A. W. Booth, and Edward Booth.

Meyers Hanged for Double Murder.

SOMERSET, Penn., Jan. 24.—Samuel P. Meyers, convicted of the murder of Michael Karney and John Lenhart, was hanged in the county jail yard here to-day. He had a dispute with his father over the possession of a house and lot left to him by his mother. The father, with the assistance of Karney, attempted to install an objectionable woman as housekeeper. Young Meyers shot Karney dead, and later, when Lenhart, who was a constable, tried to arrest him, he killed him also. At the request of the condemned, the widows of the murdered men visited him last night and granted him forgiveness.

DELAY IN MOLINEUX TRIAL.

Juror Manheim Brown Ill with Rheumatism, and the Case May Not Go On To-day.

The Molineux trial was adjourned yesterday because of the sickness of the tenth juror, Manheim Brown, who was laid up with rheumatism. Mr. Brown was in considerable distress on Tuesday, and when he left court was compelled to take a cab from the Criminal Court Building to the Eighth Avenue car line by which he reached his home, at 219 West Forty-fourth Street.

The Recorder produced a telegram at the opening of court, sent by Mrs. Brown, saying her husband was too ill to leave the house. The Recorder announced he had caused further inquiry to be made by the Captain of the court squad, who had reported that Mr. Brown was suffering from an attack of rheumatism. He then adjourned court until this morning.

Mr. Brown was said to be somewhat better at a late hour last night. His nurse said it was not certain, however, whether the patient would sufficiently recover from his attack to attend court this morning. Mr. Brown sent out word that he would report to the Recorder if he could possibly do so to-day, but his physician said that he did not think he would be able to appear in court until Monday.

When the case goes on the reading of Molineux's testimony before the Coroner's inquest will be resumed, and after Detective Sergeant McCafferty and the chemists have reported on their ink experiments the prosecution will rest its case and Mr. Weeks will make his opening address for the defense.

FIGHT AGAINST UNITARIANISM.

A statement which caused something of a sensation in Brooklyn was made yesterday by the Rev. Dr. Amzi C. Dixon relative to the revival now being held in the borough. Dr. Dixon, who is pastor of the Hanson Place Baptist Church, and one of the leaders in the movement, declared that the religious fight now being waged was against Unitarianism. The Rev. Dr. Lindsay Parker recently resigned as a member of the Executive Committee of the revival because of the anti-Unitarian views expressed by the Rev. Dr. Len G. Broughton. Dr. Dixon's statement following upon Dr. Parker's resignation has greatly disturbed the church people of Brooklyn.

Dr. Dixon said that if there were any Unitarians in his church he would either invite them to get out or make an effort to convert them.

"This fight," said the doctor, "is against Unitarianism. This battle is on, and it will be fought all the year, ending in victory."

Arrangements were completed late yesterday afternoon for extending the revival work now in progress to the Williamsburg section. The services will be held in the Lee Avenue Congregational Church.

THE REV. J. D. WELLS HONORED.

Williamsburg Pastor's Congregation Celebrates His Golden Jubilee.

A reception was tendered to the Rev. John D. Wells, pastor of the South Third Street Presbyterian Church in Williamsburg last night by the members of the congregation in honor of the golden anniversary of his pastorate of the church. The reception was held in the church, which had been elaborately decorated with flowers and palms. The venerable minister was presented with $1,000 in gold, on a silver salver, as a token of the esteem in which he is held by his congregation. It was a complete surprise to Dr. Wells, and his emotion was such that he could scarcely acknowledge the gift.

Addresses were delivered by David S. Gifling, an elder, who presided; the Rev. Newell Woolsey Wells, a son of the pastor, who has been his father's assistant for fifteen years; George R. Valentine, on behalf of the session; John Petrie, for the Trustees; N. B. Roberts, for the Sunday school, and James K. Campbell, for the Christian Endeavor Society.

Dr. Wells was then presented with an engrossed copy of the minutes adopted on Sunday by the Sunday school and signed by every teacher and officer, after which Register James R. Howe, an elder of the church, stepped forward and with a few congratulatory remarks handed the $1,000 in golden eagles to the pastor.

The celebration will close to-night with a public reception held in the church.

STRANDED IN A PRISON VAN.

Experience of Prisoners on Their Way to Court in Brooklyn.

A dozen prisoners who were being taken in a prison van from Raymond Street Jail to the several courts in the vicinity of the Brooklyn Borough Hall, yesterday morning, had an unhappy experience. In turning out of the car tracks at Willoughby and Fleet Streets one of the wheels of the van was wrenched off. The prisoners inside were thrown together in a heap in the rear part of the van. The struggling and yelling which ensued caused a big crowd to gather, and the small boys in it roared with glee at the remarks which came from the van.

"Hey, you, take yer feet off me face, will yer?" howled one.

"Stop chewin' me neck, yer cannibal."

"Keep yer nose outer me mout' or I'll remove it from yer frace."

The van lying across the tracks blocked the Willoughby Street trolley line, and the passengers on the cars, delayed in getting to business, expressed sentiments akin to some of those which were hurled out through the barred windows of the van. Joseph Evans, the driver of the van, after calling a policeman to watch the wagon, hurried to the jail, a few blocks away, and secured another van. Warden Bergen and several keepers returned with him, and, with a number of policemen, stood guard while the prisoners were transferred from one van to the other.

CUBAN COLONISTS RETURN.

Some Discouraging Stories—Land Company to Make a Statement.

The Munson Line steamer Curityba, which came in yesterday, brought several discouraged colonists from La Gloria, the new settlement established in Cuba by the Cuban Land and Steamship Company.

One of these, O. B. Smith, and his wife, of Maine, said that after landing at Nuevitas they had to traverse some thirty-five miles, partly over a canal in a sailboat that had to be pushed with poles, partly on mule back, and partly by wading in the mud. When they reached La Gloria there were only tents there, and provisions were scarce and high. Several colonists who had reached there before them told them tales of suffering and hardship, and of having lost all that they had in the world. Several other of the returned colonists spoke in a similar strain.

The Directors of the Cuban Land and Steamship Company in this city held a meeting yesterday and afterward one of them said that the steamer Bay Shore arrived at Nuevitas yesterday and would make the transfer of passengers and freight to La Gloria more comfortable.

The affairs of the company, the Director said, were in good shape, and it would carry out every contract that it had made. He added:

"We understand that attacks are being made upon us, and we know the motives of the people who have made them. The company will make a statement in a few days."

BROKE HER PROMISE TO WED.

So Philadelphia Man Sued the Girl but Lost the Case.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 24.—Before Judge Wiltbank in Common Pleas Court, No. 2, the jury in the case of Harry Shafer, who sought to recover $5,000 from Fannie Cahon because she refused to keep her promise to marry him, returned a verdict in favor of the defendant.

The couple had only known each other a few weeks when the engagement was entered into, and everything went along smoothly until within a week of the wedding day, when Fannie declared that she smelled whisky on her lover's breath, which confirmed a report which had reached her ears that he was a drinking man. She thereupon broke off the engagement.

This was the excuse she gave in court yesterday, and the plaintiff challenged his former sweetheart to produce a single witness who had ever seen him intoxicated, which she was unable to do.

The jury by its verdict decided that the defendant had merely exercised what is generally conceded to be a woman's prerogative.

Dr. C. C. Sprague Dead.

Dr. Christopher C. Sprague died Tuesday after a brief illness at his home, 125 West One Hundred and Thirty-third Street. He was seventy-two years old. He was born in Mayfield, N. Y., and was graduated from the New Jersey Medical Electrical Institute in 1869. He was a resident of Harlem for twenty years, and ten years ago retired from active practice. He leaves a wife and three sons.

BULLFIGHTERS FOR NEW YORK.

Said W. A. Brady Is Negotiating to Bring Them from Mexico to Madison Square Garden.

CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 24.—A proposition has been made to Fuents and Minuto, the famous Spanish bullfighters, now playing an engagement here, to go to New York to exhibit in Madison Square Garden, where the cruel feature of the slaughtering of horses would be eliminated.

It is doubted here that the public sentiment in New York would permit the exhibition, but consultation by wire is being had with William A. Brady, pugilistic and amusement manager, of New York.

KILLED BY A REPTILE'S BITE.

Accident of a Chicago Business Man in South America.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—Word was received to-day of the tragic death in South America of Ervin Hopkins, Jr., son of Ervin Hopkins, a veteran member of the Chicago Board of Trade.

The young man was interested in a rubber concern which had obtained concessions from the Republic of Colombia. He made his headquarters at Bogota. While on an exploring expedition in the interior his boat ran aground. He was standing in the water to float his craft when he was bitten by a poisonous reptile, death ensuing in a short time.

Mr. Hopkins was a brother-in-law of N. W. Halsey of the firm of N. W. Harris & Co., bond dealers. Mr. Halsey is the New York resident partner.

UNIDENTIFIED WOMAN HURT.

Skull Fractured by Truck at Eighth Avenue and Fourteenth Street.

A loaded truck, owned by the Betz Brewing Company and driven by Dennis Hogan of 450 West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street, ran over and possibly fatally injured a woman at Eighth Avenue and Fourteenth Street yesterday afternoon.

The woman was taken to the New York Hospital, where it was found that her skull had been fractured. She was unconscious at a late hour last night and had not been identified. She appears to be fifty years old, is about 5 feet tall, of 130 pounds in weight, and has gray hair. She wore dark clothes of expensive material, a dark bonnet, a valuable diamond ring and a diamond brooch.

The driver of the truck was placed under arrest by the police of the West Twentieth Street Station.

WILD ANIMALS AT AUCTION.

Walter L. Main Is Selling Out His Circus in Ohio.

Special to The New York Times.

ASHTABULA, Ohio, Jan. 24.—Either the proprietors or representatives of all leading circuses and menageries in this country are in attendance at what is probably the first menagerie auction ever held in America. Walter L. Main, owner of a large show, is going out of business on account of ill-health, and is going to travel abroad.

The auction began to-day at Geneva with the sale of harness, miscellaneous paraphernalia, and 118 horses. To-morrow the wild animals will be put under the hammer and sold to the highest bidder. Among the leading showmen present to-day were a representative of Barnum-Bailey's and Lewis Sells, of the Forepaugh & Sells Brothers' shows, also John Hamilton of Buffalo, N. Y.; B. E. Wallace of Peru, Ind.; John Robinson, Jr., of Cincinnati, both of the Wells brothers, one of the Sun brothers, and one of the Downey brothers.

SAYS CORNICE ENCROACHES.

George Crocker's Suit Against Manhattan Life Insurance Company.

For hours yesterday in the Supreme Court before Justice Lawrence experts testified on both sides of the question as to whether the cornice of the twenty-story building of the Manhattan Life Insurance Company, at 64, 66, and 68 Broadway, which extends over the adjoining building by five inches, is an encroachment on a vested right. Owners of the adjoining property claim that the cornice does a damage variously estimated from $50,000 to $250,000.

The plaintiff in the suit is George Crocker, who owns the four-story building at No. 70 Broadway. His contention is that the cornice of the Manhattan Life Building is over his line by five inches at a height of 300 feet.

The Manhattan Life Insurance Company says that the building does not overhang as charged, and that if it does it is so far skyward as to do no injury to Mr. Croker's property.

Mr. Crocker demands that the projecting portion of the building be removed, or that he be paid for five inches of lower Broadway real estate at the prevailing price. Mr. Crocker says he cannot afford to permit the alleged encroachment to go unchallenged. He may, some time in the future, he says, want to erect a building as high as the Manhattan Life. In such a case, if the ordinary laws of construction be followed, he must either stop when he reaches the troublesome cornice, have it cut off, or narrow his building. He cannot see any good reason for doing any of these things, and peremptorily demands protection, standing on his right to a full frontage.

Jutsice Lawrence heard all the testimony sumitted and reserved his decision.

The case is being closely watched by owners of property down town. It is said a decision in Mr. Crocker's favor will be followed by many other similar actions. Many of the recently constructed high buildings have built bronze and gilded cornices at great expense which are over the line, as alleged, from a few inches to a foot or more.

BOYS' CHALLENGE FATAL.

Little George Schubert's Daring Caused Fractured Skull and Death.

George Schubert, ten years old, died at his home, 139 West One Hundred and Eighth Street, last night from a fractured skull. The boy attended the public school in One Hundred and Ninth Street, between Broadway and Amsterdam Avenue. When he was released for the noon recess Tuesday he started home with companions. Half way there he was challenged by one of the boys to walk on the top of a high brick wall they were passing. He accepted the challenge instantly and had about completed the perilous feat when he lost his balance and fell headlong to the sidewalk, a distance of seven feet. He was picked up, and the blood washed from his head.

"I'm not hurt," he declared, and marched bravely home. He told his mother it was only a little fall and he was none the worse except for a little headache. She allowed him to remain home for the day. At night he was so ill the family physician was called. Despite all his efforts the boy died.

ACCIDENT IN WORLD BUILDING.

Fireman Badly Injured by Bursting of a Blowpipe.

By the bursting of a blowpipe used for supplying a draught to the boilers in the pressroom of The World, last night, James O'Brien, a fireman, was badly burned. He was removed to Hudson Street Hospital and is in a critical condition.

O'Brien was in the boiler room alone at the time of the accident. He was throwing coal under the boilers, standing directly in front of the firebox. Suddenly there was an explosion, followed by a terrific rush of hot coals and steam, which struck O'Brien all over the body.

The explosion was heard by Angus Darroch, the chief engineer, who was sitting at his desk in the engine room, waiting to be relieved. Immediately after the explosion there was an inrush of ashes and steam that surrounded Darroch. He started toward the boiler room through a small passageway, thirty-five feet long. He found that it would be impossible to reach the room by this way and went up stairs, where he boarded an elevator to take him to the boiler room.

Upon reaching the room Darroch found the place covered with several inches of hot water, which had escaped from the open pipe. He secured several boxes, and in these, by paddling and wading through the water, managed to shut off the steam that entered the blowpipe.

O'Brien, in the meantime, had presence of mind to enter another room through a small opening.

The cause of the explosion is unknown. There are two other boilers in use, and the publication of the paper was not delayed.

Kicked to Death by a Horse.

Ludwig Rolfs of 542 West Forty-eighth Street, employed in a stable at Eleventh Avenue and Forty-eighth Street, was kicked in the groin by one of the horses he was caring for last night. He was removed to Roosevelt Hospital, where he died soon afterward.

DE CASTELLANE AND DE RODAYS

Count Receives a Cablegram from the Figaro's Director and Sends a Long Reply.

Count Boni de Castellane was annoyed beyond measure yesterday morning by the receipt of a cablegram from M. de Rodays, Director of the Paris Figaro, in which have appeared within the last two weeks stories alleging that the Count left Paris suddenly on his present visit to America in order to escape his creditors; that he had been "executed" on the Bourse, and had been fleeced at cards to such an extent that he was compelled to come to New York in order to attempt to "make a raise." The Count, upon his arrival here on the steamship La Bretagne on Monday, heard for the first time of the charges made in the Figaro, and lost no time in sending a message to M. de Rodays in which he told him in effect what he thought and gave intimation of a stormy meeting to come later.

M. de Rodays was out of Paris when the Count's fiery cablegram was received. The editor is evidently back in the French capital now, and his answer to the Count's menaces was received yesterday morning. It reads as follows:

Comte de Castellane, Waldorf-Astoria, New York:

Your denials and your menaces will change n ne of the facts which are now of public notoriety in Paris.

If The Figaro took notice of what is termed your discomfiture it was justified therein by the campaign of defamation and insult which you have inspired without provocation in the paper which you control. I hope you will succeed in getting out of the affair, and on your return I reserve to myself the right to tell you what I think of disloyalty and your attitude with regard to a journal and a journalist who had never been anything but kind to you and your wife, while you have never shown anything but ingratitude.

FERDINAND DE RODAYS,
Director of Figaro.

Count de Castellane immediately sent a reply in French, which, translated, was as follows:

Rodays, Director Figaro, Rue Drouot, Paris:

I have just received the dispatch which makes you so ridiculous and pitiable. It is in keeping with the "public notoriety" which characterizes the sheet which you direct in the interests of the vilest causes. In truth, you annoy me, and I shall withhold any further explanations until I see you in Paris upon my return from America, about Feb. 15. I must say that every one should be highly edified by the absurd allegations you have made concerning me—made with a grand flourish after my departure from France and when I was where I could not defend myself for nine days, and could not deny for that length of time that I had ever speculated on the Bourse.

You have had the bad taste to suggest that I seek redress from the Minister of Finance. The Figaro, having become the most corrupt and disreputable cosmopolitan newspaper, mainly through your fault, will now be compelled to pay damages to the amount of 100,000f., with interest. But this ought not to be hard on you, for you have a substantial basis in the fund which you collected for Mme. Klobb, but which she refused to accept.

I think I am very reasonable in asking that amount of damages after the questionable campaign which you have conducted in France for the last two years. I implore you, dear M. de Rodays, to occupy yourself with an attempt to resuscitate the Figaro, whose circulation and standing have been so seriously impaired, instead of meddling with affairs which do not concern you.

I have never "inspired" against you a "campaign of defamation and insult." But it is quite natural that, as an honest man, I should regard you as a poltroon who is not worth the ten louis which I am forced to expend in sending this message.

Say what you will, no one will take you seriously. Until we meet,

COMTE DE CASTELLANE, Deputy.

Count de Castellane said last night that he and the Countess had called on Mrs. Astor during the afternoon and that their plans for the future were not fully determined.

THE FIGARO KEEPS UP THE FIGHT.

Prints a Cartoon and Comments on the Count's Latest Cablegram.

PARIS, Jan. 25.—The Figaro publishes this morning a fresh cablegram from Count Boni de Castellane to M. de Rodays, its editor, to which it appends the following:

"Spurning with our feet the insults, we find but one thing in this document. M. de Castellane energetically refuses any intervention of the Inspector of Finances in his adventure. We are now enlightened respecting his desire for light.

"He seems, moreover, to reproach us for the outlay of the 200 francs which his dispatch cost him. This is already the commencement of confession.

"There cannot fail to be surprise that Gould's son-in-law should become so careful in money matters. This is the second time he asks us for 100,000 francs. It needs but little to induce him to demand that we reimburse to him his 200 francs. Decidedly he cannot have grown richer just recently."

The Figaro also prints a cartoon entitled "The Arrival at New York." This represents a customs official searching a passenger. The official says:

"What is in you satchel, M. Le Comte?"

The passenger replies: "This is money I am taking to my brothers-in-law."

The cartoon is by M. Herman Poul.

PAID $25, GOT NEARLY $5,000.

Plausible Stranger Swindled Mrs. Moorhead in a Real Estate Deal.

The police are investigating a real estate swindle which was brought to light by a complaint of Mrs. Martha Moorhead of 161 West One Hundred and Thirty-first Street. A few days ago Mrs. Moorhead, who owns considerable real estate, answered an advertisement in a daily paper which offered cash for uptown lots. A well-dressed man called at her house in response on the following day. Learning the situation of her property he agreed to buy the lots, and paid Mrs. Moorhead $25 in cash to seal the agreement. By his easy address, the man made a good impression upon her, and when he offered to secure the necessary abstracts of title she intrusted the deeds to him. That was the last she saw of the man.

When two or three days had gone by she began to make inquiries. Then it was discovered that the man had negotiated a loan of $5,000 on the property. He had been accompanied in his negotiations by a woman whom he represented as the owner of the property. She was introduced to a notary as Mrs. Moorhead, and he attested her signature. The loan was then granted, and after deducting the agent's commission, some back taxes, notary's fees, and similar charges, $4,707 was turned over to the man in two certified checks, one for $207. The smaller check was cashed before the swindle was discovered. Payment was stopped on the check for $4,500. The swindler has not yet been found. Mrs. Moorhead's interests are in charge of her lawyer, George W. McAdam. He refused information as to the persons from whom the loan had been obtained.

CHILD RUN DOWN BY WAGON.

Annie Kalinski, seven years old, died yesday in the New York Hospital from injuries received by being knocked down by a wagon at Eighth Avenue and Thirty-seventh Street yesterday morning. The child lived at 528 Eighth Avenue. At the time of the accident she was not thought to be seriously injured, and was taken to her home. She grew worse, however, and was taken to the hospital as a private patient.

The driver, Albert Ingel, twenty-four years old, of 327 Seventh Avenue, was placed under arrest at the time and taken to the West Side Court. Magistrate Mott, when told that the child was apparently not much hurt, discharged Ingel.

After the child died no report of the case was made to the police. Acting Captain Cooney passed the Kalinski house and noticed the crape on the door. He sent two detectives out, and they rearrested Ingel. The Coroners' Office was also notified, and Ingel will be given into its custody this morning.

Canoeists Camp at Sportsman's Show.

A novel feature of the Sportsmen's Show to be held in Madison Square Garden March 1-17 will be an exhibit of the amateur canoests in the form of a cruisers' camp. The camp will occupy over a thousand square feet of space at the western end of the miniature lake. Each tent will be fully equipped with all the paraphernalia that its owner has found to be most suitable for his own particular needs, and the differing ideas to each equipment will be of educational value to new and prospective canoeists. This feature of the show is the idea of The Amateur Sportsman, under the direction of which the exhibit will be given.

Slater's Majority, 857.

The official returns of the special election for Assemblyman in the Thirty-first Assembly District, held Tuesday, which were filed yesterday, give Samuel S. Slater, Republican, a majority of 857 votes, his total vote being 4,889. The total vote cast for Leon W. Goldrich, Democrat, was 4,042.

J. P. Duncan's Summer Cottage Burned

Fire last night destroyed the Summer cottage at Rownmore, N. J., owned by John P. Duncan of this city, entailing a loss estimated at $15,000. It is believed to have been of incendiary origin.

Theodore A. Kohn & Son,

JEWELERS,

56 West 23d Street.

Direct Attention to Important Reductions

In Their Prices of Solid Silver Table Wares.

Salt Spoons, Gilt	$3.75 per doz	Olive Spoon	$1 10 Each
Coffee Spoons, Gilt	$6.00 " "	Beef Fork	$1.25 "
Berry Forks, Gilt	$6.00 " "	Cream Ladle, Gilt	$1.60 "
Chocolate Spoons, Gilt	$6.75 " "	Chocolate Muddler	$1.80 "
Oyster Forks	$8.00 " "	Preserve Spoon	$2.00 "
Tea Spoons	$9.00 " "	Toast Fork	$3.00 "
Bouillon Spoons	$10.00 " "	Cold Meat Fork	$3.25 "
Butter Spreaders	$11.00 " "	Waffle Knife	$3.50 "
Dessert Forks	$13.50 " "	Ice Tongs	$4.00 "
Dessert Spoons	$13.50 " "	Asparagus Fork	$4 75 "
Individual Fish Forks	$14.00 " "	Saratoga Chip Server	$5.00 "
Ice Cream Forks	$15.00 " "	Salad Fork	$6.00 "
Table Forks	$20.00 " "	Bouillon Server	$6.75 "
Table Spoons	$20.00 " "	Soup Ladle	$7.75 "
Salad Forks	$24.00 " "	Punch Ladle, Gilt	$9.50 "

These quotations represent a substantial reduction in cost and offer an unusual opportunity to purchase regular stock patterns, of good weight and superior finish, at extremely low prices.

AT THE HOTELS.

WALDORF—Capt. H. T. May, Boston; John Hays Hammond, London; ex-Congressman L. D. Apsley, Massachusetts.

MANHATTAN—John R. Bartlett, United States Navy; H. H. Westinghouse, Pittsburg.

HOFFMAN—Lieut. Col. J. Vannovsky, St. Petersburg.

FIFTH AVENUE—Ex-Congressman William Whiting, Massachusetts.

ARRIVAL OF BUYERS.

Representatives of Out-of-Town Firms Now in the City.

Silverman & Todes, Baltimore, Md.; S. Todes, small wares; Broadway Central Hotel.

Imwold, Kayser & Co., Baltimomre, Md.; H. Imwold, carpets; St. Denis Hotel.

Burns, W. H., & Co., Worcester, Mass.; W. H. Burns, cotton and piece goods; Hotel Albert.

Phillips & Scace, Ottumwa, Iowa; notions and furnishing goods; Hotel Albert.

Denver Dry Goods Company, Denver, Col.; W. M. Simpson, dry goods; 487 Broadway.

Benner, Ullman & Co., San Francisco, Cal.; Z. R. Ullman, dry goods and notions; Herald Square Hotel.

Myers, John G., Albany, N

MR. BRYAN IN JERSEY CITY

Entertained at Dinner and Afterward Addresses a Meeting.

HIS WELCOME A WARM ONE

Says Silver "Corpse" Has Life Enough to Last Another Year—Scores Philippine Policy.

When William Jennings Bryan returned to the city late yesterday afternoon from his flying trip into Connecticut he was met by Congressman William D. Daly of New Jersey, who had come over to escort him to Jersey City, where he had engagements to dine and to speak on National issues. On their arrival in Jersey City, Mr. Bryan and Mr. Daly drove to the clubhouse of the Robert Davis Association, where Mr. Davis, the Democratic leader of Hudson County, gave a dinner in his honor.

About the clubhouse a large crowd had assembled, and as Mr. Bryan's carriage approached there was a lively demonstration and loud cheers. Mr. Bryan acknowledged the greetings, and, leaning upon Mr. Daly's arm, entered the building, where Mr. Davis and a number of Democratic politicians who were to partake of the dinner clustered about him and gave him a hearty welcome. Among Mr. Davis's guests were Mayor Hoos of Jersey City, Mayor Fagan of Hoboken, ex-Congressman Johnston Cornish, Col. Robert G. Smith of the Fourth Regiment, Police Justice Nevins, and a number of Assemblymen and public officials. The menu bore the association's monogram in silver, and among the dishes served were "stuffed squab à la Bryan" and "English pudding with Boer sauce."

After the dinner the entire party drove to St. Peter's Hall, where a meeting, under the auspices of the Democratic County Committee, was held. The hall, which seats about 1,000 persons, was crowded to suffocation, and hundreds of persons who were anxious to get in were only repulsed through the efforts of a squad of police. So great was the desire to obtain admittance that a score of men swarmed into the space reserved for the orchestra. When the musicians arrived these trespassers were for the most part evicted and were forced to stand in the aisles at the back and sides of the hall.

ROUSING WELCOME FOR BRYAN.

It was after 8 o'clock when Mr. Bryan and his party reached the hall. Notice of their coming was heralded by loud cheers from the crowd in the street, and as Mr. Bryan, preceded by Robert Davis and Congressman Daly, walked upon the stage the audience enthusiastically welcomed him with cheer upon cheer. Mr. Davis waved his hand for quiet, but the signal went unheeded, and the crowd yelled itself into hoarseness before it gave Mr. Davis a chance to call the meeting to order. Mr. Davis introduced Mayor Hoos as the Chairman of the meeting and took his seat, after promising the audience "if you will all keep quiet a while you'll hear Col. Bryan."

Mayor Hoos's introductory speech was brief. He referred to the fact that Mr. Bryan had received the votes of 6,500,000 citizens of this country, and said that anything Mr. Bryan would say would be "food for the thoughtful consideration of every person in the hall." In conclusion he said: "There is doubt that the glorious banner of the Democracy will be carried by William Jennings Bryan to the Presidential chair this year."

Mr. Bryan began speaking at 8:15 o'clock and finished at 10:15. Throughout his whole address he had the careful attention of his audience and of the throng in the hall. At brief intervals the speaker illustrated his remarks with anecdotes, generally of a humorous character, and he was frequently interrupted by laughter and cheers. In prefacing his address, Mr. Bryan said that he purposed talking on the principles which he advocates, and he took up successively the income tax question, the silver issue, the Currency bill, trusts, and imperialism, and concluded with a brief allusion to the war in South Africa.

JOKES AMUSE THE CROWD.

In speaking of the income tax law, for which he voted while a member of Congress, he said that he had been told by friends that the passage of the bill would drive the rich Democrats out of the party. He had taken it on himself to defend the rich Democrats, he said, "but," he added, "I didn't know them as well then as I do now." Loud laughter followed this jest, and Mr. Bryan continued, saying that he had promised his colleagues that poor Republicans would take the places of rich Democrats who deserted the party, "but I was mistaken again," he said. "I didn't know poor Republicans as well as I do now, either, and I hadn't found out that they will swallow any platform prepared for them."

These sallies put the audience in a good humor, and Mr. Bryan went on from topic to topic, with the crowd in full sympathy with him. At the close of his remarks on the silver question, the audience was at its highest pitch of enthusiasm, and for several moments he was unable to proceed to his discussion of trusts.

He spoke longest on militarism and imperialism, and his denunciations of the Administration's Philippine policy aroused frequent and loud applause. In this section of his address, Mr. Bryan was extremely earnest, and he interpolated no witticisms of any character. Toward the end of the speech he recited with great elocutionary effect the last verse of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," and then startled his audience by reciting it in what he termed "an up-to-date" version, which ran as follows:

"In the beauty of the lilies Christ was born across the sea,
With a glory in His bosom that transfigures you and me.
As He died to make men holy,
Let us die to make men subjects of the United States,
As God is marching on."

No great outburst of applause followed this parody, and what little there was died away in a very brief time. After a brief allusion to the war in South Africa, in which he reiterated his former expressions of sympathy with the Boers and regretted our inability to interfere, Mr. Bryan took his seat amid applause, which was loud and prolonged.

MR. BRYAN'S SPEECH.

Mr. Bryan spoke in part as follows:

"Ladies and Gentlemen: I am almost sorry that I came. I came supposing that you needed to be talked to, but I am satisfied that I am wasting time and ought to go somewhere else. But if I cannot do you any good, you may be able to do me some good and impart to me some of your enthusiasm that I may carry it to other parts of the country, where they may not be as earnest in the fight as you seem to be here.

"I am always glad to have some Republicans present. In fact, if I could divide the audience up just as I wanted, I think I would have a majority of Republicans, and just enough of my own side to keep the enthusiasm up while I was talking to the Republicans. I am glad to find the organization here in such good shape. I appreciate the opportunity I had this evening of meeting some of the members of the Davis organization, and I appreciate the words spoken by your Chief Executive.

"I must confess, however, that when men indulge in the pleasing prophecy that I am to be the next President of the United States it doesn't make my heart beat quite so fast as it used to when I first began to hear it. After 600 different prophets had introduced me to waiting audiences as the next President the election went the other way, and I found there were 600 prophets going around loose who had never been anointed.

"I don't want you to think that I am speaking to you as a candidate. It matters not what the future has for me in the way of offices, I am in politics for many years to come. In fact, you know that I rejoice that I am a young man because in the course of nature I will have more years to fight the Republicans in. Yet I believe that Republicans as a rule are as honest in their desire for good government as members of my own party.

"My criticism of the Republican Party is that to-day no policy is genuinely Republican unless you see the dollar mark blown in the bottle. I will take as my text the question, 'Are you on the inside—are you sure that you are going to stay there?' If not, you cannot afford to be a Republican. I believe that the Republican Party is casting its influence on the side of concentration of wealth, and that it is only the man who has money who can expect to get a fair chance in the race for life under the Republican Administration.

HANNA AND LINCOLN.

"In 1859 Abraham Lincoln wrote a letter to the Republicans of Boston, who were celebrating the birthday of Thomas Jefferson, the first Republican platform in 1856 appealed to all the people who wanted to carry the Government back to the principles of Washington and Jefferson, but if you go to a Republican meeting to-day you will hear what a great man Alexander Hamilton was.

"If you want an idea of how the Republican Party has fallen, picture to yourself two men, Hanna at one end and Lincoln at the other, and look at the toboggan slide. Mr. Hanna came back from London last year, and said of the English system of government: 'It is a great system. The English system is as good as ours, and perhaps better.'

"I favored the income tax, and I thought that if the rich Democrats left the party on account of it, the poor Republicans would come in to take their places, but I didn't know either of them as well as I do now. One of the members of the Supreme Court said of the income tax: 'I fear that in some hour of National peril this decision will rise up and paralyze the arm of the Government.'

"The hour of peril came, and the Government needed more revenue, but under that decision it could not put a tax upon the great fortunes but had to look around for something to put a stamp on. I want you to understand that as the Government is now administered money is more precious than blood. In the hour of peril you can draft the citizen, but you cannot draft the pocketbook.

"There is another question I am going to speak to you about. I know the Republicans say it is a dead question, but, my friends, the silver question has been buried so often that a little thing like a funeral doesn't bother it. I have examined this so-called corpse, and it is my candid opinion that it has life enough to last another year.

"When a man tells me that the increased production of gold makes the coinage of silver unnecessary he has demonstrated that the more money we have the better for the people, and if we had had gold and silver, too, we would have had not only the advantage from the increased production of gold, but of the silver along with the gold.

FINANCIERS AND THE WAR.

"The financiers to-day are trembling with fear lest the Boers win in their fight with England. They will tell you that if the Boers win it will be pretty nearly as difficult to get money as they said it would be if I was elected. It means that men who in their hearts love liberty and sympathize with a people struggling are compelled to pray that the dominion of a Queen shall be extended and a republic extinguished. In 1896 we said we wanted an American financial policy. We want it now—one that will enable us to sympathize with any human being fighting for right.

"The currency bill is an infamous bill. The Republicans could not get that bill through the Congress of 1896. They had to wait for the Congress elected in 1898. We had a war on, and while the people were thinking how to hold up the hands of the Government the financiers were thinking of holding up the people.

"In regard to the trusts, Mr. Bryan favored a law to prevent them from doing business outside of the States where they were formed without a license surrounded with such conditions as should prevent them from being monopolies. Mr. Bryan bitterly denounced the war in the Philippines and described it as "proselyting by the sword and scattering civilization with the bursting of the dynamite bomb," and declared it was the educated Christian portion of the islands that was in rebellion, while it was the Mohammedan portion that had raised the American flag over their Sultan's palace.

"It is temptation, not opportunity," he continued. "When the Republican Party was taken up on the mountain and shown the Philippine Islands and their people, instead of saying 'Get thee behind me, Satan,' it went to the Spanish monarch and said, 'We'll give you $2.50 a piece for 'em.'

"Must we stay in the Philippines because Dewey destroyed a fleet at Santiago—I mean Manila? Sampson also destroyed a fleet at Santiago, and the President has promised to lower the American flag over the Island of Cuba when the Cuban flag is ready to take its place."

After his speech Mr. Bryan held a reception to those who had sat on the stage. All the men and one woman crowded around him, and shook his hand. It took him about fifteen minutes to break away from the stage crowd and reach his carriage in front of the hall. Outside a crowd of 300 persons awaited his coming. Mr. Bryan raised his hat in response to the cheers of this crowd, and was driven to Cortlandt Street Ferry on his way to the Hoffman House. He was accompanied to his hotel by members of the Jersey City committee in carriages.

MR. BRYAN GOES WEST TO-DAY.

Will Address a Meeting in Harrisburg This Evening.

W. J. Bryan will leave this city for Harrisburg, Penn., over the Pennsylvania Railroad at 9:55 o'clock this morning. At Harrisburg he will meet the Pennsylvania State Democratic Committee, which will be in session for the purpose of arranging for the Fall campaign. The committee will submit a draft of its platform to Mr. Bryan for his approval. In the evening Mr. Bryan will address an open-air meeting from the balcony of his hotel.

It was announced last night that on the evening of Feb. 7 Mr. Bryan will speak at Carnegie Hall in this city. In the afternoon of the same day he will deliver an address at Plainfield, N. J.

Mr. Bryan arose rather earlier than usual yesterday morning, and after breakfasting with Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. Mack, Dr. John H. Girdner, and John Clark Ridpath, he was driven to the Grand Central Station, where he boarded the 10:02 train on the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad for Stamford and New Haven, Conn.

STAMFORD HEARS MR. BRYAN.

Town Hall Filled While the Nebraskan Discusses the Issues.

STAMFORD, Jan. 24.—On his way to New Haven William J. Bryan stopped here long enough to make a speech at the Town Hall, which was filled. Most of these were men, and many of them workingmen who had been allowed an hour off to hear Bryan.

Mr. Bryan was greeted with hearty cheers. He was introduced by Homer S. Cummings, and so rapidly was the meeting opened that within ten minutes after he stepped off the train Mr. Bryan had opened a speech that lasted over three-quarters of an hour, and barely left time for the party to be driven to take luncheon with Mr. Cummings and a few friends.

The speech was about equally divided between the currency question, the trusts, and imperialism.

"The Republican Party," he said, "is trying to fasten upon the country a system of taxation made by financiers for their own benefit. When the doctrine of favoritism is once started, it cannot be stayed. To fasten upon the country the gold standard means that it will be affected by every change in Europe. If there is so much disturbance created because England is fighting a few Boers, who are struggling for their independence, what would be the result if England tackled a nation of her size?"

Mr. Bryan then entered into a bitter arraignment of the Republican Party in nection with trusts, and afterward went on to tell what he considered the distinction between expansion and imperialism. He questioned the right of the Government to rule the Philippines by force, and said that the title it obtained to the islands was a title to the land, not to the people.

MR. BRYAN SPEAKS AT NEW HAVEN.

Three Great Issues, but Declines to Specify Which Is Paramount.

NEW HAVEN, Jan. 24.—William J. Bryan arrived here this afternoon. Contrary to plans at first announced, he was driven to the City Hall first, where a reception was planned for him. After a brief rest, Mr. Bryan, accompanied by Alexander Troup of this city, Homer S. Cummings of Stamford, and Philo S. Bantell, also of this city, repaired to Music Hall, where fully 2,000 people awaited his coming. Several hundreds more crowded into the aisles after he arrived, having followed his carriage through the streets.

Mr. Bryan's appearance on the stage was the signal for a wildly enthusiastic demonstration. Men and women rose to their feet and cheered themselves hoarse. Mr. Bryan bowed his thanks.

Mr. Bryan, in prefacing his remarks, referred to his former visits to the city. He did not directly refer to the student demonstration on the city green in 1896, but his words were so pointed as to indicate that he recalled it.

Mr. Bryan paved the way hastily for his speech by remarking that he had so little time, scarcely an hour, in which to say all that he wished to present, that he would plunge at once into a discussion of the "three great leading questions of the day, namely, trusts, money, and imperialism." Which of them is paramount depends upon the point of view of the individual, "and," he said, "personally, I do not care to specify." He believed that to assert that the money question as a political issue is dead is folly for the reason that it vitally concerns all men and because they are thinking of it no matter what their station in life.

Taking up the subject of trusts, Mr. Bryan said:

"The Republican Party is afraid to kill trusts because they constitute the hen that lays the golden egg in campaign times. But trusts are bad, intolerable, and indefensible. Bad things need not be tolerated in America. And trusts, though now only in the intermediate process of development, and bad at that, will be much worse in effect when they reach the consummation of their development."

Mr. Bryan concluded his speech by dealing with the question of imperialism. He said:

"There are three arguments usually advanced in defense of imperialism. The first is that there is money in it; second, God is in it, a mere religious argument about the destiny of our Nation, and, third, the political argument that we are in it and we can't get out. As to the first argument, I would not take all the trade in the universe if it had to be purchased by the loss of a single American life.

"The argument about God being in it is always coupled by the men who use it with the expression that 'it will pay.' As to the third argument. Who got us into it? It ought to be remembered that imperialism will impose on us the necessity of an army big enough to make our flag feared but not loved."

The conclusion of Mr. Bryan's speech was marked by another enthusiastic demonstration. He was driven at once from the hall through a wildly cheering crowd in the street to the station, where he took a train for New York.

We are Still Closing Out Our

entire range of heavy weight fabrics. This comprises the finest and most select assortment of novelties imported for custom work—25% to 33⅓% saving guaranteed. No deviation in quality of work nor withdrawal of patterns or qualities.

Burnham & Phillips

Custom Tailoring Only,
Temple Court Annex, 119 Nassau St.

STATE BANKERS' DINNER.

Bryan's Possible Nomination and Election Taken as the Text of a Warning Speech.

The annual dinner of Group VII. of the New York State Bankers' Association was given last evening at the Clarendon Hotel, Brooklyn. The group comprises the banks of Long Island, including Brooklyn and Long Island City. H. Bernard Coombe of the People's Bank of Brooklyn presided, and among those present were Charles Adsit of the First National Bank of Hornellsville, Chairman of the State Association's Committee on Taxation; Stephen M. Griswold, W. E. Frew, Frank Jenkins, St. J. Olding, Hiram R. Smith, W. S. Hall, H. L. Bridgman, C. B. Roberts, W. A. Nash, Joseph C. Hendrix, D. N. Gay, and C. W. Cooper.

The principal speaker of the evening was Mr. Adsit, who gave a résumé of the efforts the association has made to secure more equable taxation for banks. He declared that the public had an altogether mistaken idea as to the supposed inflated profits of banks. There was, said Mr. Adsit, little profit, for instance, in depositing United States bonds and issuing notes. The average profit was about a half of 1 per cent., and that the profit was not larger was evidenced by the fact that the New York banks had not issued nearly all the notes to which they were entitled. The banks asked, the speaker proceeded, that the assessments upon them be made in accordance with the laws of the Nation and the State. In other words, they wanted fair play. Things went on as they existed now for much longer the result would be that the banks in the large cities would become trust companies, while those in the smaller places would do business as private bankers.

In conclusion, Mr. Adsit appealed to his hearers to do all in their power to secure the passage of the taxation equalization bill.

Stephen M. Griswold of the Union Bank of Brooklyn remarked that for some reason everything tending to make things easier for the banks was unpopular in the Legislature. Mr. Griswold proceeded to utter what he termed "a note of warning." He said that the times were ominous for several reasons. One of them was the war in South Africa, which had resulted in causing a feverish feeling among financial interests all over the world. Another reason for bankers to be careful was the manner in which class-against-class agitation was being conducted.

It was Mr. Griswold's opinion that Bryan would be nominated as Democratic candidate for President, and his great issue would be the issue against trusts. That was a powerful battle cry. There was no doubt, he declared, that Bryan would carry almost every State in the South. The real struggle would be in a few Northern States. Therefore let bankers look ahead with great caution, and prepare for any emergency that might come. He (the speaker) did not believe that Bryan would be elected, but he might be elected, and his election would mean a great disturbance in the financial affairs of the United States. Bankers should be wary and take no chances.

H. L. Bridgeman and others also spoke The Chairman read letters of regret at inability to be present from State Bank Examiner Kilburn, Alfred C. Barnes, and George H. Souther.

TO CALL POPULISTS TOGETHER.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Senator Butler of North Carolina, the Chairman of the People's Party, to-morrow will issue a call for a meeting of the National Committee of that party at Lincoln, Neb. The date has not yet been definitely settled, but will be about the middle of next month. The committee will decide upon the time and place for the next Populist National Convention. The Senator declares that there is no significance in the selection.

"I asked the members of the National Committee," he said, "where they would like to meet, and I felt bound, of course, to abide by their decision. There was no majority vote for any one place, but the plurality was in favor of Lincoln. I think this is due to the fact that the Populist State Committee sent out word that it would be glad to entertain the committee there."

The action of the Populists, it is learned, is without the knowledge of Mr. Bryan. It is said that the first intimation of the proposed action will come to him when he reads the call.

A majority of the National Committee now favors holding the Populist convention some time in May or early in June in order that Bryan may be nominated before the Democratic Convention is held. No consideration has yet been given as to his running mate upon the ticket.

Philadelphian Dies Suddenly.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Jan. 24.—A dispatch to The Observer from Lenoir, N. C., says that Lewis Havens of Philadelphia, a contractor, died very suddenly there this afternoon just after having bought a ticket for home and on taking his seat in the car. Mr. Havens had spent the forenoon hunting, and the exertion of several hours in the field probably induced heart failure. The body will be forwarded to Philadelphia tomorrow.

Rev. A. W. Wishart Must Testify.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 24.—The Rev. A. W. Wishart, who recently charged the local police with allowing Sunday liquor selling and gambling houses to keep open for certain considerations, and who refused to give evidence before the Police Commissioners, will now be subpoenaed by the Grand Jury to substantiate the allegations.

Dies Suddenly in the Street.

Mrs. Nannie Atwell of 1,080 Dean Street, Brooklyn, died suddenly while walking with a friend in Underhill Avenue, near Bergen Street, late yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Atwell was taken violently ill and died on the sidewalk before an ambulance could be summoned.

Union Pacific Will Not Be Leased.

OMAHA, Jan. 24.—The report from the East to the effect that arrangements are being completed for the lease of the Union Pacific Road by the Northwestern are discredited at Union Pacific headquarters by officials from President Burt down. The story is classed as a fake, pure and simple.

Munro's Publishing House Dinner.

The annual dinner to the staff of Munro's Publishing House, tendered by Mrs. Norman L. Munro, was held last evening at the roof garden restaurant in the Jersey Central Building, 143 Liberty Street, New York. Covers were laid for fifty persons, among whom were authors and the heads of the various departments of the publishing house.

THE STATE TRUST'S LOANS

Syndicate Has Paid Back the $2,000,000 Borrowed.

President Johnston Regrets This Ends the Most Profitable Business the Company Has Ever Done.

Walter S. Johnston, President of the State Trust Company, speaking of the efforts of Abram Kling, and his attorney, Charles P. Bacon, to cause the State authorities to take action against the Trust Company, said yesterday:

"These men are on their last legs. They have been compelled to abandon every charge that had the slightest substance in it. They went to Gov. Roosevelt with a story of the misuse of millions by influential Directors. They are now reduced to a plea of legal technicalities and to forced constructions of law concerning one single transaction—the loan of $2,000,000 to a syndicate of six persons, in which three of our Directors were interested as members.

"Well, in the first place, this loan has been paid. We have our money, the syndicate has its securities, and the transaction is concluded. And so ends, to my regret and against my protest, the most profitable business the company has ever done. The collateral security to the loan was worth from 50 to 60 per cent. more than the loan, and included $2,000,000 of Consolidated Gas bonds; and we were able to place the considerable sum of $2,000,000 at 6 per cent. interest, and to obtain at the same time the account of corporations whose average deposits were at all times more than $1,000,000.

"If this was a case of Directors misusing the company, I only wish I had a few more such Directors. As a matter of fact, it was a case of Directors sustaining the company, bringing useful business to the company, building the company up, and making their interest in its welfare shown in the profits to stockholders. And it is precisely this which has distnguished the State Trust Company since its present management secured control one year ago.

"Mind you, it is in the guise of stockholders that these people are making their attack. They own forty shares. They don't like the fact that our deposits are $14,000,000 to-day as against $7,000,000 a year ago; that our surplus is $1,200,000, as against $800,000, and that we are doing more business and a better business every day. Is any one so blind as not to see the motives of men who with pages of lies attack the integrity of a trust company's management, which has this record to the credit of a single year of administration?

"I do not believe it was a violation of law for us to lend money on good collateral to a partnership association of six persons on joint account, in which three of our Directors were interested. It happens that the three persons not Directors had the largest interest in the syndicate, and were persons of the highest responsibility and credit; any one of them able to pay the whole loan.

"I believe there are thousands of such loans in New York to-day. The large financial transactions of New York calling for the use of money are conducted by great firms. The individual members of such firms are sought for by trust companies as Trustees by reason of their knowledge of securities and their strong connections. If it is illegal for a trust company to loan on collateral to a syndicate or partnership, in which a Trustee has an interest, I am afraid there will have to be a general readjustment of loans.

"From one point of view our depositors, clients, and friends may be congratulated upon this assault. It has caused upon our demand an examination by the Banking Department of every loan, big and little, on our books. For three days the official examiners have sat here at my desk while there has passed in review before them every detail of our company's business. No bank in New York was ever subjected to so searching and complete an inquiry as the one we now cordially invited, but exacted, and the result places our company and its stockholders hereafter beyond the reach of raiding speculators."

Mr. Kling expressed the opinion that Mr. Kilburn was lacking in common sense if he refused to reply publicly to the letter Mr. Bacon sent to him demanding action against the State Trust Company. "The letter is a direct attack on him," said Mr. Kling. "It accuses him of suppressing the Andrews report in order to protect the State Trust Company. He can't afford to ignore it."

ALBANY, Jan. 24.—State Superintendent of Banks Kilburn stated to-day that he had nothing to say relative to the demand of Attorney Bacon that he take charge of the State Trust Company, made on behalf of Stockholder Kling. He further said that he had not seen the letter addressed to him by Mr. Bacon until he saw it in the newspapers.

Attorney General Davis said that charges that officers of the State Trust Company have violated the law have not been brought to his attention. He has neither seen a copy of Gen. Avery D. Andrews's report nor heard from Mr. Bacon.

FUGITIVE AUDITOR BACK.

T. J. Hunter, Southern Railway Employe, Accused of Fraud, Returns from Morocco in Custody.

T. J. Hunter, alleged defaulting Auditor of the Atlanta and West Point Railway, Georgia, who fled from this country last October and has been staying in Morocco, was brought back yesterday on the steamship Kaiser Wilhelm II., which arrived from Genoa, by Detective John W. Rogers of the Pinkerton Agency. It could not be learned at the agency, 57 Broadway, last night, where the prisoner had been taken, but it was thought there that he would go direct to Atlanta before the detective reported.

Hunter is charged with taking about $100,000. He had no direct access to the funds of the railroad. It is alleged that he got his money by so arranging the accounts of the employes of the road as to indicate shortages, making the employes pay these up to himself, and then retaining the money for his own use.

Hunter spent money freely and an investigation was made. He fled to this city and took second-class passage to Europe, going direct to Ireland. The Pinkerton Agency was engaged to trace him, and they found that he had been at his home in Ireland. They traced him thence to London, then to France, and finally located him in Tangier, where he was living under the name F. L. Stevens.

There is no extradition treaty between this Government and that of Morocco, and so, early in December, the State Department at Washington, through Samuel R. Gummere, United States Consul General at Tangier, made a formal request of the Sultan of Morocco to cause the prisoner to be delivered up. The Sultan, as an act of courtesy, did so. Rogers then went to Tangier with a warrant issued by the Federal Government, and accredited as the agent of this Government. Hunter was arrested on Dec. 14, and very shortly afterward started home with Rogers.

Hunter declined to talk when seen at Quarantine. The detective said that the prisoner had run out of funds in Tangier and consented to come to the United States without any trouble.

DECISION AGAINST THE CITY.

Justice Garretson Orders Reinstatement of Sixty Employes.

Justice Garretson, in the Supreme Court, in Long Island City, yesterday decided that the City of New York must give employment to John Graham and about sixty other persons who were appointed by Mayor Gleason of Long Island City a short time before the consolidation, assigned to city departments, and afterward dropped by the departments to which they were assigned. Justice Garretson also decided that the city must pay to these men back salaries in full.

Graham's case is identical in all essential points with the other cases, and was selected to test the law. In addition to those involved in the decision, it is said, there may be many more who will now come forward with suits for reinstatement and back pay, not only in Queens, but in Brooklyn, and possibly Richmond.

John Reedy on Trial Again.

The second trial of John Reedy, the ex-Postmaster, telegrapher, and station agent at Peconic Hills, N. Y., and George Morris, accused of using the mails in connection with alleged green-goods operations, was begun yesterday before Judge Thomas, in the Criminal Branch of the United States Circuit Court.

A New Atlantic City Express, via Jersey Central, 136 miles in 3¼ Hours.
Special train of parlor cars and vestibuled coaches leave foot of Liberty Street at 3:30 P. M., South Ferry 3:25 P. M., arriving Atlantic City at 6:45 P. M. Northward, leaves Atlantic City 2:10 P. M., arriving New York 5:25 P. M. Tickets ... to stop over at Lakewood.—Adv.

BEST & CO

LILIPUTIAN BAZAAR

The fit of a Child's Shoe

Is really the most important thing about it—especially the School Shoe, because that is worn the most, and has most to do with shaping the growing foot.

We fit our School Shoes and all other shoes perfectly in every individual instance.

Couldn't do it if it were not for special lasts and special sizes carried by no other house—this is one of the advantages of the children's store—and they cost no more than any other well-made shoes.

Our Special Shoes for Toeing-In, Bow-Legs, Knock Knees, Weak Ankles, etc., are also inexpensive.

60-62 West 23d St.

PHILIPPINE PORTS OPEN.

Restrictions Removed from Western Coast of Panay—Filipinos Lose Minor Engagements.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Gen. Otis reported to the War Department to-day that the western coast of the Island of Panay is now open for trade, and that the coast of Laguna de Bay and the neighboring sections of the country will also be opened to unrestricted traffic by the end of the week. He also reports several minor engagements with the Filipinos, in which the American arms met with the usual success. The enemy lost heavily and a large amount of arms and ammunition was captured. Gen. Otis's dispatch reads:

"Manila, Jan. 24.

"MacArthur, 20th to 23d, reports four minor engagements, in which five insurgents were killed, several wounded and captured; also captured few rifles and other property; no casualties. Major Bishop, Thirty-sixth Infantry, in North Zambales, with detachment sixty men, attacked two insurgent companies; killed nine, wounded and captured fourteen, secured twenty-two rifles, several thousand rounds of ammunition, two horses with equipments; casualties, three men wounded, one seriously.

"Gen. Young reports action of Stoever, Third Cavalry, against Gen. Tina's forces in north. Inflicted very heavy loss on insurgents, twenty-eight being killed. Dodd's troop attacked insurgents near Santa Lucia; killed six; no casualties.

"Reported from the south, enemy evacuated Santa Cruz; supposed to be on eastern coast; that city in our possession last two days; Schwan believed to be in pursuit; no late report from him.

"Coast Laguna de Bay and neighboring sections of country opened to unrestricted traffic 27th inst.; western coast Island Panay opened for trade."

OFFICERS RETURN FROM MANILA.

Several Arrive on the City of Peking at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—The United States transport City of Peking arrived from Manila via Nagasaki to-day. On board were a large number of naval and army officers, including the following:

Col. R. E. Thompson, Lieut. Benjamin Tappen of the gunboat Callao, Lieut. Commander V. L. Cottman of the steamer Brutus, Capt. J. H. H. Peshine, Capt. F. R. Shunk, Capt. F. R. Butler, Lieuts. H. B. Nelson, James Ronayne, A. S. Wood, United States Navy; Dr. E. P. Howell, Dr. C. Y. Brownlee. In the steerage were 170 men returned to this country from the Philippines for various reasons.

The steamer also brought the bodies of 156 soldiers, including that of Commander James W. Carlin, United States Navy, who died Dec. 31 of peritonitis. The bodies of the dead soldiers will be taken off to-morrow and conveyed to the cemetery at the Presidio.

LIEUT. PAUL D. STOCKLY MISSING.

Gen. Otis Cables that New York Man Was Evidently Captured.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Gen. Otis to-day cabled the War Department as follows:

"Manila, Jan. 24.

"Lieut. Stockly, Twenty-first Infantry, has been missing since the 12th inst. He was on reconnoitring duty at Talisay, near San Tomas, Batangas, and was evidently captured. Search is still being prosecuted."

Paul Devereaux Stockly, twenty-four years of age, is the son of George W. Stockly, President of the Sims-Dudley Defense Company of 120 Liberty Street, this city. He was appointed Second Lieutenant of the Twenty-first Aug. 22, 1899, and owed his commission to the fact that he possessed a thorough knowledge of the use of the dynamite gun in use in the army and manufactured by a firm with which he was connected before he went to Cuba and Puerto Rico to exercise this knowledge in behalf of the Government during the Spanish war.

With Lieut. M. C. Buckey of the Third Artillery, Lieut. Stockly superintended the loading of dynamite guns at New York for Manila, and was then ordered to Europe and afterward to Manila to report to Gen. Otis.

Movements of Transports.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Gen. Otis has informed the War Department of the arrival at Manila of the transport Victoria on Jan. 6, and of the Flintshire Jan. 23.

The following transports, which carried the various regiments to the Philippines, have started on the return voyage to San Francisco: Ohio and Indiana, on the 5th inst.; St. Paul, City of Puebla, and the Siam, on the 6th; Pathan, on the 7th; Meade, on the 8th; Dalny Vostock, on the 12th; Sherman, on the 13th; Logan, on the 14th, and the Columbia, on the 15th. The Lennox left for Portland, Oregon, on the 2d inst.

Hears of His Son's Death in Manila.

News of the death in Manila on Jan. 9 of Arthur Euston, a private in the Twenty-sixth United States Volunteers, was received yesterday by his father, J. Euston, who lives at 260 Eckford Street, Greenpoint. Euston was thirty-one years old, and was born in Greenpoint. At the outbreak of the war with Spain he enlisted in the Ninth Regiment, and went to Chattanooga and Chickamauga. He enlisted afterward in the Twenty-sixth United States Volunteers and went to Manila.

Lieut. E. G. Wing Dead.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Gen. Otis informed the War Department this morning of the death of Second Lieut. Eugene G. Wing, Thirty-sixth Infantry, of hemorrhagic variola. He was a native of Alabama, and received his commission in the volunteers July 5 last.

RUNAWAY IN A CEMETERY.

Driver Caught Under His Coach and Probably Fatally Hurt.

Herman Rasscoff, one of a funeral party's drivers in Calvary Cemetery yesterday, tried to pass between two other coaches while driving his horses at a trot. His coach hit one of the carriages and overturned it. Michael Kelly, the driver, was caught under his coach and injured so severely that it is not thought he will live.

Kelly's horses ran away, and ran into another coach, the horses of which started up a steep embankment, and almost upset the carriage. Mrs. Matthew Smith, mother of Magistrate Smith, was in the coach, but escaped injury.

Kelly was taken to St. John's Hospital in Long Island City. Rasscoff was arrested and held without bail on a charge of assault in the second degree, it being claimed he was reckless in driving.

All Cars Transfer to

Bloomingdales

3RD AVE 59 & 60TH STS

Groceries, Wines, and Liquors.

Exceptional price cuts in Fancy and Staple Groceries, Fine Wines, and Liquors.

Groceries.

9½c Sugar Cured Hams, not more than one to a customer, per lb., 9½
Boneless Bacon, finest, per lb., 9½
Mackerel, 10-lb pails; Irish, $1.10; Norway, 1.19
Bismarck Herring, formerly 35c., per can, 25
Fresh Camembert Cheese, imported, wood box, 23
Smoked Sardines, imported, can, 10
French Sardines, extra fine, per can, 9c. & 13
French Capers, best, big bottle, 12
Our 12c. genuine French Macaroni, Spaghetti, Vermicelli or Alphabets, 1 lb. pkgs., 10
Vanilla, Sweet Chocolate, best from France, 1-4 lb. cakes, 9
Tomatoes, solid, red ripe, per can, 7
Tomatoes, our fancy New Jersey solid pack, 11c. kind, big cans, 8
Sugar Corn, fancy, tender and young, per can, 7
Corn, Maine, our 12c. kind, per can, 9
Stringless Beans, very fine, 2-lb. cans, 6
Stringless Beans, our fine 11c. kind, 2-lb. cans, 8½
Stringless Beans, our 15c. kind, 2-lb. cans, 12
California Asparagus, fancy, 18c., 23c., 26c., & 31
California Prunes, choice and meaty, 5-lb. packages, per lb., 6
California Prunes, large 2-lb. packages, per lb., 8
Sifted Peas, our 15c. kind, per can, 13
Extra fancy Sifted Peas, our 18c. kind, per can, 15
Preserved Strawberries, heavy syrup, delicious, 1-lb. can, 8

Wines & Liquors.

Allsopp's Stout or Ale, highest grade in the world, brewed at Burton-on-Trent, England; not more than six dozen to a customer; per dozen, 1.29
Tokay, finest domestic, healthful, nourishing; one half gallon, 49c.; per gallon, 94
Antediluvian Rye Whiskey, only 1 bottle to a customer, for 99
Strathtay Scotch Whiskey, best from Scotland, only 1 bottle of each to a customer,
Rare Old, per bot., 95
Fine Old, per bot., 78
Chanson Pere & Fils Burgundy, Gevrey-Chambertin, quart bottles, 48
Chanson Pere & Fils Chablis, quart bots., 45
Rhine Wine, finest Hochheimer, from A. Wilhelmj, Hattenheim; our former price, $6.74; this sale per doz. qts., 5.74
Herman Champagne Fine Cognac, best from France (rare old brandy), our $1.75 bot. for 1.25
Merman 2-Star Cognac, our $1.25 bottle for 99

Clairvoyant Arrested for Fraud.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Jan. 24.—Mrs. Belle Eddy, alias Mrs. R. B. Yates, of Cleveland, a well-known clairvoyant, was arrested today on the charge of using the mails to defraud. Mrs. C. L. Common, a widow, accuses her of wrongfully obtaining from her $10,000 for the purpose of breaking up a conspiracy alleged by the clairvoyant to exist, the object of which was said by Mrs. Eddy to be to deprive her of property which rightfully belonged to her dead husband.

"BUY CHINA & GLASS RIGHT"
HIGGINS & SEITER
FINE CHINA · RICH CUT GLASS
ALL PRICES LESS THAN ELSEWHERE. 50-54 West 22d St. WEDDING GIFTS A SPECIALTY.

CROUCH & FITZGERALD
161 BROADWAY.
688 BROADWAY.
723 SIXTH AVENUE.

SHIPPING AND FOREIGN MAILS.

Miniature Almanac—This Day.

	A. M.	P. M.	A. M.
Sun rises	7:16	Sun sets 5:09	Moon rises 2:03

High Water This Day.

	A. M.	A. M.	A. M.
S. Hook	1:55	Gov. Isl'd 2:17	H. Gate 4:13
	P. M.	P. M.	P. M.
S. Hook	2:06	Gov. Isl'd 2:10	H. Gate 4:06

Outgoing Steamships.

TO-DAY, (

WANAMAKER'S WANAMAKER'S WANAMAKER'S

Things of Beauty From the Orient

THOROUGHNESS is a characteristic of this business. We never start the selling of any particular line of goods on the vague chance of making a few dollars. Each store under this roof is complete in itself—is under the immediate charge of a thoroughly competent specialist: a man who could run the best store of its sort on his own account, but who prefers the larger field this consolidation of businesses offers.

Oriental goods are in charge of a man who has spent so many years in the business that he is personally skilled in the commercial usages of the various Eastern countries, a connoisseur of the products of those far-off lands.

What advantage do we offer you? Fair prices. It is amusing to watch the ways of the peregrinating auction-sale man—his great bargains quite apt to be twice as costly as our every-day stocks of equal beauty and artistic value.

But it is wasteful to cast loving glances in a dark room, and to-day we start

A Sale at Prices Lower than Ever

The Oriental Store is in the Basement; the special display and selling occupies aisles on the main floor.

We shall lose profits—no, we shall invest the computed "loss" in this movement to make you quickly and thoroughly know the store.

Quaint hand-carved silver from Madras, in Southern India; Cloisonne, Ivories—the whole line of queer, decorative and useful things from Sunrise Lands.

Regularly our goods are an average third less than usual prices. In this special sale we clip a third or a half off our regular marked prices. Interested—collector, furnisher, beautifier? Read on.

A 3-piece group of Cloisonne Ware, Japanese, at $1,500 instead of $2,500.

A Dragon Piece of Kioto Bronze, about ten feet high, at $1,500 instead of $3,000.

Japanese Carved Ivories, very wonderful things, half price, or at most three-quarters.

Hand-wrought Solid Silver from Madras, India—half price—it was intelligently bought at a fair price per tola—Tea Pot, $50 from $100, and down to the elaborate Pocket Match Box at $5.

Fine Screens—but alas! the finest is a bit marred, hence $150 instead of $500.

Another at $75 from $100. And one at $150 from $200.

Phoenician Glass, from tombs near Tyre and Sidon. Marked as though it were not wonderful.

Teakwood Stools and Stands, $4 from $5.50; $7.50 from $10; $12 from $15, and so on.

Espahan Tiles and Placques from Persia—$7.50 from $20; $4.50 from $9. Some at $2.50.

Imari Porcelain Ware—Bowls, 50c to $2.50, about half prices.

And much Japanese and Chinese Pottery at prices from 25c to $75—yesterday's prices a third or a half more.

Bamboo Furniture—Taborets, Book Shelves, Tables and Music Stands reduced like the rest. For instance, stools at 50c; a $9 cabinet at $6.75.

The most interesting pieces are shown in Tenth-street Aisle, but other aisles hold much that deserves notice—and that will be quickly bought.

Fur Rugs==Animal Skins Mounted

We have a fine Polar bear skin, with mounted head, that we shall sell at $250 instead of $450.

And a mounted rug of grizzly bear skin at $100 instead of $200.

Our animal rug store has proved a very great success—we are entirely satisfied to lose money on the few rugs left. This is a winter-time business, and we must be over with it now. These, as well—

Tiger Skins—$100, $150 and $250—were $150 to $350.
Leopards $30 and $35—about half price.
A jaguar at $45 from $75.
A wolf at $20 from $30.
Some Goatskin Rugs, of course not mounted—white or gray, at $1.75 from $2.25. Black, at $2.50. Some lined rugs, at $4 and $7.50.

Third floor.

Women's Jackets, $10

They are $18, $20 and $25 qualities. Kerseys and cheviots, in blacks and all the season's approved colors. And the styles are likewise those that have been best liked. The season's drawing to an end with us—wearing time enough to come, for you. $10 for your selection.

Second floor, Broadway.

Fancy Rockers Reduced It's a great big furniture store, still there comes frequent complaint; "Not room enough." 250 fancy rockers don't require much space, but they've been called upon to vacate. Evicted, yet these reduced prices should assure them of new homes quickly:

$3.50—Golden oak; inlaid lines; wood seats; was $4.50.
$4—Golden oak; embossed leather seats; spindle back; was $5.
$7.50—Imitation mahogany; embossed leather seat and back; was $9.
$9—Flemish oak; tapestry covering; leather trimmings; was $13.
$13—Mahogany; wood seat; fancy inlaid back; was $20.
$16—Mahogany; inlaid; upholstered spring seat; was $24.
$22—Mahogany; tapestry covering; upholstered spring seat; was $33.

Fourth floor.

Furs===The Annual Loss

Experts count the Wanamaker fur business as a large factor. Certain it is, that doing it thoroughly—furrier fashion, but without furrier extravagance—is bringing us a bigger and bigger business. To the natural and appreciated growth is added Fashion's favor this season—and furs have never been so necessary to the well-dressed woman.

Almost at the close of the usual selling time we purchased two entire stocks from important manufacturers. The garments thus obtained were sold at about half price—eighty-seven thousand dollars' worth (at retail valuation) coming to our two stores. The bulk of these lots was sold—but many individual pieces, some quite elegant, remain.

These and every fur garment in our stock shall go on sale this morning at—

One-fourth Off Yesterday's Prices

and this selling will continue to-morrow, and next day, as well, if you do not sooner take all that we have.

This reduction applies to the inexpensive Astrakhan Muff at $2.75, and right through to the finest Russian Sable Set.

Second floor, Broadway

Shoe Bargains Do not make the mistake of thinking that the prices in this Fifth-floor Annex Store have any effect in values. These—

Men's Shoes at $1.75 and $2.30

are regular $3 and $4 shoes. Lots come to us for three causes—odd cases, which large producers count as remnants—and merely in the way; recalled lots—where shipment is either refused or stopped because the seller has become afraid of the buyer, or, shoes that for immaterial defects of finish are rejected in our regular shoe store.

We never buy shoes at auction—we do not sell anybody's job lots. These "bargains" are brand new fresh goods from the makers.

Women's Shoes at $1.40 and $2. Same story.

Children's Spring-heel Shoes, $1. Sizes, 8½ to 13.

Fifth floor.

Muslin Underwear Gets Mussed on the Counters and Is Reduced To-day

Measured by the lots we have left this January sale is almost over—for it is a very serious fact that we cannot re-order at the old prices; cannot buy, as a rule, for the prices we charge you to-day.

There has been much looking and measuring and comparing—the average "white sale" has been a delusion and you could not believe the garments here were full size and as good as ever—couldn't believe the papers; could scarcely believe the evidence of your own eyes.

To-day the mussed and tumbled pieces are ready—maybe sizes missing here and there, but quite a lot in all. Reductions are from the very specially low prices of this month—

NIGHT GOWNS—38c from 50c; 65c from $1; 50c from 85c; 75c from $1.25.
LONG WHITE PETTICOATS—50c from 85c; $1 from $1.50; $1.25 from $2.

There are Drawers at 10c and 15c, and, of course, for more—last of the special lots, and—

Chemises starting in price at 25c.
Flannelette Petticoats at 25c, 50c, 65c, 75c, 85c and $1.25.
Flannelette Night Gowns at $1.50 to $2.75.
A hundred Petticoats of black sateen, lined with flannelette—the flounce lined with crinoline—at 75c.

Second floor.

To-day's Bargains on the 5th Floor

Sales of importance are in progress up on the Fifth Floor. They really deserve more prominent mention, but this hint of their attractiveness must suffice.

There's a closing of floor and stair linens at half prices. The floor linens are 52 to 180 in. wide—45c to $1.95 qualities. The stair linens, 14 to 36 in. wide, 12c to 35c kinds. Now half those prices.

The seersucker petticoats at 50c are considered excellent value at a half more.

Mercerized cotton waists, black, blue, violet, cerise, at $1. The price is an agreeable surprise when you see the waists. Some cashmere and sateen waists, warm and pretty, are also $1.

Flannelette dressing sacques, blue, pink and red, 50c.

The Muslin Underwear—Gowns at 50c to $1.75, Petticoats at 35c to $1.75, drawers at 15c, are all exceptionally good values.

Dress Goods Remnants—a collection of serges, cheviots, homespuns, henriettas, and some of the season's best wool novelties. Prices are reduced a third to a half.

Gloves—Some little lots still remain. Excellent bargains for men, women and children. Kidskin and other sorts.

Club Vellum Writing Paper and Envelopes—10c a pound, 15c a hundred. A superior grade at a little price.

Fifth Floor.

Pens, Pencils, and Penholders Fancy pieces—gold, silver and plated ware—for desk and pocket. It's a dealer's entire stock—ours at a price, yours for a song. Half prices, mostly, though many are even less than half.

Gold Pens—No. 2, 45c; No. 3, 50c; No. 4, 60c; No. 5, 65c; No. 6, 75c; No. 7, $1; No. 8, $1.25.
Desk Pen Holders, ebony, rolled plate mountings, 15c to 35c.
Slide Pen Holders, ebony, rolled plate mountings, 25c to 75c.
Desk Pen Holders, pearl, rolled plate mountings, 35c to 50c.
Slide Pen Holders, pearl, rolled plate mountings, 35c to 50c.
Combination Pen Holder and Pencil, rolled plate, 85c to $1.10.
Rolled Plate Pencils, 45c to 60c.
Silver Whistles, 60c. Plated Toothpicks, 50c.
Silver Screw Pencils, 40c.
Silver Toothpick Holders, 25c.
Silver Tablet Pencils, 25c to 50c.
Silver Magic Pencils, plain, 50c; chased, 85c.
Large Silver Pencils, heavily chased, $1.25 to $1.65.
14-k. Gold Pencils, $6.25 to $17.

Broadway.

Infants' Long Dresses It saves mother strength, certainly, to be able to buy neat little dresses for 50c and thereabouts. This word of some of the newer lots—remembering that we have very elaborate baby-wear as well—

50c—Nainsook; 3 styles; all neatly trimmed with embroidery; some with hemstitched yoke; others have yokes of all-over embroidery.
60c—Nainsook; 3 styles; round yoke of insertion and plaits; some lace trimmed.
95c—Nainsook dresses; 2 styles; one with round yoke of plaits and valenciennes insertion; ruffle round yoke, edged with lace; deep hem and cluster of plaits on skirt. Another with square yoke of plaits and embroidery insertion; embroidery ruffle over shoulder; hem and cluster of plaits on skirt.
$1.45—Nainsook dresses; 2 styles; one with yoke of plaits and 5 rows of embroidery insertion; 2 embroidery ruffles over shoulder; skirt with deep hem and plaits. Another with round yoke of plaits and embroidery insertion; lawn ruffle with 5 fine plaits around yoke; skirt trimmed with ruffles and plaits.

Second floor, Fourth avenue.

More Linen News We were first to give America linens made from the soft, satiny flax of Courtrai—at least first to introduce it in a large commercial way—and how it is appreciated!

Yet even the linen weavers of Flanders are not exempt from trade laws, and we bought these special "bargains"—

Table Cloths—
2x2 yards, $2.75 instead of $3.75.
2x2½ yards, $3.25 instead of $4.50.
2x3 yards, $4 instead of $5.50.
2½ by 2½ yards, $4.75 instead of $6.
2½x3 yards, $5.75 instead of $7.

Napkins—
26x26 in., $4.25 doz. instead of $5.50.
22x22 in., $3 doz. instead of $3.75.

Table Linen by the Yard—
72 in. wide, $1.25 instead of $1.75.

Fourth avenue side.

The New Spring Neckwear for Women It may be a trifle early—this showing—but better that than late. The search for best styles has been going on diligently for a month or more—the result awaits your viewing to-day. All of it is American, though much is in imitation of Paris products. New ideas in stock collars with bows, new styles of jabots, most attractively trimmed; revers of lace and silk in latest shapes; various fine fronts of elegant taffeta silks, and so on. All ready to-day. Broadway and Tenth street.

Men's Shirtings from Paris—such a collection of them as we never saw in any other American store.

Do you know our shirt maker? This is our, word for his work: Shirts that fit; fit before and after washing. You take no risk—we take it all, and it's small.

Formerly A. T. Stewart & Co., JOHN WANAMAKER Broadway, Fourth Ave., Ninth and Tenth Streets.

BOARD FLOUTS MAXWELL

Request for Apportionment of the School Fund Tabled.

PRES. ROBERTSON'S ATTACK

City Superintendent Accused of Forcing His Ideas—His Reply—Committee to Watch Legislation.

The reading of a communication from City Superintendent Maxwell and Auditor Cook in regard to teachers' salaries led to a heated discussion at the meeting of the Board of Education yesterday afternoon. The document was dated yesterday, and was as follows:

"At the last session of the Board of Education, the Committee on Finance, in accordance with by-laws and Statute, presented the resolution to apportion the General School Fund for the current year.

"Your attention is called to certain facts at this time, with the suggestion that action be taken at the session of the board to be held to-day, of such a nature as will preclude any confusion or delay in making payments from the General School Fund for the year 1900.

"First—Section 1,065 of the Charter is operative at this time, no legislative action having occurred repealing it.

"Second—Failure to apportion the fund to the several boroughs may prevent payment being made from a fund not constituted and apportioned according to law.

"Third—Failure to apportion the General School Fund for the current year would probably result in falling back upon the separate items of appropriation as set up by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment in the budget; for instance:

MANHATTAN AND BRONX BOROUGHS.

Salaries of teachers in public schools and of supervisors of special branches	$4,802,768.90
Salaries of additional teachers	180,000.00
Salaries of training school teachers.	50,000.00
Playgrounds and vacation schools	15,000.00
For the amount necessary to raise salaries to the minimum amounts specifically fixed by the provisions of Chapter 417 of the Laws of 1899, (the so-called Ahearn act)	795,532.00
For additions to and equalization of salaries of teachers other than supervisors of special branches and High School teachers	250,000.00
Total	$6,093,300.90

"From the next preceding paragraphs you will perceive that, so far as the preparation of teachers' pay-rolls is concerned, a failure to make the statutory apportionment would result in the segregation of such pay-rolls under six different heads. Furthermore, the School Boards would be hampered in their administration by the technical financial limitations established by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment.

"All things considered, we believe the situation sufficiently important to warrant immediate consideration by the Board of Education."

President Robertson of the Brooklyn School Board asked what was the date last year when the Central Board acted on the pay rolls. He was told it was Feb. 20.

"Then," said he, "I do not see why we should do as Supt. Maxwell suggests. Remedial legislation is now under consideration at Albany. It may be passed in good season. I do not think it right that the City Superintendent at this time should try to force his ideas on this board. We shall know in ten days just what ought to be done. I, therefore move that the communication be laid on the table."

"I'm glad," said President Burke of the Richmond School Board, "that the City Superintendent has brought this matter before us. I want the question determined once and for all as to who is the proper representative of this board, its President or the City Superintendent, and as to what are the respective duties of each. The City Superintendent appeared at Albany yesterday as the representative of the Board of Education. I think that if there is any legislation at Albany affecting the schools the proper representative of this board is a committee duly appointed for that purpose, or the President of the board. I think the City Superintendent is trying to force through a bill in which he and Senator Ford are interested. That bill retains the same vicious form which is responsible for the school trouble. I do not care what the scale of salaries may be, the viciousness is there I don't think the City Superintendent represented this board when he said it favored that bill.

"Any such action as this that we may take to-day will isimply tend to demoralize us and to force us again to be lawbreakers. It is true, as the President of the Brooklyn board says, that there is remedial legislation under consideration at Albany. The fact is that there is too much remedial legislation. I hope we shall appoint a special committee to look over these bills and pick out the best. I second Mr. Robertson's motion."

On motion of Commissioner O'Brien unanimous consent was given to City Superintendent Maxwell to reply.

DR. MAXWELL'S REPLY.

"I rise," said Dr. Maxwell, "not to debate this matter but to explain it. Mr. Burke has spoken somewhat hastily. It is quite true that I appeared yesterday before the Senate Cities Committee, but it is not true that I did so as the representative of the Board of Education, or that I said I represented it. It's not true that I thought even that the board held any views. I appeared there on the summons of the Chairman of the committee. I expressed only my own views, and I so stated. Permit me to add that the only motive which actuated the auditor and myself to present this communication was to prevent any complications arising in regard to the teachers' salaries in this or any other borough from the action of the Controller, who may again take it into his head to have the salaries charged to half a dozen accounts."

President Robertson's motion was then carried.

A bill introduced by Assemblyman Minton was then read to the board. It amends the present law in regard to School Inspectors so as to allow each of them whenever, in his opinion, a school in his district has too many pupils to cause a certain number to be transferred. A resolution was adopted declaring that such a law would result in serious disorganization of the school system. A copy of the resolution will be sent to Assemblyman Minton.

On motion of Commissioner O'Brien a special committee, consisting of the Presidents of the Central and School Boards and the Chairman of the Central Board's Committee on By-Laws and Legislation, was appointed to watch school legislation at Albany. Also, on motion of Commissioner O'Brien, the board decided to spend a sum not exceeding $200 to have a copy of each bill presented at Albany affecting the schools sent to each member of all the School Boards.

F. De Hass Simonson, President of the Queens School Board, was present at yesterday's meeting for the first time in five months. The meeting is the last to be held in the old Board of Education building, at Grand and Elm Streets.

The State Prison authorities have presented a bill for $120,000 for furniture delivered to the schools. The Examiners had decided that considerable of it was defective and had not paid the bill. It was decided yesterday by the board that one-half of the amount would be paid immediately as soon as 75 per cent. of the furniture was delivered, and that the other half would be paid as soon as all defects were remedied.

SETH LOW ON SCHOOL BILLS.

Writes Senate Committee that He Is Opposed to the Coler-Grady Measure and Favors Senator Ford's.

ALBANY, Jan. 24.—The Senate Committee on Cities has received the following communication from President Low of Columbia University:

"A number of bills relating to the educational situation in the City of New York have been sent to me by Senator Ford with the request that I should examine them and acquaint the Committee on Cities with my views on the general subject. As I understand the matter, there are now pending in the Senate five bills purporting to deal with the temporary emergency and three bills aiming to reconstruct the provisions of the charter with reference to the administration of the school system of the city.

"The emergency to be dealt with, as I am informed, is to provide money enough to pay to the school teachers of Queens County and Richmond County the money that is due to them and which has not been provided, as it should have been, by the Board of Apportionment. It is evident that such an emergency should be dealt with by itself, and that no legislation should be had in dealing with this question which will complicate the more fundamental questions of school administration that are to be considered later. The bills relating to the emergency which are now in my hands are:

"Senate bills No. 12, introduced by Mr. Havens; No. 25, introduced by Mr. McCarren; No. 35, introduced by Mr. Ford, and No. 105, introduced by Mr. Norton.

"I am informed that there is also a bill, introduced or to be introduced by Senator Grady, but of this I have not the text. I am told that it proposes to increase the power of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, and to interfere with the administration of the school funds of the city by giving it authority to make transfers from fund to fund, and that it further proposes to repeal Section 1,065 of the charter, which provides for the establishment of the general school fund and the special school fund. If I am correctly informed as to the nature of this bill, I think it ought by no means to be permitted to become a law. I think it is better as a matter of general policy to decrease rather than to increase the power of the Board of Estimate over hte school funds of the city, and I am very sure that no feature of the charter should be changed in the attempt to deal with an emergency.

"The Board of Estimate and Apportionment, I am told, declined last year to appropriate enough to support the school system of Queens County and of Richmond County. This deficiency certainly should be made good with as little delay as possible, but it ought to be made good in such a manner as to make it perfectly clear to the people of New York where the blame lies. It ought not to be possible to cover the matter up by a transfer of unexpended balances, which will make it difficult for any one to understand exactly what has taken place.

"Of the remaining bills it seems to me that Senator Ford's bill, No. 35, is in altogether the best form. It provides a direct and straightforward remedy. In form it is permissive rather than mandatory, and action under it will enable the people of the City of New York to understand perfectly who is responsible for the dilemma which calls for legislative remedy.

"I understand that the hearing upon the bills of permanent significance is to be held on the 30th of January. I hope to be able to look into the matter with some care during the interval, and by that time I shall hope to acquaint you in some way with my views upon the permanent aspects of the question. I understand these bills to be three in number—the Ford bill, the Elsberg bill, and the Marshall bill. If there are others, I shall be glad to receive copies.

"P. S.—Since writing the foregoing I have received a copy of Mr. Grady's bill. Upon examining it I see no occasion to modify what I have written."

CITY COLLEGE FUNDS.

Appropriation of $200,000 Divided—Pupils' Terms Shortened.

At a special meeting of the Board of Trustees of the City College yesterday afternoon the appropriation for 1900 of $200,000 by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment was divided so that $174,000 goes to pay the salaries of officers, teachers, &c., the remaining $26,000 for all other expenses.

On motion of Trustee Davis it was decided that all pupils of the high schools who have finished a three years' course should be admitted to the sophomore class of the college on probation of eight weeks without examination. This means that these pupils may graduate after a three years' term instead of four.

Asks Aid for School Children.

The aid of the school children of this city is sought to prevent the extermination of the buffalo. A letter has been received by the Board of Education from George R. Collins, Secretary of the Buffalo Preservation Society of the United States, dated Kansas City, Jan. 20, requesting that teachers and pupils do all in their power to influence the adoption of the resolution offered by United States Senator Baker for the setting aside of unsurveyed wild land in Southeastern New Mexico to perpetuate the buffalo, which, as a species is now nearly extinct.

Agree Upon a Salary Schedule.

Eighteen teachers, representing all of the teachers' organizations in the five boroughs, met yesterday afternoon at the City College and agreed upon a full uniform salary schedule which, after adoption by the different associations, will be embodied in a bill to be presented at Albany as soon as possible. At a meeting of the Male Teachers' Association in the City College yesterday the Fallows bill was indorsed.

THE W. T. EVANS PICTURES.

The collection of American paintings owned by Mr. William T. Evans, the well-known collector, and which numbers 270 examples, representing 102 native painters, is now on exhibition at the American Art Galleries, 6 East Twenty-third Street. The collection will remain on view until Wednesday afternoon next, and will be sold at auction on the evenings of Jan. 31 and Feb. 1 and 2, at Chickering Hall.

Mr. Evans was formerly a collector of foreign paintings, but some years ago and probably influenced by Mr. Thomas B. Clarke, whose famous collection of American pictures was sold last Winter, and who over twenty years ago began to collect native paintings, he sold every foreign picture he possessed, and devoted himself also exclusively to the collection of American pictures. We are told in the especially prepared introduction to the catalogue of the collection that Mr. Evans, who found, when he first began to collect American pictures, that native artists of the first rank were mostly landscape and marine painters, has become interested in the evolution of American figure works. This comparatively recent phenomenon in American painting has so fascinated him that he has resolved to devote himself more completely to figures than to landscapes, and hence the present sale. With all due respect to Mr. Evans's interest in the evolution of American art, and allowing him full credit for any eleemosynary purpose that he may have had in mind, it would hardly seem to be necessary for any excuses to be made for the sale of his collection at the present time. We are told in this same introduction that "he is a good man of business." He was, therefore, probably sufficiently impressed with the success last Winter of the Clarke sale to realize that the present is perhaps a good time for him to dispose of his collection of American works, and thus to secure perhaps a reflected golden as well as artistic glory. Mr. Evans's picture sale, like Mr. Clarke's, is more than anything else a legitimate commercial venture.

It is only natural that the collection should be compared with the Clarke collection, sold last Winter, and which, it will be remembered, realized a total, with four nights' sale, of $234,495 for 372 examples. The Clarke collection was especially rich in the works of Winslow Homer, and George Inness, and contained 31 examples of the former and 39 of the latter artist. Mr. Clarke also owned 12 examples of the noted figure painter, Louis Moeller, and 10 examples of the landscapist Tryon, whom some art lovers consider the successor of Inness. There are 17 examples of Inness in the Evans collection, 2 only of Homer, 3 of Moeller, and 4 of Tryon, but, on the other hand, Mr. Evans owns 13 Wyants, as against 7 in the Clarke collection, and has nearly as many examples of Homer Martin. After diligent study it would appear that Mr. Evans's collection, while perhaps more representative of American landscape art than the Clarke, from its lesser number of figure works, is not so thoroughly a representative one. Like Mr. Clarke, Mr. Evans has had his favorites, and while he probably secured all he could of the works of the great trio—Inness, Wyant, and Martin—he has devoted himself too strongly to several less notable painters. There are certainly too many examples of F. S. Church, attractive as they may be, and to be thoroughly comprehensive, some of the Bogerts, Currans, Nowmans, A. P. Ryders, Shirlaws, and even Rangers might have been dispensed with in favor of other painters, whose names will easily suggest themselves.

This may be hypercritical, for the collection, as a whole, is so thoroughly good that it may be commended to the study and attention, not only of believers in American art, but of art lovers in general. Many of the works shown are not only thoroughly representative, but are in themselves delightful, and were there nothing else displayed save the groups of Wyants, Innesses and Martins, to say nothing of the Deweys, the three Wyatt Eatons, the seven superior Minors, the seven Murphys, the four Tryons, the six Walkers, and examples here and there of such painters as W. M. Chase, Kenyon Cox, Frank De Haven, T. W. Dening, C. Harry Eaton, George Fuller, R. Swain Gifford, William H. Howe, William Morris Hunt, David, and Eastman Johnson, F. D. Millet, three of the colorist Mowbray, an Ochtman, a Quartley, two of Theodore Robinson, two of A. H. Thayer, two of H. O. Walker, and one each of C. Y. Turner, J. Alden Weir, and Irving R. Wiles, it would form a notable display.

It is impossible to describe at all in detail the collection. The majority of its examples have been shown at club exhibitions, have won prizes at annual Academy and society displays, and are known to New York art lovers. The collection must have been largely added to during the last few months, probably in anticipation of this sale, for there are familiar canvases, from the dealers' galleries and the studios, which were not a short time ago known as belonging to Mr. Evans. These have doubtless been added to the collection with the purpose of making it more complete and harmonious, and are therefore welcome additions. Perhaps the best canvas, or what may be called the star picture of the collection, although even as to this the opinions of individual critics may differ, is Wyant's noble landscape "In the Adirondacks," with its suggestion in subject of Diaz, an open glade, a stream in the foreground, rocks and woods in the middle distance, a sky of white and blue, tender and fresh in color, and all permeated with that outdoor sense and feeling which marks Wyant at his best. George Inness's "Winter Morning at Montclair" is stronger and more thoroughly characteristic than his larger canvas, "A Summer Morning," which was exhibited in 1885 at Munich. "The Winter Morning" is familiar to all students of Inness, with its crystal clear atmosphere, rich color, magnificent sky, and truthfulness of rendering. The larger Inness, "A Summer Morning," is broadly and strongly painted, with perhaps the best cattle that the artist ever portrayed, but while it is very true and has fine style, the greens are somewhat spotty and the sky does not recede. Among the other notable Innesses are the splendid "Sunset on the Passaic," with its glorious glow of color, and "The Georgia Pines," by some critics considered the artist's masterpiece, and which he himself, when he presented it to his wife, called his "best picture," and the poetic and tender tonal canvas "Nine O'Clock," the best rendering of a moonlight evening in America ever painted.

Of the Homer Martins, in which the collection is especially rich, unquestionably the strongest is the "Westchester Hills," which shows his poetic mind and strength of conception at their best. The landscape is elemental, and shows only a winding road in the foreground, lined with stone fences, leading to the hills, which rise in the middle distance, but it is very beautiful in color and attractive in every way. There is also splendid painting in the four Normandy landscapes, and especially in the "Old Church in Normandy," which is extremely fine in tone and rich in color.

Other notable canvases which must be mentioned in this first brief review are the exceptionally fine "Valley of the Seine," by Theodore Robinson; "Abbott Thayer's strong single figure, "The Young Woman," with its powerful drawing, fine color, pose, and expression; George H. Bogert's dramatic and stirring marine, "Sea and Rain," far better than his other examples; F. S. Church's graceful little "Pandora," the best of his twenty-one delicately colored, decorative, and characteristic works; Dewey's lovely and poetic tonal works, "Return of the Hay Boats" and "Shadows of the Evening Hour"; Wyatt Eaton's famous "Reverie," and George Fuller's equally famous "Lorette"; Gilbert Gaul's stirring and dramatic battle piece, "Charging the Battery"; Winslow Homer's representative Maine coast scene, "Weather Beaten," one of his characteristic studies of breaking surf, and his early example, interesting as showing his change of method, "Sunday Morning in Virginia"; William M. Hunt's "Spouting Whale," a simple and powerful marine; Bolton Jones's "Autumn Afternoon"; W. L. Lathrop's two prize-winning water colors, "November Evening" and "Twilight in Connecticut"; the seven superior examples of Minor; the five of R. L. Newman; the Murphys, seven in number, one a large landscape with almost the strength of Inness; Ranger's "Morning at High Bridge," and an "An East River Idyl," which, of his nine examples, are the most original and less like the Barbizon painters; A. P. Ryder's poetic "Moonlight"; Walter Shirlaw's strongly drawn "Autumn"; the four lovely canvases of Tryon; H. O. Walker's "Morning Vision," a group of five figures, full of thought and refined and spiritual in color; Horatio Walker's six low-keyed, soft-toned Dutch-American landscapes; J. Alden Weir's best landscape, "Lengthening Shadows," rich in meaning and color, and Carleton Wiggins's "Evening After Rain," a broad, fine conception, with a sky that Michel might have laid in.

These impressions may serve to indicate to the prospective visitor and buyer something of the general character of this superior collection. It is full of lessons from the past of American art, and full of promise for the future of that art. It shows not only the ability, but the versatility of American landscape painters, and is in itself an education.

ART DISPLAYS AND SALES.

There will be sold to-night at the Fifth Avenue Auction Rooms, at 238 Fifth Avenue, some 167 canvases, both oils and water colors, owned by Mr. Henry Riemann. The collection is made up, with a few exceptions, including one or two landscapes by W. L. Metcalf and two very fair examples of Theodore Robinson, "In Virginia" and "A Bit of Giverny," from the sale of the artist's works in 1898, of pictures by B. W. Priestman, a landscape artist of more than average ability, and who has a good color sense and much feeling for nature, and by Emil Carlsen, the young Danish still-life painter. Several of the Priestman examples are water colors, and are good in tonal quality and atmosphere. The examples of Carlsen are in some instances large ones, and well show that artist's breadth of handling and dexterity. To the seekers for thoroughly good pictures which do not rely on names only for value this collection may be commended. The sale will be continued to-morrow evening.

***

Mr. Isaac Walker has become quite well known as a picture collector in the past twenty years, and delights to clothe the walls of his establishment with well-selected examples of American and foreign brushes. Every few years, as is the custom of other collectors, he sells the paintings which have delighted himself and his friends, and starts in again to form a new aggregation. One of these Walker sales will take place at the Fifth Avenue Art Galleries this and to-morrow evening. There are 153 numbers in the collection. Of these 63 are by foreign brushes, and include a fair Corot, a good Schreyer, a soft colored and pleasing little Trouillebert, a well-drawn nude by Gatot, a characteristic Hagborg, a nice little Mesgrigny, an excellent figure piece by Hermann, "The Cynic"; a thoroughly good genre by Spring of Munich, a charming cattle piece by Voltz, formerly owned by Major T. K. Gibbs; a queer looking Rousseau, and excellent examples of François Bonhuer and Delort. The American pictures have a higher average than the foreign ones. There is an Inness, a landscape, very delicate and soft in color; a good little Boughton, a charming Wyant, an excellent David Johnson, rich in color quality and softer than usual; a Whittredge, "Noonday," with nice light; an attractive Bermuda landscape by W. S. Macy, and a little Bristol—"Lumber Yard, Me."—an unusual motive, and fair to good examples of Van Boskerck, Harry Eaton, Dolph, Bolmer, Rehn, E. L. Henry, H. P. Smith, W. L. Sonntag, B. R. Fitz, and R. A. Blakelock. In the collection is E. R. Simmons's large figure canvas, "Low Tide," a realistic bit of painting, strongly drawn and well composed, but not particularly convincing. The collection, while not a particularly notable one, ranks much above the average of those usually found in New York picture auction rooms, and the sale should be well attended.

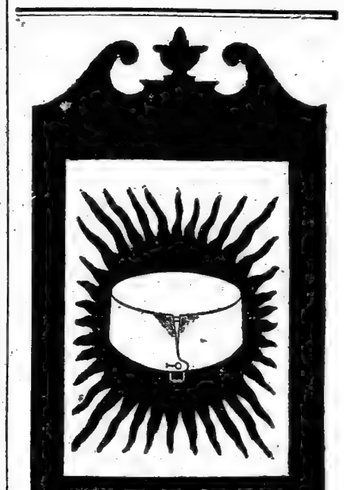
B. Altman & Co.

ARE NOW SHOWING

THE PRINCESS PETTICOAT

(ON WHICH ORDERS CAN BE TAKEN.)

THIS GARMENT IS FAVORED AS PROMOTING A SLIGHTNESS OF FIGURE AND CONFORMING TO THE COMING SEASON'S COSTUMES FOR OUT-DOOR AND EVENING WEAR.



Cluett Brand
"BONTEKO"
25c each

Arrow Brand
"KADMON"
2 for 25c

Style of collar the same but of different qualities.

Our fashion booklet, "Correct Attire for Men," sent to those who ask.

Cluett, Peabody & Co.
5 Union Square, West
New York City

THE FOUNDATION OF HEALTH

Abbey's
("THE 'SALT' OF SALTS")
Will Prevent Grippe.

This is the time of the year when you should fortify yourself against grippe. Abbey's Effervescent Salt will do it.

Dr. Wright, of London, says:

An Excellent Preparation.

"I have great pleasure in bearing testimony to your excellent preparation. I may say by its continuous use during a terrible epidemic of La Grippe I escaped an attack, although often worn out by the extra fatigue and great strain put upon me when grappling with it. It keeps the blood cool and allays fever."—Dr. W. H. Wright, L.R.C.P.I., L.M., M.R.C.S.E., L.S.A.I., Medical Officer of Health, London, England.

Take a teaspoonful in a glass of water every morning before breakfast.

There are some people who never do anything until they have to. Don't be one of them. Take care of your health while you have it. Retain it by the daily use of Abbey's Effervescent Salt.

At druggists'. 25c., 50c. and $1 per bottle.

FREE Send two 2-ct. stamps, to pay postage and packing, and we will mail you one of the most dainty and beautiful colored calendar creations of the year.

The Abbey Effervescent Salt Co., Dept. E, 13 Murray St., New York.

USED DAILY, GIVES HEALTH.

VICHY IS HEALTHFUL!

A Natural Mineral Water with medicinal qualities,
For Indigestion and Stomach Disorders.
So-called VICHY
IN SYPHONS
IS NOT VICHY
Get the Genuine
VICHY
CELESTINS

Wm Vogel & Son

SPECIAL SALE
Men's Tuxedo Coats
$12

A windfall, gentlemen, for this season of the year.

Broadway and Houston St.

MORMONS ARE EXCORIATED

Congressman Landis of Indiana Flays Them in the House.

ELDERS ACCUSED OF PERFIDY

Most Scathing Arraignment of Polygamy Ever Heard on the Floors of Congress—Roberts Not Present.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The second day's debate in the House in the Roberts case was less dramatic than that of yesterday. The galleries were almost as crowded, but the women were less demonstrative. Mr. Roberts was not present during the day. Had he been he would have heard the most scathing excoriation of the Mormons ever delivered upon the floor of the House. Mr. Landis, (Rep., Ind.) the young Representative who distinguished himself during the last Congress in an oratorical duel with Mr. Johnson of his State, won new laurels to-day. He charged that Utah had been admitted to the Union as a result of a Mormon conspiracy, and reviewed the history of the apostles of the Church, whom he charged with living in open and flagrant violation of the statute against polygamy to show that they had basely broken their solemn pledge to the Government.

The people of the United States, he said, thought that the birth of the State worked the death of the system of polygamy. Yet they were startled to learn in 1898 that Utah had elected as her sole Representative in the House a polygamist, and that he was moving upon Washington with a plurality of wives and a multiplicity of children. [Laughter.]

Mr. Landis resented as unworthy of belief the charge made, he said, by Senator Rawlins that the President had appointed notorious polygamists to office. The Senator might as well accuse the House of indorsing polygamy since it passed a bill appropriating $40,000 for the agricultural college at Logan, Utah.

LAUGHTER PROVOKING FIGURES.

"The President of that college," said he, "is a polygamist, living in open and notorious polygamy with three wives. One of his leading professors is a polygamist, living with two wives. The Trustee is a polygamist, living in open and notorious polygamy with seven wives, [laughter,] and they have blessed him with thirty-nine children. [Laughter.] The President is innocent and we are innocent, because we put faith in the pledge and promise of the pious covenant breakers." [Applause and laughter.]

He further asserted that three of the members of the first Presidency and ten of the twelve apostles who signed the petition for amnesty were polygamists.

"Of these fifteen leaders who solemnly pledged their honor and faith for the future obedience to the law by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints," he went on, "three have probably kept their pledges—namely, Wilfred Woodruff, Franklin D. Rogers, and Anthony H. Lunn. The two first-named at the time of ...e signing of the petition for amnesty were over eighty years of age, and that for all practical purposes barred them by the statute of limitation. [Laughter.] George Cannon, First Chancelor to the President of the Church, is also morally guilty. On the death of Elizabeth Hoaglin Cannon, his lawful wife, and after taking unto himself three additional wives, Mr. Cannon now claims to be legally married to one Caroline Croxall, a fifth wife, by whom he has had two children, and he and all his wives live in a suburb near Salt Lake City, having no neighbors, and it is known as Cannonville. [Laughter.]

"Mr. Rawlins might have said that Joseph F. Smith, Second Councilor to the Presidency, has three women among whom he distributes the title of wife. Mr. Rawlins might have stated that Lorenzo Snow, now Prophet, President, seer, and revelator, and at the time of the signing of the petition for amnesty President of the Forum of Apostles, is also trampling under foot the solemn compact made by the Government.

"He took his first two wives in Nauvoo, Ill., over forty years ago, by one and the same ceremony, in a block of two, as it were. [Laughter.] The elder of the two women has since died and he has since married, in the order named, Sarah, Harriet, Elinor, Mary, Phoebe, Minnie, and Caroline. [Laughter.] Would not you like to sit down to breakfast in that family? [Laughter.] Snow is now living with the youngest and last wife, by whom he had his youngest child during the Winter of 1896-7, six years after the manifesto pledging the faith and honor of the Church had been issued.

MORE TROUBLE AVERTED.

"Moses Thatcher, one of the apostles who signed the petition of amnesty, has three plural wives, two of whom bore him children, one on Jan. 8, 1899, and the other on Jan. 11, 1899. They just lacked three days of being twins. [Great laughter.] Mr. Roberts truly said yesterday that Moses Thatcher was by a majority of the members of the Utah Legislature tendered a seat in the United States Senate, and that Moses Thatcher, having more discretion than Mr. Roberts or the people of Utah, declined the honor, stating that he would add fuel to the flames already kindled by Mr. Roberts. So you see we had a narrow escape from having trouble in both ends of this Capitol. [Laughter and applause.]

"Pages might be written," continued Mr. Landis, "of the violation of the compact by which Utah was given a star. Ah, Mr. Speaker, that star is a fallen star; it does not shine with the brilliancy and lustre of its sister stars. It shines by cunning and by deceit, by treachery, by fraud. It speaks of crime and of violation of the most solemn covenant ever made between a Territory and the Union. [Applause.]

"We have as a Representative from Utah a man with three wives, the last one taken, the report says, as nearly as we can ascertain, before 1890. It is in evidence that he did not hold her out as his wife, nor she him as her husband until 1897. Up to 1895 she lived, under the name of Shipp and under the roof of Shipp. I do not believe, if any marriage ceremony was ever solemnized, that it was solemnized prior to 1896. I believe, and he did not deny, that that woman became his plural wife after Utah was taken into the American Union. And I charge here that Utah came in as the result of a deliberate conspiracy to free that people from the heavy hand of the Federal authority and then enable them to live their religion unhindered. In 1896 Mr. Roberts was a candidate for Congress and the Church disciplined and defeated him because the time was not then ripe for a polygamist to come to the American Congress. He became a candidate in 1898, and the man who placed him before the convention stated that he ran by permission of the Church.

WOULD EXPEL ALL POLYGAMISTS.

"In 1898 we were engaged in a war with a foreign foe. American manhood was away from home or all absorbed in country. Valor was at war and virtue was at prayer. The North and the South were under one flag. They hoped in this general condition of magnanimity to come back, and it was then this perjured cheat attempted to crawl in. Sir, it came by itself, but it will be hurled back boldly and in the open day by the outraged indignation of the American people. [Applause.] And across yon threshold will be written in letters large enough to be read from the National Capitol to the Mormon temple, 'No polygamist shall ever sit as a member of the American Congress.'" [Applause.]

"The gentleman from Utah [Mr. Roberts] has been particularly severe on the missionaries. I do not wonder at it. The missionary has given attention to the polygamist, has stood in his path, has scattered thorns along his way, and for this he is branded as a sporter, an informer, and a spy. History will bear out this statement, that although these fanatical priests and their deluded followers put a thousand miles of trackless wilderness, a thousand miles of desert waste infested with savages, between civilization and their camp of bigotry and crime, yet the distance was not too great nor were the hardships too severe to daunt the spirit of the missionary of the Christian Church. He tracked polygamy and faced it in its lair. The Danites, as cruel and as pitiless a band of cut-throats as ever handled the glittering steel, carried on the murderous work of the Church. Still the missionary toiled on. The Blood Atoners silenced forever in death the voice of apostasy, but that hindered not the missionary. The Government practically abandoned the field, considering that it was powerless to hinder that monster, fortified in those mountain fastnesses; but the American Christian missionary, with a courage that now seems sublime, with a fidelity to purpose that is now an inspiration, battled on in the fear of God and for the love of humanity. [Applause.]

"'But,' the gentleman says, 'we took these women in good faith and we should not abandon them.' There are two thousand polygamous families in Utah. Provide for your plural wives. Take care of your plural children, but refrain, for God's sake refrain, from multiplying the illegitimates in the State of Utah." [Applause.]

MISS GOULD DEFENDED.

Continuing, Mr. Landis said:

"Mr. Roberts has sneered at a good and noble woman [Miss Helen Gould] who helped to organize this movement against him. When our boys fell from disease or in battle her millions wept. And who knows but to-day the same name that was spoken so reverently at Santiago and Montauk Point by American soldiery is lisped in reverence out there in Utah by those women doomed by brutal bigots to the belief that their celestial exaltation will be in proportion as they minister to the rotten and lustful notions of a corrupt priesthood? [Applause.]

"I say that the people of this country expect us to turn him back," said Mr. Landis in conclusion. "I protest against his coming in. I protest on behalf of the constituency that has read the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount. I protest on behalf of the American homes made beautiful by love and devotion and holy by the virtue of our womanhood. I protest on behalf of the American mother and her child and the American father, who will never consent to the enthronement and deification of human passion. I protest on behalf of those doomed to illegitimacy. I protest on behalf of the honest Mormons, those who believe in keeping inviolate the condition upon which Utah was admitted to the American Union. The country is waiting for us to act. The people are waiting off in New England, whose homes have been made a pattern for this continent. They are waiting in the broad sweep of the Mississippi Valley, a section of this country purged of this very infamy a half century ago. They are waiting in the new States of the West. States whose territory has been invaded and whose atmosphere has been poisoned by this very plague. And 'way down South in Dixie, where honor is religion, where gallantry is law, and virtue is the nigh ideal of beautiful womanhood, States are waiting to-day, waiting for the American chivalry to speak." [Loud applause.]

OTHER SPEAKERS HEARD.

Mr. Powers (Rep., Vt.,) argued in behalf of exclusion of Mr. Roberts.

Mr. Snodgrass (Dem., Tenn.,) followed Mr. Powers in behalf of the minority report.

Mr. Lacey (Rep., Iowa,) argued in behalf of his proposition for the expulsion of Mr. Roberts without swearing him in.

Mr. Miers, (Dem., Ind.,) a member of the special committee, supported the majority resolutions. He denied vigorously that the people of Utah were to be charged with disloyalty to their compact with the Union.

Mr. McPherson, (Rep., Iowa,) another member of the committee, also advocated the adoption of the majority resolution.

Mr. Crumpacker (Rep., Ind.,) was unable to agree with the resolutions of either branch of the committee. He wanted the majority resolutions amended so as to require a two-thirds vote to adopt them.

Mr. Wilson, (Silver Rep., Idaho,) challenged some of the statements made against the Mormon people. He said he represented 30,000 Mormons, and in all that made good citizenship they were the equal of any constituency in the country. He affirmed that the Mormon Church abandoned polygamy as a doctrine in 1890 in good faith, and he believed they had lived up to their promise.

Mr. Wilson was the last speaker to-day.

At the conclusion of the day's debate Chairman Tayler of the special committee expressed the belief that the majority report would be adopted when the vote is taken to-morrow.

TO FIX PUERTO RICO TARIFF.

Mr. Platt of Connecticut Proposes Imports from the Island Pay 80 Per Cent. of Present Rate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Senator Platt (Rep., Conn.,) to-day gave notice of important amendments he will offer to the bill providing for a form of government for Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

One of Senator Platt's proposed amendments to each of the bills strikes out the provision for the election of a delegate to Congress. If adopted, neither Puerto Rico nor Hawaii would be represented in Congress. The other amendments relate to the customs regulations. In the case of Hawaii, he proposes to eliminate the provision of the Hawaiian commission and insert a clause for the continuance of the existing customs relations between the United States and Hawaii until further legislation by Congress.

The customs provision suggested by Mr. Platt in the case of Puerto Rico requires the collection on Puerto Rican articles imported into the United States of "a sum equivalent to 80 per cent. of the customs duties levied upon like articles imported into the United States from foreign countries." All articles originating in the United States and shipped to Puerto Rico are to pay there 80 per cent. of the duty imposed upon importations from other countries.

CENSUS BILL IN THE SENATE.

After Sharp Debate Disagreement with House Is Insisted Upon.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Mr. Carter, (Rep., Mont.,) Chairman of the Census Committee, made a partial report of the conferees on the bill conferring additional authority upon the Director of the Census. The partial report was agreed to.

Mr. Cockrell (Dem., Mo.), moved that the Senate recede from its disagreement as to the collection of statistics of the deaf, dumb, and blind.

Mr. Hale (Rep., Me.,) spoke strongly against the letting down of the bars of the census, as the passage of the motion would do. If a special inquiry regarding the deaf, dumb, and blind were made, special inquiries would be asked for all sorts of class information. He insisted that the Senate should adhere to its original purpose of restricting the limits of the census proper.

Mr. Cockrell spoke in favor of his motion.

Mr. Chandler (Rep., N. H.), warned the Senate that any extension of the work of the census would result in so clogging it that it would be years before any tangible results would be obtained.

During the debate which followed the motion, Mr. Chandler and Mr. Tillman (Dem. S. C.), were pitted against each other. Mr. Chandler declared that it would be impossible for even the South Carolinian to get the necessary information within the period of thirty days.

"Possibly," responded Mr. Tillman. "I am not so nervous or so much like a grasshopper as the Senator from New Hampshire."

"A pitchfork never touches a grasshopper," said Mr. Chandler in reply to this sally and Mr. Tillman's reply was drowned in the burst of laughter which followed.

Mr. Cockrell's motion to recede was lost—yeas, 30; nays, 32.

Mr. Pettigrew (Silver Rep., S. D.), moved that the House amendment relating to the collection of statistics of mines and mining be agreed to by the Senate. The motion was defeated—25 to 16.

The Senate further insisted upon its disagreement, and Senators Carter (Rep., Mont.), Hale (Rep., Me.), and McEnery (Dem., La.) were named as conferees.

DEFICIENCY BILL IS INCREASED.

As Amended, It Is Reported Favorably to the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The Senate Committee on Appropriations to-day reported favorably the Urgent Deficiency Appropriation bill with amendments increasing the total amount of the appropriation to the extent of $485,439. The principal items of increase are $154,855 to pay judgments in Indian depredations cases, $122,832 on account of National and State soldiers' homes, $18,000 for six additional Commissioners to the Paris Exposition. The committee also inserted a provision directing the use of $130,000 of the sum appropriated for the construction of soldiers' barracks at Galveston, Texas. This latter action was taken upon the recommendation of the Secretary of War.

Another amendment extends to the heirs of men and officers engaged in the Spanish war the provision of a former appropriation bill giving them two months' extra pay.

PENSIONERS NOW ON THE ROLLS.

Commissioner Evans's Statement Shows a Total of 990,528.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Responding to an inquiry from Senator Gallinger, (Rep., N. H.,) Commissioner of Pensions Evans sent to him a statement giving the number of pensioners borne on the rolls of the office on account of each of the wars of the United States and giving a brief review of the laws under which they were granted. The statement as to the number of pensioners is as follows:

On account of the Revolutionary War, 4 widows and 7 daughters; war of 1812, 1 survivor and 1,998 widows; Indian wars, 1832 to 1842, 1,656 survivors and 3,889 widows; Mexican war, 9,204 survivors and 8,175 widows.

Granted since 1861 under general law, 321,555 invalids and 92,901 widows and other dependents; under law of 1890, invalids, 420,912; widows and dependents, 130,226.

SULU TREATY IS DISCUSSED.

Senator Pettigrew, by Resolution, Asks for Information.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The resolution offered yesterday by Mr. Pettigrew (Silver Rep., S. D.,) calling upon the President for the report of Gen. John C. Bates concerning the treaty made with the Sultan of Sulu was considered. The resolution recited the salaries paid to the Sultan and his officials and inquired what fund they were paid from and what services the officials rendered.

Mr. Pettigrew supported the resolution in a speech.

Mr. Pettigrew said that slavery in its worst form existed in the Sulu group of islands, and the treaty itself provided that every slave could purchase his freedom at the regular market price. He said the amount of the salaries paid to the Sultan and his officials under the treaty was $9,120, yet the Spanish Government paid to them only $6,300.

A translation of the treaty, he said, was withheld from the people until after the Ohio elections. This was merely a part of the policy of concealment and censoring adopted by the Administration.

Mr. Spooner (Wis.) asked Mr. Pettigrew if he meant to hold the President responsible for the slavery clause in the Sulu treaty.

"I do," Mr. Pettigrew replied.

"Then," said Mr. Spooner, "I read from the message of the President to Congress. The President says: 'I have confirmed said agreement, subject to the action of Congress, and with the reservation which I have directed shall be communicated to the Sultan of Jolo, that this agreement is not to be deemed in any way to authorize or give the consent of the United States to the existence of slavery in the Sulu Archipelago.'"

Mr. Pettigrew replied that there was no assurance that the President's statement would ever reach the Sultan. He declared it was simply a case of double dealing and nothing else.

At the conclusion of the address of Mr. Pettigrew Mr. Lodge (Rep., Mass.,) said that, while the resolution was covered by one previously adopted, there was no objection to its passage. It was then adopted.

MORE PAY FOR POSTAL CLERKS.

Postmaster General Smith Urges Congress to Grant an Increase.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Some time ago Postmaster General Smith reissued an order made by Postmaster General Wilson in 1895, prohibiting Post Office employes from visiting Washington to influence legislation. The order carried dismay to the hearts of employes in the railway mail service, who had been planning a vigorous campaign in support of their contention for a reclassification of the service. Mr. Smith, however, had no intention of leaving them in the lurch or of having the plan defeated through lack of support. He has himself laid before the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads the claims of the employes, with a strong argument in favor of increase in pay.

He points out that the United States expects more from its employes in this service, and pays them less, than the leading countries of Europe. Compared with France, our railway mail employes do the work of two men and receive comparatively less pay. In England appointment to the railway service comes as a promotion from city Post Office work, and carries with it an advance of from 30 to 80 per cent. Germany increases the salaries of its railway mail employes according to the length of service, the average being 30 per cent.

FREE ZONE TO BE ABOLISHED.

Effort Made to Restore Mexican Trade to American Ports.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The Ways and Means Committee of the House to-day directed a favorable report on the bill of Representative Cooper, (Dem., Texas,) repealing the law of 1895 in reference to the free zone of Mexico. The purpose of that law was to suspend the bonding of goods arriving in this country and destined for Mexico, in the hope that Mexico would take like action and that the smuggling across the zone would be stopped.

But it has been found that the effect of the law was to divert traffic from American ports and send it to Tampico, Vera Cruz, and other Mexican ports, and to give the carrying to Mexican railroads. At the same time Mexico has not taken the action contemplated in 1895 and the smuggling continues. The bill now reported is designed to restore this trade to American ports and railroads.

Mr. Grosvenor, who will make the report, was instructed to offer the bill as an amendment to the Payne bill permitting the bonding of goods at all ports instead of at designated places.

AN OLD SCHEME REVIVED.

Mr. Ruppert Introduces the Stoughton Harlem Ship Canal Bill Again.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Representative Ruppert of New York has introduced a joint resolution directing the Secretary of War to contract with Charles Stoughton and others for a canal connecting Harlem Kills, New York City, with Long Island Sound. It is to be constructed according to designated plans approved by Col. Norton, United States Army.

SENATE CAUCUS FOR BENNETT.

The Brooklyn ex-Congressman Is Chosen for Secretary by the Republican Majority.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The Republican caucus of the Senate to-day decided definitely upon the reorganization of the elective officers of that body and nominated Charles G. Bennett of New York for Secretary to succeed William R. Cox, and Daniel M. Ransdell of Indiana for Sergeant at Arms to succeed Col. R. J. Bright.

For Sergeant at Arms Mr. Ransdell was placed in nomination by Senator Fairbanks. Senator Allison named Mr. Alonzo H. Stewart of Iowa, present assistant doorkeeper of the Senate.

Senator Foraker nominated A. N. Shaw, and both Senators Gallinger and Chandler made an appeal for Capt. G. A. Curtice of New Hampshire. On the first ballot Mr. Shaw received one vote, Mr. Curtice five, Mr. Stewart eighteen, and Mr. Ransdell twenty. The second ballot resulted twenty-four for Ransdell and twenty for Stewart.

Senator Platt's assertion about the difficulty of the task of electing a New York man as Secretary of the Senate were justified in the contest that resulted in the election of Mr. Bennett. It was only last week that Mr. Platt made a remonstrance against the tendency of newspaper paragraphers to make light of the task of electing a candidate for Secretary, and said that he was not by any means sure that Sherman or any other candidate he might name would gain.

Some feeling was manifested over the election of a Secretary, caused by the circulation of reports concerning J. S. Clarkson, who was Mr. Bennett's only competitor, which his friends considered uncomplimentary and untrue. These reports were resented by his supporters, including Senators Mason, Gallinger, Carter, Scott, and others, who had known Mr. Clarkson as an officer of the Republican National Committee. A letter and a telegram from Mr. Clarkson were read declining the place, but some of the Senators declared their intention of voting for him regardless of these. The first vote was a tie, resulting 21 to 21. The second ballot brought out three votes not hitherto cast, and resulted 23 for Bennett and 22 for Clarkson. Mr. Bennett was placed in nomination by Senator Platt of New York. No selection was made for Chaplain, which will have the effect of continuing the blind Chaplain, William H. Milburn, in that office.

The allotment of the minor offices was placed in the hands of the Caucus Committee.

Mr. Clarkson authorized a statement asserting that he had never been a candidate for the office, and that his connection with the matter had been through voluntary efforts of the late Vice President Hobart, who had taken the initiative and had secured the written pledges of four-fifths of the Republican Senators, or a majority of the whole body. So far as he was personally concerned he had not solicited a vote, and when he found that opposition had developed he had asked that his name be withdrawn.

Bennett's victory has angered the friends of Gen. Clarkson a good deal. Just why they should be so anxious to have Clarkson in the office of Secretary was not made to appear by anything that was said in the caucus. If he had secured a majority of the caucus it is by no means certain that he would have been elected. The fact is asserted to be that if he had persisted in claiming the election because he had secured a majority there would have been a bolt, which might have balked the reorganization. The Republican Senators will not now discuss their reasons for being so decidedly opposed to Clarkson. One of them said to-night:

"The Republicans were ready to vote for almost any gentleman who would be offered to fill this place that has been occupied by only nine men since the organization of the body. The Secretary is an officer who is thrown very intimately into the society of Senators, and they have had some experiences that have led them to decide that a gentleman must occupy it or it must be left vacant. When Mr. Platt offered a candidate who was without doubt a gentleman more than half the Republican side supported him. It is inconceivable how a man could accept the place if he understood that even one Senator questioned the right of that candidate to be spoken of as a gentleman."

SENATE DEMOCRATS CONFER.

Discuss Reciprocity, Treaties, and the Financial Bill, but Decide on No Course of Action.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The Senate Democrats held a caucus this afternoon and came to no resolution. They discussed many propositions in a desultory manner, principally touching upon the subjects upon which the party has been splitting apart for several years. The discussion brought forward no issue that promised to draw the party together against the common foe.

It is understood that one Senator who is assumed, from circumstantial description, to be either Lindsay or Caffery, directed the attention of the Senators to the opportunity presented by the Republicans of the Congress for good Democratic work along Democratic lines.

It was urged that the President has recommended the ratification of the reciprocity treaties with several countries, the principal one being with France. These treaties, recently made public, are in the Foreign Relations Committee, and that committee would have reported them if the Finance committee had not threatened to defeat them unless that committee was afforded the chance of amending the terms of the conventions.

It was suggested by the Democratic Senator who put forward this statement that even protectionist Democrats could stand by the President in this matter, as reciprocity was but a step toward free trade. By adopting that course they would not only carry out the expectations of the makers of the reciprocity treaties, but would be advancing a Democratic policy along with freer trade.

It may have been Senator Lindsay, but not Senator Caffery who recommended that the Democrats also take a firm stand for absolutely free trade between Puerto Rico and the United States. The President's reason for free trade had been followed only to-day with a proposition by Senator Platt of Connecticut, to make the Puerto Ricans pay 80 per cent. of our tariff against foreign countries, and the United States to pay 80 per cent. on imports from Puerto Rico. The recommendation made no impression.

With reference to the financial bill it was practically decided to offer a substitute providing for the free coinage of silver. Senators Lindsay and Caffery were present, and, while they indicated their intention not to be bound by any decision upon this line, they recognized the futility of any effort to prevent its being pursued.

The conference adjourned with the understanding that another meeting will be held soon.

MAY REBRIDGE THE POTOMAC.

Representative Levy Will Introduce a Bill to That Effect.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Representative Levy to-day presented a resolution in the House, the purpose of which was not at once apparent upon reading the paper. It called upon the Secretary of War for information concerning the expenditures that have been made on the long bridge across the Potomac. When the reply has been obtained, it is to be followed by a proposition for the erection of a new bridge, not a low dam, like the present antiquated structure, that often acts as an obstruction, and has been impairing the channel about as fast as the dredges can clean it, but a high bridge that will permit ice and mud to sweep past instead of being held up, to the injury of the channel and menace of a flood over the "made ground" of the park between the Maryland and Virginia shores.

A proposition to provide a railroad bridge and a separate wagon and passenger bridge is involved in a scheme before the District of Columbia Committee of the Senate, but that seems to be in danger of protracted delay in consequence of some opposition to features of it, and Mr. Levy hopes to get his measure forward independently.

CONGRESSIONAL NOTES.

The House Committee on Agriculture has agreed on a favorable report on a bill reorganizing the Weather Bureau force and providing a system of retirements.

Senator Lodge yesterday introduced a bill reducing the postage on books and other printed matter belonging to public libraries when sent from one library to another. The privilege is restricted to libraries maintained by or exempt from taxation, the latter belonging to societies.

In the Senate yesterday Mr. Pettigrew (Sil. Rep., S. D.,) offered a resolution declaring that the United States Government would not recognize the right of any nation to declare as contraband and seize food products as such, and that any such seizure would be an act unfriendly to the United States. The resolution went over under the rule.

PRESIDENT ON PROSPERITY.

Tells National Board of Trade that Its Continuance Depends on the Wisdom of Business Men.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The members of the National Board of Trade called at the White House this morning and paid their respects to the President. Gov. Stannard, the Chairman pro tem., speaking in behalf of the board, delivered an extended address to the President, in which he outlined the desires and purposes of the board, concluding in these words:

"We congratulate you, Mr. President, upon the prosperity of the country and the success of your Administration."

In replying, the President said:

"I cannot conceal the pleasure it gives me and the honor I feel in this call on the part of the National Board of Trade, representing as it does great and varied and important interests of our country. I rejoice with you all upon our universal prosperity, and I trust that that prosperity may be long continued to the American people. Its continuance will very much depend upon the wisdom and conservatism of the business men of the United States. We shall rely upon them to help us to solve the great and momentous problems to which your Chairman has referred, in the hope that their settlement may not only be to the highest interest of the American people, but for the highest good of those who by the fortunes of war have come within our jurisdiction and care."

At the subsequent meeting of the board, Congress was asked to establish another executive department, to be known as the Department of Commerce and Industry. It also adopted a resolution respecting the merchant marine, to the effect that the volume of exports and imports carried from and to this country increases yearly, and as trade grows, so grow the benefits derived from it by foreign vessels. Therefore the board urges the passage of either the Frye or Payne bill.

The board also asked for the enactment of a National trademark registration law at the earliest moment possible.

COURT FOR PENSION CLAIMS.

Grand Army Asks the President to Aid in Establishing One.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The Commander in Chief and National Pension Committee of the Grand Army of the Republic called on the President to-day and presented a plan for the establishment of a court of appeals in pension cases, to sit in Washington and hear cases of appeal from the decisions of the Pension Bureau. These appeals heretofore have been heard by a board composed of clerks in the Interior Department, detailed by the Secretary of the Interior for this duty.

It is believed by the committee that an independent judicial tribunal, made up of judges of high character and standing in the legal profession, brought together from different parts of the country and sitting in Washington, with well-defined jurisdiction and powers, like the United States Circuit Court of Appeals or the Court of Claims, would remove in a large measure the dissatisfaction felt by a large class of people with the system which has prevailed for many years.

The President received the suggestions of the committee with favor, and promised to give his careful consideration to the draft of a bill which the committee in due time will present to him.

Pension Disabilities Removed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The House Committee on Pensions to-day ordered a favorable report on the bill making service in the Spanish-American war sufficient to remove the disabilities against those who aided or abetted Southern troops during the War of the Rebellion, in the matter of drawing pensions. At present the inhibition applies to widows, children, heirs, and others related to those having served or assisted the Confederacy, and the removal of inhibition is more particularly designed to apply to the parents of those serving in the war with Spain.

Soldier Dead Buried at Arlington.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The remains of forty-three soldiers who died of yellow fever in Cuba, were interred at Arlington Cemetery to-day. The exercises were conducted according to the ritual of the Catholic and Episcopal Churches. President McKinley, Secretary Root, and Attorney-General Griggs were present. The religious services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Mackay-Smith and Father Dolan.

ARMY CHAPLAIN DISMISSED.

Convicted by a Court-Martial of Drunkenness.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Post Chaplain David Shields has been dismissed from the army of the United States, to take effect Feb. 1, and Edmund T. Esterbrook of New York has been selected for appointment to the vacancy. The action in the case of Chaplain Shields was the result of court-martial proceedings.

He was tried at San Francisco for conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman in consequence of the alleged use of intoxicating liquor, and was convicted and sentenced to be dismissed. The case came before the President in the usual course of procedure and he approved the sentence yesterday, directing it to take effect on the 1st prox.

Chaplain Shields is a native of Pennsylvania, and has been in the military service since Aug. 18, 1897. His transgressions occurred while en route to San Francisco in compliance with an order to join the army in the Philippines.

THE UNITED SERVICE.

Army.

Lieut. Col. William E. Dougherty, Seventh Infantry, will proceed to Fort Wayne, Mich., on business pertaining to the command of his regiment.

Second Lieut. Henry Wiegenstein, recently appointed, with rank, from Oct. 1, 1899, from Corporal Company C, Twentieth Infantry, is assigned to the Twenty-fifth Infantry.

Capt. Ira MacNutt, Ordnance Department, will proceed to the Sandy Hook proving ground on official business pertaining to the manufacture and inspection of seacoast gun carriages.

Capt. Peter C. Harris, Ninth Infantry, is detailed to represent the War Department as a member of the Board of Management of the Government exhibit at the Pan-American Exposition on the Niagara frontier, to be held at Buffalo during the year 1901.

Col. Charles D. Viele, Fourth Cavalry, having been found by an army retiring board incapacitated for active service on account of disability incident thereto, his retirement from active service Jan. 23 is announced by the Secretary of War.

Navy.

Lieut. Commander C. Thomas is ordered home and to wait orders.

Movements of Naval Vessels.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The Castine has arrived at Hongkong.

The Vixen has arrived at Fort Royal.
The Detroit has arrived at Key West.
The Adams has sailed from San Diego.

MANY DRESSMAKERS SWINDLED.

Bogus Factory Inspector Sells False Licenses in Rochester.

ROCHESTER, Jan. 24.—A young woman, described as being rather pretty, very nicely dressed, rather dark, and who spoke with a Southern accent, operated a flim-flam game on dressmakers in this city quite extensively all day yesterday.

She called upon the dressmakers, informing them that she was the authorized Deputy Factory Inspector, and that unless the dressmakers secured a license their business must be stopped at once. The woman carried with her a quantity of false certificates of license, which she doled out to those who paid $5, and to those who did not pay said she would call again.

Many of the dressmakers, not thoroughly understanding the new law, hastened to pay their money. About 100 dressmakers are thought to have been victimized.

BROOKLYN ADVERTISEMENTS.

Special Offering of Medium Grade Pianos

We have just received
TWENTY-FIVE
Special
Pianos

from our Mendelssohn Factory. The kind and quality that most Dealers offer as High grade.

We call them medium grade and offer them at prices that will sell them quickly. They have every modern improvement and possess a pure, full tone and are guaranteed for five years.

The Price:

15—Medium size, $175
10—Large size, $225

Terms as low as ten dollars down and six dollars per month.

"Privilege of exchange for

Sterling

with full amount paid allowed any time within two years from date of purchase."

THE STERLING
Piano Co.,

MANUFACTURERS.
Wholesale and Retail Warerooms
(Entire building, four floors),
536 FULTON STREET,
BROOKLYN,
Opposite Montauk Theatre.
OPEN MONDAY & SATURDAY EVENINGS
Look for the name STERLING.

R. H. Macy & Co.'s Attractions Are Their Low Prices.

Macy's

Both Sides 14th St. from 13th to 15th 6th Av.

Good Groceries.

Our policy is well known. Its basic principles are very simple. We are not striving for your transient favor. Want your confidence to-day, to-morrow and for all the days to come. The Grocery—like all other interests of the Macy stores—is controlled by the highest and most honorable motive. It finds its fullest illustration in the oft-repeated and continuously sustained theory of Purest Qualities at Lowest Prices. That's the combination we ask you to consider.

Our telephone number is 3060—18th street. All orders received will be given prompt and painstaking care.

Our special importation of Ceylon Teas include the finest pickings. Put a slice of lemon in the cup, then pour in the hot tea, and you have a most delicious and refreshing beverage.

Ceylon Luncheon Tea, pound package, 49c.
Ceylon Luncheon Tea, half-pound pkg., 26c.
Ceylon Tea Buds, pound package, 74c.
Ceylon Tea Buds, half-pound pkg., 38c.

"Red Star" Brand of Coffee—a blend of the choicest imported Java and Mocha. Its strength, flavor and aroma are liked by the best judges of Coffee. A host of people who have experimented with costlier grades prefer the special qualities of the "Red Star" brand. We roast and grind it fresh every day.
Granulated, pulverized or roasted in the bean, 29c. per pound.

Bartlett Pears, ripe fruit from the orchards of this State, very flavorous, packed in sugar syrup, 2-lb. cans, 10c.

Blueberries, large ones, they look and taste like they do when just picked from the vine, 2-lb. can, 10c.; case of 2 dozen, $2.18.

Dewberries, (cultivated Blackberries), put up in heavy syrup—cheaper than gathering them from the fields, 2-lb. can, 11c.; case of 2 dozen, $2.49.

Jessamine Brand California Fruits.

Luscious Fruits from fallow California—extra carefully selected Fruit—large, juicy—put up in heavy sugar syrup and offered by us at peerlessly low prices.

Green Gages,	can, 15c.;	case of 2 doz., $3.38
Egg Plums,	can, 15c.;	case of 2 doz., $3.38
Ripe Apricots,	can, 21c.;	case of 2 doz., $4.82
Yellow Crawford Peaches,	can, 19c.;	case of 2 doz., $4.34
Lemon Cling Peaches,	can, 22c.;	case of 2 doz., $5.14
Sliced Lemon Cling Peaches,	can, 22c.;	case of 2 doz., $5.14
Bartlett Pears,	can, 22c.;	case of 2 doz., $5.14

Lily White Brand Corn and Succotash, finest packed, can, 10c.; case of 2 doz., $2.18.

Early June Peas, best quality, can, 11c.; case of 2 doz., $2.49.

Extra Sifted Early June Peas, very small, can, 16c.; case of 2 doz., $3.62.

Snow-white California Asparagus, large stalks, can, 23c.; case of 2 doz., $5.34.

Asparagus Tips, extra fine, can, 19c.; case of 2 doz., $4.34.

Lima Beans, small and tender, can, 7c.; case of 2 doz., $1.54.

Fig Jam, pound can	13c	Fresh Garden Beets, small and tender, can	12c
Red Currant Jelly, 10 oz. glass, worth 17c., at	12c	Columbia River Salmon, tall cans	14c
Stuffed Wiesbaden Prunes, pound boxes,	46c	Extra Fancy Sockeye Salmon, flat cans	16c
Rolled Oats, clean and fine, 2-lb package	9c	Washing Powder, strictly pure, 4-lb. package	14c
Dried Lima Beans, 2-lb package	12c	"Lily White" Floating Soap, large cakes	5c

Wines and Liquors—In Annex.

Our telephone Number is 3060 18th St. Connects direct with this dept. When you buy by the gallon we furnish jug free.

Old Pepper Whiskey, 5 years old, our regular price per bottle, 49c.; special price for this sale, 39c.

Finch's Golden Wedding Whiskey, 8 years old, aged in wood, rich and mellow, our regular price per bottle, 99c.; special price for this sale, per gallon, $2.94; bottle, 64c.

Genuine Jas. E. Pepper Whiskey, per gallon, $2.64; bottle, 59c.

Monogram Rye, 8 years old, per gallon, $5.38; bottle, $1.23.

Ramsey Scotch Whiskey, 8 years old, per gallon, $5.44; bottle, $1.24.

Imported Sherries.

Royal Cabinet, rich and fruity,	gal., $2.84;	bot.,	72c
Olorosa, delicious dinner wine,	gal., $3.88;	bot.,	93c
Imperial, very choice,	gal., $5.94;	bot.,	$1.34
Amontillado, superior quality,	gal., $5.69;	bot.,	$1.29
Amontillado, very old and dry,	gal., $6.69;	bot.,	$1.49

Rhine Wines, Vintage 1893.

Laubenheimer,	case pts., $6.74;	case qts.,	$5.74
Niersteiner,	case pts., $7.74;	case qts.,	$6.74
Deidesheimer,	case pts., $8.49;	case qts.,	$7.49
Hochheimer,	case pts., $9.49;	case qts.,	$8.49
Rudesheimer,	case pts., $10.24;	case qts.,	$9.24
Binger Riesling,	case pts., $7.99;	case qts.,	$6.99

Bashamer, Leon & Co., Bordeaux.

Medoc,	case pts., $5.49;	case qts.,	$4.49
St. Estephe,	case pts., $6.49;	case qts.,	$5.49
St. Julien,	case pts., $7.49;	case qts.,	$6.49
Pontet Can

The New York Times.

"All the News That's Fit to Print."

PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR.

NEW YORK, THURSDAY, JAN. 25, 1900.

OFFICES:

NEW YORK:
Publication Office.....41 Park Row
All American District Telegraph Offices.
WASHINGTON.....515 Fourteenth St.
LONDON: Trafalgar Buildings, Trafalgar Sq., W.C.
SWITZERLAND, Geneva: P. Drehmann, Librairie Nouvelle, Rue du Mont Blanc.
GERMANY, Mainz: Saarsbach's News Agency, Agency for Germany and Austria.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:
BY MAIL, POSTAGE PAID.

DAILY, per Month	$0.50
DAILY, per Year	6.00
DAILY AND SUNDAY, per Year	7.50
SUNDAY, per Year	1.50
SATURDAY, with Review of Books and Art, per Year	1.00
MONDAY, with Financial Supplement, per Year	1.00
DAILY AND SUNDAY, per Month	0.65

For postage to foreign countries add 80 cents per month.

FOURTEEN PAGES.

THE SOLID SOUTH.

The South, it should be remembered, is just now experiencing an exceptional period of prosperity. The cotton crop has afforded a reasonable profit to growers, for the reasons that prices have ruled higher than last year, the cost of raising is less than formerly, and the utilization of the seed for oil and cake has added materially to Southern resources. The most striking feature of the South, however, is its marvelous industrial growth; not only in iron, but especially in cotton manufacturing. During 1899 plans were made for investing not less than $30,000,000 in cotton manufacturing, and already it is stated on good authority that the Southern States contain 5,000,000 spindles, against 13,000,000 in the New England States. As yet there is no fear of overproduction, for the South expects to largely produce the cheaper class of fabrics suitable for export. China will prove a large buyer of these products, and no section of the United States has a more vital interest in the open-door policy than the South.—Mr. HENRY CLEWS.

The Southern States have been the Gibraltar of the Democracy. Ever since the Tilden campaign in 1876 the chiefs of the party in their National headquarters have begun all their calculations by putting the 153 Electoral votes of the Solid South in the Democratic column. They knew that the South was theirs already. The fighting was to be done in the doubtful Northern States.

But the Democratic leaders of the past have always had something to offer to the South for its support, some valid reason, some beneficial principle, some promise of protection against the partisan and sectional designs of the Republicans. The Democratic Party showed itself to be the friend and protector of the South during the period of reconstruction. It was the foe of force bills and demanded that the Southern States should have a fair opportunity to rise from the condition of prostration in which they were left by the war.

Is there any statesman in the South, is there any intelligent manufacturer, merchant, railroad manager, or man of business, who can discern in the present programme of the Bryanite Democrats any promise whatever of benefit to the South? Mr. BLAINE said that the McKinley tariff of 1890 would not sell another barrel of flour or pound of pork for any American farmer. Will the programme of Bryanism sell any cotton goods for the South, any iron and steel? Will it aid the manufacturer to find new and profitable markets for his products?

The policy of the open door in the East means millions of profit for the Southern States. It marks the beginning of a new industrial era. It promises to put the South more nearly abreast of the North in wealth and prosperity. The present leaders of the perverted Democratic Party have evinced not the slightest interest in the open-door policy, although two years ago the tardiness of the Administration to see what the interests of this country demanded gave them a fine political opening. On this question, the greatest of the political issues of the day for the South, the Democratic Party has nothing to say. BRYAN, with his hazy notions of "expansion without imperialism," is against the open door, against new markets, against the growth and development of the South.

Why should the South be "solid" for a party that seems never to have heard that it had any interests to protect, any industries to foster, any ambitions to favor?

THE SITUATION IN NATAL.

No wonder that London should have been all day yesterday in a fever of excitement and suspense. Gen. BULLER had telegraphed the day before that WARREN had gone far enough to get himself to an "impasse" from which he could deliver himself only by a direct attack upon the key of the Boer position. This position, he did not conceal, was chosen with judgment, and was an exceedingly strong one. It was particularly strong in this, that it could not be commanded directly by the British artillery, and that an assault upon it would have to be made by unsupported infantry.

Nevertheless, Gen. BULLER telegraphed, the assault would be made. Inasmuch as this dispatch was sure to be cabled back to South Africa, the natural British conclusion was that the attack would be delivered on the next night after the dispatch was sent. This was the night before last. So all London waited all day yesterday for decisive news, without getting any. The nervous strain of such a waiting, even upon the most phlegmatic people in the world, which Englishmen scarcely are, however much they may like to be thought so, would have been very trying. It is always to be borne in mind that Gen. BULLER's plans are counsels of desperation. He absolutely must do something, that is to say. It is a fortnight or so since Gen. WHITE sent out word from Ladysmith that he was "very hard pressed." Doubtless he relieved his position somewhat by his brilliant repulse of a Boer attack, but it is likely that he is now more hard pressed than ever. The announcement that there are among the garrison ten deaths a day from fevers has the ugliest kind of suggestiveness. It suggests that the garrison is nearing the end of its resources, and that, if relief does not come at once, it will come too late, and that Ladysmith will fall a victim to its own weakness rather than to the Boer strength. Hence it is that Gen. BULLER's movement is a movement of desperation, and that every step of it is followed in England with a pitiful and painful anxiety.

THE ROBERTS CASE.

The case of ROBERTS is now, for the first time, fairly and fully before the country. This is a result that we owe chiefly to the courage and clearsightedness of Messrs. LITTLEFIELD and DE ARMOND, the two members of the House who signed the minority report. We owe it also to the clear exposition of the principles at issue made by one of these two, Mr. LITTLEFIELD, in the speech with which, on Tuesday, he supported that report.

It is not speaking too harshly of the majority report, or of the speech with which Mr. TAYLER attempted to support it, to say that they are attempts to bolster up by a show of reason conclusions with the reaching of which reason had nothing whatever to do. Because there was a gush of moral sentiment demanding that a polygamist should not sit in Congress, therefore the victims of it in Congress undertook to find some reason for excluding a man who fulfilled all the requirements of the Constitution. They can do this only by adding something to those requirements of their own authority. That is precisely what they have been doing, and the majority report and Mr. TAYLER's speech are simply unsuccessful attempts to conceal the nature of their operation. If a criminal be elected to Congress, Congress can expel him on proof of his crime. But to conduct an ex parte investigation into his alleged criminality as the basis of an attempt to prevent him from taking the seat to which he has been duly elected, and for the occupancy of which he presents credentials in due form—this is a piece of illegality and injustice to which it is not to be supposed that Congress will lend itself.

Evidently there is nothing to be gained by that course. A polygamist can be put out of Congress as well as any other criminal when his crime is proved. But people who do not see what difference it makes whether the man is unlawfully excluded or lawfully expelled overlook that there may some time be a very important party point to be gained. Suppose that the majority of the House were of one party, by a small margin, and the organization in the hands of the other. It would evidently be feasible to keep out enough of the majority to retain for the minority the control. There would be no lack of pretexts quite as good as those upon which the majority has thus far acted in this case. And the precedent of Roberts might in that case return to plague the inventors. In his zeal to sustain an untenable position, Mr. TAYLER went so far as to argue that Congress could not expel a member for acts done before his election. And this gave ROBERTS a chance to make a telling point in his own favor by showing that by combining the arguments of the majority and the minority, it could be proved that the House had no power to exclude him before taking his seat, nor to expel him afterward; that he, and by consequence any other malefactor of any kind, was secure of immunity so far as his seat was concerned, if he could only once get possession of regular credentials.

But evidently this is a "reductio ad absurdum." There must be a way of getting rid of a criminal. Mr. LITTLEFIELD showed, as a matter of precedent, as a matter of analogy, and as a matter of reason, what that method was. It involves no injustice to individuals and no dangerous precedent for Congress. As soon as the House ceases to look at the case from the hysterical, and begins to look at it from the historical, the reasonable, and the legal points of view, it ought to be impossible that it should accept the resolution of the majority of the committee. It really must declare that a prima facie case is a prima facie case.

FRANCE AND CATHOLIC ASSOCIATIONS.

The trial of the Assumptionist Fathers before the Correctional Tribunal in Paris seems to be generally viewed in this country as an attempt to decatholicize France. It is nothing of the sort. As an element in the policy of the present Government it is simply the beginning of an arraignment of certain Catholic associations whose influence, it is believed, has demoralized the French Army and whose existence is regarded as a constant menace to a republican form of government The distinction is important.

Everybody remembers the attitude of the press controlled by these associations during the struggle of fair-minded Frenchmen to undo a great error of justice. The restoration of the monarchy has ever been the hope of these associations. Their most conspicuous organ, La Croix, took for its creed "Down with Jews, Protestants, and Traitors!" and adroitly fashioned its articles so as to make these terms interchangeable. The first Royalist overtures that were made to the officers of the army were presented at the military clubs in the form of clerical propaganda. As the conspirators became more certain of their ground, and encouraged by the assurances from the traitors in the General Staff, an appeal was made to the "patriots" of France from the pulpits directly controlled by the associations. Père DIDON, the most popular preacher in Paris, publicly eulogized MERCIER & Co. and condemned "the pretensions of the civilians to subordinate the military to themselves and to their own ends." At length the campaign became so venomous that the Vatican was moved to intervene.

The conspiracy ended in a fiasco. The alliance of the Radical Republicans with the Socialists made possible the existence of an honest and justice-dealing Ministry. But even though the immediate danger to the republic was overcome, M. WALDECK-ROUSSEAU and his fellow-Ministers felt it their duty not only to make future conspiracies impossible, but to destroy forever the very conditions which had made possible the most monstrous judicial crime of the age. The policy that was devised to accomplish this end was twofold—military and civil. Gen. DE GALLIFFET, the Minister of War, by a series of judicious decrees made it distinctly understood in military circles that the army was the servant and not the master of the people. At the same time M. WALDECK-ROUSSEAU framed a law which was intended to prohibit the existence of every association founded with an illegal or unconstitutional object in view, and to render null every association of Frenchmen which was directed from abroad or the directors of which were foreigners. The various Catholic associations were not mentioned by name.

It was expected that this dual policy would not only instill a true spirit of patriotism in the army of the republic, but that it would forever divorce the military from the influence of the Royalists as well as from that of the Catholic associations. So far as we may judge Gen. DE GALLIFFET has accomplished his part of the programme with conspicuous success. The civil part, however, is much more delicate and complicated and subject to misconstruction. Its successful issue can be reached only by a thorough demonstration to the French mind that the evils which it attacks actually exist.

The recent conspiracy trials before the Senatorial High Court of Justice have probably left no doubt in the minds of a large majority of the Deputies that the measures taken against the Royalists, Nationalists, and anti-Semites were necessary for the maintenance of public order, if not for the actual preservation of the republic. It now remains to be seen whether the Government will be equally successful in revealing the obnoxious character of the Catholic associations.

Like the trial of the conspirators, the trial of the Assumptionist Fathers is simply intended as an exposition and justification of national policy. Should the Government again be successful, then the army which has been schooled in republican patriotism by the Minister of War may be expected to show slight opposition to further and more radical reforms. Of such are the closing of the Jesuit military schools throughout France and the qualification that every candidate admitted to Saint-Cyr and the Polytechnique must have received his preliminary education in the national lycées of the republic.

It must not be forgotten at this time that there are thousands of Catholics in France who are in entire sympathy with the policy of M. WALDECK-ROUSSEAU. There are many noble priests, too, Abbé PICHOT, for example, and his colleagues of the Comité Catholique pour la Defense du Droit, whose pluck and independence baffled the treasonable designs of the associations, and whose patriotism has risen superior to the dictates of their clerical masters.

SILENT ABOUT SILVER.

Is W. J. BRYAN afraid to talk about free silver in New York? Is he willing to appear openly as a mere trimmer, adapting his principles to the views of the communities he visits? At his home in Populist Nebraska he insists that the 16-to-1 issue will be made prominent in the Presidential campaign. He comes here, to the greatest Democratic city in the United States, and never opens his lips about silver. He gives out a prepared statement embodying his views on the regulation of trusts. He will discuss imperialism by the hour. If silver is mentioned he skulks and dodges.

No man ever got to the Presidency by the concealment of his opinions. CLAY and WEBSTER both ardently desired that great office and both of them threw away every chance they ever had of getting it by utterances which were intended to "conciliate" the friends of slavery.

The people hate a trimmer. If a man has not courage enough to speak his mind in any part of the country and in any presence he is not fit to be President. BRYAN, a free-silver agitator and demagogue, owing everything that he is and has to his willingness to preach the doctrine of fiat money and the art of cheating creditors, comes here to the home of the dreadful money power, and among the goldbugs of New York, and instead of honorably proclaiming the faith he professes, cringes at the feet of the Tammany underlings with his cheap talk about a barrel of oil he has brought to pour upon the troubled waters of New York politics. The New York delegation at any price is the only principle W. J. BRYAN came to this city to promote. When he has come here to advocate openly his dishonest doctrines he has been considered dangerous. As a skulker and trimmer he is simply contemptible.

The "friends" of BRYAN in the West and at Washington are reported to be "uneasy" about his visits to New York, fearing that he may be persuaded or bamboozled into dropping the issue of 16 to 1 in the hope of carrying this sound-money State with its thirty-six Electoral votes. We have never read in any book of natural history, that the friends of the chameleon were uneasy over his frequent changes of color whenever he took his walks abroad. The changes which BRYAN and the chameleon undergo are identical in nature. They belong to that class of peculiarities that are called, in the animal world, protective. That is, they are intended to cheat the observer and baffle his attempt to find out what sort of a fellow or thing he is looking at. The chameleon is protected from discovery by his enemies by his faculty of taking on the color of the thing he lies on. So BRYAN in goldbug New York, talking anti-imperialism like a Bostonian or anti-trust doctrine like one of our own Socialists, attracts no notice from the foes of free silver coinage. But he does attract the notice of his friends in the silver States.

Plainly it would be the best politics for BRYAN to make rampant free silver speeches here. They will cost him nothing in New York, where the majority against him will be some three hundred thousand, whatever he says; but they will tend to confirm the confidence of his Populist friends out West and in the South, where are situated the only States he can have the ghost of a chance to carry.

BOSS AND HENCHMAN.

It seems to be clearly indicated from Albany that Boss PLATT has made up his mind that he can no longer afford to carry Henchman PAYN, and that he will accordingly drop him. That announcement will be received with some gloom by reformers who hold that any real reform must begin with the "downing" of PLATT, and that anything short of that is illusory. Such people have been hoping for a direct issue between the Governor and the Boss. Such an issue may yet be raised, but evidently not over PAYN. His case is too tough to make an issue over. If the Boss were fatuous enough to stand by PAYN in the assertion of the sacred right of holding over, it would do PAYN no good and PLATT much harm. We should see henchman and boss in one red burial blent. There was really nothing for the Boss to do but to yield to events, and to defy the wrath of PAYN.

This wrath is not likely to be very direful. Doubtless PAYN knows a good many disreputable things about PLATT. But so do other people whose credibility is very much higher than PAYN's. Some of these witnesses have told of some of these performances and convinced the public that they were telling the truth. Yet PLATT is still a boss in good and regular standing. Why should he be afraid of anything that PAYN can tell, when nobody would believe it without corroboration, and when, to the general incredulity that would naturally attend statements by PAYN, here is added the motive, to which PAYN would have to confess, of personal vindictiveness?

Moreover, PAYN will reconsider. The particular job for which he has acquired such a fondness is lost to him forever. But, if he does not "squeal," something else may be found for him, which, if not "equally as good," may yet be better than he deserves. There may be something within PLATT'S gift at Washington. There may be something in some other boss-ridden State, with the boss of which our Boss is on terms of comity. By the way, it would not be a bad notion for the bosses to agree to shift upon each other the henchmen who had become too high flavored at home. At any rate, there is a circumambient multitude of Republican legs that can be pulled in behalf of poor old PAYN, even if GOV. ROOSEVELT'S leg is inelastic. If PAYN insists upon "squealing," it is certain that he will get nothing but his revenge, and very doubtful if he will get that. If he holds his tongue something may be done to soothe his declining years. Wherefore it is to be expected that he will not squeal.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

—Few more amazing statements, probably, were ever made by an officer of the law than that which the dispatches ascribe to the County Attorney at Fort Scott, Kan. This person, addressing a Court in regard to the recent lynching of two prisoners in jail awaiting sentence for a capital crime, is said to have declared that he could not censure, or ask for the punishment of, people who had simply taken the execution of the law in a particular case out of the hands of their official servants. This is a view of mob violence strange, indeed, for a prosecuting officer to take, and we cannot believe that it will meet with any more general commendation in Kansas than it will in other civilized parts of the world. The Judge to whom the County Attorney talked this insolent and criminal folly seems to have contented himself with ignoring it, and with telling the jail officials that they should shoot to kill the next time rioters attempted to substitute murder for legal proceedings. That was all right in its way, but it is a pity that the defender of lynching did not receive some vigorous admonition then and there.

—By the way, what was the result of the Manauense investigation? It will be remembered that a transport of that name sailed from San Francisco for Manila, and arrived only because its crew and the troops on board made a desperate struggle for life with crippled machinery and leaky seams that let in no inconsiderable part of the Pacific Ocean. According to trustworthy report, the vessel was sent out in an unseaworthy condition—a fact that must have been known to a good many people, and for which somebody was directly responsible to the Government and the public. It was promised that the somebody should be discovered, but his name has not yet reached this side of the country.

—Among the bills now awaiting the action of Congress is one introduced by Representative DALY of New Jersey, which, by reason of the important interests that would be affected, either adversely or favorably, by its passage, is deserving of careful consideration. The bill takes from State boards the power which they now exercise of licensing and controlling pilots and intrusts it exclusively to the United States Steamboat Inspection Service, and while the validity of State licenses already issued is not revoked, the death or retirement of the present holders will be the end of the old system. The proposed plan is not one to be condemned offhand, for there would be evident advantages in establishing uniform standards of competency and conduct in all parts of the American seaboard. But while this is so, uniformity would be dearly purchased if the change involved any material lowering of the average requirements in the way of experience and demonstrated skill hitherto insisted upon by the State boards. If the Daly bill maintains, or even raises, these requirements, there are at any rate arguments in its favor; if its purpose is to demand from the general or distinctively professional pilot no more than the Board of Steamboat Inspectors now demands from those to whom it gives pilot licenses, then the innovation would clearly be a step backward, at once lamentable and dangerous. Naturally enough, all the present pilots and pilot officials are vehemently opposed to the bill, but their chief objection, that its passage would tend to decrease the profits of the trade by unduly increasing the number of its practitioners, is evidently a personal one, and is based on the assumption that examinations and discipline under the new law would be less rigid than under State control. This need not necessarily be the case.

—New perils have been added to the fireman's always more than sufficiently dangerous occupation by the present general adoption of electricity as a source of light and power. At almost every urban fire nowadays the would-be savers of life and property are confronted by the possibility that streams of water thrown on the burning building may fall on uncovered and heavily charged wires and serve as conductors to the men handling the hose of electrical currents of fatal strength. Accidents of this kind and of more or less seriousness are happening daily in this and other cities, and the instances in which they are narrowly escaped, and therefore unreported, are probably innumerable. The problem ought not to offer many difficulties to the ingenuity and skill of American electricians. The current which, traversing a stream of water, reaches the ground through the body of a fireman could easily be provided, it would seem, with a metallic pathway more to its liking. Perhaps an insulated copper wire, connected with the nozzle of the hose and running back along the hose to the wet pavement, would serve the required purpose. A less promising suggestion is to devise a means of throwing on the fire interrupted streams instead of continuous ones. This would be mechanically practicable, but its effectiveness would be more doubtful. Some way, however, there must be, and the discovery of that way cannot be too immediate.

—Decidedly fierce impatience is shown by The Troy Times with the demand recently made by the officials of two college towns in Massachusetts that they be allowed to tax property used for educational purposes. The argument put forward in support of this plea was that the college town profited no more from the existence within its limits of a great educational institution than did the rest of the State, while its municipal expenses were considerably increased. Therefore, was the conclusion, the regular local taxes should be imposed in all such cases, and they should be paid by the whole State. To this The Times says "Gammon!" and the continues more intelligibly as follows: "For every extra dollar imposed upon a college town, it is quite safe to say that $10 worth of extra benefit is conferred. Any serious proposition to remove one of the great institutions of learning would cause an almost unanimous uprising against it on the part of the townsfolk. Why, when it was proposed a few years ago to transfer the Union from Schenectady to Albany, 'Old Dorp' was up in arms, and considered the suggestion as the rankest kind of an affront. Northampton, Cambridge, Williamstown, Schenectady, New Haven, and other places where noted seats of learning are situated have great cause for gratulation, and show gross ingratitude, as well as a penurious, penny-wise spirit, in whining about exemptions from taxation." What have the discontented folks down in, or up in, or over in Massachusetts, whichever it is, to say about that? We are inclined to think that the lecture may mitigate their desire for a change, and yet, as we said before, there really is something in the claim that the present method of exempting educational property from taxation is in some degree unjust.

—While we Americans were exulting vociferously over the victory won in Manila Bay, more than a few residents of the British Isles did more than hint that the destruction of a little Spanish fleet was an achievement hardly remarkable enough to justify our excitement. Now it is different, for the British are doing the fighting with a nominally inferior enemy, and American critics are commenting, not on English demonstrations of joy, but on English emotion over losses which they regard as very terrible and over engagements which they proclaim without precedent. And the criticism, alas! is just a bit harsh. For instance, a veteran of the civil war, writing to The Charleston News and Courier, finds fault with the official dispatch describing the bombardment at the Tugela River as "probably the most frightful ever witnessed on land." As a matter of fact, "five naval guns frequently fired simultaneously at one intrenchment." The old Confederate smiles at that and says: "Compare it with the bombardment of Fort Wagner, on Morris Island, in 1863. Gen. GILLMORE concentrated on that little fort the fire of one ten-inch, four eight-inch, nine six-inch, and ten thirty-pounder rifles. These, with seventeen mortars and the support of the armored squadron, firing at least twenty more of the heaviest naval guns then used in warfare, made a grand total of sixty to seventy guns and mortars against Wagner's twelve effective guns. The area inclosed by Wagner was less than one acre. The total fire must have been little short of 4,000 shots in forty-two hours. The fort was successfully evacuated after a siege of fifty-eight days."

"ANTI-IMPERIALISM."

To the Editor of The New York Times:

If anti-imperialism gets no harder "hit" than you, with the aid of Senator Davis, gave it in to-day's TIMES, it will remain the liveliest corpse of which history has any record, simply because it is based upon the immutable and enduring principles of right and justice, which are so clearly and forcibly enunciated in the Declaration of Independence and in the Constitution.

"The consent of the governed" was not, as you say, constructed by those who still believe that liberty is not a sham, but by that wise and far-seeing band that framed our "Bill of Rights," which made their names immortal, and against which no force can stand. The hands of Senators, nor any other hands, cannot prevail against it; least of all that of Senator Davis, with the puerile excuse which he gives for retaining the Philippines, namely, if we did not take them, Germany would! Therefore we have been compelled to sacrifice thousands of lives to prevent their occupation by a foreign power. How sad, indeed, it is to think that those who are opposed to the unknown policy of the President are minds "tightly shut against the truth of light and reason"! Who are those minds? Run them over in your mind's eye, beginning with Senator Edmunds, Tom Reed, Grover Cleveland, ex-Gov. Boutwell, Senators Caffery and Hoar, Andrew Carnegie, Dr. Parkhurst, &c., then, forsooth, match against them the President, Senators Davis and Beveridge, Hanna, Gray, and that immortal scholar in politics, Senator Lodge. When you have carefully scanned this list tell your readers which of those named best represent the American idea of right, justice, and liberty.

That which would have satisfied all America, and which would in all probability have prevented an ignoble war, would have been to offer to the Filipinos that condition which was made to the Cubans. That offer, made even now, would solidify the country upon this question, and it is practically all that the anti-imperialists have and do now ask. No question is settled until it is settled rightly. THE TIMES to the contrary notwithstanding, signs are becoming very numerous that the liberty of any nation, however insignificant, will not be destroyed by the efforts of those to whom the Declaration of Independence has become a "back number."

Referring again to Senator Davis's statement in regard to Germany, I ask you what part of the Philippines would Germany have secured had the Administration said to the Filipinos, "Go ahead with your government. No nation on earth shall interfere with you"? Dewey was there to open the "services," and all America would have got around in time for the doxology. THE TIMES should bear with us "antis," who cannot all at once forget that "to secure these rights—life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness—Governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

THEODORE McGARRAH.

Westfield, N. J., Jan. 20, 1900.

WEALTH THAT IS JUSTIFIED.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

As some of your contributors seem to really believe the somewhat sweeping generalization that no fortune of a million dollars could be honestly come by, it may be well to call their attention to the case of the late Daniel S Ford, the owner and publisher of The Youth's Companion. Forty years ago he took charge of that periodical when it had but 7,000 subscribers. From that time his life and energies, likewise his conscience, were devoted singly to its interests. Now it goes into half a million homes each week, and so quietly and modestly has this been done that, when Mr. Ford died the other day, leaving a fortune of over $2,500,000, the public knew for the first time that his had been the guiding hand. It cannot be said that he ever received a dollar for which he did not give a full commercial equivalent, nor that he ever wronged subscriber, advertiser, employe, or contributor. And more than this, it can be said that The Youth's Companion has always stood for the best and noblest things in business and politics, in social and public life, in morals, and in religion, and has never lowered its high standards of taste, culture, and literary excellence. To quote from a recent number of The Outlook.

"To us the most striking lesson of his life seems to be that a man may make a great commercial and pecuniary success, while preserving ideality of purpose, absolute rectitude of action, and the sincerest simplicity, modesty, and unselfishness of personal bearing."

If the long-continued inculcation of thrift, virtue, good taste, and intellectual aspiration in hundreds of thousands of American homes filled with the future citizens of the Republic could be paid for by any money reward, Mr. Ford still has his country in his debt, and if there was ever any honest money in this world it is these few millions which this modest citizen of ours has lately liberally scattered, and for the most part among religious and benevolent institutions.

THOMAS CONYNGTON.

New York, Jan. 19, 1900.

THE MERITS OF THE BOER WAR.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It appears quite natural that your correspondent, A. T. Mahan, should speak advisedly of "the Boer war controversy." In fact, I believe he is the author of "English Sea Power in History." And while he knows the greatness of England on the sea, he confesses he does not know the facts of the Boer war as a lawyer. Now the whole controversy is involved in the forum of reason, where it should have been decided by a court of arbitration. Every point in dispute regarding the franchise can only be made clear by taking sides, in order to get a better grasp of the subject. Mankind being essentially fighting animals, a contest leads the public to interest themselves in questions to which otherwise they would give but a languid attention. Therefore, I believe that, however wise Mr. Mahan may be, we of New York are exemplifying the highest order of freemen when we express our sympathy for the brave and God-fearing Boer in his fight for what he believes is right.

To stand by and see a brave little republic assaulted by a big antagonist without one word of protest, because it would be politic and sacrificing our belief in what we believe is right, because we may find ourselves in need some day in the near future, is in line with the spirit of the times—self-interest and the devil take the hindmost. The Boer war is one of Gold, not of God. How sad to see a people going to war with a country where was found the brightest gem in the English crown!

England undoubtedly has had her share in the making of South Africa, but she is not blameless now, nor in the past, for what crimes have been committed in the name of civilization. We are too prone to give the credit to the Dutch in the upbuilding of South Africa. With all their faults, they have made South Africa what it is to-day.

The love of liberty is always to be found in the descendants of Hollanders, and the possession of it is the Americans' contribution to the Boers' cause in the present conflict. England, with all its greatness and glorious history, has often been too much lauded for its contribution to Anglo-Saxon supremacy.

The greatest lesson England ever learned was her defeat at the hands of the American colonists. Forever after England's colonial policy was improved and expanded to the islands of the sea. And she will regain her sober sense after the South African campaign. Because the Boers have been successful so far is another reason why they are worthy of all praise.

H. R. OSTROM, Holland Society.

New York, Jan. 23, 1900.

The Dog in the Manger.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

When the Horse, the Ox, and the Ass in the story came to the manger to take of the food provided for them by the Master, they found the Dog asleep on the hay. He aroused and demanded that they leave alone his bed. They answered that it was their necessary food as provided for them. He assured them he knew nothing of any necessity for any one to eat hay. It was his bed. He came there before them, and had the prior right. If they wanted hay they might seek it elsewhere, and thereupon attempted to drive them from the premises.

In the so-called aggressions of the Government of the United States in the Philippines and the British in Africa, in the minds of some, the position of the Dog is correct. The Horse, the Ox, and the Ass, instead of defending their rights with horn and hoof, should peaceably retire and leave the Dog to his slumbers on the hay.

R. BUCKINGHAM.

Marble Dale, Conn., Jan. 22, 1900.

THE GOVERNMENT OF HAWAII.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Recent utterances of those who are trying to form a Government for Hawaii throw light on the annexation proceedings, and, incidentally, on all the plans for the management of our new possessions and dependencies. There is a distinct scheme to make them "white men's countries." There is no word of justice in all that is said about them. The Hawaiian Islands in this century have passed through the stages of despotism and then of social chaos into an oligarchy. Such was the real condition of matters under the recent kingdom; such it is to-day, and such the annexationists propose to keep it. To establish themselves firmly in power by means of the backing of the United States Government was the meaning of the revolution of 1893, as to gain that power was the intention in the previous revolt.

Now, what do the men in office and their supporters in the islands wish? Cheap labor, performed by non-voters; the direction of all public affairs by the men now in power, and every favor and benefit which they can get out of the United States. In all this there is nothing criminal. The objection to it is that it is wholly repugnant to our system and our ideals. We have struggled along from oligarchies and aristocracies into democratic methods, and a real American does not want to take the back track. I do not think we can afford to be half democratic, half aristocratic, any more than to be half free and half slave. Hence it seems to me that the proper form of government for Hawaii is that of a Territory, such as is New Mexico, with a distinct American tendency, and no class distinctions or property qualifications.

